Conference On Home Missions And Evangelism, Jackson, Miss., Jan. 16-17.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 1. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3491.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

One day is not different from another day, in fact; yet the last day of the old year and the first day of the new possess a significance by reason of their position on the calendar that gives them an importance that no other days possess. On the last day of the year, we think of all that has happened during the preceding twelvemonth, recount our successes and failures, live again through our joys and sorrows, and take stock of our possessions to see whether we have gained or lost; on the first day of the new year, we make resolutions and form plans, dream dreams and see visions of what another year will bring forth. It is well that we do so; wise are we if we can say with the great Apostle: "Yea verily, and I count all things to be loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but refuse, that I may gain Christ, and be found in him, not having a righteousness of mine own, even that which is of the law, but that which is through faith in Christ, the righteousness which is from God by faith: that I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, becoming conformed unto his death; if by any means I may attain unto the resurrection from the dead. Not that I have already obtained, or am already made perfect: but I press on, if so be that I may lay hold on that for which also I was laid hold on by Christ Jesus. Brethren, I count not myself yet to have laid hold: but one thing I do, forgetting the things which are behind, and stretching forward to the things which are before, I press on toward the goal unto the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

IN SPITE OF DIFFICULTIES.

To us, there has always been a grim kind of humor in the wail of the sluggard, "There is a lion without; I shall be slain in the streets"; yet it is full of tragedy, too. Many a man faces difficulties that seem insuperable, and his courage fails him before he has even put his hand to the accomplishment of the task that beckons to him, when, if he would throw his whole soul into the work, he might achieve a magnificent success. It is a pleasure to move steadily forward when there is no one to molest or make afraid; it is a triumph to wrest victory from the very jaws of defeat. Hudson Maxim, the great scientist, won such a triumph. In the January number of the American Magazine (one of the very best periodicals we have an opportunity of reading), he gives some of the difficulties that confronted his as a boy eager for an education. Poverty was the portion of his home. He says: "I had neither hat nor a pair of shoes until I was thirteen years of age. When it was too cold in winter to go outdoors, I had to stay in the house. * * * Very well do I remember playing on the ice of a near-by stream with the boys of a neighbor who had shoes. They could run and slide on the ice, while I could not, because my bare feet would not slip. Happily, I thought of the expedient of coating the bottoms of my feet with snow by rubbing them in the snow or frost, when for a while I, too, could slide on my feet. At one time I went to school barefoot, a distance of two miles, for several weeks after the early snows came. I ran along through the snow as long as I could stand it, then I climbed up on a fence or a big boulder, and rubbed my feet and ankles to warm them—then went on. My thirst for knowledge was always a passion, yet I was nine years old before I had a chance even to learn my letters. I had then made up my mind that I was going to the country school as soon as it opened for the summer session. I went to school bookless, but after a few days the teacher took pity on me and gave me a primer. * * * My progress was rapid whenever I had an opportunity of attending school, but such opportunities were rare. However, by working on farms, on railroads, in brickyards and stone quarries, I managed to pay my tuition, during three months of the year, at the Maine Wesleyan Seminary, at Kent's Hill. I boarded myself while there, living mainly on brown bread and baked beans, which I cooked myself." We wish every poor boy in the land could read the whole article—it might mean an inspiraion that would give the world many great men. We do not know whether Napoleon said it or not, but it is everlastingly true—"There are no Alps!"

THE PUNISHMENT OF CRIME.

The New Orleans Christian Advocate, it need not be said, stands always and uncompromisingly for obedience to the law, the orderly processes of justice, and the just punishment of all those who have been convicted of crime. It has consistently and emphatically registered its protests against lynching as a crime against law and order and as a menace to our cizilization. It does not believe that the welfare of the community, of the State, or of the nation can be promoted by extra-judicial attempts to administer punishment to those who are suspected of being law-breakers, or to those who have been convicted of crime, and it can find no palliation for the offense of those who deliberately propose to take the enforcement of the law into their own hands. It knows that crimes are sometimes committed that so outrage the feelings of a community as to make it seem expedient to administer summary punishment apart from and above the law; but it has the profound conviction that more is lost than is gained by allowing the aroused passions of even the most reputable citizens to control in such cases. It believes that sworn officers of the law are recreant to their trust when they shut their eyes to plain violations of the law and fail or refuse to perform their plain duty; it believes, also, that law-abiding citizens not only have the right in such cases, but are also under obligation, by the definite and open expression of their opinion, according to forms provided for and guaranteed by the Constitution, to take such steps as will result in upholding the sanctity of the law. Crime is crime, no matter where and no matter by whom committed, and to allow crime to go unpunished when the criminal or criminals can be apprehended is to endanger society and threaten the overthrow of the State. It is a comfort to reflect upon the fact that in the divine scheme of justice the innocent are never punished, and the guilty never escape.

THE ARBUCKLE CASE.

The Arbuckle case, which brought the whole motion picture industry into such unenviable nooriety a few months ago, is again before the public through the declaration of Mr. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., in which he says, "I neither sponsor him nor stand in his way, but in the spirit of American fair play and, I hope, of Christian charity, I propose that as far as I am concerned he can have his chance," and through the statement of one of the great producers, who says: "I am going to employ Mr. Arbuckle. I am glad to help in giving him his chance." We agree with Mr. Hays that it is in keeping with the spirit of fair play and of Christian charity to give Arbuckle another chance. We must practice forvigeness as one of the cardinal Christian virtues, and we must not withhold it when there is sufficient evidence of penitence and reformation. Mr. Hays declares that Arbuckle's conduct since his trouble merits the chance that is now to be given him, and we are not in position to deny his statement; we do warn the public, however, against a too quick acceptance of the Arbuckle pictures before he has demonstrated beyond any doubt the sincerity of his penitence and the permanency of his reformation. Give him a chance, yes—but demand that that chance be used in such way as to commend and endorse the Christian spirit which gives it. It is only a Christian spirit which can give such a chance, and if Arbuckle abuses the clemency it extends to him, he will prove himself an ingrate too base to merit the respect of men.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1102, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:

Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.

To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten: Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

TRAVEL LETTERS FROM DR. AND MRS. I. W. COOPER.

London.

Would a stay of a month in America entitle a foreigner to think himself a competent critic of our people and of our social customs? We believe not. And yet, a sojourn of this brief length gave us very distinct, if not very broad and fair impressions of English people, and it stamped indelibly upon our minds pictures of historic places which we visited.

Let's begin with the weather—that is such an American way to begin—and so safe! All our lives we had read of London fogs, so we fully expected to be greeted by one; but though September showed us a variety of cool, damp, rainy and sunshiny days, such as we often have in this country, in November, we saw no fog thicker than many through which we had safely passed in Mississippi. So we are sure that we did not get fairly acquainted with English weather.

Eating is another source of perennial interest, and here we found things more according to Hoyle. No dinner menu was complete without its roast beef, and even in the simplest hotels and inns, English afternoon tea and scones were served as regularly as 4 o'clock arrived. The waiters in their dress suits, the butlers in their liveries, and the crested silver and china in some of the hostelries, made us feel that we were truly in a country which not only expected every man to do his duty, but every one to put the best foot foremost, at all times.

Cleanliness and tidiness seemed characteristic not only of the buildings which we entered, but of the streets through which we passed. Yet, in spite of this great asset, not all of London's streets are beautiful or attractive, though many of them are. The smoke and dampness of decades have so encrusted many buildings that they have lost all brightness of hue. Those who consider themselves artistic connoisseurs claim that this very dinginess is beautiful in contrast with the blatant newness" of things American—but we do not envy England this particular phase of beauty.

London streets were not so narrow and crooked as we had expected to find them. In many instances, they are beautiful thoroughfares. They are not defaced by overworked electric cars and on most streets there are no surface car lines. The popular form of passenger traffic is the double-decker automobile bus—similar to those which we use on Fifth Avenue, New York. Indeed, there is such a network of these bus lines that we think of them as constituting the mode of transportation in London, though taxies and subway trains carry their share of human freight. To our surprise, London seemed more busy, more crowded, and more hurried than Paris. And London shops compared most favorably with those of Paris, both as to variety of goods and cleverness of display.

The streets of London were so unique that of themselves they formed an almost endless source of interest. The Englishman's bump of reverence is large, so we saw in crowded streets several historical, or literary, landmarks, standing in their primitive state side by side with modern commercial structures. Many interesting monuments have been erected in various parts of the city, and these stones have been placed, in almost every instance, in positions of unusual advantage—often the center of circles where many streets converge. The open squares and small parks are rather unique and attractive, but most of them have little claim to beauty.

Hyde Park itself did not seem at all beautiful at the season when we saw it, but it was most interesting because of its vast extent, covering as it does an area of 390 acres—and because of its utterly democratic nature. Here rich and poor alike find pleasure in walking and riding and in picnicking on grass and benches. But more democratic even than its use by various classes is a certain custom which "operates" there on Sunday afternoon. At that time, propagandists and would-be orators and debaters of all kinds gather and give voice, unreservedly, to their particular views of politics or religion. People collect in groups of tens or hundreds, as the fame of the speaker or the interest of his subject suggests, and listen to these impromptu speeches and debates, which are marked by the utmost freedom of speech. It seemed to us, the afternoon we heard them, that this freedom sometimes overstepped the bounds of liberty and went into license, such as would not have been tolerated here—and yet England is not supposed to be as democratic as we are! To give you some idea of the variety and kind of these speeches, we will mention some of the subjects which we heard introduced—[illegible] remember, we heard only a few, while dozens of other speeches were in progress in other places. One spoke in defense of Socialism and criticised King George, Lloyd George and every one connected with the English government; another defended Germany and German principles—and this in London! Of course one speaker discussed the Irish question; one woman gave "Figures on Suffrage;" another sang while her companion preached a Salvation Army sermon. Most of these speakers seemed fervent but rather ignorant. The audiences flitted from one group to another until some statement or some counter debate caught and held the attention of the listener. We left feeling that we had witnessed an extraordinary bit of drama.

But through the streets and parks of London were interesting, we found the public buildings much more so. Westminster Abbey? Why of course, it was first on our list! In fact, it seemed to us, in more ways than one, the very center of London. Its fascinating history drew us there at least a half dozen times, and then we left unsatisfied with what we knew of it. Minster, we found, was an old Saxon term for church, so when in the seventh century a chapel was built on this spot, it was called Westminster, to distinguish it from St. Paul's, which at that time was called Eastminster.

Westminster Abbey, as it now stands, represents a growth of over eight hundred years in structure. No wonder that it is beautiful, both without and within! Another reason for its perfection is that it is a carefully wrought architectural combination of English ideas of solidity and strength and Gothic lightness and grace. The resultant appears Gothic at least on the exterior, which forms a perfect cross. Much has been written of the impressive grandeur of the interior which is partly due to its unusual heighth (102 feet) and partly to its beautiful proportions and dim lighting.

It leaves with one the impression of solemnity and real religious fervor which many of the cathedrals on the Continent fail to produce. It is, perhaps, best known not as a place of worship, but as a Hall of Fame, for here are buried many of England's greatest statesmen, warriors, kings, queens, artists and literary men. And many of those who are not actually buried here have monuments or tablets to commemorate their lifework. The South transcept, which contains the Poets' Corner, was of greatest interest to us. We were pleased to find here, among memorials to England's bards, a bronze bust of Longfellow. But the Abbey is undoubtedly overcrowded with monuments, many of whch are, to say the least, lacking in artistic interest.

Near the Abbey, along the west bank of the Thames, stand the massive, handsome Parliament buildings. We had to content ourselves with a view of their exterior, for while we were there, they were closed to visitors on account of the Irish trouble, which made authorities very vigilant lest some government building be destroyed by bombs. The architecture of the Parliament buildings is not so ornate as that of the Abbey, but is in harmony with Westminster. The buildings are surmounted by lofty spires and towers. Perhaps the most interesting of these towers is the clock tower, which is crowned by a belfry spire 320 feet high. The clock in this belfry has four faces, each 30 feet in diameter. It is known as Big Ben and strikes the hours on a bell weighing 9 tons. Big Ben seems to dominate Westminster Square, which is interesting and beautiful not only because of the Parliament buildings and the Abbey, but for its parkway, its monuments and other imposing buildings.

Among these latter is the large, handsome church in which the Ecumenical Conference of 1921 was held. It is called Central Hall, or the New Wesleyan Chapel of Parliament Square. Its dome-like architecture is interesting in contrast to the spires of Westminste[illegible] It is very modern and complete in all of its appointments and contains one of the largest auditoriums and finest pipe organs in the city of London. It is truly a wonderful type of the institutional church and a building of which Methodists the world over should be proud. However, it is new and has no history back of it, so it did not have the attractive power possessed by City Roads Chapel, and its companion building, Wesley's parsonage. Here too are found Wesley's grave, back of the chapel, and the famous Bunhill Cemetery, just across the street from the chapel. In it are buried Susanna Wesley, John Bunyan, Daniel Defoe, and others of great note. We doubt if many Methodists from across the waters miss visiting City Roads and Bunhill while they are in London.

It hardly seems right to speak of any of the great churches of London without mentioning St. Paul's, for it is the largest and most magnificent Protestant church in the world. The original building was destroyed in the great London fire. The present structure was designed by the famous architect, Sir Christopher Wren. He and other celebrities, such as Wellington and Nelson, are buried here. This Cathedral is not half so crowded with memorial stones as is Westminster, but many of those to be found are subject to criticism because they reflect heathen mythology rather than Christian doctrine. The architecture of the interior, too, has been much criticised, particularly the structure of the dome. All agree, however, that the exterior is very beautiful and imposing. The monument to Queen Victoria which stands just in front of St. Paul's is one of the best we saw in the Kingdom.

(To be continued)

THE CRIES OF THE CHILDREN.

By Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

As I stood on the pier at Constantinople with a number of Near East Relief workers discussing the awful conditions in Smyrna and Asia Minor in general, I was startled by a great multitude of cheers which went up from a ship moving slowly up the Bosporus. It was the first shipload of orphan children coming from Beirut in Syria to Constantinople. There were twenty thousand of these children in Asia Minor, besides the more than twenty thousand in the Russian Caucasus, and nearly twenty thousand in and around Constantinople, making a total of about sixty thousand in all. It has become evident to the workers that the orphans in Anatolia could not remain there in safety, and so arrangements had been made to bring them out, and thousands of them had been sent overland through Asia Minor down into Syria, at great expense and great risk, to be sent by ship to Constantinople.

It would seem that these orphans could have remained in safety under the nourishing care of American workers anywhere in the world. I am satisfied that they would have been safe among the savages in the heart of the Belgian Congo, among whom I traveled last winter. But the Congo natives are more humane than the Turks. The Turks are more intelligent, but they are also more cruel, and these Christian orphans could remain in Anatolia only at the risk of their lives.

This first shipload of about fourteen hundred had seen the American flag and had been told that they were passing the pier and the buildings of the Near East Relief, and so there arose shouts and cheers from their childish throats in expression of their happiness and gratitude. The next morning, in company with some of the workers, I went on board the ship to see them disembark. The scene occasioned mixed emotions. Children were swarming everywhere on the deck, laughing and singing, happy to feel that they had escaped from their enemies, the Turks, and that they were safe in the hands of their protectors. They ranged in age from three to fifteen years old, and while they were excited and happy as only children can be, it was a tragic thought as I moved among them to realize that there were no men and women on the ship, but that they were all children because they were all orphans; and then there arose at once that awful undertone questioning, "Why were these orphans and the rest of the sixty thousand orphans without fathers or mothers or homes?" And the answer came back sixty thousand times, "The Turks."

The children were all taken off the ship, put under the shower bath, thoroughly cleaned from head to foot, their ragged dirty clothes replaced with simple but clean garments, and then placed in the buildings which had been rented and fitted up for their use. Late in the evening of the next day, I went to see them, and marvelled at the simple, practical, effective handling—houses thoroughly cleaned and renovated, simple but sufficient cots and bedding, plain but nourishing food, day classes in languages and industrial work, the making of all their own clothes, hats and shoes, and ample opportunity for sufficient play under the direction of the American workers and older Greek and Armenian men and women.

The Near East staff is efficiently organized. The Director, Mr. H. C. Jaquith, himself being not only the genial but also the very efficient head. He has shown unusual ability in handling great and unexpected difficulties. Under his direction the Near East Relief was promptly at work at Smyrna, giving the largest possible amount of succor to the helpless, suffering, starving people. When the fire destroyed the supplies which had been sent, fresh supplies were sent from the warehouses in Constantinople, which had been stored to feed the orphans through the coming winter. Now that the Turk has come back into Constantinople and Thrace, the question which will not down is, "What will finally become of these thousands of orphans?" The Turkish leaders have flatly told the missionary workers that they are not welcome in Turkey, either among Armenians or Turks. The Turkish people have no sympathy with the work America has been doing in saving the lives of these Christian orphan children. How could those who killed the fathers and mothers be expected to love their children?

I talked over the matter of the final disposition of the orphans with Mr. Jaquith and Miss Emma Cushman, whom many of our women missionary workers will recall as one of the workers at Scarritt Bible and Training School in 1899. It would be idealistic to have these children to grow up in Turkey trained to be leaders in a new era, but unless the governments of the great Christian nations meet their responsibilities better in the future than they have done in the past, the Turks will take these orphans as they grow up—the girls as slaves for their harems, and the boys for the army, or for deportation—usually another name for death. As long as they remain in Turkey, they will be Turkish subjects and can be seized by the Turks at any time.

In addition to the sixty thousand orphans under the care of the Near East Relief before the destruction of Smyrna, there will be at the end of the coming winter, after many, many thousands of the refugees have perished from exposure, disease and starvation, thousands more of orphan children. If their lives are to be saved, they must be saved and the orphans must be trained very largely by the gifts of the Sunday school children of America. Other nations will give comparatively little. France, notwithstanding her insistent claim for sympathy for her devastated region, notwithstanding the help she has received from America, has shown practically no concern for the victims of the Smyrna horrors. She has voiced no condemnation of Turkey, and has made no substantial gift to relieve the suffering people. Great Britain and her dominions will give something, but as in China, as in Russia, as in the Near East, in the past, so in the future, the Christian people of America must feed and clothe and shelter the victims of Turkish cruelty if they are to be saved. And this is the least that we can do. Our Government was unwilling to take the responsibility of demanding that these Turkish atrocities must cease. The Christian nations put an end to the atrocities in the Belgian Congo, we saved Cuba from "Butcher Weyler," we saved western Europe from German militarism; why cannot our Government save the Christians of the Near East?

The cries of these orphan children are sounding to-day throughout the world. Our Lord and Master, in his own picture of the last judgment, declares most positively that one of the principles of judgment in that great day will be, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me," and contrariwise, "Inasmuch as we did it not to one of the least of these, ye did it not to me. And these shall go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into life eternal."

---

PREPARATION OF THE FORCES FOR THE CAMPAIGN OF EVANGELISM IN THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

By Dr. John W. Shackford.

The General Sunday School Board is urging that during the first three months of the new year special emphasis shall be given throughout the church in all our Sunday schools to evangelism.

The plan proposed by the Board suggests that the first month or period be given to the preparation of the forces, the second to active evaugelism in the Sunday school, and the third to the preparation of pupils for reception into church membership on Easter Sunday.

It is important that all Sunday schools desiring to co-operate in this plan should begin to make their arrangements for the thorough-going preparation of the forces during the month of January. The Board desires to urge that any effort to hold Decision Day service later on without the proper preparation for that day in such manner as the Board has suggested will, in large measure, defeat the very purpose for which this plan has been suggested, namely, to make our Sunday school evangelism more spiritually vital and more fully in accord with the religious needs of our Sunday school pupils.

One of the distinct purposes in the plan of the Sunday School Board is to guard against what is too often a superficial and mechanical form of evangelism in our Sunday schools. As Methodists, we have a history of presenting to those of mature years a challenge to accept Christ. The appeal in this presentation is to the will. It is an appeal to surrender to the Lordship of Christ. It is the acceptance of a new center of life control; the yielding of a selfish will and the acceptance of another sovereignty. But when the methods so successful in adult evangelism are taken over into Decision Day Services with young children, and when children are called upon without previous instruction and personal help to make decision on life issues of this kind, it is easily possible that because of their very great responsiveness and susceptibility that they may respond on Decision Day to the invitation, and at the same time, because of the lack of personal attention, that that which we call a decision may easily represent the most superficial desire on the part of the child to do what the pastor or teacher suggests ought to be done or even may mean no more than imitation of what other children are doing at the time.

When a service of this sort is neither prepared for nor followed by careful personal attention to the needs of each individual child and youth, it is possible that large numbers may be brought into church membership in such wise that the Decision Day Service and uniting with the church alike may have very little spiritual significance.

The General Sunday School Board most earnestly holds that a little child may very easily come to love Jesus Christ as a personal Savior and Friend and to recognize the Heavenly Father in an experience that is as real and genuine for a child as the religious experience of any saint is real to the aged. But the child is to be helped into this experience through careful, personal friendship on the part of those who know Jesus Christ and who, as teachers of the things of the inner life, give the most careful and profound attention to those matters. The pastor and Sunday school workers are called upon to save the whole movement of Sunday school evangelism from what is too often a just criticism that a form and outward act are substituted for a personal experience. Let us beware that we do not give our children who ask for bread a stone.

If, however, we are to help children and youth into a religious experience that is true to childhood and youth, rather than to attempt to impose an adult type of religious experience upon them, then we need to study children and youth and their religious needs. Even a shepherd must know his lambs if he is to feed them.

In the December number of the Sunday School Magazine there appears an article dealing with the preparation of the forces. The suggestion is made that during January the pastors gather the teachers and leaders of their Sunday schools together for an earnest, thorough-going, prayerful study of what evangelism is and how it is to be accomplished in the Sunday school. Let them consider: Who are the pupils in each class who already love and trust Jesus as their Savior and who openly recognize God as their Father? Who are they who are in doubt and uncertainty? Who are they who do not acknowledge the Savior and yet perhaps are feeling after Him? And who are they who are ignorant altogether of Him? There is need of a study of home environment and of the individual pupil. There is need of a personal talk with the parents on the part of the pastor and teachers and there is need of much enlightenment and guidance in evanglism which the pastor above all others ought to be prepared to give.

If for a series of four or five meetings the pastor-evangelist shall study these matters with the working force of his Sunday school; if he shall try with them to discover the best approach to the junior, the most helpful way to deal with the intermediate and senior, the most effective evangelism for the young people of the Sunday school; if he shall succeed in getting his teachers and Sunday school officers and the Christian parents of the Sunday school to co-operate in a simultaneous effort to bring the claims of the Christian life to the foreground, and to present Jesus Christ in all His loveliness and appealing power to all the members of the Sunday school; if, as a result of united prayer and study and conference, Jesus Christ shall become very real to teachers and to pupils alike so that when Decision Day comes, purposes registered on that day shall be but the outer expressions of inner experience, then the purpose of the campaign shall have been accomplished.

To assist in these group studies in evangelism during the month of January, the General Sunday School Board has provided a series of pamphlet studies on Sunday School Evangelism, including a study of the teacher as an evangelist, and of evangelism for each of the age groups of the Sunday school, a pamphlet on Confession or Decision Day, and one on preparation for Church membership. Any of these may be ordered free of charge from the General Sunday School Board.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Corinth District.

A Happy and Prosperous New Year to the New Orleans Christian Advocate and all of its readers!

We hope to report progress in this column regularly from the Corinth District. Only "facts" can be reported, so let every pastor and layman in the Corinth District do his very best, and MAKE progress.

If you expect your charge to have special mention, "Do Something Worth While." There are THIRTY pastoral charges in this district, and I cannot mention all each time, for lack of space, but will mention only those this time where the first quarterly conference has been held.

First Church, with Brother E. R. Smoot as leader, is starting the new Conference year under favorable conditions; fine Sunday school under the superintendency of R. M. Weaver and J. H. Blakemore; large Men's Class taught by Mayor J. A. Lowe; ten new stewards added to the strong board; salary same as last year.

Brother Smoot's meeting continues in interest and large attendance. The Missionary Society with Mrs. J. W. Rankin as President is doing good work.

South Side and Rev. J. D. Boggs have a mutual admiration society. They now have "full time," and have advanced the salary accordingly. Good start.

Brother D. R. McDougal says he is still "running in high" on the Corinth circuit. He boasts of a successful Epworth League in a country church, Gaines Chapel. There was an advance in salary over last year. Prospects bright.

Rev. W. G. Burks captivated the Kossuth church with a "short sermon" at his first appointment. Promise of a good year. Salary same as last year.

Blue Mountain charge is delighted with its new pastor, Rev. B. F. Hammond. He comes under the tongue of good report from North Alabama Conference. He is planning big things for the year. Salary same as last year.

Rev. W. R. Williams seems to be making full proof of his ministry on the Dumas charge. He is a true man and a great preacher. Salary same as before.

Rev. J. W. York has already started collecting his Conference collections on the New Albany circuit. He had sixty dollars in cash from one church on his benevolences at his first quarterly conference. He also announced a revival meeting for Christmas week, at one of his churches, where the pastor was to conduct it. Same salary.

New Albany station is a great church. They are well pleased with their new pastor, Rev. J. D. Wroten, and they express their appreciation, not in words only, but by a substantial increase in salary. This church furnished the directors for the North Mississippi Conference in both great movements, the Centenary, and Christian Education, in D. H. Hall and J. G. Houston. It subscribed its full quota and more in each, and the best part is, it is paying up in full. This is worthy of emulation. We must redeem our pledges to these worthy causes.

Rev. J. H. Holder is a tireless worker, and is doing his very best to collect the Christian Education Pledges. Please help him by paying your pledges.

Guntown charge has great possibilities and Brother W. M. Langley has made a good impression on his first round. They need, and are talking a new parsonage.

Rev. J. J. Garner is happy to be returned to Baldwyn, and the people are just as much pleased to have him. He is planning his revivals, and for the collection of benevolences "in full."

Rev. J. T. Gullett, on the Booneville circuit, led the district last year in the number of accessions on profession of faith, and is expecting to do the same again.

Rev. E. G. Mohler starts well at Booneville. They advanced the salary to $2400 and have repaired the parsonage at a cost of about $600.

We want and expect every pastor in the Corinth District and a full quota of laymen to attend the great State-wide Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, January 16 and 17, at Jackson, Miss.

We want every column level at the Annual Conference at Greenville.

We must all work and all work together for "everything in full."

Yours for service,
J. B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven District.

The pastors are all in their places and ready for the best year's work they have ever done, Brothers Broadfoot, Price, Harkey and Purcell, the new pastors on the district for this year, each had a hearty welcome that made him at once at home, and Brother Ferguson, who was moved to Summit and Topisaw, is happy among those excellent people. The pastors returned are equally fortunate and delighted. Of course with such pastors as serve the charges of the Brookhaven District, the good people are happy and ready for a splendid advance.

The presiding elder had the privilege of officiating at the wedding of Mr. B. Malcolm Guess and Miss Susie Lee Perkins at the home of the bride's parents in Brookhaven, on the evening of the 28th. It was a happy home-wedding, with relatives and friends present, and the young couple looked their best. Brother Guess is the enthusiastic secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at our State University in Oxford, where the happy young couple will make their home.

The pastors and presiding elder of the district will spend January 25 and 26 in Brookhaven in earnest prayer and heart-to-heart conference. Every pastor is expected to be present. There will be preaching at night. H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

Jackson District.

Dear Mr. Editor: Yes, thank you—we will be here regularly. Conference at Crystal Springs was a great Conference. All the pastors and all the lay delegates except one attended, and scores of our laymen went to hear the preaching by Arthur J. Moore, and the great uplifting sermon by Bishop Ainsworth on Sunday at 11 a.m. Eight hundred and forty-eight (848) joined the church in the bounds of Jackson District on profession of faith, Galloway Memorial leading with 117, Capitol Street being a close second with 108; Benton led the circuits with 45; Brandon and Pelahatchie, the double barrel station, with 68.

Nineteen charges paid salaries in full. Sixteen paid salaries and all benevolences. If we have no disaster, we will make it 100 per cent this year.

There were only two moves in the district—G. P. McKeown and W. L. Blackwell. The district loses two good men. Their successors, Percy Vaughn and A. S. Byrd, are received as choice men, and we look for a successful year by both of them.

Immediately after Conference, E. K. Means, pastor of Galloway Memorial, visited his father in Kentucky, and reports having had a splendid trip, and his father in good health for one of his age.

Rev. H. F. Tolle, pastor of Capitol Street, and his good people are now wrestling with the problem of an auditorium, which they hope to erect during this year. The plans contemplate remodeling the present church for Sunday school purposes, and building an auditorium to seat at least 1500 people, and the basement to accommodate the adult department of the Sunday school. When this is completed, Methodism will have two great church buildings in Jackson. We have now in the two congregations about 4000 members, and this number is being added to every week. Rev. F. L. Applewhite, pastor of Rankin Street, is now in the midst of a meeting, led by Rev. J. V. Bennett, Conference evangelist. His congregation at Pearl Chapel, just across the river from Jackson, is bringing rapidly to completion a beautiful chapel, with modern equipment for Sunday school work. His congregation at Rankin Street is growing rapidly, and they have purchased a lot in a better location on which they hope to build a church during the year, adequate to their needs.

Three preachers in the district are in their first year, eleven in their second year, one in the fourth year, and the remaining in the third year.

When the readers of the Advocate think of Canton, the church with a historic record, they can change the picture and visualize a splendid modern brick building that would do credit to any congregation or any city in the Southland. They hope to be worshiping in it by February. Rev. H. A. Gatlin and his people deserve great credit.

Our congregation at Bolton will soon occupy a beautiful brick church, the gift of Brother and Sister John L. Gaddis, Sr., as a memorial to their son, who was called to his reward a few years ago. The church will cost about $20,000. Brother H. M. Johnson and his people will be well equipped.

The building plans for the year, in addition to those above mentioned, are, a new church at Bentonia, Clinton, rebuilding or remodeling at Mt. Olivet, Benton, and New Hope.

On December 13-14, we had a splendid rural Sunday School Institute at Harrisville, conducted by Brother Brabham. If any of the brethren are in doubt about putting over a rural program, and doing the impossible in building a church, they might write to Rev. I. H. Sells, Harrisville, and he, or his good wife, might give them some points.

When these notes appear in print the district stewards will have met and made the apportionments for the year. M. L. BURTON, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Shreveport District.

First Church reported to Conference a membership of 2061, with a net gain of 354, and reported a total raised for all purposes of $86,078. The great Sunday school, superintended by W. A. McKennon, reported an enrollment of 2306. Few churches in the connection have so commanding a location and an opportunity so great. Dr. Brooks has not lost a minute in the projection of wise plans for another successful year.

Rev. W. W. Holmes, the newly appointed pastor of Noel Memorial Church, has begun his work with enthusiasm and is finding a hearty response in the congregation. The six years' pastorate of Dr. Drake has been a time of notable development, and the new pastor rightly appraises the splendid opportunity which is given to this church to increase both in numbers and efficiency. A most cordial reception was given Brother Holmes and wife on the evening of December 15.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

Texas Avenue Church has been self-supporting for the past year; notwithstanding financial trouble as the result of the railroad strike this church made a most creditable report. During the two years' pastorate of Brother Walton, a conscientious, painstaking and efficient leader, the church has made steady progress in spiritual life and in all its organized activities. The need for a much larger house of worship is felt and the congregation are thinking and planning with this end in view.

Mangum Memorial Church, named in honor of the consecrated pastor who died at his post last year, is well located in a rapidly growing section of Shreveport known as Queensborough. The pastor, Brother Rousseaux, and the congregation, are entering most vigorously upon the year's work with a determination to reduce the church indebtedness and to succeed in every department of church life. Rev. A. W. Turner is a valuable member of this congregation.

Cedar Grove is a manufacturing town immediately adjoining Shreveport which will, in time, be included in the city limits. In spite of practical difficulties, the young pastor, Brother H. L. Johns, is doing a most valuable and constructive work there. He is a splendid organizer. To meet the temporary needs of the Sunday school, a separate building was erected last year on an adjacent lot, and the old church must, as soon as possible, be remodeled or replaced by a new one.

In Bossier City, a growing town just across the river from Shreveport, our church and parsonage are centrally located and our work is progressing under the pastorate of Brother A. H. Parker. Last year this church was a station for the first time and made a creditable showing.

Bossier City, Cedar Grove, and Mangum Memorial Churches, which have for some time been assisted by the Conference Board of Missions, have all this year increased the amount assessed for the pastor and hope in a few years, at most, to be self-supporting.

In order to meet more adequately the needs of our steadily expanding community, a City Board of Missions and Church Extension will be organized in Shreveport on Jan. 9.

Our church in Mansfield was never more hopeful. With a largely increased budget last year, all finances were paid in full by Nov. 1, after which the pastor, Brother J. W. Pearson, conducted a glorious revival meeting. One hundred and fifty-five accessions were reported to Conference for the year. The congregation are delighted over the return of the pastor.

The old Naborton and South Mansfield charge will be served this year as a part of a mission enterprise under the direction of the Mansfield Church.

The entire community of Logansport was rejoiced over the return of Leland Clegg for the third year. The church building enterprise there will be pushed to completion in the near future.

The presiding elder made a flying trip recently to the three oil field stations north of Shreveport on the Kansas City Southern—Mooringsport, Oil City, and Vivian. All of these have new pastors—Reames, Bozeman, and Ware—who have begun their work with zeal and hope. The presiding elder hopes to organize the preachers and laymen of these three towns so that evangelistic plans may be formed for reaching the oil camps of this section.

Brother Don Dulaney is very happy in his first charge at Greenwood, and good things may be expected from this excellent young man.

Having already gone beyond the space allotted, things that should be reported concerning other charges, our colleges, and so forth, are reserved until the next time. R. H. WYNN, P. E.

Ruston District.

Dear Brother Carley: You remember that Bishop Candler, in his remarks introductory to the reading of the appointments, said: "In the quarter of a century that I have been presiding at Conferences, I have never held one more harmonious than this one has been." Of course, we were glad to hear this. The Ruston District, so far as I have been able to observe, has been continuing that harmony. I have not heard a murmur.

While I haven't been able to visit many of the charges as yet, I want to say a few words of what I have observed, with the privilege of saying more concerning other places when my time comes again.

Farmerville was left to be supplied. I was just a bit afraid they would feel neglected, so I went over on Saturday evening after the close of the Conference to explain. They were all in a good humor. That evening I visited in the home of Brother Whitman, who had just installed a radio station. I enjoyed a radio concert, especially a lecture on Free Masonry, from Dallas, Texas. The next morning I attended Sunday school, as is my habit wherever I go. Brother E. M. Decker is the Sunday school superintendent. The whole thing moved like a piece of machinery. Since that Bishop Candler has appointed Rev. John H. Williams as pastor of Farmerville. He is a recent graduate from Emory University.

Marion circuit was also left to be supplied, and Rev. W. W. Lantrip has been appointed pastor of that charge. They all seem perfectly delighted, both pastor and people, with this arrangement.

Rev. J. C. Price has been cordially received at Jonesboro for his second year. This reception was not only in words, but the good people of Jonesboro gave him a substantial reception in the shape of a pounding. The outlook is fine for the year.

While I haven't visited Dubach since Conference, I have seen several of the leading members of that church, among them Brother R. T. McClendon, one of the noble laymen not only of Dubach charge, but of our Conference. The expressions I have heard from all are that Rev. J. W. Faulk is in high favor with his people.

Haughton and Doyline charge has cordially received Rev. J. O. Bennett for his second year. He is very much encouraged with the outlook for the coming year. He places special emphasis on his Sunday schools and prayer meetings led by the laymen. He says he has an average of forty in attendance at these prayer meetings. They have raised about $200 since Conference to pay for a piano. Two have joined the church since Conference.

Bernice charge was pleased with the return of Rev. O. L. Tucker. They had remodeled and almost made new the parsonage before Conference, so he will have an opportunity of living in the new parsonage another year. The prospects are good for the new year.

Prof. E. H. Fisher, chairman of the Board of Stewards at Arcadia, writes the following:

"Rev. H. W. Ledbetter has arrived in Arcadia as pastor of the Methodist church, and has entered actively into his work. He has been highly received by the members of his church and the entire citizenship of the town. When he had been one week here he knew over half of the membership of the church by name. On Dec. 15 a reception was tendered him at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Pipes in their spacious new house. A large number of his members were present, together with a number from other denominations of the town.

"The Board of Stewards have had one meeting and fixed the pastor's salary $200 over what it was last year. They have also employed an organist for the church. A simple and efficient manner of handling the finances of the church has been adopted. By this method the treasurer will draw a draft on each member at the end of each month, and same will be paid at the different banks. By this means a great deal of time is saved in not having a collector to visit each member every month.

"The church seems to be highly pleased with Brother Ledbetter and a prosperous year is looked for."

Rev. W. C. Childress, on account of sickness in his family, was delayed somewhat in getting to his work, but he is now on the ground. The people of Minden are delighted and seem enthusiastic over the work for the next year.

Rev. N. E. Joyner and the good people of Ruston are determined to make this a good year. The Sunday school gave a Christmas pageant under the direction of Prof. H. E. Townsend and Mrs. D. M. Atkins. It was quite a success. Rev. Briscoe Carter, the financial secretary of the Orphanage, is on the ground and at work. Brother Vaughan, the reliable, is still at it.

On December 31 the Methodists of Haynesville entered their new and commodious church building. Dr. S. A. Steele, of Mansfield, preached the opening sermon at 11 a.m. on that date, and in the evening delivered his great lecture, "Pioneers of Methodism." A watch-night service and a literary program completed the other features of the opening day. This congregation has brought to completion an $8000 parsonage property and this fine brick church building during the last twelve months. The church will seat 725, and is arranged for departmental Sunday school work. The whole building program at Haynesville, including furniture, windows, and buildings, reached the sum of $60,000. K. W. DODSON, P. E.

TO THE PREACHERS IN CHARGE, AND THE LAYMEN OF MISSISSIPPI.

The Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism will begin in Galloway Memorial Church Monday, January 15, at 7:30 p.m. Bishop Ainsworth will preside, and Dr. Goodell will deliver the address of the evening. The Conference will continue until noon of the 17th. In the afternoon or evening hour, the Federated Bible Classes will begin the interdenominational convention.

All railroads in Mississippi have granted the one and one-third fare for the round trip, on the certificate plan. Let every delegate coming by rail secure a certificate, when buying his ticket.

It is very much desired by the committee that we have the names of all delegates who expect to attend. If the pastors and lay leaders will aid us in this matter, it will be very much appreciated. Yours for a great Conference,

M. L. BURTON,
For Committee.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE GENERAL CONFERENCE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The General Conference Board of Education will hold its regular annual meeting at Nashville, Tennessee, April 11 and 12, 1923.

E. D. MOUZON,
President.
STONEWALL ANDERSON,
General Secretary.

Raising the Dead: Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?—Acts 26:8.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.
Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.
510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

THE TRAGEDY OF SUPERANNUATION.

By Rev. Lester Weaver.

Attention is called to the tragic element in the life of any preacher of the church who has by enfeebled mind or body been crushed into silence—that is, been superannuated. We have not yet sympathized as we should with such a death in life. Of such a one the poet laureate of Nebraska sung:

"Let me go quickly like a candlelight
Just at the heyday of its glow.
Give me high noon, and let it then be night.
Thus would I go.
And grant that when I face the grisly thing
My song may trumpet down the gray perhaps;
Let me be as a tune-swept fiddle string
That feels the Master melody—and snaps."

Not all the sadness of superannuation is confined to being hungry and cold and houseless and penniless and friendless. A superannuated preacher is a fallen master possessed of the inarticulate Master's word which if spoken would bring life and liberty to many. He must, however, in silence endure the agony of knowing that he is no longer able to speak it. When we have done all possible to make him happy and contented, his heart breaks because he cannot help right the wrongs and relieve the sufferings he sees. When we have done our best for him, we can only partly accomplish what we should like to do, for so used is he to caring for other people that he makes an awkward invalid. By the practice of diverse economies and by stinting themselves, preachers are probably actually less sensitive to privations and hardships than are other men. Nevertheless, when they are old and lack food, they get hungry; and when they lack clothes, they can feel the bite of the north wind; and when they become homeless and friendless, just like other people in the same situation, they feel lonely. But they have practiced courage so long that their cheerful smile often deceives us. They are the victims of their own virtues. That is why we know so little about their sufferings.

Preachers are often possessed of an optimism that leads them into illusions. Recently a group of them met by appointment to transact some routine business in an industrial center, and they drifted into a discussion of their personal problems. Each of them received twice the average salary of preachers, each of them was economical; but not one of them had been able to save money. However, their native ability and training were such that they would have been leaders in the business of the community had they been business men. But, with all their natural and acquired ability, not a single one of them would have had any visible means of support had he been superannuated next day. One, who was versed in the principles and practice of agriculture, thought he might be able to make a living as a truck farmer; but it was pointed out to him that a worn-out preacher would probably not cut a great figure as a farmer. Another, who was a college graduate with seminary training in Princeton, boasted his ability as a breadwinner in the trade of brick masonry; but he was reminded that when the Church had exhausted the juices of his youth he would be too stiff and weak to lay brick. A third, the possessor of a string of college and university degrees, found some satisfaction in the reflection that when he should be shelved he would be able to step into a college professorship; but his hopes were blighted when he was forced to confess that teaching was fast becoming so much a distinct profession that any superannuate would stand little chance of a position in an educational institution. Thus they talked until each of them realized that he had been deluding himself with the dream of doing something else when he could no longer hold a pastorate. And herein is the peril: The ministry is composed of men who, whatever their faults and limitations, think so exclusively of the welfare of others and plan so little for their own future that they are, of all men, the most likely to come to old age penniless.

The irony of the situation is that, while the teachings of the Church have inspired in others many worthy movements to pension worn-out workmen in various realms of industry and effort, the worn-out preachers themselves are still shamefully neglected. When so-called soulless corporations devise big schemes for caring for their broken-down employees, it is hard to explain how the Church, whose mission it is to kindle and feed all the fires of benevolence, can be content to pay her preachers such scant salaries while they are active and leave them when inactive from physical weakness and old age without the commonest necessities.

The Superannuate Endowment Fund which is being raised by our great Board of Finance is not merely a depository of cash to be doled out as charity to unfortunates who compel our compassion. It is rather the medium through which a rich Church passes on to her disabled heroes a small part of their back pay. The man who contributes does not give, but helps to pay the Church's debt to her worn-out preachers. The Board is not asking alms for these old men, but is urging that they be permitted to share a small part of the wealth they have created. The man who assists this movement with his money simply transfers a small part of his property to the upkeep of a group of men who by their unselfish service lifted him out of "the mud and scum of things."

---

The Leaven at Work in Europe.—From ocean to ocean and gulf to line and from beyond the seas good tidings come indicating that a tide of interest and affection is setting in toward the Church's worn-out preachers that will not go out until they are fully remembered. Among the many expressions being recived by the Secretary, the following is selected as an example of what is happening in the hearts of our Southern Methodists:

"Warsaw, Poland, Nov. 3, 1922.

"Dear Brother Todd: Inclosed herewith I am sending check for fifty dollars as a small Christmas offering from Mrs. King and myself to be added to the funds being raised for the 'forgotten man.' This cause has always been on my heart, and I beg your and his indulgence for having waited this long to contribute our mite. May God abundantly bless you in this work!

"Very cordially yours,
"H. K. KING."

---

The Lift of a Mother Heart.—Mrs. T. S. Randle, one of the Church's claimants in the Louisiana Conference, is constantly doing something to boost the cause of superannuate endowment. Her motive is purely that of serving the grand old worn-out men who live in the great silence. Through a period of three years this good woman has been sending occasional checks of various amounts representing gifts she has secured from those interested in the cause. Recently I visited the Louisiana Conference at Shreveport, and after delivering an address on Wednesday night I tarried for a few minutes on the front pew. Mrs. Randle worked her way through the great throng of people to the front of the church and sat down beside me. She said: "I know you will be hurrying away to another Conference, and I wanted to have a few words with you before your departure. I am here attending the Conference and am making use of my time by collecting a few dollars for the 'forgotten man.' You will find a check representing what I have collected when you get back to the office." Ten days later I returned to the office and found that she had sent a check for $78 which she had collected for the purpose stated. This check makes nearly one thousand dollars that she has sent to the Board for superannuate endowment, and the total amount is made up principally from gifts of $1 each that she has collected from her friends.—If one of our Conference claimants can do so much for this great cause, what can those of us who are still comparatively young and active in the service do if we have her vision and spirit to carry on? May unmeasurable blessings be upon you, Sister Randle, and may your loyalty to the "forgotten man" become the ruling passion of us all!

---

A gentle reminder: Every active preacher of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, regardless of his age or station, is a "forgotten man" in the making.

---

Ruler Over All: Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all.—1 Chronicles 29:11.

The Home Circle

HIS WISH.

By Alix Thorn.

I wonder how a little boy
  Can ever hope to be
As tall and strong and broad beside
  As people that I see!

I s'pose it's just rememb'ring
  The things that mother said,
To eat just what she tells me to,
  And like to go to bed.

And then some day I do suppose
  The folks I've always known,
Will look at me surprised, and say,
  "Why, how that child has grown!"

—Exchange.

A CLEVER SPIDER.

Soon after breakfast one sunny morning Marian heard her young friend Dorothy at the door calling for her to come out and play.

"Hello, Dorothy!" she answered. "I can come just as soon as I finish dusting this room for mother."

"If you will give me a dust-cloth, I'll help you dust," offered her little neighbor. "Then we can play all the sooner."

So the two girls went to work together, Marian dusting the window-sill and Dorothy taking the nearest chair.

"Oh, Dorothy," Marian exclaimed suuddenly, "look here! A new spider web in the window! Come and see the cunning spider sitting in the middle of it."

"Oh, I wonder if it will do the trick my daddy makes them do for me!" Dorothy cried, as she dropped her duster and ran to the window. "Wait a minute; I'll make it do the trick."

With a piece of paper in her hands Dorothy gently tore the spider's web, taking care not to destroy it but only to break away a small section or two.

Marian could not help an exclamation of fright as the spider darted out of its web; but it did not run far. It stopped on the window-sill close to the web, standing so motionless that if the girls had not been watching they would have seen nothing but a brown speck in the wood. It certainly did not look like a spider.

"Is that all?" asked Marian, disappointed. "I thought it was going to do a trick."

"Just you wait," replied Dorothy. "She is frightened now, and my daddy says this is her way of hiding from her enemies, by standing so still they won't notice her. As soon as she thinks she is safe she will come out."

The two grls stood almost as still as the spider, waiting for the tiny brown spot to move. All at once they saw it stir, then dart quickly back into the web. After running about to see how much harm had been done, the spider stopped a moment as if to think the matter over. Then she ran swiftly down one side of the torn place, spinning a web as she went. So quickly did she mend the web that the girls could not see how it was done.

"Why, the clever little creature!" cried Marian. I didn't suppose a spider knew enough to do that."

"They do, though. That is what my daddy showed me. I could hardly believe it when I first saw one."

"My mother says," remarked Marian, "that it is a good housekeeper who mends a tear as soon as it is made. I think this spider must be a very good housekeeper, better than I am sometimes."

"What shall we do with her now?"

"Let's open the window and push her out. She can make a new web outdoors."

So they did. Then the two girls hurried to finish their dusting so that they could run out and play together in the sunshine; and Marian's mother, who had been listening, thought the spider was not the only good little housekeeper she knew.—Selected.

TWO BOYS AND TWO DOGS.

Thomas came running in, out of breath. "I think it's just awful the way dogs fight!" he cried, when he could get his breath. "Dash and a stray dog are going for each other out in the road, and there wasn't one thing to fight about, either!"

Father said he would walk straight out and stop such doings, and Thomas hurried along after him, still indignant.

Laurie spoke up from the window-seat. "I know what started the fight," he remarked; "I saw 'em begin. Dash found the stray dog sniffing at an old, dry bone that's been lying near the gate for days, and tried to take it away from him. Wasn't that mean, Cousin Will?"

"Did it belong to Dash?" Cousin Will asked.

"Why, yes, I suppose he had buried it weeks ago and dug it up again, but it couldn't possibly have been any good to him, so why raise a row over it?"

Cousin Will said he could not imagine, and put on his hat and went for a drive with father, while Laurie curled up in the window and was soon far away in an exciting story.

Presently Thomas came back and began looking around for something to do with himself, not being a reader like his brother. As he whistled about aimlessly, his eyes fell on an old stick of sealing-wax in a corner of the mantelpiece.

"Just the thing to mend my ball with," he said aloud to himself.

Laurie glanced up from his book. "Thomas Lindsay, you know as well as you know your name that that's my wax!"

"I didn't know anything of the kind," retorted Thomas, swelling; "but if it is; you've left it around here for ages, and I found it, and now I'm going to use it."

Laurie got up and said that he should not; Thomas contended that he would. Laurie confessed he had forgotten all about the article, but that, nevertheless, it was still his.

A scuffle began, and when three chairs had been turned over, the tablecloth, pulled awry, and two pairs of cheeks were blazing red, father and Cousin Will walked in, looking for something they had forgotten. Both boys tried to explain, talking very fast at the same time. Father looked at one; Cousin Will fixed serious eyes on the other. The stick of sealing-wax was nothing but a pinch of dust on the floor.

When the tale stopped for a second, father said: "Thomas, my son, I had to go out again and run the strange dog off with a whip to keep him from coming here and making needless disturbance."

Thomas shuffled his feet, remembering his late indignation. Then he left the room. Father found what he wanted, and went too.

Cousin Will loitered a moment. "What are you going to do about your sealing-wax, Laurie?" he wanted to know. "Did you value it very much?"

"No," Laurie replied. "Fact is, I didn't." He was setting up the chairs and straightening the cloth, but he did not look up.

"Something like the bone and Dash, eh?" his cousin went on.

"Just like that," Laurie owned.

"We locked Dash up awhile to teach him manners," Cousin Will went on, thoughtfully.

Laurie gave a long whistle that ended in a laugh. "Whew!" he remarked. "I'm going to find Thomas, and we'll tell father to turn Dash out and count on us not to be so silly next time."

"Come on," Thomas called from the doorway, "I'm ready." And from that day their quarrelling ceased.—Nancy Byrd Turner, in Picture Story Paper.

CARRY THE LIGHT.

A cold firebrand and a burning lamp started out one day to see what they could find. The firebrand came back and wrote in its journal that the whole world was dark. It did not find a place, wherever it went, in which there was light. Everywhere was darkness. The lamp, when it came back, wrote in its journal, "Wherever I went it was light." What was the difference? The lamp carried light with it, and when it went abroad it illumined everything about it. The dead firebrand carried no light, and it found none where it went.

It is the power of the soul to carry its light with it. Are you hedged in on every side? You have the power if you know how to use it of making your circumstances pleasant. Are those fountains from which you have been wont to derive comfort stopped up? You do not need them. You can develop fountains of comfort in yourselves.

—Beecher.

Power of Prayer: Jesus answered and said, All things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.—Matthew 21:22.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

We are beginning in this issue of the Advocate a feature which we expect to make permanent, and which we believe will add greatly to the interest and value of the paper, and to its usefulness as an agency for building up the church and the Kingdom. We refer to "News from the Districts," through which we hope to present every week items of interest from all our patronizing territory. Our plan is to give each week reports from two districts from each of the Conferences—the North Mississippi, the Mississippi, and the Louisiana. We have presented the plan directly and by correspondence, to all the presiding elders, and the assurances we have received of co-operation on their part encourage us to believe that the plan can be carried out successfully. It is only by their co-operation, of course, that we can make it successful.

At the beginning of the new calendar year, we call attention again to the important place the church paper occupies in the work of the church as a whole, and to the necessity of giving it a wide circulation among our people if it is to perform the duty expected of it. It is true beyond question that the church paper is the most efficient means yet devised for spreading information concerning the work of the church, and it is likewise thoroughly established that the well-informed church member is the most active and useful. The New Orleans Christian Advocate seeks in every way possible to give the information that all our people need. Its departments dealing with the Sunday school, the Epworth League, and the Woman's Missionary Society are re-enforced by articles, editorial, contributed, and selected, that present all phases of the work, in addition to which there is a page especially devoted to the interests of the children in the home. It contains many important official notices and announcements, so that its readers may keep in touch with what is going on, not only in their own territory, but also throughout the church at large. The Advocate is thoroughly loyal to the doctrines, polity, institutions, and programs of the church, and is worthy of a place in every Methodist home. We earnestly urge all our pastors to bring it to the attention of their people and do all in their power to secure its wide circulation. With its fifty-two issues a year, containing more than eight hundred pages, all told, it is easily worth the small sum of $2 a year—less than 4 cents a week. Its circulation ought to be largely increased this year, and we believe it can be so increased by proper effort. We call upon all the friends and supporters of the Advocate to help make this one of the best years in the long and honorable history of the paper.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Southwestern University, Georgetown, Texas, recently celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its founding.

Rev. W. A. Wilson, North Mississippi Conference evangelist, requests us to say that his present address is Box 77, Sherman, Miss., instead of New Albany, Miss.

The annual meeting of the general evangelists of our church was recently held in Dallas, Texas. There are about fifty of these men who give their time to connectional evangelism.

The Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, to be held at Jackson, Miss., January 16-17, will be a great occasion. Let all Methodists pray for the success of that meeting.

A booklet, "Suggestions for a Series of Lenten Sermons," has been issued by the Commission on Evangelism, 287 Fourth Avenue, N. Y., which may be had free of charge upon application.

A revival meeting at Belzoni, Miss., began last Sunday, with Rev. Jno. W. Robertson doing the preaching. The pastor, Rev. H. P. Lewis, has organized his forces for a great meeting.

An encouraging report comes to us of the work of the church at Bastrop, La., Rev. G. A. Morgan, pastor. The church is growing steadily, and the pastor's salary has been increased $300 over last year.

Rev. Paul H. Grice has been given a cordial welcome by the people of the Shiloh charge, Mississippi Conference, on his return for the second year. The outlook for a great year's work is encouraging.

Dr. A. J. Weeks, editor of the Missionary Voice, has been chosen as publicity manager for the Centenary Commission, which position recently became vacant through the resignation of Dr. J. S. Chadwick.

Rev. J. M. Alford has been received for the second year at Winnsboro, La., with many expressions of appreciation. This promises to be a great year in the ministry of this faithful servant of the church.

We learn from an exchange that the First Methodist Church of Dallas, Texas, Dr. C. C. Selecman, pastor, has sent a check for $1,171.25 as a contribution of the Golden Cross Society to the Dallas Sanitarium.

Dr. Lucius C. Clark was inaugurated as chancellor of the American University, Washington, D. C., on December 15. Dr. J. J. Tigert, United States Commissioner of Education, was one of the speakers on that occasion.

It is announced that Miss Maude Royden, England's famous woman preacher, is expected to visit the United States early in this year and engage in an extensive evangelistic tour. Most of her engagements are in New England.

At the recent quarterly conference of the Belzoni charge, North Mississippi Conference, a committee was appointed to act in the matter of securing a parsonage. The committee is composed of R. L. Nelson, J. T. Scroggins, and O. J. Turner.

One hundred and twenty charges in the Florida Conference have placed the Florida Christian Advocate, the Conference organ, in every Methodist home. No wonder the Florida Conference is one of the fastest-growing Conferences in the connection.

Rev. W. W. Holmes and family were given a royal welcome by the congregation of the Noel Memorial Church, Shreveport, La. The work of the new year in that great church has begun well, twenty-one new members having been received since Conference.

A prayer meeting is being held at Greenville, Miss., at noon on Wednesday of each week, to pray for the success of the revival meeting at Leland, Miss., soon to be held by Gipsy Smith, Jr. The first meeting was held in the Big Brothers' room at the Methodist Church.

According to a statement of Dean Flickinger, of the College of Liberal Arts of Northwestern University, about 60 per cent of the graduates of that department are engaged in educational or social work at the present time, only about 15 per cent being engaged in business.

Mr. Beverly Hebert has been elected financial secretary of the Noel Memorial Methodist Church, Shreveport, La. Mr. Hebert is a son of Rev. Martin Hebert, of the Louisiana Conference, is a member of the faculty of the Centenary Training School, and has long been active in church work.

The Chicago City Council recently granted permission for the erection of the projected tower and steeple of the Temple of the First Methodist Church of that city. It is said that the Temple will be the highest church building in the world when completed, rising 561 feet above the pavement.

Rev. Frank E. Singleton, whose father and brother were so well known in Louisiana as pastors of some of the leading churches, is himself a member of the Central Texas Conference and pastor of the great Polytechnic Methodist Church. On a recent Sunday more than 1000 people were at the Sunday school.

Rev. Ralph E. Nollner, who is so well and favorably known throughout the church because of his work in connection with the Epworth Leagues, was recently elected president of the International Young People's Commission, an organization of the denominational leaders of the young people of the United States and Canada.

At the recent meeting of the general evangelists in Dallas, Texas, the Committee on Evangelism approved the following for appointment as general evangelists: J. W. McCarty, Birmingham, Ala.; E. T. Adams, Wilmore, Ky.; J. Ed Morgan, Texarkana, Texas; M. N. Terrell, Sherman, Texas; R. B. Freeman, Abilene, Texas.

The first service in the auditorium of the beautiful new church at Bogalusa, La., Rev. Elmer C. Gunn, pastor, will be held next Sunday, Jan. 7. Mrs. C. W. Goodyear, of Buffalo, N. Y., has contributed $5000 for the purpose of placing an organ in the church as a memorial to Mrs. Elizabeth Sullivan, for whom the church is named.

The St. Louis Christian Advocate says that Rev. J. E. Baker probably holds the record in our church for the longest continued pastorate, he now being in his ninth successive year as pastor of the Marvin Memorial Church, St. Joseph, Mo. Rev. J. A. Alford, of the Second Methodist Church, New Orleans, is a close second, he now being in his eighth successive year.

A meeting of the Centenary secretaries of the church was held at Nashville, Tenn., December 28-29, the purpose of which was to consider the earliest possible collection of the Centenary pledges now due. Rev. B. P. Jaco, of the North Mississippi Conference, Mr. W. D. Hawkins, of the Mississippi Conference, and Mr. Stephen S. Thomas of the Louisiana Conference, were all in attendance.

The Daily Democrat-Times, of Greenville, Miss., in its issue of Dec. 20, gives an interesting account of the visit of the Big Brother Class to Winterville. About fifty members of the class made the trip, accompanied by the pastor, Rev. E. Nash Broyles. This class numbers among its membership many of the leading business and professional men of Greenville, and they gladly give of their time and talent to help carry forward the great work the class is engaged in.

The recent death of Mr. John Wanamaker removed a notable figure from the religious life of the nation. He was especially interested in Sunday school work, being, at the time of his death, president of the World's Sunday School Association. It is said that while he was Postmaster-General in President Harrion's cabinet he went from Washington to Philadelphia every Saturday night in order to be present at the Bethany Sunday school, started by him in 1858 with twenty-seven members, but which grew, during his lifetime, to a membership of 5000. Mr. Wanamaker was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

The last Sunday of 1922 was a great day for the Methodism of Haynesville, La. It marked the opening of the new church building, erected at a cost of $50,000, with every modern convenience for church work. The Sunday school department can take adequate care of 500 pupils without using the church auditorium. The building is of red brick, with white stone trimmings. The opening sermon was preached in the morning by Dr. S. A. Steel, and at the evening hour his famous lecture, "Pioneers of Methodism," was delivered. Rev. A. J. Gearheard is the pastor of this church, and the building committee is composed of J. R. Bevill, J. C. McEachern, W. E. Browning, H. P. Camp, Mrs. S. L. Beene, Mrs. L. L. Beene, Mrs. D. E. Baucum.

We take the following from the Lincoln County Times, Brookhaven, Miss., issue of December 28: "Dr. and Mrs. I. W. Cooper entertained at dinner Thursday night a large company honoring the new Methodist pastor, Rev. A. M. Broadfoot. The guests were the officials of the Methodist church and Sunday school, several pastors of the district, and other invited guests. They were received by Dr. and Mrs. Cooper in the beautiful 'Y Hut.' The dinner was served in the college dining hall, where Christmas decorations gave charm to the spacious apartment. Interspersing the six courses of the elegant repast, with Rev. H. M. Ellis as master of ceremonies, several timely speeches were made. In every one, welcome and co-operation were heartily expressed, the first, S. D. McCullen for the Methodist congregation, followed by Rev. A. F. Fogartie for the Presbyterians, Rev. J. A. Taylor for the Baptists, T. M. Symlie for the officers of the city, not only welcoming Mr. Broadfoot, but extending to all interested citizens the privilege of attendance on the meetings of the city council and intelligent assistance in the affairs of the city. Mr. Broadfoot responded happily, grateful for the cordiality and brotherliness of the welcome, and heartily entered into the spirit of good-fellowship which characterized the gathering."

A CORRECTION.

In the "Personal and Other Notes" in our issue of last week, in announcing the marriage of Miss Marie Smith, daughter of Rev. J. L. Smith, our pastor at Gloster, Miss., unfortunately we, in some strange way, fell into error in stating that the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. R. Jones and Rev. Claude P. Jones. As a matter of fact, the ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, assisted by Rev. J. R. Jones. The young lady's name is Marie, instead of Muriel, as we gave it. We greatly regret the errors, and beg the pardon of all concerned.

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. W. R. Lott, Holly Springs, Miss., 146 (every Methodist family); Rev. W. L. Linfield, Gulfport, Miss., 2; Rev. J. M. Alford, Winnsboro, La., 2; Rev. P. H. Grice, Johns, Miss., 2.

CONCERNING LAY ACTIVITIES IN THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Dear Brethren: In wishing you "A Happy and Prosperous New Year," may I not express the confident hope that we are all ready to enter with renewed zeal upon the duties of the church, feeling thankful that there is a place of opportunity for us in "The Biggest Business on Earth?" The laymen of our church asked for a more definite place in its organization, which was granted, and now it is important that every member should, as far as possible, co-operate with boards and committees "in executing their plans for larger service in all church work." It is not sufficient that we read our Bibles, say our prayers, occupy a seat at church on Sunday, and pay a sum pledged to the support of the church before the preacher leaves for Conference. We must not only learn what the plans of our church are, but why larger plans are made and what it will mean to fulfill them speedily, as well as what delay may cost. This may be accomplished largely by reading the literature of the church, but it is a source of inspiration and instruction to come into personal touch with others, and we are not likely to overestimate the value of group conferences and great messages from leaders of vision, information, and an enthusiasm born of personal observation and experience. Thus we come to take a deeper and more comprehensive interest in the affairs of the church, and more willing participation in its evangelistic, missionary, and general development programs.

The Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, as planned by Bishop Ainsworth, to be held in Jackson on January 16 and 17, should be of great interest to Mississippi Methodists of both Conferences, and others who can attend. Will the lay leaders of the Mississippi Conference please plan to be present at every session, and secure the attendance of from five to ten laymen from every charge? Since many of our members do not subscribe for, or see their Conference organ, I suggest that the church Lay Leaders arrange, if possible, for the reading before each congregation of the article on the Jackson Conference, by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, as published on page 9 of the December issue of the New Orleans Christian Advocate, and also the editor's comment. These and other articles could well be made the basis for exhortations through the activity of the regular Lay Speaker's Committee. Our men and women should be eager to hear the speakers of national reputation who will participate in the program.

Immediately following this Conference, and including the afternoon of the 17th, will be held an Interdenominational Conference through the 18th, which will be of great importance to the entire State, and our laymen should arrange to remain to the close, if possible. Let all delegates who wish rooms secured send their names to Rev. M. L. Burton, Jackson, Miss., and also note that every railway line in the State will give a round-trip rate of one and one-third fare. The District and Associate District Lay Leaders will be asked to meet on the evening of the 16th for a session of the Conference Board of Lay Activities.

Fraternally,
J. M. SULLIVAN,
Conference Lay Leader.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

I have moved into mine own house, 628 Kings Highway, Shreveport, La. For forty years, more or less, the church has furnished me and mine an abiding place. After various experiences in house-hunting a resting place is found. Real estate agents, building and loan assocations have been reckoned with, insurance paid, and a little cottage secured. Home! That's a wonderful word; and a wonderful place. The sailor from the sea, the hunter from the hill, the preacher from the field. Some one else, in fact several some ones, have been choosing home and field for me during these years; now that I have graduated I am privileged to choose my domicile. I am not sad nor sorrowful, nor hurt, nor disappointed, nor sore. I am just only wondering how it feels to get out of harness, and work and preach and visit ad libitum. But I am busy. A honey bee, or any other bee, has nothing on the Madam and me. If that is slang, print it—it's expressive, and that is what speech is made for. We are preparing a home, and now I come to what I want to write. "I go to prepare a place for you." No house hunting in heaven; no agents, no building and loan associations, no taxes, no insurance as men insure, but a blessed assurance and room for earthworn wayfarers; and, best of all, no worry about where the money is coming from, for there the price is paid and it is not on the installment plan.

After all, faith has its philosophy, and personal responsibility is absolute. As a man thinketh, so is he, in heart, in mind, in life. The brilliant coloring of setting suns comes from the radiance they fling upward and across the flaming skies. The seeing eye and understanding heart balance the great ledger of life.

* * *

I have been reading about the church of the Fathers—not the Methodist fathers, but Origen, Basil, Gregory, and other colossal giants of post-apostolic times. How these ancient worthles did wrestle with one another concerning great doctrinal questions and how they did invoke all the powers of earth, hell and heaven in the dire struggles is a spectacle for succeeding men and guardian angels. These men apparently lived so near the border line of the other world, that this present one was a thing too trivial to be considered. Conviction and salvation meant about the same to them. Their heroism absolutely commands admiration, whether one agrees or disagrees with their strange and differential systems of theology. I am quite sure that a modern school of religious doctrinaires would have excluded Origen and his school from almost any evangelical church of the day, if a theological test were applied. Judged by the generally accepted system taught to-day, they are—or were—altogether too radical, and as divergent in their courses as the stars.

Of another thing I am fully persuaded: The man who appeals to the church of the fathers as a final court of decision, is appealing to an institution in which every color, form, and fashion of doctrinal thought obtained. The Christian doctrine of this age is the resultant of tremendous forces which operated in the past, and especially of those strenuous ones which played and flashed in the dawning skies of early Christendom. One might as well search in an African jungle for an Alpine eidelwiess as to seek among these for a systematized, harmonious statement of our holy faith.

Tradition at best is but a vain thing; a proper perspective reveals not only the artist's skill, but also the beauty and proportion of any system of truth.

628 Kings Highway, Shreveport, La.

WE KNEW HIM.

By Harry Pressfield.

We villagers knew Him as one more freak;
And knew as He rose in the sacred desk,
Voicing Himself as though God did speak,
No prophet came out of our Nazareth.

We knew Him as one of our kith and kin,
He who was son of our own Joseph;
We knew all there was to be known of Him—
We raise no prophet in Nazareth.

God has no message for this Man's town,
He who says only wastes his breath,
And if he persist we'll stone him down—
We have no prophet in Nazareth.

—N. Y. Christian Advocate.

Not Be Afraid: Behold, God is my salvation; I will trust, and not be afraid: for the Lord Jehovah is my strength and my song; he also is become my salvation.—Isaiah 12:2.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

On Dec. 8, 1922, at his home in St. Helena Parish, near Greensburg, La., Uncle George B. Doughty passed from this world of sorrow and pain to his eternal reward in that realm of infinite peace and happiness. He was 61 years, 1 month, and 28 days old. He was happily married for more than thirty years and was the father of a large family. His life was of the highest type of a true Christian character. For many years he was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and for several years a steward in the Pine Hill Church. He was not only a devoted husband and father and kind to relatives and friends, but he loved his church, attended all the ordinances of the church, and, under trials and temptations, he, with patience, kept that humble Christian smile. He was a faithful worker in his church and his service will be greatly missed. His possession of Christian virtues were far superior to his profession of the same. To me this was the most admirable part of his character. On Dec. 10 he was laid to rest in the beautiful Greensburg Cemetery, with a flower-covered grave, symbolic of the love and sympathies of relatives and friends. He leaves to mourn his passing a devoted wife, seven children, three grandchildren, and a host of relatives and friends. We pray God to bless his family and to keep us all, that we may be permitted to join the angelic choir and rejoice together forever.

B. D. WATSON.

Jackson, La.

Rodeheaver's Gospel Songs
Our New Book ready Oct. 1st.
Also: Victory Songs,
Awakening Songs
Songs for Service
For all religious occasions. Shaped or round notes
Singly prepaid. 45c Cloth, 35c Limp, 30c Manila (Quantities Not Prepaid) 40c, 30c, 25c
Catalog of Sheet Music, Song Books, Bibles—Books and Folding Organs on request.
Rainbow Sacred Records
Favorite Gospel Selections 75c each not postpd.
Ask for Complete List
THE RODEHEAVER COMPANY
Chicago, Ill. 677 McClurg Bldg.
Philadelphia, Pa. Dpt. 22—814 Walnut St.

AGENTS $6 A DAY
taking orders for Non-Alcoholic Food Flavors. Every variety. Put up in collapsible tubes. Always fresh. Three times the strength of bottled flavors. Not sold in stores. Fast repeaters. Big income every day.
● Men and Women devoting full time can make $6 to $9 a day. Big money for spare time. Largest concern of its kind in the world. Over two million dollars worth of orders taken last year by our Representatives for Zanol Pure Food Products, Toilet Preparations, Soaps, Laundry and Cleaning Specialties and Household Supplies. Every article guaranteed. Write for Sample Outfit and Money Making Proposition.
American Products Co.
7529 American Building, Cincinnati, Ohio

WHEELER
Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write for Free Catalogue

TOBACCO HABIT BANISHED QUICK, SURE, Lasting Results
Tobacco Redeemer is pleasant to take. Absolutely scientific; thoroughly reliable. We positively guarantee you will have no craving for tobacco after using Tobacco Redeemer. Money back if not satisfied. Write for free booklet and proof.
Newell Pharmacal Co. Dept. 963 St. Louis, Mo.

---

MARJORIE STEWART TURNIPSEED, the second daughter of W. P Turnipseed and wife, was born March 6, 1909, and died suddenly on the morning of November 28, 1922, at their home in Ellisville, Miss. Funeral services were conducted in the home by the pastor, Rev. J. B. Cain, and Rev. L. Carley, and at the old family burying-ground near Ackerman, by Rev. W. L. Storment. Marjorie joined the Ellisville Methodist Church on July 1, 1917, and was received into the church by Rev. J. S. Purcell. She was a consistent member not only of the church, but the Sunday school and Epworth League, was constant in her attendance at both, and was frequently on the program of the latter. Cheerful and winsome in her disposition, she had many friends, not only among the young people, but older people as well, and her going is a distinct loss to all. She leaves, besides her father and mother, two brothers, one sister, and a host of friends.

HER PASTOR.

---

MRS. EDNA HORTON, wife of Johnnie Horton, was born Aug. 14, 1881. God called her home Dec. 19, 1922. Edna was married to Johnnie Horton on Jan. 29, 1902. To this union eight children were born; three preceded her to the glory land, while the other five mourn with their father, but they mourn not as those who have no hope, for they expect to meet mamma in the sweet by and by with all of their loved ones who have gone on before. Edna was of a cheerful disposition. She had many friends. She was converted and joined the Methodist Church at Conehatta several years ago. She was willing and ready at all times to do her duty. Besides her husband and children, she leaves an aged father and mother, one sister, two brothers and a number of other relatives to mourn her going.

The home is sad and lonely
  Since Edna has passed away,
But with God she is more happy,
  And His will we must obey.

Farewell, Edna; we'll sadly miss you
  For the short time we remain;
But there are others that will greet you,
  And our loss is Heaven's gain.

A relative,

HATTIE.

---

MRS. SAMUEL S. HOYT.—At the James Chapel, Oct. 8, 1922, Rev. J. L. Frazier, pastor, preached at the burial of Margarite (Hano) Hoyt, about one mile from the place of her birth and six miles from that of her decease in Livingston Parish, La. The four children of her first marriage to T. Joseph King, four of her last, and six of her seven stepchildren (Hoyts), including the infant of 13 days, who was committed to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Hano, were present. A sense of personal loss and genuine sympathy moved deeply and tremendously the hearts of a comparatively vast crowd of neighbors, friends and relatives. She was born of godly parents, Noah and Anne (Stewart) Hano, June 8, 1883; joined the Baptist Church at 16; married in 1905; became a Methodist in 1907; was left a widow in 1912; married again, Sept. 19, 1914, and went to her reward Oct. 7, 1922. Reared with a family altar, she taught her children to pray. Humility, self-denial, industry, generous hospitality, and many home graces beautified the life of this wife and mother. The assurance given to her pastor and others of her resignation and readiness to go, thank God, comforts those who knew her best and loved her most.

A former pastor,

J. WILSON BROWN.

---

From Fayette, Miss., to that city where dwells an "innumerable company of angels," went on Nov. 14, 1922, Mr. NOEL A. KILLINGSWORTH, one of God's truest saints, who died very suddenly of acute indigestion. The translation of such a life as his brings to those who knew and loved him more of wondering delight and soul peace than of sadness. He was not only ripe for heaven; he had lived as one whose life was ever in heaven with God. Dying at the age of 63 years, and not of the visible result of any malady or disease, he simply faded from the life of earth into the life eternal to be with God. Born on January 4, 1860, at the plantation home of his father and mother in Jefferson County, he was married, December 17, 1890, to Miss Edith Hall, of Fayette, Miss., and since that time has resided in Fayette, near his plantation. Through upwards of 30 years of married life he and his devoted companion walked hand in hand and with unswerving faith. His good wife and three noble children, a son and two daughters, survive him. His sterling worth as a public-spirited citizen and splendid Christian gentleman is atttested by the people among whom he lived his long and useful life. For many years he was a trustee of the Jefferson County High School and a steward of the Fayette Methodist Church, and his loss to his family, to the church, and to the community is beyond human power to compute. A large concourse of relatives and friends bore silent testimony of their love and esteem as they gathered to see his body laid at rest, awaiting the general resurrection. The funeral was conducted by the pastor, assisted by Rev. Claude P. Jones.

C. F. EMERY.

FROM EROS, LA.

We wish to announce that since we have reached our new field of labor, at Eros, La., our parsonage has been repaired, and we are delighted with our work. The prospects for a good year are very good indeed.

This is a grand people to serve; they certainly know how to welcome a preacher into their midst. We have been cordially welcomed, not only by words, but also by the bounteous poundings of all kinds of good things, in so much that our little Rosalie, in musing over the good things they had brought us the other night, turned and looking up to me said, "Papa, these good people are making us rich." We pray God to help us to repay these people for their goodness to us.

W. H. YOUNG.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

FROM FLORA, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: It seems that lines have fallen to us in pleasant places. Many tokens of kindness have been shown us since Conference. The people seem to be delighted with our return for another year, for which we are very grateful indeed. On last Friday afternoon a committee of four came to the parsonage with an auto full to overflowing with many things that made the preacher and his family happy. Groceries of every description were left, for which we are very grateful indeed. We wish, as best we can, to thank every one who had a part in this matter, and we pray God's blessings on each of them, and pray that the new year may bring happiness and great success.

REV. AND MRS. J. H. FOREMAN.

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS
Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction
Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

Epworth League.

EPWORTH ERA NIGHT.

When in the year 1894 the Epworth League was organized with a Connectional Board and General Secretary, with the full purpose of the General Conference that it should take its place among the great church-wide agencies by which the work of the Kingdom of God was to be promoted, it was also provided that a general organ should be added to the number of famous religious periodicals that had been published by our house. At its first meeting, the newly constituted Epworth League Board took up the subject and selected the name "Epworth Era," which was suggested by Mr. J. U. Rust, the Treasurer of the Board.

An issue was prepared and printed for a sample, and by this means a subscription list was gained and the first regular issue of the series, following the sample issue, bears the date of September 13, 1894. The brilliant orator and writer, S. A. Steel, had been chosen as General Secretary, and instantly the Era attracted attention and acquired a place in our church journalism that could not be overlooked. Now, after twenty-nine years' history, the Era, a monthly magazine for young people, has the largest circulation that it has ever enjoyed, and is not only indispensable to the young people's societies, but has become a positive factor in all the great movements of the church.

One of the chief means by which the circulation of the Epworth Era has been advanced to its present great extent is Epworth Era Night, universally and for many years observed on the second Sunday of January in every Epworth League Chapter. There can be little doubt that the constant advance in the Era record will continue and, as a result of Epworth Era Night of 1923, go on at an accelerated rate.

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE
AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMAKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

TETTERINE
Makes Low Necks and Short Sleeves Possible. It Clears the Skin.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO. SAVANNAH, GA.

Rupture is Dangerous

Instant Relief; Many Cures Reported; Full Directions and Sample SENT FREE

Just because you have been ruptured for years and have tried all kinds of bungling trusses and appliances, salves, liniments and plasters without satisfactory results, do not think you have to stay in this dangerous condition.

You may have instant blessed relief and, as scores of others report, complete recovery by the use of this simple, inexpensive discovery. Send no money. To prove that my famous Sponge Rubber Rupture Pad does Conquer Rupture, even in its worst forms, I will send a sample absolutely free to any ruptured person, in a plain sealed package. Possibly you are wondering whether this can be true. Stop it! The test is free and surely the test will tell. Cut out this notice and hand it to a ruptured friend or send it with your name and address to E. H. Scott, Hernia Expert, 525-L Scott Building, Akron, Ohio, and you will quickly receive a sample Sponge Rubber Pad with full directions. No obligation to purchase. Don't let Rupture handicap you in the battle of life, but make this test today.—Adv.

---

Trust in God, as Moses did, let the way be ever so dark, and it shall come to pass that your life at last shall surpass even your longing. Not, it may be, in the line of that longing: that shall be as it pleaseth God; but the glory is as sure as the grace, and the most ancient heavens are not more than that.—Robert Collyer.

---

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Verona, at Verona, Jan. 6, 7.
Shannon and Nettleton, at S., Jan. 7, 8.
Woodland, at Mantee, Jan. 13, 14.
Nettleton, at Carolina, Jan. 20, 21.
Greenwood Springs, at G. S., Jan. 24.
Vardaman, at V., Jan. 27, 28.
Calhoun City, at C. C., Jan. 28, 29.
Houlka, at Houlka, Feb. 3, 4.
Salem and Ecru, at E., Feb. 10, 11.
Randolph, at Randolph, Feb. [illegible].
Tocopola, at Thaxton, Feb. 14.
Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P.

Columbus Dist.—First Round

Kosciusko ct., at East Union, Jan. 6.
Kosciusko sta., Jan. 7, a.m.
McCool, at Bowie's, Jan. 7, 8.
Macon ct., at ——, Jan. 13, 14.
Crawford and Shafers, at Crawford, Jan. 14, 15.
Mashulaville, at Mashulaville, Jan. 20, 21.
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak, Jan. 21, 22.
High Point, at White Hall, Jan. 27.
Louisville, Jan. 28, a.m.
Noxapater, at Noxapater, Jan. 28, 29.
Starkville, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ethel, at Ethel, Feb. 4, 5.
Sturgis, at Sturgis, Feb. 10, 11.
Cedar Bluff, at Cedar Bluff, Feb. 17, 18.
Mayhew and Sessums, at Sessums, Feb. 25, 26.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Corinth District—First Round.

Myrtle, at Myrtle, Jan. 5.
Mooreville ct., at Allen's Chapel, Jan. 6, 7.
Mantachie ct., at Shiloh, Jan. 9.
Marietta ct., at Marietta, Jan. 10.
Rienzi ct., at Rienzi, Jan. 11.
Chalybeate ct., at Camp Grouud, Jan. 12.
Ripley sta., Jan. 12, 14, night.
Silver Springs ct., at Mt. Carmel, Jan. 13, 14.
Great State Conference on Evangelism, for all pastors and church officials, to be held at Jackson, Miss., Jan. 16 and 17.
Burnsville ct., at Hebron, Jan. 19.
Iuka ct., at Snow Down, Jan. 20, 21.
Iuka sta., Jan 21, p.m.; Jan. 22, a.m.

All pastors of the Corinth District are called to meet the presiding elder in Corinth for special conference, Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 23 and 24.

Paden ct., at Westt Side, Jan. 26.
Belmont ct., at Golden, Jan. 28, 29.
Tishomingo ct., at Tishomingo, Jan. 27, 28.

J. B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—First Round.

Inverness, at Inverness, Jan. 7, a.m.
Belzoni, Jan. 7, p.m.
Tutwiler, at Tutwiler, Jan. 11, a.m.
Drew, at Drew, Jan. 14, p.m.
Great Rally for Home Missions and Evangelism at Jackson, Jan. 16 and 17, five laymen from each charge, and every pastor in the district to attend.
Swift, at Morgan, Jan. 10, the pastor to set the hour.
Webb, at Webb, Jan. 21, a.m.
Minter City, at Minter City, Jan. 21, at 3 p.m.
Schlater, at Schlater, Jan. 24, p.m.
Tchula, Jan. 28, a.m.
Sidon and Cruger, at Sidon, Jan. 28, p.m.
Sunflower, at Sunflower, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, Feb. 4, 3 p.m.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—First Round.

Coffeeville ct., at Coffeeville, Dec. 24, Jan. 10.
Holcomb ct., at Holcomb, Jan. 7.
Poplar Creek ct., at Shiloh, Jan. 13.
Tie Plant ct., at T. P., Jan. 14.
Duck Hill ct., at Duck Hill, Jan. 14, 15.
Winona sta., Jan. 21, a.m.; Jan. 22, p.m.
Kilmichael ct., at Kilmichael, Jan. 21, p.m.; Jan. 22, a.m.
Waterford ct., at Waterford, Jan. 26.
Ashland ct., at Ashland, Jan. 27.
Lamar ct., at Lamar, Jan. 28.
Paris ct., at Paris, Feb. 3.
Abbeville ct., at Abbeville, Feb. 4.
Lexington, Feb. 9, 11.
Ebenezer ct., at Hebron, Feb. 10.

District stewards' meeting at Grenada, Dec. 7, at 2 o'clock p.m.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—First Round.

Friais Point and Bobo, at Bobo, Jan. 7, a.m.
Shelby, Jan. 7, p.m.
District Stewards meet at Shaw, Jan. 8, 2 p.m.
Cleveland, Jan. 10, p.m.
Gunnison and Sherard, at Gunnison, Jan. 14, a.m.
Rosedale and Hillhouse, at Rosedale, Jan. 14, p.m.
Laymen and Pastors meet at Jackson, Jan. 16, 17.
Glen Allan and Benoit, at Benoit, Jan. 21, a.m.
Glen Allan and Benoit, at Glen Allan, Jan. 21, p.m.
Hollandale and Arcola, at Hollandale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Leland, Jan. 28, p.m.
Greenville, Jan. 31, p.m.
Jnestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, a.m.
Jonestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, p.m.
Boyle and Pace, at Boyle, Feb. 11, a.m.
Boyle circuit, at New Salem, Feb. 11, 3 p.m.

The mass meeting at Jackson, Jan. 16, 17, is of sufficient importance to provoke a record attendance from this territory. Make your plans NOW, brethren. It will be the best money and time you have ever invested for your church. The district stewards' meeting at Shaw should have the individual attention of every district steward. Due personal notice will be given later. The Shaw quarterly conference will be held in connection with the district stewards' meet. District Conference at Jonestown, May 8-11. In arranging your meetings, brethren, give this fact due attention.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
FOR THE RELIEF OF
Coughs, Colds, Croup
WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS
BRONCHITIS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE-

Sardis District—First Round.

Crenshaw, at Sledge, Feb. 4.
Cockrum, at Palestine, 11 a.m., Jan. 6.
Pleasant Hill, at P. H., 11 a.m., Jan. 7.
Horn Lake, at H. L., preaching, p.m., Jan. 7; Q. C., 11 a.m., Jan. 8.
Sardis ct., at Terza, 11 a.m., Jan. 10.
Longtown, at Longtown, 11 a.m., Jan. 11.
Arkabutla, at Hunter's Chapel, 11 a.m., Jan. 12.
Crowder, at Crowder, evening, Jan. 14.
Mt. Pleasant, at M. P., Jan. 20, 21.
Tyro, at Free Springs, Jan. 27, 28.
District Preachers' Meeting, at Sardis, Jan. 23-24, beginning at 11 a.m., Jan. 23.
District Conference, at Senatobia, May 15-17.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

OTHINE
For the treatment of FRECKLES
In Use for Over 14 Years
Your freckles need attention NOW or may remain all winter. Use Othine—double strength—the old and time-tried guaranteed treatment that has given satisfaction to millions of women, and rid yourself of these homely spots.
At all Druggists and Department Stores.

Piles Can Be Cured
(Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding)
Many sufferers have been made very happy over the results obtained from the use of PAZO OINTMENT—60c at any Drug Store.
(Follow the Directions Carefully.)

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS — A FINE GENERAL TONIC
If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.

Sunday School

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI

By Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

1923! It is easy to turn over a new leaf, to make good resolutions; and just as easy to soil the white page and break the resolutions—as it has always been. One resolution is sufficient and all-inclusive and that is to give the whole heart unreservedly to God. It is death to the flesh, to make the surrender and death daily to remain surrendered. The surrender is effective and fruitful to the extent that we study God's Word, pray in faith, and do his will. We study the Bible to know what he would have us do; we pray that we receive strength to do his will. This resolution let us make and keep—study the Word and pray through to victory.

Your school is depending upon you, Brother Superintendent, to get the new "Program of Work" we have been talking about and put it before them that they may see where they stand in comparison with others; above all how they stand before God and a dying world. You may not believe it, but your school is more anxious to do something worthy than you think. The school is waiting for you to lead somewhere and do something worthy of our Lord and his church. If my heart could speak out what it feels, it would say, "Man, for the sake of him who died to redeem us, for the sake of helpless childhood, and for the sake of dying men, wake up and do more than you have been doing; wake up, wake up, and go to work in earnest." Send for your "Program of Work" and work it.

One point in this program is evangelism. Evangelism is not simply holding a protracted meeting once a year. Evangelism includes every proper thing that is done in the revival meeting and a great deal more. Evangelism seeks to lead the heart into right relations with Jesus Christ and nurtures that heart and trains the life in service throughout the entire year and through all the years. Is it necessary to pray much to make the revival a success? It is just as needful for the teacher and all concerned to pray and be filled with the Holy Spirit to evangelize. To be brief, Jesus practiced evangelism—he is the Evangel. Write to me for leaflets on evangelism, a sufficient number for each teacher. Then lead each teacher in the study of these leaflets, lead them to pray and work until every unsaved soul in the school is brought to Christ. The school that is not evangelizing needs to be evangelized. May God give us a passion for lost souls.

In this program of work given us there is a place for Missions, a regular place. The less of the missionary spirit we possess, the better is the devil pleased; the more of the spirit of missions in our schools, the more do we possess the Spirit of Christ. The missionary idea must be taught by giving the Word, by prayer, through song, and through the lives of those who are giving the gospel to the unsaved. May the Lord be merciful to the superintendent who is failing to give missionary instruction to the entire school. Look up the program in the Sunday School Magazine, send for maps of our mission fields, take a missionary special. We can take in new ground that girdles the globe.

Why are we saying so much about teacher training? It is to give the teachers the Christ idea of evangelism and missions. The missionary idea is only the evangelistic purpose extended to the uttermost parts of the earth. Our main reason for asking for the offering on the fifth Sunday in December is to train teachers in the divine art of presenting Christ to every human heart in such a compelling way that the heart will yield in obedience to our Lord and Master. A small offering from a few schools means we will be hampered in getting teachers to teach in these schools. Send the amount your school contributes to Rev. J. E. Stephens, Grenada, Miss.

GIRL HAD PAINFUL TIMES

Mothers—Read This Letter and Statement Which Follows

Portland, Indiana.—"I was troubled with irregularity and constipation and would often have to lie down because of pains. One Sunday my aunt was visiting us and she said her girls took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got well, so mother said she guessed she would let me try it. It is doing me good and I praise it highly. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial." — STELLA NEWTON, R. R. 8, Portland, Indiana.

Mothers—You should carefully guard your daughter's health. Advise her of the danger which comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, or overworking. Do not let her overstudy.

If she complains of headache, pains in back or lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, give her careful attention.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for your daughter to take, as it is especially adopted to relieve just such symptoms. Remember it contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in safety.

A LETTER FROM REV. J. A. POE.

Dear Advocate: I would like to tell my dear friends of the North Mississippi Conference good-by through your columns. I have spent the first half of my active life in that Conference. Many and dear are the memories of the land that is made sacred with the dust of my fathers, and of my childhood's halcyon days. It was under the soft, sunny skies, where the bluebird sends forth her rich love notes, and spring breezes whisper gently in the branches of the stately pines, and summer opens her wide arms of bountiful fruition, which autumn ripens in billows of golden glory, that I first saw the light. It was amid these tender tokens of love and mercy that I first came into the conscious presence of my Lord. So I shall ever cherish a warm feeling for my own, my native country. Many and dear are the ties of friendship there. I do not expect to find better friends here or anywhere in the world than some of my friends there.

I greatly missed the association of my preacher brothers that gathered in Conference at Water Valley, Nov. 8. And as I was driving toward my new field of labor, my mind kept turning back to the place where I knew they had met. But I had turned my face toward the North and had to push on. It must have been a great Conference, for Felts said so, and he knows a few things, and sees many things, but he is not quite Argus-eyed. He said there were no politics in that session, or words to that effect. Now, if there were no politics and favoritism mixed in that divinity it was pentacostal, and bordering on the millennial. There was as little in his heart as could be found in any of them, no doubt, for Felts is some fine man. But they are as fine a body of soldiers as can be found anywhere, and I love them. When shall I see their dear faces again? I shall never forget them or cease to pray for them. And I wish to take this opportunity to ask them, and all my friends, to pray for us.

I think we are going to have a fine pastorate here. We have been cordially received, and every token of appreciation has been shown us that we could expect. I trust the hand of the Lord has led us this way. Brandenburg, like Rome, is situated on seven hills, but the "Areopagus" is not on one of them, but nestles hard by the historic Ohio,

"Where the ships of traffic go,
And the murky, icy waters flow."

The place is picturesque, in that it resembles some scenes of Switzerland, with its nice homes nestling like gems on vine-clad hills. Its public buildings are splendid for a town of its size.

This is a fine Conference, and ranks high in Centenary and Education pledges and payments. The church throughout this section seems to be taking on new life, and advancing along all lines. The revival spirit is especially noticeable, and even at this date the Conference Organ gives accounts of sweeping revivals almost every week. The population is dense and homogeneous in race, but very heterogeneous in cults. The Baptist church seems to be in the ascendency just at this time, with the Methodists a close second. The success of the Baptist cause here is doubtless due to the influence of the fine Seminary located in Louisville, from which goes out an army of students, filling every available pulpit every Sunday, and often on Saturday. The church that sends laborers into the fields will reap a harvest. And the church that takes care of the lowly and poor of to-day will be the church of wealth and power tomorrow. It is to be regretted that some of our students see fit to seek that institution for theological training. There may be a good reason for it. I understand it is free from the teaching of the so-called Rationalist. And the general association of that church declared its opposition to the teaching of any doctrine contrary to the standards. It also declared positively that it would withdraw all support from any school that had Modernism taught by their professors. Good for that old ship of the mighty deep! Well, I have wandered far afield, and hear some good brother laugh and say FOGY. But as sure as God is INFINITE and His ways past finding out (and they are), Rationalism and the church of Jesus Christ are not handmaidens and will not go together. The Christ was a mystic of mystics, and never attempted to prove his divinity, except by his works, and offered no explanation of his sonship, or definition of the Trinity. He was all he claimed to be, or he was an impostor. There is no middle ground. If He was not false as hell, then Rationalism is blatant Skepticism.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof cabbage plants ready now. Varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED

Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

We have a fine district, and it stands next to head in the list. Our aim is to stand beside the one that is head at the end of this year. Our presiding elder, Rev. J. H. Nicholson, is wide-awake, and on his job to a finish. He is getting out a district paper, and pushing every department of his growing district.

May God bless the dear New Orleans Advocate; it has come to see me almost every week since I was a schoolboy. I would feel lost without it. Some great men have been connected with it—Boswell, Galloway, Meek, and last but not least, Carley, all great Editors. J. A. POE.

Bradenburg, Ky., Dec. 19, 1922.

A blind man and a lame man meeting upon the way, the lame man said, "If thou wilt be feet unto me, then I will be eyes unto thee." So the blind man carrying the lame, and the lame guiding the blind, both arrived at their journey's end in a good hour.—Aesop.

Ye Would Not: O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments! then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteousness as the waves of the sea.—Isaiah 48:18.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

FROM HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: I am sending with this note a list of 146 subscriptions to the New Orleans Christian Advocate, which is a copy for every Methodist home in the town. This is the fourth year they have put the Advocate in the budget, and it appears now that it will be the permanent policy of the Board of Stewards to place in the homes of the people a religious paper. The majority of them think that the expenditure is justifiable in that results are gained in interest and loyalty. One man said he read the New Orleans Advocate from front to back. It is needless to say that he is always present at preaching, prayer meeting, board meetings, quarterly conferences. A lady said she was always glad when she saw it in her box.

We are planning to do better work here at Holly Springs than we have ever done. It is our purpose to accept the "B" program of service in the Sunday school and to try to attain what is required. At our January meeting of the Workers' Council we are going to study it. It is certainly gratifying to know that we now have a definite plan to work by in the Sunday school. The Missionary Society is planning to do excellent work, too. Their watchword is, "Every Methodist woman a member of the Society."

Our young people are looking forward to a rally time, too, in the early months of the year. It has been their plan to have some worker from the Central office of the Epworth League to give a series of lectures on League work. We want to do that again this year. In March we will have our revival. I want to have one of the very best men in Southern Methodism to assist us, believing as I do that the church must ever hold to the fundamental conceptions of evangelism, intensive and educational. From this revival we hope to group a number of laymen for surrounding missionary work.

Our Centenary and Educational treasurers are making earnest efforts to secure those funds.

Pray for us that we may grow in grace and strength.

W. R. LOTT, P. C

Iowa Physician Makes Startling Offer To Catarrh Sufferers

Found Treatment Which Healed His Own Catarrh, and Now Offers to Send It Free to Sufferers Anywhere.

Davenport, Iowa—Dr. W. O. Coffee, Suite 726 St. James Hotel Building, this city, one of the most widely known physicians and surgeons in the Central West, announces that he found a treatment which completely healed him of catarrh in the head and nose, deafness, and head noises, after many years of suffering. He then gave the treatment to a number of other sufferers, and they state that they also were completely healed. The Doctor is so proud of this achievement, and so confident that his treatment will bring other sufferers the same freedom it gave him, that he is offering to send a ten-days' supply absolutely free to any reader of this paper who writes him. Dr. Coffee has specialized on eye, ear, nose, and throat diseases for more than thirty-five years, and is honored and respected by countless thousands. If you suffer from nose, head, or throat catarrh, catarrhal deafness, or head noises, send him your name and address today.—Adv.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs

For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.

25 CTS.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Monroe Dist.—First Round.

Columbia, Jan. 6, 7.
Oak Ridge, Jan. 10.
Rayville, Jan. 13, 14.
Tallulah, Jan. 14, 15.
Epps, Jan. 20, 21.
Oak Grove, Jan. 21, 22.
Ferriday, Jan. 27, 28.
Sicily Island, Jan. 28, 29.
Gilbert, Feb. 3, 4.
Mangham, Feb. 4, 5.
Waterproof, Feb. 10, 11.
Chatham, Feb. 17, 18.
Eros, Feb. 18, 19.
Winnsboro, Feb. 21.
Lake Providence, Feb. 24, 25.

District stewards meeting at Rayville, Tuesday, Jan. 16, 11 a.m.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven Dist.—First Round.

Pleasant Grove, at Pleasant Grove, Jan. 6, 7.
Monticello, at Monticello, 7 p.m., Jan. 7.
Adams, at Adams, Jan. 13, 14.
Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at Norfield, 7 p.m., Jan. 14.
Meadville and Bude, at Bude, Jan. 21.
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson, 7 p.m., Jan. 21.
Gallman, at Bethesda, Jan. 24.
Foxworth, at Hopewell, Jan. 27, 28.
Tylertown, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Osyka, at Osyka, Jan. 31.
Barlow, at Rehoboth, Feb. 3, 4.
Brookhaven, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
McComb, Pearl River Ave., Feb. 7.
Crystal Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Georgetown, at Georgetown, 7 p.m., Feb. 11.
Magnolia, Feb. 14.
McComb, Centenary, 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
McComb, La Branch St., 7 p.m., Feb. 18.
Scotland, at New Hope, Feb. 21.
Summit and Topisaw, at Topisaw, Feb. 24, 25.
Fernwood, at Fernwood, 7 p.m., Feb. 25.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

Hattiesburg Dist.—First Round.

Collins, Jan. 7, 11 a.m.
Seminary, Jan. 7, 7 p.m.
Petal, Jan. 14, 11 a.m.
Bonhommie, Jan. 14, 7 p.m.
Heidelberg, at Vossburg, Jan. 21, 11 a.m.
Ellisville, Jan. 21, 7 p.m.
Williamsburg, at Good Hope, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
Prentiss, Jan. 28, 29, 7 p.m.
Eucutta, at New Hope, Thurs., Feb. 1, 11 a.m.
Taylorsville, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Mt. Olive-Magee, at Magee, Feb. 4, 7 p.m.
Hattiesburg, Court St., Feb. 11, 11 a.m.
Purvis, Feb. 11, 12, 7 p.m., 9:30 a.m.
Lucedale ct., at Merrill, Feb. 18, 11 a.m.
New Augusta, Feb. 18, 7 p.m.
Sumrall, Wed., Feb. 21, 7 p.m.
Leakesville, at Pine Grove, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Lucedale, Feb. 25, 7 p.m.
Avera, Mar. 4, 11 a.m.
Hattiesburg, Broad St., Mar. 4, 7 p.m.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—First Round.

Canton, Jan. 7, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Bolton, at Raymond, Jan. 14, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Edwards, Jan. 21, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Flora, Jan. 21, 7 p.m.
Flora, Jan. 22, 2 p.m.
Madison, Jan. 24, 11 a.m.
Satartia, at Mt. Olivet, Jan. 27, 28, 11 a.m.
Bentonia, Jan. 28, 2 p.m., 7 p.m.
Harrisville, at Rexford, Feb. 3, 4, 11 a.m.
Mendenhall and D'Lo, at D'Lo, Feb. 4, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Camden, at Camden, Feb. 13, 14, 11 a.m.
Sharon, at Sharon, Feb. 14, 2:30 p.m.
Vaughn, Feb. 16, 11 a.m.
Benton, at Midway, Feb. 17, 11 a.m.
Eden, at Eden, Feb. 18, 2:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Yazoo City circuit, at ——, Feb. 24, 25, 11 a.m.
Yazoo City, Feb. 25, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Brandon, at Pelahatchie, Mar. 4, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Monterey, at Mt. Carmel, Feb. 5, 11 a.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—First Round.

Porterville, at Chapel Hill, Jan. 6, 7.
Scooba, Jan. 7, p.m.
Cleveland, at Mellen, Jan. 12.
DeKalb, at Pleasant Ridge, Jan. 13, 14.
Vimville, at Pleasant Hill, Jan. 20, 21.
Meridian, Seventh Ave., Jan. 21, p.m.
Daleville, at Lockhart, Jan. 21, 22.
Lauderdale and Electric Mills, at Elec. M., Jan. 28.
Waynesboro circuit, at Fedora, Feb. 3, 4.
Waynesboro, Feb. 4.
Matherville, at Poplar Springs, Feb. 10, 11.
DeSoto, at Crandall, Feb. 11, 12.
Enterprise, Feb. 15, 16.
Pachuta, Feb. 16, 17.
Quitman, Feb. 18.
Shubuta, Feb. 18, p.m.
Bucatunna, at State Line, Feb. 25.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Seashore Dist.—First Round.

Americus, Fri., 11 a.m., Jan. 5.
Moss Point, 11 a.m., Jan. 7.
Escatawpa, 3 p.m., Jan. 7.
Pascagoula, 7 p.m., Jan. 7.
Lumberton, 11 a.m., Jan. 14.
Columbia Mission, at Hub, 3 p.m., Jan. 14.
Columbia, 7 p.m., Jan. 14.
Poplarville, 11 a.m., Jan. 21.
Picayune, 7 p.m., Jan. 21.
Carriere, Mon., 11 a.m., Jan. 22.
Vancleave, at Vancleave, 11 a.m., Wed., Jan. 24.
Mentorum, at Alexandria Memorial, 11 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 27.
Brooklyn, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Wiggins, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Saucier, at Saucier, Wed., 7 p.m., Jan. 31.
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Back Bay, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
Gulfport, Q. C., Mon., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 5.
Biloxi, Q. C., Tues., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 6.
Long Beach, Q. C., Wed., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 7.

W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—First Round.

Harriston, at Lorman, 11 a.m., Jan. 7.
Port Gibson, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 7.
Hermanville, 11 a.m., Jan. 14.
Utica, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 14, 15.
Washington, 11 a.m., Jan. 21.
Natchez, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 21.
Rosetta, 11 a.m., Jan. 26.
Gloster, 11 a.m., Jan. 27.
Centerville, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Woodville, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 28.
Rocky Springs, at Willows, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Vicksburg, Gibson Memorial, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4, 5.
Roxie, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Vicksburg, Crawford Street, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 11, 12.
Oak Ridge, at Flower Hill, 11 a.m. Feb. 14.
Louise and Holly Bluff, at H. B., 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
Silver City, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 18.
Mayersville, Feb. 24.
Anguilla at Delta City, 11 a.m., Feb. 25.
Rolling Fork, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 25.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

Ye Shall Be Satisfied: Ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you; and my people shall never be ashamed.—Joel 2: 26.

FORD RUNS 57 MILES ON GALLON OF GASOLINE.

A new automatic Vaporizer and Decarbonizer, which in actual test has increased the power and mileage of Fords from 25 to 50 per cent and at the same time removes every particle of carbon from the cylinders is the proud achievement of John A. Stransky, 3305 South Main Street, Pukwana, South Dakota. A remarkable feature of this simple and inexpensive device is that its action is governed entirely by the motor. It is slipped between the carburetor and intake manifold and can be installed by anyone in five minutes without drilling or tapping. With it attached, Ford cars have made from 40 to 57 miles on one gallon of gasoline. Mr. Stransky wants to place a few of these devices on cars in this territory and has a very liberal offer to make to anyone who is able to handle the business which is sure to be created wherever this marvelous little device is demonstrated. If you want to try one entirely at his risk send him your name and address today.—Adv.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR
CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND
SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

Break up congestion

Exposure—then painful chest with a tight, clinging cold. Don't let that develop. Break up the congestion and you are relieved of your cold. Apply Sloan's. Don't rub. It penetrates—strikes right into the sore spot, warms it up, starts the blood coming and going. This simple, effective action banishes the congestion.

Truly, "The World's Liniment." Sloan's eases backache, neuralgia, sore, aching muscles, rheumatic twinges—all the pains of congestion.

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to
Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1431 Octavia St., New Orleans, La.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

The Society At Lula.

The Woman's Missionary Society of Lula, Miss., has just closed a very successful year's work; and but for the death of its efficient president, Mrs. W. L. Rhodes, it has been a happy and harmonious year.

The various departments have done excellent work, which enabled all the officers and superintendents, at the December business meeting, to give good accounts of their stewardship during the year, 1922.

The Social Service report was especially gratifying, its totals of visits, trays, flowers, garments, and money donated to worthy and needy cases, would do credit to a society with a membership twice as large.

The budget system has taken care of its finances and has enabled the society to meet its every obligation. We have improved the parsonage and added to its furnishings, and have a substantial balance of local funds in the bank. Over this last mentioned fact, a reader of Vergil is tempted to exclaim, "Mirabile dictu." But the Methodist women of Lula are singing, instead, "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow."

The auxiliary will celebrate its "Harvest Day" victory with a great "Harvest Home" jubilee, during the holidays; plans for which are now being enthusiastically worked out.

The newly elected executive staff is at work reorganizing all the departments according to the Council's standard plan, with a view to a great forward movement among the women of the charge in 1923:

The following officers will cooperate for the realization of these plans, and for the advancement of the Kingdom, at home and abroad: Mrs. J. M. Wyatt, president; Mrs. H. B. Watson, vice president; Mrs. H. D. Riley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. N. Yeates, recording secretary; Mrs. Will Wellman, treasurer; Mrs. Leo Hall, agent for the "Voice;" Mrs. W. H. Eason, superintendent Social Service; Mrs. T. H. Brown, superintendent of Supplies; Mrs. Geo. Morgan, superintendent of Mission Study; Mrs. R. M. Carnathan, superintendent of parsonage "Upkeep;" Mrs. Erasmus Morgan, musical leader.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Interesting News of Miss Howell and Her Wonderful Work.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 10, 1922.

Dear Auxiliaries: I'm going to give to you some of the items of interest from Miss Howell's fourth "Travel-Letter" written en route from Seoul to Fusan, Korea. She says: "I am writing on the train as I travel from Seoul to Fusan. My little portable Remington is the 'joy of my life.' I wonder how I ever got along without it. We do not stop long enough anywhere to have stenographic help and if I did not have my own typewriter I could scarcely write to you at all. We are busy every moment way into the hours of the night. We attended seven committee meetings yesterday and then there were all the interviews besides.

The Visit to Osaka, Japan.

"I could scarcely wait to get to Osaka to see the new site for the Lambuth Bible School that we had purchased with our Centenary funds. It is right in the heart of the city with its almost two million people. The Christian Japanese doctors who are so interested in the Child Welfare Department of the school met me at the station and went over with Miss Williams, Miss Cook and me to the site. They told me that twenty-five per cent of the babies born in Osaka die before they are a year old. The contract has been let for the building and the contractor was already on the grounds. Before we left we all knelt in prayer with the contractor and committed the building of the house to God. The contractor is not a Christian and arose with tears in his eyes. We prayed that no life might be lost in the process of building and that no penny of the money put into the undertaking might be lost.

"You will wonder what is to become of the Kindergarten Department while the work is going on. Through the kindness of the Presbyterians, our school will be housed in a portion of one of their school dormitories—not far from the new site and our class work will be done in the West Osaka church. The faculty met at the church and we had such a pleasant talk together. How I wish you could have seen these Japanese women and their enthusiasm for the work! The faculty also knelt in prayer that the year's work, in spite of all the obstacles, might be very fruitful. It was a joy to feel their spirit.

The Work In Kure.

"I had to rush down to Kure before coming to Korea because the three workers there were out of house and home. Something had to be done immediately! Last year our workers lived in a home that we rented from the Presbyterians and were very comfortable. At the very end of the summer our workers heard that the Presbyterians were planning to use their house this fall and it could no longer be rented by us. There were no other foreign houses in the place and no chance to rent a good Japanese house. The question was what to do. There was but one hope in the minds of our workers and that was to see if the Presbyterians would agree to sell their house to us, which they agreed to do. The house is large and roomy, and will do for the Social-Evangelistic Center with very little remodeling. There is enough land to build another residence for the workers and also room for a home for the Japanese workers. It is wonderful to think of the work we can do in this city.

Our Welcome to Korea.

"You cannot picture the way we were welcomed by the folks in Korea. When we got off the train at Seoul there were about two hundred at the station to greet us. It was indeed a royal welcome and one we can never forget as long as we live. When our party reached Songdo we were met by 2600—think of it! There were Koreans, missionaries, and students—boys and girls—a thousand from the Anglo-Korean Boys' School. Certainly no one could have been more royally welcomed to any place. Don't you imagine Paul was welcomed in such a way when he went to the various churches? I feel as if I were living over the book of Acts.

The Mission Meeting In Korea.

For three days we were in the Mission Meeting in Songdo. Really, the Korea of to-day is not the Korea of 1919. The changes in the three years since my last visit were inconceivable. It would take an annual survey to keep pace with the work; the missionaries reported all the schools as having doubled in student bodies this past year. Holston Institute, the Council's school, has twelve hundred girls this fall—think of it! Carolina Institute in Seoul has over 500. The Lucy Cunningham School in Monson has also about 500. School-rooms have been subdivided and halls have been turned into class rooms—missionaries' homes have been turned into class rooms, thus doing away with all privacy for the workers. Classes are being held in the yards under trees with no way of housing them this winter. The churches are being used for overflow classes. School fees have been increased to keep the crowds out, but it makes no difference with them, for they are determined to have an education at any cost. They want a Christian education. The call for buildings and equipment was almost more than I could stand.

The Great Need at Carolina Institute.

"The need for better and enlarged equipment at Caorlina Institute in Seoul is the most pressing question I am facing in Korea. The siutation is really very grave. At roll call the morning when I was present there were four hundred and eightly girls who answered to roll call. They have no place out of doors where they can assemble and no adequate class rooms or dormitory space. There are six girls in rooms intended for three, and every available space is being used for classes. All of our schools in Korea are turning away girls for lack of space. We must have a good school in this Capital city or lose a great opportunity. How are we going to meet this great need that has arisen so quickly on account of the educational awakening? If our church people at home could see this situation, they would pay their Centenary pledge, I'm sure."

This is not all of her letter but I will not tax you with more at this time. When we realize the pressing needs as seen by one of our own Secretaries, I'm sure it will inspire us in the ranks to greater activity and sacrifice in order to meet these needs.

Yours in service,
MRS. S. A. MONTGOMERY,
Cor. Secretary.
7926 Elm St., New Orleans, La.

Skin Tortured Babies Sleep
Mothers Rest
After Cuticura
Soap, Ointment, Talcum 25c everywhere. For samples address Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

PARKER'S
HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
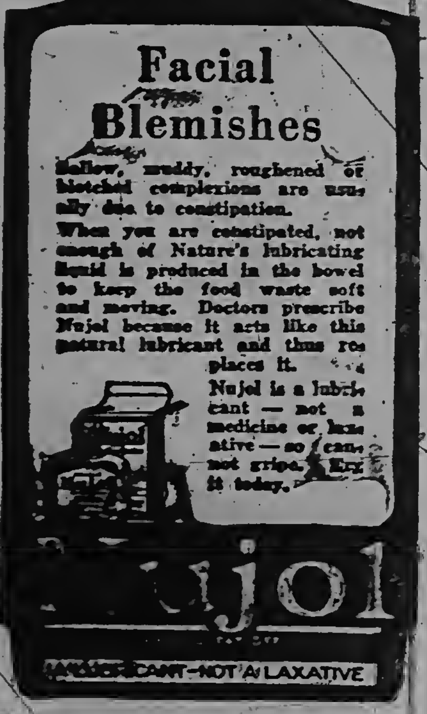
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Breaks Up CROUP
Colds, Coughs, LaGrippe, Flu, and a valuable aid in treatment of Pneumonia.
CAPU-SAV
clears the phlegm, reduces inflammation, penetrates. White salve; does not discolor clothing. In handy, collapsible tubes, 25c, at drug stores, or sent by mail.
CAPUDINE CO. :: :: RALEIGH, N. C.



Facial Blemishes
Sallow, muddy, roughened or blotched complexions are usually due to constipation.
When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it.
Nujol is a lubricant — not a medicine or laxative — so cannot gripe. Try it today.
Nujol
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intravenous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Bitter Chillifuge 25c
Has a bitter tonic taste and quick action in routing malaria from the system.
Will quickly stop chills and fever.
Splendid tonic for torpid liver and bracer for poor appetite.
FINLAY, DICKS & CO., INC.,
NEW ORLEANS.

TETTERINE
For the Complexion
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Church Furniture
WORK OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY
AT REASONABLE PRICES
Write for Catalogue
BUDDE & WEIS MFG. CO.
JACKSON, TENNESSEE

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District—First Round.

Campti, at Campti, Jan. 7, a.m.
Coushatta, Jan. 7, p.m.
Alexandria, Jan. 8, p.m.
Melder Ct., at Melder, Jan. 11.
Marksville Ct., at Evergreen, Jan. 14, a.m.
Bunkie, Jan. 14, p.m.
Colfax, at Colfax, Jan. 16, p.m.
Melville, at Melville, Jan. 21, a.m.
Opelousas, Jan. 21, p.m.
Livonia, at Livonia, Jan. 24.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at ———, Jan. 25.
Oakdale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Glenmora, Jan. 28, p.m.
Natchitoches, Jan. 30, p.m.
Rochelle and Standard, at Standard, Feb. 1, p.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jena, Feb. 4, a.m.
Trout and Good Pine, at Trout, Feb. 4, p.m.

W. L. DOSS, Jr., P. E.

Baton Rouge Dist.—First Round.

St. Francisville, at St. F., Jan. 7, a.m.
Baton Rouge, First Church, Jan. 7, p.m.
Natalbany and Pine Grove, at Natalbany, Jan. 14, a.m.
Hammond, Jan. 14, p.m.
Bogalusa ct., at Bogalusa, Jan. 21, a.m.
Bogalusa, Jan. 21, p.m.
Pearl River ct., at Pearl River, Jan. 28, a.m.
Slidell, at Slidell, Jan. 28, p.m.
Springfield ct., at Springfield, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ponchatoula, at Ponchatoula, Feb. 4, p.m.
Franklinton ct., at Fisher, Feb. 11, a.m.
Franklinton, Feb. 11, p.m.
Olive Branch, at Olive Br., Feb. 18, a.m.
Baker, at Baker, Feb. 18, 3 p.m., 7 p.m.
Tickfaw Mis., at Pine Ridge, Feb. 25, a.m.
Amite, Feb. 25, p.m.
Greensburg, at Days, Mar. 4, a.m.
Kentwood, Mar. 4, p.m.
Covington, at Covington, Mar. 11, a.m.
Gonzales, at Meadows, Mar. 18, a.m.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

Lake Charles Dist.—First Round.

Abbeville and Kaplan, at Abbeville, Jan. 7, 11 a.m.
Gueydan and Estherwood, at Gueydan, Jan. 7, 7:30 p.m.
Crowley, Jan. 14, 11 a.m.
Eunice Ct., at Eunice, Jan. 14, 7:30 p.m.
New Iberia, Jan. 21, 11 a.m.
Lafayette, Jan. 21, 7:30 p.m.
Merryville, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
De Ridder, Jan. 28, 7:30 p.m.
Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, Feb. 4, 7:30 p.m.
Branch Ct., at Branch, Feb. 11, 11 a.m.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Ruston Dist.—First Round.

Jonesboro, at Jonesboro, Jan. 17, preaching, 11 a.m.
Gibsland, at Gibsland, Jan. 24; preaching, 11 a.m.
Arcadia, Jan. 31; preaching, 11 a.m.
Elmore, at Wesley, Jan. 4; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Sibley, at Pine Grove, Jan. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield, Jan. 7; preaching, 11 a.m; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield circuit, at Joyce, Jan. 7, preaching, 7:30 p.m.; Q. C., 4 p.m.
Bienville, at Bienville, Jan. 14, preaching, 11 a.m.
Bernice, at Bernice, Jan. 16; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Farmerville, Jan. 17; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Marion, at Marion, Jan. 18; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Minden, Jan. 21, preaching, 11 a.m.
Homer, Jan. 23; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Haynesville, Jan. 24; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Dubach, at Dubach, Jan. 26; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Springhill, Jan. 28, preaching, 11 a.m.
Cotton Valley, Jan. 28, preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Ringgold, at Ringgold, Feb. 4, preaching 11 a.m.
Wesley, at Hall Summit, Feb. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Simsboro, at Simsboro, Feb. 7; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Haughton and Doyline, at Haughton, Feb. 11, preaching 11 a.m.
Ruston, Feb. 12, 7:30 p.m.
Castor, Feb. 14; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Athens, Feb. 18; Q. C., preaching, 11 a.m.
District Stewards' meeting, at Arcadia, Jan. 11, at 10:30 a.m.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—First Round.

Greenwood, Jan. 7 a.m.
Oil City, Jan. 7, p.m.
Vivian, Jan. 10, p.m.
Pelican, Jan. 13, p.m.
Pleasant Hill, Jan. 14, a.m.
Grand Cane, at Stonewall, Jan. 21, a.m.
Mansfield, Jan. 21, p.m.
Noel Memorial, Jan. 24, p.m.
Plain Dealing, Jan. 28, a.m.
Mooringsport, Jan. 31, p.m.
Bayou La Chute, Feb. 4 a.m.
First Church, Shreveport, Feb. 7, p.m.
Longstreet, Feb. 11, a.m.
Logansport, Feb. 11, p.m.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

BLACK DRAUGHT OVER 30 YEARS

"Saved Me Many a Sick Spell," Says Texas Farmer, Who Has Long Known Usefulness of Black-Draught.

Naples, Texas.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for years—I can safely say for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out on Route 3 from here.

"I am 43 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny and my folks gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it.

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble.

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes that he is "never out of Black-Draught," and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs.

Black-Draught helps to keep the liver in trim, helping prevent or relieve such troubles as constipation, biliousness, indigestion, sick headache,

Be sure, to get the genuine.—Adv.

$1000 For Your Spare Time!

$1000

Many ministers, teachers, farmers and merchants with willingness to work, are making this much and more per year selling our monuments in their spare time.

Responsible Men Only

We have some territory open for men who will interest customers in "Time-Proof" monuments and who can give us good references. We require no advance payment because we are confident the monument will please the customer. No investment. Commissions paid in cash.

Write us today for full particulars.

CONSUMERS' MONUMENT CO.
Box 44 BALL GROUND, GA.

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

For Troubled Nerves,

high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

This is the time when you must positively use care in selecting foods—when you must use care in selecting articles of food, to be sure that you get the real food values that help build up good health.

You must have the vital elements in foods if you want to keep well. These vital elements cause the food you eat to assimilate—it means health and growth in children—also in grown-ups. It means replacement of worn out tissue, the building of lost bodily vigor. In fact, it is absolutely necessary to life itself.

Many food authorities agree that pure baking powder and good plain flour are much better for food value and health than many self-rising flours.

For the best of health—for the most economical results—use only plain flour and good baking powder.

YOU, AS A GOOD HOUSEWIFE know that the time to add anything to flour is just before you begin your baking, not months before and you also know that no prepared mixtures such as the self-rising flour can be as fresh—can be as certain in results—as the good old fashioned straight flour and pure baking powder.

For best results use—
Calumet Baking Powder and a good plain flour.

CUBA STILL A CHALLENGE TO OUR FAITH.

By Garfield Evans.

As our train rounded a curve, the conductor pointed to the buildings nestled in a cove across the bay and advised us it was the city of Antilla. After greeting the genial pastor, it was difficult to keep from stopping time and again to look and feast on the wonderful view overlooking the Antilla Harbor where with its depth and complete protection it could safely harbor several navies. As we looked out from the "casa de ministro" (parsonage) we could see at least three other towns situated about the bay.

The town has a population of about 6,000 and is the port and wholesale center for the northeastern end of the Island. To understand the importance of the port, one may observe that one company, the United Fruit Company, alone has 45,000 acres of land in sugar cane around the bay.

As was the case in almost every congregation, an interested group of young people met me to talk over the work of the church and the part in which they could best contribute their service. They were delighted to find that a League Manual had been prepared for them in Spanish and that other literature was to follow soon. Their interest and activity were all the more remarkable when it was realized that there was no other church, either Protestant or Catholic, in the entire city.

The pastor pointed across the bay to smoke on a large "ingendo" (sugar mill and plantation). They explained to me that it was the largest or one of the largest mills on the Island. And then as we looked at the mountains he told me of the villages and settlements far up and beyond the first range of mountains, where he occasionally made visits and could make more if there were funds available to meet the expense of travel, although the trips require three days' time and have to be made by boat and horse.

I am writing this article while waiting at Entronque San Luis (St. Louis Junction). Although I was advised by a railway official that I would make close connections, I have nevertheless had to wait six hours. No official is supposed to know the schedule of another railway's trains, and he replies with disdain when you make inquiry concerning any other railway. Nevertheless it should be recorded that officials are uniformly courteous; the trains make a good average time and are able to make remarkable schedule time. A railway wreck such as a train collision is seldom heard of.

Looking out from my car window at one station, my attention was attracted by the many venders of "dulces" (sweets), fruits, and sandwiches. I was tempted to make a purchase when I observed that everything was covered with flies. On one side of the train were numerous small quick lunch stands with their fruits and lunches unscreened and exposed to the flies that swarmed everywhere. There was no sewerage and the odors coming from the muddy street, where the garbage is frequently thrown, were nauseating, to think nothing of eating anything.

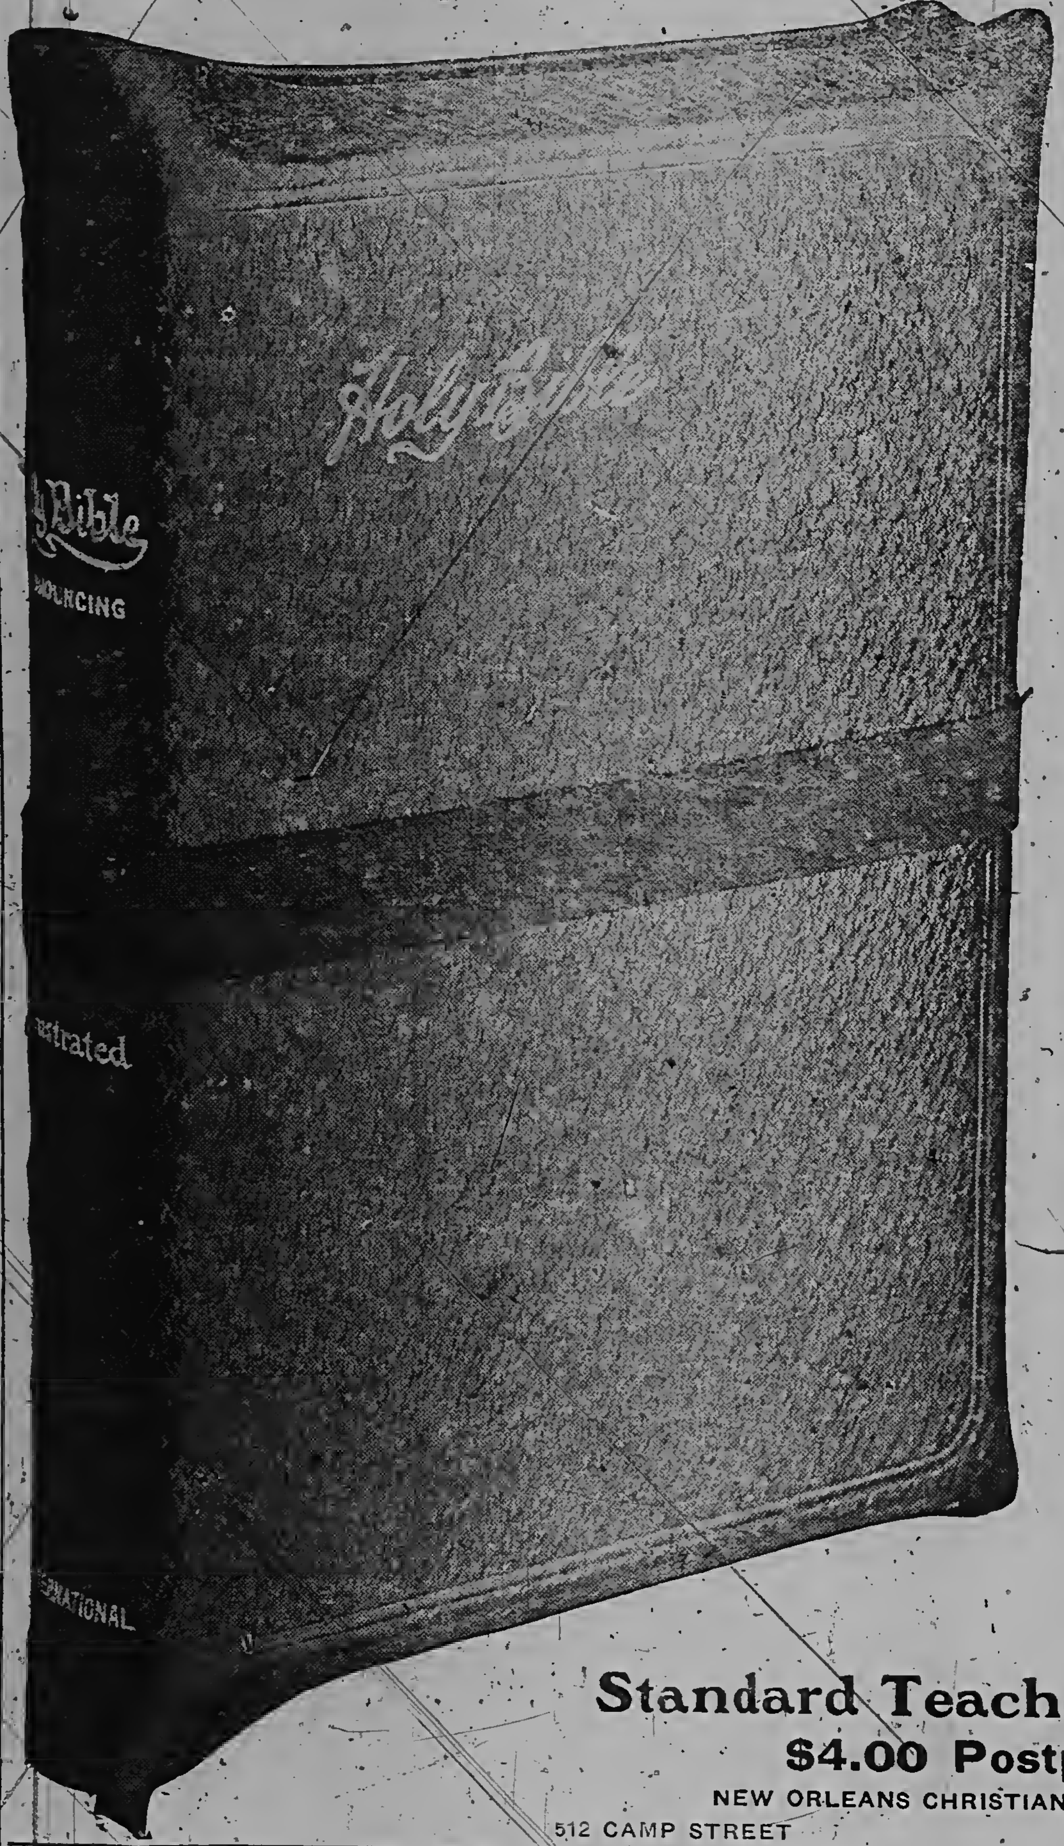
But worst of all, I noticed what looked like several human beings or piles of rags lying on the station platform on the other side of the train. At first I thought they were tramps whom no [illegible]e had "urged on." But I soon found that they were probably laborers going to another "ingenia" looking for work, and being sick were unable to go farther. The expression on one face showed clearly that unless medical attention was soon given he had no hope. They probably had malaria, as there is a large amount here now, as well as influenza, and the type of malaria is very malignant. These poor sufferers were covered with flies in the day time and if they remained at night were inflicted by mosquitoes, the flies making no choice of the sick or the restaurant a few feet away. But the tragedy of the situation was that nobody cared. There were throngs at the train. I counted four policemen standing a few feet away. There were several soldiers (acting as military police). But that was not their business. What difference did it make if the sanitary conditions were intolerable or these poor creatures were dying?

It must not be thought that Cuban people have no heart; but, on the other hand, it must be recognized that only Christianity enlightens the conscience and gives the proper standards of regard of humanity and the impulse for cleanliness and sanitation.

Entronque San Luis.

---

God's Gentleness: God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect. Thou hast also given me the shield of thy salvation: and thy gentleness hath made me great.—2 Samuel 22: 33, 36.



Standard
Teachers' Bible

FLEXIBLE
LEATHER BINDING
5½ x 8½ inches

SELF-PRONOUNCING EDITION WITH

Concordance

Beautifully Bound with overlapping cover, red under gold edges; 16 colored maps of BIBLE Lands.

LARGE CLEAR PRINT

This is a handsome book and is sold at a very reasonable price.

Price, $4.00

POSTPAID

SEND ORDERS
TO
NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Standard Teachers' Bible
$4.00 Postpaid
NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE
512 CAMP STREET NEW ORLEANS, LA.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

STOP ITCHING
Skins with Tetterine
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Conference On Home Missions And Evangelism, Jackson, Miss., Jan. 16-17.

NEW ORLEANS

CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 2. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3492.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 11, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE REAL JOY.

Very happy is the pastor who sees all the work of the church prospering under his leadership. It is an inspiration to him for all the services to be well attended; for all the organizations of the church to be functioning efficiently; for all the financial obligations of the church to be promptly met; for the membership of the church to show a healthy and steady gain. But the preacher's greatest joy is not in these things, great as they are; his real joy is found in seeing people brought from darkness into light, from the power of Satan unto God. The things mentioned above naturally and logically follow this blessed result, of course; but it is in the actual birth of a soul into the Kingdom of God that we find our chiefest joy. May such joy be the portion of us all in the very beginning of this new year!

THAT CONFERNCE AT JACKSON.

For the last time before the delegates assemble, we call attention to the Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism to be held at Jackson, Miss., January 16-17. The coming together, in that meeting of the ministers and many of the representative laymen of Mississippi Methodism ought to mark the beginning of a new era in the religious work of that great State, and we believe it will do so. There is a spirit of expectancy on the part of the people everywhere to-day, looking to a program of evangelistic activity that will make the whole world more Christian. The laymen of the church have come to know that they, with the ministers, are responsible for the evangelization of the world, and they are responding in a magnificent way to the call for service that that knowledge involves. Under the leadership of Bishop Ainsworth, Methodism in Mississippi proposes to do its share of the work that needs to be done, and that meeting at Jackson will devise plans that will result in great achievements. We urge all concerned to make the resolution now to be there, both to give and to receive.

LIMITATION OF ARMAMENTS.

If we sit complacently by and imagine that all the beautiful words that have been spoken within the past two or three years are going to eventuate in a warless world, we are likely to have a rude awakening some of these days. While some are speaking for peace, others are urging preparation for war—and preparation for war nearly always means war, sooner or later. The following quotation from a speech recently delivered by Representative Patrick H. Kelley shows something of what the United States proposes to do in the way of being ready for the next war: "I understand from what I have read in the papers and from official information that the Navy Department recommends the construction of sixteen 10,000-ton ships at a cost of $10,500,000 apiece, making a total of $168,000,000; that it recommends that the battleships that we retain under the treaty be remodeled at an estimated cost of somewhere about $90,000,000; that it recommends three mine-laying submarines at a cost of $4,000,000 apiece to be constructed, or $12,000,000 in all for mine-laying submarines; that three scout submarines be built at a cost of $4,000,000 apiece, making $12,000,000 more; that an additional airplane carrier be constructed at a cost of $22,000,000; that six gunboats be constructed at a cost of $8,100,000; and that additional aircraft be constructed at a cost of $19,000,000 more, making a projected program of $331,000,000 as against a saving of $128,000,000 which we make by discontinuing the 1916 program (that is, through the Washington Conference of last winter)." It seems to us that it is about time for another conference on limitation of armaments to be called.

THE DIGNITY OF THE PULPIT.

Those who had the privilege and pleasure of attending the North Mississippi and the Mississippi Annual Conferences will remember many pertinently striking remarks made by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth during their sessions. One we decall that we felt like applauding at the time, and that furnishes us the caption for this paragraph—"Do not cheapen the pulpit!" We believe it is perfectly proper for a preacher to make use of striking subjects in order to arrest the attention of those who might not otherwise be attracted by the services of the church—provided those subjects deal with matters of genuine religious interest and provided they do not attempt to imitate the flamboyant style of the circus billboard. If the pulpit were a place for the exhibition of trained animals, or for the spectacular performance of skilled acrobats, it might afford to advertise itself by fantastic phrases and eccentric actions; but the pulpit is a place for the presentation of the most sacred subjects that relate to human life, and anything that detracts from its dignity or compromises its position is both unworthy and unnecessary. A preacher may be interesting without being imbecilic, and profitable without being profane. If the pulpit has lost its power, it is not because it has lost its theme. The great proclaimers of the gospel of the past are known, not because of their ability to advertise, but by their ability to minister to the souls of men. Anyway, when the preacher puts his heart into his message, so that he stirs the hearts of his hearers, the fame thereof will go into all the regions round about.

IT NEVER FAILS.

An exchange quotes the following: "When I had an income of $10,000, we could not afford to give anything away. We had to spend it all 'keeping up with the Joneses.' I lost everything I had. We started over on an income of $2,000 a year, but on an entirely different spending basis. We decided to put the Lord first instead of last. We found our family could live, enjoying better health and more happiness than ever, after paying our tithe, on $1,800. My income has now increased, and we give to the church and other things over two-tenths of our income. Most people can live on much less than they are spending, if they make up their minds to do so. We simply made up our minds to apply religion and good sense in money matters." We know a good many tithers—and the testimony of them all is similar to that given in the above incident. We have yet to hear of a case where the conscientious payment of the tithe resulted in increased financial hardships; on the other hand, we have heard many testimonials to the effect that increased material prosperity resulted from first rendering unto the Lord that which belongs to Him. When we rob God of our tithes and offerings, we rob ourselves of rich blessings, both material and spiritual.

CONSERVATION OF ENERGY.

We were very forcibly struck by a remark made by Bishop Warren A. Candler at the recent session of the Louisiana Conference: "I wonder if the church itself is not helping to break up the home—meetings of some kind every night, no time to stay at home." We hardly think many of our homes are likely actually to be broken up by reason of frequent attendance upon church meetings—but there is room for thought in the suggestion Bishop Candler makes. It is often the case that the same group of people are interested in all the work of the church, and all the activities in connection with that work devolve upon them. If they should attend all the meetings that are held to promote these interests, it is very true that they would not have much time "to spend at home," and the home circle would necessarily lose something of its charm. The remedy, as we see it, is for some plan of correlation to be developed by which fewer meetings will be necessary, or for more people to be enlisted in the work of the church so that a few will not have most of the burden to carry. It is possible to conceive of dissipation in connection with religious work as well as in connection with any other work—and one is almost as bad as the other. A development of our resources ought to result in a conservation of our energies.

And then the home of Samuel Johnson! Through it we were guided by a most elegant woman, who seemed to be an ardent admirer of the Doctor. She quoted most aptly page after page from Boswell—and entered into his enthusiasm! But to further vivify his past, we went to Chessy Cheese Inn, sat at a table where he often imbibed his numerous cups of tea and sputtered out his arguments and philosophies. We could fairly see him here, for the inn with its sanded floor, open fireplace, overhanging beams and rough board tables, was just as it had been in the days when he and "Goldy" drank their beer and tea. We paid rather dear for our whistle—in other words, for our tea, turtle-soup and cold sliced tongue—but we felt that it was worth the money to have lived in spirit with the great Doctor and his admiring coterie of friends. We left rejoicing that we, too, are English-speaking people and heirs of England's greatest wealth—her literature.

THE GOLDEN CROSS FOR OUR HOSPITALS.

By Alfred F. Smith, Chaplain Barnes Hospital.

A beautiful emblem is the cross always. Its significance reaches as far as the benefits of Calvary and embraces all that Jesus said and did in His ministry. It includes the parable of the Good Samaritan, the story of the healing at Bethesda and the whole intent of the Savior who directed its followers, immediate and of all ages, in the language: "Into whatsoever city ye enter, heal the sick that are therein; and say unto them, the Kingdom of God is come nigh unto you."

The standard of the healing cross is lifted in the church. It is burnished with gold and more glorious far than the sign which Moses raised in the camp of the dying Israelites.

Our church has come late to an organized service to the sick Therefore must we act concertedly and liberally. And we will; for, fortunately, the appeal of the suffering falls on no deaf ears, and the plan, wisely devised by the General Conference of 1922, for securing funds for hospitals, has had a ready acceptance everywhere it has been presented. This plan is recognized as graciously inviting and richly meriting the cooperation of every member in our entire connection, and is laid out in the "Golden Cross Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South," as follows:

Membership.

Any one desiring to aid needy and suffering humanity may become a member of the Golden Cross by the payment of one dollar per year.

Other Memberships.

Supporting membership, $10; sustaining membership, $25; service membership, $50; life member, $100; life patron, $500; knight of the Golden Cross, $10,000.

Annual Membership Enrollment.

The period beginning Thanksgiving Day and extending to and including Christmas Day, each year, shall be designated as Annual Membership Enrollment; however, members may be enrolled at any time or place.

Local Chapters.

Let there be organized one, and only one, local chapter of the Golden Cross in each church, but at the discretion of the pastor and church director, auxiliaries may be formed in the Sunday school, the Epworth Leagues, Woman's Missionary Society, or in any other organized department of the church.

Church Director.

The pastor shall appoint a church director of the Golden Cross.

Recruiting Stations and Officers.

Every church, Sunday school, League and Missionary Society in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, shall be a recruiting station for the Golden Cross. The pastor, Sunday school superintendent, president of League (Junior, Intermediate, or Senior) and the president of the Woman's Missionary Society shall be recruiting officers.

Use of Funds.

Funds accruing from membership-fees and from gifts and bequests shall be used for the erection, endowment or support of hospitals as may be determined by the General Conference or the Annual Conferences of our church. We suggest that 80 per cent be applied to any local institution within the bounds and under the jurisdiction of the Annual Conference, and 20 per cent be divided between such general institutions as may be established by our church.

The amount of money to be collected through the Golden Cross memberships will depend upon the degree of fidelity with which the claim of sick and injured people, without means with which to secure hospital care, may be presented. If the story is told with due sympathy, the people will readily enroll. The cry of perishing mothers and fathers, the languid look of anguished humanity, all the dole of pain that appeals for soothing and healing, pierces the very heart of Christians and there is no relief which they so eagerly supply. One dollar is a small offering, but one dollar from each of the thousands of people in our church will furnish care and treatment for a great number of sufferers; and, being apprised of this simple way afforded to every person, of aiding the sick, there will assuredly be a general desire to participate. No followers of the Great Physician will consent to be outside the company of the benefactors.

A few practical suggestions are these:

1. Every pastor should get Golden Cross pamphlets and subscription blanks from the office of the General Hospital Board, 416 Wesley Memorial Building, Atlanta, Ga.
2. The plan of organization and canvass suggested in the Golden Cross pamphlet should be carried out.
3. The time between Thanksgiving and Christmas should be utilized for the enrollment.
4. The money should be sent, as soon as collected, to the treasurer designated by the Conference to receive it.

Finally, let it be recalled that annually the Protestant Hospitals of America, according to the disclosure of a careful survey, for want of accommodations, turn away 365,000 sick people; that while our churches are properly sending relief to overseas sufferers, there are these thousands, hundreds of thousands (as needy and as pathetic as those in the regions beyond) who die at the steps of our inadequate hospitals; that the good people of our churches, if they know the need and the way to help, will show compassion in the unanimity of their giving.

St. Louis.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J Davies.

"Comfort ye, comfort ye my people saith your God." This a message out of the heart of the prophet. "Speak comfortably to Jerusalem," continued the Spirit, voicing the need of the oppressed nation. Assyrian, Babylonian, Chaldean, had, in turn, wasted their land and spoiled their heritage. There was great need of a message of consolation. God sent them Isaiah, prince of all that long line of divinely inspired messengers who had been the guides and teachers of his people. Wonderful man! Poet, preacher, seer, whose words ring like the melody of silvern bells, and flow like the crystal sweep of sun-kissed streams! Yet, withal, they are strong, trenchant, surcharged with righteous passion against sin, and so filled with deathless devotion to righteousness, that they still live, and will live, so long as the warfare between these two contending principles continues. The old world needs a gospel of comfort today. A new year dawns on us and many are sad, some broken-hearted, some despairing, not a few desperate and ready for any adventure on land, on sea, here or hereafter. It seems to me that the gospel of condemnation, harsh denunciation, unholy and unfeeling criticism, is not needed now. For the heart of the old world is sore. There are wounds unhealed; there are homes desolate; there are lives blighted; there are hopes crushed. Speak comfortably—the Master did, and when He was ready to leave them He promised the Comforter. But God has ordained that the message of this Blessed One be borne in human vessels. It is His way, and you may rest assured it is the best way. God grant that out of this chaos of unrest and threatening disasters, He will direct His prophets to quiet this people: "beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for the spirit of mourning."

* * *

He was prominent in the affairs of our city. He was a trusted agent for one of the greatest financial institution known to the world. His salary was more than sufficient for his need and that of those dependent on him. All the luxuries, we may say, of this luxurious age, were at his command. There were the home, the wife, the children. He was not an old man—only forty years he had lived and toiled. Suddenly the grim reaper garnered his sheaf. He died from overwork. The end was tragic, the loss was great. Overwork! The nerves break down, the heart fails, the brain fags, life ends. The latter part of that life, the richest part, the most fruitful, useful part, was lost. This tragedy is being re-enacted day by day in these strenuous times. Men hurry to the grave through the fierce struggle for place, for power, for wealth. And this Moloch in the market places claims the best and fairest of our men. No sluggard dies from overwork. The victims of this relentless pace are men who drive, and push, and toil, sparing neither brain nor brawn, until the curtain falls and the drama ends. This is a waste of the best. It must be a sin in the sight of God. Besides this, the game is not worth the price. Instead of making unto themselves friends of mammon, they make it a deadly enemy. Never before, in this old world's history, were there so many things to make life worth living—and never before was it counted so cheap. The waste of life in this giant machine men call business is appalling. Yet this truth abides, if the slaves of industrialism will but heed it: Man is ever more than money, and life is a gift of God to be used and not abused.

Shreveport, La.

TO THE PREACHERS IN CHARGE, AND THE LAYMEN OF MISSISSIPPI.

The Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism will begin in Galloway Memorial Church Monday, January 15, at 7:30 p.m. Bishop Ainsworth will preside, and Dr. Goodell will deliver the address of the evening. The Conference will continue until noon of the 17th. In the afternoon or evening hour, the Federated Bible Classes will begin the interdenominational convention.

All railroads in Mississippi have granted the one and one-third fare for the round trip, on the certificate plan. Let every delegate coming by rail secure a certificate, when buying his ticket.

It is very much desired by the committee that we have the names of all delegates who expect to attend. If the pastors and lay leaders will aid us in this matter, it will be very much appreciated. Yours for a great Conference,

M. L. BURTON,
For Committee.

NOTICE TO RURAL PASTORS OF THE NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Through the interest and liberality of one of our laymen, a prize of $25 is offered to the church or charge that makes the greatest proportion of improvement on church building or parsonage during this year.

The rules of the contest are the same as the rules governing the Mission Board's prize for such improvements, except, of course, this offer is limited to the rural charges of the North Mississippi Conference.

Write at once to Rev. Robt. H. Ruff, Secretary, Rural Work, P. O. box 510, Nashville, Tenn., for rules and instructions. If your charge or church is located in a place of not over 2,500 inhabitants, it is considered rural; so let's make the prize winner do a good job of improvement.

T. B. THROWER, President,
Rural Pastors' Association,
North Missisipipi Conference.

Shuford, Miss.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Aberdeen District.

All the preachers in our district except one are in place, and in almost every case the preachers and the people whom they serve are happy and hopeful.

We have a vacancy at Fulton, the connty site of Itawamba County. It is important that we have a strong man there. The County Agricultural High School is located there, and a new parsonage is being built. Brother W. M. Camphell, our district evangelist, is going to Fulton to spend two or three weeks right soon; by that time the parsonage will be finished and we shall be ready for the man we need. I should like to hear from him if he should chance to read these lines.

* * *

We have been much encouraged by the optimism that prevails throughout the district. We had an increase of about 25% in the assessment for Benevolences, but there is little complaint about being "overloaded."

* * *

The church at Aberdeen has about concluded to raise the salary for the pastor to $3,000. After having paid the indebtedness on the church building last year, the membership set to the task of beautifying the interior—carpeting, painting, etc. It is now one of the most beautiful auditoriums I have seen.

* * *

The readers of the Advocate will be glad to know that Brother R. M. Evans, our pastor at Verona, has sufficiently recovered from a long and serious illness to think that he will soon be able to be about his duties as pastor again.

* * *

The church at Okolona, under the skillful work of Brother E. H. Cunningham, has started the new year with great zeal, having cheerfully accepted a $420 raise on the assessments for Benevolences; in addition they have raised the pastor's salary $500, which makes the salary for that church $3,000—a raise of $1,200 in two years.

* * *

Brother J. T. McCafferty has a good start for the new year at Amory—there was an increase of $100 for pastor's salary for the year.

* * *

Brother D. W. Babb, than whom there is not a more faithful servant in any church, is entering joyously and skillfully upon his fifth year at Prairie and Strong. The people of that charge are wise enough to be glad to have him as their pastor.

* * *

Other pastors whom I have visited since Conference are Brothers Hall, at Tupelo; Mounger, at Pontotoc; McKeithen, at Houston and Driskell, at Buena Vista. All of these are in high favor with the people whom they serve, and the outlook is most encouraging.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Columbus District.

We feel that the District is getting a good start for the new Conference year. Our District Stewards met at West Point, Dec. 12, with a good attendance, considering the bad weather. The spirit of co-operation was manifest throughout the meeting. Every one present seemed to want to do what was best for the advancement of the cause.

* * *

There seems to be general feeling among both preachers and laymen, throughout the District, to make this the greatest year in the history of the Columhus District. We have not visited all the charges since Conference, but have heard from all and find that the preachers are settled, and both preachers and laymen are working and praying for a great year.

* * *

We are expecting a great service from our laymen this year. Brother J. H. McKinnon and Dr. H. H. Ellis have been appointed Associate Lay Leaders to assist our efficient Lay Leader, Dr. N. D. Guerry. Brother McKinnon will have charge of the Lay Activities of Choctaw, Attala and Winston Counties; Dr. Ellis will have charge of Lowndes County and the city of West Point; Dr. Guerry will have charge of Oktibbeha, Noxubee and all of Clay except the city of West Point, and of course the general oversight of the entire District.

* * *

The two new pastors at Columhus, E. S. Lewis at First Church, and A. S. Raper at Central, have made a fine start and we predict for both churches a great year.

Brother T. H. Lipscomb has been well received at West Point, and both preacher and people are well pleased with the appointment.

Brother Woollard is among his old friends at Starkville, he having served them as presiding elder for four years. He has made a fine impression on the entire community.

Brother C. W. Avery has been given a royal reception at Crawford, Crawford and Shaeffer's charge, and says he is both comfortable and happy.

Brother R. T. Hollingsworth, who transferred to us from the Mississippi Conference, has made a fine start at Caledonia. Brother Hillingsworth is a native of Chickasaw County. He was reared at Houston, and we feel that he is just getting back home. We are very fortunate to have him come back to us.

The people at Mayhew and Sessums are delighted with Brother J. R. James. We hear nothing but good things from over that way.

Brother W. R. Goudelock writes that he is preaching to overflow crowds at Noxapater. Brother Goudelock is serving one of our strongest hill circuits. I do not know of a more promising field than the Noxapater charge.

If poundings mean anything, Brother T. J. Hopper has been well received at Mashulaville. He received two poundings, one from the Methodists and one from the Baptists. Brother Hopper served this charge several years ago and the people are delighted to have him again.

Brother W. M. Camphell, our Missionary Evangelist, located at West Point, is rapidly getting things in shape for his work. He has preached at several places in our District and made a fine impression wherever he has been. All feel that he is the right man in the right place.

Brother Wade Heath is one of the old men on the same old job, but he has made quite an addition to the parsonage since Conference—a housekeeper. The brethren who promised him socks, hams, cows, etc., must now come across.

* * *

Work on Central Church, Columbus, is moving along nicely. The plastering of the main auditorium has been completed and the flooring will soon be down. They have also purchased a fine piece of parsonage property since Conference. This congregation now has one of the finest pieces of property in the entire city—two corner lots on College and Twelfth Streets, just in front of the M. S. C. W.

The West Point church has recently installed an up-to-date heating plant at a cost of $4,000. When this building is fully completed, it will be the handsomest in the Conference.

At the first quarterly conference, First Church, Columbus, the Trustees were authorized to repair and decorate the interior of the main auditorium. The work contemplated will cost several thousand dollars.

The Macon church has recently installed a large, handsome memorial window, costing something over $500.

* * *

We have held four quarterly conferences up to this writing, Jan. 4, and there was a substantial raise in pastor's salary at three places—Columbus, First; Caledonia, and Macon.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

GREENVILLE DISTRICT.

I report only quarterly conferences held to date.

Clarksdale.—T. M. Brownlee, pastor—and people and preacher delighted. Finances reported in full for the first quarter, the salary fixed at $3,600, a great watch night service held. The pastor's wife is in great favor. All in all, there is a very happy prospect for a really great year.

* * *

Coahoma and Lyon.—The one and only Del Longgrear leads this people, and none ever led them to better advantage. Longgrear is more than a preacher—he is resourceful to an unusual degree. The charge made its usual report —"everything in full." Salary fixed at $2,000. If there are not two new churches reflecting credit on this charge next fall, Del Longgrear will know why, and it will be no fault of his.

* * *

Evansville and Duhbs.—Plucky—that is a good word for this charge. As to T. H. Mills, he walkel into the good graces of this people the first service, and grows. Finances were reported $44 in excess of the quarter. The salary was made $1,800. This charge has suffered in material things in a way to discourage a less determined people. Mills will do the work of his life here this year.

* * *

Lake Cormorant Charge.—J. B. Conner is in his second year, and is doing tactful work. Conner and his wife are old-fashioned enough to respect the scriptural injunction as to the use of funds coming into their hands. They lead their people in generous giving. A sore problem in this charge is being happily solved. The finances were not quite up to date, but there was a reason aside from neglect on the part of preacher or people. Mark it—a year of great prosperity is coming to this charge.

* * *

Merigold and Alligator.—Rev. J. W. Robertson held this conference for the "elder." The report is before me. All finances in full to date, including the benevolences. It makes a man think a bit to discover how this people love L. A. McKeown, the pastor. He is in his fourth year. His popularity abides. But Luke McKeown loves men—that may account for the way men love him. It is well.

* * *

The Rest of the District.

If there is a real friction point in the district, I am not aware of it, and I generally know what is going on in my territory. The changes made in charges at the recent Conference caused the smallest amount of criticism. Before this is in print, the district stewards will have met. They are fine business men, and will shoulder a man's job and walk with it.

I hereby call the attention of the pastors of this district to a joint meeting of the pastors of the Greenville and Greenwood Districts, at Greenwood, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 18-19. Bishop Ainsworth will be present. We will be the guests of Greenwood Methodism. It will be a heart-to-heart meeting of abiding interest. The pastors will simply "stop over" at Greenwood on the way home from Jackson.

A really good revival has been held at Boyle. Rev. J. W. Rohertson is giving a good account of himself already. His appointment to the special work he is engaged in seems to be most happy.

The presiding elder of the Greenville District will hold himself responsible for reports from time to time, following the new order indicated in the New Orleans. I believe it will be worth while. I certainly enjoyed the reports already given out.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District.

The Alexandria District had a prosperous year during the last Conference year. Of the total 3,850 increase in membership for the Conference, 839 of these came from the Alexandria District. There was an increase in payment on preachers' salaries of $1,237. The preachers stayed at their posts and did a fine work. The people generally gave their preachers hearty support in their work. We are looking for another fine year.

* * *

The outlook for our work at Elizabeth is most encouraging. Rev. W. S. Henry has been well received. He is pleased with the surroundings. The circuit has assessed $2,100 for preacher in charge. He is located in a nice, comfortable house. We have a good place of worship at Elizabeth now.

* * *

Rev. H. W. Bowman has made a good start on the LeCompte and Woodworth charge. The assessment for preacher in charge is $2,200. Mr. W. B. Robinson has been made Sunday school superintendent at LeCompte. The ladies at that point have placed the parsonage in first-class condition. At Woodworth a missionary society has recently been organized. Mrs. H. G. Owen, of LeCompte, is District Secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society.

* * *

Mr. J. A. Ingram has taken up the work of Sunday school superintendent at Boyce. He is anxious to fill this place well.

* * *

Mr. T. L. Edwards, district lay leader, is calling the meeting of the District Board of Lay Activities to be held in Alexandria on Jan. 10. The laymen of the Alexandria church did some good work last year toward supplying a country church out some distance from town. Rev. C. V. Breithaupt, formerly a member of the Louisiana Conference, now a local preacher and holding his membership in the Alexandria church, is lay leader of that church. He is also preaching on Sunday nights to large crowds in the Methodist Tent in West Alexandria. This work was opened up during last year under the leadership of Rev. O. W. Bradley, of First Church, Alexandria. It is still in connection with this church that the work is being carried on.

* * *

Mr. J. P. Bond, of Oakdale, and Dr. H. S. Joseph, of Melville, have been made Associate Lay Leaders for the district.

* * *

Mr. C. W. Ward, of the Alexandria church, is one of the most painstaking and efficient church treasurers in the Conference. He gives freely much of his time to the work of attending to the business affairs of his church. There are other laymen on the Board of Stewards at Alexandria who are also untiring in their efforts to carry on the financial matters of their church.

* * *

Our people at Bunkie are going forward with new euthusiasm. This is an important field of labor. Rev. A. D. George has started well there.

* * *

Rev. C. K. Smith is taking a firm hold on matters at Pineville. This is an important field. Last year Rev. W. F. Chase wrought well here. The assessment for preacher's salary has been increased $200 by this church.

* * *

At the meeting of the Alexandria District Stewards the following district stewards and preachers were present: W. D. Wadley, Alexandria; W. B. Few, Campti; J. E. Munson, Cheneyville; J. C. Penninger, Glenmora; Charles Hatfield, Marksville Circuit; W. F. Collier, Oakdale; W. M. Mantiply, Bunkie; T. F. Glaze, Pineville; S. M. Abel, Rochelle; Rev. O W. Bradley, Alexandria; Rev. C. V. Breithaupt, Alexandria; Rev. L. E. Crooks, Campti; Rev. D. B. Boddie, Glenmora; Rev. A. D. George, Bunkie. The meeting was held in the Alexandria church at 11 a. m., on Jan. 2. Mr. W. D. Wadley was elected secretary and will forward to the pastors assessments against the several charges in due time.

---

Greater Works: Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do, shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do.—John 14:12.

PASTORS AND LAYMEN OF THE VICKSBURG DISTRICT.

Dear Brethren: Please let none fail to keep in mind the Home Mission and Evangelistic Conference Bishop Ainsworth has called to meet in Jackson Jan. 16-17. This is going to be a great meeting of the Methodists of Mississippi. Great good will come of it to those who have interest enough to be present and take part. This Conference will set a high mark for our Methodism in Mississippi. I want every pastor, and from five to ten laymen from each charge, in the Vicksburg District, to be in this great Conference.

The opening session will be held on Monday night, Jan. 15, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Galloway Memorial Church. Be on hand for the first service.

Let Rev. M. L. Burton, Jackson, Miss., know how and when you and your laymen will arrive.

Let us see to it that the Vicksburg District does not fall short. I am confidently hoping to meet you there, our good Bishop Ainsworth is confidently expecting you, and our good Lord will bless us, and prosper the work of His Kingdom in proportion to what we put of ourselves, our time, our money and our prayers into the church and the salvation of our people. Let us go to Jackson, get a vision, and, fired with a holy zeal, return to our fields to do the best year's work we have ever done.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

Vicksburg, Miss.

IN CHRIST'S NAME WE MUST CARRY ON.

Of the more than $35,000,000 of new money subscribed in the Centenary $15,811,000 has been collected. The remainder is now due and the need for a good share of this is desperate. At least $4,000,000 will be required to meet the obligations made for 1922 and to carry on the work up to the meeting of the Board in 1923.

The Bishops are leading in the movement to collect these pledges. In their recent message to the churches they say, "The Centenary, by the payments already made, has revitalized all of our missionary operations, and has thrilled every field with the possibility of immediate, marvelous achievements. Failure to consummate this movement will inevitably bring disaster to many of our most important enterprises and break the superb spirit that is now ascendant in all our work. Because of this fact the collection of these pledges is the outstanding immediate task before us."

During January, February, March and April the appeal will be made in all of our churches. There are 673 churches in 550 cities that have pledges of $10,000 or more. An immediate appeal will be made to these stronger churches and following this appeal will be taken to the last church and the last subscriber.

The Bishops will be in the field constantly.

By action of the Board of Missions the Secretaries will give three-fourths of their time to the campaign.

Conference leaders, presiding elders, pastors, and thousands of laymen will carry the appeal throughout our great connection.

The question is, Will Mr. Methodist See It Through?

He certainly will.

It is a solemn pledge and his honor is involved.

The need to-day is even greater than when the pledge was made.

The Centenary has made possible for our church the most radiant quadrennium in all its history, and its completion should be the pride of every Methodist.

From every foreign field we occupy our brethren and sisters are looking this way, and we will keep faith with them.

SCIENCE IN SIMPLE WORDS.

By Elmer T. Clark.

Of late I have been much interested in a renewal of the old, old controversy between science and theology. The theory of "evolution" is with us again, and once more the shafts of theologians have been leveled at it, and in certain States attempts have been made to legislate against the teaching of it.

In all of this late discussion I have been impressed with the fact that neither side really understands the other. The scientists after whom I have been reading certainly do not know much about theology and the postulates of religion. Nor have I seen among all those on our side who denounce "evolution" the name of any who have won any laurels in the scinetific field.

We do not know much about the other man's position. If each possessed full mutual information, perhaps we would not find so many things to quarrel about. At any rate we ought to know whereof we speak before we speak.

Personally, I have never been able to learn anything about science because I could not understand scientific books. I have read them apienty, but I must confess that after reading them I did not have any very clear notion of what it all meant.

Therefore I hailed with great delight the recent appearance of a set of books called "The Outline of Science," which tells the story of each branch of sicence in simple terms. Thank goodness for scientific volumes written in words that a sensible man can understand! I have hopes that even physicians will yet condescend to write the English language!

The books to which reference is made are edited by Prof. J. Author Thomson, of the University of Aberdeen, and they are published in this country by G. P. Putman's Sons. Each branch of science —biology, psychology, astronomy, geology, and all the others— are covered by recognized authorities, and the stories are told in non-techincal words. They may be read as a novel, yet we have the assurance that the facts are so accurate that experts cannnot cavil at them.

To my mind the publication of such books is a good omen. Those of us who are not scientists have a right to think, yet we cannot think constructively unless we know. We do not like to be ruled out of the arena as ignorant, especially since it has been so nearly impossible for us to know. If we will use such volumes to understand just what science really teaches, and if we can find a way to induce so-called scientists to "brush up" on the simple facts of religion, then I believe much of our misunderstanding will be avoided. For it cannot be that God has contradicted Himself, writing one story in terms of the physical, and a different tale in terms of the spiritual.

---

They "who hunger and thirst after righteousness," whose consciences will not let them rest, who seek after a better standard of right and wrong, truth and falsehood, purity and impurity, justice and injustice, than they find in the world around them; to whom justice is a positive joy, and injustice a deep and rankling grief; who long with the longing of the Psalmist, in a dry and thirsty land, to be better themselves, and to make others better also; these "shall be satisfied."—Dean Stanley.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

[illegible]

The Home Circle

MAKE BELIEVE.

Oh. Make Believe's the magic game
We children love the best!
We girls pretend we're princesses
In silks and jewels dressed.

Sometimes we're off to see the world,
And travel at our ease;
We go by motor car or boat,
Just any way we please.

The apple-tree's been everything
From train and airship fleet
To broncos that are hard to ride,
Till fed on apples sweet.

You think that this is just a box?
It's Treasure Cave today;
Tomorrow it may be a throne—
Depends on what we play.

If you can make believe real hard,
Your wishes all come true;
We children have such jolly times—
Why don't you try it, too?

—Daisy D. Stephenson, in Christian Register.

THE BIRDS' BUNGALOW.

By Willie C. Page.

Mother Robin flew swiftly to her elm-tree house with a fat worm in her beak for the children's breakfast.

"Dears, we must move at once," she exclaimed in great excitement.

"Why, mother? Tell us quickly," said a chorus of voices.

"I heard the landlord tell some workmen to begin at noon to cut and clear this bit of woods for planting."

"Where will we go and what will become of us?" cried the little ones, beginning to weep.

Just then Father Robin came in to supplement the early meal with a squirming grasshopper.

"The housing problem is one of the most vexing questions of the day. Everywhere 'tis the same—over-crowding and high rents," he said gravely.

"I will fly around and a warn the neighbors," said kind Mother Robin.

There was a great excitement and much chirping and chattering. In a flock they went to Sycamore Lodge to consult Prof. Owl. After polishing his glasses and looking solemn, he said:

"I suggest that we seek temporary lodgings until I can get word to the Boy Scouts and the school children. I believe if they knew of our trouble they would help us."

And the word went abroad.

The Wren family moved to the honeysuckle vines near the white house, the Sparrows to the eaves, the Thrushes to the hayloft, the Mocking bird to the old apple-tree. Mother Robin was more particular; after a long search she carried her little ones to the pocket of a rain-coat that hung inside the barn door.

"It is safe and comfortable," she whispered; "snuggle down and go to sleep."

Bobbie Calwell came to the barn whistling merrily. He fed the horse, rubbed off his pony, stopped to pet the little calf. Suddenly there was a clap of thunder, then a downpour of rain.

"Phew," said Bobbie, "I don't want to miss my breakfast;" then he espied the rain-coat, slipped it on, and made a dash for the house. He hung the slicker on a rack on the back porch and was soon busy with hot pan-cakes and syrup.

"Bobbie," called his mother, "it is time for school; you had better wear your rain-coat and take your umbrella, as it is still raining."

The teacher, Miss Taylor, was hearing a class recite when Bobbie went and stood before the fire to dry his feet. There came a "cheep, chirp"; Miss Taylor looked up in great astonishment.

"Has any of my pupils been robbing a bird's nest?"

"No, no, Miss Taylor," they said in a chorus. "You know you boys promised me never to kill a bird, or rob a nest."

"We have not," came from the class.

Then as if to shout, "They have, they have," came louder, "Cheep, Chirp."

Every eye in the school-room was turned toward Bobbie as he stood blushing. Then out of his pocket hopped a fledgling bird.

"Well, Bobbie Calwell! I thought you were a friend to the birds. Aren't you ashamed?"

"Honest, Miss Taylor," said Bobbie, putting his hand in the pocket and finding three more little helpless birds, "I did not know they were in my pocket. This rain-moat has been hanging in the barn for some time. Please excuse me and I will cary it back so the mother Robin can feed and care for them."

"Listen, children," said Miss Taylor, "I hear that Farmer West has cleared that bit of woods back beyond the church. The birds are scattered about and the squirrels are seeking homes for them. I want each of you to work after school, and we will make houses for them."

They found the correct kind of houses to build for different kinds of birds, squirrels and pigeons.

They made bungalows and apartments houses—just the right kind for each family of birds who would want a house.

How the children did work! The boys sawed and nailed, the girls painted, and the teacher encouraged and praised and directed.

Then they marched to the park, where some men helped put up the houses, and as they were leaving the birds sang a chorus of thanksgiving. Of course the children could not understand the words of the song, yet they knew by their happy voices they were rejoicing.

"I told you," said Professor Owl, looking very wise, "that the school children would help us. Our housing problem is settled. How kind they are."

And there was great happiness in Birdtown that day because children loved the birds.

THE PET CURE.

By Ellen C. Lloras.

"Get her a pet—a bird, a kitten, a puppy—something or other, and insist on her feeding it and taking care of it herself."

That was the doctor's advice when the little convalescent continued listless from day to day.

It was a bird they chose. And dicky-bird was so blithe a companion that Margie promptly smiled in response, and was soon lilting with him sometimes.

The doctor smiled, too, when he dropped in later and saw the improvement in his small patient.

"I've prescribed pets for listlessness for grown-up girls as well as little ones," he remarked. "And for children—well, I've suggested pets to more than one mother who wanted to develop gentleness and thoughtfulness in her children. I've seen a rough, heedless boy make such a companion of a good dog that he came quite out of himself and grew more considerate and kind."

"I know pets were invaluable in my household," chimed in a dear, gray-haired visitor whose boys and girls were now solving home problems of their own. "I don't know any better way of developing a sense of responsibility and feeling of unselfishness than to let the children have their kittens and rabbits and other pets to love and enjoy and look after."—Our Dumb Animals.

GOD AND I.

I pluck an acorn from the greensward, and hold it to my ear; and this is what it says to me: "By and by the birds will come and nest in me. By and by I will furnish shade for the cattle. By and by I will provide warmth for the home in the pleasant fire. By and by I will be shelter from the storm to those who have gone under the roof. By and by I will be the strong ribs of the great vessel, and the tempest will beat against me in vain while I carry men across the Atlantic." Oh, foolish little acorn, wilt thou be all this? Hark, and the acorn answers, "Yes; God and I."—Lyman Abbott.

Lo, my Shepherd's hand divine!
Want shall never more be mine.
In a pasture fair and large
He shall feed his happy charge;
And my couch, with tenderest care,
Mid the springing grass prepare.

—Merrick.

What I must do is all that concerns me, not what the people think. It is easy in solitude to live after our own opinions; but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Whitworth College will enter the second term with an enrollment of more than three hundred students.

Rev. S. A. Brown, our pastor at Ripley, Miss., began the new year by issuing a pastoral letter to his people that was interesting, inspiring, and full of "pep."

Rev. A. D. George is delighted with his work at Bunkie, La., to which important charge he was appointed at the recent session of the Louisiana Conference.

A friend, writing from Pachuta, Miss., says: "We are very much pleased with our new pastor, Rev. R. E. Rutledge. I predict for him a good year on this charge."

Rev. A. T. Long, of Barlow, Miss., says that he had a good year in 1922, and that he is praying and planning for a better one in 1923. May we all have a good year!

Rev. H. N. Harrison, of New Iberia, La., was cordially received by the fine people of that important charge, and the prospect of a fine year's work lies out before him.

Brother Richmond Randle, of Memphis, Tenn., has been a reader of the Advocate since 1877. We appreciate his kind words concerning the paper, and his renewal for another year.

A subscriber from Chester, Miss., in renewing his subscription, says: "We are beginning the new year in good shape. Brother McIlwain and Brother Biffle are in high favor here."

Rev. D. L. Griffin, local elder, requests to say that any pastor who desires his assistance in holding a meeting can reach him by addressing him at Shreveport, La., Route 1, Box 155.

Rev. Del Longgrear, in "Methodist Matters," reports that the old church building at Coahoma, Miss., is being demolished to make place for the new, contract for which will be let within a few days.

We appreciate greatly the greetings and words of encouragement we recently received from Dr. R. S. Isbell, of Columbia, La., one of the honored superannuate members of the Louisiana Conference.

Mr. Frank Starr Williams, son of Rev. W. M. Williams, of Purvis, Miss., sailed from China on Dec. 21 for a visit home. He will reach San Francisco about Jan. 21, and will reach Purvis a few days later.

Rev. A. L. McQueen, of the Denham Springs charge, Louisiana Conference, has visited all the churches on his charge, and has found a most encouraging situation. He is looking forward to a fine year's work.

Rev. T. W. St. John, received by transfer from the Texas Conference into the Louisiana Conference and appointed to Spring Hill, La., writes that he is happily at work in this, his native State, and that he expects this to be a good year.

It is worth noting that the Boyle circuit, North Mississippi Conference, which is altogether a rural charge, has a very fine Epworth League. Rev. H. D. Suydam is the pastor, and his slogan is, "The charge that makes no excuses."

Rev. T. J. Hopper, of Mashulaville, Miss., writes that he is among a kind and thoughtful people, and that he has been the recipient of many kindnesses at the hands of all the people of the community, regardless of denominational affiliation.

Rev. E. R. Smoot, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Corinth, Miss., is giving his people a series of lectures on the book of Exodus, at the midweek prayer meeting. On the first night of the series, more than two hundred people were present.

Rev. R. T. Ware, of Vivian, La., was very cordially received by the people of his new charge. His work on the charge begins well—he has already received twenty people into the church. At the watch night service, about fifty people were in attendance.

We greatly enjoyed a call on Monday morning of this week from President I. W. Cooper, of Whitworth College. He was returning from Logtown, Miss., where he had preached on Sunday, filling the pulpit in place of the pastor, Rev. E. L. Alford, who, we regret to learn, is ill.

The Daily Leader, of Ruston, La., in its issue of Jan. 1, gives an extended account of the Christmas service, "White Gifts for the King," held in the Trinity Methodist Church on the evening of Dec. 24. The program was beautifully carried out, and it was concluded with a consecration service.

We received a copy of the Minutes of the seventy-seventh session of the Louisiana Annual Conference on Friday of last week. The arrangement of the material is fine, and the secretary of the Conference, Rev. R. H. Harper, is to be congratulated upon the general excellence of the volume.

The press dispatches last week reported that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., had been injured by being thrown from a train in Mexico, and that he was in a hospital in Torreon. No particulars were given. We are sure the prayers of the church will ascend that no serious results may follow the accident.

We learn through a friend that Rev. J. B. Mitchell, for several years pastor of our leading church in Jacksonville, Fla., has been appointed to an important church in Atlanta, Ga. Brother Mitchell is a graduate of Millsaps College, and he has many friends in the Mississippi and the North Mississippi Conferences.

We take the liberty of quoting the following from a letter from Brother J. T. M. Hancock, of Ruston, La., written on January 2: "I have just reached my seventy-fourth milestone this day. I have been a member of the Methodist Church sixty years, and I enclose my fifty-fourth subscription to the Advocate."

The bulletin of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., Dr. H. F. Brooks, pastor, in its issue for December 1, 1922, contains an acrostic poem by Mrs. J. S. Hall, of which the interpretation is "The Advocate in every home." The arrangement is striking, and the sentiment is exactly what it should be.

Mr. H. T. Liverman, of Mansfield, La., a member of the Methodist Church and well known throughout the State, died at his home on Thursday, Dec. 28, after a long illness. He had been especially interested in the educational work of the church, having been a member of the Conference Board of Education.

Rev. Gayle C. Beanland, who, with his wife, formerly Miss Lillian Williams, is visiting Rev. W. M. Williams at Purvis, Miss., paid the Advocate office a greatly appreciated call on Saturday of last week. He and Mrs. Beanland are missionaries of the Presbyterian Board in Africa, but are at home now on vacation. They will return to their field in due time.

Rev. and Mrs. N. E. Joyner, Ruston, La., celebrated, on Dec. 29, 1922, the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The Woman's Missionary Society presented them with a silver set in honor of the occasion, and accompanied it with a beautiful written expression of their love and esteem. The Advocate extends hearty congratulations to Brother and Sister Joyner upon the completion of a quarter of a century of wedded happiness.

We learn from the bulletin of the First Methodist Church, Alexandria, La., that the pastor, Rev. O. W. Bradley, has appointed the following as a committee to solicit subscriptions for the New Orleans and the Nashville Christian Advocates: Mrs. R. O. Coorpender, Mrs. T. L. Owen, Mrs. W. V. Thompson, Mrs. Trenton James, Mrs. H. H. Harris, Mrs. O. G. Wilson, Mrs. J. F. Kelly. In the same issue of the bulletin is a fine presentation of the value of Christian literature, written by Mr. T. A. Holloman.

Rev. W. E. Thomas, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, but now a member of the Louisville Conference, holding appointment as Conference evangelist, is spending a few days in New Orleans. He has authority to hold meetings outside the territory of the Louisville Conference, and some of the brethren might be glad to have his assistance while he is in Louisiana. Mail addressed to him at 829 Maison Blanche Building, New Orleans, will reach him promptly. We very heartily commend Brother Thomas to the brethren as a fine helper in a meeting.

In connection with the meeting now in progress in Belzoni, Miss., in which the pastor, Rev. H. P. Lewis, is being assisted by Rev. Jno. W. Robertson, the Belzoni Banner says: "His preaching is immensely interesting; his logic is unanswerable; his keen satire is enjoyable; his stories all point a moral; when he falls into wit or humor, it carries with it a well taken point. * * * His sermon on Wednesday night on 'Decoys' was one of the greatest we ever heard, enjoyed by those of the faith, and a vivid picture of the decoys of today. His talk on cursing should have been heard by every curser in the county."

We learn with great sorrow of the death of Rev. W. B. Crichlow, on last Sunday, at his home in Salem, Ky. Brother Crichlow was the father of Dr. R. S. Crichlow, of New Orleans, and he had made many friends here during visits to his son. He was at one time a member of the Tennessee Conference, but entered the local ranks several years ago. He was a brilliant scholar, being especially distinguished for his knowledge of the languages, ancient and modern. He occupied a prominent place in the educational world. He was in his eighty-sixth year. His son, Dr. Crichlow, attended the funeral services at Salem. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to the sorrowing family and friends.

Mrs. B. H. Rawls, wife of Rev. B. H. Rawls, a superannuate member of the Mississippi Conference, died at her home, near Moselle, Miss., on Dec. 31, and was buried in the Crosby cemetery on the following day. She was sixty-three years of age, and is survived by her husband, three sons, and four daughters. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. J. T. Leggett, assisted by her pastor, Rev. H. J. Maddox, and Rev. L. Carley. The pastors of the Methodist Protestant Church and of the Baptist Church also attended the funeral. We extend sincere sympathy to Brother Rawls and his family in their great sorrow, and pray that they may feel the sustaining grace of God in this hour of trial.

The death of Mrs. W. B. Thomson, on Thursday of last week, removed from New Orleans Methodism in general, and Louisiana Avenue Church in particular, one of its most faithful and devout members. The Thomson family have been intimately connected with the history of Methodism in this city for many years, and any record of the work of the church would give them a large place in its achievements. Brother W. B. Thomson and his family are among the original patrons of the Seashore Camp Ground, and they have maintained a summer home there from the beginning. Sister Thomson was taken sick during the summer, but was able to return to New Orleans, where her strength gradually failed until she peacefully fell asleep. Just a short while before her death she called her family to her bedside and gave them a parting blessing, bearing beautiful and definite testimony to the reality and nearness of heaven. She is survived by her devoted husband and five children—two sons and three daughters. The funeral services were conducted by her pastor, Rev. J. G. Snellinag, assisted by Rev. Jno. F. Foster. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to Brother Thomson and his family in this time of sorrow, and prays that they may have the sustaining grace of the gospel in abundant measure.

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. E. C. Driskell, Buena Vista, Miss., 3; Rev. G. G. Yeager, Rose Hill, Miss., 9; Rev. H. P. Lewis, Belzoni, Miss., 2; Rev. T. W. St. John, Spring Hill, La., 8; Rev. R. I. Collins, Shannon, Miss., 2; Rev. T. M. Ainsworth, Enterprise, Miss., 2; Rev. H. T. Young, DeRidder, La., 3; Rev. J. M. Wyatt, Lula, Miss., 5.

CENTENARY RESOLUTION.

At a meeting of the Lay Leaders of the New Orleans District, held at Rayne Memorial Church on Friday evening, January 5, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the New Orleans District Lay Leaders pledge their full co-operation in the Centenary campaign of January, February, March, and April, 1923, not only themselves, but also their entire lay forces to give to the campaign their unstinted activity and co-operation."

The resolution was introduced by Mr. C. F. Niebergall and seconded by Mr. Petty, and it indicates an interest in this great cause that will insure a creditable showing for the New Orleans District when the returns are all in.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF SUCCESS.

By Rev. William K. Anderson.

The great poet put into the mouth of one of his characters the statement, "Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and some have greatness thrust upon them." Had he been living in this day, he might have added that a vast number, though in posession of the "makings" of greatness, never arrive because they have not the psychology of success.

If this is true of men, it is also true of churches. Within the past few weeks I have been in a church which is simply exuding prosperity. Situated in a rapidly growing suburb of upper middle-class people—probably the ideal type for effective church work—it finds itself, in spite of its new structure, embarrassed for lack of room. New people with church traditions are steadily becoming permanent residents of its community and are seeking to establish themselves in friendly church relations. The field is white unto the harvest—white with the whiteness of hundreds of church letters.

Such a church is having greatness thrust upon it. The sun of prosperity beams upon it, and it can do nothing but grow. The psychology of success pervades the very air which one breathes; and with the membership increasing, Sunday school growing, congregations swelling, enlarged budgets raised easily and benevolent quotas paid in full, why shouldn't hope and cheer reign supreme, and in so doing estimate anew the very process of growth which is responsible for them? Why shouldn't the members, recognizing that they are connected with a going concern, be enthusiastic and jubilant in their church work, and take occasion often to thank God that their church is not as other churches?

Contrast with the situation of the downtown church which witnesses, year after year, the removal of some of its standbys to locations from which it is difficult for them to maintain their interest. It finds that many of the people who take their places in the community feel themselves temporary, or have no vital church traditions, which fact renders the replacement of these departing members exceedingly difficult. The sun goes behind a cloud, growth is retarded, one begins to talk of the "good old days," and persuades himself that he is a partner in a losing battle. His courage goes, his interest wanes, he votes for a retrenchment policy. Finally he begins to look with the pity of "experience" upon any burst of enthusiasm. The psychology of success is gone, and "defeatism" has come to take its place.

How shall the psychology of success be rewon under these difficult circumstances? That church is up against the hard proposition of achieving greatness. In some cases continued success is impossible under any circumstances; in many others success is rendered impossible because of the it-can't-be-done attitude of the membership, because of the absence of the psychology of success.

In this situation the Christian who is working for his God has at his disposal a wonderful source of strength. He does not have to lift himself up by his own bootstraps. He turns and reads that, while love is the greatest, still faith and hope do abide, and in this faith and hope he holds to the belief that one with God is a majority. He turns further to the word of his Master, who said: "With God all things are possible." The psychology of success? For the church which has to achieve its greatness it is nothing other than an implicit acceptance of the promise of power, coupled with consecrated loyalty to the Kingdom and determined effort for its consummation.

"They shall not pass!" said the French at Verdun, and thereby won back their psychology of success and turned defeat into victory. With God as our ally, may we not have as much faith?—Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

There is no heart beat in the day,
Which bears a record of the smallest deed,
But holds within its faith alway
That which in doubt we vainly strive to read.

One seed contains another seed,
And that a third, and so for evermore;
And promises of as great a deed
Lies folded in the deed that went before.

—Lowell.

Be ye thankful.—Col. 3:15.

Of whom what could He less expect
Than glory and benediction—that is thanks!
The slightest, easiest, readiest recompense
From them, who could return him nothing else.

—Milton.

SOUTHERN METHODIST PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Tentative Program of Annual Meeting, Columbia, S. C., February 21-22.

First Session:

1. Address of Welcome, by Dr. R. E. Stackhouse, Columbia, S. C.
2. Response, Dr. F. S. Parker, Nashville.
3. President's Address, Dr. Carlton D. Harris, Baltimore.
4. Historian's Report, Dr. George B. Winton, St. Louis, Mo.
5. Special Reports:
   - A. Treasurer's Report, Dr. J. A. Burrow.
   - B. Reports of Special Committees.
6. Problems of Our Religious Papers:
   - A. Business Problems.
     - a. Circulation.
       - Budget System by Conference Action.
       - Budget System by Voluntary Action of Charges.
       - Other Methods, Quotas, Clubs, Premiums, etc.

Discussion of the foregoing topics will be introduced by Dr. L. J. Ballard, Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. J. Edgar Wilson, Lakeland, Fla.

The Best Plan to Boost the Circulation of the General Organ in Connection with the Conference Papers, Dr. T. N. Ivey, Nashville, Tenn.

General Discussion.

Second Session:

- b. Advertising.
  - How to Secure Local Advertising.
  - How to Secure Outside Advertising, Mr. "Jeff" Wilson, Dallas, Tex.
  - What Special Rates Should We Give Our Institutions? Dr. A. W. Plyler, Greensboro, N. C.
  - How to Boost the Collections, Dr. J. M. Rowland, Richmond, Va.

General Discussion.

Third Session:

- B. Editorial Problems:
  - a. How We May Make General Conference Legislation in Behalf of Our Church Papers Most Effective, Dr. A. C. Millar, Little Rock, Ark.
  - b. How We May Improve the Literary Quality of Our Papers, Dr. H. T. Carley, New Orleans, La.
  - c. How We May Reconcile the Fundamentalists and the Liberalists to Such an Extent That They May Quit Reading Each Other Out of the Synagogue, Dr. Gilbert T. Rowe, Nashville, Tenn.

General Discussion.

Fourth Session:

- C. Divers Problems:
  - a. Election of Officers.
  - b. Initiation of New Members, Dr. A. J. Weeks, Phrenologist of the Association, Nashville, Tenn.
  - c. Where Shall the Next Meeting Be Held?
  - d. Reading of the Appointments and the Collection of Dues.

(Principal address limited to fifteen minutes, others to five minutes.)

If: If thou draw out thy soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul;

Then: Then shall thy light rise in obscurity, and thy darkness be as the noonday: and the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make fat thy bones.—Isaiah 58:10, 11.

Riches Do Not Satisfy: He that loveth silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he that loveth abundance with increase: this is also vanity. When goods increase, they are increased that eat them: and what good is there to the owners thereof, saving the beholding of them with their eyes?—Ecclesiastes 5:10, 11.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

Mrs. Sallie H. Barnett was born in Holly Springs, Miss., October 14, 1843. She joined the Methodist Church when a child. Such was her faith that she enjoyed a continuous growth in all the Christian graces until the beauty and power of godliness daily radiated from her pure life. Gentleness, patience and fortitude were some of the distinguishing marks of her noble character. She loved all, and was loved by all who knew her. So cheerful was she, even unto the end of her useful life, that it was a gracious privilege to be in her presence.

On October 13, 1922, at her home in Iuka, Miss., surrounded by loving friends, children and grandchildren—no, she did not die, but she heard the voice of God: "Well done, it is enough." She closed her eyes to the world and went to Him, where were awaiting her husband (J. W. Barnett), who preceded her by twenty-two years, and two children.

A large audience assembled at the Methodist church, where the final service was conducted by her pastor, assisted by the Rev. W. M. McIntosh. Interment at the City Cemetery.

It is safe to follow her, for she followed Christ.

WALTER W. JONES.

DESTROYED BY LIGHTNING
SAVED BY INSURANCE

That is the story of many churches and yet many are damaged or destroyed—and no insurance whatever. THE NATIONAL MUTUAL CHURCH INSURANCE COMPANY OF CHICAGO—The Methodist Mutual—has since 1898 been impressing upon Church Officials everywhere the need of this protection. Insures against Fire, Lightning and Tornado. No assessments; legal reserve for protection of policy-holders same as stock companies. No agents. Deal direct. Write to HENRY P. MAGILL, Sec'y. & Mgr.

1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, Agent, M. E. Church, South, 314 Norton Building, Louisville, Ky.

A New Discovery
Makes Hens Lay

Any poultry raiser can easily and quickly double his profits by doubling his egg yield through the remarkable discovery of M. B. Smith, a Kansas city chemist.

Working along entirely original lines, Mr. Smith discovered why hens lay less in winter than in summer and perfected a formula that turns loafers into layers and profit makers.

Within five or six days this discovery, which is called Ditto Egg Tablets, will rejuvenate your flock. Your hens will go strutting and cackling about with red combs and full of life and pep. Every nest will yield an egg nearly every day in the week, which means a lot, since eggs are certain to sell for 60 cents or more. This is not guess work as over 100,000 successful poultry raisers testify to the value of Mr. Smith's products.

Although different from anything you ever heard of, Ditto Egg Tablets are easily administered by simply dropping in drinking water.

So confident is Mr. Smith you can double or triple your egg yield, that he offers to send two large $1 packages of Ditto Egg Tablets (enough for a season) to any reader who will write for them. If you are satisfied they cost only $1 on this introductory offer, otherwise, nothing.

Send No Money—just your name and address to M. B. Smith, 1289 Coca Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. The two $1 packages will be mailed immediately. When they arrive, pay the postman only $1 and postage. Use the tablets 10 days. If you are not getting more eggs or are not satisfied for any reason, simply return unused tablets and your money will be returned immediately without question. A big Kansas City bank guarantees the reliability of this offer. Write today before this introductory offer is withdrawn, as you can sell one package to a friend and thus get your own free.

Our community was made sad on Dec. 16, by the death of MRS. CARRIE SEGREST COEN. She was the only daughter of Bardee and Ann Elizabeth Segrest, born Dec. 30, 1858. She attended the old Peabody Institute at Hazlehurst and graduated at Whitworth College under the beloved Dr. Johnston. Her sweet and lovable disposition won for her a home in the family of that great and good man, and the influences of this association ever told in her after life. On April 27, 1876, she was married to Dr. William Rice Hooker, who died Aug. 23, 1881. On Jan. 25, 1889, she was married to Mr. J. M. Coen. To these unions were born six children, who, with a fond husband, live to mourn the loss of a faithful wife and loving mother. Early in life she united with the Methodist Church at Brandywine, where she was a faithful and loyal member until God took her home to reap the rewards of a life well spent in His service. We shall miss her, but Heaven will be richer and nearer and dearer, for she finished her course in faith, and on the shores of Eternity will stand with outstretched arms awaiting the coming of her loved ones. Farewell for a little while. We shall meet again.

Her Pastor,
ALBERT T. LONG.

Barlow, Miss.

---

MARRIED.

On Dec. 24, 1922, at Olive Branch parsonage, in Clinton, La., by Rev. J. S. Rutledge, MR. K. L. KNIGHTON and MISS ANGIE WILLIAMS, both of East Feliciana Parish.

On the public road two miles west of Houston, Miss., Dec. 24, 1922, by Rev. J. W. Jones, of Thorn, Miss., MR. H. F. GRIFFIN and MISS ANNIE HAMILTON, and MR. WILLIE FOX and MISS MINNIE ALFORD. Also, at the residence of Mr. Jim Anderson, Dec. 25, 1922, MR. HENRY C. ALLEN and MISS JESSIE MOORE.

MR. GREEN MATTHEWS and MISS LOUISE MATHEWS were married at the Methodist parsonage in Meadville, Miss., on Sunday, Dec. 24, 1922. Both are members of the Methodist church at Bude, Miss., and their pastor, S. F. Harkey, performed the ceremony.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District—First Round.

Melder Ct., at Melder, Jan. 11.
Marksville Ct., at Evergreen, Jan. 14, a.m.
Bunkie, Jan. 14, p.m.
Colfax, at Colfax, Jan. 16, p.m.
Melville, at Melville, Jan. 21, a.m.
Opelousas, Jan. 21, p.m.
Livonia, at Livonia, Jan. 24.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at White Castle, Jan. 25.
Oakdale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Glenmora, Jan. 28, p.m.
Natchitoches, Jan. 30, p.m.
Rochelle and Standard, at Standard, Feb. 1, p.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jena, Feb. 4, a.m.
Trout and Good Pine, at Trout, Feb. 4, p.m.

W. L. DOSS, Jr., P. E.

Baton Rouge Dist.—First Round.

Natalbany and Pine Grove, at Natalbany, Jan. 14, a.m.
Hammond, Jan. 14, p.m.
Bogalusa ct., at Bogalusa, Jan. 21, a.m.
Bogalusa, Jan. 21, p.m.
Pearl River ct., at Pearl River, Jan. 28, a.m.
Slidell, at Slidell, Jan. 28, p.m.
Springfield ct., at Springfield, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ponchatoula, at Ponchatoula, Feb. 4, p.m.
Franklinton ct., at Fisher, Feb. 11, a.m.
Franklinton, Feb. 11, p.m.
Olive Branch, at Olive Br., Feb. 18, a.m.
Baker, at Baker, Feb. 18, 3 p.m., 7 p.m.
Tickfaw Mis., at Pine Ridge, Feb. 25, a.m.
Amite, Feb. 25, p.m.
Greensburg, at Days, Mar. 4, a.m.
Kentwood, Mar. 4, p.m.
Covington, at Covington, Mar. 11, a.m.
Gonzales, at Meadows, Mar. 18, a.m.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

Lake Charles Dist.—First Round.

Crowley, Jan. 14, 11 a.m.
Eunice Ct., at Eunice, Jan. 14, 7:30 p.m.
New Iberia, Jan. 21, 11 a.m.
Lafayette, Jan. 21, 7:30 p.m.
Merryville, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
De Ridder, Jan. 28, 7:30 p.m.
Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, Feb. 4, 7:30 p.m.
Branch Ct., at Branch, Feb. 11, 11 a.m.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe Dist.—First Round.

Rayville, Jan. 13, 14.
Tallulah, Jan. 14, 15.
Epps, Jan. 20, 21.
Oak Grove, Jan. 21, 22.
Ferriday, Jan. 27, 28.
Sicily Island, Jan. 28, 29.
Gilbert, Feb. 3, 4.
Mangham, Feb. 4, 5.
Waterproof, Feb. 10, 11.
Chatham, Feb. 17, 18.
Eros, Feb. 18, 19.
Winnsboro, Feb. 21.
Lake Providence, Feb. 24, 25.

District stewards meeting at Rayville, Tuesday, Jan. 16, 11 a.m.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Ruston Dist.—First Round.

Jonesboro, at Jonesboro, Jan. 17, preaching, 11 a.m.
Gibsland, at Gibsland, Jan. 24; preaching, 11 a.m.
Arcadia, Jan. 31; preaching, 11 a.m.
Elmore, at Wesley, Jan. 4; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Sibley, at Pine Grove, Jan. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield, Jan. 7; preaching, 11 a.m; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield circuit, at Joyce, Jan. 7, preaching, 7:30 p.m.; Q. C., 4 p.m.
Bienville, at Bienville, Jan. 14, preaching, 11 a.m.
Bernice, at Bernice, Jan. 16; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Farmerville, Jan. 17; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Marion, at Marion, Jan. 18; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Minden, Jan. 21, preaching, 11 a.m.
Homer, Jan. 23; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Haynesville, Jan. 24; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Dubach, at Dubach, Jan. 26; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Springhill, Jan. 28, preaching, 11 a.m.
Cotton Valley, Jan. 28, preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Ringgold, at Ringgold, Feb. 4, preaching 11 a.m.
Wesley, at Hall Summit, Feb. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Simsboro, at Simsboro, Feb. 7; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Haughton and Doyline, at Haughton, Feb. 11, preaching 11 a.m.
Ruston, Feb. 12, 7:30 p.m.
Castor, Feb. 14; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Athens, Feb. 18; Q. C., preaching, 11 a.m.

District Stewards' meeting, at Arcadia, Jan. 11, at 10:30 a.m.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

Shreveport Dist.—First Round.

Pelican, Jan. 13, p.m.
Pleasant Hill, Jan. 14, a.m.
Grand Cane, at Stonewall, Jan. 21, a.m.
Mansfield, Jan. 21, p.m.
Noel Memorial, Jan. 24, p.m.
Plain Dealing, Jan. 28, a.m.
Mooringsport, Jan, 31, p.m.
Bayou La Chute, Feb. 4 a.m.
First Church, Shreveport, Feb. 7, p.m.
Longstreet, Feb. 11, a.m.
Logansport, Feb. 11, p.m.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

Public Service

HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS

On the Job

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS

Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction

Most Modern and Best Equipped
Dental Parlors South.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds
Toothache
Earache
Neuralgia
Headache
Lumbago
Rheumatism
Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

DEEP-SEATED

FRECKLES

Need attention NOW or may remain all winter. Use the old and time-tried guaranteed treatment that has given satisfaction to millions of women for over 14 years, and rid yourself of these homely spots. Ask for

Othine--Double Strength

At all Druggists and Department Stores.

CRAMPS, PAINS AND BACKACHE

St. Louis Woman Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Louis, Mo.—"I was bothered with cramps and pains every month and had backache and had to go to bed as I could not work. My mother and my whole family always took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for such troubles and they induced me to try it and it has helped me very much. I don't have cramps any more, and I can do my housework all through the month. I recommend your Vegetable Compound to my friends for female troubles."—Mrs. DELLA SCHOLZ, 1412 Salisbury Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Just think for a moment. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been in use for nearly fifty years. It is prepared from medicinal plants, by the utmost pharmaceutical skill, and superior methods. The ingredients thus combined in the Compound correct the conditions which cause such annoying symptoms as had been troubling Mrs. Scholz. The Vegetable Compound exercises a restorative influence of the most desirable character, correcting the trouble in a gentle but efficient manner. This is noted, by the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms.

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OF THE LEAGUE.

The Epworth League of Shipman's Chapel, Boyle Circuit, North Mississippi Confernece, delighted a large crowd Sunday night with a well-arranged holiday program. This is but one of many ways the League uses to advance social life in the community.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Meridian Epworth League Union held their regular meeting Dec. 31, at Seventh Avenue Church, led by President Jas. R. Smith. The service was very inspiring, and every one was stirred with enthusiasm.

At the close of the regular program, which we will give below, plans were made to organize a "Flying Squadron" to promote the interest of the Epworth League in any way possible in their district. If you need this Squadron, get in touch with Mr. Smith—we know he will be glad to send them to you. You can always depend on this City Union's backing up their President, and in order to help him do more efficient work plans were made and funds raised at this meeting to send him to the Presidents' Conference to be held in Nashville.

The program carried out at this meeting follows:

Congregational singing, led by Prof. Clarence Massey.

Devotion, conducted by Miss Palmore.

Duet, Misses Mavis and Madge Williams.

Brief and inspiring talks as follows:

"What the individual Can Do for the Epworth League Union," by Ralph Hays.

"What the Pastors and Sunday School Teachers Can Do to Promote the Work of the Epworth League," by Mr. Sharmon Phillips.

"What the Epworth League Means to Me for 1923," by Mr. White.

"What the Junior, Intermediate, and Senior Leagues Should Mean to Each Other," by J. G. Atwood.

"What the Leaguers Can Mean to the Church for 1923," by Mr. W. D. Hawkins.

"What the Pastor Can Mean to the Epworth League Union," by Rev. W. H. Lewis.

Your quarterly reports to the District Secretary are due. If your Secretary has not mailed you the usual blank form, make him a report anyway.

What are your plans for 1923? Are you taking the Brookhaven Assembly into them?

Broad Street Chapter, Hattiesburg, received seven new members on New Year's day.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE IN CUBA?

By Garfield Evans.

As I was walking by the poorer section of a small town, I observed a pile of rags on the corner of a porch. Its peculiar shape aroused suspicion and I realized it was an old man with nothing but rags for clothing, lying asleep. In his peculiar position I attempted to take his picture, to the utter disgust of a storekeeper across the street who could not understand why I should want this old man's picture when there were so many more worthwhile (?) people standing around. And very politely he attempted to explain to me that "El no es importancia" (he is no good).

A stranger is impressed with a respectful courtesy that he meets in traveling and in the ordinary business transactions. Frequently in seeking direction of a business man he will stop his business and walk several blocks out of his way to give you the direction or to find some one who can speak English. This characteristic is most admirable. Akin to this is a capacity for real friendship which ex-are usually due to straining when constipated.

(Continued on Last Page.)

Piles

Nujol being a lubricant keeps the food waste soft and therefore prevents straining. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it not only soothes the suffering of piles but relieves the irritation, brings comfort and helps to remove them.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

You Can Now Try Nuxated Iron At My Expense

I First Compounded This Remarkable Remedy For My Own Neighbors And Their Praise Of It Has Spread So Rapidly That Now Over Four Million People Use It Annually—Read My Unusual Offer Below.

Years ago I began to wonder at the great number of my own friends and neighbors who were always ailing, complaining and doctoring, without ever seeming to get any better. Both working men and their wives were frequently all tired out in the evening, and a great many were weak, nervous and run-down. One had pains in the back and thought he had kidney trouble. Another had pains around the heart, palpitations and dizziness, and was sure he was suffering from heart disease. Still others had severe headaches, floating spots before the eyes, tender spots along the spine and a great variety of alarming symptoms.

For years I made a special study of this condition, consulting a great number of physicians and chemists. An immense number of investigations by physicians all over the country showed that three people out of every four you meet lack 100% iron in their blood. Lack of iron in the blood is the greatest of all devitalizing weaknesses. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. Your heart, lungs and kidneys and all your vital organs get their nourishment from the blood stream, and when the blood lacks iron and is thin, pale and watery, you may suffer from the symptoms of a great number of diseases when the real and true cause of all your trouble is a lack of iron in the blood.

In the old days people often took metallic iron, which some physicians claim is not absorbed at all. In compounding this newer form of iron which I call Nuxated Iron, I employed a special form of iron, which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Unlike the older forms of iron, it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach, and it is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood. It is the people whose blood is rich in iron who possess great strength, force and energy. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test:

Cut out trial coupon and go to any druggist and get your first trial package of Nuxated Iron; then see how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two 5-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times a day after meals for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. An astonishing number of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, have greatly improved their health and increased their strength, energy and endurance simply by taking this newer form of iron.

Trial Coupon

Fill in this coupon with your name and address and take it to any druggist in your city. Deposit with him the price of one regular full-size bottle of Nuxated Iron. This is not a payment, but a deposit only. If you are not more than delighted with the results obtained by two weeks' use of Nuxated Iron, simply return the outside wrapper to your own druggist, who will promptly refund your money. We will repay the druggist the full amount he refunds upon receipt of the coupon and wrapper.

DAE HEALTH LABORATORIES
New York City

Name ____________________

Address ____________________

____________________

(Fill in your name and address above)

NOTE:—Nuxated Iron has been used for years whenever needed in the family of the Advertising Representative of this paper with excellent results. We are able to guarantee that if you do not obtain all and even greater benefits than you expect from Nuxated Iron, the manufacturers will promptly refund your money.

This Knife GIVEN for selling 12 boxes Quick Salve at 25c and giving away 12 pictures. Knife has best steel blades, we put your name on. Order salve at once
MASON CHEMICAL CO., HANCOCK, MD.

Sunday School

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The January number of "The Superintendent and His Helpers" is worth its weight in gold. Did you read the hymn on page 15, and did you know that every line of that greatest of hymns is based on Scripture?

What is to become of the sixty out of every hundred we are failing to teach the things Christ commanded us to teach? What is to become of us if we fail to teach?

It is encouraging to get reports from the schools that remembered the fifth Sunday offering was to be given for our district training schools. The faithful ones are sending it in. If we did not have a few good people, what would become of the rest of the world?

Several superintendents have written for the new Programs of Work. More than two hundred have been sent out. Have you received yours, and have you accepted as a good working plan "Better aim at perfection and miss it than aim at imperfection and fully attain it?" "A blundering advance is better than a faultless retreat." Can you be satisfied merely to get by with your Sunday school? Is God pleased when we get by?

The Sunday schools that have the life of Christ in them will send for literature on evangelism, and they will win souls, too, for Him. The dead schools do not care to win anything except the good opinion of the world. By all means let us evangelize and we shall be greatly helped by so doing.

The time has not come when we can neglect to teach the aim and the obligation of missions. The truth is, we have scarcely begun to teach the meaning of the Great Commission. Is it the devil that stimulates Russellites, Mormons, and all faddists to propagate their falsehoods? It is amazing to see how they work in season and out of season. Are we tired of the job our Lord left us to finish?

We have not driven the whiskey devil out of the entire country yet. Temperance, prohibition, total abstinence still need to be taught. Wildcat stills and Sunday schools do not flourish in the same community. Push the Sunday school on into the dark corners of every county and teach the people the better way. Make it hard on the buyer of liquor as well as on the seller; the buyer is the man that keeps the seller busy. Let us teach the people Christ.

MY SECOND WATCH NIGHT SERVICE.

At Seventh Avenue, Meridian, just after I had been appointed pastor as a supply, we had a watch night service that was grand indeed. It was one of the most solemn occasions I ever witnessed. I have wanted to attend another one, but for these fifteen years I haven't had the opportunity until the going out of good old 1922.

I merely announced we would have such a service if the crowds and interest justified it. I didn't stress it at all, but all the while I was hungry for the service. I didn't ask any one for any definite help in the way of programs, etc., but assured any and all that I would appreciate their serious thought and prayer relative to a watch night service.

So, on the morning of Dec. 31, I announced the proposed service and said if any wished to come and, after the regular services, stay with me until midnight, we would "watch the old year out and the new year in." Our song and prayer service was fine and a little longer than usual; I took plenty of time for my announcements; preached nearly fifty minutes; opened the doors of the church, and three joined by certificate. One came from the Episcopal Church. After their reception, the stewards and trustees present "took the oath of office." We then had some special duets and choir singing. The Epworth Leaguers gave us a few readings after this. One special song was, "Mother and Home." After this song, I asked all who had living mothers and would promise to be better to them and love them more in 1923 than they had done in 1922 to give me their hands without the singing of a song. The little children, boys and girls, and young men and women, almost surged forward. Some older men and women—married and single—whose mothers were living, asked to come forward, too. I told them to come! This was a great sight. After this, we had light refreshments, and four denominations mixed freely and had a good social time until 11 o'clock. After the social hour, I told all to leave who wished, but I was going to stay! We reassembled and sang, prayed, testified, and spoke of some New Year resolutions until right near 12 o'clock. "Higher Ground" was the song we sang at 12 o'clock, and this was our desire for 1923. When the bells began to ring all bowed (some on both knees), and a holy Presence was felt. Ninety-two remained until after 12 o'clock. I hardly think any of the ninety-two will ever be the same. I thank God for my second watch night service!

In the final checking up for last Conference year as to finances, I found that our church for all purposes contributed a few cents over $24 per capita. Is that pretty good, or are there plenty of other churches that did better? It struck me as a pretty good financial showing, though I may be far afield on the subject. Most all our active members are strict tithers according to Mal. 3:10. I am looking for greater spiritual blessings this year than ever, as a result of this tithing.

Happy and hopeful,

J. A. WELLS.

McComb, Miss.

A HAPPY PASTOR.

Dear Brother Carley: The people of Vivian presented us with a brand-new Ford Sedan with all the modern equipments attached. It is beyond my ability to express my appreciation to the good people for the much needed gift.

R. T. WARE, P. C.

FROM FARMERVILLE, LA.

Having been transferred from the Alabama Conference and appointed to the work at Farmerville, I shall want to read the New Orleans Christian Advocate, so please place my name on your mailing list.

I reached this little town last Friday afternoon after having driven a Cleveland Six for 650 miles over some of the poorest excuses for roads the world ever saw. However, we had no car trouble, and had to be pulled out of only one bog.

The good people of Farmerville have made us feel quite at home, and they are determined to make this the greatest year of their history. The Methodists of the town are few in number, but great in spirit and pluck, and I am sure that you will be hearing great things from them.

Yours in Christ,

JOHN H. WILLIAMS.

January 2, 1923.

Fear Not: The Lord is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; and He knoweth them that trust in Him.—Nahum 1:7.

Easy Now to Double Winter Egg Yield

Proven Remedy Gives Remarkable Results—Turns "Boarder" Hens Into Profitable Layers—

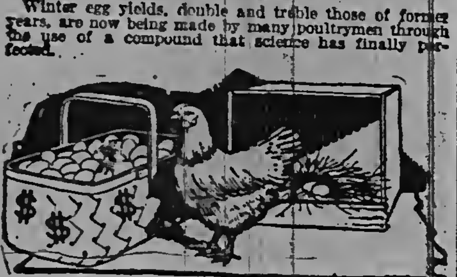
Winter egg yields, double and treble those of former years, are now being made by many poultrymen through the use of a compound that science has finally perfected.



This wonderful medicine, which is called "Hick's Egg-Lay," contains rare and expensive ingredients mixed so as to quickly increase the egg yield. The medicine acts on the reproductive organs and causes double and treble the usual number of ova (the germ cell of the egg) to be produced. Thus you get many more eggs and get them during the time they bring the highest prices.

Hick's Egg-Lay is prepared for convenience in tablet form. Simply dissolve one tablet in a quart of water. This is the surest, easiest and quickest way ever discovered to get more eggs.

A Trial Costs You Nothing

Mr. Hick is so confident that Hick's Egg-Lay Tablets will double and treble your egg yield that he is making a special guaranteed offer of one regular double strength $1.00 package of Egg Lay Tablets and a full size $1.00 package of Hick's famous Lice-Go Tablets all for $1.00.

Lice-Go is added to the drinking water. The medicine taken into the system of the bird comes out through the oil glands of the skin and every louse or mite quickly leaves the body. Keeps the birds always free without the poultry raiser doing any work. If you would rather have two $1.00 packages of Egg-Lay Tablets or two $1.00 packages of Lice-Go instead of one of each, say so on your order. Send $1.00 today (currency, money order, check, etc.) to Chas. M. Hick & Company, Dept. 616, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois. If you prefer, send no money. Just your name and address and pay postman $1.00 and postage on delivery. If after thirty days trial you are not absolutely satisfied, write Mr. Hick and your money will be refunded. This offer is absolutely guaranteed, so don't hesitate to make the test.

CABBAGE PLANTS, Fulwood's Frostproof cabbage plants ready now. Varieties, Jersey and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

IF SICK, BILIOUS!

START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven Dist.—First Round.

Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at Norfield, 7 p.m., Jan. 14.
Meadville and Bude, at Bude, Jan. 21.
Wesson and Beauregard, at Wesson, 7 p.m., Jan. 21.
Gallman, at Bethesda, Jan. 24.
Foxworth, at Hopewell, Jan. 27, 28.
Tylertown, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Osyka, at Osyka, Jan. 31.
Barlow, at Rehoboth, Feb. 3, 4.
Brookhaven, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
McComb, Pearl River Ave., Feb. 7.
Crystal Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Georgetown, at Georgetown, 7 p.m., Feb. 11.
Magnolia, Feb. 14.
McComb, Centenary, 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
McComb, La Branch St., 7 p.m., Feb. 18.
Scotland, at New Hope, Feb. 21.
Summit and Topisaw, at Topisaw, Feb. 24, 25.
Fernwood, at Fernwood, 7 p.m., Feb. 25.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Zionville, N. C.

Dear Friends:

I will try to tell you about my unfortunate condition and how I have to make my living. I am a bed-ridden cripple; fell (when I was a boy) and hurt my back and side and for 24 years I have had to lie in the bed and suffer all the time. And I have to make my living in the bed. I am agent for Poultry Tablets. These Tablets are put up by a Doctor, highly recommended, and said to be actually good to make hens lay lots of eggs. Price $1.00 a box; four boxes for $3.00. I hope you will send me an order so that maybe I can earn my living in my helpless condition.

Yours in misfortune,

JOE MORPHEW.

5,000 CHRISTIAN WORKERS WANTED

to sell Bibles, Testaments, good books and handsome velvet Scripture Mottoes. Good commission. Send for free catalogue and price list.
GEORGE W. NOBLE, Publisher
Dept. D., Monon Bldg., Chicago, Illinois

TETTERINE

DRIVES AWAY PIMPLES

and leaves your skin soft and spotless. 60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs

For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.

25 CTS.

Hattiesburg Dist.—First Round.

Bonhommie, Jan. 14, 7 p.m.
Heidelberg, at Vossburg, Jan. 21, 11 a.m.
Ellisville, Jan. 21, 7 p.m.
Williamsburg, at Good Hope, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
Prentiss, Jan. 28, 29, 7 p.m.
Eucutta, at New Hope, Thurs., Feb. 1, 11 a.m.
Taylorsville, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Mt. Olive-Magee, at Magee, Feb. 4, 7 p.m.
Hattiesburg, Court St., Feb. 11, 11 a.m.
Purvis, Feb. 11, 12, 7 p.m., 9:30 a.m.
Lucedale ct., at Merrill, Feb. 18, 11 a.m.
New Augusta, Feb. 18, 7 p.m.
Sumrall, Wed., Feb. 21, 7 p.m.
Leakesville, at Pine Grove, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Lucedale, Feb. 25, 7 p.m.
Avera, Mar. 4, 11 a.m.
Hattiesburg, Broad St., Mar. 4, 7 p.m.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—First Round.

Bolton, at Raymond, Jan. 14, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Edwards, Jan. 21, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Flora, Jan. 21, 7 p.m.
Flora, Jan. 22, 2 p.m.
Madison, Jan. 24, 11 a.m.
Satartia, at Mt. Olivet, Jan. 27, 28, 11 a.m.
Bentonia, Jan. 28, 2 p.m., 7 p.m.
Harrisville, at Rexford, Feb. 3, 4, 11 a.m.
Mendenhall and D'Lo, at D'Lo, Feb. 4, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Camden, at Camden, Feb. 13, 14, 11 a.m.
Sharon, at Sharon, Feb. 14, 2:30 p.m.
Vaughn, Feb. 16, 11 a.m.
Benton, at Midway, Feb. 17, 11 a.m.
Eden, at Eden, Feb. 18, 2:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Yazoo City circuit, at ——, Feb. 24, 25, 11 a.m.
Yazoo City, Feb. 25, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Brandon, at Pelahatchie, Mar. 4, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Monterey, at Mt. Carmel, Feb. 5, 11 a.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—First Round.

Cleveland, at Mellen, Jan. 12.
DeKalb, at Pleasant Ridge, Jan. 13, 14.
Vimville, at Pleasant Hill, Jan. 20, 21.
Meridian, Seventh Ave., Jan. 21, p.m.
Daleville, at Lockhart, Jan. 21, 22.
Lauderdale and Electric Mills, at Elec. M., Jan. 28.
Waynesboro circuit, at Fedora, Feb. 3, 4.
Waynesboro, Feb. 4.
Matherville, at Poplar Springs, Feb. 10, 11.
DeSoto, at Crandall, Feb. 11, 12.
Enterprise, Feb. 15, 16.
Pachuta, Feb. 14.
Quitman, Feb. 18.
Shubuta, Feb. 18, p.m.
Bucatunna, at State Line, Feb. 25.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Newton Dist.—First Round.

Walnut Grove, at W. G., Jan. 12.
Harperville and Lena, at Harperville, Jan. 13, 14.
Laymen's Rally, at Jackson, Jan. 16, 17.
Trenton, at New Prospect, Jan. 20, 21.
Forest and Morton, at Forest, Jan. 21, 7 p.m.
Rose Hill, at Homewood, Jan. 27, 28.
Montrose, at Montrose, Jan. 31.
Lake, at Lawrence, Feb. 3, 4.
Bay Springs, at Holder's, Feb. 7.
Decatur and Hickory, at Hickory, Feb. 11.
Chunky, at Chunky, Feb. 14.
Shiloh, at Shiloh, Feb. 17, 18.
Newton, at Newton, Feb. 21.
Raleigh, at Raleigh, Feb. 23.
Homewood, at Homewood, Feb. 24, 25.
Union, at Union, Feb. 28.
Laurel, First Church, March 4, 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Laurel, Kingston, March 5, 7 p.m.
Laurel, West End, March 6, 7 p.m.

Do not fail to attend the great Methodist Rally in Jackson, Jan. 16, 17. Who? All preachers; five laymen from every charge of less than 500 members; ten laymen from every charge of 500 or more members. Hosts of Methodists from all over the State will be there. Be sure to be one of them.

J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Seashore Dist.—First Round.

Lumberton, 11 a.m., Jan. 14.
Columbia Mission, at Hub, 3 p.m., Jan. 14.
Columbia, 7 p.m., Jan. 14.
Poplarville, 11 a.m., Jan. 21.
Picayune, 7 p.m., Jan. 21.
Carriere, Mon., 11 a.m., Jan. 22.
Vancleave, at Vancleave, 11 a.m., Wed., Jan. 24.
Mentorum, at Alexandria Memorial, 11 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 27.
Brooklyn, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Wiggins, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Saucier, at Saucier, Wed., 7 p.m., Jan. 31.
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Back Bay, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
Gulfport, Q. C., Mon., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 5.
Biloxi, Q. C., Tues., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 6.
Long Beach, Q. C., Wed., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 7.

W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—First Round.

Hermanville, 11 a.m., Jan. 14.
Utica, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 14, 15.
Washington, 11 a.m., Jan. 21.
Natchez, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 21.
Rosetta, 11 a.m., Jan. 26.
Gloster, 11 a.m., Jan. 27.
Centerville, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Woodville, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 28.
Rocky Springs, at Willows, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Vicksburg, Gibson Memorial, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4, 5.
Roxie, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Vicksburg, Crawford Street, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 11, 12.
Oak Ridge, at Flower Hill, 11 a.m. Feb. 14.
Louise and Holly Bluff, at H. B., 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
Silver City, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 18.
Mayersville, Feb. 24.
Anguilla at Delta City, 11 a.m., Feb. 25.
Rolling Fork, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 25.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

Child's tongue shows if bilious, constipated

MOTHER, CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will quickly start liver and bowel action and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Fig Syrup" because it never fails to work the sour bile and constipation poison right out of the little stomach and bowels without cramping or overacting.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

ASTHMA

The attack is relieved at once and comfortable rest assured simply by vaporizing Cresolene near the bed at night.

Introduced in 1879

Vapo-Cresolene

"Used While You Sleep"

It is the drugless treatment for bronchial ailments—coughs, colds, spasmodic croup, whooping cough and bronchitis.
Send for descriptive Booklet 43B. Sold by druggists
Vapo-Cresolene Co., 62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

SORES BOILS, CUTS and BURNS have been healed since 1820 with

Gray's Ointment

Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to Mrs. J. S. Snelling, [illegible] Octavia St., New Orleans, La.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society, Louisiana Conference, will be held in Monroe March 6, 7, 8 and 9.

MRS. C. F. NIEBERGALL,
President.

MRS. GEO. BROWN,
Recording Sec'y.

FROM FAR AWAY LONDON.

63 Gower Street,
London, W. C. I., Oct. 13, 1922.

Mrs. W. T. Cunningham,
Natchitoches, La.

Dear Mrs. Cunningham: Since the books on foreign mission study this year deal with India, I thought you might be interested in hearing something about the students from that land who are attending English schools. I saw from a statistical report in the newspaper recently that there are over a thousand of them in London alone, and there are many besides in other cities at university centers. These are mostly men; though there is a sprinkling of women, and all have the name of doing serious work. Some take regular literary degrees, while many follow law and medicine. At the post graduate medical school where my husband is taking his courses in Diseases of the Eye, about one-fourth of the students are Indians.

Before the recent disturbances in India that were led by Ghandi, I am told that the students were treated most cordially in a social way by the English, but the last year or two they have been rather boycotted because all the leaders of the native rebellion are men who were given education in this country, many of them having come on government scholarships. However, even now I often see English girls on the street or places of amusement with Indian men and there are a number of marriages between the two races.

One English doctor with whom Dr. Woolworth has been associated at the clinics has been a missionary, and not long ago asked if we would buy tickets to an entertainment being given by Indian students for raising relief funds for sufferers in Malabor. Dr. Woolworth purchased the tickets and we went to the program.

The Y. M. C. A. maintains several "hostels" or dormitories for the Indians where they can live economically and can have the sort of food to which they are accustomed at home. Provision is made for both Moslems and Hindus. The entertainment we attended was given in the assembly hall of one of these hostels.

The audience comprised several hundred people. Most of them were Indians and one could hear all manner of strange languages. While the majority of the men wore European clothes, quite a few were in the bright hued silks and brocades of the East. The headdress of these was conspicuous, where a long scarf was wound round and round the head to form a turban. The colors of the masculine attire rival those of the ladies. Without exception, the women wore their native dress—the sari. As you know, this is a single width of brilliant hued silk about five or six yards long, that is wound about the figure so as to form a skirt, and covering for the body, while one end is draped over the head like a scarf. They look really picturesque. The head is always kept covered except when the sari may slip back, revealing for a moment the glossy hair, and sparkling earrings of the wearer. Some of these people are quite fair, others are very dark, but all have black hair and eyes.

When the curtain rose I felt as if I had been transported by a magic carpet to the far East. From the opening number, the Bengali national song, sung by a lovely native girl, to the closing number, everything was oriental. There were several selections by an orchestra of genuine Indian instruments in which the key was minor, the harmonies were weird and unexpected, with the queer small drum throbbing out the rhythm. The musicians sat in a semi-circle on the floor of the stage. We had a play presented and some poems by Tagore in English, acted by natives in costume. There was a solo on the [illegible] instrument which is a cross between the guitar and a mandolin. This fascinating number was a chant with dance by four English actresses dressed as Hindus and accompanied by Uday Shankar's orchestra. The program closed with several tableaux which presented the various religions, costumes, products, etc., of the different provinces. (The Christian religion was among those represented.) They were cleverly planned and executed, a great number taking part.

After the close our friend wanted us to meet some of his Indian friends. We were introduced to an elderly man of highest Brahmin caste, who is living over here to educate his children. He is a man of great wealth and has been a staunch Christian for years. Another we met was a Mohammedan prince, who traces his ancestry to the Great Moguls. He is most highly educated, speaks perfect English and is taking post graduate courses in medicine. We also met a very handsome Hindu girl who was wearing full native regalia, including a gorgeous sari, earrings, three strands of beads as necklaces, a great number of rings and bracelets, and, what impressed me most, a beautiful diamond in HER NOSE. She is a graduate of Oxford, speaks several languages and is studying both medicine and law, an ambitious career!

I asked a lady here in the house who has lived in Bombay, how these gems can be kept on the side of the nose. She told me a hole is pierced when the girl is small, and never allowed to close. The stone is then fastened in like a shirt stud or an earring.

Of course at this program nothing was given that depicted the poverty, misery and degradation of the poor classes of India, or their spiritual need; only the brightest and gayest side was shown, but I wish that you and all the Louisiana mission study classes could have enjoyed with us the interesting entertainment.

I am sending you under separate cover a copy of the quarterly magazine published by the Women's Auxiliary of the Wesleyan Missionary Society. I hope this will be a great year for the Louisiana Missionary Conference.

With best wishes, I am,
Sincerely yours,
MRS. J. D. WOOLWORTH.

Mrs. Woolworth was once a valued district secretary of this Conference and we are happy to have this news of her and of her continued activities "In the Service of the King."—Louisiana Missionary News.

IN HONOR OF MRS. A. JOE BEASLEY.

The members of the Pachuta Auxiliary of the Woman's Missionary Society, Meridian District, held a called meeting at the home of the President, Mrs. H. M. Atwood, in honor of Mrs. A. Joe Beasley, wife of the pastor, just before they left for their new work in Washington, Miss.

Mrs. Beasley was the efficient treasurer of the Missionary Auxiliary this year, and she not only took an active part in the Auxiliary, but she was also equally as faithful and efficient in the Sunday school. Always smiling and cheerful, her example was an incentive to every member of these two great institutions of the church.

In appreciation of her efforts her friends (whom she numbers among all denominations) and co-workers presented her with a beautiful purse, together with several smaller tokens of esteem.

She will be missed in church work, for she was faithful, efficient, ready and willing. The people of the historic town of Washington are to be congratulated in the fact that she will be with them another year.

MRS. W. M. HARWELL,
Late Corresponding Secretary.

Corns

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Breaks Up CROUP

Colds, Coughs, LaGrippe, Flu, and a valuable aid in treatment of Pneumonia.

CAPU-SAV

clears the phlegm, reduces inflammation, penetrates! White salve; does not discolor clothing. In handy, collapsible tubes, 25c, at drug stores, or sent by mail.

CAPUDINE CO. :: :: RALEIGH, N. C.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127. ATLANTA, GA.

Bitter Chillifuge 25c

Has a bitter tonic taste and quick action in routing malaria from the system.

Will quickly stop chills and fever.

Splendid tonic for torpid liver and bracer for poor appetite.

FINLAY, DICKS & CO., INC.
NEW ORLEANS.

TETTERINE

ENDS COMPLEXION WORRIES

Healing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant

60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

FOR THE RELIEF OF

Coughs, Colds, Croup

WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS

BRONCHITIS

-SOLD EVERYWHERE-

Strength and Vitality

Follow This Advice

Wallburg, N. C.—"I wish to say that I find Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription the best tonics on the market.

"My wife says she would be dead had she not taken Favorite Prescription. One bottle always puts her straight when she gets weak and run-down. I took a bottle of Golden Medical Discovery and the result was a gain of one and one-half pounds in weight. It's fine to tone up the system, better I think, than cod-liver oil."—J. Walter Tuttle.

Obtain Dr. Pierce's Remedies now from your druggist. You will soon feel their beneficial effect. Write Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

A LETTER FROM REV. S. W. MILLER.

Dear Brother Carley: Enclosed find money to renew my subscription to the Advocate. I have been reading the New Orleans Christian Advocate ever since Dr. W. C. Johnson discontinued the Western Methodist at Memphis, and even before. All of the old guard are almost gone; and not very many of those who were in North Mississippi when I transferred to North Texas remain.

I enjoyed Rev. J. W. Boswell's letter in last issue. I remember hearing him preach on his first circuit in 1859. My wife's father's house was one of his stopping points on the large work—his name was Paris Moore, a local preacher and steward, six miles north of Oxford, Miss. In 1871 I went to Sardis, Miss., to visit Rev. A. J. Sea, who was sick. He had started a meeting, and the brethren were carrying it on as a prayer meeting; so I preached for them that night, and the next morning we telegraphed to Brother Boswell, who came a day later. When he got there, I said, "Why did you not come yesterday?" He pointed down to his feet, with a nice pair of boots on, and said, "You see that—I had to make myself a pair of boots before I could come." He preached us some fine sermons.

We older preachers often had to learn to do things that our younger brethren would almost faint if they had to do as we did. I will never forget Bishop Cavanaugh's experience on his way to an Annual Conference to hold one of his first Conferences. How thankful we ought to be for God's protective and sustaining grace during all these years.

S. W. MILLER.

Frisco, Texas.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

PILES Don't Be Cut
Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment
My internal method of treatment is the correct one, and is sanctioned by the best informed physicans and surgeons. Ointments, salves and other local applications give only temporary relief.
If you have piles in any form write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets and you will bless the day that you read this. Write today.
E. R. PAGE 430J Page Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

OUSTS RHEUMATISM.

Here it is. Those awful pains of rheumatism so common during the cold rainy weather are completely forgotten, and the rheumatism is expelled from your system by the very simple treatment of taking Renwar Salts which neutralizes the uric acid in the blood, and Renwar attacks the very cause of this malady and expells the uric acid from the system. Renwar is entirely dependable. It does not in any way injure the stomach or affect the heart. It is prescribed by the best physicians, and your money is refunded if Renwar fails to relieve you of rheumatism. Give Renwar a trial and you will never regret it. Mr. Benagh of the Nashville Railway and Light Company says, "Within two or three days after using Renwar my rheumatism disappeared." Price 60c. Ask your druggist for it, or write Warner Drug

For the HAIR—
To make it soft, fluffy and free from dandruff use
TETTERINE
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Woodland, at Mantee, Jan. 13, 14.
Nettleton, at Carolina, Jan. 20, 21.
Greenwood Springs, at G. S., Jan. 24.
Vardaman, at V., Jan. 27, 28.
Calhoun City, at C. C., Jan. 28, 29.
Houlka, at Houlka, Feb. 3, 4.
Salem and Ecru, at E., Feb. 10, 11.
Randolph, at Randolph, Feb. 13.
Tocopola, at Thaxton, Feb. 14.
Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Columbus Dist.—First Round.

Macon ct., at ———, Jan. 13, 14.
Crawford and Shafers, at Crawford, Jan. 14, 15.
Mashulaville, at Mashulaville, Jan. 20, 21.
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak, Jan. 21, 22.
High Point, at White Hall, Jan. 27.
Louisville, Jan. 28, a.m.
Noxapater, at Noxapater, Jan. 28, 29.
Starkville, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ethel, at Ethel, Feb. 4, 5.
Sturgis, at Sturgis, Feb. 10, 11.
Cedar Bluff, at Cedar Bluff, Feb. 17, 18.
Mayhew and Sessums, at Sessums, Feb. 25, 26.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Corinth District—First Round.

Rienzi ct., at Rienzi, Jan. 11.
Chalybeate ct., at Camp Ground, Jan. 12.
Ripley sta., Jan. 12, 14, night.
Silver Springs ct., at Mt. Carmel, Jan. 13, 14.
Great State Conference on Evangelism, for all pastors and church officials, to be held at Jackson, Miss., Jan. 16 and 17.
Burnsville ct., at Hebron, Jan. 19.
Iuka ct., at Snow Down, Jan. 20, 21.
Iuka sta., Jan 21, p.m.; Jan. 22, a.m.

All pastors of the Corinth District are called to meet the presiding elder in Corinth for special conference, Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 23 and 24.

Paden ct., at Westt Side, Jan. 26.
Belmont ct., at Golden, Jan. 28, 29.
Tishomingo ct., at Tishomingo, Jan. 27, 28.

J. B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—First Round.

Tutwiler, at Tutwiler, Jan. 14, a.m.
Drew, at Drew, Jan. 14, p.m.
Great Rally for Home Missions and Evangelism at Jackson, Jan. 16 and 17, five laymen from each charge, and every pastor in the district to attend.
Swift, at Morgan, Jan. 10, the pastor to set the hour.
Webb, at Webb, Jan. 21, a.m.
Minter City, at Minter City, Jan. 21, at 3 p.m.
Schlater, at Schlater, Jan. 24, p.m.
Tchula, Jan. 28, a.m.
Sidon and Cruger, at Sidon, Jan. 28, p.m.
Sunflower, at Sunflower, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, Feb. 4, 3 p.m.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—First Round.

Poplar Creek ct., at Shiloh, Jan. 13.
Tie Plant ct., at T. P., Jan. 14.
Duck Hill ct., at Duck Hill, Jan. 14, 15.
Winona sta., Jan. 21, a.m.; Jan. 22, p.m.
Kilmichael ct., at Kilmichael, Jan. 21, p.m.; Jan. 22, a.m.
Waterford ct., at Waterford, Jan. 26.
Ashland ct., at Ashland, Jan. 27.
Lamar ct., at Lamar, Jan. 28.

"PUT THE BEST BEFORE YOUR GUEST"
Henry Clay Brand Coffee
NOT JUST ORDINARY COFFEE
IT IS BETTER.
FOR SALE AT ALL FIRST CLASS GROCERS

Paris ct., at Paris, Feb. 3.
Abbeville ct., at Abbeville, Feb. 4.
Lexington, Feb. 9, 11.
Ebenezer ct., at Hebron, Feb. 10.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—First Round.

Gunnison and Sherard, at Gunnison, Jan. 14, a.m.
Rosedale and Hillhouse, at Rosedale, Jan. 14, p.m.
Laymen and Pastors meet at Jackson, Jan. 16, 17.
Glen Allan and Benoit, at Benoit, Jan. 21, a.m.
Glen Allan and Benoit, at Glen Allan, Jan. 21, p.m.
Hollandale and Arcola, at Hollandale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Leland, Jan. 28, p.m.
Greenville, Jan. 31, p.m.
Jnestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, a.m.
Jonestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, p.m.
Boyle and Pace, at Boyle, Feb. 11, a.m.
Boyle circuit, at New Salem, Feb. 11, 3 p.m.

The mass meeting at Jackson, Jan. 16, 17, is of sufficient importance to provoke a record attendance from this territory. Make your plans NOW, brethren. It will be the best money and time you have ever invested for your church. The district stewards' meeting at Shaw should have the individual attention of every district steward. Due personal notice will be given later. The Shaw quarterly conference will be held in connection with the district stewards' meet. District Conference at Jonestown, May 8-11. In arranging your meetings, brethren, give this fact due attention.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

WHEELER
Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

Sardis District—First Round.

Longtown, at Longtown, 11 a.m., Jan. 11.
Arkabutla, at Hunter's Chapel, 11 a.m., Jan. 12.
Crowder, at Crowder, evening, Jan. 14.
Mt. Pleasant, at M. P., Jan. 20, 21.
Tyro, at Free Springs, Jan. 27, 28.
Crenshaw, at Sledge, Feb. 4.
District Preachers' Meeting, at Sardis, Jan. 23-24, beginning at 11 a.m., Jan. 23.
District Conference, at Senatobia, May 15-17.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Restores Health, Energy and Rosy Cheeks. 60c

HASTINGS'

This great new Seed Book, better and more valuable than all before, brim full of necessary information, new and up-to-date, for success in 1923 farm and garden work. Hastings' Seeds have long been the "Standard of the South." This beautiful new Seed Book lists all good seeds, bulbs and plants. It is free. Write for it today.

H. G. HASTINGS CO.
ATLANTA "The South's Seedsmen" GEORGIA

[illegible]

[illegible]

You Need a Medicine
You Should Have the Best

[illegible] Kilmer's Swamp-Root [illegible]

[illegible]

Standard Teachers' Bible

FLEXIBLE LEATHER BINDING

5½ x 8½ inches

SELF-PRONOUNCING EDITION WITH

Concordance

Beautifully bound with overlapping cover, red under gold edges, 16 colored maps. [illegible]

LARGE CLEAR PRINT

This [illegible] handsome book and is sold at a very reasonable price.

Price, $4.00

POSTPAID

SEND ORDERS TO NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Standard Teachers' Bible

$4.00 Postpaid

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

[illegible] STREET NEW ORLEANS, LA.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

[illegible]

[illegible] Corinthians [illegible]

[illegible]

Shave, Bathe and Shampoo with one Soap.—Cuticura

[illegible]

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC SOLD 50 YEARS

[illegible]

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 3. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3493.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 18, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

JUST CHRISTIANS.

If all those who occupy official positions in the church and are looked upon as leaders of the forces of Zion were removed from their places, there might be a feeling on the part of some people that the church was on the eve of destruction and that all agencies that make for righteousness were about to become demoralized and useless; but such would not be the case. The greatest strength of Christianity lies in those who are just Christians—that, and nothing more. They hold no official positions; their names are not heralded abroad as prominent in various kinds of movements and programs; they are not the chief supporters of the church by reason of their munificent gifts to its enterprises—they are just Christians. They bear all the burdens that other people bear; they have to work hard during the week for a livelihood; they suffer hardship, disappointments, troubles of all kinds, just as other people do. But they love God with all their hearts and they humbly try to follow his commandments as they go about their various vocations. In the home, on the farm, in the shop, in the office—wherever they are—they are earnest, sincere, devout followers of Christ. They are the "rank and file," without whom all our organizations would fail and all our programs come to naught. Just Christians! We thank God there are so many of them.

A DARK PAGE.

The treatment of the Armenians by the Turks has aptly been called the most terrible page in modern history. Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman of the special committee appointed by our recent General Cnoference to assist in the great work of the Near East Relief, writes a paragraph of that page as follows: "In 1915, taking advantage of the absorption of the great Christian nations in the war, the Turkish Government officially decreed the absolute extermination of the Armenian people, and forthwith deported over one million of them into the Mesopotamian desert, where over eight hundred thousand perished. Since the close of the war, thousands more have been deported and slaughtered in the Cilicia and Back Sea territory. And at Smyrna, although the war was with Greece and not with the Armenians, the Armenian quarter was the first to be attacked, and, after the most horrible looting, outrages, and murders, it was totally destroyed by fire. The Armenian Patriarch, Zaven, declares that over two million Armenians have been killed since 1915, not in battle with the Turks, but in deliberate, carefully planned, cold-blooded massacres in their homes and by deportation into the 'deserts and mountains and dens and caves of the earth.' And these atrocities have been committed not only in the sight of, but in the face of the strongest protests of the great Christian nations of the world. But the Turks simply jeered at the protests, and no Government, not even our own, has dared to declare its purpose to protect the Armenians and to prevent further massacres of innocent, helpless, non-combatant Christians. No greater shame has come to Christendom in modern times." This special committee of our own church, with Bishop Cannon as chairman and Dr. F. S. Parker as secretary, has set apart Sunday, January 21, as a special day on which it requests all our pastors to present to our people the facts concerning the persecution and martyrdom of these our fellow-Christians, and give them an opportunity to contribute of their means to alleviate suffering and save lives. These contributions should be sent to J. D. Hamilton, Treasurer, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn.

CHRISTIAN COLLEGES MUST BE CHRISTIAN.

It is our contention that the existence of colleges and other institutions of learning under church control cannot be justified unless these institutions furnish an education that is so specfically Christian as to put themselves in a class apart from State-owned and controlled institutions. If our church schools simply propose to give only such education and to furnish only such atmosphere and environment as are to be found elsewhere, it is a waste of time, money, and men to undertake to establish, promote, and sustain them. We are not criticizing our institutions, but simply emphasizing again their function. We are in hearty sympathy with all the normal activities that characterize young people when they come together in college groups—athletic, social, recreational—and we believe our college authorities should encourage and assist them in proper development in these activities; but first of all and above all and thoroughly saturating all must be the definite emphasis upon the Christian life that makes the individual student realize that, after all, "religion is the chief concern of mortals here below." Our Christian schools ought to be the most fervent centers of evangelism.

IN SIMPLE JUSTICE.

Any one who reads the daily newspapers at all is bound to be more or less familiar with the recent happenings in Morehouse Parish, Louisiana, in which the State authorities are seeking to discover and bring to punishment the perpetrators of a foul crime. We earnestly hope the State will be successful in its efforts, and we believe it is the duty of every law-abiding citizen of the State to assist the authorities in performing their duty. Under no circumstances can we afford to allow such atrocious crimes as are reported to have occurred in Morehouse to pass unpunished. But it is only simple justice to place the blame where it belongs and not hold responsible the great body of respectable, law-abiding, religious citizens for the acts of the criminal few. Morehouse is one of the substantial parishes of the State; yet the sensational reports that have appeared in some newspapers would lead us to believe that its people as a whole are but little removed from savagery. If all readers of newspapers were careful to make a distinction between the reports of facts and the many speculations of sensational reporters whose employers apparently expect them to fill space with matter that will aid in the circulation of their periodicals, no great injustice might be done; but a great many readers either cannot, or they do not make such distinction, and their opinions are often, therefore, not based on the facts. We are at liberty to quote the following statement from a man who is in position to know whereof he speaks: "The people here are law-abiding and peaceable, the churches are in a prosperous condition, the public schools are equal to any in the State"—and we believe that statement gives the real situation so far as the citizenship generally is concerned.

WHY WE WORSHIP POORLY ON SUNDAY.

In that helpful volume, "When God and Man Meet," by Dr. W. J. Young, of Emory University, we find a paragraph that explains why some of us do not get from the services of the sanctuary the spiritual strength our souls need. He says: "We worship so poorly on the Sabbath because we worship so poorly during the week. It is done too seldom and too much apart from life's realities. We are like the young man picked up suddenly from his plowing in the field, dressed in evening dress, and led into the midst of a gay and fashionable party. He has more feet and hands than he can well manage. We can but ask ourselves, what would such do if called to enter the company of heaven. Surely they would not feel altogether at home. We must keep at our worship until we feel perfectly comfortable with God, and feel we should not be startled if heaven were to open as for the men of Bible times." Yes, that is it—we worship so poorly on Sunday because we worship so poorly during the week.

---

Making Haste to be Rich: He that by usury and unjust gain increaseth his substance, he shall gather it for him that will pity the poor. A faithful man shal abound in bessings: but he that maketh haste to be rich shall not be innocent.—Proberbs 28: 8, 20.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

IN RETROSPECT.

By W. L. Underwood.

Let me pause in retrospection at the setting of the sun,
Looking back upon Life's Highway, looking o'er each deed I've done;
Asking pardon for my errors, asking God to help me through,
Singing, "Glory, Halleluiah," each day beginning life anew.

Yes, I enter in my closet, and I softly close the door,
Then to Jesus take my troubles, pleading mercy o'er and o'er;
Grace to live as he would have me, strength to always do my best;
Then the sweetest peace comes o'er me, as to my soul comes perfect rest.

Then I thank him for his blessings showered on me day by day,
Life and health and friends and loved ones, all along the upward way;
Then he takes me to his bosom, and the door he opens wide,
And I hear him gently calling, "Come and with me now abide."

Oh, sinner, can't you hear him calling? Can't you see the open door?
Oh, turn from sin and worldly pleasure, come to him and sin no more;
Then you'll find the secret closet, and you'll breathe this fervent prayer,
"Take me home, dear Heavenly Father; keep, oh keep me ever there."

EVEN THINE ALTARS.

By Rev. Elmer C. Gunn.

To worship God is the natural attitude of mankind. There has ever been something in the heart and mind of us all that cannot be satisfied saved as it finds expression around altars erected and dedicated to a God who is over all supreme. This sentiment is not modern. It is, in fact, one of the few sentiments that come to us out of the dim distance beyond the postern gates of the dawn of history. Down the long and checkered trail of humanity as it is pictured to us in the mirror of history, amidst the lights and shadows that play across the surface of that mirror, there is always the looming altar that represents the worship of God. Then it is not something that is losing ground. One may, in his imagination, picture the waters failing from the seas, and the earth wasted to chaos whence it came; one may picture the homes being so shattered as to have become nothing more than a mocking memory; one may think of civilization crumbling into barbarism; but one can never see humanity without its idea of God. If everything else fails and we slink back into savagery, we'll carry our fetish, our altar, our religious sentiments, such as they are, with us.

Is it not, then, worth while for us to ask ourselves the question as to why the altar is of such tremendous importance in the history of mankind? Certainly it is. In the first place, it is important because it represents the place where God appeared. We like to think of the boy Jacob alone on the fields of Bethel; behind him stalks the fear of vengeance; before him are unknown, unexplored experiences. During the night angels of God appear to him and their appearance is to him a call to high endeavor. In the early dawn of the next morning we see the boy, now become a man, erecting an altar to the God of his mother who has become his own. The years of the pilgrimage of Jacob were long; his experiences many and varied; but all this did not suffice to blot from his mind the sacred memory of the God of Bethel. It is thus with all who mett him face to face. In our hearts there are shrines of memory which commemorate high points of experience, trysting places with the God of our fathers as we have walked along the way of life. There burn always the fires of gratitude to him who has met us in the "out of the way" places of the journey and has given us assurance of his presence and his salvation.

But the altar not only commemorates an experience; it also preserves a meeting place. On the heights of Horeb, God was wont to meet the great leaders of Israel with his communion, give them courage to carry on the great tasks assigned them. The church is first, last and always, God's meeting place with mankind. To many of us it means, and will ever mean, the place where we go to meet and to talk with him. In these times that try men's souls there are those who say "church membership is not essential—I can get along as well without the fold as I can within." But the personalities who have left the most permanent marks of service along the highway of life, and who have indeed blazed the trail of sympathy and loving kindness through the wilderness of the world, have been those who have received the inspiration of the service from the altars of our God.

The altars set the pace of progress for Christians. Here we may get the inspiration of ideals fixed by the knowledge and vision of God himself. Here also we will find his plan for us. It is a risky and ruinous thing for us to allow our lives to flow in any other channel than that marked for them by the fingers of God. The success or failure of our lives, the salvation or damnation of our souls, will depend upon whether we "work the will of him who sent us while it is called to-day." Jesus, the Son of God, said: "I have finished the work thou gavest me to do." We may do the work of God if we will.

Always the altar has been a picture of man's idea of immortal life. Or, may we say, the altars of the world have reflected the picture of a cloudless, an endless to-morrow! The fires burning on the altars along the pilgrim way have lighted the weary footsteps of the marching throng as they have pressed toward the heights that represent the heavenly land. And that light which came with humanity from beyond the gates that are the beginning of history, will go with us all along the way until finally we step through another gate into the presence of him who inspired the light, and to whom the altars are builded. We shall recognize two old acquaintances as we come into the presence of God at last, and these will be Jesus, the Redeemer of mankind, and the altar around the Great White Throne.

Bogalusa, La.

SOME THOUGHTS.

How swiftly the days come and go! Only yesterday it seems since we greeted each other in the beautiful church at Alexandria, giving the glad hand of brotherly love and fellowship in our Annual Conference gathering. But the year has passed with its joys and sorrows, its loves and hatreds, old friends passing away, new ones coming into our lives, with work well done, with opportunities turned aside, with believing and repenting, hoping and trusting. What a record to meet on the other side!

As days have been speeding away, we have been borne on to the time and place of the gathering again of the prophets of God: Shreveport, with her generous hospitality, has thrown wide her doors to welcome the Louisiana Annual Conference, and these faithful co-workers with God in the building of His kingdom are permitted to look into the faces and rejoice anew in the fellowship of their brethren and love of their Lord. But some familiar forms are missing. Where are they? Some one says, "They have gone on before." Then we think of the "mansions on high," of the "sweet bye and bye," of "the land that is fairer than day." But the bishop has called the Conference to order and announced that sweet old hymn, "Jesus, the Name high over all." Ah, how that name has cheered and made glad the hearts of these soldiers of the cross, as through the year they have fought their battles, many times seemingly losing the fight! Now they come in the face of it all and are ready to say, "We have had a good year, Bishop."

But our dear old Bishop—how full of wit and humor, with just enough sarcasm to spice it all. How wonderfully helpful his spirit! Our connectional men are there, too, representing the various departments of our common Methodism, seeking to impress the Conference with the idea that the pastor is the key man to every situation, and that connectionalism is the team work that puts over the drive in the Master's kingdom. If this is so, then why are our city churches, many of them, so utterly lacking in this spirit of co-operation? Is this true, or does it just look that way?

What a fine lot of young men in our Conference now! What a prophecy of great things for the Kingdom of our Lord in the near future, over which the older men are rejoicing, and by faith they see afar and bring nigh the victory for which they have prayed and toiled and suffered through the years of the past. Buckle on your armor, young men, lift up your heads and with quickened steps go forward, for with such backing you cannot fall.

Luther E. Todd was there, the inimitable Todd, pleading the cause of the forgotten man, who cannot be forgotten much longer, for Todd will not let us forget. Why do not these old heroes tell just a little more of their life history when making their reports? Would it not be a great help to the young men? Brother J. M. Brown, for instance—what battles, what victories, what triumphs, what a record he has made as he has preached Jesus the Saviour of all men, from Alabama to Texas, now waiting for the call of his Lord to the full realization of his promise, "They that turn to righteousness shall shine as the stars forever and ever." Forgotten man! Well, I should say not. Doctor, let me tell you something, a little of which I heard the other day: In the Methodist parsonage where now lives one W. W. Holmes, our only Billy Holmes, with his noble wife, there was a gathering of veteran heroes and their wives, the presiding elder and his wonderfully resourceful and efficient helpmate. My informant could not tell me all that happened there, but he said something about the days of Pentecost not being over. "Blest be the tie that binds," and "If our fellowship on earth be so sweet, what must it mean to be there." And so forth, and so forth.

I was reading the other day some of those sharp, pithy editorials of Dr. Ivey in the Advocate, and one of them made me think. He said family altars are gone, family religion a thing of the past, and the work of teaching and training of the young left to the Sunday school and church, or words to that effect. Does the Doctor know, or is he just guessing? It seems to me it would be a sad comment on the constituency of our great church. Well, he may be right; "the world do move," and changes occur every day in every department of life. We do not often hear now those soul-stirring, sweet hymns our fathers and mothers used to sing. They have been discarded for the little ditties and some jazz, with neither ryhme nor religion. They tell me, as congregations, we do not sing as we did in the days of old, that we leave the singing too much to the choir and quartet. I think they make mighty pretty music. I am sure you love to hear the Wisdom Sisters sing "Amazing Grace, How Sweet the Sound."

Christmas has come and gone, leaving behind the sweet memories and expressions of love, gifts, simple they may be, but recalling afresh the richest of all the gifts to men. What a universal interest is now felt in this wonderful gift from our Father! The family, the nation, the world, are given over to expressions of a unity of purpose and good fellowship. After Christmas the New Year, looking backward with regrets, looking forward with brighter hopes; receiving the new book with its pure white pages; then begins the work of turning those leaves! What shall the record be? May the Father by his grace help us. The future looks bright, but we cannot now see very far, and there are voices calling. In the meantime, Doctor, we will be thinking, with your permission.

FRANK.

LAYMEN'S MEET AT GAINES CHAPEL.

On Tuesday, Jan. 2, was held the first of three "Get-together Laymen's Meetings" planned for the Corinth District, North Mississippi Conference.

Mayor J. Q. Lowe, of Corinth, associate lay leader of the district, sent out two hundred and fifty letters to as many men, calling them to meet at Gaines Chapel, Corinth circuit, Tuesday, Jan. 2, for the purpose of discussing the following subjects: Methodism and her place and influence in evangelizing all the "byways and hedges" in Mississippi, and especially the eleven charges represented in this group; The Financial System as it is, and how it may be improved; How the laymen may be of greater help to the pastors in carrying on their work; Methods whereby our Sunday schools may do more effective work; Means by which our churches may have services oftener; Plans that may be helpful in the general work of the church.

The discussions were preceded by an address by Mayor Lowe. Mayor Lowe is a man of unusual ability. He has a strong mind, keen intellect, is educated in the broadest sense of the word, spiritually minded, cultured, refined, possesses a magnetic personality and a gift of oratory of "no mean degree." All these gifts and graces were used without stint in the preparation and delivery of his masterful address on our opportunities and responsibilities. He gave us a vivid picture of the moral, mental and spiritual conditions as they exist to-day in our midst, not from the standpoint of a pessimist, but as one who has faith in the transforming power of the blood of our crucified and risen Lord, and in the loyalty and fidelity of His followers. He believes the time not far distant when we shall really and truly put "first things first." The climax of his address was an ardent and eloquent appeal to the laymen to join hands with him in an effort to evangelize "every nook and corner" of our district. With such a leader we already claim the victory by faith.

Rev. D. R. McDougal, our pastor-host, and the membership of Gaines Chapel, sustained their reputation for unbounded hospitality. They served a bountiful picnic dinner at the noon hour—yes, they had fried chicken, and just about everything else imaginable that is good to eat.

At the beginning of the services the ministers present, Brothers Babb, Davenport, Jones, Phillips, Fullilove, Bass, Smoot, Boggs, McDougal, and Randolph, were tactfully reminded that it was a laymen's meeting, and they were expected to keep quiet unless called upon. The suggestion was beautifully received, so much so that they appeared exactly like honorary members until grace was said at dinner, when immediately they became very active; indeed, so strenuous, sustained and prolonged were their activities, we might have become quite apprehensive had not one of our best physicians from Corinth been present.

Gaines Chapel has the distinction of furnishing the charge lay leader, Mr. W. W. Bass. He is a good one, too.

This progressive and up-to-date church has a most excellent Sunday school under the able leadership of Mr. L. S. Dalton. It has a splendid Epworth League also.

One feature of the afternoon was an appropriate and much appreciated sermon by Rev. Mr. Davenport, a former pastor.

We thank Mayor Lowe and the other laymen who took part on the program for the interesting, instructive and inspiring messages, and our Gaines Chapel friends for their kind entertainment.

May we realize ere the close of 1923 the new vision that is ours to-day!

* * *

FALL MEETING OF THE COLLEGE OF BISHOPS.

During three days, December 8-10, in New Orleans the College of Bishops was in session. On the first two days the meetings were almost continuous. A closing session was held the afternoon of the last day.

Ten of the active bishops were present: Bishops Candler, Denny, Murrah, Mouzon, Moore, McMurry, Cannon, Beauchamp, Dickey, and Dobbs.

Messages, written or verbal, from several of the absent bishops were presented. During our sessions the tragic death of Bishop Waterhouse shocked and saddened our small company, especially the few bishops remaining of those elected at Asheville. Plato affirms that philosophy is meditation on death. The events of life are full of calls to philosophize as Plato understood the term.

In addition to most gracious hospitality in the homes of our people, there were two luncheons, largely attended by our preachers and laymen. All the preachers were courteously attentive. The meetings were held in our Rayne Memorial Church, of which Rev. Dr. W. L. Duren is pastor.

State of the Work.

Each of the bishops gave an account of the state of the work in the Conferences with which he is associated. The Church is progressing, not so rapidly as could be hoped, but still progressing. Reports of revivals were encouraging. Nearly all the Conferences showed increases in membership. All over the Church our people are providing better facilities in church buildings and Sunday school rooms.

The Centenary.

Consideration was given to the interests of the Centenary, and a message to the Church touching that important matter has been issued. An address in the interest of the Board of Lay Activities was directed to be prepared and issued to the Church. Our prosperous publishing interests were considered, and means to increase the usefulness of the House were discussed.

The Discipline.

The committee appointed by the last General Conference to edit the Discipline was thanked for the efficient work it had done, and the Publishing Agents were assured of the appreciation of the several members of the College for the beautiful copy of that book sent to each bishop.

Hospitals.

The need of hospitals throughout the Church was considered, and the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That it is the judgment of the bishops, after hearing the statement of Bishop Candler, the President of the Hospital Board, that the time has come when it will be well for that Board to elect a secretary, as provided by the General Conference, to give his entire time, under the direction of the Board, to promoting the work committed to it."

Post-Graduate Reading.

The Committee on the Course of Study was asked to prepare a list of books for post-graduate reading and to submit the list to each member of the College prior to the May meeting.

A Meeting in Russia.

A meeting, the exact name of which has not yet been furnished, is to be held in Moscow, Russia, in the interest of the religious work in that country. It was thought wise that our Church should be represented in that meeting, and Bishop Beauchamp, with Rev. John Vancura, associated with him, was appointed to attend that meeting and to represent our Church.

Bishops Hays and Boaz.

It was suggested that Bishops Hays and Boaz be requested to consider the propriety of returning to this country so as to assist in the collection of the Centenary pledges.

Memoirs.

Bishop Candler was appointed to prepare the memoir of Bishop Kilgo, and Bishop Mouzon that of Bishop Waterhouse, both memoirs to be ready for the May meeting.

Administration.

A large part of the time of the meetings was given up to a discussion of administration. The bishops have always striven to carry out our law as the Church has enacted it; but it is not always easy to determine what the Church intended in cases that vary from the matter actually present before the Church when the law was enacted, and at times the enactment itself is not clear. In addition, other questions of administration arise, and it has proved to be helpful to discuss all these questions. It is interesting to an observer and a participant to notice that after discussion in nearly every instance there is unanimity of opinion, though now and then the College is about evenly divided.

Perhaps never before was the discussion of administration more interesting or more profitable. The religious exercises held at each session are full of solemnity and profit, and this was especially the case at New Orleans.

COLLINS DENNY, Secretary.

FORWARD MOVEMENTS HARMONIZED.

The Committee appointed by the General Conference to harmonize the forward movements of the church met in Nashville recently and arranged for a division of time so as to avoid confusion and conflicts, as follows:

For the year 1923, the Centenary will have right of way during January, February, March and April, and the Educational Movement during August, September, October and November. The Board of Finance will have February 1 to July 1, 1924, for the Superannuate Endowment Fund, and the Centenary will have December, 1923, and January, 1924, for special emphasis and collections.

During the period when one interest has the right of way, the others may "carry on" in a normal way the work of cultivation and collection, but will not call upon the general organizations and public agencies of the church, such as pastors, presiding elders, bishops, lay activities, etc.

GENERAL BOARD MEETINGS.

To the Annual Conference Organs:

At a recent meeting of the College of Bishops in New Orleans, I was requested by the bishops to see representatives of the various general boards and arrange dates for their several meetings and for the spring meeting of the College of Bishops. The several dates have been arranged as follows:

Board of Education, Nashville, April 11, 12.
Sunday School Board, Nashville, April 18, 19, 20.
Centenary Commission, Nashville, April 20.
Board of Finance, St. Louis, April 23, 24.
Board of Church Extension, Louisville, April 25, 26.
College of Bishops, Nashville, April 27, 28, 29, 30.
Board of Missions, Nashville, May 1, 2, 3, 4.

EDWIN D. MOUZON.

Good Tidings: The Spirit of the Lord God is upon me: because the Lord hath anointed me to preach good tidings unto the meek: he hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound.—Isaiah 61:1.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Seashore District.

The pastors of the Seashore District are all at their posts, ready for a great year. Brother E. L. Alford, at Logtown, is sick, and has been since Conference. Let us pray for his speedy recovery.

* * *

The very few new men in the district have entered upon their labors with a zeal that means success. Alford, at Pascagoula, has already every department of his church organized and ready for work. Johnson, at Coalville, is starting off in a systematic way that will mean success. The people at Logtown and Picayune are arranging to enlarge their church buildings to make room for growing Sunday schools. Considerable improvements are being made on parsonages at Pascagoula, Coalville and Saucier.

* * *

There are four men in the fourth year, four in the third, and eight in the second; the others are in the first.

* * *

The District Stewards and several of the lay leaders met according to announcement, and we spent the day. It was a great meeting.

* * *

Brother Stringer, at Escatawpa, has been sick since Conference, but is out again. Brother Moore's babe (of Picayune) has been seriously sick, but we are thankful she is on the road to recovery.

* * *

The people on the coast are looking forward to the Gipsy Smith meeting in Biloxi with faith. No man is more enthusiastic, and more earnestly engaged in the work than M. B. Sharbrough.

* * *

W. W. Moore has a pulpit attached to the side of his car, and he holds services wherever he goes if there is any chance.

This district is already paying more money for church work than any other district in the Conference, considering its resources, but we are out for greater things this year. Pray for us.

W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

Newton District.

There was a spirit of hopefulness manifested by the District Stewards when they met on the 29th of December at Newton to distribute the assessments among the charges. The presiding elder, Rev. J. A. Moore, made a forceful appeal for a forward movement, stressing especially Evangelism and the cause of the Centenary. G. W. Mars, a loyal layman of the Philadelphia charge, a member of the last General Conference, followed, pleading for 100% collections on all assessments. There were twenty-five stewards and pastors present.

* * *

W. W. Murray at Harperville, T. A. Ferguson at Kingston, L. E. Alford at Philadelphia, W. F. Baggett at Union, C. H. Herring at Walnut Grove, and N. B. Harmon at Newton, are the new pastors in the District, and they are busy familiarizing themselves with their new fields of labor. M. R. Jones at Montrose and G. G. Yeager at Rose Hill are serving new charges within the District and are busy acquainting themselves with their people and the work committed to their care.

* * *

The presiding elder, hopeful himself for the greatest year of the District, reports the preachers hopeful and diligently at work looking after the various interests of the church.

* * *

There have been increases in assessments for pastors' support in all the charges where quarterly conferences have been held. At Philadelphia the salary has been fixed at $2,400; some increase, also on the Neshoba and North Neshoba charges. While no quarterly conference has been held at Newton, the stewards have fixed the pastor's salary at $2,000.

* * *

The pastors and laymen are manifesting considerable interest in the Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, and the promise now is that the District will have a creditable representation in Jackson, Jan. 15-17.

* * *

The commodious and unique Sunday school annex at Newton is approaching completion. This long-needed addition to the facilities of this congregation will be a credit to Methodism in the District, and the membership is to be congratulated on this achievement.

* * *

A building committee has been elected to add Sunday school rooms to the church at Philadelphia, and it is expected that this improvement will soon be an accomplished fact.

* * *

At the recent session of the North Neshoba quarterly conference, a Choctaw Baptist preacher was received into the Methodist Church. Simpson Tubby, known to most all the older preachers of the Conference, a Choctaw who was ordained a deacon when the late lamented T. L. Mellen was manifesting special interest in the Indian work in Mississippi, was present and enjoyed greatly the service, including the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper.

* * *

Rev. O. S. Lewis, of the First Church, Laurel, is putting out fifty copies of the 1922 Discipline among the members of his church. Good! All of us should see that our members have a copy of the latest Discipline.

N. B. HARMON, Reporter.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Monroe District.

Every pastor on the Monroe District is at his post and is enthusiastically engaged in the Master's work. The pastoral charges are responding in a most gracious way to the leadership of the men assigned to them.

* * *

I have visited in an official way only a few places and I am glad to state that I find the note of optimism running high.

Bastrop, under the efficient leadership of Rev. G. A. Morgan, is making progress along all lines. The Sunday school is in a flourishing condition, the Missionary Society is zealous in good works, and the official board, to show their appreciation of the true worth of their faithful pastor, have advanced the salary $300 over last year.

* * *

Mer Rouge and Collinston is a delightful charge and the work is carefully planned and carried out by the pastor, Rev. J. R. Roy, who is in high favor with his people. At the first quarterly conference, the secretary of the Missionary Society stated that all but one member had paid up the missionary assessment expected of them. Isn't that fine?

* * *

Rev. P. H. Fontaine and his accomplished wife are looking well after the interests of the church on the Bonita charge. Recently the church building has been renovated and plans are on foot to beautify the parsonage and surroundings. Brother Fontaine is indeed a faithful pastor.

* * *

Calhoun received at the last Conference a new pastor, Rev. R. V. Fulton. He has been most heartily received and the membership is responding very nicely to all the claims of the church. At Calhoun the young people take quite an interest in League work. Every year they send a delegate to the League Assembly. With this effort it will not be long before they will have efficient leaders in church work.

* * *

Columbia charge is expecting to do real good work this year. Rev. G. D. Purcell has the work well in hand. He knows how to make people do things. On my first visit to his charge, he had me to preach four times in addition to looking into the other interests of the church. They have a flourishing Sunday school—in fact, so much so that additional quarters must be provided to take care of the need. The church has made liberal provision for the support of the ministry.

* * *

Monroe is delighted over the appointment of Rev. F. M. Freeman as pastor. He has had a most cordial welcome. Large congregations wait on his ministry. Every department of church work is on the up-grade. Monroe church is capable of doing a great work in the Kingdom and we are expecting large results. The pastor's salary is now fixed at $4000.

* * *

When I stated to the West Monroe church this new feature of the Advocate and requested news items, they stated that it would take up the entire edition to note the interesting things that they are doing. West Monroe church is a live, wide-awake crowd—but if you knew Rev. J. L. Evans, the pastor, you would know the reason. The salary has been advanced from $1800 to $2400. All of the services are interesting and in every particular they manifest a desire to do their part.

More anon.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Grenada District.

The reports from the Grenada District for 1922 showed an improvement over the year before, but were far from satisfactory. Every indication points toward progress in 1923. A fine spirit of optimism prevails throughout the District. Plans are being made to carry the gospel to all the people within the borders of the District, to reach and cultivate outlying territory, and to meet all financial obligations. These plans include a Pastors' Conference to be held in Grenada Jan. 31-Feb. 1.

Quarterly conferences have been held on half the charges, and the reports that follow are largely from these charges.

* * *

Main Street Church, Water Valley, deserves special mention for the report made to the Annual Conference—fourteen additions to the church on profession of faith, extensive repairs and improvements on church and parsonage, and all benevolent collections in full, together with a substantial increase in pastor's salary. The man largely responsible for this report is Rev. M. E. Scott, pastor. This year begins with the organization of a Womans' Missionary Society and plans for service in outlying territory.

* * *

First Church, Water Valley, stands to the front in all things, responding to every call. The pastor, Rev. L. P. Wasson, finds time to look after contiguous territory and on Sunday afternoons fills appointments regularly in nearby schoolhouses. Salary of the pastor has been increased $300.

* * *

Plans are under way for a new church at Goodman. The Masonic Fraternity has sold their partnership interest in the old church building to the membership of the church, and the money has been raised and the deal closed. A new building with Sunday school equipment will be erected on the same lot. Rev. J. S. Duncan, the pastor, is in high favor with his people and is making full proof of his ministry. His charge increased the salary $300.

* * *

Handsome new pews are being installed in the church at Durant. A pipe organ is to follow in a few months. The pastor, Rev. R. P. Neblett, looks closely after every detail of his work. Durant has a "Flying Squadron," which is doing splendid service in assisting other communities. The pastor's salary has been increased $300.

* * *

Sallis Circuit has shown appreciation of the new pastor, Rev. R. G. A. Carlisle, by increasing his salary $100. Prospects promise well for the work there.

* * *

Rev. W. R. Lott, pastor at Holly Springs, has secured the services of Rev. Frank M. Neal, general evangelist, for revival services beginning Feb. 25. Two hundred and nineteen copies of the New Orleans Christian Advocate go to Methodist homes in Holly Springs. These subscriptions are cared for in the church budget.

* * *

All four churches on the Vaiden and West charge paid the full quarter's assessment for pastor at the first quarterly conference. Rev. J. W. Raper was hindered much by illness last year, but his reports were good, and the outlook for tho new year is bright.

* * *

Rev. W. F. Rogers at Holcomb and Rev. J. S. Maxey at Winona Circuit have been cordially received by their respective charges, and at each place the prospects are good for a successful year.

* * *

The Poplar Creek Circuit had the misfortune to lose the parsonage by fire in December. The pastor, Rev. G. W. Robertson, lost all his books and personal effects. There was no insurance on house or contents.

* * *

Rev. Carroll Varner has been well received at Winona, and is looking forward to a great pastorate in this responsible charge.

* * *

Lexington increased the pastor's salary last year $500 and makes another increase this year of $200.

* * *

Oxford Church is enjoying prosperity under the pastorate of Rev. L. M. Lipscomb, who is beginning his fourth year. Salary has been increased $200.

* * *

Rev. Melville Johnson found every department of the church at Grenada well organized and at work, due to the faithful and efficient leadership of his predecessor, Rev. W. W. Woollard. He has taken hold of his work with energy and enthusiasm, and the people have responded in the same spirit. Congregations are large and responsive.

* * *

Grenada College is in the midst of one of the best sessions in its history.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Greenwood District.

From Webb and Sumner: "On coming to our new charge at Webb, we were royally received. We found here a people as good as the best. They seem to be willing to make contribution to the advancement of God's Kingdom. Our congregations have been excellent, and the interest fine. The Sunday school interest is good, and the people really go to prayer meeting on this charge. So we are working and praying that we may have a good year, and that the Greenwood District may lead this year in carrying out the plans of God for the salvation of a lost world.—C. T. Floyd, Pastor."

* * *

From Minter City: "The people of this charge, including Minter City, Glendora, and Phillipp, have given me a very cordial reception. I am very greatly pleased with the appointment. Under the direction of a committee of two ladies from the Minter City Woman's Missionary Society, the churches are spending some $300 on parsonage building and furnishings. The pastoral feature of my work embraces all creeds; my theology will also necessarily have to be scrambled to meet the situation in my pulpit ministry.—C. L. Rogers, Pastor."

* * *

From Swiftown: "We arrived some time ago to begin our work at Swiftown. We found the parsonage 'empty, swept, and garnished'—empty as to occupants, but found the pantry groaning under a heavy load of good things to eat—there was something of just about everything white folks eat in that pantry.

"The good ladies have been adding from time to time nice things in the way of furniture, and other things to make the parsonage comfortable.

"The people have welcomed us kindly over the entire work, whether they be Methodist, Baptist, Jew or Gentile, and we are delighted with our work.—J. C. Nelson, Pastor."

* * *

From Acona: "We were met at the train by William Peacock, who brought us to the hospitable home of Rev. A. S. Briscoe.

"We are delighted with our new charge, and the work of the charge starts well.—J. A. Patterson, Pastor."

* * *

From Tutwiler: "This preacher came to Tutwiler the evening of Nov. 21, and found Brother Dodds one-half in, and one-half out, but doing the best he could. My goods were somewhat delayed, should have been delivered in three hours, but were delivered in three days. I find that Brother Dodds has done well hereabouts. He has wrought well, and will live in the hearts of this people. I have heard it said that the people of the Delta do not attend church, but I find the people of Tutwiler a convincing contradiction of such a statement; the church here is FILLED with people at each service. Tutwiler bids fair to become one of the leading appointments of the North Mississippi Conference, and that in the near future. If the signs as given by our lamented Brother Davis are true, this preacher is doing well. They are sending nice things to eat, and saying nice things about us.—C. P. Moss, Pastor."

* * *

From Inverness: Our whole District, as well as the entire North Mississippi Conference, was grieved and shocked at the sad news of the sudden and unexpected death of Brother Carlisle, our pastor at Inverness.

Brother Carlisle had preached to his congregation at Inverness on Sunday morning, Dec. 17, with unusual power, and in great freedom of the Holy Spirit. He went to the parsonage after the service, ate his dinner, and in a few moments was seized with an acute attack of indigestion, from which he died in an hour or two. Brother Carlisle was beginning his ministry at Inverness with a very flattering outlook. One of the prominent officers in his church told me: "I had just said to my wife after the service Sunday morning, 'I am going to write Brother Pope and thank him for sending us so splendid a man for our pastor this year.'"

Brother Carlisle was full of hope and earnest zeal for his work, and had written the presiding elder several times asking counsel, and outlining plans for the Conference year. May God bless his memory, his bereaved wife and children. He was a good man, a splendid preacher, a careful, painstaking pastor, and a faithful and loyal friend. We shall miss him, but we must be both thankful and content to know that our God knows how to take good care of his own yonder in the spirit world.

Chaplain J. A. Gray, of the North Georgia Conference, has been appointed to serve Inverness and Isola this year. Brother Gray is a graduate of Birmingham College and Emory University Theological Department. We welcome him to our Conference, to our hearts, and to our confidence.

* * *

From Belzoni: "At the end of a delightful 235 miles across the country from Booneville, Miss., the pastor and family arrived in the little city of Belzoni Nov. 22, at about the close of the day, and found that the good people had made provision for our comfort and convenience. Until a new parsonage can be built or purchased, the pastor and family are housed in a rented house with all modern conveniences.

"We have received a hearty welcome to our new field, and begin the year's work with flattering prospects. The official board has met several times and is working out a financial system that will adequately care for all the church obligations.

"We realize that we are in a big field for development, and that there is plenty of work to do, with both a new parsonage and new church to be built. We desire the prayers of all God's people for his blessings and leadership in the work before us.—H. P. Lewis, Pastor."

Brother John Robertson, our evangelist, is now engaged in a great revival campaign at Belzoni. There are prospects for the greatest religious upheaval the town has ever experienced.

* * *

Rev. F. H. McGee, our pastor at Sunflower, has two new church building enterprises agoing. At Sunflower, the new brick church is fast nearing completion. It will be a beautiful brick church, with modern Sunday school conveniences. He and his people deserve much credit for this great accomplishment.

* * *

Indianola has recently built an attractive room for their large and enthuiastic Men's Bible class. This class is about the livest thing we have in the District.

* * *

The Marks congregation are now in their new place of worship. They have so constructed their building that when they build a church the building they now use for service and Sunday school can be converted into a parsonage with little cost. We have long needed a place of our own to worship in at Marks, and the arrangement now in use admirably meets the needs of this plucky membership and pastor.

* * *

Our great church at Greenwood continues to grow steadily in all departments under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. V. C. Curtis. This church has additions to its membership almost every Sunday. The Board of Stewards have made up the budget for the year, including a stenographer for the pastor, and will pay all claims as they fall due.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

VICKSBURG DISTRICT PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

A Preachers' Institute is called to meet in the Crawford Street Church, Vicksburg, Miss., on Jan. 31. The Institute will open at 2 o'clock p. m., Wednesday, Jan. 31, and close at noon, Thursday, Feb. 1. Please let every pastor be present for the full time. I am sure you can get a good layman to hold your prayer meeting Wednesday night, and it will do him good, and the folks also. The laymen love to hear a layman talk on matters of religion. Let no pastor therefore be absent, but let us come together and study the problems, and spend a time in prayer that we may be more efficient in doing the work of our Lord. Entertainment will be provided.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

THE HAPPINESS OF LITTLE THINGS.

By Willie C. Page.

To find joy in life's little things—
The ripening, billowing fields of grain,
The silent night-time fashionings
Of soft, rapturous sound, the dripping rain,
Many blossoms, the clouds, the snow,
Sweet, elusive things that come and go—
The heart with joy doth overflow.

Greetings of friends, hearts tried and true;
The friendly smile, the wide open door
Of garnered harvests, soft skies of blue,
The patter of little feet upon the floor,
Beauty of the gray mists far on the hills,
Happy laughter, low singing rills—
The heart with gladness thrills.

The clear, bright stars, the wind that blows,
The beauty of the waning moon,
Gay, bright colors of bud and rose,
Long, happy hours of the afternoon—
The great joy of all these little things,
Peace and comfort to a sad heart brings
Greater than thrones or crowns of kings.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.
Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.
510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

WHAT AN OBSERVER THINKS OF THE "FORGOTTEN MAN'S" CHANCE.

Since the organization of the General Board of Finance no man in the Church has been more willing to serve the cause it represents than Dr. Charles C Selecman, pastor of First Church, Dallas. He has cheerfully visited a number of the Annual Conferences at the request of the Secretary of the Board and represented our work in a manner that left nothing to be desired. His experience in this work has provided him with ample opportunity to sense the attitude of the Conferences toward the special effort for Superannuate Endowment, and he has written a personal letter to me wherein he states his convictions on the subect. I have been greatly encouraged by his letter and believe its message is such that it should be published on this page, so that the whole Church may have the benefit of its cheering message. Therefore I am giving our space this week chiefly to an exact quotation of Dr. Selecman's letter, with apologies for only that part of it which is personal to me. The letter is as follows:

"Dallas, Tex., Dec. 15, 1922.

"Rev. L. E. Todd, D.D., 512 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.—My Dear Dr. Todd: It is my impression and conviction, after having visited a number of Conferences in the interest of the Board of Finance, that you have succeeded in getting this issue squarely before the laymen and ministers of our great Church in a way that promises abundant sucess to the cause.

"It has been my privilege not only to speak before these various Conferences in session, but to meet with the Board of Finance of these Conferences and to come into close, friendly, and often confidential relationship with the old veterans who are anxiously waiting to see what the Church is going to do to fulfill her promises to the men who have molded her spirit and largely created her values.

"Occasionally one detects a rather cynical note, born in the disappointment that comes from having waited in vain through years of pitiful poverty and increasing infirmity. However, for the most part there is the note of jubilant joy, triumphant patience, and tender concern for our Zion.

"One dear old saint held up a little booklet which he had written the past year entitled 'Thirty-Seven Years on the Outside Row.' This brother is familiary known as 'Uncle Jim.' He is an old-time Methodist circuit rider, born in 1874 back in Giles County, Tenn., and subjected to the hardships of pioneer days in Tennessee and Texas. He has been a student of Binny's 'Theological Compend,' Ralston's 'Elements of Divinity,' Watson's 'Institutes,' and Wesley's 'Sermons.' He says of them: 'These men were scholars, men of great minds and pure hearts, men of research. They went to the bottom of things and laid the foundation for the soundest and most scriptural system of theology the world has known since the days of Paul.'

"Another veteran sent word to the Conference that he had fallen and broken one leg. Having formerly been lame, he was thankful and rejoicing that it was his bad leg instead of his good one that was broken and that he was now able to go on crutches.

"Concerning another the presiding elder reported: 'He is dying, slowly dying, Bishop, with cancer, but sends word to his brethren that he is unspeakably happy in the Lord.' Upon this the pastor arose to say that the influence of this suffering saint in his community could not be valued in the financial terms of Wall Street.

"Another superannuate announced that he had formed a prayer league especially in the interest of the Centenary and had enlisted forty intercessors who had pledged themselves to rise with him at five o'clock every morning to keep the morning watch in the interest of the coming of God's kingdom.

"A letter came from one who wrote: 'Although my needs are great, the Conference gave me less money this year than on previous years.' He proceeds to explain that this was made necessary by the growing number of superannuates in his Conference.

"But this reaction from the superannuates themselves tells only part of the story. Being myself a pastor, I have talked earnestly with some of the pastors of churches, large and small, and find that without exception they believe it will be easy to raise the amount of money for which you are asking in their pastoral charges. In my judgment many of them will pay this practically in cash.

"For my own part I do not anticipate any difficulty in getting my congregation to subscribe much more than you are asking from the local Church, and it is my present intention to ask that this be paid in cash. For I want the men now living to have the joy and comfort of seeing the Church they love redeemed from reproach and saved from unselfish concern.

"And this is not all. The laymen who are not slow to express themselves as being heartily ashamed of the delays our Church has suffered in fulfilling this her sacred obligation.

"It became convenient for me incidentally to mention my mission to a Rotary Club one day in a city in Oklohoma. When I sat down a gentleman who was seated across the table from me informed me that he is a Methodist and was only waiting for the Church to launch her plan and he would write his check for a substantial amount.

"Such assurances are so frequent as to hearten one who is interested in this campaign and enable one to visualize the day when every dear veteran who has worn out his body in travel and revival work and preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ will be so well housed, clothed, and fed that all of us may gather comfort from the glorious consummation of the noble purpose which your Board is seeking to achieve.

"With personal congratulations to you for the undiscouragable enthusiasm, the admirable judgment, the peristent determination, and the comprehensive plans which have been your personal contribution to this great cause, I am, yours sincerely,

CHARLES C. SELECMAN."

Pile Fagots on the Fire.—The foregoing testimony has not only kindled a fire of expectancy for the great movement, but provides also enough additional fuel to keep our hearts warm toward our old veterans' cause for many days. There are many other pastors of the Church who can add such testimonials as will guarantee that the fire shall never burn low. Lay members, too, have made observations concerning the chance the "forgotten man" has for success in our coming special effort in his behalf, and their hopeful words would help. Write the Board of Finance your opinion on the subject and do it now. It is much better to have one hundred voices proclaiming a certain something will surely come to pass than to have one voice doing it. Pile on the fire the fagots of your convictions. Keep the blaze shooting to the skies until all the Church will pause to consider and to believe.

Lest You Forget.—Every active pastor to-day is a "forgotten man" in the making.

---

LEANERS AND LIFTERS.

It is said that one-tenth of the people of the world are lifters and nine-tenths are leaners. We do not know that this is an accurate division of the lifters and leaners, but we do know that the great majority of mankind are leaners. They in the main are lacking in the right kind of initiative necessary to bring out their possibilites. They do not express the best there is in them. They do not appropriate what is provided for them in this glorious world in which we live. That which does most to make of leaners lifters is the Christian religion. When a man becomes willing to open a way for the merging of God's principles into his own life, there comes to him a new sense of appreciation of the benefits and broad opportunities all about him. Thoreau said that "nobleness begins at once to refine a man's features," and he might have added that he begins at once to be less of a leaner and more of a lifter. And just to think that it is the privilege of every one of us to have a part in bringing about such a change in men and women!—Nashville Christian Advocate.

---

Blessed are they who do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.—Matt. v. 6.

The Home Circle

MAKE BELIEVE.

IN DREAMLAND.

By Willie C. Page.

When the stars are shining bright,
And the world is hushed and still;
O'er vales and vineyards, hid from sight,
Through the meads, across the hill,
Come trooping lovely dreams so gay,

And lead us back to childhood's day.
The sands of Time run fleet and fast,
Backward to those by-gone years;
Swift and sure back to the past;
To home and mother, smiles and tears;
The heart beats high, one is so blest,
Even in dreams to feel her soft caress.

Barefoot we wade the shallow streams,
High up on the grapevine swing away
With the fairies; then in the firelight gleams,
At mother's knee we meekly pray,
She tucks us in with a goodnight kiss;
We are children again in a dream of bliss.

HOW A COUNTRY GIRL GOT AWAY WITH THE CITY GIRL.

Polly was going to school for the first time in her life. Polly was eight years old.

"I am afraid the girls will laugh at you," said Cousin Blanche.

"Why?" demanded Polly. "I don't see anything about me to laugh at."

"Oh, you will see to-morrow," answered Blanche. Blanche had been to school for three years.

Blanche called Polly the next morning.

"You must be very careful to do everything just right," she said.

"Of course," answered Polly; "I always am," and that ended her cousin's advice.

The children watched Polly curiously, and she smiled back at them with very friendly eyes. At recess the girls looked with disapproval at Polly's shoes.

"What makes you wear that kind?" asked one, boldly.

"Bronzed boots?" queried Polly. "Oh, Uncle Morton sent them to me! Aren't they lovely?"

The girl looked surprised. "Nobody else wears 'em," she said, a little scornfully.

Polly glanced around on the black-booted group. "Haven't any of you bronzed boots?" she asked.

They shook their heads.

"I'm awfully sorry," Polly said; "maybe Uncle Morton will send you some if I ask him to, and I'll ask him in my next letter."

The others did not know what to say.

"What makes you be called Polly?" queried the bold girl. "You told the teacher your true name was Mary."

"Yes, but I like Polly best."

The bold girl turned up her little freckled nose. "It is countryfied," she said.

"Is it?" returned Polly, innocently. "Oh, I'm so glad! That must be why it is so beautiful. Don't you love the country? I do. I was there a whole month last summer."

"Haven't you ever been to school before?" asked the bold girl's comrade.

"No, never," smiled Polly.

"And don't you know how to read?"

"Oh, yes. I have studied with mother."

"It must be horrid to have to study at home," said a rude girl.

Polly opened her brown eyes wide. "I guess you never tried it," said she. "Why, it's perfectly splendid! Mother makes plays to help me get my lessons, and tells me stories about them, and hears them all in the morning, if we're going away in the afternoon—oh, it's beautiful! But father and mother thought school was best now, so I've come. It's lovely, isn't it?"

The girls looked at Polly in wonder.

"Guess she won't think it's lovely when the teacher keeps her in at recess, will she?"—and the bold girl tossed her head.

"What will she keep me in for?" questioned Polly.

"When you don't have your lessons."

"But I shall have them," declared Polly.

"Always?"

"Why, yes. Of course. Why not?"

The girl said, "Huh!" and took another track.

"Does your mother make your dresses?"

"No, she doesn't," Polly answered smiling.

"Who does? Your dress isn't a bit like any of ours—it's awfully short."

"Isn't it?" chuckled Polly. "It's about the shortest I have. You ought to see me run in it—it's just as easy! Mother was going to let it down; she said, of course, it was all right in New York, where they wear them short, but for here she didn't know what folks would think. I wore it once before she had time to do it, though, and it was so nice to run in, I begged her to let it be, and she did."

"You see," Polly went on frankly, "my cousin Marguerite, who lives in New York, outgrows her clothes so fast that she can't wear them out; so auntie sends them right up to me, and they most always fit. Isn't that nice? I think this dress is so pretty, don't you?"

Nobody answered for a minute. Then the bold girl said: "I don't believe it's the latest style; I never saw anything like it."

"No, I never did," returned Polly, blithely. "Marguerite always has such pretty clothes, and they are different from the other girls', too."

"I shouldn't think you'd want to wear somebody else's things, just like a beggar," retorted the other, with a sneer.

Polly looked surprised. Then she laughed.

"Excuse me," she said, "but you are so funny. I never beg for Marguerite's clothes. Did you think I did? Auntie sends them to me for a present—that's all. Oh, it is such fun when the boxes come! I try on everything right away. And it is so nice that mother doesn't have to make my things; she has ever so much more time to tell me stories."

"Oh, come on!" cried Blanche. "Let's play something! You can't snub Polly, if you try. She thinks everything and everybody are lovely!"

"Of course they are," laughed Polly, catching her cousin and whirling her about. Then she threw an arm around the bold girl's waist. "I like you!" she cried. "You are so funny."—Canadian Churchman.

FATHER LEADS THE WAY.

Years and years ago, when I
Was just a little lad,
An' after school hours used to work
Around the farm with dad,
I used to be so wearied out
When eventide was come,
That I got kinder anxious like
About the journey home.

But dad he used to lead the way,
An' once in a while turn 'round an' say,
So cheerin' like, so tender: "Come!
Come on, my son, you're nearly home!"
That allers used to help me some,
An' so I follered father home.

I'm old an' gray an' feeble now,
An' trimbly at the knee,
But life seems just the same to day
As then it seemed to me;
For I am still so wearied out
When eventide is come,
An' still get kinder anxious like
About the journey home.

But still my Father leads the way,
An' once in a while I hear him say,
So cheerin' like, so tender: "Come!
Come on, my son, you're nearly home!"
An' same as then, that helps me some,
An' so I'm follerin' Father home.

—John Talman.

A CULINARY SCULPTOR.

Jones—"Have you seen anything of that plaster of paris I brought home yesterday?"

Mrs. Jones—"Was it stuff that looked like flour, in a paper bag?"

Jones—"Yes, that's it."

Mrs. Jones—"And does it get hard when it is wet?"

Jones—"Yes."

Mrs. Jones—"And sticks to everything like glue?"

Jones—"Yes."

Mrs. Jones—"O Joseph! It is just like you to leave horrid stuff like that lying about. Why, it took me more than half an hour with the hammer and chisel to get the cake out of the pan."—Exchange.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

THE LAYMEN'S OPPORTUNITY.

The growing interest of the laymen in the work of the church, and their desire to have definite and direct relation to its porgram are indicated by the fact that the recent General Conference created the General Board of Lay Activities, co-ordinate with the other General Boards of the church. This Board has begun to function effectively under the leadership of the General Secretary, Prof. G. L. Morelock, and the Associate Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. J. M. Way.

It is indicative of the importance of the matter that one of the first tasks the laymen have undertaken is to assist vigorously in the four months' emergency campaign for the collection of Centenary pledges. Those best qualified to speak are stressing the urgency of the need for the collection of these pledges, and the laymen are responding in a way that is altogether admirable. Their interest and activity indicate a new day in the management of the affairs of the church, and short-sighted indeed is the pastor who does not give them every encouragement and assistance in his power. It would be a poor policy to say, with reference to all the work of the church, "Let the laymen do it;" but it would be a grievous mistake not to accept their assistance when it is so freely and enthusiastically offered.

The response of the laymen to this first call of the church at large is worthy of all praise, and we assure them that their interest is very greatly appreciated.

THE CHRISTIAN EDUCATION MOVEMENT.

It is an inspiring report that comes of the collection of pledges to the Christian Education Movement during November and December. Though some of the Conferences postponed Pay-Up Week, and many of the larger churches have not yet been heard from, the sum of $500,000 was reported for those months. Of this amount, the Louisiana Conference paid $14,862, the Mississippi Conference paid $21,882, and the North Mississippi Conference paid $14,598. In the language of Bishop Mouzon, our people are "going the second mile"—that is, paying their pledges as they fall due. Blessed is the man who pays his vows unto the Lord!

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON REFERENCE, COUNSEL AND DECISIONS.

The Committee on Reference, Counsel and Decisions, appointed by the General Conference to harmonize the program of the Forward Movements of the church, met pursuant to the call of Bishop Mouzon aind Bishop Beauchamp, in the Lambuth Building, General Committee Room, at Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 27, 1922. The following members of the committee were present: Bishops Mouzon, McMurry, and Beauchamp; Doctors A. J. Lamar, Stonewall Anderson, Luther E. Todd, and W. G. Cram. Bishop Atkins and Dr. Tadlock were absent.

The committee made a thorough survey of the field, looking carefully into the plans of the Centenary Commission for the collection of the Centenary pledges, and into the plans of the Board of Education for the collection of the Educational pledges, and into the proposed plans of the Board of Finance for raising the Superannuate Endowment Fund. The committee ordered the following statement to be made to the churches:

"We are pleased to report that there is practically no conflict in the proposed plans of the Centenary Commission, the Board of Education, and the Board of Finance; that there is practically no confusion in the field at large. We, therefore, urge our people everywhere to support heartily the plans which these three great agencies of the church have presented, and will present to carry on the work committed to them by the General Conference.

"We further call upon our people to keep in mind that, as a church, we are in a period of great forward movements, and the success of these movements will depend upon the united loyalty and efforts of the whole church. Ours is a connectional church; therefore, whatever program is launched by the one great authoritative body—the General Conference—is and must be the program of every local church, from the largest and most influential, down to the smallest and most insignificant. We, therefore, urge our preachers and people everywhere to stand fully and completely behind our forward movements in order that the united force of our connectionalism may be expended in making them a complete success.

"The cultural and promotional efforts of these forward movements have been so arranged that confusion and conflicts may be avoided. For the year 1923, the Centenary shall have right-of-way in the use of the organizations and public agencies of the church during the months of January, February, March and April; the Board of Education shall have a similar right-of-way during the months of August, September, October and November. It is understood that during the period of special emphasis of any Board or Commission, the other Boards or Commissions will carry on in a normal way the ordinary processes of cultivation and collections, without calling upon the general organizations and public agencies of the church. Inasmuch as the General Conference has designated February 1 to July 1, 1924, as the period in which the Board of Finance shall present to the whole church the cause of the Superannuate Endowment Fund, it is understood and agreed that the Centenary Commission shall have December, 1923, and January, 1924, as a period of special emphasis and appeal for collections."

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Rev. J. C. Long, writing from Philadelphia, Miss., says that he has entered upon his work with every prospect for a successful year.

Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, who had received world-wide recognition as a leader of reform movements, died in Washington, D. C., on December 27, 1922.

Dr. H. H. Sherman has become an Assistant Secretary of the General Board of Education, to succeed Dr. Ed. F. Cook, who is now with the Sunday School Board.

Rev. F. P. Moss, writing from Melder, La., says: "The people of the Melder circuit gave us a hearty welcome to this new charge, and are expressing it in terms of a protracted pounding."

Rev. D. F. Anders, of Cotton Valley, La., found his work in fine shape, through the faithful labors of his predecessor, Rev. A. J. Bonnett, and he reports the prospects are fine for a good year.

Rev. J. S. Purcell and family have been cordially and generously received by the good people of Wesson, Miss., and the prospect of a great year in the service of the church is bright before them.

Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs, after spending a few weeks at home, sailed for Brazil on December 23, to give his personal attention to the great program of building and expansion in our three Conferences there.

Rev. E. L. Alford, of Logtown, Miss., whose illness we noted last week, is now in the Touro Infirmary, this city, for treatment. We are sure his many friends will earnestly pray for his restoration to health.

The Annual Meeting of the General Board of Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be held in the Chapel of the Church Extension Building Louisville, Ky., beginning Wednesday, April 25, at 9:30 a. m.

The contract for the new church at Coahoma, Miss., was let on Friday of last week, and the long-desired building will soon be a reality. It will cost, complete, about $7500. We are sure Brother Longgrear is happy!

The State-wide Methodist Sunday School Conference and Bible Class Federation of Louisiana will be held at Alexandria, La., March 20-22. The Conference Superintendent, Rev. C. D. Atkinson, promises to delegates free entertainment and a great program.

Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, after spending several weeks visiting Conferences in the home land, and speaking with great effectiveness in many centers, will sail for Europe on Jaunary 30, to supervise the important and growing work of our missions there.

We greatly appreciate these kindly words from Rev. F. N. Sweeney, Franklinton, La.: "The Advocate has been coming to my home since my first recollection. My precious mother was a constant reader of it, and I appreciate it more than any other paper I have ever taken."

Rev. F. J. McCoy, our pastor at Houma, La., is being assisted in a revival meeting by Dr. L. D. Patterson, evangelist, and Rev. Andrew J. Notestine, singer, formerly of the Louisiana Conference. The meeting will run through next Sunday. Brother McCoy asks the prayers of the brethren for the success of the meeting.

Rev. A. S. Byrd, writing from Vaughn, Miss., says: "I lighted down here in this splendid community amongst a fine, big-hearted people who received us kindly and who have been generous indeed in looking after our necessities. We are very pleasantly situated and we are expecting a good year."

Dr. Geo. R. Stuart, to whom the church is indebted for so many good things, has again contributed to its welfare by the publication of a booklet, "What Every Methodist Should Know." It is published by Lamar & Barton, and may be had of the Sunday School Supply Department for thirty-five cents.

Through the faithful labors of Rev. Leon I. McCain, our pastor at Lafayette, La., about three hundred members were added to the church last year. This number is about one-tenth of the net increase of membership in the Conference. Under Brother McCain's ministry, three hundred people pledged themselves to tithe.

On Monday afternoon of this week we received a telegram from Rev. Lastie N. Hoffpauir, of Leesville, La., announcing the death of Rev. G. S. Roberts, a local elder, on the afternoon of Friday preceding. We learn with great sorrow of the passing of this good man, and we extend sincere sympathy to those who are in sorrow because of his death.

Rev. J. W. Pearson, our pastor at Mansfield, La., is one of our most diligent and progressive preachers. He has recently secured Rev. C. D. Baker, formerly of New Mexico, later of Southern Methodist University, to assist him in his work. They are now working out the organization, surveying the field, and making ready to serve the people in the most helpful way possible.

We take the liberty of quoting the following from a letter received from a personal friend from Shreveport, La.: "Noel Memorial has certainly been fortunate for the past ten years in the matter of pastors—Means and Tucker, who built the foundation, followed by Drake and Holmes in the building of a great organization. Where is the church that would not grow under the leadership of such men?"

Rev. Paul D. Hardin, presiding elder of the Meridian District, Mississippi Conference, requests us to announce that the Preachers' Institute of the Meridian District will be held at Central Church, Meridian, Thursday and Friday, February 1-2. The opening session will be held at 2 p. m. on Thursday, February 1. All preachers in the district, both traveling and local, should attend this Institute.

The Advocate records with great sorrow the death of Judge R. R. Reid, recently elected Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana, at his home at Amite, La., on Sunday morning, January 14. Judge Reid was active in the work of the Methodist Church and was one of the outstanding public leaders of the State. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to his family and sorrowing friends.

The Thirty-seventh Annual State Convention of the Louisiana Sunday School Association will be held in the First Methodist Church, New Orleans, January 24-25-26. An unusually attractive program has been provided, an outstanding feature of which is the pageant to be given in the Jerusalem Temple on Friday evening, January 26, under the direction of Prof. H. Augustine Smith, of Boston University. Mr. Van Carter is the general secretary of the Louisiana Association.

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. W. L. Linfield, Gulfport, Miss., 2; F. A. Howell, Durant, Miss., 2; Rev. P. H. Grice, Johns, Miss., 2; Mrs. B. S. Woollard, Crenshaw, Miss., 2; Rev. R. M. Evans, Verona, Miss., 5 (one for three months); Rev. J. W. Pearson, Mansfield, La., 13; Rev. J. C. Long, Philadelphia, Miss., 2; Rev. G. G. Yeager, Rose Hill, Miss., 3; Rev. W. J. Dawson, Brandon, Miss., 4.

ACTION TAKEN BY THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA AT ITS ANNUAL MEETING, INDIANAPOLIS, DEC. 13-15.

Reports from fifty observers representing the Federal Council, supplemented and checked by the statements of representatives of economic, commercial and political organizations, make it plain that unless the United States comes to the aid of Europe the world is threatened with chaos.

It needs only an ordinary contact with continental Europe to make clear the fact that her political problems are fundamentally economic and moral, that the European nations can never meet the conditions caused by war, in which the United States was a participant, without the sympathetic counsel and economic help of the United States.

If, as seems not improbable, the nations of the world revert to pre-war policies of economic imperialism supported by rival armaments, then a new war is only a matter of time.

We therefore appeal to the churches to become centers of publication on the moral necessity of the United States assuming its full share of responsibility in international tasks.

Our government should either avail itself of existing provisions for organized international cooperation, or present some better way.

We believe that the United States should definitely associate itself with the International Court of Justice now established at The Hague, in which we see the consummation of many decades of American desires and efforts for international peace through justice based on law.

We urge that the United States also associate itself fully, without delay, with the humanitarian commissions of the League of Nations, now affording the most effective agency for dealing with the immediate non-political tasks confronting all Christian people.

We voice the gratitude of the churches of America for the success attending the conference on limitation of armament convened by our Government, and we urge our Government to take steps towards the convening of a second conference to deal with the economic reconstruction of the western world.

Above all would we declare that the hope of a warless world does not rest on organizations and conferences alone. Back of economic and political disorders lie fear, suspicion and selfishness. The ultimate remedy for such evils must be spiritual. The nations of the world must be brought to accept a new way of life, the one revealed by our Lord Jesus Christ. They must learn that to give justice is better and wiser than to fight for rights."

SHALL WE CLINCH THE NAILS?

By Bishop James Cannon, Chairman Commission on Temperance and Social Service.

The Prohibition Amendment was adopted when and because the moral Christian sentiment of the nation demanded with practically united voice the abolition of the liquor traffic as the enemy of the entire social order—the school, the church, the home, the State. Pulpit and press set forth the awful facts in the indictment, the argument was unanswerable, conviction followed, and the traffic was branded as an outlaw.

Three years have passed. The leopard has changed his name—from saloon to bootlegger—but not his spots. Its defenders put indulgence of sensual appetite and lust for gain above the welfare of society, including its child life. The claim that Prohibition cannot be enforced has been changing to the boastful threat, "Prohibition shall not be enforced." The traffic, though outlawed, is defiant, aggressive, desperate, murderous. Its lawlessness is persistently and successfully encouraged by newspapers like the New York World and the Baltimore Sun; by State and Federal officials, including judges on the bench, who have been stimulatingly lenient, even quiescent, in their attitude toward the enforcement of the Prohibition Law; and by that selfish element of society, which feels no responsibility for the welfare of others, and which does not know the meaning of St. Paul's appeal, "We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves."

But these are the same old enemies: hostile, abusive newspapers, indifferent, hostile or corrupt officials, "lovers of pleasure more than lovers of God" and fellowman. We fought these enemies in other days openly, fearlessly, and persistently, and we won! What is the difference today? The difference is not in our enemies, it is in ourselves. We have stopped aggressive fighting, if indeed we are not in some places on the defensive. We are now faced squarely with the question:

SHALL WE CLINCH OUR NAILS? Shall we determine right now that the Prohibition Law shall be effectively enforced and that there shall be an end to this period of toleration of the sensual, the covetous and the lawless? The moral Christian sentiment of the nation as organized in the Christian church can do this, and no other power in the nation can do it. We must recognize squarely that the same responsibility is upon the church for the effective enforcement of the Prohibition Law, that was upon us for the passage of the law. Christian leaders and workers who banded themselves together to overthrow the saloon and its evils must band together against the bootleggers and their allies. The appeals for the protection of the home, the safety of child life, and of society in general, against the "blind tiger" must be made with the same earnest persistence as was formerly used in the struggle with the saloon. And last but by no means least, the responsibility of Christian citizens, men and women, for the election of trustworthy, oath-keeping State and National government officials must be emphasized and re-emphasized.

The President of the United States declared in his recent message to Congress that the administration pledges itself to the enforcement of the Prohibition Law. If the pulpit, the Sunday schools, the Epworth Leagues, the Conferences and Assemblies of the Christian church will equal their record of efficiency and earnestness of the Pre-Prohibition days, we will again win a great victory for the good of the nation and of the world.

Let us all throw ourselves whole-heartedly, aggressively, persistently behind the President and give the "bootlegger," the "booze-lover," the "wet" newspaper and the "wet" officials to understand that the moral Christian sentiment of the nation which demanded the abolition of the legalized liquor traffic is now demanding just as positively the abolition of the outlaw traffic.

Shall we clinch our nails now?

On train Jan. 5, 1923.

Self Denial: Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save us.—Mark 8:34, 35.

The kingdom of God will never abide in the second place. It must be first or not at all. Service is the keynote of the kingdom. Let nothing deflect your life from personal service which must occupy the major part of our working hours.—Charles H. Brent.

I find that it conduces to my mental health and happiness to find out all I can which is amiable and lovable in those I come in contact with, and to make the most of it. It may fall very short of what I was once wont to dream of, but it is better than nothing. It keeps the heart alive in its humanity, and till we shall be all spiritual this is alike our duty and our interest.—Moravian.

Father, I cry to thee for bread.
With hungered longing, eager prayer.
Thou hear'st, and givest me instead
More hunger and a half despair.

O Lord! how long? My days decline;
My youth is lapsed in memories old;
I need not bread alone, but wine—
See, cup and hand to thee I hold.

And yet thou givest; thanks, O Lord,
That still my heart with hunger faints;
The day will come when at thy board
I sit, forgetting all my plaints.

If rain must come and wind must blow,
And I pore long o'er dim-seen chart,
Yet, Lord, let not the hunger go,
And keep the faintness at my heart.

—Geo. McDonald.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

ELIZABETH JACOBS SMART was born in South Carolina in 1831 and died on Sept. 30, 1922. She was buried in Mount Vernon Cemetery, funeral services being conducted by her pastor. When she was twelve years old the family moved to Cockrum, Miss. When sixteen she joined the Methodist Church, of which she was ever afterwards a consistent member. At twenty-one she was happily married to W. W. Smart. She was the mother of ten children, eight boys and two girls. She had sixty-two grandchildren and forty-seven great-grandchildren. "What a crown of glory! What a diadem of motherly honor and dignity rested on her! For seventy-five years she served the Master. She wasted none of these years worshiping at the shrine of folly and fashion. In the vigor of youth she served Him, in her prime, and she was faithful to the end; so, like Paul, she was ready to be offered up at the ripe age of ninety-one. Hers was the companionship of noble, self-sacrificing service. This was the meaning of life to her. She was a woman of unfailing energy and indomitable will. A devoted mother, a loyal friend, has passed to her reward; but mourn not, friends, for hers was a well-spent life. If you emulate her example, you will meet her again, where parting is no more.

"One more at home!
That home where separations cannot be,
That home where none is missed
eternally!
Lord Jesus, grant us all a place with Thee
At home in Heaven!"

Her former pastor,
E. H. ROOK.

MRS. NOVELLA GODBOLD was born near Raymond, Miss., June 18, 1847, and died in a hospital in Jackson, Miss., Dec. 26, 1922. The body was brought to McComb City for burial. Sister Godbold was converted and joined the church when a small girl, and she lived the Christian life all these years. She read her Bible and taught her children that the only life worth while is one that walks and talks with God. She was married to Dan Godbold on Feb. 9, 1875. Two daughters, one son, and a devoted husband are left to mourn her going, but they do not mourn as those who have no hope. We laid her body away Dec. 28, 1922, to await the resurrection morn. We pray God to comfort the dear husband and other loved ones.

A. S. OLIVER.

MARRIED.

At the Methodist parsonage, Rose Hill, Miss., on Dec. 30, 1922, MR. CHAS. R. HARRIS and MISS JEWELL McKINNON, Rev. Geo. G. Yeager officiating.

At the Methodist parsonage, Rose Hill, Miss., on Dec. 31, 1922, MR. W. T. ULMER and MISS ELLA MOULDS, Rev. Geo. G. Yeager officiating.

HOW TO OBTAIN THE LAYMAN COMPANY TITHING LITERATURE AT 75 PER CENT DISCOUNT.

As stated in our price list, we give 40 per cent discount, postage paid, on all orders sent direct to us.

If your denomination has an organized Stewardship Department, send your orders direct to them, enclosing at the same time at the rate of 25 cents in money, or its equivalent, for every hundred pamphlets you order priced at $1.00 per hundred; 75 per cent discount on all others not marked net.

If they have the literature in stock, they will fill your order postpaid; if not, they will forward it to us for prompt shipment. They will pay us an additional 25 cents per hundred plus the postage we pay; we bear the balance of the expense, including wrapping and mailing.

With your first order only, send an additional 25 cents for a large envelope containing samples of nearly 40 pamphlets, over 400 pages, by more than 25 different authors; from these you can select for future orders.

Do not send orders to The Layman Company at a greater discount than 40 per cent from list prices.

For 50 cents we will send to any address, 35 pamphlets, over 400 pages, by more than 25 authors. The package includes a Tithing Account Book and three Playlets.

THE LAYMAN COMPANY,
35 North Dearborn Street,
Chicago, Ill.

Abundantly Satisfied: How excellent is thy loving kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of Thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of Thy house, and Thou shalt make them drink of the river of Thy pleasures.—Psalm 36: 7, 8.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District—First Round.

Melville, at Melville, Jan. 21, a.m.
Opelousas, Jan. 21, p.m.
Livonia, at Livonia, Jan. 24.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at White Castle, Jan. 25.
Oakdale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Glenmora, Jan. 28, p.m.
Natchitoches, Jan. 30, p.m.
Rochelle and Standard, at Standard, Feb. 1, p.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jena, Feb. 4, a.m.
Trout and Good Pine, at Trout, Feb. 4, p.m.

W. L. DOSS, Jr., P. E.

Baton Rouge Dist.—First Round.

Bogalusa ct., at Bogalusa, Jan. 21, a.m.
Bogalusa, Jan. 21, p.m.
Pearl River ct., at Pearl River, Jan. 28, a.m.
Slidell, at Slidell, Jan. 28, p.m.
Springfield ct., at Springfield, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ponchatoula, at Ponchatoula, Feb. 4, p.m.
Franklinton ct., at Fisher, Feb. 11, a.m.
Franklinton, Feb. 11, p.m.
Olive Branch, at Olive Br., Feb. 18, a.m.
Baker, at Baker, Feb. 18, 3 p.m., 7 p.m.
Tickfaw Mis., at Pine Ridge, Feb. 25, a.m.
Amite, Feb. 25, p.m.
Greensburg, at Days, Mar. 4, a.m.
Kentwood, Mar. 4, p.m.
Covington, at Covington, Mar. 11, a.m.
Gonzales, at Meadows, Mar. 18, a.m.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

Lake Charles Dist.—First Round.

New Iberia, Jan. 21, 11 a.m.
Lafayette, Jan. 21, 7:30 p.m.
Merryville, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
De Ridder, Jan. 28, 7:30 p.m.
Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, Feb. 4, 7:30 p.m.
Branch Ct., at Branch, Feb. 11, 11 a.m.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe Dist.—First Round.

Epps, Jan. 20, 21.
Oak Grove, Jan. 21, 22.
Ferriday, Jan. 27, 28.
Sicily Island, Jan. 28, 29.
Gilbert, Feb. 3, 4.
Mangham, Feb. 4, 5.
Waterproof, Feb. 10, 11.
Chatham, Feb. 17, 18.
Eros, Feb. 18, 19.
Winnsboro, Feb. 21.
Lake Providence, Feb. 24, 25.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Ruston Dist.—First Round.

Gibsland, at Gibsland, Jan. 24; preaching, 11 a.m.
Arcadia, Jan. 31; preaching, 11 a.m.
Elmore, at Wesley, Jan. 4; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Sibley, at Pine Grove, Jan. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield, Jan. 7; preaching, 11 a.m; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield circuit, at Joyce, Jan. 7, preaching, 7:30 p.m.; Q. C., 4 p.m.
Bienville, at Bienville, Jan. 14, preaching, 11 a.m.
Bernice, at Bernice, Jan. 16; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Farmerville, Jan. 17; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Marion, at Marion, Jan. 18; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Minden, Jan. 21, preaching, 11 a.m.
Homer, Jan. 23; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Haynesville, Jan. 24; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Dubach, at Dubach, Jan. 26; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Springhill, Jan. 28, preaching, 11 a.m.
Cotton Valley, Jan. 28, preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Ringgold, at Ringgold, Feb. 4, preaching 11 a.m.
Wesley, at Hall Summit, Feb. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Simsboro, at Simsboro, Feb. 7; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Haughton and Doyline, at Haughton, Feb. 11, preaching 11 a.m.
Ruston, Feb. 12, 7:30 p.m.
Castor, Feb. 14; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Athens, Feb. 18; Q. C., preaching, 11 a.m.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—First Round.

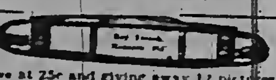
Grand Cane, at Stonewall, Jan. 21, a.m.
Mansfield, Jan. 21, p.m.
Noel Memorial, Jan. 24, p.m.
Plain Dealing, Jan. 28, a.m.
Mooringsport, Jan. 31, p.m.
Bayou La Chute, Feb. 4 a.m.
First Church, Shreveport, Feb. 7, p.m.
Longstreet, Feb. 11, a.m.
Logansport, Feb. 11, p.m.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

Everything About Cuticura Soap Suggests Efficiency
Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. For samples address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.



This Knife GIVEN for selling 12 boxes Quick Salve at 25c and giving away 12 pictures. Knife has best steel blades, we put your name on. Order salve at once.
MASON CHEMICAL CO., HANCOCK, MD.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS
A FINE GENERAL TONIC

OTHINE
For the treatment of FRECKLES
In Use for Over 14 Years
Your freckles need attention NOW or may remain all winter. Use Othine—double strength—the old and time-tried guaranteed treatment that has given satisfaction to millions of women and rid yourself of these homely spots.
At all Druggists and Department Stores.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

TETTERINE
CLEARS BABY'S SKIN
and drives off the Rash and Pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N.Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS
Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction
Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference, J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference, Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans District Union Meeting.

At Epworth Church on Tuesday, Jan. 9, was held the monthly meeting of the Union League, and a very enjoyable meeting it was. The church was crowded with Leaguers and pastors, and even before the meeting began you just felt that it was good to be there. More and more our Leaguers are becoming interested in our Union meetings, and very soon we will all be attending 100 per cent strong, as did one of the newly-organized Leagues at this meeting, Louisiana Avenue. Not one member was absent, and the pastor was there also. They reported four prospective members present that night. Epworth was a close second, there being only one Leaguer absent from their League, and most of the other Leagues had equally good showings.

In the course of the meeting each League reported how they spent Christmas and New Year's. Among the various things reported were:

Algiers visited the Bonner Home, bringing candy and a program. Carrollton visited the Convalescent Home, conducting a program and furnishing each inmate with a gift. First Church visited some sick folks. Epworth conducted a program at the Home for Incurables. St. Mark's Hall sang Christmas carols at 6 o'clock Christmas morning. They are early risers at St. Mark's, and you would have to go some to beat them. Some of their carols were heard and enjoyed by numbers of the St. Mark's friends, but alas, some of them were still sleeping and missed this rare treat. Parker Memorial took care of a family at Mary Werlein Mission.

For New Year's, most of the Leagues held watch night services or participated in one.

Just after the reports, the pianist struck up a funeral march and the Union had the privilege of witnessing the funeral of "Old Brother Kant," and, after they had "Buried Him Deep," the Union was very unanimous in taking for ther motto this year "We Can and We Will," and our motto was written on a large can with the word "WE" painted on it. Watch the New Orleans District: We Can and We Will by the grace of God do big things that will mean much for our dear city.

Another very rare treat, and one that was enjoyed, oh, so much, by every Leaguer present, was a talk by a former Union president and now a returned missionary from Brazil, and he was none other than our dear Brother George Parker. He expressed his delight to meet with us in a church, "Epworth," that many years ago had been founded by the Union Epworth Leaguers, and also told us all about how it was started. We all know what a blessing Epworth Church has proven to the community. Brother Parker also laid it on the hearts and minds of the Union to start a second Epworth Church in the community of Lakeview, a suburb with no Protestant church in its midst, and after his talk some one very thoughtfully brought our can with the big "WE" on it and stood it on the table, and it may be, in the course of time, that the Union will undertake once more to establish a church. It was a delightful talk—just thrilled every one present—and we hope we will have an opportunity of hearing Brother Parker again at our Union Meeting.

The evening was just full of delightful treats, and we can hardly afford to leave any of them out. After the benediction, Brother Grambling showed us the pictures of the trip to Junaluska that he and his "secretary and treasurer" made this summer, and several scenes around Junaluska. This made us want more than ever to take the trip to our Junaluska Epworth League Assembly, held there annually, and it may be that several of the New Orleans Leaguers will go this year.

Epworth Church cordially invited us back again for the March meeting, at which time they will have a surprise for us—and without much hesitation the Union accepted.

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with

Gray's Ointment

Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

WOMAN TOO WEAK TO WALK

Now Works Nine Hours a Day.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Strength

Union Village, Vt.—"I was weak and nervous and all run-down. I could not walk across the floor without resting and I had been that way for weeks. I saw your advertisement in the paper and after taking one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt the good it was doing me and I took seven more in all. Before I finished I was able to work nine hours a day in a steam laundry. I cannot say too much in favor of your medicine. I trust all sick and suffering women will take it. It has been two years since I took it and I am strong and well."—Mrs. L. A. GUIMANN, Union Village, Vermont.

This is only one of such letters we are continually publishing showing what Lydia E. Pinkham has done for women, and whether you work or not Mrs. Guimann's letter should interest you.

Many women get into a weak, nervous run down condition because of ailments they often have. Such women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the first sign of trouble. Good health is necessary and this splendid medicine will help you to keep it.

For Troubled Nerves,

high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

FROM MONTICELLO, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: We are back on the Monticello charge for another year's work. Words cannot express our appreciation of the kind reception they gave us. We have thrown our doors, hearts and service open to the people, and they treat us just as they please.

Just to show you what liberty they take around our home: Several times since Conference they have walked into our home without knocking at the door and filled our table with good things to eat. Just a few nights ago they came in without a word, and one by one they deposited upon the bed nice things for my wife and children until the bed was piled up from foot to head. Many nice and appreciated gifts have come all along.

To cap it all, one lawyer of our town (and a member of the Presbyterian Church) who doesn't care what he does, drove a hog into my kitchen and didn't stop until be put him on the table. So he gave me a new text (he knew I needed one)—"Blessed is the man who thinketh of preacher in whole-hog terms."

R. A. ALLUMS, P. C.

Joy to the world! The Lord is come;
Let Earth receive her King;
Let every heart prepare Him room,
And heaven and nature sing.

No more let sin and sorrow grow,
Nor thorns infest the ground;
He comes to make His blessings flow
Far as the curse is found.
—Isaac Watts.

There is silence high in the midnight sky,
And only the sufferers watch the night!
But long ago there was song and glow,
And a message of joy from the Prince of Light.
—J. R. Havergal.

Beauty and Health Go Hand in Hand

Here is Sound Advice for All Women

Covington, Ky.—"For a long time I suffered severely every month with headache and pains in my back and limbs. Then I began using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I can testify that it gave me much relief and that it has been the same great benefit to my daughter for similar trouble. All women who suffer with trouble of a feminine character should try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Ella Mullins, 2037 Center St.

Start on the road to Health and Beauty by obtaining this "Prescription" of Dr. Pierce's from your neighborhood druggist, in tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce, president Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

IF BILIOUS, SICK! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone; your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children.

Sunday School

THE MERGER AND THE STATE CONVENTION

By [illegible] Carley

After four years of planning and negotiations the Merger of the International Sunday School Association and the Sunday School Council of Evangelical Denominations was consummated at the Kansas City Convention by practically a unanimous vote in an audience of [illegible] people.

This action made the Kansas City an epochal convention. The Protestant forces of North America are now marshaled behind an organization conceived in the councils of representatives of the various evangelical denominations and the International Sunday School Association and adopted with good will by both bodies. The plan of the Merger developed as progress was made until a working agreement entirely satisfactory was adopted.

In Louisiana the Merger is yet to be worked out. The Methodist General Conference Sunday School Board has expressed its willingness to enter the Merger under certain conditions, and we have been assured that the conditions will be accepted. Our own Louisiana Annual Conference, carrying out the wish of the General Sunday School Board, has appointed a committee of three composed of Mr. W. S. Holmes, Rev. J. W. Pearson, and Rev. C. E. Atkinson, to meet with the representatives of the various denominations at work in Louisiana and the Executive Committee of the Louisiana Sunday School Association to consider the Merger, its possibilities, plans and program. We are informed that the Presbyterians, the Disciples, the Congregationalists, the Evangelicals, and the Methodist Protestants have done likewise, and it is expected that other denominations will appoint their representatives.

The committee will meet at the First Methodist Church Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 24, at 1:30 and its sessions are open to all persons who are interested in the co-operative Sunday School Movement. Dr. Hugh S. Magill, the General Secretary of the Merger Organization, the International Sunday School Council of Religious Education, and, as such, the official representative of the denominations which have entered the Merger, will be present to consult and plan with the committee relative to the reorganization of the Louisiana Sunday School Association into a State Council of Religious Education.

When all the details have been worked out, and they prove satisfactory to, and are accepted by the denominations, each denomination co-operating will officially appoint members on the State Executive Committee of the reorganized Association, in proportion to its Sunday school enrollment. Thus will be brought about in Louisiana, as is being accomplished in other States, a co-operative Sunday school activity officially sanctioned and accepted by the denominations.

There is, and will continue to be, a field for denominational Sunday school activity. But is there not a wonderful service to be rendered by the denominations building together a constructive program of Christian Education so large and so compelling as to arrest attention, co-ordinate all denominational forces, unify our Christian activities, challenge men of large means, and beatir our Christian people to a sincere determination to bring Christ's Kingdom within the hearts and lives of our boys and girls, men and women, with an abandon?

Beginning on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 24, and continuing through Friday, the 26th, the Thirty-seventh Annual State Convention of the Louisiana Sunday School Association will convene. Its program carries such outstanding men as W. C. Pearce, Associate General Superintendent of the World's Sunday School Association; Sterling ~~L.~~ Williams, Young People's Superintendent of the Missouri Association; Dr. Hugh S. Magill; and Prof. H. Augustine Smith, of Boston, who will direct the music and present the vision of Isaiah in the great religious pageant, "The Light of the World," which was written by Prof. Smith for the World's Sunday School Convention, and first presented by him in Tokyo, Japan, at that great gathering.

FROM SENATOBIA, MISS.

My Dear Dr. Carley: Will you kindly let Mr. Shipman say a line? You know how it is—we get to the place sometimes where we feel that if we do not appear in print, the world will all get wrong and the wrongs will not be righted.

I was truly glad to come back to Senatobia. People treat me and mine mighty well. This is truly the place where they brag on your preaching, and give you things; they also brag on your children; and if that will not make a fellow pull until the backhand stands up, what will? I am going to try to be in some degree worthy.

Our Woman's Missionary Society has put a furnace in the church, and it seems to [illegible] [illegible] that I was [illegible] [illegible] part with these [illegible] [illegible] pieces and their [illegible] [illegible] to have parted.

We have organized Senior and Junior Epworth Leagues since Conference. Our Sunday school, under [illegible] about completed, [illegible] [illegible] doors, making room for about [illegible] new classes. Our [illegible] Sister [illegible]'s children are making beautiful the ladies' parlor, also furnishing a [illegible] piano—a very beautiful tribute to a devoted mother and faithful member of the Methodist Church.

We have received one [illegible] letter since Conference.

If things do not move this year it will not be the fault of the congregation. W. M. Gabbert, president of the board of stewards, and R. E. Mitchell, secretary and treasurer, take all financial responsibility off the pastor, but they expect him to do something else and do it with a vengeance—in other words, to get a first-class move on himself.

Our new elder, Brother T. T. Lewis, has been to see us, preached, and held his first quarterly conference. He has made good. I think Lewis can and will do the job—he just hits the almanac right, young, but not too young; old, but not too old; full of pep, and can make an Overland go; deeply pious, but not fanatical. But you know, Dr., the work the dear Bishop laid out at our recent Conference at Water Valley for the dear elders will try the enduring powers of the gentlemen of the eldership. He seemed to think the country was a mighty good place for the elders to shine, but you must keep in mind, Dr., that the elder on the Sardis District can shine anywhere. The Bishop suggested to one of our preachers that it might have been well for him to have his elder out with him for a week or so, and he replied that a bishop might stay a week out there, but it was too much for the elder.

Indeed, we hear much about our rural church problems; and it is a problem, one that we have been working to solve for years, but we do not seem to get anywhere. In fact, in many places we are worse off than we were fifty years ago. When I was presiding elder on the Durant District, at my first district conference I asked our good Brother Bachman if there had been any improvement, or any special development in certain sections that he had been familiar with for many years, and he said that he did not think there was any advance in fifty years. I have given some thought to this matter, and much work, and now I am fully persuaded that when this question is settled it will be on the same basis that the country school has been solved—CENTRALIZE, and HAUL 'em to it. Then we will have something to work with and you can get leaders.

W. S. SHIPMAN.

"When thou doest good do it because it is good, not because men esteem it; when thou avoidest evil flee it because it is evil, not because men speak against it; be honest for the love of honesty, and thou shalt be uniformly so; he that doeth it without principle is wavering. Say not unto thyself, Behold, truth breedeth hatred, and I will avoid it; dissimulation [illegible] himself friends, and I will follow it. Are not the enemies made by truth better than the friends obtained by flattery?"

What can man bear without him—what office, what array, what apparel—that shall beget such reverence as the soul he bears with him?—Dr. Dewey.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
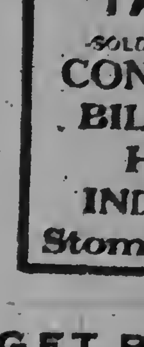
SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble



GET RID OF THAT FAT

Free Trial Treatment on Request

Ask also for my "pay-when-reduced" offer. My treatment is a simple, scientific and efficient method of fat reduction. It has often reduced at the rate of a pound a day.

Mrs. F. Bateman writes: Have taken your treatment and it is wonderful how it [illegible]. [illegible] I have reduced a pound a day and feel fine.

Mrs. Anna Schmidt writes: I weighed 178 pounds before I started your treatment and I now weigh 138 pounds. You may print this if you like.

These are just examples of what my treatment can accomplish. Let me send you more proof at my expense.

DR. R. NEWMAN, Licensed Physician
286 Fifth Avenue, New York, Desk H-967

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
[illegible] CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS, REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, [illegible] Service
[illegible]
[illegible] Camp St. Phone Main 1731

We Know How—Quick Service.
We Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.
CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER
Auto Service
[illegible] NORTH DELTA ST.
[illegible] DEPOT Phone M. 4278

As to What to Wear,
[illegible] You Will [illegible] Time, Worry and Disappointment [illegible]
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUX, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEES
[illegible] design and [illegible] satisfaction.
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone M. [illegible]
[illegible] CANAL STREET.

United Style Shops
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

ANGELL'S
COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES B. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

FROM SPRING HILL, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: Please give us space to say a few things about Spring Hill and our work here.

Spring Hill is a busy little lumber town, nestling very securely in the wooded hills of North Louisiana, on the L. and A. R. R., about thirty-five miles north of Minden, and just one mile south of the Arkansas line. There are some eighteen hundred people living here. We have most of the modern conveniences—connected water service, fine drinking water, electric lights and power, and an abundance of good wood. We have a splendid school, with affiliated high school, housed in a first-class, two-story brick building. Our church house is a perfect little "gem," with several class rooms. The parsonage is the last word in a comfortable home for the preacher's family. We were sent here from the Conference at Shreveport as our first appointment in our home State.

We are delighted with the place and are indeed glad to be here. We were very graciously received, and all the people have shown a concern about our comfort. We have already been the recipients of many tokens of appreciation. The pounding has been one continuous coming of good things to eat. The stewards very cheerfully raised the salary $300 over last year. The attendance at our services has continued to increase. The congregation are very kind to express their appreciation of our work. The attendance at prayer meeting was quadrupled. The Sunday school membership has increased very materially.

This is indeed a good place to be. There is no better board of stewards in the State. Our men are good men and love the church. We have one of the best Woman's Missionary Societies in the State. They do things that are hard in the spirit of cheerfulness. They go one hundred per cent in everything. Our Junior Missionary Society is very active and it can't be beat anywhere as a representation of useful efficiency.

All in all, we are in fine shape and the outlook grows more promising all the time. The lines have indeed fallen to us in pleasant places.

Brethren of the Conference, I feel happy that I am back home now, after some twelve years sojourning in Texas. Please pray for us that the good Lord may lead and use us to the accomplishing of the greatest possible good for our great church, the greatest institution on earth.

T. W. ST. JOHN.

Box 12, Spring Hill, La.

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention this paper.

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED

Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching, and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address

DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs

For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.

25 CTS.

"DIE; BUT DON'T GIVE UP THE BOX."

By Garfield Evans.

I have made many inquiries to know of the permanency of the future of our work here, and in what line the missionaries felt were the most opportune. To appreciate fully the program of the church here, it is necessary to understand the Latin mind and to see the viewpoint that is not always appreciated or understood by the prosaic Anglo-Saxon.

Some one has said that the Latin never apologizes. This statement is true if one sees the Latin alone without the opportunity of religion, where the greed of business has dominated and where Romish ecclesiasticism has destroyed a belief in God and undermined the social standards of morality. But when Christianity is implanted in their hearts, there is a transformation of life and character inexplicable from any standards of ethics.

Senor —— had been a faithful member of our church for several years. After a certain sermon by the pastor, Senor was worried. He asked if he could be a Christian and steal. He told the pastor that he had made an agreement with the clerk of the "bodega" (grocery store) that the clerk was to keep certain articles off his account each month, for which courtesy he was to give the clerk half of the amount saved. The pastor advised that he should confess to the owner of the "bodega" and repay the amount he had defrauded as he was able.

It was a hard fight, but Senor won out. Going into the office of the Spanish owner of the "bodega," he told his story. The old Spaniard looked at him in amazement, and breaking into tears, said, "Why did you tell me, nobody ever did that before?" The Senor replied that he was now a Christian and a Christian couldn't steal. The reader should understand that in business the Latin, as a rule, considers he is perfectly justified in getting all he can for his goods, regardless of their value. Furthermore, it is recognized almost as legitimate to defraud openly, provided one is not caught open-handed. But the Senor had the spirit of the Christ and little by little he paid back the money he had defrauded in purchases.

The Senor had his greatest achievement in the life of his children. A younger son was postmaster in a small country village. During the time of elections it is a common thing for the leaders of one party to bribe some official and stuff the box. The ballot box was in the keeping of the young postmaster. He was first offered good money in order to let them see the box. Then, upon his refusal, they threatened his life. He well knew the many that had been killed under similar circumstances. In his desperation he wired his father to know what to do.

Every parent can understand the anxiety which the father felt for his son, for the paternal instinct outdistances racial divisions. But the Senór was beginning to understand the high plane of the Christian standard in business and its needs in the political institutions. His father wired back the short message, "Die, but don't give up the box."

This is the type of Latin which our church is developing and is an evidence of what the others will become when given a chance. It is in the very home town of the Senor where several Epworth Leagues are making a small investment in order to keep open several missions that are conducted by native Epworthians.

Santa Clara, Cuba.

---

Hark! what mean those holy voices,
  Sweetly sounding through the skies?

* * *

Listen to the wondrous story,
  Which they chant in hymns of joy:

* * *

Peace on earth, good will from heaven,
  Reaching far as man is found;
Souls redeemed and sins forgiven!
  Loud our golden harps shall sound.
—John Cawood.

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE
AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMAKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

Come thou long-expected Jesus,
  Born to set thy people free;
From our fears and sins release us,
  Let us find our rest in thee.

By thine own eternal Spirit,
  Rule in all our hearts alone;
By thine all-sufficient merit,
  Raise us to thy glorious throne.
—Charles Wesley.

Free Catalog
Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, YOUR CHILD'S BOWELS NEED "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile, and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1431 Octavia St., New Orleans, La.

A Call to Prayer.

A Day of Prayer for Missions is called by the Federation of Woman's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America and the Council of Women for Home Missions, for Feb. 16, 1923. We urge every auxiliary to observe this day. It will broaden your vision and your sympathies as you unite with the women of other denominations in this time of intercession. Literature may be secured by ordering from Literature Headquarters, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn.

Important Information About Literature.

Programs.—Two leaflets are allowed to each auxiliary free. Whenever the auxiliaries are divided into circles and these circles conduct separate programs, one leaflet is allowed for each circle. Extra leaflets, 5 cents.

Yearbooks.—One yearbook is sent to each auxiliary free. Extra copies may be secured by addressing Literature Headquarters, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn. Price: Adult, 10 cents each; Young People, and Juniors, 6 cents each.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Old Standard Remedy for Chills and Malaria. .60c

Breaks Up CROUP
Colds, Coughs, LaGrippe, Flu, and a valuable aid in treatment of Pneumonia,
CAPU-SAV
clears the phlegm, reduces inflammation, penetrates. White salve; does not discolor clothing. In handy, collapsible tubes, 25c, at drug stores, or sent by mail.
CAPUDINE CO. :: :: RALEIGH, N. C.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Not a Laxative
Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe.
When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it. Try it today.
Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Handbooks.—The new Adult "Handbook" will come from the press in a few days. One copy free to each auxiliary. Extra copies, 5 cents.

Mission Study Manual.—A new "Mission Study Manual," telling how to organize and conduct a class. Price, 10 cents. Order from Literature Headquarters, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn.

Social Service Superintendents Meet.

The Commission on Race Relations held a meeting with the Conference Social Service Superintendents east of the Mississippi River in Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 4-7. Dr. Akin Smart, of Emory University, gave heart-searching messages each day on the social teachings of Jesus; Mission Study books were presented by Mrs. J. H. McCoy and Miss Estelle Haskin; Miss Mary DeBardeleben gave the Conference three delightful hours on the presentation of Negro music, Negro poetry, and Negro art; strong addresses, which gavethe work of bringing about good will between races a world-wide perspective and lifted it into the sphere in which the Master lived, were given by Dr. Plato Durham and Dr. W. W. Alexander; Mrs. Janie Porter Barrett, Superintendent of the Virginia State School for Negro Delinquent Girls, was present and gave a thrilling message concerning the work she is doing. Mrs. Robert Moton, of Tuskegee, was also present and spoke cheering words of hope. Added to this rich program, a number of hours were spent in helpful discussions on the part of many of the Superintendents themselves, and all entered with Christ-like sympathy into every phase of the question under discussion. This meeting lends great hope to those who earnestly pray for the coming of peace and good will upon the earth.

To Any and Every Missionary Society President.

A new year is now beginning in the missionary society. You are a new President, whether or not you have ever served before; your officers are new; your membership is offering new prayers, giving new service and making new gifts. Let all be in keeping with the opportunity which the new year brings.

At the January meeting special emphasis must be laid upon these facts. Make it a season of reconsecration of the membership to prayer, service, and giving because it is the time for pledges to be made. Let prayerful emphasis be put upon the stewardship feature by making a forceful presentation of the leaflet, "My Missionary Gift for 1923." Make the signing of the pledge cards a time of serious thought and earnest prayer. Do not slight the women who are absent from the January meeting by failing to see that they have an opportunity to make a pledge for the new year. The Treasurer should select a committee who will personally interview the absentees and place a pledge card in the hands of every member of the society. Great care should be taken in following up these cards. Moreover, every new member gotten during the year should be asked to make a pledge.

Do not close the January meeting without giving time to the New Year resolutions. Let every woman present have an opportunity to voice her desire and purpose to perform a larger service through the missionary society. This feature of the program should be a very helpful and impressive one.

The closing months of 1922 have witnessed great activity on the part of the District Secretaries in holding group meetings. It has been the privilege of the Organization Secretary to attend these meetings in two Conferences, and she has been greatly encouraged by the attendance and enthusiasm manifest in these meetings. One District Secretary writes that the immediate result of one of her meetings was a new society and one reorganized, and that both of these societies promised that during the last quarter all funds for the entire year would be paid in full.

The officers of the society often do not realize what encouragement they give the District Secretary when they make their reports promptly. Let every society plan to do this throughout the year. One District Secretary in Western North Carolina is rejoicing in a report from every one of her fifty-one auiliaries for the third quarter of 1922. Let your society do its part in making your District Secretary as happy as this one.

MRS. B. W. LIPSCOMB,
Organization Secretary.

FROM BUENA VISTA, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: There have been so many things worthy of mention to happen in this circuit since Conference, I hardly know how and where to begin.

The beginning of our second year on this circuit is very encouraging. Congregations have been good, with increasing interest; I have placed 25 copies of the new Discipline in our Methodist homes, and secured 8 new subscribers with 3 renewals to the New Orleans Advocate.

I have organized one new Sunday school. Brother Gladney was with us three days and did some good work. We organized a teacher training class at Ebenezer church. He also visited Boone's Chapel and Egypt churches and made interesting talks on the training of children. On Monday morning he made an address to the high school students here that was very instructive and interesting. Brother Gladney is doing a great work that will tell in the coming generation.

So many good things have been said and done by these good people that time and space will not permit mention. We give a few of the most important: first, the good people of Ebenezer remembered us with a Thanksgiving offering that filled our pantry; then, on the night of Dec. 15, the faculty and pupils of the school here, assisted by some of the good people of the town, gave us a most delightful surprise, preparing our pantry for Christmas; then, on Christmas night, after a splendid program rendered by the young people at Egypt and a beautiful Christmas tree containing about 300 gifts, Santa Claus announced that he had two large boxes for the Methodist pastor, with the statement, "I had rather be a preacher than Santa Claus"; then, after all these "poundings," we had our first quarterly conference, Saturday, Dec. 30. Brother Dorsey was at his best, and preached one of the best sermons I ever heard, from the text, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

Bitter Chillifuge 25c
Has a bitter tonic taste and quick action in routing malaria from the system.
Will quickly stop chills and fever.
Splendid tonic for torpid liver and bracer for poor appetite.
FINLAY, DICKS & CO., INC.,
NEW ORLEANS.

DANDRUFF
quickly disappears when
TETTERINE
is applied. Fragrant and Soothing. 60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

After the sermon, Prof. and Mrs. Winter invited the members of the quarterly conference to the high school dormitory, where a bounteous dinner was served. The business of the quarterly conference was very satisfactory; the pastor received a substantial raise in salary, with a liberal report from each church. The outlook is very encouraging, and our goal is everything in full.

E. C. DRISKELL, P. C.

Aspirin
Say "Bayer" and Insist!
BAYER
Genuine
Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for
Colds — Headache
Toothache — Lumbago
Earache — Rheumatism
Neuralgia — Pain, Pain
Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Nettleton, at Carolina, Jan. 20, 21.
Greenwood Springs, at G. S., Jan. 24.
Vardaman, at V., Jan. 27, 28.
Calhoun City, at C. C., Jan. 28, 29.
Houlka, at Houlka, Feb. 3, 4.
Salem and Ecru, at E., Feb. 10, 11.
Randolph, at Randolph, Feb. 13.
Tocopola, at Thaxton, Feb. 14.
Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Columbus Dist.—First Round.

Mashulaville, at Mashulaville, Jan. 20, 21.
Shuqualak, at Shuqualak, Jan. 21, 22.
High Point, at White Hall, Jan. 27.
Louisville, Jan. 28, a.m.
Noxapater, at Noxapater, Jan. 28, 29.
Starkville, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ethel, at Ethel, Feb. 4, 5.
Sturgis, at Sturgis, Feb. 10, 11.
Cedar Bluff, at Cedar Bluff, Feb. 17, 18.
Mayhew and Sessums, at Sessums, Feb. 25, 26.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Corinth District—First Round.

Burnsville ct., at Hebron, Jan. 19.
Iuka ct., at Snow Down, Jan. 20, 21.
Iuka sta., Jan 21, p.m.; Jan. 22, a.m.

All pastors of the Corinth District are called to meet the presiding elder in Corinth for special conference, Tuesday and Wednesday, Jan. 23 and 24.

Paden ct., at Westt Side, Jan. 26.
Belmont ct., at Golden, Jan. 28, 29.
Tishomingo ct., at Tishomingo, Jan. 27, 28.

J. B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—First Round.

Webb, at Webb, Jan. 21, a.m.
Minter City, at Minter City, Jan. 21, at 3 p.m.
Schlater, at Schlater, Jan. 24, p.m.
Tchula, Jan. 28, a.m.
Sidon and Cruger, at Sidon, Jan. 28, p.m.
Sunflower, at Sunflower, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, Feb. 4, 3 p.m.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—First Round.

Winona sta., Jan. 21, a.m.; Jan. 22, p.m.
Kilmichael ct., at Kilmichael, Jan. 21, p.m.; Jan. 22, a.m.
Waterford ct., at Waterford, Jan. 26.
Ashland ct., at Ashland, Jan. 27.
Lamar ct., at Lamar, Jan. 28.
Paris ct., at Paris, Feb. 3.
Abbeville ct., at Abbeville, Feb. 4.
Lexington, Feb. 9, 11.
Ebenezer ct., at Hebron, Feb. 10.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—First Round.

Glen Allan and Benoit, at Benoit, Jan. 21, a.m.
Glen Allan and Benoit, at Glen Allan, Jan. 21, p.m.
Hollandale and Arcola, at Hollandale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Leland, Jan. 28, p.m.
Greenville, Jan. 31, p.m.
Jnestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, a.m.
Jonestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, p.m.
Boyle and Pace, at Boyle, Feb. 11, a.m.
Boyle circuit, at New Salem, Feb. 11, 3 p.m.

The mass meeting at Jackson, Jan. 16, 17, is of sufficient importance to provoke a record attendance from this territory. Make your plans NOW, brethren. It will be the best money and time you have ever invested for your church. The district stewards' meeting at Shaw should have the individual attention of every district steward. Due personal notice will be given later. The Shaw quarterly conference will be held in connection with the district stewards' meet. District Conference at Jonestown, May 8-11. In arranging your meetings, brethren, give this fact due attention.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

Sardis District—First Round.

Mt. Pleasant, at M. P., Jan. 20, 21.
Tyro, at Free Springs, Jan. 27, 28.
Crenshaw, at Sledge, Feb. 4.
District Preachers' Meeting, at Sardis, Jan. 23-24, beginning at 11 a.m., Jan. 23.
District Conference, at Senatobia, May 15-17.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
FOR THE RELIEF OF
Coughs, Colds, Croup
WHOOPING COUGH, HOARSENESS
BRONCHITIS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE-

TETTERINE
Makes Hair Beautiful, Free from Dandruff and Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Hark, the glad sound! the Savior comes,
The Savior promised long;
Let every heart prepare a throne,
And every voice a song.

—Phillip Doddridge.

HALF THE FIGHT AGAINST ILLNESS

Keep the Liver Prepared to Do Its Duty in Cleansing the System. Black-Draught Will Help.

Kernersville, N. C.—Mrs. Wesley Mabe, who resides near here, says Thedford's Black-Draught is kept in her home all the time, since it has proved very valuable when used to correct derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, and to help prevent sickness from developing from such conditions.

"For dizziness, headaches, colds, and similar troubles, Black-Draught is a wonder," according to Mrs. Mabe.

"It helps carry away bile and cold the easiest of any medicine I ever saw.

"I have used Black-Draught with my whole family, and will continue to do so, as it has proven its worth. We are glad to recommend Black-Draught, My health is just fine."

Black-Draught has been found a useful adjuvant in breaking up colds, when the use of a laxative or cathartic medicine is indicated. It acts upon the liver as a tonic, helping it to drive poisons and unhealthful matters from the system.

Biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, bitter taste in the mouth, often warn you that your liver is out of fix. Don't neglect it. Prevention of illness is better than cure. Take Black-Draught, for your liver. Be sure you get Thedford's.

Most druggists sell Black-Draught. Get a package, to-day—Thedford's.—Adv.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

WHEELER Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

Now is the time to pay close attention and see that your bakings are pure, wholesome and nutritious.

Good flour is all flour with the nutritive value of wheat. Mix it with good baking powder and you have a nutritious, wholesome, palatable baking. No ready mixed substitute will take its place.

For wholesome, nourishing food you should use straight flour and a pure baking powder—

There never was, is not, and never will be anything that will take the place of good straight baking powder and plain flour.

If you are using self-rising flour or any other kind of a substitute for good baking powder or plain flour you had better stop, and consider whether you are practicing real economy, or saving money. You are taking a chance of losing the full nutritious health-building value of a good, plain flour.

For best results use—
Calumet Baking Powder and a good plain flour.

THE PERFECT MAN.

Before an association of Philadelphia ministers a letter was read by the presiding officer which seemed to expect a great deal for a small sum of money. A committee in quest of a pastor stipulated that it must have a young man who could save souls and draw men, raise money and infuse new life into every feature of the service and incite the church officials themselves to greater things. Moreover he must be a compelling preacher, he must be possessed of all the social graces, and he must be innocent of political activity. In addition he must have a wife, unencumbered with children, who would work for the church without attempting to run anything. She, too, must have an ideal disposition. For these two paragons the salary was to be the princely emolument of $474 a year.

Those who concocted the bill of specifications may be poor or mean or ignorant of the market value of real men these days. But it is difficult to comprehend how men with sufficient sense to administer the business affairs of a church can suppose that ministers are more or less than mortal and are able to subsist on a small part of what men of secular engagements and their families are able to live upon. Probably not one of those who made this extravagant demand, while proffering so niggardly a recompense, would consider for a minute accepting a post with so much hard work for such meager pay. How can they believe that two can live on a little more than a dollar a day with the prevailing high prices?

It is a favorite theory with some churches that ministers ought to be satisfied with small salaries because their work is of a religious and therefore of a self-sacrificing nature. Those church members who are entirely willing to have comfortable homes, well-schooled children, automobiles, and other creature comforts, while the pastor serves them on short commons and a bare pittance, need not be surprised if self-respecting young men are disinclined to enter the ministry unless they can put out of their minds the abnegation that some churches impose on those who occupy their pulpits.—Philadelphia Public-Ledger.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever, and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

Lusts of the Flesh: Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other.—Galatians 5: 16, 17.

The Lord Shall Be My God: If God will be with me, and will keep me in this way that I go; and will give me bread to eat, and raiment to put on, so that I come again to my father's house in peace; then shall the Lord be my God.—Genesis 28: 20, 21.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

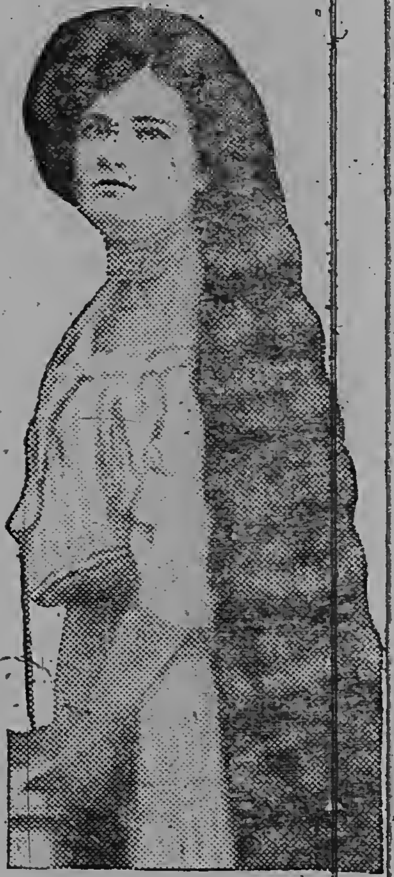
Infinite Wisdom and Knowledge: O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are His judgments, and His ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been His counsellor?—Romans 11: 33, 34.

Rejoice in the Lord always: and again I say, Rejoice.—Phil. iv. 4.

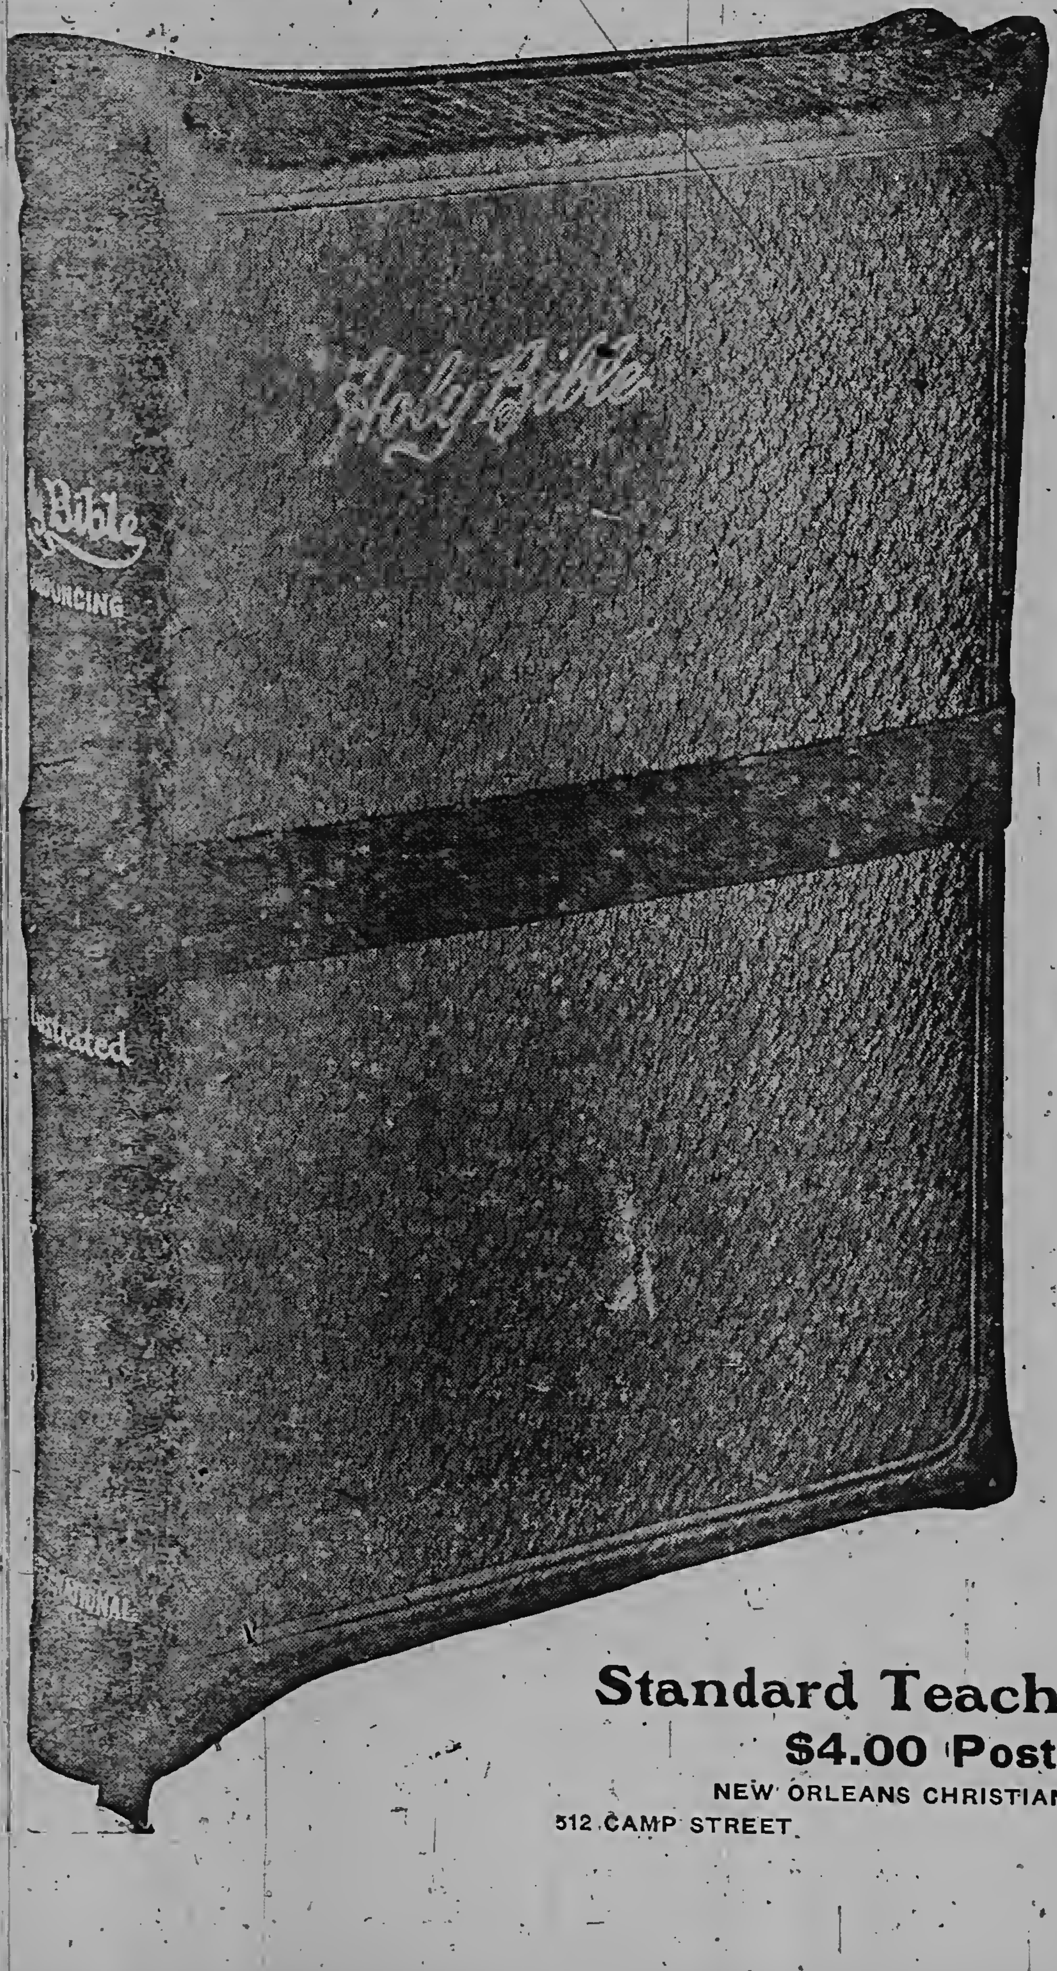
Beautiful Hair In a Moment

Try This! A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair



At once! You can transform even plain, dull flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drugstore. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed.

Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.



Standard Teachers' Bible

FLEXIBLE LEATHER BINDING

5½ x 8½ Inches

SELF-PRONOUNCING EDITION WITH

Concordance

Beautifully Bound with overlapping cover, red under gold edges; 16 colored maps of BIBLE Lands.

LARGE CLEAR PRINT

This is a handsome book and is sold at a very reasonable price.

Price, $4.00

POSTPAID

SEND ORDERS TO NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Standard Teachers' Bible

$4.00 Postpaid

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

512 CAMP STREET. NEW ORLEANS, LA.

NEW ORLEANS

CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 4. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3491.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

MISSISSIPPI METHODISM MOVES FORWARD.

It is our definite conviction that Mississippi Methodism will register a great forward movement as a result of the Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism held in Jackson last week. This Conference was called by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, in charge of the two Mississippi Annual Conferences, to consider the opportunity and the responsibility of Methodism in meeting the religious needs of the people, and the program arranged by him and carried out so splendidly, proved unmistakably that the time for advance is at hand.

The Conference was held in the magnificent Galloway Memorial Methodist Church, of which Rev. E. K. Means is pastor. During the day sessions, the auditorium was filled almost to capacity, and at the evening sessions the building was not large enough to accommodate all those who desired to attend. Practically all the preachers of the Mississippi and North Mississippi Conferences were there—it looked like a joint session of the two bodies—and a representative delegation of laymen from all sections of the State was present. Except for the widespread prevalenco of influenza, the attendance would have been larger; but, in spite of this hindrance, practically every charge in the two Conferences was represented.

Some startling facts were brought out in the surveys made by the presiding elders concerning the number of people in the Stato who do not belong to any church at all. We have so long had the feeling that most of the people of Mississippi belong to some church that we could scarcely believe what the figures show—that only 38 per cent of them actually hold membership in any church, leaving 62 per cent without any church affiliation. Of the white people, not counting children under seven years of age, 313,441 do not belong to any church; of the colored people, not counting the children, 401,131 do not belong to any church. All told, there are 369,340 white Protestants in the State, 32,150 Roman Catholics, and 362,282 negro Protestants. The mere recital of these figures gives all the point necessary to the statement that the field is ripe for the harvest.

The program arranged by Bishop Ainsworth was just such as was needed to inspire those attending the Conference with zeal and determination in the accomplishment of the great work that lies before the church. In addition to the forceful, stirring, and brilliant utterances of Bishop Ainsworth himself, addresses were delivered by the following: Bishop John M. Moore, Dr. Andrew Sledd, Prof. G. L. Morelock, Dr. A. W. Taylor, and Dr. Charles L. Goodell. The address of welcome, delivered by Mr. Fred Sullens, and the response, by President D. C. Hull, gave initial impetus to the spiritual significance of the meeting, and all the other speakers added momentum to the interest that was manifest from the very beginning. Unfortunately for us, it was impracticable for us to reach Jackson before noon on Tuesday, but we found even then that the purpose to "take Mississippi, America, the world for Christ" had become the definitely accepted task of those who were facing the issues as they were being presented.

Tho specific program of the Conference is expressed in the report of the Findings Committee, which is given herewith, but its real accomplishments cannot be expressed in words. There were a widening of the range of vision, a new sense of responsibility and opportunity, a new consciousness of the presence and availability of abundant resources, both material and spiritual, a new consecration of life and exaltation of spirit that in ways without number will reflect themselves in the future work of the church in Mississippi. We feel that all the predictions we made concerning this Conference have been fulfilled and that it was, indeed, an epochal gathering in the history of Mississippi Methodism.

The proparations for the meeting, under the direction of Rev. M. L. Burton and the committee of arrangements, were complete, so far as we could observe, in every detail. The people of Jackson all seemed to feel ~~that they~~ were the hosts of the visitors and they showed every possible kindness to their guests. The newspapers featured the gathering from start to finish and gave all the publicity that could be expected to the proceedings.

Tho Findings Committee was composed of the fourteen presiding elders of the two Mississippi Conferences and a layman from each of the districts. The actual drafting of the report was committed to a sub-committee, composed of those whose names are appended to it. The report was unanimously adopted by a rising vote, and the Methodist forces of Mississippi went to their homes to carry out plans thus adopted. A new day is at hand in the work of the church in Mississippi.

Tho report of the Findings Committee follows:

Report of the Findings Committee.

Your Committee on Findings desires to congratulate this Conference on the conception of this great gathering in the interest of Home Missions and Evangelism. This first Conference has been great in conception, in attendance, and a splendid, effective program has been rendered in a most inspiring manner. Your committee believes that from this Conference will date the beginning of a new and decidedly better effort in the work of Methodism in this State, one that will hearten and cheer all the workers at their tasks in a new and brighter day of conquest for the church of Jesus Christ.

The mission of Methodism has not yet been discharged. While we have gathered about 140,000 members into the communion of our church in this Stato, and have had an even greater effect in the impress which has been made upon the Gospel interpretation of our sister churches, and while the Sunday school and Wesley Bible classes are well organized and ready to march, there yet remains much to be done, and Methodism now has both the message and the organization to carry the gospel of Jesus Christ everywhere, and must face the task of presenting this same gospel to the people of Mississppi.

To this end we ask the adoption of the following resolutions as the expression of our deliberate judgment:

1. We pledge ourselves to the rededication and reconsecration of our services in all things to our Lord and Master, and the laymen of this Conferenco especially pledge a determined effort to speed the coming of the kingdom in Mississippi by lending aid in every possible way to the cause of Evangelism.

2. We request that all presiding elders, pastors and laymen begin now with careful, prayerful, systematic preparation for our task now assumed of presenting the cause of our Christ, especially in Mississippi, by definitely surveying the unoccupied territory and population, and especially do we ask our pastors to make real pastoral visits in each home of the church, and there pray and discuss righteousness in Mississippi in our homes.

3. We suggest that preparation and plans be made now for a revival in every single church in our State, and that preliminary to this we commend the plan of having worship in each church on the Lord's Day, as far as practicable.

4. We especially recommend that a systematic survey be made of our population by the presiding elders, pastors and lay leaders, and that an appeal be made in every church for laymen to enlist in evangelistic work under the direction of our leaders, and it is the sense of your committee that a great responsibility rests upon the laymen of the strong churches to co-operate with and aid the weaker rural churches to solve their problems, arousing interest in the great church problem, and utilizing as far as possible our organized Bible classes and other bodies of organized laymen.

5. We pledge ourselves to seek to have the financial obligations pledged early in the year, so that we may devote the entire summer and fall to the King's business—the salvation of men. We believo all of our stronger churches should pledge an excess on the benevolent assessments, and we suggest May 15 as the time when every assessment should be provided for, and having discharged these obligations and turned our hearts to the throne of grace, which never fails, we believe we shall witness the power of the Holy Spirit in our beloved State.

6. We desire to commend the work of the Flying Squadron and other agencies employed in the work of our Lord, and we desire to express our purpose at all times to co-operate with the interdenominational laymen's movement in Mississippi.

M. L. BURTON,
Chairman.
R. A. TUCKER,
Secretary.
J. G. McGOWEN,
G. R. NOBLE.
S. M. GRAHAM.
S. W. OWENS.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

A CALL TO THE LAYMEN OF THE MEHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, SOUTH.

By G. L. Morelock, General Secretary, General Board of Lay Activities.

The recent address of the bishops, issued immediately after their meeting at New Orleans in December, on the imperative necessity of collecting the Centenary pledges, should find a response in the heart of every layman throughout our entire church. This address sets forth clearly the embarrassment which confronts our workers in every field in our home and foreign missionary enterprises, involving the entire program throughout the whole territory in which our church is striving to serve its day and generation. It shows conclusively that disaster will come to our various missionary enterprises unless the entire church awakes to the necessity of immediate action in the matter of paying our Centenary pledges. Careful consideration of the situation will justify the conclusion that the very honor of our church is at stake, and that failure upon our part to bring success to the ends of the Centenary with its great spiritual dynamic will invite immediate disaster to the whole program of our great church.

In this stirring message to our entire church, the bishops have given a most suggestive recognition to the newly organized Boards of Lay Activities. The following is their message to the various Lay Leaders of our organization:

"We would respectfully suggest to the newly constituted Board of Lay Activities that its primary and principal task at this particular time, as it seems to us, is the collection of the Centenary pledges, and we therefore call upon all Lay Leaders, Conference, district, charge, and church, to assume new, constant, and abiding responsibility for the collection of all the pledges within ther respective jurisdictions, and ask that they do not cease their labors until the entire subscription list in each case is completely cleared."

Not only do we find the bishops calling upon the laymen at this crisis in the history of the Centenary Movement, but also our leaders who constitute the small army of field generals in this Movement. The Centenary Secretaries are earnestly calling upon the laymen for a deliverance of the full force of our organization in the four months' Emergency Campaign which is upon us. The following are the resolutions unanimously passed by the Centenary Secretaries in their session in Nashville, Tenn., December 28-29, 1922:

"In facing the strenuous period of the next four months when we, the Centenary Field Secretaries representing the great Centenary Movement throughout the church, are to make appeal for the collection of pledges, we can but recall the magnificent support that we received from Lay Leaders and the great body of laymen throughout the church during the inspirational period resulting in the magnificent sum raised by subscription of about thirty-six million dollars. And remembering the fact that men and women of our church, under the leadership of District Directors and Church Directors and Local Church Directors, who were busy with their own affairs, laid aside everything to make possible this great achievement; therefore,

"Be it resolved, first, That we rely without any reservation upon the united support of the lay members of our church in this emergency campaign to raise four millions of dollars by May 1, 1923.

"Second, That as we face this great emergency campaign we earnestly and respectfully request the united assistance of the organization of Lay Activities throughout our church.

"Third, That we request that the Boards of Lay Activities through their organizations give us all possible assistance and deliver themselves in this emergency campaign which means so much to the church.

"Fourth, That we request the district organization of Lay Activities to furnish to the pastors lay speakers from now until the end of the campaign.

"Fifth, we congratulate the Board of Lay Activities on the rapid perfection of its organization throughout the church, that we already in our various church activities feel the effect of this organization.

"Respectfully submitted, James Thomas, A. J. Cauthen, D. L. Blackmore."

These resolutions show the implicit faith our leaders have in our laymen and their belief in our lay organization to render effective service in the emergency campaign. Our hearts are thrilled by this appeal to give ourselves unreservedly during the next four months to this great task. We can do this, and in the doing, as our organization gets into action for this great cause, there will come a unity of purpose and a consciousness of power to achieve that will in the end make our organization invincible for any task the church may call upon us to perform.

And so, while we are working steadily and patiently along our four main channels—Stewardship, Evangelism, Christian Education, and Social Service—we must see and rejoice that here is our first great opportunity to function effectively as a great church-wide organization, or Church Board. The laymen have never yet failed when our church has called upon them for a great service—they will not fail now.

Our church needs us! Other denominations have their eyes upon us! Suffering humanity looks to us with outstretched hands! The great suffering, tender heart of God our Father yearns for us to "go forward!" We cannot fail Him! We must rally to this call!

Let every Board of Lay Activities, every Lay Leader, every Chairman of Lay Committees, every Lay Speaker give himself whole-heartedly to this great task. May God guide us and give us wisdom and strength and inspire all of us to bring to a glorious consummation the great Centenary Movement!

THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM REPORT.

By Dr. R. L. Russell, Secretary, General Committee on Evangelism.

The general evangelists of the church have just closed their annual conference in Dallas, Tex. This was the first time they had met west of the river, and, Dallas being removed from the center of our connection, the attendance was hardly so large as last year. However, many of the general evangelists and some Conference evangelists and a goodly number of the evangelistic singers gathered in the auditorium of the beautiful Hotel Jefferson for the annual meeting. It was a good conference, increasing in enthusiasm hourly, reaching its highest peak of interest at the second morning session.

One of the outstanding features of the session was the great address of Bishop Beauchamp at our only night service. The auditorium of the great First Methodist Church was filled to hear this great man of God as he pleaded for the intelligent preaching of the Gospel of the Son of God as the only hope for a ruined world. The bishop has, in his administration of our missionary operations in Europe, placed special emphasis upon the evangelistic appeal; thus his message was particularly appreciated by this group.

We had with us also Bishop John M. Moore, who first organized the evangelists into an association, and thus made these evangelists a real part of the program of the church. The evangelists gave a warm welcome to their good friend and former leader. He gave us a great address, which the association requested published.

Rev. W. G. Cram, Directing Secretary of the Centenary, was also present and made an earnest, effective appeal for the co-operation of the evangelists in collecting the Centenary pledges. A set of ringing resolutions touching this matter was adopted. The general evangelists hereby place themselves solidly behind the collection of these Centenary pledges and rejoice that they have been officially invited to take part in this needy and important task. The resolution follows:

"Be it resolved, by this body of general evangelists, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, assembled at Dallas, Tex., in annual convention, That we stand solidly back of all the movements of our church, and in this case we especially have reference to and call attention to the great Centenary Movement of our church, and urge our people to pay their pledges at the earliest possible moment.

"Dependent on these pledges are great forward missionary enterprises in our church. For us to fail to meet these obligations would prove us as individuals recreant to our trust.

"And in these resolutions we also urge that our educational pledges be paid, that our great educational institutions may keep their front-rank place in the world.

"Passed unanimously by the Association of General Evangelists of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in session at Dallas, Tex., Dec. 29, 1922."

Committee:
LOVICK P. LAW.
BURKE CULPEPPER.
D. L. COALE.

Dr. Chas. C. Selecman, pastor of First Methodist Church, Dallas, and Dr. W. E. Morris, pastor of Norwood Church, Birmingham, also pleased the brethren very much with stirring appeals.

Besides these men who are not members of the association, Coale, Culpepper, Bromley, and Patterson, general evangelists, made most helpful and enlightening addresses on subjects vitally connected with their work. Many of the ministers and citizens of the city of Dallas and regions round about honored us with their presence, and seemed interested in the subjects under discussion.

It was in every way a most helpful session of an interesting and outstanding group of men. The Board of Control made its report, and W. M. McIntosh, Burke Culpepper, H. C. Morrison, and John B. Andrews were reappointed to serve for another quadrennium.

It was voted that the next session be held in Memphis, Tenn., and that the dates should be Dec. 19 and 20. A program committee, consisting of H. W. Bromley, Lovic P. Law, and L. D. Patterson, was appointed, and these brethren are already thinking and planning for the next meeting.

On Tuesday night, the 19th, the Committee on Evangelism met in the Jefferson Hotel. Much time was given to the consideration of a program of evangelism for the entire church in all its departments, in all of its fields of operation. The committee feels the responsibility of this task—a task which includes more than aiding the general evangelists in their work—a task that has within its aim the obligation "to promote and aid evangelism throughout the church," whether that evangelism be by evangelists, pastors, Sunday schools, or Epworth Leagues. The committee has no desire whatever to supervise any evangelistic program of any church, but we do crave the opportunity to help in promoting evangelism of all forms throughout the entire denomination. A church-wide program, which is suggestive only, was prepared and will be sent out to the church. Brethren, let us unite in prayer and work for the greatest revival and ingathering our church has ever known. We must present a united front to the enemy that is so completely organized to defeat the purpose of Christ. It is a time when every one of the two and a quarter million of Methodists should be at their best, and in this fight to save a ruined race. If we think the enemy of the church and Christianity is asleep or has taken a vacation, we are much deceived. He is busy "sowing tares among the wheat while we sleep." Evil was never so mobilized and determined as it now is. When we have used all plans and agencies of evangelism, we have not done too much. We should combine all of our forces as never before to present an attack that would make all of the devil's world tremble with fear. If we quibble about little things and dispute about nonessentials, the battle is lost. We are glad that your General Committee on Evangelism will have the unanimous support of the church in its effort to help to revive the church and save the lost.

The committee investigated with great care the life and work of forty-two general evangelists of the church, and the committee now reports to you the passing of each man, and commends them to you for another year. Besides this number, the following were accepted and recommended for appointment: R. B. Freeman, Abilene, Tex.; Mark N. Terrell, Sherman, Tex.; W. J. McCarty, Birmingham, Ala.; E. T. Adams, Wilmore, Ky.; J. E. Morgan, Texarkana, Tex. So that we now have forty-seven general evangelists, whose names follow: Harry S. Allen, J. B. Andrews, E. T. Adams, Luther B. Bridges, John L. Brown, Raymond Browning, H. W. Bromley, Jordan W. Carter, D. L. Coale, J. B. Culpepper, Burke Culpepper, C. M. Dunnaway, Albert C. Fisher, R. L. Flowers, R. B. Freeman, C. Norman Guice, S. M. Haynes, J. O. Hanes, Walter Harbin, R. J. Haskew, E. O. Hobbs, Walt Holcomb, Jerry Jeter, Andrew Johnson, Bob Jones, G. A. Klein, Lovick P. Law, Robert Lear, John A. May, W. M. McIntosh, W. J. McCarty, J. E. Morgan, L. J. Miller, F. P. McCall, H. C. Morrison, W. Hardy Neal, F. M. Neal, L. D. Patterson, Thurston B. Rice, Asa F. Stem, R. S. Stewart, W. A. Swift, W. C. Swope, George Tucker, Bascom Waters, Chas. F. Weigle, Mark M. Terrell.

The church is pledged to authorized evangelism, and, by General Conference action, we know no other evangelists than those authorized by some regularly appointed committee on evangelism. If you need an evangelist and do not know the man you want, write to the undersigned, who is secretary of the General Committee, and he may be able to render you some service in securing the right man for your field. Help us to promote authorized evangelism by using only those who are sent forth by the church and under the appointment of one of our bishops.

R. L. RUSSELL.

WHITWORTH COLLEGE—FIFTEEN YEARS OF GROWTH.

By Mrs. Leslie Harper Purcell.

Recently, I have had the privilege of an intimate visit to Whitworth College—my Alma Mater—after an absence of fifteen years, having graduated there in 1907, and such a wonderful lot of improvements as greeted my eyes! The beautiful Whitworth spirit is so much better housed than in those old days. Two brick buildings, with three frame ones, constituted the material Whitworth College fifteen years ago; to-day, there are seven brick structures, beautiful and imposing in architecture, and a two-story frame building, Elizabeth cottage, used for domestic science work. This building is named for the sainted Mrs. Elizabeth Wadsworth Cooper. In addition, are the "Fernwood Cottage," which was the old Methodist parsonage, now used for an infirmary, and the handsome "White House," the President's home, making ten buildings in all, with an increased campus acreage. The arrangement of the buildings is artistic, showing the innate love for beauty of those who planned them.

The different courses of the college are varied and well adapted to the needs of the day. The policy of those in authority has always been for high scholastic attainment and the "aristocracy of Christian character."

These wonderful improvements can only be explained by the vision and faith of Dr. Cooper, who has administered the affairs of the college for twenty years. The church as a whole has not sensed her responsibility for the education of her womanhood; but here and there, laymen, whose hearts have been touched by the divine spirit, have given liberally of their means to carry out Dr. Cooper's plans for a "Greater Whitworth." Among these noble souls are the Enoches, the Lamptons and some members of the Hand family, whose names are honored in their day by these magnificent buildings which adorn Whitworth College campus.

It is said that George Muller literally founded and supported his famous orphanages through prayer and belief in the principle that when there is need, God is willing to supply that need out of his abundant storehouse. To my mind, this same principle of faith and prayer on Dr. Cooper's part, explains the phenomenal improvements that adorn the old college campus.

I should like to mention a number of faithful teachers who have contributed to the Whitworth spirit, but for lack of space it is impossible. However, the different members of the Cooper family, Miss Lois Cooper, now of China; Mrs. Bessie Cooper Hopkins, and Mrs. Janie Drake Cooper, have given ther talents and ability as teachers, and that consecrated woman, Mrs. Bessie Watkins Lipscomb, now of Nashville, Tenn. Miss Elizabeth McVoy has maintained the high standard of the music department, and to-day there are enrolled over three hundred pupils, the boarding department being practically full.

A PROTEST.

Dear Brother Carley: In your issue of the 11th inst., there is an article by Elmer T. Clark mildly apologizing for the evolutionists in the present controversy on the subject between theologians and evolutionists, in which he makes this bold statement: "In all this discussion I have been impressed with the fact that neither side really understands the other. The scientists after whom I have been reading certainly do not know much about the postulates of religion. Nor have I seen among all those on our side who denounce evolution the name of any who have won any laurels in the scientific field." Now, from this statement, I would infer that Brother Clark's reading along these lines has not been extensive enough. I could wish that he and every preacher among us would read Prof. Fairhurst's masterly work on "Organic Evolution." This author was, at the time of writing of this work, professor of Natural Science in Kentucky University, and to hold this position he must have won at least some "laurels" in the scientific field. He ably refutes the whole theory of organic evolution. On page 390 he boldly expresses himself in these words: "I desire to insist most emphatically that the theory of evolution, as a whole, the cosmic theory, rests on no adequate scientific basis. To call it a scientific theory is to slander the word 'science.' I speak of the theory as a whole, as an unbroken chain of purely physical causes and effects, beginning with nebulous matter, and ending in mind and human history. The science of mechanics has its legitimate field in the inorganic universe, but it must not be made to usurp the whole domain. It may be thought that I am dwelling at unnecessary length on this statement, but I remind you that evolution claims to be the scientific method, 'continuous progressive change, according to certain laws, and by means of resident forces,' as defined by Le Conte. 'Embryonic development,' he says, 'is the type of evolution.' "

I have no quarrel with the honest theologian who believes this was God's method of creation, but I have no patience with such who look upon those who disagree with their pet theory as ignorant and out of date and maintain that all truly educated people accept the theory of evolution in lieu of Genesis. In some schools I know of the students were taught this mechanical theory of evolution to the exclusion of God from his universe. Professor Fairhurst is a scientist who does not accept this theory, and there are others.

This little volume I have quoted from is very readable and as thrilling as the chariot race in Ben Hur, and when you begin the perusal of its pages you can hardly put it down to eat. I wish Brother Clark would read it; he would find here one work on science he could easily understand.

J. W. LEE.

Baton Rouge, La.

WHAT A LEADING BUSINESS JOURNAL THINKS OF HORSE RACING.

A young Baltimore business man was lately sent to the penitentiary on account of having robbed his employers, and the reason given for his defalcation was that he had been playing the races. Granted that his statement is true, and it probably is, the sin of that young man in part rests upon every citizen in the State of Maryland—a State which disgraces itself and becomes particeps criminis in defalcations by its encouragement of race track gambling.

Maryland licenses the race track gambling which has been driven out of nearly every other State in the Union because political corruption has enmeshed the entire State in race gambling immorality shocking to every decent citizen.

The State of Maryland places a premium upon defalcation by encouraging race track gambling. It is paid for the privilege, and every dollar it receives direct[illegible] indirectly is blood money, and every citizen of the State who does not incessantly raise his voice against this rottenness is a sharer in the blood money which is cursing the State.

The power of the race track gamblers is so great that it is commonly reported that log rolling methods are conducted by which the pet hobby of this man or that man in the Legislature is favored or opposed according to whether he is willing to sell his soul, his honor and his morality to the race track gambling element, and the honorable men in the Legislature are not powerful enough to vote the racing gambling out of the State.

A few weeks ago the daily papers reported that an official of one of our leading bonding companies, a company whose business it is to guarantee the integrity and honesty of employees, invited a large number of the general agents of the company to come to Baltimore on a special car for the purpose of spending an afternoon at one of the race tracks of the State. It seems inconceivable that an official of a company whose whole business is staked upon the honesty and honor of the men who are bonded by it should in the least degree countenance an institution whose chief business is to develop the gambling spirit and thus sow the seeds of dishonesty among thousands who are bonded by that and other similar companies, for gambling soon leads to defalcation.

The country wisely banished the Louisiana Lottery by forbidding the use of the mails to that organization, but the Louisiana Lottery in its influence for destroying the integrity and morals of a country was angelic in comparison with the influence for evil of the race track gambling licensed by Maryland through political corruption.—Manufacturers' Record.

---

The hunger for happiness which lies in every human heart can never be satisfied without righteousness; and the reason why the Bible reaches down so deep into the breast of man is because it brings news of a kingdom which is righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit.—Henry Van Dyke.

---

It is not on ceremonial, however beautiful; it is not upon canonical legislation or any law of commandments, however skillfully elaborated; it is on affection, deep and true affection, that the religion of Christ is built. The first disciples left all for love; the Gospel was to them a love-story—the love of God for man.—William Reed Huntington.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans District.

The New Orleans District has been rearranged and changed in its boundaries so as to include the former French Mission District and three charges from the Lake Charles District, and leaving out the territory north and east of the city. It will take a little time, perhaps, to create a district feeling throughout the territory, but the prospect and opportunity for the district in the way of development, are boundless.

* * *

A great forward movement for the district is evident in the securing of the elegant and well located district parsonage, which is a monument to the constructive plans of the former presiding elder, Brother Snelling. A committee of ladies from the various churches, headed by the efficient district secretary of the Missionary Society, Mrs. J. D. Rumph, has done splendid work in elegantly furnishing the parsonage and making it not only a lovely home for the presiding elder's family, but a source of joy and pride for the district.

* * *

The new pastors in the city, Dr. Carley, at Felicity, Rev. J. G. Snelling, at Louisiana Avenue, and Rev. James B. Grambling, at Epworth, as well as Rev. F. B. Hill, at McDonoghville, have taken hold vigorously and enthusiastically in their charges, and there are abundant signs of promise.

* * *

Rev. John F. Foster, the new pastor of St. Mark's Hall and Mary Werlein Mission, has begun diligently to visit the homes of the people in touch with this charge, and to organize its work. The new St. Mark's building, which will house both the church and social service activities, is expected to be opened in a few weeks. This building, erected by the Mission Board out of Centenary offerings at a cost of about $125,000, is located in the old French section of the city, and is declared by Dr. Worth M. Tippy, chairman of the Commission on the Church and Social Service of the Federated Churches of Christ in America, to be the equal of any similar plant he has seen in any city. The City Mission Board is working out plans to make its work increasingly fruitful.

* * *

A new congregation has recently been added to our forces in the vicinity of New Orleans, in the organization of a church at St. Rose, a few miles above the city. It begins its work with loyalty and enthusiasm. It is served by Rev. J. A. Alford, the pastor of Second Church.

* * *

It was a pleasure for the presiding elder to visit Franklin, the scene of a former pastorate, and renew association with many friends of other years. Under the pastorate of Rev. L. R. Sparks, the work is progressing well. He is backed by a band of faithful and loyal workers.

* * *

A good meeting is in progress at Houma, conducted by Rev. D. L. Patterson, one of our general evangelists, assisted by Rev. A. J. Notestine, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, as song leader. The pastor, Rev. F. J. McCoy, who, by his faithful work has prepared the way, reports up to the middle of the second week twenty-five applications for church membership. It is hoped that, by the close, much larger results will be evident.

* * *

A new church building has recently been completed and is in use at Point au Chien, on the Bayou Blue charge.

* * *

The Community School building, being erected by the Woman's Council, at Houma, at a cost of $16,000, besides equipment, will soon be complete, and its work will begin at once with a full corps of teachers. The possibilities of its work and usefulness are boundless.

* * *

The Lay Leaders of the New Orleans District were the first group of the kind to meet and organize in Louisiana under the new plan of lay activities. Under the direction of Mr. Tudor B. Carre, District Leader, a very helpful and enthusiastic meeting was held at Rayne Memorial Church on Jan. 5, at which vital questions in reference to the work of the laymen were discussed, and organization was effected. More will be heard from this beginning.

Many other items of interest will have to wait for another report.

W. WINANS DRAKE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Sardis District.

Of course, it is well known to all members of the North Mississippi Conference that I am on the job of presiding elder for the first time, though I have labored as a member of the Conference for about twenty-three years. It is a new experience, this business of running to and fro over the district looking after the general interests of the church. My experience heretofore has been that of a pastor who loved his folks and who was loved by his folks. Now I am having contact with the various charges over which I have general supervision (and all of which have pastors to love) so little that I fear they have not the opportunity to discover whether or not I am fit to be loved. My enemies, if I have any, will say I am not fit to be loved, so let it go at that. But however I may be thought of on the District, I am falling in love with all my officials, my preachers, and with my work in general. By God's grace I mean to do my level best to put Sardis District up with the rest of the Districts in our Conference as to loyalty to God and the forward movements of our great church.

* * *

Our good friend and brother, J. A. Randolph, has captured Sardis. The people are coming more and more to appreciate him both as preacher and pastor. Had I been allowed the privilege of selecting my co-worker here in Sardis, I could not have possibly selected a man better adapted to the place, and to congeniality with my own self in the work, than is Brother Randolph.

* * *

The good people of Batesville are happy with the personality of their new pastor. After Brother Young preached his first sermon, the official board decided to make his salary $2,000, a raise of $200. They will soon build a new parsonage, as the old one was sold last fall. I am looking for my good friend, Brother Young, to lead the people of Batesville in a great forward movement during the year.

* * *

Brother McCorkle is in fine favor with his most excellent people at Como. They had the best quarterly conference just a few days ago that they have ever had at the first quarterly conference, so says Brother McCorkle. No pastor in the North Mississippi Conference is looking after the various interests of our church with more painstaking care than is Brother McCorkle.

* * *

Brother Bradley, of Charleston, has been laboring under difficulties during the past few weeks. His good people have been suffering with an epidemic of "flu," which has greatly hindered the work of the church since Conference. But both Brother Bradley and his good people of Charleston will steadily go forward with the work of the church just as soon as they get back to their normal health.

* * *

What about "Mr. Shipman," did you say? Why ask about an old war horse like him? He has been in the habit of doing things right so long that he cannot do otherwise with those elegant Methodists that he has to work with in Senatobia. I am looking to old "Ship" to lead those good folks at Senatobia into carrying forward every interest of our church in that field, nor shall I be disappointed, either.

* * *

Brother Wallace, at Olive Branch, is one of our best young men, who is making good with his people. He has suffered much during the past few weeks, as have many others of our preachers, from "flu" in his family. But he just looks like a man with whom success lives, so I am looking for him to have a great year at Olive Branch.

* * *

Brother Inghram, at Horn Lake, is in high favor with his people. They say they do not have to wait for the elder to come to hear a good sermon. I am glad of this fact because, since they are accustomed to hear good sermons, they just imagine mine are that kind and look pleased while I am preaching. I am looking for Brother Inghram to have a great year on his charge.

* * *

Time and space forbid me to say merited praiseworthy things about Hunt, Wood, Thrower, Augustus, Weed, R. S. Moore, Woodfin, Guinn, Porter, Maxey, Oaks, Graves, Whitehurst, A. F. Moore, and Luter, and the good folks with whom they are working. From month to month I will have reports from these various charges and their pastors as they make history for Methodism in this part of our State. It is my purpose, after this, to confine my remarks to those pastors and charges who are doing things worth mentioning. I am expecting every pastor to have his name appear in these columns from time to time as the year passes.

* * *

I am confidently looking to every preacher in the Sardis District to report everything paid in full at Greenville. Great, stirring revivals that get hold of the people for God, and all things paid in full, are the goal that I shall keep before myself and the District all the year long. The amount assessed for the Benevolences, and the amount due to Education and to the Centenary are the least that any of us can reasonably expect God to be satisfied with. For any man to seek to satisfy his own mind, without taking into consideration what God expects of him, is for that man to invite the devil to open for him the gates of hell that he might have an abundant entrance into damnation. For any man to expect God to be satisfied with anything less than his dead level best, is for that man to worship a God who is less than human. Brethren, draw that belt around your loins up to the last notch and let's get into the race to win. "Let us lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us." That sin that easily besets most of us humans is the sin of indolence and indifference. Let's cast that aside and go to work with enthusiasm. Here is my hand to the preachers, officials and members of the Methodist Church in the Sardis District for the best year's work for God that we have ever done!

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Vicksburg District.

The outlook for a prosperous year on the Vicksburg District was perhaps never better than now. Pastors are all at their places and busy. In most places the laymen are co-operating to a very helpful degree, and the work goes forward.

* * *

Our District Stewards' meeting was very well attended by the laymen, who went about their work in a hopeful and encouraging way. Our increase for Benevolences was a little more than 21%, and yet the stewards were optomistic in distributing the same among the charges, and laying plans for full collections. It is generally agreed that all hands are to look well and early to the matter of providing for and collecting the Benevolences this year. This is the only safe plan to follow.

* * *

As far as I have gone, the quarterly conferences have been well attended. At Nebo we had a great day. The folks are delighted with Brother Sharp, and the work starts well under the lead of this young and enthusiastic pastor. We may look for results at Nebo this year.

* * *

Brother C. F. Emery starts his second year at Fayette unusually well. This is not a surprise to those who know Brother Emery, and the fine people he is serving. The Methodists at Fayette do things—no interest of the church suffers there.

* * *

On the 7th inst., I was with Rev. Brunner M. Hunt, at Lorman, on the Harriston charge. Brother Hunt is beginning his first year there, and beginning well. No grass grows under his feet. No interest of the Lord's Kingdom is overlooked by him, but all matters receive his careful and prayerful attention. Lorman is fortunate, not only in having young B. M. Hunt as pastor, but his father and mother, Dr. and Mrs. Rolfe Hunt also, who are making their home with their son at the parsonage.

* * *

At Port Gibson, where Dr. W. H. Huntley is beginning his first year, I heard only notes of hopefulness when there for the quarterly conference. It was said in the conference that the congregations are increasing every Sunday, the Sunday school was never better, and the work of the church generally is receving full attention by both pastor and people. Dr. Huntley is no stranger among this fine people. Everybody knows him, and I believe will appreciate and co-operate with him fully for one of the best years this cultured and historic place has ever had.. I am looking for results this year at Port Gibson. The people are loyal and true, Dr. and Mrs. Huntley are efficient, and there for a busy year in our Lord's vineyard.

* * *

At the time this report is written, no other quarterly conference has been held. Others are to follow until the first round is finished. Reports from there will be given in due time. I may say, however, that throughout the district harmony and hopeful optimism prevail, and hence I am anticipating only good things as I go further into the new year. The pastors and laymen will not disappoint me and I am certain they will not grieve the heart of Him, the interest of whose kingdom has been put into their hands.

* * *

Dr. Rolfe Hunt, evangelist for the Vicksburg, the Jackson, and the Brookhaven Districts, is giving the month of January to our district. Use him, brethren, in building up the weak places. Already I am hearing good things from his ministry. You will do a discouraged and unchurched community lasting good if you will call for Dr. Hunt, and go with him there for a few services. He will be in our district again for the month of April. Make plans to go with him to every outlying community, adjacent to your work. Let us cultivate the whole field, and thus save the people from going to waste.

* * *

At Hermanville, M. K. Miller is in his first year, and is beginning well. He was detained, for about a month after the Annual Conference, on account of a sick child. The little one is well now, and he is on the job, busy and happy. This charge is composed of Carlisle, Pattison, Tillman, Sarepta and Hermanville. These are fine people, and I believe they will respond to the lead of Brother Miller, and do the best year's work of their history. The membership is large, the men and women are capable, the resources are there, and M. K. Miller is there for service. I am anxiously hoping to see Hermanville charge move out this year as never before.

* * *

The very excellent people at Utica and other churches on the charge are delighted to have Brother W. B. Alsworth for the fourth year. They appreciate him as a strong preacher and sympathetic pastor. They follow his lead, and Utica moves on, from year to year, to better things. The quarterly conference was well attended on Monday morning, Jan. 15. Pastor and people were hopeful. A note of optimism was sounded, and all agree that this shall be a year of spiritual victory and material success in matters pertaining to the work of God's Kingdom.

* * *

I am profoundly grateful to my pastors and laymen for the interest they took in the great evangelistic meeting, recently held in Jackson. Our showing there was a good one, and I confidently expect great things to come to us and our work from that Mount of Vision.

The Lord bless you all, and give you success, and spiritual happiness.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

January 18, 1923.

DR. C. C. SELECMAN ELECTED SECRETARY OF GENERAL HOSPITAL BOARD.

The General Hospital Board held a called meeting at the office of the Board, 416 Wesley Memorial Building, Atlanta, Ga., on Jan. 17, and Rev. C. C. Selecman, D.D., was elected Secretary of the Board.

Dr. Selecman has rendered distinguished service in the pastorate in Missouri, California, Louisiana, and Texas. He is deeply interested in the hospital work of our church, and has given more thought to it, perhaps, than any other man in the church. The Golden Cross Society is a conception of his, and the work of enrolling the members of our church in this great movement will receive his special attention.

He will move his residence to Atlanta within the next thirty days, and from the office of the Board there he will prosecute the work of hospital building and maintenance throughout the church.

At its recent meeting the General Hospital Board expressed by formal resolution the conviction that two hospitals for patients suffering with tuberculosis should be erected by our church, one for the eastern part of the church, to be located somewhere in Western North Carolina, and one for the western part of the church to be located somewhere in Colorado or New Mexico. These enterprises cannot be established by the Board at this time on account of lack of funds; but it is believed that many persons will be ready to contribute to this purpose and that at no distant date the two institutions may be established.

Our church numbers now nearly or quite 2,500,000 souls, and if even one-half of the members of the church throughout the connection enroll in the Golden Cross Society, it will be possible for the General Hospital Board to establish a Methodist Hospital at every point in the borders of the church where such an institution ought to be placed. By a similar movement, the Northern Methodist Church raised during the past year more than $700,000, and their work has just begun. Certainly our church can do as well, and the General Hospital Board confidently expects enthusiastic support in every part of the church.

Every Annual Conference has, without a dissenting vote, accepted with enthusiasm the hospital program adopted by the General Conference held in Hot Springs last May, and it is hoped their adoption of this plan was something more than mere formality.

A number of proposals for the establishment of hospitals were brought to the attention of the General Hospital Board, and they will be considered as rapidly as financial and other conditions will permit.

The General Hospital Board will not approve the establishment nor contribute to the maintenance of any institution that does not come up to a good standard of hospital equipment. Every institution founded or supported through the aid of the Board must be such that it can serve well patients who may seek its ministrations and reflect credit upon the church. No money will be wasted upon any unworthy or inefficient enterprise.

WARREN A. CANDLER,
President General Hospital Board.

"Love should manifest itself in service; and it is our fault if we have unwittingly given our child a conception of life which makes this realization difficult."—Edith Read Mumford.

EVANGELISTIC WORK IN THE NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT.

The Committee on Evangelism for the New Orleans District recently met and, after careful consideration of this important field, formulated its program. Beginning our work with revivals for the French section of the district, meetings will be held as follows:

Patterson, La., Jan. 18 to 28, inclusive.
St. Landry, La., Feb. 2 to 11, inclusive.
Ville Platte, La., Feb. 15 to 25, inclusive.

Three meetings will be held in the French section of the city of New Orleans from the 20th of May to the 1st of June, inclusive; July, August, and a part of September, three meetings will be held in what was formerly the French District. These several places are to be well chosen by the committee where we are hoping to establish three new works this year. The remainder of the year will be taken up in revival meetings in Thibodaux, Donaldsonville, Plaquemine, Marksville, Melville, St. Martinville, and other places in French territory—as many as the time allows and in places where the most good can be accomplished.

The committee believes that the Methodist churches of the Conference, especially the larger ones, should have a vital interest in this important work; therefore, we have planned for a budget of $10,000 to be raised by Brother Hebert and his committee to supplement what the General Board is doing. The money is to be spent in assisting the Board in purchasing suitable church sites, building churches, and educating young ministers. The plan for raising it is to have Brother Hebert and the members of his committee to present the work we have undertaken in this home missionary field in the larger churches of our Conference. We have set aside the month of March for presenting this cause in the larger churches of the northern part of the State, and the month of June for the larger churches in the southern part of the State. We may not raise all of this money in one year, or possibly two, but by having a definite financial goal, as well as an evangelistic program, we believe that a larger interest will be manifested in this work.

We feel assured of the full co-operation of the presiding elders and pastors whose work is affected by this program.

THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM IN NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT,
J. G. Snelling, Chairman.

NEWTON DISTRICT PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The pastors of the Newton District, Mississippi Conference, are called to meet in Forest, Miss., Feb. 1, at 10 a. m., for a heart-to-heart conference of two days. Topics of vital importance to the work of God in the District will be discussed by the pastors for the mutual profit of all. Let every pastor use all diligence to be present. The Institute will close at 3 p. m., Friday, Feb. 2.

J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Newton, Miss.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTICE, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

The Executive Committee, Board of Church Extension, Louisiana Conference, will meet in the First Methodist Church, Alexandria, La., March 13, 1923. Those wishing to ask the General Board of Church Extension for aid for church or parsonage, will please send to the undersigned for application blanks.

ELMER C. GUNN, Secretary,
Board of Church Extension,
Louisiana Conference.

Bogalusa, La.

Why Will Ye Die? Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit for why will ye die, O house of Israel? For I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye.—Ezekiel 18:31, 32.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

I am glad to announce to the readers of this page that nearly all of our bishops have recently consented to furnish an article each touching the importance of the work in behalf of the superannuates. We will all look forward to the publication of these articles with anticipation of much pleasure in reading them. This week our inimitable and greatly loved Bishop Candler is given the honor of preceding his colleagues with a strong statement of his convictions on the subject, and I know the hearts of all our preachers will be warmed by what he has written.

In this connection it is noteworthy that every prominent leader of our Methodism is not only interested in the special effort contemplated for adequate superannuate endowment, but also is preparing to do real service toward the realization of the plan. Under such conditions it seems incredible that the undertaking can fail. The God of Southern Methodist preachers is moving powerfully just now to create in the hearts of his people a practical appreciation of his prophets. Let us not resist the tug of the Infinite.

THE DEBT DUE THEM.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

St. Paul asked the Corinthians: "If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?"

The question admits of but one answer. He who imparts to another spiritual good brings him who receives it under the most sacred obligation to give material good to his benefactor. It must be so, for all enduring good of a material sort springs from spiritual good. It is no accident that the wealthiest nations are the Christian nations. Paganism and poverty are related as parent and child.

Christianity is an enriching religion, and its productiveness is in exact proportion to its purity. The most opulent of the nations of Christendom are those in which evangelical Christianity is most prevalent. The northern counties of Ireland, in which Protestant Christianity is dominant, know no such poverty as the southern counties, throughout which a blighting Romanism prevails.

The contrast between the wealth of the United States and the want which abounds in Latin America is explained by the fact that evangelical Christianity has made our country opulent while Romanism has impoverished the lands south of us. When Pizarro came to Peru and Cortez to Mexico those countries were far richer than North America, and their natural resources at the present time are not inferior to those of any other equal areas on the earth. Evangelical religion has brought progress and prosperity in North America, and Romanism has produced stagnation and indigence in South America.

The American republic is a nation founded by faith. Revivals in the Old World gave rise to colonies in the New World, and these colonies grew to independent States and came together in a Federal Union through the influence of elevating and energizing visitations of grace which continued to bless them in their new-found home over the sea.

"The Great Awakening," which began at Northampton in the latter part of December, 1734, under the ministry of Jonathan Edwards, was carried throughout all the colonies from the forests of New England to the savannas of Georgia by George Whitefield, who had come out of the Wesleyan movement in England. In the glow and gladness of the revival the colonists awoke first to the consciousness of a common spiritual life and a common destiny. Their united faith prepared the way for the subsequent union of States. It is not too much to say that the beginnings of national life came to pass through "The Great Awakening," and without the Wesleyan Revival, through which Whitefield came into his marvelous ministry, "The Great Awakening" would have been no more than a local shower.

The Wesleyan Revival, which thus affected most vitally the birth of the American nation, influences in no less degree the current of its subsequent history. Indeed, it contributed no little to the rising of the Anglo-Saxon nations to their positions of power and prosperity, for Anglo-Saxondom and Methodism have risen together, and the rapid spread of the latter explains in large measure the splendid progress of the former. The broad-minded and devout Dean Stanley was well within the facts of the case when he said: "The Methodist movement has molded the spiritual character of the English-speaking Protestantism of the world." And before Dean Stanley, Isaac Taylor declared: "The Methodist movement is the starting point of our modern religious polity, and the field preaching of Wesley and Whitefield is the event whence the religious epoch now current must take its commencement."

In the World War, when the welfare of mankind was at stake, these puissant nations were the most potent forces in the deliverance of the world from the awful peril with which a mad militarism threatened it. What would have been the result if they had been less powerful? And could they have been so strong if they had not been invigorated for more than a century by the tonic of evangelical Christianity which took its rise in Methodism and which has found its constant reinvigoration in the almost continuous revivals which have prevailed among them since the days of the Wesleys?

Who have been the chief agents in propagating this saving power throughout Anglo-Saxondom, especially in our own country? The Methodist preachers operating under the itinerant system of Methodism. They have "cared not for riches, neither silver nor gold," but their life-giving ministrations have enriched the nation beyond the power of men to compute. In all things approving themselves as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses, by pureness, by knowledge, by long-suffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned, they have fulfilled their high ministry among the American people, and thereby they have made many rich. (2 Cor. vi. 3-10.) There is not a man nor a community in all the borders of our land that is not far better off for what they have done and suffered.

Many of them have finished their courses and gone home to God without the recognition and remuneration to which their high services justly entitled them. They have passed beyond our power to recompense them.

But many still linger among us, living under straitened conditions and enduring many deprivations and hardships. Others of like mind are following after them in the way the fathers of Methodism trod. Not many years hence they, too, will come into similar destitution unless speedy provision be made for their relief. What a debt is due them!

If they have sown for the blessing of the nation spiritual things of immeasurable worth, is it a great thing to ask for them some little reaping of the carnal things of the people who have been enriched by them?

For them charity is not asked. No more than simple justice is called for. Can justice be denied them without sin? Will not wilful neglect to pay the debt due them incur the condemnation of God?

The secular governments of the world pension the wounded and worn-out veterans who have jeopardized their lives for the nations they have served, and provide some measure of support for the widows of those who have perished that the lands they loved might live.

Have not these veterans of the cross rendered services equally sacrificial and valuable? Shall they not be pensioned when disabled by age and infirmities?

If every Methodist in our church contributed to the Superannuate Endowment Fund no more than one-tenth of the value of the material good, to say nothing of the spiritual good, which he has received from the labors of our itinerant preachers, ten times as much as is asked for the fund would be secured at once. Let the debt, so long overdue, be paid without further delay.

Atlanta, Ga.

---

Tell It Everywhere.—Every active preacher of the church is a "forgotten man" in the making.

---

Deliverance Amid Trials: When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah 43: 2.

The Home Circle

WHEN A FELLOW'S MOTHER KNOWS.

By Florence Jones Hadley.

Maybe grown-ups have their troubles,
  But I'm very sure a boy
Has his worries and vexations
  That his peace of mind destroy.

But there's one thing I have noticed,
  That, whatever be his woes,
Somehow, some way, they all vanish
  When a fellow's mother knows!

Sometimes when the things that vex you
  Seem just more than you can bear,
When you feel no friends are left you
  And you really do not care—
Then, with such a load of trouble,
  How could any one suppose
They would vanish into nothing
  When a fellow's mother knows?

—Christian Guardian.

THE WISH WAREHOUSE.

Once there was a pleasant country called Happyland. Everybody who lived there was happy, because they had always been well and had plenty to eat and wear and good homes to live in and a king who loved his people and tried to do everything for them he could. The weather there was always fine. No one had to work very hard, and there were a great many holidays, Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's, the Fourth of July—every kind that all the other countries of the world had —and yet in spite of all this these people somehow became dissatisfied and began to wish they could have different things or be somebody else or do something else from what they did. Some of them wished for the most ridiculous and impossible things.

"I wish I had a purple pup," said little Tommy Smith—"I wish I had a baby doll six feet tall," pouted little Mary Jones—"I wish I had an automobile as big as a freight car," growled the courthouse janitor—"I wish I could go out and play ball with the other boys" longed little Prince Doodle Doo, the king's son, and "I wish" this and "I wish" that, "I wish"—"I wish"—"I wish"—was all that could be heard all over the land.

"Here!" said the king one day, "What is the matter with us all anyway? This will never do! Why, the whole town is knee-deep with wishes, and they're filling up the streets faster than the street-cleaners can haul them away! We must build a warehouse to keep them in, and maybe next fall if we have good crops and my ship comes in, everybody's wish will be granted."

So the bakers stopped baking, the grocers stopped grocing and the blacksmiths stopped smithing, and they all joined in and built a great big, long, wide, tall, mightly warehouse. It was as long as the Mississippi river, as wide as from here to yesterday, as strong as a mother's love and so tall you had to stand on a chair to see half-way to the roof. When it was finished they stopped long enough to put their tools away, wash their hands and eat dinner. Then they gathered up all the wishes in the whole country and threw them in, and it was half full.

"Now, my people," said the king after he had locked the big door and fed the key to his pet goat so that no one could ever get it and use it, "whenever anybody wishes for anything after this he must come here to the door of the warehouse and whisper his wish in through the keyhole. Thus your wishes will all be kept in a dry, safe place so they won't spoil, and where they will not bother any one else."

Then they all went back to work again, happier than they had ever been before. This was in the spring of the year, and for three months every one was very careful to do just as the king had commanded. Whenever anybody felt a wish coming on, he would drop everything and run to the warehouse and whisper it through the keyhole. Every day little Tommy Smith would run to the big door and say: "I wish I had a purple pup." Every day little Mary Jones would follow after him and lisp: "I wish I had a baby doll six feet tall." And at least twice a week, whenever he could slip away from all the servants and soldiers who waited on and guarded him, little Prince Doodle Doo would steal up on the Wish Warehouse porch and murmur longingly: "I do wish I could go out and play ball with the other boys!" The bakers and the grocers and the blacksmiths and their wives and daughters came every day with their wishes, too, and the heap in the warehouse kept on growing and growing until at last it touched the ceiling, and the huge building, strong at it was, began to creak and groan as if it would burst.

"Now," said the king, when the nightwatchman told him about it, "everybody must stop wishing until fall, when my ship comes in and our crops are ripe. No one must utter another wish—on penalty of having to get out of bed on the wrong side every morning for thirty days."

So, as they were all good people and believed in obeying the law, they did as he told them. This happened the last week in June, and for several days everything went along all right. Then on that day called the Fourth of July a very bad, selfish little boy who lived right next door to the warehouse, woke up about 4 o'clock in the morning because he felt something growing in his chest. He lay there and wondered what it was, and pretty soon he realized it was a wish coming, a big strong wish that he couldn't hold. So he slid out of bed, slipped through the window in his pajamas, tiptoed over to the warehouse door and just shouted through the keyhole as loud as he could: "I wish I could have a firecracker that would make a bigger noise than anybody else's to-day!" And right away that mad, selfish little boy got his wish!

For the warehouse was so terribly full it could not possibly hold another bit, and it blew up with a noise like a million hundred New Years and Fourth of Julys melted together! Everybody in the country jumped from their beds and rushed out of doors, wondering what had happened. And while they were standing there rubbing their eyes and peering around all those thousands and thousands of wishes began to rain back down on them. And each and every single wish fell exactly on the person who had first uttered it.

"Well, isn't that great!" joyfully exclaimed the king, who was leaning out of a window of the palace. "Now each one of you has his wish, and so we won't have to wait until fall to see about it,"

The people looked all around and saw that it was true. "Hurrah!" they shouted, "Hurrah! Hurrah! Long live the king. Long live the king!"

So he did.

—C. E. Howard in The Continent.

ON HIS JOB.

An Irishman was newly employed by a company when some young men decided to have some fun with the new hand. Patrick was duly left in charge of the office, with the instructions to take all orders which might come in during their absence.

Going to the nearby drug store, they proceeded to call up the lumber company's office, and the following conversation ensued:

"Hello! Is this the East Side Lumber Company?"

Yes, sir. And what would you be havin'?"

"Take an order, will you?"

"Sure, that's what I'm here for."

"Please send me a thousand knot holes."

"What's that?"

"One thousand knot holes."

"Well, now, ain't that a bloomin' shame? I'm sorry, but we are just out."

What's that?"

"Just sold them all to the new barrel factory."

"To the barrel factory? What do they want with them?"

"They use them for bung holes in barrels."

—St. Louis Christian Advocate.

"The prosperity of our country depends on the motives and purposes of the people, which are directed only in their right course through religion. The challenge goes out to every man to support his church, to take an active part in the religious life of his community."—Roger W. Babson.

So, Christian, when thy faith is faint
Amid the toils that throng the saint,
Ask God that thou may'st peace impart
Unto some other human heart;
And thou thy Master's joy shalt share,
E'n while his cross thy shoulders bear.

—G. W. Bethune.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

ACTION OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON UNIFICATION.

Just before the Advocate went to press, we received the following official report of the action of the Joint Comimssion on Unification at its recent meeting in Cincinnati, Ohio:

"At the closing session of the Joint Commission on Unification, the enclosed document was approved by the adoption of the following resolution:

> "'That the Joint Commission does now approve the statement of principles contained in the paper submitted as a preliminary report, and commits the statement for purposes of further consideration and development of details to a committee to be composed of eight persons from each Commission.'

"In accordance with the action taken, the following joint committee was appointed:

"From the Methodist Episcopal Church—Bishop William F. Anderson, Cincinnati, Ohio; Bishop William F. McDowell, Washington, D. C.; Rev. David G. Downey, New York City; Rev. Frank Mason North, New York City; Rev. Archibald Moore, Oakland, Md.; Ernest H. Cherrington, Westerville, Ohio; A. W. Harris, New York City; William A. Elliott, Meadville, Pa.

"From the Methodist Episcopal Church, South—Bishop John M. Moore, Dallas, Tex.; Bishop E. D. Mouzon, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. T. D. Ellis, Louisville, Ky.; Rev. Paul H. Linn, Fayette, Mo.; Rev. Stonewall Anderson, Nashville, Tenn.; Judge J. S. Candler, Atlanta, Ga.; R. S. Hyer, Dallas, Tex.; Judge H. H. White, Alexandria, La."

The document referred to above is as follows:

THE DOCUMENT.

"Whereas, we hold that the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, are essentially one church, one in origin, in spirit, in belief, in polity, in ministry, and in purpose, and believe that they should become one in name, in ritual, in terms of membership, in administrative activities and bodies in the home and foreign field, and in order that this essential unity may become effective, the following plan of union is presented for adoption by the processes required in each church.

"That a church be organized by uniting the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, under a constitution with a General Conference and two Jurisdictional Conferences.

"The name of the church shall be .....

Jurisdictions.

"JURISDICTION No. 1 shall be composed of those Annual Conferences in America and various mission fields now constituting the Methodist Episcopal Church.

"JURISDICTION No. 2 shall be composed of those Annual Conferences in America and various mission fields now constituting the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

"Each Jurisdiction shall have a Jurisdictional Conference with the full powers now possessed by the General Conferences of the two respective churches except in so far as those powers may be limited by the Constitution of the General Conference hereinafter provided for and by such other powers as may be delegated to the General Conference by the Jurisdictional Conferences from time to time.

General Conference.

"There shall be a General Conference composed as the General Conferences of the two respective churches are now or may hereafter be constituted. The powers and limitations of this General Conference to be as hereafter defined by this Joint Commission. Every vote in the General Conference shall be by Jurisdictions and shall require the accepted majority vote of each Jurisdiction to be effective."

As, a working basis, it seems to us that the proposition contained in the foregoing document has promise, though it is not sufficiently amplified for us to form a definite opinion at the present time. We shall have something to say on the subject at a later date.

THE GENERAL HOSPITAL BOARD.

The General Hospital Board, authorized by the recent General Conference, completed its organization at a meeting last week in Atlanta, Ga., by the election of Dr. C. C. Selecman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Dallas, Tex., as General Secretary. Dr. Selecman has accepted the position, and he will move to Atlanta within the next thirty days to take up his work.

We congratulate the Hospital Board and the church at large upon the selection of Dr. Selecman for this responsible position. In many responsible and difficult places he has shown great executive ability, and he will bring to the organization of his new work wide experience and the record of unfailing success. He has been one of the leaders in the hospital movement in our church, and he is, perhaps, as well informed as to what needs to be done as any man in the connection.

In promoting his work, Dr. Selecman will give special attention to the organization of the Golden Cross Society, through which it is expected to raise sufficient funds to begin at an early date the erection of hospitals at needed places. Our church now has approximately two and a half million members, and if these members will co-operate in this movement as they ought to do, we shall soon be able to provide for the sick and suffering those facilities for treatment that will enable them under Protestant auspices to experience the blessings of a gospel that, from the very beginning, has proclaimed a ministry of healing.

We heartily commend Dr. Selecman and the work of the Hospital Board to the earnest consideration of all our people.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

The Shreveport District Conference will be held April 17-19. We have not yet been informed as to the place.

Rev. J. M. Brown, of Belcher, La., has recently been quite ill, but we are glad to learn that he is now convalescent.

Rev. G. E. Allan, pastor of the Camden Circuit, Mississippi Conference, is issuing an interesting bulletin which he calls the "Workers' Weekly."

We regret to learn that Christine, the talented and beloved daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, of Centenary College, is critically ill with pneumonia.

Billy Sunday, the famous evangelist, has made a definite engagement with the Evangelical Council at Shreveport, La., to conduct a meeting in that city in March, 1924.

Dr. Theodore Copeland writes that he is engaged in a great meeting at St. Albans, West Virginia. The congregations are large, and there are conversions at every service.

The basket ball team of Centenary College played the Tulane team two games last week, on Friday and Saturday nights. The Centenary team lost the first and won the second.

Dr. H. C. Morrison, of Louisville, Ky., has been engaged to deliver a series of doctrinal addresses at the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., during the week, February 4-11.

The Monroe District Conference will be held at Winnsboro, La., April 27, 28, and 29. We appreciate an invitation from the presiding elder, Rev. W. D. Kleinschmidt, to be present.

We regret to learn that Rev. and Mrs. E. K. Means, of Jackson, Miss., are both in the hospital in that city, suffering from the prevailing influenza. We pray for them a speedy recovery.

At the recent meeting of the Council of the Church Board of Education held in Chicago, Dr. Stonewall Anderson, Secretary of the Board of Education of our church, was elected President.

The Wesley Daughters' Bible Class, of the Methodist Sunday school at Durant, Miss., had charge of the 11 o'clock service last Sunday. The program rendered was an interesting and helpful one.

We regret to learn of the recent death of Mrs. A. C. Racine, of Durant, Miss. She was a member of the First Methodist Church, and the funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. R. P. Neblett.

Rev. Don. E. Dulany writes from Greenwood, La., that he is happy in his work with the good people of Greenwood and Flournoy, and that the prospects indicate a fine year in all departments of the church.

Brother B. S. Elliott, of Holcomb, Miss., charge lay leader, in sending in a subscription to the Advocate, says: "How any Methodist family can do without the Advocate is a mystery to me." It is also a mystery to us.

Dr. J. L. Peacock, President of Shaw University, Raleigh, N. C., is a guest in New Orleans of Captain and Mrs. H. J. Thompson. He preached a very helpful sermon at the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Church last Sunday morning.

One of the Centenary teams engaged in the four months' campaign will be in New Orleans the latter part of this week, remaining over Sunday. They will meet the Centenary workers of the city at a supper at the Monteleone Hotel on Friday evening.

The new pews have been installed in the Methodist church at Durant, Miss., and the congregation are enjoying this addition to the conveniences of their splendid church. A pipe organ is the next objective of this progressive church.

"Methodist Messenger" is the name of the weekly bulletin issued by Rev. R. T. Ware, pastor of our church at Vivian, La. We thank Brother Ware for complimentary reference to the New Orleans Christian Advocate in the latest issue of the bulletin.

The Gypsy Smith, Jr., meeting at Leland, Miss., has aroused a great deal of interest. After the meeting had been in progress only one week, the seating capacity of the tabernacle was enlarged from 2,100 to 4,000, and still the building was filled to overflowing.

The annual meeting of the Presidents of the Epworth League Boards for 1924 will be held in Meridian, Miss., the invitation having been extended by Mr. W. D. Hawkins, who is one of the best known and most efficient Epworth League workers in the church.

Rev. C. D. Atkinson, Louisiana Conference Sunday School Superintendent, sent us a post card while he was attending the General Sunday School Council, held at Nashville, Tenn., recently. He states that this was the largest and best meeting in the history of the Council.

Rev. R. H. Harper, pastor of the First Methodist Church, this city, is confined to his bed with pneumonia. No serious complications have arisen, and he is making satisfactory progress towards recovery. We are sure his many friends will remember him in their prayers.

Dr. R. H. Wynn, the presiding elder of tho Shreveport District, Louisiana Conference, is urging churches that have buildings on public highways to erect signboards bearing the name of the church, for the benefit of the many strangers who pass by. In our judgment, this is a fine thing to do.

Rev. J. W. York, writing from New Albany, Miss., says: "Everything is moving along well on our work. We had a good meeting Christmas week at Ingomar, one of our churches. I believe we will go over in everything this time. People are liking the Advocate better since you are giving a report of the work from each of the districts. I hope that the presiding elders will keep up this good work."

A note from Mrs. W. J. Porter, of Monroe, La., brings the sad news that her husband, Rev. W. J. Porter, who was superannuated at the recent session of the Louisiana Conference, has been confined to his bed for eight weeks, and that his condition does not show much improvement. She asks an interest in the prayers of their friends. We are sure their many friends will remember them at a throne of grace.

Sister T. S. Randle, of Tyler, Tex., requests us to inform her friends in Louisiana that she is recovering from a recent illness and that she desires to express to them her sincere thanks for their many kind remembrances during the holiday season. Sister Randle is one of the most active workers of the church in behalf of the Superannuate Cause. She says she expects to get 100 new members this year for the C. C. Club, in Tyler.

Plans are being formulated for a new departure in Bible school work as a special feature of the program of the Winona Assembly and Bible Conference at Winona Lake, Ind. These plans will provide for courses for which those taking them may receive credit in the various theological seminaries of the country. The class will cover a period of four weks, from July 20 to August 16, just preceding the great Bible Conference, which will begin on August 17 and close on August 27.

Rev. R. V. Fulton, of Calhoun, La., requests us to say that the statistical table in the Louisiana Conference Annual should show that the assessment for the pastor of the Farmerville charge, Monroe-Ruston District, should be $1,100 instead of $1,180, as it appears. Brother Fulton reports that his work is moving smoothly among tho splendid people he is now serving, and the prospects for a good year are bright. He adds: "I am delighted with the new feature, the reports from the districts, in the Advocate. Tell 'Frank' to think some more."

Since Conference, the tabernacle at Indian Bayou, La., has been enclosed and it is now being used as a meeting place of tho elementary department of th[illegible] Sunday school, and the Epworth League, and also for the social meetings of the church. The Indian Bayou Adult Teacher Training Class and the Epworth League are studying "Methodist Armor," the class being taught by the pastor, Rev. P. O. Lowrey, on each Friday night. A watch night service was held at Indian Bayou, at which a splendid program was rendered. Those attending testified that it was the best watch night service they had ever attended.

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. M. R. Jones, Montrose, Miss., 2; Rev. T. B. Cottrell, Vicksburg, Miss., 3; Rev. W. L. Blackwell, Brooklyn, Miss., 2; Rev. J. W. York, New Albany, Miss., 2; T. M. Babington, Franklinton, La., 3; Rev. D. E. Dulany, Greenwood, La., 3.

TO THE PASTORS OF THE ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT, LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Brethren: The present year is the final year of the Centenary period. Calls from the mission fields at home and abroad are most urgent. The very fidelity of the church is being put to the test by our attitude with reference to collection of Centenary pledges. Authorities of the church have set the months of January, February, March and April as being special time for presenting the claims of this cause. The bishops are calling upon the regular organization of the church to give attention to this matter. Centenary authorities are calling for district set-up meetings and for a forward movement to make these collections.

Due to the difficulty of having one set-up meeting, the following are being planned: Alexandria, Jan. 31; Melville, Feb. 2; Oakdale, Feb. 9; Natchitoches, Feb. 14; Olla, Feb. 15. Churches and charges nearest these meetings will be expected to be represented by the following: Pastors, lay leaders, secretaries of missionary societies, superintendents of Sunday [illegible]hools, presidents of boards of stewards, and all [illegible]ers interested or who may desire to attend.

The exact hours [illegible] these meetings will be announced by letter lat[illegible].

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

THE LOGIC OF CHRISTIAN EXPERIENCE.

By Frederick F. Shannon.

The logic of Christian experience is a matter of first importance. Christ gave sight to a man born blind; the man exchanged a world of physical darkness for a world of physical light; naturally, he was vividly aware of the transformation; that is why all the tides of pharisaic hate and casuistry were powerless to sweep him from his rock of experience.

So, in a spiritual sense, does the light Christ strikes into the soul burn on unquenched by the winds of sin, malice, and sophistry. Have you duly weighed the unifying power of Chrstian experience? "Whether He is a sinner, I know not"—that was the thunderbolt of red-hot logic he hurled int[illegible] camp of those petrified religionists—"one thi[illegible] know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see [illegible]ne thing!" Why, here was tho unconscious [illegible]scoverer of the law of unity, which is stressed b[illegible] modern thought. Amid its ceaseless variations, there is a unity in Nature, a oneness which lies back of all apparent dissimilarities. The same law also undergirds the races of mankind. The essential unity of man can not be changed by such incidents as the color of the skin, diversity of language, and geographical lines. Greatly unlike as nations and individuals unquestionably are, yet is there within them a deepdown kinship implanted by God which cannot bo altered or obliterated. But the unity of nature and the unity of man are both explained by the unity of God. "Hear, O Israel, the Lord thy God is one." In a special sense, the Jews wero appointed to safeguard this truth. Even highly enlightened nations, like Greeco and Rome, worshiped a multiplicity of gods; but Israel, in its best estate, never did.

Coming nearer our own life, is not the difference in Unitarian and Trinitarian views of God largely a difference of interpretation? Certainly it is not a difference of belief in the oneness, the unity, the nature of the Godhead. I claim to be a first-class Unitarian so far as Unitarianism goes. But it does not go far enough. The Unitarian has much; but I have all that the Unitarian has, and so much more that my "more" is unutterably greater than his "much." The river of his "muchnes" is lost in the ocean of my "moreness." The Trinitarian conception of God is not only inexhaustibly rich, but it is savingly knowable. The manifold goodness of God utters itself so endearingly, humanizingly, and redeemingly in the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, that no other concept or formula can for one moment challenge its supremacy.

Now it is when this unity of God, in its unexampled fullness and beauty, articulates itself in consciousness that Christian experience is born. The experience may express itself in many ways. Call it regeneration, the new birth, fellowship with the Father, a life hid with Christ in God—call it whatsoever you choose, so long as you choose sweet-souled melodious words inspired by Christian reality. It is this deep-veined, inner fact that counts. For, after all, Christian experience is the one unifying factor of the soul. Your thought processes will constantly change; your tides of emotion will ebb and flow, like the tides of the sea; sometimes your lamp of faith will burn like a sun and sometimes it will flicker like a candle; in a word, your hopes and fears will be more or less modified by mental and bodily states. There will be a thousand things you do not know; but if you know "one thing"—that God in Christ through the Holy Spirit now indwells your being—it will woo the subtle chords of consciousness into harmony; it will take the high purposes of God for your soul and set them fast in that silently rising spiritual house which you are to occupy when your clay tenement is level with the dust.—The Christian Advocate (N. Y.).

A STATEMENT.

I asked for and received a location at the late session of the Little Rock Conference and have returned to Mississippi. I have repented and come home. I would be glad to assist any of my brethren in revival services any time during the year, or do supply work. You will get in touch with me by writing me at 1109 Carrollton Avenue, Greenwood, Miss.

Yours fraternally,

SIMON W. BRYANT.

"God must love beauty and music, or He would not have made so many songbirds and flowers. Why should we not develop a love for such things in our children, and associate brightness and good cheer with the worship of God? Vases of wild flowers or evergreens will help. Brooms are inexpensive, paint does not cost much, and often reprints of fine old paintings can be had for the asking. Will it build up youthful piety for the Sunday school to meet in an atmosphere of cobwebs and dirt that breeds dejection and gloom? Tidy up, freshen up, brighten up the Sunday school room."—M. W. Brabham.

"Tho childhood of to-day will be the manhood and womanhood of to-morrow. Religious freedom is not dependent upon the withholding of religious instruction from the young. Such freedom, on the contrary, will find its strongest bulwark in the years to come in what is the childhood of to-day, provided always that that childhood is supplied with moral and religious teaching."—T. C. T. Crain.

"It is as if the teacher's mind and spirit were the stained glass through which the sunlight must fall."—Geo. Herbert Betts.

Cuticura Talcum
Fascinatingly Fragrant
Always Healthful
Sample free of Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass. Everywhere 25c.

This Knife GIVEN for selling 12 boxes Quick Salve at 25c and giving away 12 pictures. Knife has best steel blades; we put your name on. Order salve at once.
MASON CHEMICAL CO., HANCOCK, MD.

Quick Relief to BRONCHIAL SUFFERERS
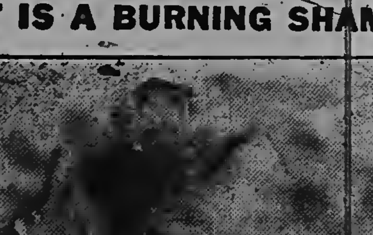
Coughs, nasal and bronchial colds are relieved promptly by the vapor of Cresolene—the standard drugless treatment with forty years of successful use its guarantee. The most widely used remedy for whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

Introduced in 1879
Vapo-Cresolene
"Used While You Sleep"
Send for descriptive booklet 43C. Sold by druggists
Vapo-Cresolene Co., 62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

IT IS A BURNING SHAME


That so many Churches are without sufficient insurance and not properly safe-guarded against Fire, Lightning and Tornado.

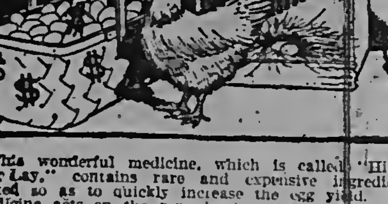
THE NATIONAL MUTUAL CHURCH INSURANCE COMPANY OF CHICAGO—The Methodist Mutual—in successful operation since 1898—furnishes protection AT COST upon easy annual payments. No assessments; legal reserve for security of policy-holders same as stock companies.

No agents. Deal direct. For applications and particulars address

HENRY P. MAGILL, Sect'y. & Mgr.
1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, Agent, M. E. Church, South, 314 Norton Building, Louisville, Ky.

Easy Now to Double Winter Egg Yield
Proven Remedy Gives Remarkable Results—Turns "Boarder" Hens Into Profitable Layers—

Winter egg yields, double and treble those of former years, are now being made by many poultrymen through the use of a compound that science has finally perfected.


This wonderful medicine, which is called "Hick's Egg Lay," contains rare and expensive ingredients mixed so as to quickly increase the egg yield. The medicine acts on the reproductive organs and causes double and treble the usual number of ova (the germ cell of the egg) to be produced. Thus you get many more eggs and get them during the time they bring the highest prices.

Hick's Egg-Lay is prepared for convenience in tablet form. Simply dissolve one tablet in a quart of water. This is the surest, easiest and quickest way ever discovered to get more eggs.

A Trial Costs You Nothing

Mr. Hick is so confident that Hick's Egg-Lay Tablets will double and treble your egg yield that he is making a special guaranteed offer of one regular double strength $1.00 package of Egg-Lay Tablets and a full size $1.00 package of Hick's famous Lice-Go Tablets all for $1.00.

Lice-Go is added to the drinking water. The medicine taken into the system of the bird comes out through the oil glands of the skin and every louse or mite quickly leaves the body. Keeps the birds always free without the poultry raiser doing any work. If you would rather have two $1.00 packages of Egg-Lay Tablets or two $1.00 packages of Lice-Go instead of one of each, say so on your order. Send $1.00 today (currency, money order, check, etc.) to Chas. M. Hick & Company, Dept. 916, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois. If you prefer, send no money. Just your name and address and pay postman $1.00 and postage on delivery. If after thirty days trial, you are not absolutely satisfied, write Mr. Hick and your money will be refunded. This offer is absolutely guaranteed, so don't hesitate to make the test.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

---

On Dec. 24, 1922, at 12 o'clock p. m., MR. B. F. STEVENS, my precious husband, fell asleep in the arms of Jesus. For the last six months his suffering was almost unbearable. He begged to go to rest, as he knew he could not get well. He never feared death. He was converted at the age of fifteen, and united with the Methodist Church, in which he spent the most of his life as steward and Sunday school superintendent.

He was a noble man, kind husband and father. When the time came near for his departure from this life, his testimony was bright and glorious.

He was laid to rest in the Emory Cemetery, south of Byhalia, Miss. Our home is sad and lonely since "Papa" has passed away. But with God he is more happy, and his will we must obey.

Farewell, Papa, we'll sadly miss you for the short time we remain, but there are others that will greet you, and our loss is Heaven's gain.

MAMMA.

---

MRS. MARY JANE NEAL died at Pelican, La.; she was born June 6, 1846, and departed this life on Oct. 20, 1922. Her maiden name was Mary Jane Bird. On the 31st of December, 1871, she was married to W. E. Neal, with whom she lived for nearly fifty-one years. In early life she joined the Methodist Protestant Church, but after her marriage she joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and lived a consistent member until she was called to the home above. For many years she was confined to her house; but she was a woman that had great faith in God and lived a consecrated life and died in the faith. This union was blessed with three children, two boys and a girl. The girl preceded her mother to the good world years ago. She leaves an aged husband, two sons, a brother, and a sister to mourn their loss. She was a devoted wife, an affectionate mother, a good neighbor—thus a good woman has gone from us. But we mourn not as those who have no hope. We can say to the bereaved ones, "Look up; mother is not dead, but sleepeth." In the morning of the Resurrection she will awake, to die no more. Since separation is our lot, meeting is our hope.

S. S. HOLLADAY.

---

On Feb. 17, 1886, an angel baby came into the home of Peter and Sallie Broadfoot in Smith County, Miss. They called her Myrtle; a name musical in sound, which symbolized her life and character that inspired the purest and best in the lives of all who knew her.

She was dedicated to God by the parents while yet a babe, and she publicly gave herself to God when seven years old and united with the church. Beautiful in person and Christian character, she grew through girlhood into womanhood until called away by her Heavenly Father. All who knew her said, "Myrtle was a good girl, a Christian woman."

In the year 1906, Frank Eichelberger, a son of one of the best men in Scott County, an official in the Methodist church, saw in Myrtle his ideal among women, the daughter of one of the best men in Smith County, for many years an official in the Methodist Church. They were united as husband and wife, Oct. 11, 1906.

Myrtle's life was so beautiful and consistent that the devil was permitted to try her faith. She was afflicted in body and mind, for awhile; but the heavier the chastening rod fell upon her, the more devoted she was to her Lord. Her last thought seemed to be for the salvation of her children and all her loved ones, and she finished the battles of life in the early hours of Nov. 28, 1922, as the chariot of heaven took her away.

Her husband and five children, her mother and several brothers and sisters are left to serve and honor the God she loved. The radiant hues of the sunset, and the gathering twilight are just ahead of the mother and one brother. Andrew, one of the brothers, is the pastor of our church at Brookhaven, Miss., holding up Jesus as the Saviour of all who will look to Him. There is much to inspire the other brothers and sisters in Christian service.

The funeral service was held in Carr Church by her pastor, the pastor of the Presbyterian church in Forest, and the pastor of the Lutheran church in Lingle. As these men spoke words of appreciation of her life, naming a few of the many Christian traits lived before the world, there seemed to be in the hearts of the great congregation a responsive Amen.

We loved her while she lived in this world. She will continue, in a larger sense, to inspire us to think of the best and purest things through life.

Her pastor,
J. F. McCLELLAN.

---

What shall I give thee for all these thousands of benefits? I would I could serve thee all the days of my life.
—Thomas a Kempis.

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS
Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction
Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

LET GEORGE R. STUART TELL YOU
What Every Methodist — Should Know —
A NEW BOOK FOR READING AND STUDY
For Sunday School Classes
Group Study
Individual Study
LET US HAVE INTELLIGENT METHODISTS
¶ SEND FOR THIS BOOK AT ONCE
¶ Price within reach of all
¶ Paper binding, only 35c per copy; $4 per doz.
Lamar & Barton, Nashville, Dallas, Richmond, San Francisco

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Vardaman, at V., Jan. 27, 28.
Calhoun City, at C. C., Jan. 28, 29.
Houlka, at Houlka, Feb. 3, 4.
Salem and Ecru, at E., Feb. 10, 11.
Randolph, at Randolph, Feb. 13.
Tocopola, at Thaxton, Feb. 14.
Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Columbus Dist.—First Round.

Louisville, Jan. 28, a.m.
Noxapater, at Noxapater, Jan. 28, 29.
Starkville, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ethel, at Ethel, Feb. 4, 5.
Sturgis, at Sturgis, Feb. 10, 11.
Cedar Bluff, at Cedar Bluff, Feb. 17, 18.
Mayhew and Sessums, at Sessums, Feb. 25, 26.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Corinth District—First Round.

Burnsville ct., at Hebron, Jan. 19.
Paden ct., at Westt Side, Jan. 26.
Belmont ct., at Golden, Jan. 28, 29.
Tishomingo ct., at Tishomingo, Jan. 27, 28.

J. B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—First Round.

Sunflower, at Sunflower, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, Feb. 4, 3 p.m.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—First Round.

Ashland ct., at Ashland, Jan. 27.
Lamar ct., at Lamar, Jan. 28.
Paris ct., at Paris, Feb. 3.
Abbeville ct., at Abbeville, Feb. 4.
Lexington, Feb. 9, 11.
Ebenezer ct., at Hebron, Feb. 10.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—First Round.

Hollandale and Arcola, at Hollandale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Leland, Jan. 28, p.m.
Greenville, Jan. 31, p.m.
Jnestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, a.m.
Jonestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, p.m.
Boyle and Pace, at Boyle, Feb. 11, [illegible]n.
Boyle circuit, at New Salem, Feb [illegible]1, 3 p.m.

The mass meeting at Jackson, [illegible]n. 16, 17, is of sufficient importance to provoke a record attendance from this territory. Make your plans NOW, brethren. It will be the best money and time you have ever invested for your church. The district stewards' meeting at Shaw should have the individual attention of every district steward. Due personal notice will be given later. The Shaw quarterly conference will be held in connection with the district stewards' meet. District Conference at Jonestown, May 8-11. In arranging your meetings, brethren, give this fact due attention.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

Sardis District—First Round.

Tyro, at Free Springs, Jan. 27, 28.
Crenshaw, at Sledge, Feb. 4.
District Preachers' Meeting, at Sardis, Jan. 23-24, beginning at 11 a.m., Jan. 23.
District Conference, at Senatobia, May 15-17.

J. TILLERY L[illegible]IS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONF[illegible]CE.

Alexandria District—First Round.

Oakdale, Jan. 28, a.m.
Glenmora, Jan. 28, p.m.
Natchitoches, Jan. 30, p.m.
Rochelle and Standard, at Standard, Feb. 1, p.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jena, Feb. 4, a.m.
Trout and Good Pine, at Trout, Feb. 4, p.m.

W. L. DOSS, Jr., P. E.

Baton Rouge Dist.—First Round.

Slidell, at Slidell, Jan. 28, p.m.
Springfield ct., at Springfield, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ponchatoula, at Ponchatoula, Feb. 4, p.m.
Franklinton ct., at Fisher, Feb. 11, a.m.
Franklinton, Feb. 11, p.m.
Olive Branch, at Olive Br., Feb. 18, a.m.
Baker, at Baker, Feb. 18, 3 p.m., 7 p.m.
Tickfaw Mis., at Pine Ridge, Feb. 25, a.m.
Amite, Feb. 25, p.m.
Greensburg, at Days, Mar. 4, a.m.
Kentwood, Mar. 4, p.m.
Covington, at Covington, Mar. 11, a.m.
Gonzales, at Meadows, Mar. 18, a.m.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

Lake Charles Dist.—First Round.

Merryville, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
De Ridder, Jan. 28, 7:30 p.m.
Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, Feb. 4, 7:30 p.m.
Branch Ct., at Branch, Feb. 11, 11 a.m.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe Dist.—First Round.

Ferriday, Jan. 27, 28.
Sicily Island, Jan. 28, 29.
Gilbert, Feb. 3, 4.
Mangham, Feb. 4, 5.
Waterproof, Feb. 10, 11.
Chatham, Feb. 17, 18.
Eros, Feb. 18, 19.
Winnsboro, Feb. 21.
Lake Providence, Feb. 24, 25.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Ruston Dist.—First Round.

Arcadia, Jan. 31; preaching, 11 a.m.
Elmore, at Wesley, Jan. 4; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Sibley, at Pine Grove, Jan. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield, Jan. 7; preaching, 11 a.m; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Winnfield circuit, at Joyce, Jan. 7, preaching, 7:30 p.m.; Q. C., 4 p.m.
Bienville, at Bienville, Jan. 14, preaching, 11 a.m.
Bernice, at Bernice, Jan. 16; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Farmerville, Jan. 17; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Marion, at Marion, Jan. 18; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Minden, Jan. 21, preaching, 11 a.m.
Homer, Jan. 23; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Haynesville, Jan. 24; Q. C., 7:30 p.m.
Dubach, at Dubach, Jan. 26; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Springhill, Jan. 28, preaching, 11 a.m.
Cotton Valley, Jan. 28; preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Ringgold, at Ringgold, Feb. 4, preaching 11 a.m.
Wesley, at Hall Summit, Feb. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Simsboro, at Simsboro, Feb. 7; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Haughton and Doyline, at Haughton, Feb. 11; preaching 11 a.m.
Ruston, Feb. 12, 7:30 p.m.
Castor, Feb. 14; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Athens, Feb. 18; Q. C., preaching, 11 a.m.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—First Round.

Plain Dealing, Jan. 28, a.m.
Mooringsport, Jan. 31, p.m.
Bayou La Chute, Feb. 4 a.m.
First Church, Shreveport, Feb. 7, p.m.
Longstreet, Feb. 11, a.m.
Logansport, Feb. 11, p.m.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Makes the Body Strong.
Makes the Blood Rich. 60c

WHEELER Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

PILES Don't Be Cut
Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment

My internal method of treatment is the correct one, and is sanctioned by the best informed physicans and surgeons. Ointments, salves and other local applications give only temporary relief.

If you have piles in any form write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets and you will bless the day that you read this. Write today.

E. R. PAGE 430J Page Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

TRY RENWAR FOR RHEUMATISM.

It is not necessary any longer for you to suffer those intense pains and aches of rheumatism. Renwar is a salts combination scientifically prepared to neutralize the uric acid in the blood, and thereby cure rheumatism. Don't wait until those rheumatic pains return. Buy a bottle of Renwar, and forget about that rheumatism. Renwar is an old well-established remedy. It is prescribed by the best physicians, and has thousands of friends. President L. A. Bauman of Varley & Bauman Company, Nashville, says, "Renwar entirely relieved me of my rheumatism." For sale by druggists. Price 60 cents. Positively guaranteed by money-back offer. If your druggist doesn't carry Renwar in stock, tell him to order it for you from Warner Drug Company, Nashville, Tenn.

Company, Nashville, Tenn.—Adv.

TETTERINE
For the Complexion
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Breaks Up CROUP
Colds, Coughs, LaGrippe, Flu, and a valuable aid in treatment of Pneumonia.
CAPU-SAV
clears the phlegm, reduces inflammation, penetrates. White salve; does not discolor clothing. In handy, collapsible tubes, 25c, at drug stores, or sent by mail.
CAPUDINE CO. :: :: RALEIGH, N. C.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Child's tongue shows
if bilious, constipated

MOTHER, CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

Hurry mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If your child is constipated, bilious, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good liver and bowel action is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup." It never cramps or overacts. Full directions for babies and children of all ages are printed on each bottle. Say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Sunday School

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

By C. D. Atkinson, Louisiana Conference Superintendent.

The date for the Conference-Wide Wesley Bible Class Federation is March 20, 21, 22, at Alexandria. Among the Central Office staff who are expected at the Alexandria Conference are: Miss Minnie E. Kennedy, Mr. W. C. Owen, Mr. E. R. Stanford, and Miss Lucy Forman. Other members of the staff have been invited and are considering the invitation.

The presiding elders will hold their meeting in Alexandria during the Bible Class Federation.

Plans are to hold a Conference-Wide Elementary Council meeting during the Alexandria conference. All District Elementary Superintendents are members of the Council.

The Executive Committee of the Conference Sunday School Board met in New Orleans on Jan. 23. The members are: Mr. W. S. Holmes, Rev. J. W. Pearson, Mr. A. M. Mayo, Rev. Alonzo Early, and Rev. O. W. Bradley.

The recent Annual Conference Minutes shows an increase of 2,775 new Sunday school members during 1922, which now gives us total membership of 39,511 as compared with 79,67 church members. The Conference goal for the quadrennium is that the Sunday school membership is to equal the church membership. At the recent General Sunday School Council meeting at Nashville, both of our Conference workers were in attendance.

There were 55 certificates of credits issued at the recent Standard Training School in New Orleans, making a total of 105 for the year 1922, which puts the New Orleans District in the lead as to Training School credits. Four of the present seven presiding elders in our Conference took credits in the Standard Training Schools during 1922.

As to What to Wear,

How It Fits or Becomes You. You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting

Milady's Creative Shop

Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.

If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.

221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162.

830 CANAL STREET.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs

Special Terms

FOR

CHURCHES

Sunday Schools

AND

SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.

"Largest Music House South"

New Orleans Baton Rouge

We Know How—Quick Service.

We Call for and Deliver Baggage. Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.

AUTO SERVICE.

CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER

103 NORTH DELTA ST.

OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The Wesley Bible Class Federation for intermediate, senior, young people, and adult classes will be held at Grenada June 6, 7 and 8. Mark these dates on your calendar. In the meantime, organize every class above the Juniors and have them enrolled in the office at Nashville. The central thought will be Home Missions and Evangelism. Never forget it—62 per cent of the people in Mississippi do not belong to any church.

It is high time we were doing something out of the ordinary to win these multitudes to a saving knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. Of course we must have gracious and sweeping revivals all over the Conference, but before, during and after the revival we must win boys and girls, men and women to Christ by personal evangelism. To win our State to Christ we must use all the methods all the year. Whatever the method we use, much prayer will be needed to make the method effective.

The Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism held at Jackson last week marked a new epoch for Methodism and the Kingdom of God in Mississippi. Dr. Goodell, pastor of one of our great city churches, stirred our hearts and made us feel that we must lay ourselves out to win the last man and woman in our State for Christ. For lack of time, not much could be said as to evangelism in the Sunday school. Of course, we all know the easiest people to win for Christ are the children in our Sunday schools, and the individuals to do this are the teachers who are close to these children every Sunday. We have ten leaflets to send to the pastors and superintendents if they will take time to write Dr. J. W. Shakford, Nashville, Tenn., and ask for the number needed for the teachers.

The Sunday School Day programs are ready for distribution. You may write me for the number you need, so you can observe this day before the schools begin to make preparation for their commencements.

If you failed to take an offering on the fifth Sunday in December for District Training Schools, you may take the offering any other Sunday. When you take it, send it to Rev. J. E. Stephens, Grenada, Miss.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

THE SHANGHAI MEDICAL SCHOOL FOR WOMEN.

For six years the Woman's Missionary Council has been working to establish a Union Medical School for women in China. The other Boards participating are the Baptist, the Reformed Dutch, and the Woman's Missionary Union.

The Woman's Union contributed the Margaret Williamson Hospital in Shanghai to the joint enterprise. The Woman's Baptist Board gave $25,000 with which to erect a Nurse's Home. This building is now almost completed.

The Council pledged $250,000 to the school and took for its share the erection of the Administration Building. At the last Council meeting it was voted to name this building in honor of Miss Bennett, who had the project deeply at heart. It was also decided to build the first unit of this building this year.

The American section of the Board of Directors of the school held a meeting in New York City October 17 and voted unanimously to open the school for medical instruction as an A-grade institution at the time of the Chinese New Year. A complete staff of ten physicians, three nurses, a hospital technician, and a business manager has been provided by the participating boards and is already on the field. Dr. Hattie Love, Dr. Susan Willard Brown, Dr. Louise Ingersoll, Nurse Alma Pitts, and Nurse Mary A. Hood are the Southern Methodist members of the staff, Dr. Love being chief of the staff.

There is great rejoicing over this consummation of [illegible] years of effort. Women physicians are so greatly needed in that land where doctors are so few and suffering women so many. Chinese girl students have been waiting for this opportunity for training.

Mrs. F. F. Stephens and Mrs. Lee Britt represented the women of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at the meeting of the Board of Directors held recently in New York.—Bulletin.

CRIME AND THE COURTS.

In twenty-eight cities of the United States there were 1,910 murders in 1921. Nowhere else on earth is life apparently held so cheap and is the machinery of the law so ineffective. The record shows more murders in one American city than in all of England. That is explained in part by the stable population of England and the mixed and shifting population of this country. Another reason is the comparative ease with which in America bad characters can obtain deadly weapons, the courts' delays, and the small proportion of convictions to the number of crimes.

A remarkable sidelight on this whole matter is furnished by a Brooklyn magistrate who accuses a Supreme Court Justice of granting permits to suspicious characters to carry pistols, and by the District Attorney's office which declares gunmen, criminals, and others manage in some manner to obtain permits, whereas reputable citizens have difficulty. In some cities blackjacks, dirks, pistols, and other deadly weapons are on open display for sale in the pawnbroker shops. A person contemplating any crime, from burglary to murder, has no difficulty in obtaining the necessary tools—if he has the price.

The crime problem never will arouse the American people to earnest effort to solve it or come as near solving it as is humbly possible until murder, robbery, and other outrages are recognized as cardinal violations of the laws of God and man and handled as such. To-day, it would seem, they are not.—Richard Spillane, in Forbes Magazine, (N. Y.).

Stop Your Wash Day Worries

and

PHONE JACKSON 203,

SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,

2520 Magnolia St.

Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,

6 Cents per lb.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE

If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.

J. A. WHERRY,

420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

United Style Shops

Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.

WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.

Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.

SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS

in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.

129 Bourbon Street

Phone Main 703.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING

Cough Syrup

Easy to Take

No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of

DR. RICHARD ANGELL

Prepared by

JAMES R. ANGELL,

New Orleans, La.

PRICE 35c AND 65c

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Epworth League.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The new Board for the next four years, after being duly elected by the Annual Conference at Water Valley, met and organized by electing Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, chairman, and Rev. H. P. Lewis, Belzoni, Secretary-Treasurer. The remaining members of the Board are: Rev. E. E. McKithen, L. E. Price, Rev. Seamon Ray, J. H. McKennon, Hubert D. Stephens, Rev. J. A. George, L. A. French, Rev. W. D. Bennett, Mrs. G. C. Jones, S. N. Berryhill, Rev. J. M. Guinn, J. Hudson Kyle.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

STOP ITCHING
Skins with Tetterine
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Glands Used To Restore Hair Growth

Science of Gland Therapy Relieves Baldness—New Treatment Restores Health and Growth.

Baldness in both men and women is now generally ascribed by scientists to defective functioning of endocrine glands. Hair growth is dependent upon the secretions of these glands—these secretions making possible the assimilation of those elements in the blood which are vital to a luxurious growth of hair.

Now it is possible for any bald person to have a full, luxuriant growth of hair through the discovery of E. R. Alexander, nationally known scientist. Dr. Alexander, through the concentration of glands, can supply the deficiency of gland secretion and produce a full growth of hair.

This discovery may be easily used in the privacy of your own home. Within a few weeks you will notice new, vigorous hair beginning to come in and with this growth you can gradually restore your hair to its former bright, healthy color.

So confident is Dr Alexander that you can be relieved of the embarrassment of baldness and regain the normal hair growth by this method that he offers to send a full $2.00 treatment on free trial to anyone who will write for it. Use it according to directions, and if at the end of a month you do not find your hair returning with all its former vigor, the treatment does not cost a cent.

SEND NO MONEY—Just your name and address to Alexander Laboratories, 581 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and this treatment will be mailed at once in plain wrapper. When it arrives pay the postman only $2.00 and postage. Try it according to directions and if at the end of a month you are not more than satisfied with results, your money will be refunded at once. A big Kansas City bank guarantees that Dr. Alexander is reliable and holds $1,000 cash as a guarantee to return your money if you wish it.

Don't suffer the embarrassment of baldness—give the treatment a trial on this liberal offer.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

In accordance with the order of the Board, the chairman, R. P. Neblett, was present at the meeting held in Nashville Jan. 10-12, at which time Conference League Presidents, Chairmen of Boards, Field Workers, Junior and Intermediate Superintendents, Presidents of City Epworth League Unions, and the Central Office Staff counseled together about many matters for the betterment of League work and a unified program in Summer Conferences and Assemblies.

After consultation with college authorities at Grenada, and the Sunday school workers, the dates of June 4-6 have been set for our Summer Conference, which will be held in the Chapel at Grenada College. Bishop H. M. DuBose, President of the General Epworth League Board, has promised to be with us for two or three addresses and otherwise counsel with us in seeking to solve our problems.

RESOLUTIONS.

Whereas, the Death Angel visited our town on Dec. 28, 1922, and removed from our midst Major Henry T. Liverman; and,

Whereas, his going from us removed one of the most influential members of the Mansfield M. E. Church, South, who was ever ready to assist by his counsel and with his means all departments of the church, especially the Sunday school; and,

Whereas, we who were members of the former Liverman Bible Class, recognized in him a teacher of rare ability, profound learning, and a wise counselor, always ready to promote the best interests of the class; and his knowledge of ancient history, as it strengthened the teaching of the Bible, as well as his knowledge of human nature, was always a source of great help to the members of the class, while his extensive reading of other literature enabled him to give us many lasting applications of the lesson as he used incidents from his reading to illustrate any special point under consideration,

Now, therefore, be it resolved, That we recognize our great loss, not only in the final parting, but also through these months that his ill health has prevented his attending the class; and.

Be it further resolved, That we who were members of his class in an especial manner wish to express our heartfelt sympathy to his family and request that the present Business Men's Wesley Bible Class, in which we have been placed, approve our action and join us in these resolutions.

Be it further resolved, That a copy hereof be sent to the family and be published in the Mansfield Enterprise and the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

W. M. POLLOCK, Chairman.
W. J. SHARP,
C. B. HICKS,
S. A. KIDD,
J. ALFRED WILLIAMS,
Former Members of the Liverman Bible Class.

Foregoing resolutions adopted by class this Jan. 7, 1923.

W. R. McCROCKLIN, President,
LOUIS A. COWLEY, Secretary.
Business Men's Wesley Bible Class.

PASTORAL SUPPORT.

"Shall the Preacher Eat?" is the question found in a current magazine which relates how a pastor in an Eastern State is adding to his income "by taking a job as timekeeper for a gang of road-pavers." "Unquestionably," we are told, "the paving job pays him much more than the ministry." Many pastors have found it necessary to supplement their stipend received from the congregation by some outside activity. A Washington newspaper points to the years of study and preparation required of those who enter the ministry. After prolonged preparation they are inadequately paid, but carry on "supported by faith in their calling, by a sincere conviction that they are needed in the field or church work." That the laymen of the Methodist Episcopal Church are appreciating the unjust and inadequate salaries paid to pastors has been evidenced by recent increases. However, there is yet considerable to be done in the name of justice. A recent report from Ohio Wesleyan University's Teachers Placement Bureau states that it obtained positions for 121 teachers last year who draw an average salary of $1,356, the average for the men teachers' first year work being $1,550. The record of the entrance classes of even the best Annual Conferences would not show an average anything like this. Yet whereas there is much cause for gratification in that the churches are given better support, it is regrettable that a daily paper can make the following statement without fear of a general refutation: "But in the long run the one who sacrifices most is the man who, after hard work in preparation, undertakes the spiritual guidance of a flock with less provision for his physical sustenance than even the humblest member of his church."—Christian Advocate (N. Y.).

Swamp-Root for Kidney Ailments

There is only one medicine that really stands out pre-eminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

The star that shone in Bethlehem
Shines still, and shall not cease,
And we listen still for the tidings
Of glory and of peace.
—Adelaide Proctor.

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED
Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

IF SICK TODAY!
TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to
Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

The Women of Water Valley Organize.

Mrs. A. W. Stokes, secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society for the Grenada District, met with the women of Main Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and organized a Woman's Missionary Society with fifteen members and three honorary members. The women were greatly pleased at having Mrs. Stokes meet with them. The meeting was well attended, and the following officers were elected: Miss Nell Meyers, president; Mrs. W. H. Goodwin, vice-president; Mrs. A. C. Greenlee, treasurer; Mrs. W. E. Holley, local treasurer; Mrs. J. H. Carroll, corresponding secretary; Mrs. A. G. Carter, recording secretary; Mrs. M. E. Scott, superintendent of Mission Study and Publicity; Miss Adelle Addington, superintendent of Supplies; Mrs. W. H. Goodwin, superintendent of Social Service; Mrs. A. G. Carter, superintendent of Local Work and Parsonage Upkeep.

The newly elected executive staff is at work organizing all the departments according to the Council's standard plan, with a view to a great forward movement among the women of the church in 1923.

MRS. M. E. SCOTT,
Superintendent Mission Study and Publicity.

---

NEWS FROM THE HOME FIELD—EASTERN DIVISION.

Educational and moral conditions have been very deplorable in the Roanoke work, which is located in a small twine mill community, but Deaconess Duncan is succeeding in her efforts to better those conditions. She brought to the city board of education the need for a night school in the village, and at the beginning of the fall term in a nearby school building 50 young people of the village were enrolled for instruction. Deaconess Duncan has also been instrumental in getting the city school system to take over the community playground, to equip it, and to provide a playground superintendent for the summer months.

The Danville City Mission Board is doing a great work, for this is the way the people feel whom it is trying to help. Mrs. Boyd, a widow seventy years old and a mill worker from her eighth year, said: "I doesn't call this house the 'Wesley House,' I calls it the 'House of Good Women,' and I don't see how I could live if it wasn't for coming in here to talk for a few minutes every day."

Mr. Montgomery, President of the Sparta Mill, in Spartanburg, S. C., truly seeks the welfare of his mill operatives. He is now erecting a clubhouse for the men and boys of the village, with gymnasium, showers, club and classrooms, and the usual equipment. Will Wingo, a product of the Wesley House Boys' Club is to be the superintendent of this new enterprise. Mr. Wingo is a mill boy who would have gone hopelessly to the bad had it not been for the Wesley House and one good woman who influenced him away from drink, pool rooms, and other evil influences and into the church and unselfish service for other mill boys.

About one hundred girls are now on roll at Vashti, with room for a score or more. Although the school is now run for twelve instead of nine months, although two or three persons have been added to the faculty and salaries have been increased slightly, the annual appropriation for 1922 is only $520 more than in 1918. This is due largely to the generosity of our women in sending boxes of supplies, to the increase in the cost of scholarships from $150 to $200 per year, and most of all to the wonderful management of Miss Charlotte [illegible], the Superintendent. Miss Emm [illegible] ucker has just completed a series of evangelistic services at Vashti, and an extract of a letter from this writer to Mrs. McCoy follows:

"I am so sorry you did not visit Vashti during my stay there. I wanted to tell you face to face my impressions of 'Greater Vashti.' I think I have never seen such a transformation from every standpoint as I found there. I knew the Centenary had made possible some new buildings, but the personnel of the student body, the remarkable superintendent and her faculty, the order, the discipline, the woman's touch giving beauty and neatness everywhere led me to exclaim: 'What hath God wrought!' I am more than convinced that institutions for girls should be in charge of women. I enjoyed every hour of my stay there. The table fare is so much better than the average college and yet I know they are not extravagant. Miss King is a real missionary in the kitchen."

Our workers at Biloxi are facing hard situations, for Mississippi appears to be tragically deficient in adequate enforcement and legal machinery for the protection of working women. The sanitary arrangements around some of the canning plants are unspeakable. Many of the camps are overcrowded. Truancy laws and compulsory education are not enforced. Wages are low, work scarce, and the working conditions in the factories entirely devoid of the simple equipment necessary to make the women comfortable. The work is piece work, and in order to make even a small wage the women are speeded up almost beyond power of human endurance. Most

(Continued on Last Page.)

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

Genuine BAYER

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds
Toothache
Earache
Neuralgia
Headache
Lumbago
Rheumatism
Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

FREEDOM FROM LAXATIVES

Discovery by Scientists Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Medical authorities have found that the gentle lubricating action of Nujol most closely resembles that of Nature's own lubricant. As Nujol is not a laxative it cannot gripe. It is in no sense a medicine. And like pure water it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is prescribed by physicians; used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

Bitter Chillifuge 25c

Has a bitter tonic taste and quick action in routing malaria from the system.

Will quickly stop chills and fever.

Splendid tonic for torpid liver and bracer for poor appetite.

FINLAY, DICKS & CO., INC.,
NEW ORLEANS.

HOW'S YOUR HEALTH?

Harrison Shepard Tells You How to Improve It

Elgin, Tenn.—"I can say that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and the Pleasant Pellets have been the means of restoring my health. I was weak and run-down, had such headaches, and my kidneys were out of order. It was a misery for me to walk around. I began taking the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets' and they put me on the road to good health right away. I want to speak a good word for Dr. Pierce's remedies to all sufferers."—Harrison Shepard, R. F. D. 1, Box 18.

Start right by obtaining this 'Discovery' at once from your neighborhood druggist in tablets or liquid, or write to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

HAVE you Hastings' 1923 Catalog—the great new Seed Book of the South? Garden and farm information right to date, absolutely necessary for every Southern home; helpful advice that you can't find elsewhere and worth real money to you. Seeds, plants, bulbs and the kinds to plant, with 1923 prices. Free flower seeds and how to get them. The Seed Book is Free. Write for it today.

H. G. HASTINGS CO.
ATLANTA, "The South's Seedsmen" GEORGIA

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

whooping cough

and CROUP—those dreaded Childhood afflictions are quickly and safely relieved by Roche's Herbal Embrocation—the remedy that has served several generations of Mothers successfully—since 1802.

Equally effective for BRONCHITIS or COLDS on the chest.

Always keep a bottle handy

E. FOUGERA & CO., Inc.
90-92 Beekman Street, New York

ROCHE'S
HERBAL EMBROCATION

Skill In Flour

By CLAUDIA QUIGLEY MURPHY

Skill in the choice and handling of flour is a matter not only of information but of experience, for flour even at best is a constantly varying substance, never twice identical, always subject to the variations of the wheat from which it is made.

Flour being the principal ingredient in making bread, biscuits, cakes, or pies, it is important that it must be selected with care and used with skill as well as eyed with all the available experience. The only safe way, not only for cookery safety but for health preservation, is to avoid mixtures of uncertain origin or unknown ingredients sold under the name of self-rising flour, for in truth there is no such thing. When it is self-rising, it isn't flour; it is a compound of many things under a fanciful name, so the safest way is to avoid it for these reasons:

The proportions of flour and baking-powder, or any other leavening agent to be used in cookery, are very different, depending on the consistency of the batter, the way it is to be cooked—whether boiled, baked, or done in hot fats: each requires a different amount. Again, the best flour is none too good for family use. It is not possible to control the kind or quality of flour put into ready mixed packages; flour might be of very low grade, quite deficient in vital elements, and yet be flour, so on that score it is not wise to use unknown flour; then, too, the leavening agent frequently becomes inert through natural causes, such as heat, moisture or humidity, and so it is recharged, dosed again and perhaps again, with the so-called baking-powder, which naturally cumulates in the flour and changes a benign product to a questionable element. To repeat, there must be care in the use of baking-powder to insure good food, for all recipes cannot be written to one standard of leavening. Dumplings require one quantity, pancakes another, and baking-powder biscuits insist on another. So also with cakes. Loaf cakes have one requirement of baking powder, layer cakes another, and cookies yet another; so there is no safety in baking unless the baking-powder be freshly inserted in the required quantity into the flour, sifted in and sifted again, and the other ingredients added in their due place.

There is a real need for the manufacture and sale of baking powder, because the housewife cannot accurately proportion the ingredients. There is certainly no need for the manufacture of self-rising flour, for she can mix and proportion baking-powder with the flour more efficiently for her varied needs than can any manufacturer.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven Dist.—First Round.

Foxworth, at Hopewell, Jan. 27, 28.
Tylertown, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Osyka, at Osyka, Jan. 31.
Barlow, at Rehoboth, Feb. 3, 4.
Brookhaven, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
McComb, Pearl River Ave., Feb. 7.
Crystal Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Georgetown, at Georgetown, 7 p.m., Feb. 11.
Magnolia, Feb. 14.
McComb, Centenary, 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
McComb, La Branch St., 7 p.m., Feb. 18.
Scotland, at New Hope, Feb. 21.
Summit and Topisaw, at Topisaw, Feb. 24, 25.
Fernwood, at Fernwood, 7 p.m., Feb. 25.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

Hattiesburg Dist.—First Round.

Williamsburg, at Good Hope, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
Prentiss, Jan. 28, 29, 7 p.m.
Eucutta, at New Hope, Thurs., Feb. 1, 11 a.m.
Taylorsville, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Mt. Olive-Magee, at Magee, Feb. 4, 7 p.m.
Hattiesburg, Court St., Feb. 11, 11 a.m.
Purvis, Feb. 11, 12, 7 p.m., 9:30 a.m.
Lucedale ct., at Merrill, Feb. 18, 11 a.m.
New Augusta, Feb. 18, 7 p.m.
Sumrall, Wed., Feb. 21, 7 p.m.
Leakesville, at Pine Grove, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Lucedale, Feb. 25, 7 p.m.
Avera, Mar. 4, 11 a.m.
Hattiesburg, Broad St., Mar. 4, 7 p.m.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—First Round.

Satartia, at Mt. Olivet, Jan. 27, 28, 11 a.m.
Bentonia, Jan. 28, 2 p.m., 7 p.m.
Harrisville, at Rexford, Feb. 3, 4, 11 a.m.
Mendenhall and D'Lo, at D'Lo, Feb. 4, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Camden, at Camden, Feb. 13, 14, 11 a.m.
Sharon, at Sharon, Feb. 14, 2:30 p.m.
Vaughn, Feb. 16, 11 a.m.
Benton, at Midway, Feb. 17, 11 a.m.
Eden, at Eden, Feb. 18, 2:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Yazoo City circuit, at ——, Feb. 24, 25, 11 a.m.
Yazoo City, Feb. 25, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Brandon, at Pelahatchie, Mar. 4, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Monterey, at Mt. Carmel, Feb. 5, 11 a.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—First Round.

Lauderdale and Electric Mills, at Elec. M., Jan. 28.
Waynesboro circuit, at Fedora, Feb. 3, 4.
Waynesboro, Feb. 4.
Matherville, at Poplar Springs, Feb. 11, 12.
DeSoto, at Crandall, Feb. 10, 11.
Enterprise, Feb. 15, 16.
Pachuta, Feb. 14.
Quitman, Feb. 18.
Shubuta, Feb. 18, p.m.
Bucatunna, at State Line, Feb. 25.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Newton Dist.—First Round.

Rose Hill, at Homewood, Jan. 27, 28.
Montrose, at Montrose, Jan. 31.
Lake, at Lawrence, Feb. 3, 4.
Bay Springs, at Holder's, Feb. 7.
Decatur and Hickory, at Hickory, Feb. 11.
Chunky, at Chunky, Feb. 14.
Shiloh, at Shiloh, Feb. 17, 18.
Newton, at Newton, Feb. 21.
Raleigh, at Raleigh, Feb. 23.
Homewood, at Homewood, Feb. 24, 25.
Union, at Union, Feb. 28.
Laurel, First Church, March 4; 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Laurel, Kingston, March 5, 7 p.m.
Laurel, West End, March 6, 7 p.m.

J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Seashore Dist.—First Round.

Carriere, Mon., 11 a.m., Jan. 22.
Vancleave, at Vancleave, 11 a.m., Wed., Jan. 24.
Mentorum, at Alexandria Memorial, 11 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 27.
Brooklyn, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Wiggins, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Saucier, at Saucier, Wed., 7 p.m., Jan. 31.
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Back Bay, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
Gulfport, Q. C., Mon., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 5.
Biloxi, Q. C., Tues., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 6.
Long Beach, Q. C., Wed., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 7.

W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—First Round.

Rosetta, 11 a.m., Jan. 26.
Gloster, 11 a.m., Jan. 27.
Centerville, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Woodville, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 28.
Rocky Springs, at Willows, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Vicksburg, Gibson Memorial, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4, 5.
Roxie, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Vicksburg, Crawford Street, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 11, 12.
Oak Ridge, at Flower Hill, 11 a.m. Feb. 14.
Louise and Holly Bluff, at H. B., 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
Silver City, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 18.
Mayersville, Feb. 24.
Anguilla at Delta City, 11 a.m., Feb. 25.
Rolling Fork, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 25.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

The men who met him rounded on their heels
And wonder'd after him, because his face
Shone like the countenance of a priest of old
Against the flame about a sacrifice
Kindled by fire from heaven: so glad was he.

—Tennyson.

Corns

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezono" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

SORES BOILS, CUTS and BURNS have been healed since 1820 with

Gray's Ointment

Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

NERVOUS AND HALF-SICK WOMEN

These Letters Recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Will Interest You

For Your Own Good Please Read Them

Youngstown, Ohio.—"Last fall I began to feel mean and my back hurt me and I could hardly do my little bit of housework. I was played out when I would just sweep one room and would have to rest. I would have to put a cushion behind me when I would sit down and at night I could not sleep unless I had something under my back. I had awful cramps every month and was just nearly all in. Finally my husband said to me one day, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine?' and I said, 'I am willing to take anything if I could get well again.' So I took one bottle and a second one and felt better and the neighbors asked me what I was doing and said, 'Surely it must be doing you good all right.' I have just finished my eighth bottle and I cannot express to you how I feel, the way I would like to. If you can use this letter you are welcome to it and if any woman does not believe what I have written to be true, she can write to me and I will describe my condition to her as I have to you."—Mrs. ELMER HEASLEY, 141 S. Jackson St., Youngstown, Ohio.

"I was very nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. L. E. Wiese of 706 Louisa St., New Orleans, La. "I would often sit down and cry, and was always blue and had no ambition. I was this way for over a year and had allowed myself to get into quite a serious condition. One day I saw your advertisement in the daily paper and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once. I have improved ever since taking the third bottle and find it is the best medicine I have ever taken."

Benefited by First Bottle

"I was completely run down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy to get up when once I sat down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in our paper 'The Indiana Daily Times,' and learned all about it. I received results from the very first bottle and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends it is due to you."—Mrs. ELIZABETH REINBOLD, 403 N. Pine St., Indianapolis, Indiana.

You should pay heed to the experiences of these women. They know how they felt before taking the Vegetable Compound, and afterwards, too. Their words are true.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY

(Continued from Page 14)

of the women have families of small children; they are foreigners—Polish, French, and Austrian—and are ignorant of the protection the laws of the land afford them. The Wesley House nursery is now well equipped, large, and cheerful. Miss Freeland manages her fifty infant charges beautifully.

Resolution on Lynching Passed by Social Service Conference.

Whereas, the defeat of the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill, which provided for the Federal control of lynching, has thrown the whole responsibility back upon each State for removing this hideous crime; therefore, be it

Resolved: 1. That we, the Commission on Race Relations of the Woman's Missionary Council, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, the Conference Social Service Superintendents, and other officers in conference in Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 4-6, 1922, do now demand of the authorities of the several States that they make good their claim proving their competency to abolish mob violence and lynching.

2. That we assume our responsibility as citizens for the protection of human life and hereby call upon all the people of all the States, upon the pulpit, and upon the press to join in an insistent and persistent agitation against this barbarous practice.

3. That we formulate plans in behalf of an organized movement for adequate State laws and law enforcement.

En Route to the Congo Belge.

A letter from Mrs. Fannie B. Warren, R. N., written at Matadi, Congo Belge, en route to our Mission, says:

"I have enjoyed the trip out despite several days of seasickness and being uncomfortable most of the time. Our stops in the different villages along the coast were quite interesting, and we have enjoyed so much the hospitality of the 'Christian Alliance Mission' in Boma and of the Baptist Mission here in Matadi. The nearer the station I go, the more I realize the power of God through us if we but let him reign in our lives, for which I am very thankful. We leave Matadi tomorrow (Monday, Sept. 25) after a good rest of four days.

"We are going to a service held by the natives this afternoon, our first in the Congo. I certainly am very much impressed with the natives. It is plain to be seen that much and wonderful things have been accomplished with them, and also that there is much to be done yet." (We expect soon to receive letters from Mrs. Warren and Miss Christine Allen telling of their arrival in Wembo-Nyama or one of the other stations of our Congo Mission.)

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT. Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

LAW ENFORCEMENT CONFERENCE.

The Board of Trustees of the Louisiana Anti-Saloon League, in called session at Alexandria, La., Jan. 10, 1923, voted unanimously to hold a Law and Order Conference, such as was recently held in New Orleans.

This Conference will be held Feb. 7-8. A program committee was provided for, and in addition to Colonel Dan Morgan Smith, one of the National Anti-Saloon League speakers, we expect to hear a number of our own Louisiana men.

Pastors will please call attention of their churches to this meeting and arrange to have some representatives in attendance. Law enforcement in your parish and in Louisiana is of great importance to all our people. Let us get behind our executive officers and, with our backs to the wall, fight for the enforcement of all law through and by the regularly constituted authorities.

A. W. TURNER,
State Superintendent, Louisiana Anti-Saloon League.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

FROM IDA, LA.

Dear Brother: I have made one round on my work. I have been very kindly and royally received. The good people at Ida gave us a pounding when we first came, and have kept it up nearly every day since.

I have seen most of my people and have found many very fine characters, and a willingness to co-operate and help in all the work of the church.

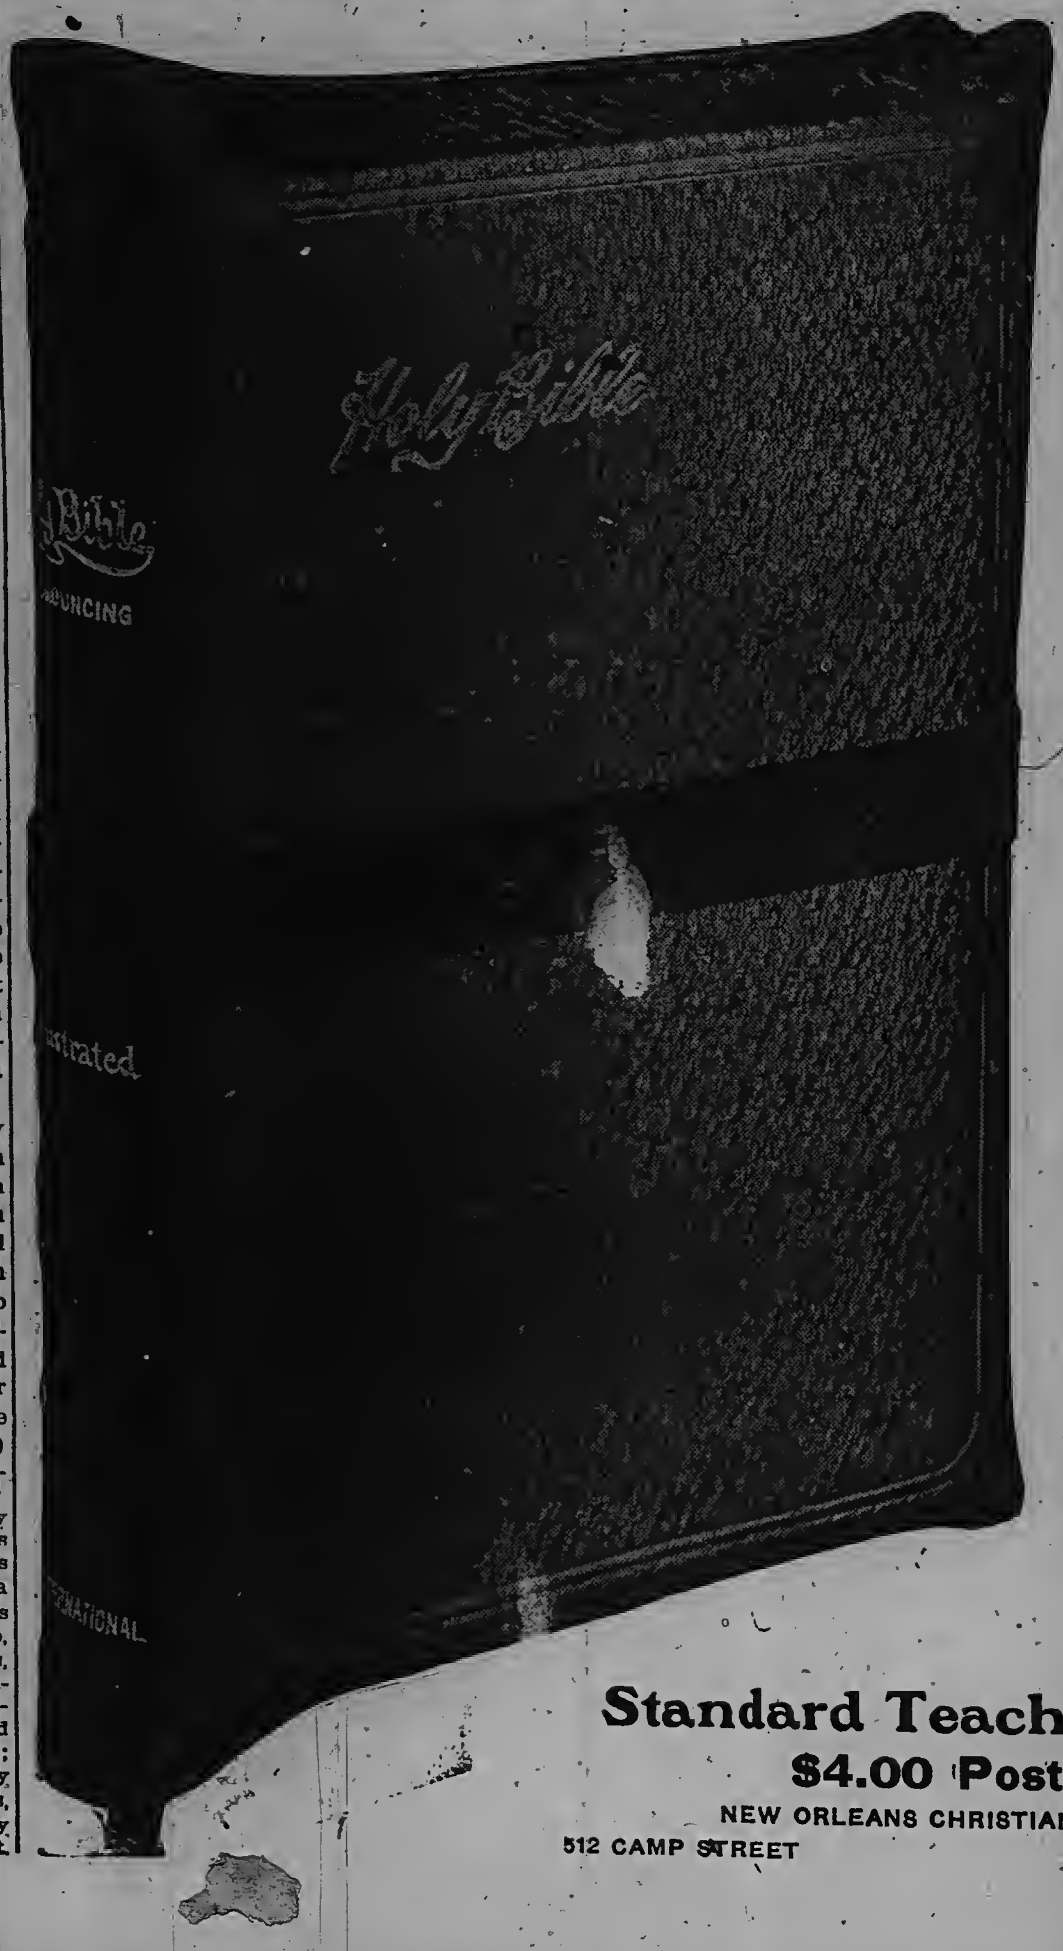
I am kept busy preaching three times every Sunday, visiting, and wrestling with a Bermuda grass patch where I hope to raise some vegetables.

I must tell you of the busiest Christmas Eve I ever spent. From 11 o'clock [illegible] m. to 9 o'clock p. m. I preached three times, drove twenty miles, married two couples, and played at helping Santa Claus.

W. E. AKIN.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

TETTERINE
Makes Low Necks and Short Sleeves Possible. It Clears the Skin.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.



Standard Teachers' Bible
FLEXIBLE LEATHER BINDING
5½ x 8½ Inches
SELF-PRONOUNCING EDITION WITH
Concordance

Beautifully Bound with overlapping cover, red under gold edges; 16 colored maps of BIBLE Lands.
LARGE CLEAR PRINT

This is a handsome book and is sold at a very reasonable price.

Price, $4.00
POSTPAID

SEND ORDERS TO NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Standard Teachers' Bible
$4.00 Postpaid
NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE
512 CAMP STREET NEW ORLEANS, LA.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 5. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3495

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

WIDEN YOUR VISION.

The time has not yet come, perhaps, when the church should insist upon collegiate training for its candidates for the ministry; but if it has not come, it is not because the world is not demanding trained men. It is almost a crime to set a man face to face with the perplexing problems of modern life, especially in the position of leader, without having seen to it first that he has the intellectual equipment for the work he has undertaken. We wish we could have printed on the walls of the bedroom of every boy in this land, in flaming letters so that he might see them when he lay down and when he rose up, these words: "Go to college!" And we should like to suspend before the eyes of every man, be he young or old, these other words: "Buy a book!" Not that going to college and buying books are talismanic things that possess virtue of themselves, but because they stand for intellectual training and equipment which are absolutely necessary for making the most of life. Poverty of body is bad enough, but may the good Lord deliver us from poverty of mind. Vision is woefully limited by lack of intellectual equipment, and many a life is made a little by it.

---

PASTORAL VISITING.

It is true that some preachers speak of pastoral visiting as the hardest part of their work—and perhaps it is; but the mere fact that it is hard does not lessen its importance or afford any excuse for its neglect. If we had no hard tasks to perform, it is altogether likely that the muscles of our moral being would become so flabby that even the easy things would bring a sense of pain and weariness. That, however, is by the way. It is the testimony of so many pre-eminently successful ministers of the gospel that pastoral visiting is necessary for the best results in winning souls to Christ, that we cannot afford to give it up or grow lax in it, no matter how hard it may seem. Dr. Charles R. Brown, dean of the Divinity School of Yale University, in his recent book, "The Art of Preaching," has this to say: "In my own ministry I have steadily emphasized the value of personal visitation. It was my custom for twenty-odd years to make at least one thousand pastoral calls every twelve months—this was the minimum, with as many more added as time might allow. The process of using up the gray matter of the brain in the preparation of sermons should, in my judgment, be paralleled by a similar process of wearing out shoe leather and bicycle tires or a modest Ford in moving about one's parish. It was a most essential part of this visitation that it enabled me to carry on a continual work of personal evangelism. The years which showed the best returns in the enlistment of men and women in Christian life were the years when I gave the largest amount of time to the filling of my basket with hand-picked fruit through personal visitation rather than in shaking the tree by a more general and miscellaneous effort at evangelism." If men will not come to the church to hear us deliver a formal message, it is a blessed privilege to be able to take the gospel of salvation to them in their homes.

---

THE SPECIAL CENTENARY CAMPAIGN.

We should like to call attention to the fact that the present special Centenary campaign is not for the purpose of raising new money, but for the collection of pledges that are past due. There can be, therefore, no embarrassment to anybody in pushing vigorously this campaign. Those who made pledges expect, of course, to pay them, and they will not resent a personal appeal to bring them up to date; and those who make the appeal can do so with the full assurance that they are simply following business-like methods in the work of the church. In addition to all this, the urgency of the need, the magnificent results already achieved, and the bright promise for the future, furnish a motive that ought to be inspiring to solicitor and subscriber alike. As our people become acquainted with the crisis in our world-wide program, many of them, we dare say, who have completed their payments will welcome the opportunity of making additional contributions. There can be no excuse for any congregation that fails to make this special effort to collect these overdue funds. Within the next three months we confidently expect to see the church rally to this task as it did when the Centenary Movement first enlisted the interest of all our organizations. A retreat now would be as calamitous as it would be cowardly.

---

"LOOK IN THE FENCE CORNERS."

In an address delivered last week before the Louisiana State Sunday School Association, Mr. W. C. Pearce, one of the best known Sunday school workers in the world, related the incident through which he learned, by seeing it growing in the fence corners, that timothy hay could be raised on a soil that was considered incapable of producing it, and he made application of the incident by calling attention to the fact that successful Sunday schools are being maintained in the "fence corners" of Europe and the Orient, from which he has just returned. The illustration was apt and the application pertinent; but, as we listened to the speaker, our thoughts took a wider range and we began to think of other things that make it worth while to "look in the fence corners." This, for example: The open part of a life may be apparently clean and wholesome; but in some hidden place there may be thoughts, appetites, inclinations, practices that are so foul and noxious as to threaten the whole character. Clean out the "fence corners!" Or this: The home may be characterized apparently by all the marks that belong to a Christian family; but there may be such neglect of what seem to be small things that the children of that home will, in maturity, develop traits that will mar and ruin their lives. The trouble was in the "fence corners." And so it goes—the suggestions are innumerable. Maybe some corners need looking into to-day!

---

EXPENSIVE CARELESSNESS.

We read a news item recently to the effect that a waste of $1,740,000 annually results from wrongly addressed mail. The average number of letters received at the post offices daily with improper addresses is 375,381, and the salaries of postal employees required to re-address this mail amounts to more than $1,000,000 a year. Some mistakes in business are inevitable—but a mistake due to carelessness is hard to overlook. Such mistakes often cost more than money, too.

---

EFFECTIVE PUBLIC SPEAKING.

We do not profess to know all about public speaking—in fact, we know very little about it—but we do not hesitate to say that a good voice, properly used, has much to do with it. We cannot understand why a robust man should stand before a great audience, eager to hear him, and pitch his voice so low and mumble his words so atrociously that even those in the front pews can scarcely understand what he is talking about. We are likewise at a loss to understand why a man speaking to a small group in a small room will shout and roar as if he were trying to make himself heard over a ten-acre lot. It is a pity for a man to have something to say and not know how to say it.

---

GO AHEAD.

When the inspired writer said, "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might," he made a suggestion that is as good to-day as it was in the far-off time when he spoke. The quickest way —and the only way, so far as we know—to get rid of a hard job is simply to go ahead and do it. "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only," is a New Testament exhortation that carries the same suggestion.

---

Love is the goal, love is the way we wend,
  Love is our parallel, unending line
  Whose only perfect Parallel is Christ,
Beginning not begun, End without end:
  For He who hath the heart of God sufficed,
  Can satisfy all hearts—yea, thine and mine.
—Christina Rossetti.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:

Subscription Rates: One year, $[illegible].00; six months, $1.

To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

UNDERGRADUATES, PREACHERS' INSTITUTES, AND CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS.

By Dr. R. H. Bennett, Secretary Ministerial Supply and Training.

As is well known, the law of our church makes it mandatory upon all undergraduate preachers to pursue their Conference courses of study through the Correspondence School, or in a Summer Institute. This means all of the course. A part of it may be taken in the Correspondence School and a part in the Institute. But no Annual Conference can pass an undergraduate to a higher class who has not successfully taken all his studies in one or the other. The Institute must be one which is approved by the Board of Education. At the request of the Board of Education, the Educational Commission of our church last August, at their meeting at Lake Junaluska, established the conditions to which such Institutes must measure up in order to be approved by the Board of Education. These conditions have been published in our Conference organs. Extra copies of them can be had from this office.

Many of those who have studied the situation for years are convinced that the best results will be obtained by our undergraduates taking their studies through both agencies, viz., the Correspondence School and the Summer Institute. There are from six to nine books in each year's course of study. On these the Correspondence Schools give an average of sixty lessons. At the close of these lessons an examination is given on each book. This work is to be done in a twelve months' enrollment. The average time required by each student to finish these courses is six months. There is nothing that will take the place of this regular drill and instruction. These lessons are prepared by the students, and sent in to the Correspondence Schools at Emory University or Southern Methodist University. They are corrected by the theological professors and returned to the student. No one thing has marked a greater advance in a larger number of our ministers' efficiency than the Correspondence School work. It is invaluable.

The Summer Institute is also of large value. It should be promoted and encouraged in every way. It has the valuable elements of personal touch with the instructor and with one's fellow students, and the inspiration of the platform addresses. To attempt, however, to equalize the Correspondence School method and the Summer Institute method of taking the course of study is impossible. A partial substitute is offered if one carefully masters the books before going to the Institute. One-third of the time of the Summer Institute is taken up with examinations. Another third is consumed in the two platform addresses each day. This leaves only three or four of the ten days of the Institute for classroom review of from seven to nine books. Of course, it is utterly impossible to do more than bow to the volumes as one gallops by at full speed. For these reasons, one of our leading colleges has stopped trying to give the undergraduate Conference courses at its Summer Institute, but devotes its Institute (one of the best) to inspirational lessons and addresses on more advanced subjects. For the same reason, several of our leading colleges offer only two books per year from the undergraduate course of study at their excellent Summer Institutes. Some of our best college professors, after trying it, have told me that to attempt to give the whole undergraduate course of study at the Summer Institute was a "farce" (that was the word they used), with which they are not willing to be longer connected. Other teachers in these Summer Institutes have told me that to attempt to give the whole undergraduate course at a Summer Institute was little better than the old and discarded method of giving these examinations at the sessions of the Annual Conferences, which method in many instances degenerated into a scandalous humbug. Other professors in the Institute have told me that some students whose examinations at the Institute were approved, boasted that they never looked at the books in the course of study until they came to the Institute.

These facts are given not by any means to discredit the Summer Institute, but to show that some of them have done superficial work in the past and to emphasize the importance of the Institutes hereafter rigidly enforcing the moderate and easy conditions set for them by the Education Commission.

For the above reasons, therefore, the best method for our undergraduates is to have the indispensable drill and instruction of the Correspondence School study, and also the inspiration of the Summer Institute. And it is most earnestly hoped that all our undergraduates will pursue this method and write for enrollment in the Correspondence School of their territory—those west of the Mississippi River to Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex., and those east of the Mississippi River to Emory University, Georgia,—and that they will also arrange to attend the Summer Institute of their Conference.

The Education Commission, in view of these facts, has put in as one indispensable requirement that no student can pass the course at the Institute unless he has in advance prepared a digest of the book, approved by his professor. They have also tried to stiffen up the conditions of the Summer Institute in various other ways.

The object of this article is to stir up our pure minds by way of remembrance with a few brief exhortations in the interest of a better trained ministry:

1. We earnestly urge those charged with the selection of the faculties of the Summer Institutes to make no complimentary selections, but to select men with an enthusiasm for scholarship. A Summer Institute may be of real value, or it may easily become the insubstantial figment of a dream, according to the type of men who are put in charge of it.

2. We earnestly urge the faculty of every Preachers' Institute to see to it that the few and moderate rules for the Institutes, fixed by the Education Commission, are strictly carried out in order that the Institute may be approved by the Board of Education.

3. We earnestly urge the faculties of the Institutes not to press all men to take all the course at the Institute. Some men of better capacity or equipment can do so. Others cannot in justice to themselves or the work.

4. We earnestly urge every member of an Annual Conference Examining Committee on the course of study to write at once to the undergraduates under his charge, urging them to enroll promptly with the Correspondence School and also to make their arrangements to attend the Summer Institute.

5. We earnestly urge every undergraduate who conscientiously desires to equip himself for the great and holy work of the ministry, and not merely like a greased pig to slip through some hole in the fence to the next higher class, to write at once for enrollment in the Correspondence School and also to make his preparations to attend the Summer Institute of his Conference.

(The brethren will save time by not writing to me about the work of the Correspondence School, as numbers still do. I have had no responsibility for the details of the Correspondence Schools for four years. My office is in Nashville.)

This office knows only the same interest in the Correspondence Schools and in the Summer Institutes and wishes for all of them the utmost success possible. All of the above is written simply from an earnest desire to see in our pulpits an ever increasingly better trained class of men. We have the agencies for bringing this about. Let us use them.

There are three ways in which young preachers get through the Conference course of study, viz., cum laude, magna cum laude, and mirabile dictu.

The object of this article is to beg that we all unite to throw to discard the last method.

Nashville, Tenn.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

There are certain principles that differentiate Christianity from all known religions. After relieving my mind of this learned statement, I proceed. Some of these, fundamently indispensable to its successful propagation, are relegated by popular pulpiteers to the effete and outgrown philosophers of antiquated generations. Now don't smile at this, for it is the way to put it. The Virgin birth of Jesus, the atonement made once for all, his divine Sonship, miraculous powers and coming again, are counted antiquated, not in accord with the brilliant discoveries in the wide realm of modern thought in the fields of biology, comparative religions and historical criticism. Good Lord, deliver us from evil occurrences at home and abroad! Is our holy religion a mere system of human thought, or a revelation from God? After a life given to the study of this and things related thereto, I infinitely believe "the faith once for all delivered to the saints" a revelation. How any man can study the Bible and church history, then believe otherwise, is a mystery to me. He either is juggling facts, or is constituted differently from me. I do not know much about the inner workings of another man's being, but I do know it takes supernatural power to save me from sin and keep me straight. And I am also fully convinced that this same spiritual, miraculous power alone can save and keep alive the nations of the world. Matthew and Luke give full accounts of Christ's miraculous conception and Virgin birth. In Mark's gospel even the demons speak of him as the Son of God in that distinctive sense which can only mean his essential deity. John's reference to him as the "only begotten Son of God" sets him apart from every other man born of woman. These facts of his miraculous nature are so closely interwoven with his life and ministry that to doubt them is to doubt that language can contain and convey thought.

* * *

The daily newspaper is confessedly a power—perhaps the most potent and influential in this country to-day. Most people read nothing else. For good or evil, these white-winged messengers drop their seed thoughts in the fertile field of men's minds. Ye editors do the thinking for the masses, and ye reporters, correspondents, etc., of the purveyors of news shape, color, and fashion the same to suit the views and notions of the organs to which ye contribute. Politics, religion, race, prejudice, and self-interest are potent factors in shaping the news we daily read. This is an unfortunate state of affairs. It breeds skepticism and leaves honest men wondering how one may find his way through this inextricable maze of speculations and surmises called news. Not only this, but the type of Christianity which is bruited abroad as the true and only doctrine of our blessed Lord is a kind of sickly sentimentality that ignores righteousness and is a travesty on justice. Ages ago the church branded it antinomianism, the vilest of heresies, knowing full well that righteousness, right thinking, right living, right doing are the only hope for humanity. Charity, love, yes, but an ignoring of decency and justice to others, joined with insincerity, around the flaming indination and fearful denunciation of the Christ. Let us hear what the wise and good have said, and not be carried away with this modern tempest of sensationalism and superficial thought.

628 Kings Highway, Shreveport, La.

---

THE GREAT LAYMEN AND PASTORS' MEETING—SOME OBSERVATIONS AND IMPRESSIONS.

By Rev. James H. Felts.

The "flu" materially reduced the attendance from the Greenville District. Other sections were more fortunate. Nearly two thousand delegates were actualy present from the State at large. Galloway Memorial was packed day and night. Those who did the honors of the occasion were masters of the situation all the while. Their unfailing courtesies left pleasant memories in the hearts of the visitors.

Bishop Ainsworth was equal to every demand. Whether presiding or delivering exhortations, or, as he expressed it, "making a few feeble remarks," he "hit the nail center, driving it home." The devotion he is generating in the hearts of men in these parts gives additional appreciation of the EPISCOPACY, sounds the victory note closer home.

Dr. Taylor was interesting, logical, worth hearing. His messages were shot through with information, earnest appeal, directness. Some of his statements provoked "peculiar" thinking. When he indicated that ninety per cent of the missionaries, seventy-five per cent of the better known preachers, and two-thirds of the officials and teachers in the city churches were from the country—well, if the country AS IT IS produces so much better than the cities, is it not worth while to preserve SOME of the conditions that obtain there? It might destroy our recruiting grounds to make them too much like the cities.

Dr. Sledd was spiritual, forceful, helpful. I have never heard messages of greater clearness and power. He was frequently Candleresque. If his work in the school room is comparable to his messages from the platform, "he is a teacher sent from God." I have heard him several times. He leaves me hungering for some such hold on God as is evidenced by his burning statements, his white-heat exhortations. A few "sample shots" will give some faint idea of his striking deliverances: "You do not educate men into the kingdom of God; they are born into it." "All humanitarian movements must be grounded in the righteousness of God." "A multiplying ritualism has always been a token of decadence." "The Christian life is a Christ-centered life." "The common center of the world's thinking is SELF. Jesus means by self-denial a NEW center of thought." "In our churches we have too much emphasis on material things, too much stress on more stuff."

Bishop Moore was heard but once. When he declared with emphasis, "There is too much dead timber in the pulpit," a scarcely subdued laugh was heard over the whole house, followed immediately by a solemnity akin to sadness. Surely there was a personal question echoing in many hearts, "Lord, is it I?" When, with striking emphasis, he said, "Our danger is not from men trying to undermine Christ, BUT IGNORANCE," smiles, near tears, amens and the like were strangely mixed. None of us, perhaps, were unmindful of the fact that there are varying degrees as well as kinds of ignorance. Spiritual ignorance is more dangerous than ignorance of books. A trained thinker may be so ignorant as to appear dwarfed, lopsided, pitiable. Stack up the late Bob Ingersoll with Dr. Goodell, for instance. Take a look at Germany, the late shrine of intellectual neophytes, the home of kultur. Bishop Moore's address was well received, and made a valuable addition to the sum total of the things that helped.

Unquestionably Dr. Goodell was the outstanding speaker of the occasion, regardless of the merit of others. It was good to hear him. Many of us kept wondering about the secret of his power. His use of the classics was so natural that his messages would have been incomplete without them, so happy that all men appreciated even though not well versed therein. His presence was commanding without the remotest consciousness of its appearing. His logic was convincing, his spiritual fervor never lacking. There were times when he was the orator personified. Again he was a humorist so subtle that smiles were caught by tears, and one's heart ached from sheer joy. Once or twice he was overpowering. My, but he is a man among men! Christianity can never fail while she has such a witness. Again and again he would fling out with the emotion of a great passion. "Evangelism is not a theory but an EXPERIENCE," and like utterances that brought forth "amens" akin to the early days. His "lesson of the graveyard" is not likely to be forgotten. Aside from his evident consecration, I decided that the secret of his power was revealed in certain personal utterances. Together with references that constantly betrayed fine scholarship, I caught many such sentences and expressions as follow: "My home was bounded on the east by supplication, on the west by thanksgiving." "For fifty years my father averaged two hours a day in vocal prayer." "Holy boldness makes men like Christ." "When love is gone, all is gone." "Some men have an up-to-date religion; I HAVE A DATELESS RELIGION." He called the great men of the Bible his friends. As he led us through the rich pastures of sacred and profane literature, shooting scenes and incidents through human experience, bolstering an argument or adorning a story, some of us had to "hold tight, little man" to keep from "disturbing public worship."

If this meeting was an index to the spiritual thinking and experience of our leaders, GOD MULTIPLY OUR LEADERS. The man who was present and received no benefit surely must be brainless, heartless, boneless. I did not hear the Lay Secretary. I heard good reports of the address. I did hear from the laymen. As I talked with numbers of them it came to me with force, "Woe unto the preacher who fails to keep pace with them," for they are headed for the firing line. From my own territory more than one such layman volunteered for such work as might be given them, and without hesitation said, "A new day is here."

May the great Jackson meeting multiply itself an hundredfold. Amen!

Greenville, Miss.

---

THE SOUTHERN METHODIST CHURCH MUST GO FORWARD IN ITS WORLD PROGRAM.

By Bishop W. B. Beauchamp.

The quadrennium just closed marks the most brilliant period in the history of the Southern Methodist Church. In the hour of a world war there came to our church the vision of a great world enterprise. To the world need, there awoke in the heart of our people a wonderful response. In the history of Christianity no denomination ever rallied to a task more courageously than has Southern Methodism to the Centenary Movement.

With the presentation of the world's need, a million of our membership subscribed thirty-seven millions of dollars for the enlargement of a program for world evangelization. Most carefully had the Committee of One Hundred and the Centenary Commission made a survey of our responsibility in the fields which we had already occupied and in the new fields to which we felt called.

Our church, under the direction of the Board of Missions, has conscientiously followed out that world survey as laid down from the beginning of the Centenary period. Nearly seventeen millions of dollars of new money have been collected. We have felt the tremendous spring of our church at home and have seen with great joy the advance in the home field.

The spirit of co-operation and of faith which possessed our church in this world program at home spread across the seas and the selfsame spirit was reproduced in every mission field in foreign lands. Our church has moved with such wonderful rapidity and the enlargement has come in such a brief time that we were scarcely aware of the demands that would be upon us in the immediate future. There can be no just criticism of this great advance and enlargement, or in the administration of the funds for the purposes for which they were raised.

The demand for adequate finance to continue the program on the Centenay basis is crucial in every field at home and abroad. For some reason or reasons, the payment of the Centenary pledges has not kept pace with the demand for the money. It is needless now to discuss what these reasons may be. We face a great and immediate emergency in which the collection of pledges must be made. Four millions of dollars collected by the first of May is the minimum amount that will take care of the program now on. This is not an impossible task for our church. We are able to take care of this situation, but to do it every Conference and every district and every charge in Southern Methodism must pay their quota of this four millions of dollars.

The enlarged work has been undertaken in good faith by our church, believing that the men and women who subscribed this money would redeem their pledges. The need of the hour will be told in every Conference, and in every church in every Conference. Bishops, secretaries, pastors, and laymen have pledged themselves that this money shall be collected. Surely every church and every subscriber will count it a joy to do their part in this great emergency to which we have come in our Centenary program. The accomplishment of the task of the collection of four millions of dollars by May 1 demands a co-operation of every factor, every element that goes to our great church organization. Payments of pledges in this hour may mean self-sacrifice on the part of many of the subscribers to the Centenary fund, but if it means sacrifices, it will also bring a greater blessing.

Let our whole church arise as one man and move forward until the victory is assured.

---

WE ARE FACING AN EMERGENCY.

By Dr. A. J. Weeks.

Our church is facing right now a real emergency and it is important that every Methodist understand just how real and how serious it is. The Centenary period is practically over, but the Centenary task is not quite half finished. Of the $35,000,000 pledged in the Centenary Campaign, about $16,000,000 has been collected; and practically all of the remainder is now due. Unless $4,000,000 can be collected on past due pledges by the first of May, our missionary program will be seriously interfered with.

Since the beginning of the Centenary we have built many churches, schools, and other institutions necessary to the best and most successful missionary work. We have sent out 240 new missionaries, thus almost doubling our forces in the field. This enlarged force of workers and greater number of institutions places upon the church an added financial responsibility. In good faith improvements were made, larger and better institutions were established, and a large force of workers sent to the front. The maintenance of our enlarged work depends upon the collection of Centenary funds.

Realizing the extreme need, our bishops, secretaries, presiding elders, and other interested laymen are entering into a campaign which will continue four months, if necessary, to gather these needed funds. It is a time when the last Methodist must do his best. So far the Centenary has absolutely made good. The church has had the greatest success of its history during this Centenary period and this success has been in every foreign field we occupy, as well as in the homeland. Meetings are being held now throughout the church, and will be continued until the last congregation and the last subscriber to the Centenary fund is reached.

The honor of the church is involved, as the success of our part of the missionary enterprise depends upon the immediate redemption of our pledges.

---

Brass often receives honor that belongs to brains.—Selected.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Aberdeen District.

Rev. R. I. Collins is happy and hopeful, beginning his fifth year at Shanon and Nettleton.

* * *

Rev. J. G. Johnson is well beloved on the Woodland circuit. An unusual thing took place at the session of his first quarterly conference. The pastor and presiding elder had agreed that the salary on that charge should be reduced. When it was suggested, every steward present protested; so it could not be done.

* * *

Thirty preachers and laymen attended the great conference in Jackson Jan. 16-17, on Home Missions and Evangelism from our district. All were greatly inspired.

* * *

Rev. W. M. Campbell, our District Evangelist, began a revival meeting at Fulton on Jan. 21. We are expecting great results.

* * *

The Nettleton circuit is taking a forward step in many particulars. There is a substantial raise in pastor's salary, with a purpose to build a new church at Evergreen, and improve the parsonage and three church buildings that need painting and other improvements. All claims are to be paid and a special effort made to have a revival in each church. Brother G. C. Gregory is the pastor, and he has complete charge of the situation.

* * *

The preachers and their families throughout the District are well and at work, so far as we know.

* * *

We are to have two preachers' meetings in the Aberdeen District, the first one at Tupelo on Tuesday, Feb. 6, at 2 o'clock p. m.; the second will be held at Houston, Feb. 7, at 2 o'clock p. m. Every pastor in the District will be expected to attend one of these meetings. It is important.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Greenville District.

Tunica.—C. A. Parks, pastor. This is as nearly a mutual admiration society as I have knowledge of. Finances in good condition, members being received into the church with becoming regularity, all the machinery running smoothly—a growing charge, an enterprising, liberal, progressive people. In a few years no charge in this great delta country will be stronger or afford a more fruitful field.

* * *

Friars Point and Bobo.—J. H. Smith, pastor. They "pounded" Smith into a most happy submission. He preaches well, and the Point has been accustomed to good preaching. Finances are being handled satisfactorily. The addition of Bobo to this charges seems to please all parties concerned. Unless signs are without value, this will prove to be a year of real development.

* * *

Shelby.—C. M. Chapman, pastor. The finances of this charge have about doubled in two years. The church is financed in a business way. They have an intelligent pastor—conservative without being slow, a faithful, effective leader. "The Wonder Charge" is alive all the time. They even make provision for their annual revival in the budget. A growing people served by a growing man.

* * *

Shaw. J. D. Simpson, pastor. The first quarterly conference here was a record-maker. Nearly one-third of the salary paid, and the year's finances well provided for. Simpson belongs to that class of preachers known as "Old Reliable." It is not age, but a rich measure of common sense and consecration that puts him in this class. No man better loved, no man more faithful, and no charge better pleased. Here are found some mighty fine men who are really growing and some mighty fine women who are largely responsible for it.

Cleveland.—W. W. Mitchell, pastor. This man rests constantly under the grave accusation of his brethren—they accuse him of being about the best preacher in the Conference. Cleveland smiles, fights, believes, hopes, pays debt after debt, and will soon be in the clear. I know no congregation that fights harder or evidences a greater loyalty. Take it all in all, this is a great charge, served by a most competent pastor.

* * *

Gunnison and Sherard.—E. B. Sharp, pastor. A steady, dependable, growing pastor, and an appreciative people. Gunnison deserves "honorable mention," and Deeson has won the same "entitlements." As to Sherard, the very name is an honored one in this Conference. But honors are strange things. They take strange turns. In the case of Sherard, those who KNOW just smile and say, "Have you met Mrs. Sherard?" Mother of a whole community, spiritual adviser, the one important factor in that honored community. A good charge and a pastor who goes slow enough to do his work well, fast enough to meet all reasonable demands.

* * *

Rosedale and Hillhouse.—W. N. Dodds, pastor. It is one thing to hunt ducks, quite another to grip the hearts and command the respect of a whole congregation. I do not recommend Dodds as a duck hunter, but when it comes to commanding the respect and appreciation of a splendid people, a cultured and appreciative people, Dodds is right there without the slightest effort. It is the same at Hillhouse. Mrs. J. D. Smith, than whom there is no finer or more splendid woman in all the delta, is the leader there by common consent. And Malvina is definitely on the map. Some of the best people of Beulah also belong to this charge. The larger day is not far ahead for this people.

* * *

Notes and Personals.

That was a remarkable Sunday school report made at Shaw at the first quarterly conference, by a remarkable superintendent, Mrs. M. E. Dakin: "Officers and teachers, 11; cradle roll, 27; Home Department, 35; school proper, 130. Total, 203. Average attendance, 88; average collection, $5.10; paid to Centenary, $18; Near East Relief, $5.50; Superannuates, $21.17; J. E. Stevens, treasurer, $4.08; forty-eight Testaments given pupils, $28.80; literature, $103; Christmas treat for little children, $6.80. Total, $187.33. Balance in treasury, $6.13. Our aim: Making the new year effective through (a) good music, teaching the old hymns; (b) better equipment; (c) striving for the standard as set forth in the program of work B." This school is much larger than the church in membership, and is going good. Good leadership always gets results.

* * *

Interest in the Gypsy Smith revival at Leland grows. Great crowds attend the services. The results are already far-reaching. Prayer meetings are being held in practically all nearby towns. When this appears, the services will have come to an end. The deposit should abide.

* * *

Mrs. A. R. Beasley, wife of our Glen Allan and Benoit pastor, is slowly recovering from a somewhat severe illness.

* * *

E. Nash Broyles, pastor at Greenville, had a bout with the "flu" recently, but he is harder to keep in bed than a small boy in green apple time. He is about himself again.

* * *

J. A. George, pastor at Jonestown and Duncan, tackled the "flu." It cost him the Jackson meet, therefore was expensive. He is going good again.

* * *

Dr. Chapman, pastor at Shelby, knows more about the "flu" now than he did formerly. He also paid the price of the Jackson meet.

* * *

Mrs. Suydam, wife of the pastor of the Boyle circuit, was reported quite ill while her husband was in Jackson. He was called home. It is to be hoped that she is well again. Suydam is a mighty faithful man, making full proof of his ministry. His wife abides at home while he gives his life to the ministry.

* * *

The District Evangelist, Rev. J. W. Robertson, will hold a meeting at Shaw early in February.

* * *

Mr. Ben F. Rogers, son of an honored Methodist preacher, one of the fine members of the Big Brothers' Bible Class, Greenville, will knock at the door of the Conference next fall. Well equipped, a fine speaker, a student of Holy Writ, WELL MARRIED, he will be received with great joy.

* * *

It now appears that there may be at least three applicants for admission into the traveling connection from the Greenville District another year.

* * *

The twin district meet at Greenwood was more than a success—it was a second Pentecost following the great meeting at Jackson. IT IS WELL. Bishop Ainsworth was with us, energy unabated. He delivered a really great message to a splendid congregation Thursday night at Greenwood, and the joint conference of the two districts adjourned Friday noon. The atmosphere is clearing, the revival spirit is abroad in the land, and the church building spirit seems to be getting mixed up with the revival spirit.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Ruston District.

Rev. D. F. Anders is in favor with his people, and the co-operation of pastor and people bespeak a good year for the Cotton Valley charge.

* * *

The stewards at Winnfield have placed the pastor's salary at $2,400, which is a $400 raise over last year. I had the privilege of worshiping with them the first Sunday in this month. The congregations and services were good, both morning and evening. I also attended the Sunday school. Dr. Wren is the superintendent. I was especially interested in the Bible class. The men have a room to themselves, with places for their hats and chairs, but this morning they came in such numbers that all the chairs were taken, and some one had to go and get more chairs. I had never seen men wanting standing room in a Bible class before. Rev. H. W. Jordan is the successful pastor of this church and Sunday school.

* * *

The new church at Homer is moving to completion under the efficient leadership of Rev. R. W. Tucker. The other church work is progressing. Brother Tucker brings things to pass.

* * *

The first quarterly conference on the Elmore circuit was well attended. Rev. L. W. Smart, the popular pastor, spoke of some of his plans for the coming year. These plans include putting the Advocate in every home as nearly as possible, collecting all the Centenary pledges, also plans for Sunday school work and other church work. Every member of the conference who was present added a word of approval and pledged themselves to cooperate with the pastor in bringing to completion these plans.

* * *

Rev. J. F. Dring has been cordially received at Sibley. The first quarterly conference met at the home of Mrs. Wrenn, who lives near and who has long been a member of the Pine Grove church. They said it was the best attended quarterly conference in the history of the Sibley circuit. An increase in salary for the preacher was made. At the close of the business, Brother Dring spoke of plans for the year. A committee had already been appointed to assist the pastor in circulating Christian literature; this point was discussed and some subscriptions were taken for the New Orleans Advocate.

On Jan. 12 a meeting for lay leaders was held at Ruston, and on the 13th at Gibsland. Brother S. S. Thomas, the efficient layman who is always on the job, was at both meetings and gave us helpful talks.

* * *

Rev. L. P. Moreland was returned for his second year at Bienville, and is in high favor with his people. The first quarterly conference was well attended, notwithstanding it rained. Brother Moreland and his good wife prepared dinner for all the stewards and the presiding elder. We had a feast and a very enjoyable time. Brother Mayfield read a letter which he had prepared to send to each member of his church, asking that they begin the first of the year and make prompt payments monthly. A resolution was passed that each member send out a similar letter.

* * *

Springhill has increased the assessment for pastor's salary $300 over last year. Brother J. F. Giles, a leading layman of this charge, also the district steward, gave us an encouraging report of Rev. T. W. St. John's work and the co-operation of his congregation.

* * *

The district stewards' meeting at Arcadia on Jan. 11 was well attended. Their slogan is, "Every claim paid in full."

* * *

The Centenary subscriptions are uppermost in our thoughts, and pastors and people are planning for a drive to the finish. Brother Thomas, our busy Centenary secretary, is stirring things. Some of the pastors are saying, "Let's pay it off and get it out of the way."

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

Shreveport District.

The City Board of Missions and Church Extension was organized on the evening of Jan. 9. There was a splendid attendaince of the representatives elected by the six churches in Shreveport and its suburbs. Addresses were made by Dr. George S. Sexton and Rev. J. W. Pearson. Mr. F. T. Whited, a most influential and highly esteemed layman of Shreveport, was elected President.

* * *

The District Board of Lay Activities met in Shreveport on Tuesday, Jan. 16. It was presided over by V. L. Fulton, District Lay Leader. T. W. Holloman, Conference Lay Leader, was present and gave valuable assistance. A number of creditable speeches were made by the laymen and strong resolutions were passed urging adequate salaries for pastors, payment of all assessments and pledges in full, and committing themselves to the plan of providing services in every church every Sunday.

* * *

Seven out of the sixteen honored superannuates of the Louisiana Conference reside in the Shreveport District, and four of these are in the city of Shreveport. Rev. B. T. Crews and wife are comfortably settled in their own home, No. 2612 Edgar Street, Rev. S. J. Davies and family in their own home at 628 Kings Highway, Rev. J. G. Sloane and family in their own home at 1618 Magnolia.

* * *

Dr. R. E. Smith, Dean of Centenary College, teaches each Sunday morning a great First Church Sunday school class, which meets in the City Hall. There are few Bible teachers anywhere who surpass Dr. Smith. The class is steadily increasing in interest.

* * *

Rev. T. J. Holladay has been warmly received on the Pelican charge and will no doubt have a successful year. The same thing may be said concerning Rev. J. L. Lay, who begins his first year on the Pleasant Hill charge.

* * *

Rev. A. J. Bonnette, who begins his first year on the Plain Dealing charge, finds a well advanced church building enterprise in the town of Plain Dealing, which, when executed, will be a splendid achievement.

* * *

Rev. W. E. Akin has been cordially received on the Ida charge. Prospects are bright for a good year under his pastorate.

* * *

It should be noted that the Belcher charge, of which Rev. A. S. J. Neill is pastor, paid all its assessments in full, though the returns came in too late to appear in the statistical reports. The work on this charge is well organized. The recently elected Charge Lay Leader is Mr. W. L. Byers, a graduate of Centenary College.

* * *

The Bayou La Chute charge, with a total membership of 38, paid last year $98.90 per capita. The two congregations now composing the circuit are most acceptably served by Rev. D. B. Raulins, who also fills a chair in Centenary Academy.

* * *

Rev. T. D. Lipscomb begins his second year on the Grand Cane charge under most favorable conditions. The three churches composing this circuit, Grand Cane, Stonewall and Keithville, paid all their assessments in full last year. The Grand Cane church building, which is directly on the Jefferson Highway, is being given a fresh coat of paint.

* * *

The Greenwood congregation is planning to purchase pews for their church during this year, after which the commodious brick buidlng, already out of debt, will be dedicated.

* * *

Rev. Clyde D. Baker, a young preacher on trial in the New Mexico Conference, has been secured to serve the Mansfield Mission as junior preacher under Brother Pearson. Brother Baker and wife (who is a preacher's daughter) both have attractive personalities and have received a cordial welcome in Mansfield.

* * *

The Shreveport circuit consists mainly of appointments filled by students in the vicinity of Shreveport. Blanchard is being supplied by Luther O. Grounds, Trees City by G. H. Corry, Pease Chapel by E. C. Dufrene.

* * *

Rev. J. T. Little, local preacher, will supply Belmont church on the Pleasant Hill charge during the preent ysar.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Hattiesburg District.

The outlook on the Hattiesburg District at this time is very encouraging. The preachers are all in their places and are laying well defined plans for the greatest year's work in the history of the District. There is a general feeling of hopefulness and satisfaction among the preachers and people that assures success. The work has been hindered in some places in the District on account of "flu," but this will soon pass away and the sun will again shine bright and clear, and the work of the Kingdom will move steadily along.

* * *

We have six new men in the District this year, and all of them seem to have made a very splendid beginning. Rev. A. J. Davis has literally captured Broad Street, and considerable improvement has already been done on the church building. Seven new Sunday school rooms have been added, and a balcony erected in the main auditorium to accommodate the growing congregation. No grass grows under Davis's feet.

* * *

Brothers Meigs at Lucedale, Forsyth at Heidelberg, Leggett at Taylorsville, and Walter at Williamsburg, all new men, and all seem to have their work well in hand, and the outlook for a good year with these brethren is very encouraging indeed. The same is true of Thompson at Collins, and Maddox at Seminary; and the newly-wed J. C. Jackson at Eucutta, and the one hundred per cent J. H. Jolly at Leakesville. With this bunch of earnest, consecrated men at their post of duty, success is assured in those charges.

* * *

Rev. C. M. Crossley, at Court Street, one of our "four-year men," is succeding admirably with his new church building, which, when completed, will be one of the most beautiful and most modern church buildings in the Mississippi Conference. They have been worshiping in the basement since November, during which time 86 members have been added to the church, 51 having been received since Conference. The elegant new pipe organ is now being installed. Nowhere can be found a happier people and preacher than at Court Street.

* * *

Rev. J. T. Leggett, the old "war horse" at Main Street, has a steady hold on the situation, and the work is moving along with a steady step. The outlook for Main Street was never brighter. A new lot adjoining the present church lot has been secured on which to build an annex to accommodate the growing activities of the church. So the work of the Kingdom moves along.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

TO THE PASTORS OF THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Dear Brethren: There has been mailed you from my office this week a poster for each of your churches which made Centenary pledges. I trust you will get the posters up at your very earliest possible convenience. Where you have more than one church, please get some one to put them up for you—the earlier the better. I am sure you will appreciate the picture very much—it is very impressive. In some places, they are being framed.

I am sure you will be interested to know that our Conference raised the Emergency Quota by January 1, and we are now in third place. While going is easy, let us push on until we reach the top.

Thanking you for your co-operation, I am,

Yours for Service,

W. D. HAWKINS,
Conference Missionary Secretary.
Conference Centenary Treasurer.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTICE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Executive Committee of the Board of Church Extension of the Mississippi Conference will meet in the Main Street Methodist Church, Hattiesburg, Miss., Tuesday, March 13, 1923, at 1 p. m.

Those wishing aid from the General Board will have their application in the hands of the Secretary, Rev. J. E. Gray, Moss Point, Miss., before that date.

Write to the General Board of Church Extension at 1115 Fourth Avenue, Louisville, Ky., for blank applications.

W. M. WILLIAMS, Chairman.

Purvis, Miss.

TO THE PASTORS AND MEMBERS OF THE MONROE DISTRICT.

Our Centenary set-up meeting for the District will be held at Rayville, La., Tuesday, Feb. 13, beginning at 9 a. m. Every pastor, lay leader, Sunday school superintendent, president of a Missionary Society, Centenary treasurer, and all others who have the interest of the Kingdom of God at heart are earnestly requested and urged to be present.

We enthusiastically pledged when the call was made; now let us rally again to the call of the church and "pay our vows unto the Lord." Our Centenary secretary is preparing a good program for the occasion, and Rayville has graciously consented to entertain those who will come. Brethren, let us make it a great gathering. Through this medium I urge the pastors to take the matter up with those who are expected to attend. Pray for the meeting and then work for results.

Sincerely,

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Retrenchment and retreat are two big words which the church should never learn to pronounce.

—Selected.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

The Question Box Is Ready.—Several weeks during the past few months this page has been used to give answers to numerous questions touching the special efforts for superannuate endowment. Many letters have come from every section of the church expressing appreciation of this manner of giving information about the great movement.

Therefore I have opened a Question Box Department which is now ready to receive questions concerning the cause of the "forgotten man." Every man, woman, and child of Southern Methodism is invited to ask any question on the subject wherein information is desired. Write your question on a postal card or in a letter and mail it to the Board of Finance, care Question Box, Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

Every question presented will have earnest consideration by the Secretary and will be answered in due time on this page. The names of those asking questions will not be published, but their initials will always be printed at the end of their respective queries.

Thus is provided an opportunity for everybody to become posted in every detail of the fast-approaching church-wide movement for superannuate endowment. Come on with your questions. If there is anything concerning this matter that you want explained, take a minute to put it down on a postal. Uncle Sam will fetch it to the "Question Box."

---

"To-Day."—Mr. Brisbane keeps us all busy reading his daily column in secular newspapers under this unique caption. He has a wonderful talent for sensing the happenings of the passing days that are worth our pausing to think about. I never read his column, and I do it every day, but that I wish he knew something about the "to-day" of our superannuated preachers. Of course he doesn't know about them, for they are hid and away from the public view; they live, or exist, in places of retirement; they are out of it, and the crowd hurries on unmindful that they were ever in it; they are "to-day's" "forgotten men."

Hereafter when you read Brisbane's "To-Day" just think about what is going on among the superannuates of your church that very minute. It is well enough to think about Near East Relief and a hundred other kindred subjects, but I am utterly unable to understand how one justifies oneself for failing to see also the old veteran preachers at home. They do not force themselves upon us; they do not whine; they do not ask for charity. They sit there, recline there, stagger there, suffer there, wait there, and maybe die there. Yes, even while you are reading "To-Day."

---

To-Morrow.—Southern Methodism has about 6000 preachers in active service. Taken all together, they are as fine a body of men as could possibly be assembled in one group. They have lovely families, too—wives and children who have walked with them and suffered with them through many years. These men have in their keeping the moral welfare of the nation. By their faithful work the social order lives, business thrives, and the people dwell together unafraid in prescribed relations. No body of men in the land does more to bring peace, happiness, and prosperity to the people than does this group of preachers.

And yet they are a cheap bunch—that is, they work for an average annual salary of approximately $1100. In the matter of financial support given them by the people they are cheap labor, but in the service they render mankind no figure will express an estimate of their value. These preachers are not able to lay by for old age. Could you meet their expenses for books, clothes, contributions, etc., and save anything for old age? To-morrow these men will have to quit; they will be too much used up by passing years to go on; the $1100 per year for active service will suddenly change into $200 per year pension. Then what? For answer turn to the superannuates of to-day. Every active preacher of to-day is a superannuated preacher of to-morrow. The struggle for superannuate endowment should enlist the best effort of every active preacher.

---

Annual Meeting of the Board.—The fifth annual meeting of the Board of Finance will be held in St. Louis April 23, 24. At this meeting the Secretary will present the plan in detail for the special effort for superannuate endowment, and the Board will make such changes as desired before the plan is published for presentation to the Annual Conferences in the fall of 1923. Undoubtedly the Board has never held a more important meeting than this, and it is hoped that every member will be present to remain until all the work is finished.

The fiscal year does not close until March 31, but the facts now in hand seem to justify the statement that the increase of the General Superannuate Endowment Fund for this year will exceed $100,000. If this prophecy comes true, it will be very gratifying under the conditions the Board has had to work. Also it now appears certain that the total overhead expenses for the current fiscal year will show a small increase as compared with last year. Considering that the Board has had abnormal expense throughout the year on account of preparation for the special effort for superannuate endowment, this fact seems almost incredible.

The church never did a better thing than she did in creating the General Board of Finance. Fortunate are the men who are privileged to have the opportunity to assist this splendid organization in raising the great fund that will help to provide an adequate support for the church's worn-out servants.

---

Stick Around Every Week.—When your Advocate comes each week, grab it quick. You will always find something on the "forgotten man's" page that will challenge your interest and enthusiasm for a cause that appeals to head and heart. The text will always be the same, but the contents will be different. I have some surprises coming soon that will do your soul good. When they appear on this page, you will agree with me that the giant leaders of Southern Methodism are stripping for action in behalf of the superannuates. Therefore read this page every week, or you will miss somthing you ought to have.

By the way, what do you do with your Advocate when you have finished reading it? Don't throw it away; give it to some friend who is sound asleep on the subject of superannuate endowment and tell him to read the "forgotten man's" page. When we get him aroused, he might subscribe for the paper. Try it.

Remember that your church expects in the spring of 1924 to undertake a movement for her superannuates the like of which has never been known in history. It will be an effort to rid herself of a lifelong reproach for allowing her age-worn preachers to spend the evening of their lives in the shadows of deprivations. This page is dedicated to a preparation for that compelling day. Stick around every week; maybe it will carry something that will help to prepare you for your part in the struggle.

---

It Might Have Been You.—This week I met a preacher—a superannuated one. He was retired from active service at the last session of his Annual Conference, which meant that his salary stopped and the parsonage turned him out so it could take the newly appointed pastor in. His Conference Board of Finance paid him $100 for a year's living. He returned from Conference, developed a carbuncle which was lanced fourteen times, and finally had to be cut out entirely by the surgeon. On New Year's Day I met him and said: "Hello, ——! How are you?" "Fairly well," he said; "but this carbuncle nearly put me out." Then I asked: "How are you financially?" The tears rolled down his cheeks as he replied: "Bless your heart, I am so glad you asked that; not that I want you to give me anything, but just to know that somebody cares." A few small checks had come to the Board on Christmas with requests that they be used in emergency cases. I invited this brother to the offices of the Board, gave him a check for $25, and he went away knowing some things by experience that he would not pause to consider twenty years ago. Brother preacher, it might have been you. It will be you some day. Or maybe your wife. I want to burn this on your heart: Every active preacher is a "forgotten man" in the making! Come in and help me while you are able to do something.

---

"The attitudes of a little child are shaped quite as much by example and suggestion as by explicit direction or instruction."—Benjamin S. Winchester.

The Home Circle

JUST FOR TO-DAY.

By Viola Dye.

Let me but live as best I may to-day,
And worry not o'er years now past and gone,
But give me grace that I may truly say,
I live my best to-day.
To-morrow's sun may never rise
On this, my earthly life,
So let me finish now my task begun,
And lift mine eyes to
Heaven's sweet stars at night,
And to the beauteous afterglow
Of noonday sun, and softly sing,
Because my heart is right.

—Exchange.

LITTLES MAKE MICKLES.

By Lillian Loring Trott.

Madge was working hard, mornings and evenings, in the chocolate factory. There was no outlook in that line; no opportunity for advancement in that particular shop. But this was the only off-hours' employment near home open to the ambitious student. To secure any other regular wages she would have to give up school and devote her entire weekdays to it. So Madge kept to her books from nine until four, and dipped fondant before and after school hours.

For Madge had aspirations. She meant her own efforts to lift her from the ranks, and to furnish comforts, even luxuries, to her parents, and a broader life to the younger ones.

"It is all father, with his meager health, can do to keep the family together," she confided to Aunt Octavia. "And I often wonder how mother keeps her feet as she does, without any hired help whatever. What I'm striving for is the ability to command a salary that will deliver them from actual drudgery and let them feel somewhat relieved from money anxiety. Besides, I plan to help Arnold and Rose. I want them both to go to college, and they can if I give them a lift and if they lift themselves."

While she was talking Arnold rushed in. With him the doorway admitted gusts of rain, and cakes of mud dropped from his nimble heels.

"Say, sis"—he was all eagerness—"the fellows are off for an out-country hike; looks like sun's coming out; mother's waist-deep in washin'. Can't you toss me up a lunch—the sandwiches like mother—"

Severely Madge interrupted: "I'll be docked at the shop if I'm late. There isn't a thing on hand. Don't you see how muddy you are?"

Without waiting for more, Arnold plunged across the street to the little corner bakery and paid more than Madge's docked wage for a bag of unwholesome pastry.

"I wish you'd practice that duet with me," Rose next made known her wants in Aunt Octavia's hearing. "Elsie Day's to play it with me at the concert, and she has it perfect, so she doesn't care whether she practices it often or not. But my time isn't at all true—"

"I haven't looked at the 'News' this week, sighed Madge. She prided herself on keeping up with current events. This was Saturday, and she would have a few minutes to devote to the paper. "Come to think of it, I told Mr. Collins I might be down half an hour earlier to-day. It'll mean just that much more in my pay envelope." And without even promising Rose a half hour in the evening, she left.

When a holiday came around the factory employees naturally looked for leave of absence. A rush order came in at the last minute, but the manager didn't care whether he filled it or not, although he did say he could, in a pinch, put it through with one extra hand. "I need the holiday myself, though," grudgingly he added. Immediately Madge volunteered to remain in the shop.

"I'm so sorry you aren't to be with us to-day," the weary mother told Madge, when she heard this. "I had counted on your taking a few steps at home, so we could all take things easier."

At last Aunt Octavia spoke. "If only you would give a little bit of yourself to your dear ones as you go along—a word here, a few seconds there, lift over this or that roughness—it would count more than any financial boost you will ever be able to lend. It's the littles that make the mickle. When the mickle is ready they may not be needy. They may not be here to receive it. Your father had reckoned on your reading away his headache this resting hour—"

"Father?" gasped Madge. Her heart thumped as it always did when she recollected how delicate he was, and she went to shop in a daze. But after that she came to herself. She was dipping fondant, with the tardy Mr. Collins half-heartedly lining boxes, when she made her resolution.

"Mr. Collins, I want to go home; they need me more than the money. I—"

"And"—Madge spoke while her resolution was strong—"I'm only coming here, after this, when I'm not wanted at home. It's the littles of me they want—and I've robbed them of the mickle of me."—Selected.

"AWARDED THIRD PRIZE."

Sylvia Main stopped in front of the painting that bore a card with the words, "Awarded third prize." Her eyes were bitter. Third prize to a thing like that! It ought to be forbidden to paint such things!"

Jane Meadows turned from a painting of a lovely summer hillside and looked at the prize picture. It was a sordid city street with dreary crowds streaming between the hideous tenements. It was startlingly real. "It is terrible and wonderful," she said slowly, "I don't wonder they gave it a prize. You couldn't forget it."

"That's just why it ought to be forbidden!" Sylvia cried fiercely.

"But it's true," Jane protested. "The artist saw clear into life. He makes you feel that the awfulness isn't really in the narrow streets and terrible tenements but in sodden souls without a vision."

Sylvia looked at her companion in amazement. "You of all people, who are always telling me that I've no right to be a pessimist!"

Jane glanced round the gallery; no one else was in sight. "Tell me your definition of a pessimist," she said.

"One who sees clearly that sin and sorrow and ugliness are in the world." Sylvia did not have to stop to think.

Jane had been turning the pages of her catalogue, She looked up, smiling. "I suppose that's all right as far as it goes," she admitted.

"As far as goes! How much farther could it go, I'd like to know!"

"It would acknowledge that after all the pessimist has only one point of view, and that therefore his conclusion is only a partial truth. For instance, in a gallery with a picture of the sea that makes you draw a long breath and fairly smell the salt; with a picture of dancing children, oh, with pictures and pictures of beauty and all as true as that of the city street—Sylvia Main, that is the pessimist, not the artist. See that splendid old head? That is by the same man!"

"But—" Sylvia protested, but Jane interrupted her.

"Don't you see that you are not looking at life honestly, dear? I am going to give you a challenge. I challenge you to write down a few words about all the lives that you know personally. Put down your Aunt Kate's neurasthenia, but put down also your Uncle Dan's unquenchable courage. Put down your mother's death, but put down also her perfect love. Put down your father's loneliness, but put down the devotion between the two of you. Have you been fair to pass by all those glorious things, Sylvia?"

Sylvia was silent for a long time. Then she said slowly, "Maybe not."—The Companion.

HISTORY.

Breathes there a little girl with soul so dead who never once or more has said:
"Open your mouth and close your eyes!"
"Tattle-tale! Tattle-tale!"
"Smarty had a party!"
"Mother, look what he did!"
"Oh, what a naughty word!"
"I've got all my lessons done, Mother!"
"Another story, Daddy, p-l-lease!"
"Boo-hoo! All the other girls have one!"
"I'll come straight home, Mother."

—E. J. K., in "Life."

Have you ever noticed that when a person knows enough to talk well, he talks very little?

—Selected.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

THE CENTENARY TEAM IN NEW ORLEANS.

One of the teams engaged in promoting the collection of the overdue Centenary pledges spent last Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in this city. It consisted of Dr. W. B. Ricks, Dr. A. C. Zumhrunnen, Miss Daisy Davies, Miss Estelle Haskins, and Bishop W. B. Murrah. All except Bishop Murrah, who did not arrive until Sunday night, met the pastors and Centenary workers of the city at a supper at the Monteleone Hotel on Friday evening, at which time they presented the urgency of the need for the collection of the Centenary funds and gave an inspiring account of the work that has already been accomplished as a result of the Centenary Movement. Enthusiastic interest was manifested hy those in attendance at the meeting, and assurannce was given that a vigorous campaign would be made in the New Orleans District for the collection of the money now due.

On Saturday afternoon, there was a gathering of representatives of the Woman's Missionary Societies of the city, at the Monteleone, which was addressed by Miss Davies; and on Sunday the memhers of the team spoke in the various Methodist churches of the city. The forces are being thoroughly organized for the work and the first Sunday in March has heen fixed as the time for making the "pay-up" canvass in the city.

Under the vigorous leadership of Dr. W. Winans Drake, the presiding elder of the district, and of Rev. J. G. Snelling, city director, there is every prospect of a successful carrying out of this urgent work.

THE LOUISIANA STATE SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.

The annual convention of the Louisiana State Sunday School Association, held in this city last week, was one of the most largely attended and most successful in its history. The General Secretary, Mr. Van Carter, has a special gift in arranging helpful programs, but we dare say he never arranged a more satisfactory one than was given at this convention. The principal speakers from a distance were Mr. W. C. Pearce, Dr. Hugh S. Magill, Prof. H. Augustine Smith, head of the Department of Fine Arts in Religion of Boston University, and Mr. Sterling Williams of Kansas City. The addresses of all these men were unusually helpful and inspiring.

On the closing night of the convention, a pageant, "The Light of the World," was given in Jerusalem Temple, under the direction of Prof. Smith. It was one of the most beautiful productions ever given in this city, and the religious lessons it taught made a lasting impression upon the multitude of people who witnessed it.

During the convention, representatives of the various Protestant denominations of Louisiana met with Dr. Magill and representatives of the International Sunday School Association to consider the question of the merger of their work that has been authorized hy the International Convention and the leading Sunday School Boards of the country. Satisfactory progress was made toward clearing the way for a complete understanding, and the plans for the merger will he worked out in the course of time.

THE PASSING OF J. D. HAMILTON.

The death of Mr. J. D. Hamilton, Treasurer of the Board of Missions, on Jan. 25, brought sorrow to the whole church. We give herewith the sketch of Mr. Hamilton, furnished by his colleagues in the Board.

"In the death of Mr. J. D. Hamilton, Treasurer of the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, which occurred on Jan. 25, our church suffers a distinct loss. He was connected with the Board forty-five years, having been one of the signers of the original charter of the Board. For twenty-five years he served as treasurer, and in this capacity was brought in close contact with bishops, secretaries, missionaries and employees of the Board. He came in as treasurer in 1898, at which time the income of the Board was $354,765, and when the personnel numhered thirty-six members, officered hy a president, vice president, two secretaries and a treasurer. He witnessed the growth of the Board to sixty-five members, including a president, vice president, thirteen secretaries, and two treasurers, and [illegible] an income from the General Board of $2,[illegible], exclusive of the Centenary [illegible].

"Mr. Hamilton's familiarity with the details of the work, his thorough understanding of the problems, and his deep sympathy with all who were in any way connected with the Board, endeared him to all and made him well beloved in Methodist circles. One who served for years as a foreign missionary and in other high offices of his church said that such a life as Mr. Hamilton's is an unanswerahle proof of the divine quality of the Christian religion.

"Joseph Daviess Hamilton was horn in Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 15, 1845. He was the son of Mortimer and Emmeline Hill Hamilton. Following in the footsteps of his father, who was one of the charter memhers of old McKendree, he early identified himself with that church and hecame a regular member when he was thirteen years of age. Before he was twenty he was made an officer, and until the close of his life he held official relation with that congregation. In honor of fifty years as an official memher, Mr. Hamilton was presented with a handsome loving cup in 1916.

"About thirty years ago he was happily married to Miss Mary Gayle McTyeire, daughter of Bishop Holland N. McTyeire, and sister of Mrs. J. J. Tigert, widow of the late Bishop Tigert. His home life was unusually heautiful. In speaking of his appreciation of his loved ones, he himself said, 'The endearing ties of home and the love and confidence of those who make its hallowed circle have stayed my feet in many a weary road, and filled my heart with cheer and hope and my daily path with heavenly light.'

"He was to the end a typical Southern gentleman, polished and refined in manner and courteous under all circumstances. His love of beauty in all its forms was shown in his fondness for portrait paintings, and he was no mean judge of this nohle art. From a paper written hy himself on his seventieth birthday we glean the following reflections:

"'What the church has been to me through all these years I shall never know this side of Paradise. She has given me opportunity for development and growth in higher things, and her fellowship and service have heen my chief joy. Subtract from my life the sanctifying ministry of the church and it would not be worth living.'"

PERSONALS AND OTHER NOTES.

The Methodist Sunday schools at Shreveport, La., had an attendance, on Jan. 21, of 2,783.

Rev. Jos. A. Gray, who was recently transferred from the North Georgia Conference, to Inverness, Miss., to take the place made vacant by the death of the lamented Rev. W. C. Carlisle, is actively at work in his new field.

From a personal letter from Bishop Hoyt M. Dobbs we learn that his present itinerary in Brazil will cover the months of January, February, and a part of March, enahling him to return home for the meetings of the hoards and bishops in April and May.

We regret not being in the office when Rev. J. W. Booth, of Amite, La., and Rev. Alonzo Early, of Crowley, La., called one day last week. Both these hrethren were in the city in attendance upon the meeting of the Louisiana State Sunday School Association.

We greatly appreciate a call hy Brother A. Trimble, of Natchez, Miss., on Thursday of last week. He is an old-time Methodist, who loves the Lord and is faithful to the church. His mind is richly stored with incidents of early Methodism in Natchez, and his conversation is profitable as well as interesting.

Rev. Walt Holcomb, the well-known evangelist of Cartesville, Ga., will give several weeks to the Centenary campaign, beginning at Roanoke, Va., on March 19. Dr. E. H. Rawlings is the leader of the team with which Brother Holcomh is associated. They will go to Baltimore, Washington, and other places.

Rev. B. M. Hunt, of Lorman, Miss., writes: "The people of Harriston circuit have received us very kindly. At our first service all around, the people with one accord pledged themselves to the hest year's work they can do. Our committees are now appointed and have started to work. Two poundings already! A loyal people."

We regret to learn that Rev. W. W. Graves and family have all been sick with the "flu," but are glad to know that they are all on the road to recovery. Brother Graves, who is presiding elder of the Hattieshurg District, Mississippi Conference, missed only two appointments during his illness, hut hopes to be able to fill all others on time.

Dr. Briscoe Carter, Financial Secretary of the Louisiana Methodist Orphanage, paid the Advocate an appreciated call on Thursday of last week. He is actively engaged in the work of his office and is making special effort to collect the pledges previously made for the building fund. Much interest is being manifested in the work of this great institution of the church, and satisfactory progress is heing made towards carrying out plans for enlargement.

Dr. Edward Leigh Pell, of Richmond, Va., is an ardent heliever in young people, and while on his tours, likes to lecture in the intervals between his meetings, as often as possible, for young people's organizations, without compensation. Dr. Pell is holding meetings in the South this winter, and such organizations may he able to secure one of his open nights without cost, except for travelling expenses, if application is made at once. Dr. Pell may be addressed at Richmond, Va.

The full Committee on Findings of the recent Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, held at Jackson, Miss., was composed of the fourteen presiding elders of the North Mississippi and the Mississippi Conferences, and a layman from each of the districts. The laymen on the committee were: J. M. Sullivan, D. H. Hall, G. R. Nobles, S. W. Sharhrough, W. M. Lockhart, J. Wesley Rankin, W. E. Barnes, D. C. Hull, S. W. Owens, S. W. Campbell, E. L. Harvey, J. E. Carruth, Herbert Gillis, S. M. Graham, J. G. McGowen, O. H. Wingfield.

---

Gipsy Smith, Jr., who recently conducted a great meeting in Leland, Miss., held a union service in Greenville, Miss., on January 21.

---

Gipsy Smith, Jr., will conduct a revival at Laurel, Miss., on April 29, to continue through May 20. A great tabernacle is being erected for the meeting.

---

Mr. Frank Starr Williams, son of Rev. W. M. Williams, Purvis, Miss., with his family, reached New Orleans on Saturiay of last week from China, en route for a visit home.

---

Mr. Jno. W. Fristoe has been elected Treasurer of the Board of Finance of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in place of Governor Lon V. Stephens, recently deceased.

---

Rev. N. E. Joyner, our pastor at Ruston, La., is engaged this week in teaching "The Why and How of Foreign Missions," in the Standard Training School at Beaumont, Texas.

---

Bishop H. M. DuBose will attend the Fifth Annual Epworth League Assembly, Mansfield, La., June 12-19, and deliver a series of addresses on the "Fundamentals of Methodism."

---

We learn from the Daily American-Press of Lake Charles, La., that Rev. A. W. Waddill is preaching to large congregations in that city, and that the work of the church is prospering in every respect.

---

Mr. H. H. Ahrens, circulation manager of the Publishing House periodicals, accompanied the Centenary team which visited New Orleans last week. Mr. Ahrens is an expert newspaper man, and he has rendered invaluable service in promoting the publicity of all our church work.

---

Rev. R. H. Harper, pastor of the First Methodist Church, is still confined to his bed with pneumonia. Our latest report from him is to the effect that his condition is improving, though he is still far from well. Let the brethren continue to pray for his recovery.

---

Bishop W. B. Murrah, in New Orleans in the interest of the Centenary movement, preached to a great congregation at the First Methodist Church last Sunday morning. He preached an inspiring sermon at the Felicity Methodist Church at the evening hour.

---

Rev. J. B. Cain, pastor at Ellisville, Miss., was recently called to the bedside of his mother, who was critically ill with influenza. We are glad to learn, however, that the crisis has passed and she is now on the road to recovery. Brother Cain and his young wife are greatly beloved in Ellisville.

---

The Commission on the Church and Race Relations of the Federal Council of Churches has designated February 11 as Race Relation Sunday. On that day, it requests all churches to make special effort to create good will and better understanding between the white and the negro races of America.

---

Our First Church, Laurel, Miss., has recently bought a new parsonage at a cost of $6500. Rev. O. S. Lewis has been the pastor of this fine congregation for two years, during which time a magnificent pipe organ has been installed, and more than two hundred people added to the membership of the church.

---

The great Wesleyan Bible Class of the First Methodist Church, New Orleans, had an attendance of 195 last Sunday. A special feature of interest in connection with this class is the orchestra of from twelve to fifteen members. Mr. C. F. Niebergall, one of the leading bankers of New Orleans, is the teacher of this class.

---

The Na leon Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church, o the most modern and completely equipped buildings in New Orleans, was dedicated nday, the dedicatory sermon being preache by Bishop E. L. Waldorf. This building was completed recently at a cost of $106,000.

---

A note from Rev. H. M. Ellis, presiding elder of the Brookhaven District, Mississippi Conference, informs us that both he and Mrs. Ellis are ill with influenza. On that account, he was not able to furnish a report from the Brookhaven District for this issue of the Advocate. We sincerely hope that Brother and Sister Ellis will soon recover from this pernicious disease.

---

Mrs. Nancy J. Mooney, mother-in-law of Rev. B. H. Rawls, of Moselle, Miss., died on January 21, aged 89 years, 1 month, and 9 days. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. M. H. Sheppard. Mrs. Mooney died just twenty-one days after the death of her daughter, Mrs. Rawls. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to Brother Rawls in the great sorrow through which he is passing.

---

Dr. I. W. Cooper, President of Whitworth Female College, has announced that the commencement sermon will be preached by Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, on May 20, at 11 o'clock, and that the sermon for the Young Woman's Christian Association will be preached by Rev. J. Early Gray, at 8 p.m. on the same date. The literary address will be delivered on the evening of May 22, by Colonel Prescott, of the Louisiana State University.

---

Mrs. E. A. Nabors, of Mansfield, La., has presented to Mansfield Female College a lot facing 100 feet on Polk Street, and extending back to the college grounds. This gives the college an outlet to Polk Street, and practically makes the campus two blocks nearer to the center of town. In making the donation, Mrs. Nabors reserved the privilege of erecting a memorial arch to her daughter, Susan, who died when a student of the college. We are sure that all the Methodists of Louisiana will be interested in this good news and will feel deeply grateful to Mrs. Nabors for this magnificent gift to our great school for girls.

---

In order to comply with the new regulations of the General Board Education concerning the classification of co es, Whitworth College has started a movemen o secure an endowment of at least $250,000. A a meeting of the trustees, held recently in Jackson, Miss., the matter was taken up and Dr. I. W. Cooper, president of the college, was made chairman of the committee to plan and prosecute the campaign. Under such leadership we can but believe that the Methodists of Mississippi will meet the requirements of the situation, and that Whitworth College will continue to be one of the great educational institutions for girls in our church. We understand that a layman has already offered to subscribe $10,000 to the fund.

---

For a number of years, Mr. D. W. Heidelberg, of Shubuta, Miss., has given subscriptions to the Advocate as prizes to the members of his Sunday school class making the best attendance record for the year. The prizes this year were won by Mr. J. S. Braswell and Mr. J. E. Rainwater. Mr. Braswell was present every Sunday during the year except one, when he was absent from town. It is interesting to note that Mr. Braswell and Mr. Rainwater wer winners of this prize last year. In remitti their subscriptions, Mr. Heidelberg kindly "I very much enjoy reading the Advocate an greatly benefited by it. May it continue to pr fer!"

---

Among the prominent Methodists attending the Louisiana State Sunday School Association held in this city last week, we noted the following: Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor of Noel Memorial Church, Shreveport; Dr. R. H. Wynn, presiding elder of the Shreveport District; Dr. Briscoe Carter, Financial Secretary, Louisiana Methodist Orphanage, Ruston; Rev. J. W. Booth, of Amite; Rev. S. A. Seegers, of Jeanerette; Rev. C. D. Atkinson, Conference Sunday School Superintendent, of Alexandria; Rev. O. W. Bradley, of Alexandria; Rev. S. L. Riggs, of Opelousas; Rev. Alonzo Early, of Crowley; Rev. N. E. Joyner, of Ruston. We were pleased also to meet the following prominent laymen: Dr. J. L. Scales, Mr. H. L. Baker, Mr. H. N. Pharr, Mr. A. M. Mayo. The Convention was largely attended and a splendid program was given.

---

SUGGESTIONS CONCERNING REVIVALS.

Dear Brethren of the Louisiana Conference:

I am young—you can tell that by my name—but I believe in old things, especially when they are good. Among the best of the old things that I know of, is the revival, and as chairman of the Committee on Evangelism for our Conference, I want to unload on somebody this sermon on revivalism, so here it comes.

A successful revival is usually planned and prayed over beforehand. I began a revival and held it in less than five months after I began the ministry, and have been much given to this work ever since, for awhile as Conference evangelist, and I have yet to see a great revival that was not backed up by definite plans, plus the power of God, and both of these were by, and had been associated with, much prayer. Some revivals are held much as some preachers are accused of preaching—just to fill appointments; at least some are rather a "jumped-up affair." If we are going to reach our goal this year of conversions and accessions, we will have to put more into our work than we have formerly done, and right here is one fundamental upon which we want to work. A good plan, coupled with earnest prayer, will do the work, if worked.

Some say, "I don't believe in these special revival efforts, but rather let the revival continue throughout the year." Well, we all believe in as much of this statement as is of any account, and that is the latter part of it. Here is my advice, or suggestion, for making this a fact: Get some good evangelist or evangelistic preacher (never get a man who cannot, or does not have conversions frequently in his ministry) to assist you. Save your best to follow up with, as most of the complaint that I have heard against reputable evangelists has been traceable, nearly always, to the lack of ability or effort to follow up on the part of the pastor. I am so wedded to the need of a great effort to follow up the revival on the pastor's part that, in spite of the fact that I have held nearly all of mine own revivals since I began the ministry, and that I am new in this field, I am getting one of our general evangelists to assist us here in a meeting to begin, the Lord willing, Feb. 10. We hope, by His grace, to be able to hold what he (the evangelist) may be able to get hold of while here.

Plan to hold the meeting long enough. I used to hear it said, "always close at high tide;" but what some call "high tide" is usually just the beginning of a revival. Others say, "a revival is like a sermon—some can't be too long, nor others too short." That may be a good statement about a sermon, but it is mighty poor philosophy about a revival. "I will not let thee go, except thou bless me," is decidedly better, and more scriptural. Sam Jones is quoted as saying that if you make a proposition and get no response, to make another, and if necessary another until you get response. Of course, that was before the day of a knowledge of what "moral" meant, but they did realize the necessity of keeping God's people from discouragement, and so with a revival. I believe we should preach, pray, and work until the victory comes. Plan for nearer four weeks than one.

Now all of this is just as free as the air we breathe, brethren. There is plenty more where this came from, but it is good advice, notwithstanding.

Yours for a great year.

HENRY T. YOUNG.

De Ridder, La.

---

Love of truth is the only thing that will save the genius.—Selected.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

MRS. S. D. RINEHART.

An earthly pilgrimage of unusual beauty came to a close when the gentle spirit of KATHERINE BODDIE RINEHART, loved wife of S. D. Rinehart, returned to God who gave it. Katherine Boddie was born in South Carolina February 20, 1843, and departed this life in Ruston, La., October 30, 1922, only coming short by a few months of attaining the measure of fourscore years. Hers was a life of rare beauty and grace and strength. In early childhood she had a genuine Christian experience, that, deepened with passing years, made her influence like unto the aroma of flowers. On April 12, 1866, Katherine Boddie and S. D. Rinehart, also of South Carolina, were united in marriage, and as one, they walked the pathway of life for quite fifty-seven years. To them were born six children, two of whom survive their mother, a daughter, Mrs. Debbie Baker, and a son, Charles P. Rinehart. Sister Rinehart was of a Baptist family, the daughter of a Baptist preacher, but upon her marriage she joined the Methodist church with her husband, and later, her parents and the entire family followed her into the Methodist Church. In 1870, Brother and Sister Rinehart came to Louisiana and settled in Lincoln Parish, near Douglas, where they continued to reside until four years ago, when they came to Ruston. Here, in age and feebleness, the last years were spent. As her physical strength failed, the graces of her Christian life shone the more brightly. All who knew her were impressed that here was a Christian, indeed, in whom there was no guile! The last illness was prolonged through weary weeks, but the faith of a lifetime did not fail her. Toward the end, when her strength seemed gone, she sang a stanza of a favorite hymn and repeated the Twenty-third Psalm. In full hope of the resurrection, we laid her body to rest in the old burial ground at Douglas. Many came, loved ones and friends, to pay last tribute to the saintliness of her character, and to mourn with her bereaved husband. Rev. J. L. Lay and Rev. J. L. Evans assisted the writer in conducting the services.

N. E. JOYNER.

---

SISTER KITTY STEWART was born in Mississippi March 10, 1852, and died in the home of the Confederate Veterans at Beauvoir, Miss., Nov. 26, 1922. She was married to Rev. T. P. Stewart, Sept. 2, 1914, to whom she was a devoted wife, and consecrated Christian companion. She gave her heart to God when young, joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and lived a faithful, humble, exemplary, Christian life.

"I am the way, the truth, and the life"—John 14:6. "I am the resurrection and the life"—John 11:25. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord"—Rev. 14:13. "Wherefore comfort one another with these words"—1st Thess. 4:18.

C. M. SHERROUSE.

---

WALTER OTHO McNEILL was born in Jasper County, Miss., Oct. 15, 1859, and died at his home at Eucutta, Wayne County, Miss., Nov. 11, 1922. He was the son of Wiley and Jane McNeill, who reared a family of ten sons and four daughters, the only one surviving him being Dr. George McNeill, of Newton, Miss.

On Jan. 31, 1885, at DeKalb, Miss., he was married to Miss Fannie Overstreet, who, with their only child, Mrs. Marie Moore, of Eucutta, survives, to mourn their loss.

In 1887 he graduated in medicine at Tulane University, and located at Eucutta, spending the remainder of his active life in the practice of his profession. He was a successful physician.

Dr. McNeill was one of the leaders of a number of good citizens who made this village for a long time an educational and social center. His home was noted for its genial hospitality. He was one of the kindest of husbands—the thirty-seven years of wedlock were unmarred by any unkindness between him and his wife. She stayed by him to the last, and was untiring in her ministries during his long illness, which he bore with such patience.

It is inevitable that a man possessing his strong convictions make some enemies; but they were few. All classes were his friends. He joined the Methodist Church in 1895, was punctual in attending its services, and liberal in contributing to its support. It was the writer's privilege to know him, as pastor, for only a short time. He knew the end was near, and said he was prepared. No better evidence of practical Christianity is shown than that of those who told me of his helping them in time of need. Many rise up and call him blessed.

"Blessed are the dead, who die in the Lord, from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors."

"The pains of death are passed,
Labour and sorrow cease,
And life's long warfare closed at last,
His soul is found in peace."

R. T. PICKETT.

Sicily Island, La.

---

MR. THOMAS J. EASTER was born May 8, 1848, at Gattman, Miss. He joined the M. E. Church, South, in youth. Such was his faith in an all-wise, ever-living and true God, he enjoyed a continuous growth in all Christian graces until the beauty and power of godliness daily radiated from his Christ-like life. Temperance, fortitude, prudence and gentleness were some of the distinguishing marks of his noble character. He loved all, and was greatly loved by all who knew him. So consecrated was he, even unto the end of his useful life, that it was a great and glorious privilege to be in his presence. He was, for quite a number of years, superintendent of Sunday school at Soule's Chapel. On Jan. 1, 1923, at his home near Gattman, surrounded by loving friends, children and grandchildren, he gave up his working tools, hearing the voice of God: "Well done, faithful servant, it is enough." He closed his eyes to the world and went to God, where was awaiting him his wife (Mrs. Amanda Easter) who preceded him by fifteen years.

A large audience assmbled at the Blair Cemetery, where the final service was conducted by his pastor.

WALTER M. HESTER.

---

MARRIED.

On Dec. 14, 1922, at the Gibson Memorial Church, in Vicksburg, Miss., by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. RAYMOND DUNNING to MISS MAGDALENE HALBURG, both of Vicksburg.

On Dec. 19, 1922, at the Gibson Memorial Parsonage, by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. J. L. TERRELL to MISS CLASSIE FOSTER, both of Vicksburg.

On Dec. 23, 1922, at the Gibson Memorial Parsonage, by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. OSCAR REEVES to MISS IRMA LEE HENDRIX, both of Pocahontas, Miss.

On Jan. 8, 1923, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Susan Halburg, on Kate Street, Vicksburg, Miss., by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. LEO. ELLISON, of Shreveport, La., to MISS SUSIE ELIZABETH HALBURG, of Vicksburg.

Girls! Beautify Hair at Once

Try This! A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair

In a few moments you can transform even plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drugstore. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed.

Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

Public Service

HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS

On the Job

Church Furniture
WORK OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY AT REASONABLE PRICES
Write for Catalogue
BUDDE & WEIS MFG. CO.
JACKSON, TENNESSEE

Cuticura Soap
AND OINTMENT
Clear the Skin
Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. For samples address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS

Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction

Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

For Troubled Nerves,

high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

OBITUARIES.

At a late hour on Jan. 18, 1923, the messenger of death claimed MRS. MARY ELIZABETH HARDY ROSSER, and her spirit was taken to be with her Creator, and precious Savior, whom she has trusted and served from childhood, being a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, all these years. Miss Mary E. Hardy was born in Bolton, Miss., Oct. 12, 1854, where she found the Lord in the salvation of her soul, and there spent a large part of her life, but for some years had made her home in Louisiana. About seventeen years ago she became a paralytic, and all these years has been a patient sufferer, and at the same time having an unwavering trust in the Lord who grew more precious to her as the years of suffering increased. The last three months her condition became more critical, and when the end came, while it was hard to give her up, her loved ones were comforted in knowing that she had gone to the home prepared for those who are faithful to the end, and where there is no disease, no pain, no suffering, no separation. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. John H. Fisher, of Evangeline, La., with whom she lived, and a son, Claude A. Rosser, of Orange, Tex., and a host of friends to mourn her loss. Her husband, Amiziah Rosser, passed away Jan. 15, 1911. The funeral services were held in the Methodist church, Jennings, La., the Rev. F. J. Ensign officiating, interment in Jennings Cemetery.

F. J. ENSIGN.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

MOTHERS AND DAUGHTERS

Read This Letter from Mrs. W. S. Hughes

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I cannot say too much about what your medicine has done for me and for my daughter."—Mrs. WM. S. HUGHES, Greenville, Delaware.

Mothers and oftentimes grandmothers have taken and have learned the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So they recommend the medicine to others.

The best test of any medicine is what it has done for others. For nearly fifty years we have published letters from mothers, daughters, and women, young and old, recommending the Vegetable Compound. They know what it did for them and are glad to tell others. In your own neighborhood are women who know of its great value.

Mothers—daughters, why not try it?

WHEELER Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

For the HAIR—
To make it soft, fluffy and free from dandruff use
TETTERINE
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Salem and Ecru, at E., Feb. 10, 11.
Randolph, at Randolph, Feb. 13.
Tocopola, at Thaxton, Feb. 14.
Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Columbus Dist.—First Round.

Starkville, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ethel, at Ethel, Feb. 4, 5.
Sturgis, at Sturgis, Feb. 10, 11.
Cedar Bluff, at Cedar Bluff, Feb. 17, 18.
Mayhew and Sessums, at Sessums, Feb. 25, 26.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—First Round.

Sunflower, at Sunflower [illegible] 4, a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, [illegible] 4, 3 p.m.

S. L. P[illegible], P. E.

Grenada Dist.—First Round.

Paris ct., at Paris, Feb. 3.
Abbeville ct., at Abbeville, Feb. 4.
Lexington, Feb. 9, 11.
Ebenezer ct., at Hebron, Feb. 10.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—First Round.

Jonestown and Duncan, at Jonestown, Feb. 4, p.m.
Boyle and Pace, at Boyle, Feb. 11, a.m.
Boyle circuit, at New Salem, Feb. 11, 3 p.m.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

Sardis District—First Round.

Crenshaw, at Sledge, Feb. 4.
District Preachers' Meeting, at Sardis, Jan. 23-24, beginning at 11 a.m., Jan. 23.
District Conference, at Senatobia, May 15-17.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District—First Round.

Rochelle and Standard, at Standard, Feb. 1, p.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jena, Feb. 4, a.m.
Trout and Good Pine, at Trout, Feb. 4, p.m.

W. L. DOSS, Jr., P. E.

Baton Rouge Dist.—First Round.

Springfield ct., at Springfield, Feb. 4, a.m.
Ponchatoula, at Ponchatoula, Feb. 4, p.m.
Franklinton ct., at Fisher, Feb. 11, a.m.
Franklinton, Feb. 11, p.m.
Olive Branch, at Olive Br., Feb. 18, a.m.
Baker, at Baker, Feb. 18, 3 p.m., 7 p.m.
Tickfaw Mis., at Pine Ridge, Feb. 25, a.m.
Amite, Feb. 25, p.m.
Greensburg, at Days, Mar. 4, a.m.
Kentwood, Mar. 4, p.m.
Covington, at Covington, Mar. 11, a.m.
Gonzales, at Meadows, Mar. 18, a.m.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

Lake Charles Dist.—First Round.

Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, Feb. 4, 7:30 p.m.
Branch Ct., at Branch, Feb. 11, 11 a.m.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe Dist.—First Round.

Gilbert, Feb. 3, 4.
Mangham, Feb. 4, 5.
Waterproof, Feb. 10, 11.
Chatham, Feb. 17, 18.
Eros, Feb. 18, 19.
Winnsboro, Feb. 21.
Lake Providence, Feb. 24, 25.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Ruston Dist.—First Round.

Ringgold, at Ringgold, Feb. 4, preaching 11 a.m.
Wesley, at Hall Summit, Feb. 5; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Simsboro, at Simsboro, Feb. 7; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Haughton and Doyline, at Haughton, Feb. 11, preaching 11 a.m.
Ruston, Feb. 12, 7:30 p.m.
Castor, Feb. 14; Q. C., 2 p.m.
Athens, Feb. 18; Q. C., preaching, 11 a.m.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—First Round.

Bayou La Chute, Feb. 4 a.m.
First Church, Shreveport, Feb. 7, p.m.
Longstreet, Feb. 11, a.m.
Logansport, Feb. 11, p.m.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

Still through the cloven skies they come
  With peaceful wings unfurled,
And still their heavenly music floats
  O'er all the weary world;
Above its sad and lonely plains
  They bend on hovering wing,
And ever o'er its Babel sounds
  The blessed ankel sings.

—E. H. Sears.

Send Me Your Name Now
Big Saving On Every Style
BOHON'S YEAR BANG—goes every price in the biggest and finest vehicle book ever printed. Let me send it FREE—NOW. I'll show bargain hunters a treat. I mean it. Prices smashed. Unlimited Guarantee 60 Days' Road Test. Write the biggest and oldest Direct Factory in the world—now. Big Free catalog. Every known style.
The D. T. Bohon Company
50 Main St. Harrodsburg, Ky.

PARKER'S HAIR BALSAM
Removes Dandruff-Stops Hair Falling
Restores Color and Beauty to Gray and Faded Hair
60c. and $1.00 at Druggists.
Hiscox Chem. Wks. Patchogue, N. Y.

HINDERCORNS Removes Corns, Callouses, etc., stops all pain, ensures comfort to the feet, makes walking easy. 15c. by mail or at Druggists. Hiscox Chemical Works, Patchogue, N. Y.

This Knife GIVEN for selling 12 boxes Quick Salve at 25c and giving away 12 pictures. Knife has best steel blades, we put your name on. Order salve at once.
MASON CHEMICAL CO., HANCOCK, MD.

Breaks Up CROUP
Colds, Coughs, LaGrippe, Flu, and a valuable aid in treatment of Pneumonia,
CAPU-SAV
clears the phlegm, reduces inflammation, penetrates. White salve; does not discolor clothing. In handy, collapsible tubes, 25c. at drug stores, or sent by mail.
CAPUDINE CO. :: :: RALEIGH, N. C.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Sunday School

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

By Rev. R. H. B. Gadney, Sardis, Miss.

Is there a school in the Conference that has every class above the juniors organized and enrolled? If there is such a school, let me know at once.

Keep this thought before your school until you get some kind of response. Sixty-two per cent of the people in Mississippi are outside of the church; only about ten per cent of those in the church are doing any definite work; about twenty-five per cent pay to keep the church going; and about forty per cent attend preaching services. God alone knows how many are really praying in earnest that his kingdom may come. Do we need to know anything about evangelism?

As to What to Wear,

How It Fits or Becomes You. You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting

Milady's Creative Shop

Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.

If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.

221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162

830 CANAL STREET

Free Catalog

Estey Organs

Special Terms FOR CHURCHES Sunday Schools AND SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.

"Largest Music House South"

New Orleans Baton Rouge

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

DIABETES Sugar Disease

No matter how long or severe or what treatment you have taken, send for booklet describing the Dia-Be-Tone Treatment for Diabetes, used successfully at home in thousands of cases, many of which were considered incurable. Highly recommended by grateful sufferers and eminent physicians. Postal will bring booklet. Write today.

BAUER PHARMACAL CO.

861 W. Chicago Avenue Dept. 48 Chicago, Ill.

$48 a Week

We want men and women as local representatives to demonstrate and take orders for Comer All-Weather Raincoats. New offer enables you to earn $48 a week and Buick touring car. No experience necessary. Write quick.

Buick Touring Car GIVEN

Comer Mfg. Co., Dept. BX 81 Dayton, O.

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,

LADIES' AND GENTS' WORK OF ALL KINDS

Calls Made Daily. High Class Work at Pre-war prices. Promptness, Courtesy, Honesty.

4106 MAGAZINE STREET

Uptown 4831

We Know How—Quick Service.

We Call for and Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.

AUTO SERVICE.

CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER

103 NORTH DELTA ST.

OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

Phone Jackson 126

THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL

2320 MAGAZINE ST.

Have you accepted the program of work for your school? Have you ordered literature on evangelism? Are you training your teachers to win souls for Christ and at the same time strengthen those who are already in the church? Do you know of any task more important?

Pickens has accepted the "C" program of work and has promised to compass every point before the close of the year. Columbus, Central, have done the same and have begun in earnest on the most important thing, evangelism.

Dr. Van Ness, leader of the Sunday school forces of the Southern Baptist Church, came before the Workers' Council of the Southern Methodist Church in Nashville the first week in January and said, among other things, that the Baptist Church to-day is characterized by unity, loyalty, and solidarity. Such qualities will enable this church to fight victoriously against modernism, indifference, ignorance, and all other obstacles that confront her in her onward march. Awake, Methodism, lest thou lose thy crown of glory.

Individual men and women may repudiate the Centenary pledges made four years ago, but the Sunday schools of our Conference will not forget their promises to God for the sake of a needy world. By the first of May let every school pay the pledges in full. God cannot hear our prayers if we fail to keep faith with him.

The presiding elders have agreed to use the program of work as a guide for the pastors in reporting the work of the Sunday school at the District Conferences. The pastor will report how many points and name the points his school has covered. This advanced step is in harmony with the method used by Bishop Ainsworth at the last session of our Annual Conference. It will afford me pleasure to furnish all our pastors with these programs now, so we may know how each school stands.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

My trip to Nashville to the meeting of the General Workers' Council was a great trip. It was a joy to me to see how the church has grown and to see the manifest signs of life and progress. The Lambuth Building is the last word in office building. They have made a fine investment in this building. They have plenty of room now, but it will only be a short time till they will have to enlarge. I understood they could put six more stories on this building. It is well located and the town can hardly grow away from it. The Publishing House is building a home for its printing equipment. They are crowded and packed till they are hampered. This new building will give them two floors of office space, which is sorely needed.

The program of work for the next four years that the Sunday School Board is undertaking is the best I know of. I trust and pray that the last Sunday school will fall in line and stand by. These new plans will be given out in printed form at an early date. Watch for the announcements.

The campaign of evangelization is now going on. The Sunday school leaflets on evangelism are bearing out all that was said and done in the Jackson Conference. The plan in outline is: First, to get the Sunday school teachers, officers and workers to study, to equip and prepare themselves for the work of evangelism; second, to survey the field and accept their personal resposibility for the campaign and to seek to win those they are assigned or those they feel responsible for to Christ, holding a public service in which their private professions are made public; third, to put those who have decided for Christ into classes and for four Sundays teach them in proper groups what one joining the church ought to know, winding the whole campaign up with the reception of members. The leaflets can be secured from my office or direct from Mr. A. L. Dietrich, 810 Broadway, Nashville, Tenn.

Please order the leaflets and read them. Get a supply for your workers and put them to work on the greatest job of all—winning souls for God. Certainly with the appalling figures presented at the Conference in Jackson we do wish to assume our responsibility and break ground for God. I feel that a study of these leaflets will help. Send for them at once.

I had the delightful pleasure of being at Monticello on Sunday, Jan. 21. One Intermediate-Senior Class was organized and a group organized to pray for a revival. We were rained out for the rest of the work. This work starts well, and with prayer and faith they hope to go forward.

Two of our presiding elders have pledged themselves to be equipped to check "C" type Sunday schools in their districts. They also pledged to call for reports on the programs of work at the District Conferences. This is a great forward step.

Pray for Brother Hull and myself, and, above all, pray for the work.

Yours in Him,

JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

(In part.)

Boyce Ct., at Eden, Feb 11, a.m.
Lecompte and Woodworth; at Woodworth, Feb. 11, p.m.
Alexandria, Feb. 25, a.m., Mar. 5, p.m.
Pineville, Feb. 25, p.m., Feb. 27, p.m.
Elizabeth Ct., at Oberlin, Mar. 4.
Melder Ct., at Campground, Mar. 11, a.m.
Cheneyville, Mar. 11, p.m.
Marksville Ct., at Marksville, Mar. 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, Mar. 25.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, Mar. 31, Apr. 1, p.m.
Natchitoches, Apr. 1, a.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, Apr. 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, Apr. 15.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

WALLACE

(The New Orleans News Man)

PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD

105 Royal St. 104 University Place

COMET'S ORANGE DRINK

Something New for New Orleans.

Pure Orange Juice Served Daily. Take Home a Container.

Pints 15c. Quarts 30c.

Special Rates on All Social Affairs.

938 CANAL STREET.

Phone, Main 6953.

Stop Your Wash Day Worries

and

PHONE JACKSON 203,

SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,

2520 Magnolia St.

Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,

Six Cents per lb.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE

If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.

J. A. WHERRY,

420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

United Style Shop

Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.

WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.

Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.

SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS

in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.

129 Bourbon Street

Phone Main 703.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING Cough Syrup

Easy to Take

No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of DR. RICHARD ANGELL

Prepared by JAMES R. ANGELL, New Orleans, La.

PRICE 35c AND 65c AT ALL DRUGGISTS

FROM PURVIS, MISS.

This is my fourth year on this charge. I begin this year with more encouragement than any of the four.

The ladies have been specially kind to me and my children. They renovated the parsonage, placing new things where they were needed.

They had the table set so full of good things to eat and flowers in the vases, when my daughter and her husband, Rev. and Mrs. Gayle C. Beanland, of Africa, returned. Then, when we returned from Conference, they had a warm welcome and a warm meal for us. Since Conference, they have changed the old furniture in the dining room for up-to-date, nice furniture, getting ready, they say, for my son, Frank Starr, and his wife and son, who are to arrive here Sunday from China.

The officials have organized and planned their work for the year and are co-operating with the pastor in a forward movement in all departments, especially in personal evangelism.

Our new Community Church, Union Grove, has adopted the budget system and is using the monthly envelope payment plan. This shows that the county can be systematic as well as the towns. We are praying and working for a spiritual revival in each home and heart on this charge. This we can do if we can get our laymen enlisted in personal evangelism and soul-winning.

I believe that the day is here when our laymen will realize that soul-winning is their duty and privilege as well as the pastor's. I am trying to get the Advocate into every home. You are giving us a good paper.

W. M. WILLIAMS, P. C.

"SPEAKING EVIL OF MINISTERS."

Dear Brother Carley: Kindly allow me to say a few words upon "Church members speaking evil of their pastor," an aspect of the subject which more than any other causes trouble to pastors. I affirm that it is mean! It is detestable! We need to face the matter in such a way that the horror of speaking evil of our ministers shall be branded on our hearts for the rest of our lives and yet, at the same time, in such a way that we shall be better men and women for all eternity because we have thus faced the question. I sometimes think, as Butler wrote, "The souls of some men and women are so small that some say they've none at all." No doubt the majority haven't learned the prayers that should have been learned while children. One is this: "Let the words of my mouth and the meditations of my heart be acceptable in thy sight, O Lord, my strength and my redeemer."

When church members learn to live this prayer, then they will turn with loathing from speaking evil of their pastor. As a guide, the Bible is without a rival. So let us all resolve to study the Bible in a more systematic way—for careful reading of its deep wisdom and sound logic, its dignified language and its elevated themes, will naturally cause us to drift from the habit of speaking evil of our pastor. I have heard church members make the statement that ministers should live as Christ did, but let me say right here that the Christian life calls forth all that is best and noblest in any one. Therefore it is just as necessary for the members to live as Christ did, as it is for the ministers. The non-church members demand it. Now the one spot on earth where we find the power of this Christ-life is beneath the cross of Jesus. If a minister expresses himself on political questions, he is sure to have a goodly number of the members speaking evil of him, I presume that all thinking people are aware of the fact that it is a fine thing to live where we have prohibition. How did we get it? Was it without the aid of the ministers? No, indeed. No other class of people worked so faithfully for it as our ministers. When we get clean politics, it will be when the ministers take a stand for it as they did for prohibition.

Of all the pastors we have had on this work we have never had a more intellectual man, nor a more loyal worker than Rev. G. G. Yeager. The great gifts of tolerance and charity were his in the fullest measure. I have never heard him speak an unkind word of any one.

In conclusion, I beseech you to repent you of that sin—speaking evil of your pastor. God is able to break the tyranny of that evil habit if you will turn to him with full purpose of soul.

A MEMBER.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

ATTENTION COTTON GROWERS

Before you decide to plant either short or long staple cotton this season, write us. We have made an exhaustive study of the cotton market for the past eleven years and can give you some valuable advice.

PEDIGREED SEED COMPANY
Service Department, Hartsville, S. C.

WEDDED, BUT NOT MATED!

The above is often true, because the young couple are often ignorant of health and sex problems.

Those who contemplate marriage should consult a wonderful book, by R. V. Pierce, M. D., that reveals the secrets of life and health. The "Common Sense Medical Adviser" is bound in cloth, contains over 1,000 pages, is revised yearly. It has chapters on Sex Problems, Marriage, Advice for Mother and Babe, Nervous Troubles, Anatomy, Physiology, First Aid, Medicine, etc.

SPECIAL OFFER: For a limited time we will send one copy of the "Medical Adviser" (formerly sold at $1.50) for 50 cents, if you mention this issue. Address Doctor Pierce's Invalids Hotel, Room 605, Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

TETTERINE
DRIVES AWAY PIMPLES
and leaves your skin soft and spotless
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED

Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE
AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

To help promote good health see that the articles you use in your bakings give you—

Food containing gluten which is vital to your vitality.

Gluten is the soul of flour —the real nutritive element. It is gluten that builds health, strength, and makes robust children and healthy men and women.

Why take a chance on losing the full value of this gluten? Good, wholesome bakings can be made only from good materials—no other way—so use only good baking powder and plain flour for best results.

Don't use substitutes such as self-rising flour, Cake Mixes, and Egg Savers (so-called).

The safe course which is pointed out to the family physician is to recommend pure plain flour and a baking powder of standard quality, and to be especially watchful in all cases of malnutrition to be sure the diet carries strength giving properties.

For best results use—
Calumet Baking Powder and a good plain flour.

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to
Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

OH THAT I KNEW WHERE I MIGHT FIND HIM!

"If God had not said, 'Blessed are those that hunger,' I know not what could keep weak Christians from sinking in despair. Many times, all I can do is to complain that I want Him, and wish to recover Him."

Bishop Hall, in uttering this lament, two centuries and a half ago, only echoed the wail which had come down, through living hearts, from the patriarch, whose story is the oldest known literature in any language.—From "The Still Hour."

THE A B C'S OF STEWARDSHIP.

A—As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also unto them likewise.

B—Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse.

C—Cast gifts into the treasury.

D—Distribute to the poor.

E—Endure all things for the elects' sake, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus.

F—For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required.

G—Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends.

H—He that layeth up treasure for himself is not rich toward God.

I—Inasmuch as ye did it unto the least of these, ye did it unto me.

J—Jesus said unto him, Go thou and preach the kingdom of God.

K—Knowledge puffeth up, but charity edifieth.

L—Let your light so shine before men that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

M—Moreover it is required in stewards that a man be found faithful.

N—Naked, and ye clothed me; sick, and ye visited me.

O—Obtain mercy and find grace to help.

P—Pray ye, therefore, the Lord of the harvest, that He send forth laborers into His harvest.

Q—Quit you like men, be strong.

R—Render to all their dues.

S—Sell that you have and give alms.

T—Teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.

U—Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in stores as God hath prospered him.

V—Visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction.

W—Wherein have we robbed thee? In tithes and offerings.

X—eXecute righteousness and judgment.

Y—Ye are God's husbandry.

Z—Zacchaeus stood and said unto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the half of my goods I give to the poor.—Selected.

FROM FANNIN, MISS.

I have been a reader of the Advocate for many years, but I enjoy reading it more than ever. Allow me to congratulate you for your good work.

As it has been a long time since I have seen a piece in your paper from the historic old place of Fannin, I wish to drop a few lines to the readers of the Advocate. As God's servants go and come, it makes us love them the more. We had a wonderful meeting here last summer, Brother W. D. Barrett as pastor. Brother H. S. Westbrook did the preaching, and we all fell in love with this good man of God. He put his whole life in the meeting, and ten united with the church.

We have just as good a Sunday school as any church in the Mississippi Conference of its size. One of our classes has only five members, but the entire class joined the church. We are so thankful to our Heavenly Father for such a rich gift, for these ten were all Sunday school scholars. This helps the Sunday school workers to press forward in the good work. May God's richest blessings fall on all the good preachers and Sunday School workers, that we may [illegible] more this year than we have ever done. After attending our Annual Conference—and it was the greatest Conference I ever attended—the Methodist Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism ought to give all that attended a start to do something for our Lord. As we grow older, may we grow richer in God's love and at last may we all meet around the great white throne as one big family.

I. O. BROWN, Layman.

FROM ACONA STATION.

On our arrival in Lexington, we were met by Mr. William Peacock, who, in about thirty minutes, ushered us into the hospitable home of Rev. A. S. Briscoe, and after a social hour and good dinner we were invited to the parsonage, where we were warmly received by the ladies of the Woman's Missionary Society. Everywhere we chanced to look we were reminded that loving hands had been busy to make this house look so "comfy" and homelike. They alone know what they did to make it so. They didn't forget to fill the pantry with lots of good things to eat. After spending awhile at our own fireside, we then went to the home of our esteemed merchant, Mr. DeWitt Buck, for supper.

On Dec. 22 our faithful band of Epworth Leaguers gave us a surprise party, and what they left at this house that night was plenty to give this preacher's family a "Christmas feast." So many nice, good things have been done for us that time and space will not permit mention. But we hope to prove our gratitude and appreciation in more ways than by mere words.

God bless the good people of Acona Station.

The pastor's wife,
MRS. J. A. PATTERSON.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Invigorates, Purifies and Enriches the Blood. 60c

Stop Laxatives
Which Only Aggravate Constipation
Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe.
When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it. Try it today.
Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Agents: 90c an Hour
Introduce "Soderese." A new wonder. A pure solder in paste form. Works like magic. Stops all leaks. For mending water buckets, cooking utensils, milk pails, water tanks, tin roofs—everything including granite ware, agate ware, tin, iron, copper, zinc, etc.
Quick Sales—Nice Profit
Everybody buys. Housewife, mechanics, electricians, jewelers, plumbers, tourists, automobilists, etc. No leak too bad to repair. Just apply a little "Soderese," light a match and that's all. Put up in handy metal tubes. Carry quantity right with you. Write for money-making proposition.
AMERICAN PRODUCTS CO. 7530 American Bldg., Cincinnati, Ohio

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

Bitter Chillifuge 25c
Has a bitter tonic taste and quick action in routing malaria from the system.
Will quickly stop chills and fever.
Splendid tonic for torpid liver and bracer for poor appetite.
FINLAY, DICKS & CO., INC.,
NEW ORLEANS.

UNCOMFORTABLE AFTER MEALS?

Then Try a Pinch of Black-Draught. This White-Haired Alabama Lady Says It Helps Her.

Dutton, Ala. — In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said:

"I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go, but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work.

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know, for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, uncomfortable feeling after meals.

"Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

For simple, common ailments, due to disordered stomach, liver and bowels, you will find Thedford's Black-Draught a useful and valuable remedy. The purely vegetable ingredients of which Black-Draught is composed gently stimulate the liver, increasing the flow of digestive juices, thereby helping to prevent or relieve constipation in an easy, natural way.

Insist upon Thedford's, the original and only genuine Black-Draught powdered herb and root liver medicine.—Adv.

IN ANSWERING ADVERTISEMENTS, PLEASE MENTION THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

IF SICK, BILIOUS! START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven Dist.—First Round.

Barlow, at Rehoboth, Feb. 3, 4.
Brookhaven, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
McComb, Pearl River Ave., Feb. 7.
Crystal Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Georgetown, at Georgetown, 7 p.m., Feb. 11.
Magnolia, Feb. 14.
McComb, Centenary, 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
McComb, La Branch St., 7 p.m., Feb. 18.
Scotland, at New Hope, Feb. 21.
Summit and Topisaw, at Topisaw, Feb. 24, 25.
Fernwood, at Fernwood, 7 p.m., Feb. 25.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

Hattiesburg Dist.—First Round.

Williamsburg, at Good Hope, Jan. 28, 11 a.m.
Prentiss, Jan. 28, 29, 7 p.m.
Eucutta, at New Hope, Thurs., Feb. 1, 11 a.m.
Taylorsville, Feb. 4, 11 a.m.
Mt. Olive-Magee, at Magee, Feb. 4, 7 p.m.
Hattiesburg, Court St., Feb. 11, 11 a.m.
Purvis, Feb. 11, 12, 7 p.m., 9:30 a.m.
Lucedale ct., at Merrill, Feb. 18, 11 a.m.
New Augusta, Feb. 18, 7 p.m.
Sumrall, Wed., Feb. 21, 7 p.m.
Leakesville, at Pine Grove, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Lucedale, Feb. 25, 7 p.m.
Avera, Mar. 4, 11 a.m.
Hattiesburg, Broad St., Mar. 4, 7 p.m.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—First Round.

Satartia, at Mt. Olivet, Jan. 27, 28, 11 a.m.
Bentonia, Jan. 28, 2 p.m., 7 p.m.
Harrisville, at Rexford, Feb. 3, 4, 11 a.m.
Mendenhall and D'Lo, at D'Lo, Feb. 4, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Camden, at Camden, Feb. 13, 14, 11 a.m.
Sharon, at Sharon, Feb. 14, 2:30 p.m.
Vaughn, Feb. 16, 11 a.m.
Benton, at Midway, Feb. 17, 11 a.m.
Eden, at Eden, Feb. 18, 2:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Yazoo City circuit, at ——, Feb. 24, 25, 11 a.m.
Yazoo City, Feb. 25, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Brandon, at Pelahatchie, Mar. 4, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Monterey, at Mt. Carmel, Feb. 5, 11 a.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—First Round.

Lauderdale and Electric Mills, at Elec. M., Jan. 28.
Waynesboro circuit, at Fedora, Feb. 3, 4.
Waynesboro, Feb. 4.
Matherville, at Poplar Springs, Feb. 11, 12.
DeSoto, at Crandall, Feb. 10, 11.
Enterprise, Feb. 15, 16.
Pachuta, Feb. 14.
Quitman, Feb. 18.
Shubuta, Feb. 18, p.m.
Bucatunna, at State Line, Feb. 25.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Newton Dist.—First Round.

Rose Hill, at Homewood, Jan. 27, 28.
Montrose, at Montrose, Jan. 31.
Lake, at Lawrence, Feb. 3, 4.
Bay Springs, at Holder's, Feb. 7.
Decatur and Hickory, at Hickory, Feb. 11.
Chunky, at Chunky, Feb. 14.
Shiloh, at Shiloh, Feb. 17, 18.
Newton, at Newton, Feb. 21.
Raleigh, at Raleigh, Feb. 23.
Homewood, at Homewood, Feb. 24, 25.
Union, at Union, Feb. 28.
Laurel, First Church, March 4, 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Laurel, Kingston, March 5, 7 p.m.
Laurel, West End, March 6, 7 p.m.

J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Seashore Dist.—First Round.

Carriere, Mon., 11 a.m., Jan. 22.
Vancleave, at Vancleave, 11 a.m., Wed., Jan. 24.
Mentorum, at Alexandria Memorial, 11 a.m., Saturday, Jan. 27.
Brooklyn, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Wiggins, 7 p.m., Jan. 28.
Saucier, at Saucier, Wed., 7 p.m., Jan. 31.
Ocean Springs, at Ocean Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Back Bay, 7 p.m., Feb. 4.
Gulfport, Q. C., Mon., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 5.
Biloxi, Q. C., Tues., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 6.
Long Beach, Q. C., Wed., 7:30 p.m., Feb. 7.

W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—First Round.

Rosetta, 11 a.m., Jan. 26.
Gloster, 11 a.m., Jan. 27.
Centerville, 11 a.m., Jan. 28.
Woodville, 7:30 p.m., Jan. 28.
Rocky Springs, at Willows, 11 a.m., Feb. 4.
Vicksburg, Gibson Memorial, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 4, 5.
Roxie, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Vicksburg, Crawford Street, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 11, 12.
Oak Ridge, at Flower Hill, 11 a.m. Feb. 14.
Louise and Holly Bluff, at H. B., 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
Silver City, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 18.
Mayersville, Feb. 24.
Anguilla at Delta City, 11 a.m., Feb. 25.
Rolling Fork, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 25.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

| | |
|---|---|
| Colds | Headache |
| Toothache | Lumbago |
| Earache | Rheumatism |
| Neuralgia | Pain, Pain |

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

What Men Admire Most in Women is Perfect Health—The Sign of Strength

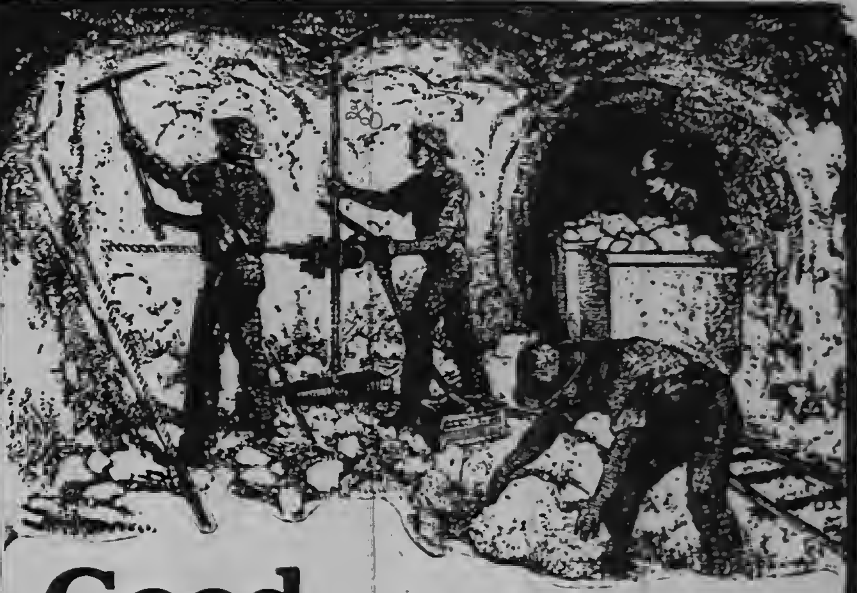
Sylacauga, Ala.—"I wish the world to know that I say Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is worth its weight in gold. My wife was down and out with feminine trouble. She was advised to try this medicine, so she did, and it did her more good than all the other medicines she ever took. I am doing this in the hope that this medicine may help others as it did my wife."—B. M. Jacobs.

Your health is the most valuable asset you have. You should procure this Prescription of Dr. Pierce's from your druggist, in tablets or liquid, or write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive free medical advice.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC

SOLD 50 YEARS — A FINE GENERAL TONIC

If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.



Mining German Potash

Good Healthy Crops

The South learned years ago that Kainit and the other German Potash Salts prevented Cotton Rust and other plant diseases, and at the same time greatly increased the yield.

Scientific investigations now show that both Potash and Magnesia are helpful in combating plant diseases.

All the German Potash Salts that are used in Cotton fertilizers contain soluble magnesia.

If you will insist on having your fertilizer contain at least 5 per cent of Potash derived from Genuine German Potash Salts, you will secure at the same time enough magnesia to insure against plant diseases due to magnesia hunger.

For Tobacco, and for those Fruits which are injured by Chlorin, the fertilizer should carry 10 per cent of Potash, derived from Sulfate of Potash or from Sulfate of Potash Magnesia.

Use the latter if your Tobacco leaves are not sound.

SOIL & CROP SERVICE, POTASH SYNDICATE
H. A. HUSTON, Manager
42 Broadway New York City

POTASH PAYS

Epworth League.

THE IMAGE OF CARIDAD

By Garfield Evans

This afternoon, at the suggestion of some friends, a group of Leaguers took me in tow and we motored down the bay to the old Moro Castle and its fortress. I had heen told of the beauty of the trip, and the many incidents connected with the Spanish-American war had given it a sense of anticipated solemnity. But the beauty of the harhor and its surroundings dare not he hazarded by wordy descriptions. San Juan Hill was in the distance, with the banks of mountains in the background that surround the city of Santiago de Cuba. At our feet lay the narrow pass to the harbor where Hobson made the attempt to bottle up the Spanish fleet hy sinking the Merrimac.

As we walked through the old fort or Spanish castle, the odor of the Spanish Inquisition was apparent. In one of the dungeons there was a hole in the floor where a rock was temporarily placed, but in the time of Spanish rule this was used for the room of incarceration of prisoners that were wanted to be rid of without publicity. There was no light in the room, and the prisoner groping in the darkness was certain to step in this hole. It was supposed to connect directly with the sea many feet below, where the water was deep and where it abounded with man-eating sharks.

The horrors of the Spanish Inquisition are not lost altogether with the political freedom. The masses of the people still live in a religious bondage. Near here, in the town of Cobre, a copper mining town, the Catholic cathedral there has a small image known as the "Virgin of Caridad." The story goes that it was the property of a Spanish soldier who came to Cuba as special emissary of the king of Spain. Carrying this image, he was immune from disease and all danger. The people observing his immunity plotted to take his life in order that they might gain possesion of the image. Observing that his life was in danger, he hid the image by throwing it in the Nipe Harbor (harbor at Antilla).

One day some fishermen were astonished to see this image rise out of the water and come to tbem. They took it and carried it to the cathedral. It is now adorned with a dress that itself cost $2,000, and has a crown of pure gold made from the rings and bracelets and such like of its adorers.

This shrine is the object of pilgrimages of thousands yearly who come to it in the full confidence that it has the power of healing diseases and hringing good fortune to its supplicants. Many making the pilgrimage climb the rocky stairs to the shrine on their bare hands and knees with the hope of winning its favor.

The priest who presides at this cathedral is a Frenchman, and speaks good English. In relating this story recently to some of our American workers, he remarked at the close, "and you know the Cuban people believe this."

Returning down the harbor as the sun was setting with an indescribable glow known only to the tropics, we rounded an island, Cayo Smith, which was thickly settled. The pastor told me that at one time we had a Methodist church there and a good congregation, but because we did not have either the man or the money we were forced to close and abandon the work. Now a Catholic chapel is situated in a commanding position overlooking the city where Protestantism once had the opportunity.

A revival meeting is in progress here conducted hy the pastor, assisted by one of our native preachers. There have heen a number of responses to become candidates for membership, but this does not mean that they are yet either Christians or are prepared for church membership. In conversation with a bright young girl who had taken a definite stand, she said she was anxious to know what it meant to belong to the church and what it meant to volunteer for Christian service. Tbe youth of Cuba are ready for the Gospel.

Santiago de Cuba.

BROADCASTING RELIGIOUS PROGRAMS.

The War Department finds that, in addition to its practical application to military purposes, the use of the radio in connection with army religious services is of very definite value. Major General George O. Squire, Chief Signal Officer, has issued instructions to all signal officers to co-operate, so far as is compatible with the interests of the service, in broadcasting the various religious programs presented hy chaplains at army posts.

According to the Chief of Chaplains, John T. Axton, the results of this action are already apparent. The fact that an audience of almost unlimited sizes is assured causes those in charge of the various portions of the order of worship to exercise unusual care in the selection and rendition of the musical numbers, and the spoken word is most carefully chosen. Fine soloists and choirs and great preachers are often available. Most inviting local programs result, and there is a marked increase in attendance upon the service. At some places chapels and assembly halls are too small to accommodate the congregations. People living a long distance from the posts have enjoyed listening in on services that were being attended hy their relatives and friends in the army, and have indicated their appreciation of the provision that is made for the spiritual life of soldiers.

At some posts where local talent for religious services is lacking, the garrisons have assembled to enjoy divine worship conducted in a unique way. Signal officers have arranged to receive hy radio, and reproduce through the magnavox, the entire service of some distant church as broadcasted.—Government Bulletin.

People live, not hecause they care for themselves, but through and by the love that other people bear them. God does not wish men to live apart, therefore he has not revealed to them what each needs for himself. He wishes them to live together, and therefore reveals to each the other's wants. . . Man lives not by care for himself, hut hy Love.

—Tolstoi.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

ZIP positively destroys your Superfluous hair and roots. Simple to use, rapid and effectual. Harmless and painless. No burning chemicals. No electricity. Used by Actresses and Beauty Specialists. Avoid imitations. At better stores or direct by mail. Call or have FREE Demonstration. Write today for my Book "Beauty's Greatest Secret" FREE

ZIP
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
IT'S OFF Because IT'S OUT

Mme. BERTHE
Specialist
Dept. 510,
562 5th Av. (46 St.)
NEW YORK CITY

A FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the hest. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Rheumatism!
try Sloan's
It kills pain!
by breaking up congestion

Most aches of rheumatism arise from congestion. Apply Sloan's. Don't rub. It penetrates to the sore spot, starting the blood circulating. This reduces painful congestion—the inflammation vanishes. Sloan's has been relieving rheumatic aches for forty years. It is truly "the World's Liniment." At all drug stores, 35c, 70c and $1.40.

Try Sloan's on sprained, bruised muscles, on aching backs and neuralgia. Try it on that "cold in the chest."

Sloan's Liniment-kills pain!

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT.

Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

Keep Stomach and Bowels Right

By giving baby the harmless, purely vegetable, infants' and children's regulator.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

brings astonishing, gratifying results in making baby's stomach digest food and bowels move as they should at teething time. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Safe and satisfactory.

At All Druggists

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

TETTERINE

ENDS COMPLEXION WORRIES.

Healing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

TREMENDOUS VALUE FOR 15c.

The Pathfinder, Leading Weekly Magazine of Nation's Capital, Makes Remarkably Attractive Offer.

Washington, D. C.—(Special.)—People everywhere are hurrying to take advantage of the Pathfinder's wonderful offer to send that splendid illustrated review of the whole world thirteen weeks for 15 cents. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends, and in spite of the high cost of his enlarged and greatly improved paper he makes this rare offer to bring his circulation up to 600,000 a week. You will like this paper; it is 30 years old and now better than ever; splendid stories and rare miscellany. Question Box answers all your questions. Only 15 cents in stamps or coin mailed at once to Pathfinder, 55 Langdon Sta., Washington, D. C., will keep your whole family informed, entertained, helped and inspired.—Adv.

The Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co.,
Limited
THE GREAT FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF THE WORLD
Strong Liberal Prompt
SOUTHERN DEPARTMENT
COMPANY'S BUILDING NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 6. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3496.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

PROTESTANT CHRISTIANITY.

Even a casual study of history will show that the world owes an incalculable debt to Protestant Christianity. The greatest achievements of Christian civilizaton have taken place since the Reformation restored and made vital the evangelical type of religion, and the greatest progress of mankind has been made in those portions of the world where Protestantism has freed men from the shackles of ecclesiastical bondage. The fundamentals of evangelical Christianity—man's fallen condition, the atonement of Christ, necessity of the new birth, redemption through faith—are the foundation upon which rests the marvelous development that has taken place since the sixteenth century. It is to Protestant Christianity that the world must look today for strength in its time of sorest need. The forces in operation against it—some of them boldly defiant, some of them cautiously moving under cover, some of them so devious as to leave scarcely any trace at all—must be vigilantly, vigorously, and valiantly opposed lest we lose the precious heritage of religious liberty we have received from our fathers. Hierarchical domination in political and civil affairs invariably and inevitably means bigotry, intolerance, and fanaticism—and these things mean a steady decline of national life. We must stand for Protestant Christianity.

IN BAD COMPANY.

We take the following from a press dispatch: "Princeton is not thinking of sending its faculty off to some island, much as some disgruntled undergraduates might wish it for some professors, but when six of the professors were asked to name the ten books they would take with them if marooned, the total selection amounted to 30 authors, 19 prose, the rest verse. Shakespeare led the list, being chosen by all of the six. The Bible was on the list of four of the teachers." We think we know a good many people who would leave the Bible out of any collection of books they might have to spend the rest of their lives with—but they are not the kind of people we should choose for our most intimate companions. The Bible finds out a man, and some men do not want to see themselves as they are. The two professors who left the Bible off their lists are in mighty poor company.

THE JOY OF IT.

We talked the other day with a man who, after having resisted the call to the ministry for a good many years and after having engaged in various occupations, has at last yielded obedience and is now happily entering upon the work of the pastorate. There was a light in his eyes that we knew came from the light in his soul, and when we asked him if he felt perfectly happy in the choice he has now made, his response was an immediate and hearty affimative. The call of the Lord to service is one of the most thrilling and most compelling experiences. [illegible] can enter into a man's life. It is only in obedience to that call that the [illegible] can be found. The ministry has its hardships, to be sure, just as every other calling in which a man may engage has; but its compensations far outweigh those hardships. We wish some young man to whom this call of the Lord has come might read these lines and that he might be influenced to lay aside his fears and boldly say, "Here am I—send me." His own heart would tell him that he had found the way of peace.

"NO REST FOR THE WICKED."

According to a recent news item, a man surrendered to the police authorities in a Western city a few days ago with the confession that he had been engaged in robbery as a profession. In his confession he said: "I am through. I am going to take my medicine and get my conscience clear and quit dodging officers." It is a hard lesson to learn, but every sinner has to learn it sooner or later—there is only unhappiness, misery, and ruin in sin. It is an eternal truth that "the way of the transgressor is hard."

GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

We take with a big grain of salt the statement that the prohibition laws are being generally violated throughout the country and that the time is not far distant when they will become inoperative by general consent. We are firmly of the opinion that, taking everything into consideration, the Eighteenth Amendment is being as effectively enforced as any other amendment of the Constitution within the same length of time after its adoption. It is evident, though, that the illicit transportation and sale of liquor are of such proportions as to demand serious consideration. The point we wish to make in this connection is that good citizenship demands that every citizen, whether he is personally in favor of the law or not, insist upon its enforcement by the officers of the law without fear or favor, and that the penalties for its infraction be inflicted as rigorously as in the case of other flagrant crimes. For men who pose as respectable members of the community to look upon bootlegging as at least a semi-defensible occupation is for them to throw contempt upon the sacred instrument under which our national welfare is protected, and lend their assistance in developing an attitude toward the law that leads to anarchy. We sometimes hear it said that some of the "most respectable" citizens of a community are patrons of the bootleggers; if this be true, their respectability is not a whit better than that of those who have arrayed themselves openly against the authority of the Government. Good citizenship is not a thing to be thought of or treated lightly—it means infinitely more than a complacent frame of mind in the midst of disturbing conditions. Good citizenship strives to uphold the law and compel its observance by every possible legitimate means.

THE PLACE OF THE SERMON.

We gave last week the estimate of Dr. Charles R. Brown, of Yale University, of the value of pastoral visiting—an estimate with which we fully agree. But the preacher finds his throne of greatest power in the pulpit, and we quote what Dr. Brown says in his book, "The Art of Preaching," concerning the sermon: "But with all these interests of the minister of Christ fully and clearly in view, I would say without a moment's hesitation that the making and delivery of an effective sermon is not only the most conspicuous but the most influential single service the minister is privileged to render in the whole round of the week's activity. There are any number of men and women in your parish who are both competent and willing to give attention to civic and charitable interests. They stand prepared and ready for those lines of action which have to do with social and industrial betterment. The layman in his particular field of interest is oftentimes more competent for this form of service than is the minister. But unless you are in a large city church where there is a staff of clergymen, you are the one and only man in that church who can stand in the pulpit, dealing with truth in the large, and with people in the large as an effective preacher of a divine gospel. Your pulpit is therefore your throne where you exercise an undisputed prerogative. You may well ascend it as a king, possessed alike with the sense of royal privilege and of an exacting responsibility. * * * The sermon is the highest output of which a man trained and devoted to this end is capable at his best."

WHERE THE MONEY GOES.

We cannot vouch for the accuracy of the figures given, but Senator Borah is reported to have said in the Senate, in December of last year: "We shall expend this year, Mr. President, for war purposes, $2,650,000,000; for agriculture, $24,876,000; for public health, $15,877,000; for promotion of education, $10,151,000; for labor interests, $4,718,000; to study the causes of and the remedy for war, not one cent." If these figures are correct, they show that war is still the biggest business in the world—and they show where the money goes. Militarism is the champion tax collector of the universe.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

MY MOTHER'S BIBLE.

By W. L. Underwood.

'Tis my mother's Holy Bible
That I'm reading here to-day,
'Tis such blessed inspiration
In keeping sin and fear away.

Memories of yesterday pass in review
As I read from her Book so dear;
I can see her gentle, smiling face
And feel that she is near.

I hear her voice, so sweet and low,
As these pages I pursue;
She says, "My son, just keep His Word
And I'll come back for you."

And, oh, what joy that will be
When His presence I behold,
When mother comes for her wandering boy
And brings him back to the fold!

I bow my head in silent prayer,
And here, on bended knee,
Scenes of my childhood, undefiled,
Come trooping back to me.

I lift my heart to God in Heaven,
My eyes to mother there,
And trust in Him whose life was given
That His glory we may share.

Long, weary years may come and go,
But this sacred Book I'll save;
I'll keep its precepts in my heart,
And carry them to my grave.

Amory, Miss.

PREACHING THE GOSPEL, NOT PEDDLING POROUS PLASTERS.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

St. Paul expressed the true conception of Christian life when he said, "We look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen; for the things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are not seen are eternal."

The same principle is implied by our Lord's exhortation, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things (that is 'the things which are seen' and seeable) shall be added unto you."

The Kingdom of God is the patriarchal government of our Heavenly Father whose paternal reign is by spiritual force and whose divine government, established and maintained by such forces, stretches through the eternities from everlasting to everlasting.

During the recent years, however, there has appeared the gospel of a worldly kingdom in the realm of time and sense, and this earth-born gospel diverges greatly from the gospel of Christ and Paul, if indeed it does not flatly contradict the teachings of the Master and his apostles. This worldly gospel, if gospel it may be called, George Eliot set forth a generation ago in the specious essay decrying all concern for eternal things, and deriding all interest in such things as vicious "over-worldliness." Since that poor, back-slidden woman published that attack on Scriptural life, a number of men, "professing and calling themselves" preachers, have echoed its false teaching from many pulpits in Christendom. They are men who, having lost faith in the effectiveness, if not the existence of spiritual forces, rely on all sorts of earthly influences and mundane machinery to accomplish moral results.

Dr. Francis L. Patton, formerly the distinguished president of Princeton University, delivered an address in Philadelphia recently in which he deprecated this worldly way of trying to save the world. He declared the tragic mistake of certain forms of popular theology and philosophy "is in the foolish dismissal of the life to come." The great preacher affirmed that the teachings of Christ concerning the primacy of things spiritual are being forgotten, and that visible and tangible things are engrossing the attention of too many of the religious teachers of to-day.

Dr. Patton is eminently correct in what he said in this notable address at Philadelphia. The evil tendencies which he points out and the hurtful teachings which he deprecates take their rise in the insidious materialism so current in our times that it has swept off their feet not a few preachers. These men deny the Virgin Birth of Christ as a biological miracle which is incredible, or at best which imposes an unnecessary burden upon Christian faith. They would exclude from the New Testament all miracles as mere myths springing from the semi-superstitious belief of the primitive Christians who were all too ready to trust incredible tales about marvels, and who were utterly incapable of examining judicially such tales, and distinguishing them from true history. The accounts of the bodily resurrection of our Lord, of course, they discredit.

Now, it is perfectly clear that men of such faithlessness cannot believe in the supernatural and regenerating power of the Holy Spirit operating to bring to pass the New Birth. With the dazed and doubting Nicodemus they ask, "How can these things be?" They can believe in the natural development of man from lower animals, but not in the supernatural regeneration of men by the God who is above them. Inevitably they are forced to rely upon heredity and environment as the only dependable forces for human renovation and improvement, and, since heredity has already done its work upon the generation now on the earth, they devote their attention to the betterment of environment. Obviously, this reduces character to a matter of favorable circumstances around a man rather than a fixed moral life within him.

Hence all these rationalists minify the conversion of the individual soul, and magnify what they are pleased to call the "social gospel."

No Christian man will fail to do what he can to bring industry, commerce and government under the dominion of Christian principles. Having subjected himself to Christ, his very life is a plea that others submit themselves to the same heavenly subjection. He can not live at all without being an exemplification of Christian principles and an energetic propagandist of them. But with him it is settled that the supreme principle of Christianity is its property to impart through faith in Christ an unearthly type of life which is held in the grasp of "the powers of the world to come," even as it is truly born from above. He utterly repudiates any "social gospel" which denies or ignores this principle, and which reduces Christian character to the level of a mere matter of favorable circumstances described with the big word "environment," a cant term of materialism.

Neither Scriptural theology nor sound philosophy allows that human redemption can be accomplished by the forces of naturalism. Nay, common sense teaches that humanity can not lift itself out of the mire of sin by improving its bootstraps. Some supernatural, uplifting force from above is required to achieve such a stupendous result.

Commenting upon the very able address of Dr. Patton, that excellent paper, The Lutheran, puts the subject clearly and cogently. The editor says:

"We must protest against an emphasis which wrenches the eternal principles of Christ's teachings apart from the spiritual essence and content of the Gospel; which speaks of a social gospel apart from the saving gospel; which conceives of the church's task and mission as reformatory on the outside rather than redemptive in the very heart and life of man. You can convert an individual; you can baptize an individual; you can reach with the gospel the inner springs of an individual's life; you can bring the individual into personal relationship and fellowship with God through Christ. But you cannot convert a 'social order'; you cannot baptize a 'social order'; you cannot regenerate it; you cannot bring it into fellowship with God. 'You might as well try to vaccinate the social order' (to use Dr. Patton's words) in order to save it from the smallpox of sin. Here is where the modern passion for vague generalizations runs amuck. A mixed group, or order, is a very intangible, impersonal entity to deal with.

"What is needed to Christianize society is to redeem the individual and bring him into fellowship with God. That comes first, because it is fundamental and essential. Let the social gospel be rooted in the saving gospel, let it breathe the spirit and atmosphere of the Christ who came to seek and to save the lost, and not merely to establish a kingdom of social and civic righteousness; then will the church's message be received by men as coming from God and as having a Thus-saith-the-Lord behind it."

Our materialists, who for twenty-five years have taught as men having final and indisputable authority, and who have had in numerous pulpits "me-too men" to help them propagate their principles, have made a horrible mess of the modern world. This philosophy precipitated a hideous war in which 7,000,000 of choice young men were sacrificed and the fruits of human toil valued at more than $300,000,000,000 were burned up.

It is time now for sensible men everywhere to turn away from them in distrust and disgust. It is time to discard their porous plaster remedies of environment.

What our country and the whole world now needs is a revival of religion in which myriads of lifeless and human souls shall be born from above through the life-giving power of the Son, who said "I am come that ye might have life."

"There is none other name given under Heaven whereby men must be saved."

Christianity saved a despairing, forlorn world in the first century, and a revival of Christianity in the eghteenth century rescued the English-speaking nations from ruin and revolution. It is the only power that can save the world to-day.

The nostrum-mongers of "the social gospel," pottering around with paralyzed faith, and prating about eugenics and environment, are the veriest quacks. They can do nothing for our sin-sick and war-wrecked world.

"Our hope is God, from whom cometh our salvation."

SALIENT SAYINGS.

By Walt Holcomb.

Prejudice.

I am prejudiced against the word prejudice.

Prejudice sounds like the swamps where chills, fevers and malaria are bred. It hasn't the glow and blush of health.

Prejudice has no outlook. It is perverted and pessimistic. It gasps like the one possessed is diseased.

Prejudice does not take deep root and flourish in good, great and grand natures. It thrives only in mediocrity.

You may have entertained some prejudice against a man when you were not your better self, and yet possess a big heart; but if your chronic condition is petty prejudice, you have a small soul.

There are some natures that are incapable of prejudice, while others cannot free themselves of this incubus.

In all great causes men who have been destined to be leaders have created deep-seated and prolonged prejudice.

The indomitable purpose of Woodrow Wilson to give the world a League of Nations and preserve the peace of the world brought upon his lonely heart the undeserved prejudice of the nation, and forced the paralytic stroke that silenced his hand and voice.

Jesus Christ, who undertook to save the world, was dragged to the accursed cross and crowned with the thorns of prejudgment and nailed to the despised tree with the spikes of prejudice. Jesus Christ was the victim of the venom of the prejudice of misguided men.

As God sits upon his regal throne looking down upon the defeated victims of prejudice, he would say of those who prejudge with a stab that they are worthy successors of the long-faced, long-robed hypocrites that prejudged him; two thousand years ago, in the streets of old Jerusalem among the Judean hills.

Cartersville, Ga.

THE METHODIST CHURCH OF MANSFIELD MOTHERING SMALL CHURCHES.

By Rev. J. W. Pearson.

The First Methodist Church of Mansfield, La., has undertaken a task which will be watched with interest, and regarded as a most worthy enterprise.

The pastor conceived the idea of serving the weak and struggling churches adjacent to Mansfield in some really constructive way. The plan was suggested to the presiding elder, Dr. R. H. Wynn, of the Shreveport District, and he heartily approved the proposed project, and, in co-operation with the other presiding elders and the presiding bishop, so arranged the work at our recent Annual Conference. Under this new plan, the First Methodist Church, of which the writor is pastor, was made responsible for the direction and supervision of a large section of country in De Soto Parish, in which territory there are several weak churches, and in many places there are no Sunday schools or churches of any denomination whatsoever. The pastor has associated with him in this work the Rev. C. D. Baker, recently of the New Mexico Conference and Southern Methodist University. Brother Baker is an excellent young man, capable of doing many things in which the pastor always feels the need of special help.

In order to get at the real situation, we have set out together the following facts, and relate our program of work thereto:

1. The number of people residing in the territory to be cultivated.
2. The number of people owning their own homes or farms in the territory.
3. The number of people who are not members of any church.
4. The number of people who are members of the Methodist Church.
5. The number of children of school age who are not in Sunday school.
6. An every-member canvass for the financial plan of paying all salaries and expenses monthly. This has already been accomplished, and most encouraging results have been reported.
7. All of the church buildings will be put in good physical condition. At one place, a new house of worship will be erected within the next few weeks.

We are making use of the Ford truck to haul the children from one nearby point to the Sunday school of the First Church. Fine results have been realized.

The pastor and assistant are holding services at night during the week, and on Sunday afternoons. The results have been wonderful; congregations splendid, and many, for the first time, have come into the services at the First Church. In this way, the church at the center is exerting an influence beyond its own local community, which is good for the church and the country sections.

In all of these places we are going to organize all of the regular departments of church work, and seek in every possible way to awaken interest in the great movement of Methodism.

In addition to renting a Ford truck, mentioned above, the First Church has purchased a Ford touring car and provided for the expense and upkeep of same.

We have also a motion picture outfit and will begin within the next few weeks the use of it as the means of missionary and Bible instruction.

A movement is under way for organizing the Boy Scouts' work throughout the field of our operations.

While the new plan has hardly had time to get under way, the people are delighted and most optimistic over the possible outcome of the new arrangement. It was not thought possible to make a cut-and-dried plan of work, including every possible object and activity, but to learn the job while doing the job, and, consequently, we are confident of discovering other ways and means of preaching and teaching the gospel to all the people.

The General Board of Missions at Nashville, Tennessee, has come to our aid, both in suggestions and by providing financial aid. The success of our efforts will be reported as the work proceeds.

In all this new effort, the laymen have not been overlooked as a powerful force to be utilized in the work of the church in building the Kingdom of God. What most of us have felt all the while is that we did not have anything for our men to do, except to collect the finances. I can see with what spirit of interest these men will take hold of this missionary task, and, after putting their soul into it, will come out stronger and better men, and, best of all, having found a new joy in the Master's work.

The work at the First Methodist Church is moving with an ease and steady push forward that makes us all feel that we are getting there.

Somebody said: "Sell your hammer and buy a horn." Then it was amended by still another, saying: "Sell your hummer and buy a hoe." And now in closing this report, I am daring to make another amendment, and advise all the brethren on all sides of all the theological controversies to "Quit hammering and horning, and get to hoeing."

Mansfield, La.

PROHIBITION AND ITS ENFORCEMENT.

"The beverage liquor traffic was the most harmful, wasteful, unecomonic, corrupt influence in the United States. It injured public morals, public health, wasted food products and money, impoverished and debauched the people, and corrupted the politics of the nation. It was declared an outlaw by the largest majority of any provision ever written into the organic law of this country," said Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, before the New York City Economic Club, on Thursday, Jan. 25, 1923.

"Prohibition is based on two fundamental principles of government: First, the people have an inherent right to better their conditions whenever the legally constituted majority desires to do so by the orderly process of government; second, any traffic or business which is a menace to the health, morals and safety of the people, like the beverage liquor traffic, has no inherent right to exist. It is here by sufferance only. The courts of last resort sustained this doctrine since the beginning of the Government.

"Intoxicating beverages have always been in a class by themselves, to the treatment of which there is no analogy in the law. There is no danger, therefore, that this power can be extended to innocent or useful commodities. The Supreme Court has settled this question. 2,338 counties out of a total of 3,032 in the United States, 33 of the 48 States, with over 90 per cent of the territory, and containing over 68 per cent of the population, adopted prohibition before the Eighteenth Amendment was ratified. It was a question as to whether the minority would rule the nation and break down the laws in the dry territory, or whether the wet territory should be controlled by the majority voice of the country.

"Now that prohibition is our national constitutional policy, it must be obeyed until it is changed by the orderly processes of law. When the wet advocates can demonstrate that they are in the majority and can repeal the Eighteenth Amendment legally, dry advocates will be loyal to the Constitution, just as we appeal to the wet forces now to be loyal to the Eighteenth Amendment until it is reversed. No State or other unit of government has made a success of the prohibition law with any light wine and beer amendment in it. It has been proved in these three years that prohibition enforced is a success; when partially enforced it is better than the license system.

"Because of the organized resistance to the enforcement of the law, there has been an increase in the arrests for drunkenness in 1922 in some places over 1921, but when we compare this with the former wet years the results in favor of prohibition are convincing. The average yearly convictions in New York from 1914 to 1918 were 14,290. The yearly average under prohibition 1920, 1921 and 1922 have been 6,911—a decrease under prohibition yearly of 7,379.

"The effect of prohibition upon business and industry is incalculable. These facts suggest the flood of ready capital available for legitimate business: in Chicago, the savings banks deposits increased 100 per cent in the first two years of prohibition; this ignores the increase, greatest of all, in 1922. In Indiana the average yearly increase for the past five dry compared with the previous five wet years was 36 per cent. Massachusetts found 20 per cent increase in savings deposits snice 1918. Michigan reports that her savings have increased over 100 per cent in the past five years since she became dry. Minnesota, comparing the average of four wet with the average of three dry years, finds her savings accounts increased 43 per cent.

"These figures ignore the decrease in the 'lean years' of industrial depression. That means under prohibiton, we have restored to business through the savings banks the amounts withdrawn to enable us to carry on during the hardest period of depression experienced and have been able to show an increase in the amount of savings in State after State, even when we compare to-day with the boom days of war-time prosperity.

"Increased valuation of realty in sections where saloons had depressed real estate values; greater efficiency of employees; elimination of 'Blue Monday' with the uncertain factor it introduced in production; reduction of charity societies' work in repairing the damage done by the saloon and the freeing of these large sums for positive constructive welfare work; all these things have had an incalculable effect for good upon every legitimate business in the country. Prohibition has been the governor on our business machine. It has prevented those excesses which students of history forecast would follow the war and its boom prosperity period."

---

To make friends with timid children: Plan some work that you two can do together.

To prevent a scene: Laugh together at such foolishness before the affair gains headway, and

"When you consent, consent cordially.

When you refuse, refuse finally.

When you punish, punish sympathetically and good-naturedly.

Comemnd often; never scold."

—Pilgrim Elementary Teacher.

---

The worst man is not quite so bad as he seems; and the best man is not quite so good as he appears to be.—Selected.

---

An evangelist went to Chicago saying that he could easily reform that city. He was arrested for a lunatic.—Selected.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District.

The Alexandria District made a fine showing last year. The Conference minutes will show that there was a net gain of more than eight hundred, which was out of propotion to our size as a district when compared with some of the others. About ninety-nine per cent of salaries of the preachers were paid. Some men received more than their assessment. Others did not get the full amount. On benevolences, the district made rather a bad showing. There was only sixty-four per cent of the assessment raised. We will need to make a strenuous effort to do better than this during the present year.

The following salaries have been assessed in the Alexandria District thus far:

Alexandria, $4,000; Elizabeth circuit, $2,075; Pineville, $1,200; Cheneyville, $800; Campti circuit, $1,360; Meider circuit, $609; Lecompte and Woodworth, $2,200; Boyce circuit, $1,392; Marksville circuit, $1,000; Bunkie, $1,800; Melville circuit, $883; Opelousas, $1,500. Some other charges, whose conferences have been held, were not ready to assess. There are still others yet to be held.

* * *

The district parsonage has been treated to a new roof, by order of the district stewards' meeting. It now needs a coat of paint, but this will have to wait for another twelve months.

* * *

The new financial plan adopted at Bunkie is making it possible for that church to meet its financial obligations promptly, much to the satisfaction of both pastor and people.

* * *

Rev. L. E. Crooks, of Campti circuit, is in favor with his people. He has gotten a good start on his second year on that charge.

* * *

The people of the new Melder circuit are much gratified at having their pastor among them. They are well pleased with Brother F. P. Moss as their pastor. There is opportunity on that charge for developing a good work.

* * *

The new parsonage at Livonia is nearing completion. Brother George P. White has been untiring in his efforts since going to this new charge. He hopes soon to have the parsonage completed, all fences up, and to be regularly at work on his circuit. This should come to be one of the good circuits of the Conference.

* * *

At Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, Rev. H. B. Hines has made a good start and is getting the work well in hand. This bids fair to be a good year for that charge as it is now arranged. It is an important field of labor.

* * *

Our Alexandria church is having a largely increased attendance, both at Sunday school and the preaching services. Rev. C. W. Bradley is doing a most effective work here.

* * *

At Oakdale, a large permnaent tabernacle is being erected for the use of our congregation. The church has grown too large for the present house. A revival meeting is planned for the month of February.

* * *

Opelousas has a nice parsonage property. Rev. S. L. Riggs has the work of that field well in hand. They contemplate adding to their church at an early date in order to be better able to care for the Sunday school.

* * *

Rev. Charles Lahey is doing a good work on the Melville charge. He is untiring in his efforts in behalf of the material and spiritual interests of his circuit.

* * *

Thus far, not so many have been received into the church. Pastors are reporting some at some points. On the whole, the work starts well all over the district. The preachers are at their posts and are greatly encouraged over the prospects on their several charges.

* * *

At Coushatta the people are talking of building a new church and also a new parsonage. The people there have given Rev. Louis Hoffpauir a warm welcome. He has begun his work with his usual energy and determination.

* * *

On the Marksville circuit, Rev. J. H. French is in high favor with the people. His first quarterly conference at Evergreen was well attended and marked by an increasing interest on the part of the people. We have every reason to believe that this circuit will develop very much under his careful leadership.

* * *

The Alexandria District Conference will be held at Elizabeth on April 10, 11 and 12. Elizabeth is a fine mill town. The Industrial Lumber Company built there last year a nice church at considerable cost for the use of our people. The church has been well furnished. The people have located their pastor in a good, comfortable house and have assessed a living salary. They are anxious that our people attend the District Conference and become acquainted with their town and church. By the time for the meeting of the conference, the gravel road from Alexandria will be connected up.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Baton Rouge District.

If I were to mention all the good things that ought to be written about the work of the preachers and congregations of the Baton Rouge District, I would claim a great deal more of your space than you are willing to give me.

* * *

The three churches in this city, First, Keener Memorial, and Istrouma, under the able leadership of Crisler, Miller, and McLean, are making splendid progress along all lines of church activity. Dr. Crisler is busy with his new church enterprise, and hopes to begin the erection of this splendid temple of worship in the spring. His congregation are enthusiastic in their work for this building. McLean is rejoicing over the comfort of a new parsonage recently completed, and he dandles a fine boy upon his paternal knees when the arduous day's work is over. Happy fellow! These three diligent pastors are working with the other Protestant pastors of the city to insure the success of a great tent meeting to be held in March on the University campus, led by Gipsy Smith, Jr. The meeting is to be from March 4 to the 25th. We hope that not only the city may have a great revival, but that the entire district may derive much benefit from it.

* * *

J. E. Selfe has received a royal welcome to Hammond and has made a fine beginning with that splendid congregation, and both people and preacher are delighted. The church at Hammond has recently purchased a handsome and commodious parsonage on the opposite corner from the church, and Selfe is ensconced, when off duty, in one of the finest parsonages in the State.

* * *

Boykin has been most cordially received at Ponchatoula, and is pushing things in that new field, and his noble people are co-operating splendidly with him. We are looking for great things from that beautiful little city this year. He, too, is rejoicing in the comforts of a fine new parsonage started last fall and finished since his arrival in Ponchatoula. This wide-awake congregation is planning to build an annex to their handsome brick church to take care of their growing Sunday school.

* * *

At Bogalusa, Gunn and his church are moving forward with great strides. They are completing their splendid new church plant, which is a thing of beauty as well as utility. This is a live and most active congregation and are doing a fine work under the efficient leadership of Gunn, whose ardor in the work knows no bounds. They have at that church one of the best choirs in the State.

* * *

At Franklinton, the indomitable spirit of L. W. Cain is contagious, and he and his heroic congregation are pushing on to high achievement with commendable zeal and assured success, in spite of difficulties that might deter those of weaker faith and more timid spirit. Their faith and valiant endeavors will soon crystallize into a handsome new church, which is sorely needed for the better working of the church and the growing Sunday school. They hope to begin its erection in a very short while.

* * *

H. W. Jamieson is doing a wonderful work on the Pearl River circuit, and serves a most responsive and appreciative people. He is a young man who sees visions and dreams dreams that come true, and his heroic flock see visions with him. The work is thoroughly organized and functioning perfectly. And now take notice of this, ye circuit preachers who wrestle yearly with the problem of Conference collections and fail to secure them: Last Sunday at their first quarterly conference, he reported these collections in full. Truly this is something new under the sun in our Conference—the benevolences in full at the first quarterly conference. It is to be hoped that Jamieson will tell us through the columns of the Advocate how he does it. It will make good reading indeed. A new church building is soon to be erected at St. Tammany on this charge.

* * *

I found Giles, at Slidell, in the midst of most encouraging progress in all departments of church activity and in high favor with his noble and responsive flock. He is preaching to large and appreciative congregations. We had a splendid quarterly conference there on the evening of Jan. 28. I had the pleasure of attending a fine League service before preaching, which was largely attended by young and old. We are going to hear of great things from Slidell this year.

* * *

B. H. Andrews, at Zachary, B. D. Watson, at Jackson, L. C. Wilson, at Clinton, and W. J. Newsom, at St. Francisville, have made splendid beginnings in their respective charges and have plans in operation for a forward movement along all lines. These preachers are hustlers, and are in highest favor with their people, who are among the noblest and best in the State.

* * *

B. W. Waltman is a new man on the Natalbany and Pine Grove charge, but has gotten well adjusted and has begun well. I predict for him and his good people a fine year's work.

* * *

A. L. McQueen is doing splendidly on the Denham Springs circuit. He has gotten well in touch with his large flock, and they are all taking hold with a determination ot do things. Considerable repairs have been made on the parsonage, which will add to the comfort of the preacher.

* * *

And now, Mr. Editor, I must desist—not for want of items, but for want of space. I would like to mention the zeal and holy labors of the rest of this noble band of itinerants in whose competent care are the spiritual interests and well-being of the precious flocks of the Lord's sheep, but I must wait for the next opportunity, which I am assured shall be mine.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Columbus District.

We have quite a number of quarterly conferences to hold yet, but the conferences held thus far indicate that we are getting a fine start for the new year. We will give a brief report of the conferences held thus far.

* * *

First Church, Columbus: Good attendance, fine interest. Everything well organized and ready for the year's work. Every department of the church in fine shape. Pastor's salary increased $600.

* * *

Central Church, Columbus: Under the efficient leadership of the pastor, Brother Raper, we find that they are rapidly getting things in shape for the task before them. They have adopted a plan for raising the finances which is working most admirably, and we feel quite sure this plan will enable them to meet all their financial obligations in full without a burden to any one. We find that Brother Raper is a tireless and systematic worker.

* * *

Noxapater: Large attendance and fine interest. We find that Brother Goudelock is rapidly shaping things for a great year. The financial report was the best this charge has made at the first quarterly conference since I have been on the District. As we said before, this is one of our strongest hill circuits. We are expecting Brother Goudelock and his people to do great things this year.

* * *

Shuqualak: Weather was very unfavorable and attendance small, but we found that everything was in good shape for the new year's work. Brother Ray is in high favor with his people and he is in love with them. This always makes a happy situation. Pastor's salary increased $100. They have a movement on foot to sell the old parsonage and build an up-to-date bungalow on a lot adjoining the church, which has been donated to the charge by Brother W. C. Futvoye.

* * *

West Point: Large attendance, fine interest. Everything well organized and moving along smoothly. Brother Lipscomb and his good wife are in high favor with their people and prospects bright for a great year. Pastor's salary increased $500.

* * *

Caledonia: We found that Brother Hollingsworth had already gotten a grip on the people of his seven churches, and things look bright for a great year. Pastor's salary raised $350. The new church at Steens is rapidly nearing completion.

* * *

Chester: This is Brother Biffle's third year on the Chester charge, and everything looks bright for the best year of all. The attendance was good and interest fine.

* * *

Crawford and Shaeffers: Brother Avery is making a fine start on this delightful charge. Both people and preacher are happy. This was the first conference we have held where all finances for the quarter were reported in full, both pastor's salary and benevolences. Brother Avery says he would like to spend four years on this charge.

* * *

High Point: This was our first opportunity to meet the new addition to the parsonage—the good wife—and after seeing her we were convinced that if Brother Heath did not accomplish anything else this year, that this would be the greatest year of his life. But he says with the help of his new wife he is going to do the best year's work of all, and we are prepared to believe it. There was a slight increase in pastor's salary over last year.

* * *

Kosciusko Station: Good attendance, fine interest, everything well organized and movng along smoothly. The trustees were authorized to investigate the need of a proposed Sunday school annex and report to a church conference. Their Sunday school, under the leadership of their efficient superintendent, B. G. Webb, has outgrown their present equipment. Brother Ray and his good wife are in high favor with their people.

Kosciusko Circuit: This is Brother Bowlin's third year, and the prospects are bright for the best year of the three.

* * *

Louisville: This is Brother Dorman's fourth year, and he is just as popular with his good people as ever. It was my privilege to sit in the men's class, taught by the pastor, and I found that Brother Dorman could teach a class of men just as well as he can preach, and that is saying a great deal. That fine body of men are delighted with his methols of teaching. Everything bright for a good year.

* * *

Macon Station: One hundred per cent attendance, fine interest. Everything well organized and moving along smoothly. Brother Caffey has just closed a great meeting, in which Bob Jones, evangelist from Montgomery, Ala., did the preaching. The meeting lasted only eight days, but they had a sweeping revival—53 additions to the various churches of the town. They have increased the pastor's salary $100 over last year.

* * *

Macon Circuit: The weather was threatening and attendance small, but we found that Brother Burns was rapidly getting things in shape for the year. Salary increased $100 over last year. Brother Burns is doing a fine work on this charge.

* * *

Mashulaville: Brother Harper served this charge about fourteen years ago, but the people were delighted to get him back. One remarkable thing about this conference: One church, Mashulaville, increased the pastor's salary 125%. They are paying the pastor monthly. Everything bright for a great year on this charge.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

---

Corinth District.

The big State-wide Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism at Jackson, January 15-17, was GREAT. We had a good representation from the Corinth District. All who went were well repaid and inspired by the wonderful addresses. Our good Bishop Ainsworth has rendered Mississippi Methodism a great service in holding this mass meeting. Every presiding elder in Mississippi was present with the map of his district.

* * *

The conference of the preachers of the Corinth District with the presiding elder was very well attended, a majority of the pastors being present. There were two days, one at Corinth and the other at New Albany. A sumptuous dinner was served each day by the church in which the conference was held. Some were kept away by sickness, but those present were a unit in agreeing to make this the greatest year in the history of the district. All phases of the work were considered: but special emphasis was given to personal and pastoral evangelism. A revival is planned for every church, and many places where there is no church. Of course, we expect to pay our benevolences IN FULL. We want a SUNDAY SCHOOL in EVERY CHURCH in the district. The work of our good women was commended, and right of way given for an organization in every charge. The payment of our CENTENARY PLDGES in FULL was urged.

* * *

We are still on the first round of quarterly conferences. The following charges have been visited since our last report:

Sherman circuit at Belden. Rev. J. L. Nabors is in his third year on this good charge. He and his family have had the 'flu" since Conference, but we are glad to report all well again. The salary remains the same as last year. Prospects good, Rev. W. A. Wilson, our Conference evangelist, lives at Sherman. He was present at the quarterly conference. He is a strong preacher and a good evangelist, and ready to do all he can to advance the cause. He will give the months of July and August to meetings in the Corinth District, but he has some other open dates. Any pastor will do well to secure his services in a revival meeting.

Brother E. C. Sullivan is starting off well at Wheeler. He is a strong preacher and a true man. Salary advanced about $200 over last year.

Rev. R. W. Evans and family are happy in their new parsonage at Potts Camp. He is faithful as a pastor and a good preacher. Salary same as last year.

Rev. R. C. Nanney is doing well at Hickory Flat. The people are paying out the parsonage bought last year. Outlook bright for a good year.

Myrtle and Rev. L. H. Floyd are both "delighted." Good report by both pastor and officials at first quarterly conference.

Rev. R. C. Mayo has organized a Woman's Missionary Society and a Senior Epworth League at Mooreville. Both doing fine work. Salary same as last year. Fine.

Rev. G. B. Love, of Mantachie charge, always has a crowd at his quarterly conference. Shiloh did herself proud on both the congregation and the good dinner. Salary advanced by the addition of Ozark Church. That big-hearted layman, F. M. Roper, of Saltillo, carried the "elder" out to Shiloh in his Ford. Many thanks, Brother Marlon.

The conference at Marietta was postponed on account of the "flu." The pastor and a number of his people had it. His son had pneumonia. All better now. Rev. L. B. Wimberly is a faithful leader in this large field.

Rev. W. I. White is in high favor at Rienzi. There is promise of another good year.

There is no more popular pastor in the district than Brother M. L. Ward, of Chalybeate. He and his good people are on the last hundred dollars of that parsonage debt. It will be paid out in a few days. They made a substantial raise in the salary for the pastor.

Ripley church does not realize its real strength. It has a choice lot of strong men and good women. The pastor, Rev. S. A. Brown, is held in high esteem by the whole community. He has organized a junior congregation. Mr. C. L. Cox has the leadership of these young people. He is leading them wisely. Ripley will entertain the next district conference. The time will be announced later. The salary was made the same as last year.

Rev. J. M. Spires is making a fair start on the Silver Springs work. He has been hindered by sickness, but has recovered, and is on the job.

Rev. S. A. Brown was kind enough to hold the quarterly conference at Mount Carmel, as the "elder" was detained by illness. Salary same as last year.

Brother E. P. Craddock has been shut in with the "flu," but was able to go in Brother C. M. Ray's Overland to Hebron to the quarterly conference. Plans made for another good year.

The Iuka circuit is planning to repair the parsonage for Brother Chester Ray. They like him and made the salary the same as for Brother Phillips.

Iuka station is prospering under the leadership of Brother Walter Jones. They paid right up to date. The salary same as last year. They have a wide-awake Epworth League under the leadership of Brother Cleo Moser. Iuka is the home of our great evongelist. W. M. McIntosh. He is one of the general evangelists of our church. He has promised several meetings in the Corinth District in July and August. He has a few open dates in the next few months. He is a power in a meeting. More later.

J. B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

(Continued on Eighth Page.)

ANNOUNCEMENT!
Fifth Annual State Epworth League Assembly at Mansfield Female College
JUNE 12th TO 19th INCLUSIVE, 1923.
EVERY METHODIST CHURCH IN THE STATE IS EXPECTED TO SEND AT LEAST ONE DELEGATE. START TO RAISE YOUR DELEGATE FUND NOW. TWO HUNDRED OUR CAPACITY.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

The Board of Finance in Mourning.—It is with great sorrow that the announcement is made of the death of Governor Lon V. Stephens, Treasurer of the Board. For the past three months he suffered much physical discomfort on account of trouble with his eyes, but his general health appeared to be good. However, a few days ago complications developed which resulted in his death on Wednesday morning, January 10, 1923. He was not confined to his bed at any time during his illness. He spent an uncomfortable night on January 8, but no apprehension by him or by his friends was felt on account of it. The succeeding night, January 9, he continued to be uncomfortable and restless until about six o'clock the following morning. At that time he apparently went to sleep in a perfectly normal manner, and those who were watching at his bedside through the night felt that his pain had ceased and that he was resting comfortably. A few minutes later one of the family went again to his bedside and found that he had quietly passed from his natural sleep into the great beyond.

The funeral was conducted on Friday, January 12, 1923. The following ministers took part in the service: Bishop W. F. McMurry, Bishop Collins Denny, Dr. C. M. Hawkins, Dr. C. H. Briggs, Dr. G. E. Cameron, and the Secretary of the Board of Finance. A throng of people consisting of the most prominent leaders of the State and Church, together with the members of the local church to which the Governor belonged, attended the service. It was a wonderful testimonial to a wonderful man and impressed all with the fact that it is worth while to spend a life in the service of others. The two addresses at the funeral were delivered by Bishops McMurry and Denny, and their words will long be remembered by those who heard them.

Governor Stephens as Treasurer gave to the Board of Finance invaluable service. He was intensely interested in the cause of the "forgotten man" and was constantly doing something to create in others similar interest. He rarely failed any day when in the city to come to the offices of the Board and talk about the work and to give the Secretary the benefit of his always welcome counsel. He was looking forward to the special effort for superannuate endowment with great enthusiasm and expectancy. He did not hesitate to state his conviction that Southern Methodism would do a magnificent thing for this cause when the special effort came on. He will be sorely missed by his associates in the work of the Board of Finance and also by a host of people who have been with him through the years in other important work.

I am sure that the entire Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be greatly saddened by the loss of this faithful servant and we all join in extending to the family our heartfelt sympathies in their bereavement and assure them that the unselfish service of their beloved in behalf of the church has been such as should comfort and sustain them in all the days to come.

As Secretary of the Board, I cannot conclude this brief notice without the additional statement that the death of Governor Stephens is a great personal loss to me. I shall never forget the many hours spent with him listening to his words of encouragement, confidently leaning upon his wide experience in the world of business and imbibing his spirit of affectionate and considerate regard for all people everywhere. On yesterday I stood by his tomb and saw his body deposited in its last resting place, but I knew that the spirit of my friend, counselor, and brother was not entombed with his body. As I go on with my other associates in the great work of the Board of Finance I shall be conscious that the soul of Governor Lon V. Stephens eternally lives and that he speaks to me and works with me as before while I labor at the task.

The New Treasurer of the Board of Finance.—At the meeting of the Executive Committee of the Board on January 13, 1923, formal announcement was given by the Secretary concerning the death of the Treasurer, Governor Lon V. Stephens. The committee's attention was called to the fact that an emergency in the work of the Board had thus occurred wherein it was necessary for the committee to act at once in the election of a Treasurer. As authority for such action by the committee, the Secretary called attention to the by-laws of the Board, Article IV, Section 2, wherein it is written as follows: "The Executive Committee shall have full authority to act for the Board in all matters pertaining to the execution of legal papers and documents and all other matters which cannot wait until the annual meetings and in which the President and Secretary do not deem it advisable to call a meeting of the Board." Whereupon the committee, convinced of its right to act in the premises, elected John W. Fristoe, Esq., Treasurer of the Board to serve in the place of Governor Lon V. Stephens, deceased.

Mr. Fristoe has served as Vice President of the Board of Finance since its creation by the General Conference in May, 1918. His work in this capacity has provided him, above all others considered for the office of Treasurer, with such knowledge of the Board's affairs that the committee felt he was pre-eminently the one to serve the Board in the future as its Treasurer. He was unanimously elected, accepted the responsibility, and entered upon his duties as Treasurer on Jan. 13, 1923.

The new Treasurer is a member of our St. John's Church of St. Louis, Mo., and is one of the most prominent business men of the State. In his personal business relations he is at the head of a powerful corporation, has intimate knowledge of securities, and is regarded as one of the safe and sane business leaders of both city and State. It would be utterly impossible for a man to give himself with greater abandon to the welfare of his church in general, and particularly to that of the Board of Finance, with which he has been so closely associated for four years, than has John W. Fristoe. Southern Methodism is to be congratulated that the Executive Committee of her great Board of Finance was able in pressing emergency so quickly to draft for responsible service a man thoroughly equipped to render that service.

The New Vice President of the Board of Finance.—Mr. Fristoe having been elected by the Executive Committee of the Board to serve as Treasurer, the office of Vice President, formerly held by him, was left vacant. Therefore the committee, convinced that this office could not be left unfilled in a period when important work must be done touching the special effort for superannuate endowment and prior to the annual meeting of the Board, proceeded to fill the place. Senator Xenophon P. Wilfley was unanimously elected Vice President.

Senator Wilfley is a graduate of our Central College, Fayette, Mo., has been thoroughly trained at Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., for the practice of law, has been considered a prominent attorney in the city of St. Louis over a period of twenty years, served as United States Senator, is a member of our St. John's Church, St. Louis, and comes from a family of thoroughbred Southern Methodists. It would be impossible for any board to select a man for its vice president who is better equipped, more inclined to give unstinted service, and who possesses in all things more of the soul of honor than this loyal and devoted son of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Let the Good Work Go On.—One by one our leaders fall. Scarcely a day passes that from some section of the church does not come the saddening news of the departure of one who has stood in a place of responsibility. But we have learned through years of experience how to close the gaps that time cuts in our lines. The workers fall, but the work must go on.

"To understand and answer children's questions is a considerable art, including both a large and deep knowledge of things and a quick, sympathetic insight into the little questioner's mind."—Prof. Sully.

A show of irritation when dealing with one whom you would advise betrays a lack of self-control that displays a low degree of personal culture.—Selected.

The preacher who can tell a story that would make a horse laugh need not be surprised when men refuse to believe him when he tells them the way to heaven.—Selected.

The religion of Jesus Christ will never reach the outposts of this old world until its preachers learn the science of broadcasting their messages.

—Selected.

The Home Circle

A FROG'S LESSON.

The frog looked down a deep old well
And thought he'd play a joke;
Thought up a saucy thing to say,
And thus he harshly spoke:

"You ugly old frog," he hollered down,
And listened for reply;
"Ugly old frog," echo sent back;
The frog began to cry.

He hopped away where his mother sat,
Told her what he had done.
His mother said, with pained surprise:
"I'm ashamed of you, my son."

"Hop back to the deep old well,
Croak down something kind.
The answer you will always get
Will be the same, you'll find."

The frog looked o'er the brink and said:
"Hello, sweetheart, true."
"Sweetheart true," echo sent back.
It'll be the same with you.

Should not folks learn a lesson here,
As our frog friend has done?
Whether words loving or harsh,
The same come back, my son.

O. L. Russell, in Christian Advocate.

A NURSERY ECHO.

"Mother," said George, "we had a nice time yesterday afternoon at Uncle John's. Do you know that there is an echo behind the barn? I wish we had one here."

"Well, so have we," said mother. "This house is full of echoes."

"Is it?" said George. "Where must I stand to make my voice come back to me?"

"Anywhere you choose; but I think the nursery is the best place."

Off ran George, delighted; but as he entered the room he saw that Baby Ned had possession of his new kite and was proceeding to fly it.

"Put that kite down," he cried, angrily; "you will break it to pieces, you bad boy!"

"Bad boy, bad boy!" shouted the baby, and mother entered the nursery just in time to prevent a serious difficulty.

"I think you found your echo sooner than you expected," she said, soberly, when peace was restored, and George hung his head.

"Oh, is that what you mean, mother?" he asked.

"Yes," she replied; "that is what I mean. Just as the echo behind the barn sent back the very tones of your voice, so your little brother and sister reflect back your tones and manner. I think if you will remember this, it will make you very careful how you speak."

Later in the day George was playing stage-coach with the little children, and with his shouting and his trumpet setting the nurse almost crazy. "I wish," she cried out angrily, "that you would go downstairs; you are such a noisy, horrid boy."

"You are a horrid old thing yourself," he shouted back, and then suddenly he began to laugh.

"Why," he said, "I was an echo myself that time," and as his mother came in just then, they had another little talk about echoes, and both George and the nurse determined to try to make some pleasant ones before the day was over.

When Baby Nel's supper came upstairs he was cross, and would not drink his milk, and said that his bread was "sour."

"George," said mother, "now is your chance," and George ran into the room and was so funny and bright with the baby that in a few moments he was in high humor, and as mother listened she could not tell which was the laugh and which was the echo.—The Parish Visitor.

A STORY OF LIGHTS.

The night had come. The sun had disappeared, and birds had tucked their heads beneath their wings to rest. A night bird flew close to an electric light.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "You give so little light compared with the sun!"

"I do the best I can," said the light. "Think how dark this corner would be if I were not here! People walking and driving might run into one another and some one might get hurt."

"That's true," said the bird; and away he flew. Then he came near a gas light, standing apart from houses and busy streets.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "You do not give as much light as the electric light!"

"I do the best I can," said the light. "Do you not see that steep bank just beyond? If I were not here, some one might fail to see it and fall."

"That's true," said the bird, and away he flew. Soon his sharp eyes spied a lamp in a window.

"Of what use are you?" asked the bird. "You do not give even as much light as the gas light."

"I do the best I can. I am in the window to throw light down the path, that Farmer Brown may see the way when he comes home. I do my best."

"That's true," said the bird, and away he flew, thinking, "The little and great, all are helpers."—Kindergarten Review.

AN ANT FUNERAL.

A lady gives this account of some ants which she saw in Sydney. Having killed a number of soldier ants, she returned in half an hour to the spot where she had left their dead bodies, and in reference to what she then observed she says: "I saw a large number of ants surrounding the dead ones. I determined to watch their proceedings closely. I followed four or five that started off from the rest toward a hillock a short distance away in which was an ants' nest. This they entered, and in about five minutes they reappeared, followed by others. All fell into rank, walking regularly and slowly two by two until they arrived at the spot where lay the dead bodies of the soldier ants. In a few minutes two of the ants advanced and took up the dead body of one of their comrades; then two others, and so on until all were ready to march. First walked two ants bearing a body, then two without a burden, then two others with another dead ant, and so on until the line extended to about forty pairs, and the procession now moved slowly onward, followed by an irregular body of about two hundred ants. Occasionally the two laden ants stopped, and laying down the dead ant it was taken up by the two walking unburdened behind them, and thus by occasionally relieving each other they arrived at a shady spot near the sea. The body of ants now commenced digging with their jaws a number of holes in the ground, into each of which a dead ant was laid. They now labored on until they filled up the ants' graves. This did not quite finish the remarkable circumstances attending their funeral. Some six or seven of the ants had attempted to run on without performing their share of the task of digging. These were caught and brought back, when they were at once attacked by the body of the ants and killed upon the spot. A single grave was quickly dug, and they were all dropped into it."

Many more instances might be adduced of the intelligence of those little insects, but enough has already been given to show that if they do not really exercise reasoning powers they at least come to conclusions and act exactly as men do under similar circumstances. This certainly shows intelligence if not reason.—Exchange.

"TIME OUT."

Easy Directions.

Doctor (to patient)—"It's nothing to worry about—just a little boil on the back of the neck. But you must keep your eye on it."—Selected.

Hard on the Teacher.

Teacher—"Your themes should be written so that even the most stupid of people can understand them."

Pupil—"Yes, ma'am. What part don't you understand?"—West Virginia Wesleyan Pharos.

No Ear for Music.

A very deaf old lady, walking along the street, saw an Italian turning a peanut roaster. She stood looking at it for awhile, shook her head and said: "No, I shan't give you any money for such music as that. I can't hear any of the tunes, and besides it smells as if there were something burning inside!"—The Congregationalist.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:
Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.
Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.
North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

(Continued from Fifth Page.)

Jackson District.

Things have moved rapidly in the Jackson District since the last report. The district stewards' meeting was held Dec. 28. With one exception, every charge was represented. The lay leaders had a meeting in the afternoon, and agreed on a program for the year. The motto for the year: "What ought to be done can be done, and by the grace of God, we will do it." Our purpose is an advance along all lines.

* * *

The next special event was the great Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism. For two days inspirational messages were presented by Bishop Ainsworth and the men whom he had selected to aid him in the program. More than twelve hundred Methodists outside of Jackson attended. One, not a Methodist, said to the writer: "One who listened to the addresses during the Conference can never be the same again."

* * *

On the 25th and 26th the preachers met in an institute as the guests of the Mississippi Orphans' Home. The time was spent in discussing questions vital to the personal life and the work before us. Four were hindered from attending on account of illness. Besides the pastors, Brothers H. W. Featherstun, C. A. Bowen, J. C. Chambers, and M. M. Black were present and participated in the discussions. We resolved to carry out, as far as possible, the plans and suggestions of the Home Mission Conference.

* * *

Brother Ferguson and the people of Yazoo City had the privilege of hearing a stirring sermon from Bishop Ainsworth on the evening of January 17.

* * *

January 21, I spent at Edwards. Brother Jones starts the year well. Bishop Ainsworth came over from Vicksburg and preached at 7 p. m., to the delight of a splendid congregation.

* * *

Brother I. O. Brown, lay leader on the Fannin charge, reports having had a meeting of the laymen of the circuit, and they undertake the year with resolution and determination to do their best. I hope the lay leaders of the other charges in the district will follow his example.

* * *

Rev. Drury Hilton, Sunday school superintendent at Rexford, on the Harrisville charge, has made a survey of his community, and mapped the roads and residences with the population, showing the church's task in that community. I trust others will follow his example till every pastor and superintendent knows his territory, people, and needs.

* * *

The quarterly conference at Bolton took advance steps financially, authorized the sale of the present parsonage, and appointed a building committee to proceed at once to build a new parsonage. When the church and parsonage are completed, the Methodists at Bolton will have an attractive property.

* * *

Under the leadership of their pastor, Brother Foreman, the people of Flora are expecting a good year. Sister Foreman's illness has given much anxiety. We hope and pray for a speedy recovery.

* * *

Brother W. J. Dawson, of the Brandon charge, was called to Arkansas on account of the illness of his brother. We are glad to hear his brother is much improved.

* * *

Rev. E. K. Means and his good wife have been in the hospital for two weeks, suffering from "flu." At this writing they are reported much improved.

* * *

Brother B. H. Williams, of Satartia, and his whole family have had "flu." At last reports they were improving.

* * *

Our Brother [illegible], superintendent of the Lone Pine Sunday school on the Sharon circuit, is in the Jackson Infirmary. We all hope that he will soon recover.

* * *

The weather somewhat hindered the attendance of the Madison quarterly conference. Brother Vaughn seems happy in his new home, and the people seem encouraged and are hoping for a good year.

* * *

On February 23, 24 and 25 there will be a Sunday school institute, conducted by Brother Brabham, in Yazoo City. I hope to meet there the pastor, superintendent, and every teacher in the Methodist Sunday schools in Yazoo County.

* * *

There is much sickness over the district. In some places the church work is hindered on this account.

* * *

Two meetings are to be held in Jackson before the next notes from this district appear. On February 16, the Centenary director and treasurer, with each pastor, will meet at Galloway Memorial at 7:30 p. m., followed on Sunday, 18th, by speaking in all the churches on the Centenary, what it has done, and the unfinished task. On March 2, at 10 a. m., there will be a meeting of all the pastors, lay leaders, and Centenary treasurers from all the charges in the district outside of Jackson, at Capitol Street Church.

* * *

Four years ago our church commenced a great campaign. It is easy to say we must not fail, but how would it do for each man and woman who reads this to say, "by the grace of God, I'll not fail to redeem my pledge to the church, and the faithful missionaries at home and abroad."

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian District.

Rev. P. D. Hardin, our presiding elder, is giving himself unsparingly to the work of the district. His leadership is marked by wisdom, consecration and enthusiasm, and, of course, the church readily responds to it.

* * *

The church at Waynesboro is making splendid progress under the leadership of Rev. H. A. Wood. He looks forward to a year of revival power and material advancement.

* * *

Rev. M. L. White, pastor of DeKalb circuit, and Rev. L. J. Snellgrove, of the Cleveland work, are four-year men, and begin the new year under promising conditions. Assessments for ministerial support have been advanced on both charges.

* * *

Rev. D. B. Yeager is in his third year on the Matherville circuit, and is much beloved by his people. The prospect is for a good year.

* * *

Rev. C. M. Baggett begins the year at Bucatunna with promise of advance on all lines. This charge has three Woman's Missionary Societies and two Epworth Leagues. The pastor is in high favor with his people.

* * *

The Daleville circuit is delighted to have the pastoral oversight of Rev. W. E. Dickens for another year. It will not be surprising to those who know Brother Dickens to learn that the year's work begins auspiciously.

* * *

Reports indicate that Rev. John D. Ellis, the scholarly pastor of Quitman charge, is starting off well for the new year. Among other things that might be mentioned, is the recent organization of a Junior League.

* * *

The Lauderdale and Electric Mills charge shows marked progress under the faithful leadership of Rev. W. H. Lane. Fourteen accessions have been reported so far this year. Brother Lane has arranged to hold monthly services at several mission points adjacent to his work. Several laymen have promised to assist him in this worthy undertaking. A helpful feature of his work is an active Epworth League at Lauderdale. The pastor's salary has been increased over last year.

* * *

Brothers M. A. Massey, De Soto; R. E. Rutledge, Pachuta; H. J. Oakley, Porterville; W. A. Terry, Shubuta; T. M. Ainsworth, Enterprise and Stonewall; O. B. Matheney, Vimville; R. A. Sibley, Waynesboro circuit, and D. W. Ulmer, Scooba, are first-year men on their respective charges, and the outlook for the year in each instance is promising. Brother Massey is taking steps looking to the early completion of the new church at De Soto. Crandall is an important point on this charge, and claims half of the pastor's time. Brother J. H. Fleming, junior preacher, supplies two of the churches, and, in addition, will break new ground in mission territory. Brother Rutledge serves a charge of splendid possibilities, and the people are delighted with the new pastor and his family. One church will double the assessment of last year. Brothers Sibley and Ainsworth have been well received, and are getting the work well in hand on their respective charges, in spite of the fact that influenza in their homes has been a considerable hindrance to both. Brother Ainsworth will have to make good, or change his name. Congregations are growing, several have been received into the church, and the salary has been advanced at Shubuta.

* * *

Brother Terry makes a fine beginning. Good reports are heard from Brother Matheney, and this energetic pastor and his people look forward to a year of success on all lines. The organization of a new League, two church buildings reroofed, and plans for immediate repairs on another, are some of the accomplishments of Brother Oakley at Porterville. Brother Ulmer has made a most excellent beginning at Scooba. All departments of the work are moving well, and fine congregations attend the preaching of the Word.

* * *

Meridian Notes.

Methodism in Meridian is making substantial progress. Central, under the capable leadership of Rev. J. L. Decell, is doing splendid work. Seventeen laymen of this church attended the conference at Jackson, and twenty laymen have volunteered their services to the pastor and presiding elder for any extension work they may be called on to perform. Brother Decell is looking forward to the dedication of the church on Easter Sunday.

Rev. W. H. Lewis begins well at East End. The building committee plans to complete the new church and pay all local indebtedness this year. The Sunday school has inaugurated a definite evangelistic campaign. The pastor's salary was made $3,000.

Brother J. L. Sells is doing fatihful work at Fifth Street, and the church is very much pleased with the pastor and his family. The congregations are growing, and the outlook is favorable. Evangelist Earl B. Moll, and his singer, are to begin a meeting at Fifth Street February 12.

Hawkins Memorial begins the year with bright prospects under the pastorate of Rev. J. M. Lewis. The services are well attended, and the prayer meeting attendance is unusually large. Plans are on foot to make much needed repairs on the church building at an early date. A splendid work is beng done at Thirty-fourth Avenue, which is served by Brother Lewis also.

Seventh Avenue charge continues to prosper under the careful oversight of Rev. D. E. Vickers. A revival meeting early in the year, and repairs on the church at Seventh Avenue are among the things which he plans for the near future.

The Wesley House, under the supervision of Miss Palmore and Mrs. Boaz, is doing excellent service in this community.

Poplar Springs is doing splendid work in all departments. This church is composed of a loyal and plucky membership. This is the pastor's fourth year, and the outlook is for the best of the four. The salary was advanced over last year.

* * *

A movement, begun in the district stewards' meeting, is about to materialize in the purchase of a gospel tent large enough to seat about five hundred persons, for use in evangelistic work in this district. The first tent meeting will probably be held in the extreme eastern part of Meridian some time in March.

* * *

A large delegation of laymen from the Meridian District attended the great conference at Jackson, and the universal testimony is that it was a high season of inspiration and renewed consecration. There seems to be a general feeling among preachers and people that this year must, and shall, by the blessing of the Master, be the greatest yet in both spiritual advancement and material improvement.

W. A. HAYS, Reporter.

REV. W. D. DOMINICK GOES TO HIS REWARD.

Dear Brother Carley: Rev. W. D. Dominick, a superannuate preacher of our Conference, went to his reward Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock. The funeral services were held at 3 o'clock p.m. in the Methodist Church in Gulfport. In the absence of Brother Linfield, the pastor, who was called to a funeral in another part of the State, the writer, assisted by Rev. M. B. Sharbrough and Rev. W. J. O'Bryant, conducted the funeral. The remains were shipped to Oakland, Cal., for interment. A more extended notice will be given later.

W. M. SULLIVAN.

Feb. 2, 1923.

CITY CAMPAIGN, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Upon investigation it was found that there are 673 churches in 550 cities of Southern Methodism where the most was pledged to the Centenary, and there are $10,000,000 in unpaid pledges in these cities. It has been decided to appeal to these cities for relief, in order to raise the $4,000,000 necessary in order to continue the work.

There are five teams of six speakers each, who will make a visit to these 550 cities. The Mississippi Conference is in the Central Division, and the dates assigned the Mississipi Conference are February 16 through the 22nd, when the team will make a visit to the cities as designated in the itinerary below, where the largest subscriptions were made, this itinerary also giving the names of the speakers who will make the visit to each town. This visitation should mean a great deal to our Conference, but it is going to depend a great deal upon the interest taken by each one concerned.

I hope that where there are several churches convenient to the places to be visited, they will each remember there is a cordial invitation extended to them to be present at the speaking.

Coveting your prayers in making this campaign in our Conference a great success, I am yours for service,

W. D. HAWKINS,
Conference Missionary Secretary.

Itinerary.

Meridian.

Team No. 1.—Speakers: Dr. W. B. Ricks, and Dr. W. T. Reed, Nashville, Tenn. Banquet Friday night, February 16th, 7:30 o'clock, Central Church, Meridian. Saturday, February 17th, Conference with leaders. Sunday, February 18th, speaking in all pulpits in the city. Monday, February 19th, 7:30 p. m., Ellisville, Miss. Tuesday, February 20th, 7:30 p. m., Poplarville, Miss. Wednesday, February 21st, 7:30 p. m., Richton, Miss. Thursday, February 22nd, 7:30 p. m., Laurel, Miss.

Hattiesburg.

Team No. 2.—Speakers: Dr. W. W. Pinson, Miss Estelle Haskins, Nashville, Tenn.; W. D. Hawkins, Conference Missionary - Secretary, Meridian. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth will be at Columbia on the evening of February 21st. Banquet Friday night, February 16th, 7:30 o'clock, Court Street Church, Hattiesburg, Miss. Saturday, February 17th, conference with leaders. Sunday, February 18th, speaking in all pulpits in the city. Monday, February 19th, 7:30 p. m., Purvis, Miss. Tuesday, February 20th, 7:30 p. m., Tylertown, Miss. Wednesday, February 21st, 7:30 p. m., Columbia, Miss. Thursday, February 22nd., 7:30 p. m., Brookhaven, Miss.

Jackson.

Team No. 3.—Speakers: Miss Daisy Davies, Atlanta, and Dr. A. C. Zumbrunnen, Nashville, Tenn. Bishop W. N. Ainsworth will be at Natchez, February 20th, and McComb on February 22d. Banquet Friday night, February 16th, 7:30 o'clock, Galloway Memorial Church, Jackson, Miss. Saturday, February 17th, conference with leaders. Sunday, February 18th, speaking in all pulpits in the city. Monday, bruary 19th, 7:30 p. m., Crawford Street rch, Vicksburg. Tuesday, February 20th, 7:3 m., Jefferson Street Church, Natchez. Wednes February 21st, 7:30 p.m., Hazlehurst, Miss. Thursday, February 22d, 7:30 p.m., Centenary, McComb, with three churches in McComb, Magnolia, Fernwood, and Summit, participating.

DISTRICT SET-UP MEETINGS, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Set-Up Meetings in the interest of the Centenary are to be held in each district. The dates given below have been fixed by the presiding elders, who are the District Campaign Directors in their respective districts. A cordial invitation is extended to each pastor, and to each official in his church to attend, but it is very important that the pastor, Centenary treasurer, and lay leader of each church in the district be present. Do not forget the time and place.

Seashore District: Tuesday, February 27, Biloxi; Wednesd ebruary 28, Lumberton.

Hattiesb istrict: Thursday, March 1, Main Street Ch ttiesburg.

Jackson : Friday, March 2, 10 a. m., Capitol Str rch, Jackson.

Brookhaven rict: Tuesday, March 6, Brookhaven.

Newton District: Wednesday, March 7, 10:30 a. m., Newton.

Vicksburg District: Thursday, March 8, Crawford Street Church, Vicksburg; Friday, March 9, Fayette.

CENTENARY SET-UP MEETING OF MONROE DISTRICT AT RAYVILLE, LA., TUESDAY, FEB, 13, 1923.

Program.

Opening, 9:30 a. m., by presiding elder (20 minutes).

"It Can Be Done; It Must Be Done," S. S. Thomas (15 minutes).

Sacrifice—Its Relation to the Centenary, Rev. F. M. Freeman.

"The Difficulties of the Task" (10 minutes each):

1. "Indifference," Rev. P. M. Caraway.
2. "Inability," Rev. G. A. Morgan.
3. "Other Church Obligations Than the Centenary," Rev. J. M. Alford. Open discussion.

Address, Dr. Selby or Dr. Crisler.

Lunch—12:00-1:15.

"Our Part"—The Centenary Treasurer (10 minutes each): John W. Baker, Crowville; Mrs. D. B. Douglas, Bastrop; Mrs. J. C. Sadler, Monroe.

"Our Part"—The Woman's Missionary Society (10 minutes each): Mrs. J. C. Calhoun, Rayville; Mrs. J. R. Brown, Columbia.

"Our Part"—The Lay Leaders: R. O. Randle, Monroe; S. W. B. Colvin, Rayville.

"Your Leadership and Responsibility"—By the presiding elder.

Every pastor, lay leader, Sunday school superintendent, president Woman's Missionary Society, and Centenary Treasurer is urgently requested to attend.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

CHURCH EXTENSION NOTICE, NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Executive Committee of the North Mississippi Conference Board of Church Extension will meet at Winona, Miss., Feb. 28, at 1 o'clock p. m. All pastors making application to the Conference or General Board will please have their applications before said Committee at time and place mentioned. The Committee urges that all applications be filled in due form.

J. T. LOCKHART, Secretary.

PREACHER WANTED.

I want a preacher for a good circuit, with parsonage, on railroad; will pay the right man from $1200 to $1400. I much prefer a man who does not use tobacco in any form, for it will hurt the influence of any man on that work who uses it in any form whatsoever. Apply at once to

W. M. SULLIVAN,
Gulfport, Miss.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

On account of the demands upon our space, "Personal and Other Notes" are largely crowded out this week.

We have learned with sorrow of the death of Miss Nell Holcomb, of Lake Charles, La., on Monday of last week. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to her sorrowing loved ones and friends.

We have received a copy of the Minutes of the One Hundred and Ninth Session of the Mississippi Conference. It is well arranged, well printed, and reflects credit upon its editors, Dr. A. F. Watkins and Rev. G. S. Harmon.

Through the co-operation of the Department of Religious Education of Millsaps College and the General Sunday School Board, there will be a Sunday School Institute at Yazoo City, Miss., Feb. 23-24, beginning at 9 a.m., Feb. 23.

Rev. B. P. Fullilove requests us to say that those desiring to communicate with him may do so by addressing him at 1320 Gate St., Corinth, Miss. He will be glad to assist any of the brethren who desire his services in meetings.

Miss Lois Cooper, former dean of Whitworth College, who sailed for China in September, 1922, has been elected President of the McTyeire School, Shanghai. This school is one of the largest our church has in China, enrolling about 500 students. Miss Cooper will enter upon her new duties at the close of the present session.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

The subject of this sketch, MRS. MARY CAMP HARRIS, was born July 25, 1852, and died Jan. 17, 1923, aged 70 years, 5 months and 23 days. She and Brother W. E. Harris were married Oct. 8, 1873. She and Brother Harris joined the Methodist Church the same day, June, 1873, at Forest Hill Church, Springridge charge, Jackson District, Mississippi Conference. Rev. Andrew Stewart was the pastor at that time. Seven children were born to this union, three of whom preceded them to the world beyond. Four are still living, and all of them members of the church of their mother's choice. Sister Harris was a true, devoted mother and wife. She was a loyal friend and very much devoted to her husband and children. She went away in her quiet, beautiful home she was supremely happy with those she loved. She read her Bible until her character developed into one of loftiness and purity. It seems strange that her life, so calm, so peaceful, should come to an end just at this time, but God knew best, and this dispensation of Divine Providence will prove a blessing to all the loved ones in the end. She did not go alone, for even above the roar of the storm outside she heard the voice of her Heavenly Father calling her into the home beyond. She bore her illness with patience, despite the faithful efforts of her medical attendants, and loving care of the family and friends, who were ever ready with willing hands to attend her every want. Let me say to the loved ones left behind, remember, she will not come back to us, but we can go where she is. May God bless every one of them is our prayer,

J. H. FOREMAN, Pastor.

---

On Thursday, Nov. 2, 1922, the spirit of MRS. LAURA O. McDONALD departed from the home of her son, Mr. J. S. McDonald, Fayette, Miss., to the mansion which the Master had prepared for her. Born Dec. 8, 1841, she lived nearly eighty-one years, enjoying remarkably good health until, within a short while before her death, she suffered from the infirmities of her age. On the 4th of October, 1860, she was happily married to Mr. R. V. McDonald, who preceded her about five years ago to the better land. Of this union eight children were born, of whom four are now living. In her childhood she gave her heart to the Lord Jesus Christ, and her trust and devotion grew stronger and stronger with the passing years. All her life was spent in Jefferson County in or near Fayette, and her noble Christian character was felt in her home, in the church and in the community. The Bible, the hymnal, and a prayer book were constantly by her side, and from this companionship she drew daily fresh and unfailing supplies of grace that sustained her even down to the sunset of her earthly life, and revealed to her spiritual vision the eternal city to which she was hastening. She was the oldest living member of the Fayette church, and she will be sorely missed by those who knew and loved her best. On Nov. 3, 1922, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, her body was interred in the Fayette cemetery, where it awaits the general resurrection.

C. F. EMERY.

Fayette, Miss.

---

NETTIE OZALINE WALKER, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Walker, died Sept. 24, 1922. The subject of this sketch was five years, ten months and eight days old. She was sick only a few hours with diphtheria, and the family hardly realized her condition until it was evident that the death angel was lingering over her bed. We join in heartfelt sympathy with the heartbroken parents, but would remind them of the Master's language—"Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for to such belongeth the kingdom of heaven." Let us remember the goodness of a Heavenly Father in lending our children to us, even though it may be for a brief moment, and if he has need of them and should call them hence, let us say in the midst of our sore afflictions, "Thy will be done." While we miss her in the home and Sunday school, we know that heaven is nearer and dearer to us because this member of our family and Sunday school has been graduated into the blessed school on high, to be forever with Jesus and loved ones and friends. As parents and friends we must wait only a short while, and if found true to the Master we shall be re-united with her at the right hand of the Father of many mansions in the skies. May the Lord have his way with us all in our afflictions, and may he fit us for the mansions in which little Nettie now dwells.

J. H. MOORE, P. C.

Picayune, Miss.

---

ONLY JESUS.

By Morelle Wells.

Jesus Christ, our true conductor,
 Jesus Christ, our engineer,
Jesus Christ, our good director,
 If God we only fear.

Jesus Christ, our blessed Savior,
 He died for you and me,
He died for our redemption,
 Over there on Calvary.

Jesus is all the world to me;
 He will be all the world to you,
If you will only serve Him;
 That is all you have to do.

Nothing but the blood of Jesus
 Can wash your sins away;
Why don't you let Him wash you,
 And make you clean to-day?

---

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

Comfort Your Skin With Cuticura Soap and Fragrant Talcum

Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. Samples free of Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

Whooping Cough

Asthma, Spasmodic Croup, Bronchitis Coughs and Influenza.

The most widely used remedy for whooping cough and spasmodic croup. The little lamp vaporizes the remedy while the patient sleeps.

Introduced in 1879

Vapo-Cresolene.

"Used While You Sleep"

Send for descriptive booklet 43A. Sold by druggists
Vapo-Cresolene Co., 62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

Rodeheaver's Gospel Songs
Our New Book ready Oct. 1st.
Also: Victory Songs,
Awakening Songs
Songs for Service
For all religious occasions. Shaped or round notes
Singly prepaid. 45c Cloth, 35c Limp, 30c Manila (Quantities Not Prepaid) 40c, 30c, 25c
Catalog of Sheet Music, Song Books, Bibles—Books and Folding Organs on request.
Rainbow Sacred Records
Favorite Gospel Selections 75c each not postpd.
Ask for Complete List
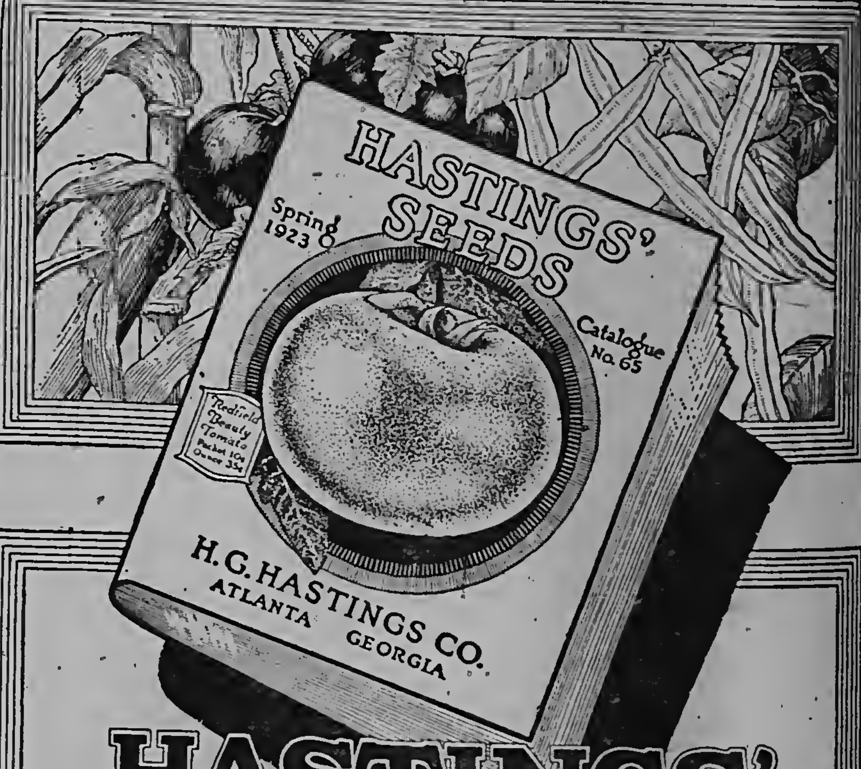
THE RODEHEAVER COMPANY
Chicago, Ill. 677 McClurg Bldg.
Philadelphia, Pa. Dpt. 22—815 Walnut St.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS
If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.

Public Service

HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS

On the Job



HASTINGS' SEEDS
Spring 1923
Catalogue No. 65
Redfield Beauty Tomato Packet 10c Ounce 35c
H. G. HASTINGS CO. ATLANTA GEORGIA

HASTINGS' SEEDS

Your catalog is ready for you. The 1923 Seed Book of a thousand varieties; seeds, bulbs and plants for all the South with correct descriptions and pictures from actual photographs. There are so many new varieties that old and reprint seed books are out of date. Hastings' beautiful new 1923 Catalog, like Hastings' Seeds, "The Standard of the South," is accurate and up-to-the-minute. Write for it. We want it in your home.

H. G. HASTINGS CO.
ATLANTA, "The South's Seedsmen" GEORGIA

THE NEGRO IN AMERICA.

By Rev. W. A. Cooper, D.D.

The problem of the Negro in America is necessarily a problem of the South. The overwhelming majority of the Negroes live in the South. There may be great migrations North, as there was during the World War, when hundreds of thousands of Negroes were attracted by the specious promises of high wages by those who needed his labor; but the Negro will not stay in the North. He loves the warm sunshine and the genial association of his fellows in these Southern parallels, and he just naturally gets homesick. He also knows the Southern white man, and the Southern white man knows him. Never in the history of the world have two races, so distinct in character, lived together with so little friction and with so much mutual regard for each other as the white man and the black man in these Southern States.

Our problem is altogether different from the interracial problem of the North, where hordes of ignorant immigrants, with national antipathy, racial hatred and political revolution seething in their hearts, are unloaded every year. These have to be taught to respect our Constitution and obey our laws; but the Negro is already an American. He speaks our language and has made and is making large contributions to our prosperity.

The Negro is an essential factor in the development of the South. We need his labor to plow our fields, to pick our cotton, to gather our crops and to stabilize our labor market. I do not know a man in the South that would exchange the labor of the Negro for the labor of the Southern E[illegible]ean. Neither is the Negro a revol[illegible]onist. He has never been guilty of b[illegible]ying his country or of assassination [illegible] hose in high office.

The Christian men of the South are under obligation to solve the Negro problem according to the ethical principles of the Gospel of Christ. The development of interracial relations so as to make for peace, prosperity and Christian civilization must be in harmony with the eternal verities of the Sermon on the Mount.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has a mission to the Negro in the very heart of Africa, but the church is more responsible to God for the Negro in America than for the Negro in the Congo. Bishop Capers opened the first mission to the Negro in America; Bishop Haygood wrote a book which he called "Our Brother in Black," and Bishop Galloway said: "I have a contempt for [illegible] religion that canonizes a man for [illegible] missionary work in Africa and o[illegible]s a man for doing the same wo[illegible] merica."

The Negro is naturall[illegible]ous. His religion may be emotion[illegible]er than ethical, but he loves his church and contributes largely to its welfare. Before the war between the States he had the benefit of the services of the white preacher. It may be the preachers of to-day preach too seldom to their Negro neighbors. We may not feel the same moral responsibility for their spiritual welfare as our fathers did.

The time is now ripe for the cultivation of mutual good-will between the races. Interracial commissions and others interested will be saved from making mistakes if they will but recognize that the Negro must have a large part in working out his own salvation. We must not do everything for him, but co-operate with him. As the more favored race, however, we must bear the burden of the more backward race. We must recognize that the Negro is a member of the human family. He is a man with a soul, not merely a beast of burden to be economically exploited. He must be granted all the fundamental rights of human beings, including the right to rise in the scale of being. He should have the right to the fullest development of his economic value, to live in a sanitary home, to have a good school for his children, and to receive even-handed justice in the courts.

It should be said with the greatest emphasis that the Negro of the school is not the Negro of the police courts. Investigations have shown unequivocally that the graduates of Negro high schools are seldom charged with crime. The education of the Negro makes for his higher morality and for the safety of society. Investigations have shown also that a high school education multiplies his economic value by five.

The kingdom of God on earth is not to be a white kingdom, but a divine-human kingdom, where all nations and races of men love one another and apply the principle of righteousness to all their relations, to the end that the earth may be filled with the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea, and that peace and joy may prevail among men.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds Headache
Toothache Lumbago
Earache Rheumatism
Neuralgia Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

PILES Don't Be Cut Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment

My internal method of treatment is the correct one, and is sanctioned by the best informed physicans and surgeons. Ointments, salves and other local applications give only temporary relief.

If you have piles in any form write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets and you will bless the day that you read this. Write today.

E. R. PAGE 430J Page Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

ROCHE'S HERBAL EMBROCATION

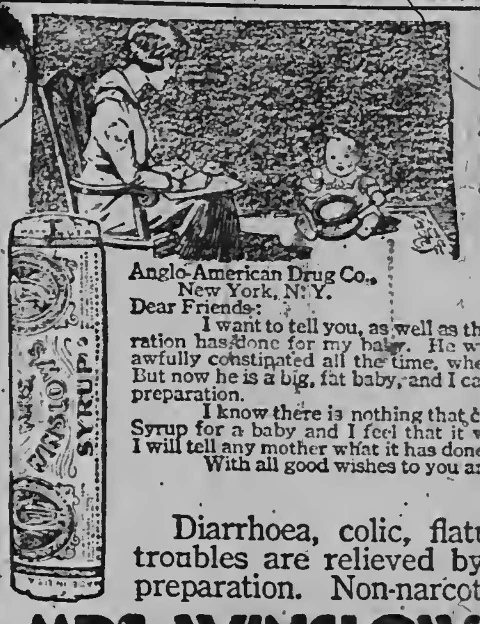
The external remedy for CROUP or WHOOPING COUGH that several generations of mothers have used successfully (since 1802). Roche's loosens the phlegm—relieves quickly and safely. Equally effective for bronchitis and colds on the chest.

Always keep a bottle handy. All druggists or

E. FOUGERA & CO., Inc.
90-92 Beekman St., New York

TETTERINE

Makes Hair Beautiful, Free from Dandruff and Keeps the Scalp Healthy. 60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.



A Grateful Mother writes:

Galveston, Texas,
March 12, 1920.

Anglo-American Drug Co.,
New York, N. Y.
Dear Friends:

I want to tell you, as well as thank you, for what your preparation has done for my baby. He was a little, cross, crying baby, awfully constipated all the time, when I started to give it to him. But now he is a big, fat baby, and I cannot speak too highly of your preparation.

I know there is nothing that can come up to Mrs. Winslow's Syrup for a baby and I feel that it was a God-sent blessing to me. I will tell any mother what it has done for my baby.

With all good wishes to you and your preparation,

Respectfully,
(Name on request)

Diarrhoea, colic, flatulency and teething troubles are relieved by this safe, pleasant preparation. Non-narcotic, non-alcoholic.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

Open formula on every label. At All Druggists.

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO., 215-217 Fulton Street, New York

General Selling Agents:
Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Inc., New York, Toronto, London, Sydney

L&B

Publishing House
Methodist Episcopal Church, South

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 2, 1923.

Dear Friends and Brethren:

For a number of years it has been our custom to call attention to the close of our fiscal year and to extend to the customers and friends of the Publishing House sincere gratitude for their valued patronage. Every recurrence of the occasion brings increased gratitude and appreciation.

Our fiscal year closes with the last day of February, and we shall need all the money we can collect in order to meet heavy maturing obligations. Besides this at that time the Commercial Auditors employed by the Book Committee go over all of our accounts, and to find accounts due and unpaid reflects not only on the Agents, but on the customers concerned.

Please examine the labels on your papers; if past due, send us a check. If you have a regular account with the House, for either Merchandise, Sunday school literature, or supplies, which is due, send us a check for all the account or for as much of it as possible.

We wish to impress the importance of this matter upon you and ask that you give this your coöperation by sending us your remittance before February 28.

Cordially and fraternally,

LAMAR & BARTON, Agents.

Sunday School

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

Sunday, Jan. 28, was spent with Rev. A. A. Simms, on the Florence charge. Brother Simms is getting off well this year. The weather and the "flu" have interfered, but it looks well for a good year.

We were at Wesleyanna, Richland, and Braxton. Sickness and rain interfered, but the congregations were good and all seemed interested. I was glad to see the inclination to go forward; and I pray that it will become a reality. I enjoyed my visit with these folks very much indeed.

I had the pleasure of attending the preachers' meeting of the Jackson District. It was a good meeting and all the brethren reported great good from the meeting. It was an especially pleasant visit for me. I enjoyed the fellowship of the brethren, and the program was a good one in every respect. It looks for a great year this year. God is with us.

I was with the Men's Class at Capitol Street Church at the Orphans' Home Friday night. This was a great meeting. Eighteen girls gave a fine program, then they served a most delightful plate lunch for all. Many very fine talks were made. Brother Burton asked the class to pledge 200 converted people for the year. And from all accounts, it was 100% response. My, what a great thing! This class averaged 81 in attendance last January, and have averaged 148 in attendance this January. I think that is fine improvement.

Use the Sunday School Board. As long as we have the strength and ability, we want to serve.

The Centenary in the Sunday school is distressing in some of its phases. I wonder how many schools would like to have a real attractive special? The Board of Specials is getting out a list especially for Sunday schools; those of you who are interested, please let us know.

The campaign of evangelism goes on. Have you read the leaflets yet? Have you ordered them for your teachers and workers?

It is going to take a lot of prayer to get through. I trust we shall all be faithful to God in prayer. I would not presume to instruct, but our faith needs exercise.

Pray for Brother Hill and myself—we need your prayers.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

---

February is VALENTINE month. Our prayer is that it will be a real LOVE month to you. May the Father's love abound in you.

Our Sunday school plans for 1923 we feel would be of interest to you. We send them forth with prayer.

All schools are urged to secure a wall chart program of work of the proper type and make all reports according to their standing on the Program of Work. These can be purchased for 25 cents.

What We Want to Do This Year.

1. A Standard Training School in each presiding elder's district.
2. Three Non-Standard Training Schools in each district.
3. Seven District Institutes.
4. Thirty-five Sub-district institutes.
5. Five, Four-Times-a-Year Circuit-Wide Sunday School Institutes in each district.
6. To get each school to adopt the proper type Program of Work and to work for 100%.
7. To increase the Sunday school membership 5,000 this year.
8. To hold a Conference-Wide Sunday School Conference.
9. To increase the Sunday School Day offering 25%.
10. To increase number of schools observing Sunday School Day 25%.
11. To reach our quota for the 1,000 pastors and superintendents.
12. To encourage the support of the Methodist Orphanage by urging a monthly offering.

To promote the following campaigns: Evangelism, Bible reading, Sabbath observance, tithing, tithing taught in the schools, clean speech, family devotions, private devotions, children's week, Centenary.

We feel sure you will be glad to assist in carrying out this program. We are anxious to serve. Call upon us, use us.

PRAY. Pray for the Sunday school work; pray for each of the workers; pray for your own school, and for each school in the whole Conference; pray for a mighty revival of pure and undefiled religion.

The blessings of God be upon you and yours.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS,
Conference Supt., S. S. Work.

---

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

By Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Rev. A. L. Davenport, pastor at Brooksville, is the first man to order Sunday School Day programs for his school. Who will be the last one? We have a program entitled "Palms and Praises," 16 pages, adapted to the majority of our schools in town and country. The program is an elastic one. If the school has no Cradle Roll, that part may be omitted. The schools that have Cradle Rolls may abbreviate the service, but it should not be entirely omitted. A place is given for the baptism of infants. This program has some easy and familiar music and some more difficult.

The second program is a Sunday School Pageant, "The Way, the Truth, and the Life." Theme: The pageant takes for its theme the first part of the aim of the Sunday school, which is "to lead each pupil to a knowledge of God's will and to a definite acceptance of Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior." The time required for presentation is about forty minutes. Number of characters, from sixteen to as large a number as the platform will accommodate. A sample copy of both these programs will be sent for you to make a selection. If you do not send for sample to make your choice, I shall order the first mentioned one, "Palms and Praises." Do not delay making your order.

The preachers in their meeting held at West Point, Jan. 30, gave careful consideration to the Sunday school as an evangelizing agency. Several have ordered literature for their teachers to study that they may be better qualified for this, the main task of the Sunday school. Rev. A. T. McIlwain, presiding elder of this district, gave ample time to the need of the pastors for training in leadership. The idea was clearly brought out that the pastor must supervise every department of his church work, and if he is to supervise, he must be informed. The conclusion reached was that God can use consecrated intelligence to better advantage than he can use consecrated ignorance.

(Continued on Last Page.)

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 9132
Old Stoves Taken In on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty
3021 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

Free Catalog
Estey Organs.
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS
Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

As to What to Wear,
How It Fits or Becomes You, You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.
If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162,
830 CANAL STREET

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
LADIES' AND GENTS' WORK OF ALL KINDS
Calls Made Daily. High Class Work at Pre-war prices. Promptness. Courtesy. Honesty.
4105 MAGAZINE STREET
Uptown 4831

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

We Know How—Quick Service.
We Call for and Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.
AUTO SERVICE.
CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER
103 NORTH DELTA ST.
OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls, Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2364

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

COMET'S ORANGE DRINK
Something New for New Orleans.
Pure Orange Juice Served Daily. Take Home a [illegible]
Pints 15c. Quarts 30c.
Special Rates on All Social Affairs.
938 CANAL STREET.
Phone, Main 6953.

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203,
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

United Style Shop
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY,
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Annual Conference, March 6, 7, 8 and 9, at Monroe.

The Thirteenth Annual Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society, Louisiana Conference, will be held in Monroe on the above dates. The meeting will open on the afternoon of March 6 with a Workers' Conference, led by Mrs. J. Wynn, of Rayne. This is one of the most helpful meetings of the entire conference, and it is hoped every delegate will be there in time to attend this meeting. Successful auxiliary plans will be presented, and an opportunity to discuss problems in an informal way will be given.

Delegates should be elected at the February meeting of the Auxiliary, and names sent to Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, Mrs. W. A. Walker, Monroe, La. Do not fail to state office, if any, held by your delegate in the local auxiliary. For number of delegates see Article 22, page 102, Twelfth Annual Report, Louisiana Conference.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

5,000 CHRISTIAN WORKERS WANTED
to sell Bibles, Testaments, good books and handsome velvet Scripture Mottoes. Good commission. Send for free catalogue and price list.
GEORGE W. NOBLE, Publisher
Dept. D., Monon Bldg., Chicago, Illinois

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

DANDRUFF
quickly disappears when
TETTERINE
is applied. Fragrant and Soothing. 60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA

Rheumatism Relieved
Renwar is guaranteed to relieve Rheumatism by money back offer. This remedy will positively neutralize the uric acid in the blood, which causes Rheumatism. The amount of Renwar required to effect relief depends on the case which is being treated. Very often one bottle will produce the desired result. If you suffer with Rheumatism, you should by all means try Renwar. It is harmless, even to the most delicate constitutions, and thousands will testify to its effectiveness in relieving Rheumatism. Sold by druggists, price 50c, or by mail from Warner Drug Company, Nashville, Tenn.—Adv.

Send delegates to this meeting who will be helpful to the Conference, and helpful to your Auxiliary in making plans for the carrying out of the work in your Society.

Auxiliary Presidents are asked to report AT ONCE to their District Secretary full amount of dues, pledges, and specials for 1923, so pledges for Districts may be made at this meeting.

Miss Alethea Jones, of Houston, Tex., Council Superintendent of Children's Work, will be our guest at this meeting. Wherever possible we urge that those interested in children's work should attend this meeting; be sure to make the Superintendent of Children's Work in your Auxiliary one of the delegates from your Auxiliary.

Reminding you again that "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of," we trust you will pray often for the success of this meeting.

Sincerely,
MRS. C. F. NIEBERGALL,
President.
MRS. GEORGE BROWN,
Recording Secretary.

Report of Corresponding Secretary, Louisiana Conference, Fourth Quarter, 1922.

Number of adult auxiliaries, 133; new adult auxiliaries, 8; number adult members, 4,135; new adult members, 241.

Number Y. P. auxiliaries, 20; new Y. P. auxiliaries, 5; number Y. P. members, 330; new Y. P. members, 9.

Number junior divisions, 32; new junior divisions, 2; number junior members, 565; new junior members, 48.

Number baby divisions, 16; new baby divisions, 3; number baby members, 67; number new baby members, 19.

Total number members, 5,097, a gain of 315 during the quarter.

Number subscribers to The Missionary Voice, 1,109—a gain of 69 during the quarter. Number subscribers to Y. C. W., 89—a loss of 2.

Number of auxiliaries presenting stewardship, 26; number observing Week of Prayer, 76; number auxiliaries on Honor Roll, 37; number social service committees, 40.

Number Mission Study classes organized during quarter, 21. Number of members, 1,169.

Total amount sent Conference Treasurer, $8,877.86.

The following new Auxiliaries have been organized during the quarter:

Alexandria District—Wordsworth (adult).

Baton Rouge District—Greensburg (adult), and Mount Herman (adult).

French Mission District—Eagle Island (adult).

Lake Charles District—Many (Y. P.); Gueydan (Y. P.); Gueydan (Jr.); Wright (Jr.); Indian Bayou (baby); Gueydan (baby); Wright (baby).

Monroe-Ruston District—Darnell (adult); Mangum (adult).

Shreveport District—Castor (adult); Robeline (adult); Belcher (Y. P.); Mooringsport (Y. P.); Plain Dealing (Y. P.), making twice as many auxiliaries organized during the fourth quarter as were organized last quarter.

MRS. S. A. MONTGOMERY,
Corresponding Secretary.

My Missionary Society for 1923

MUST BE

Abreast of the times—up to date—a 1923 model. Plans and policies of other years adapted and remodeled or replaced in accordance with the latest and best plans and policies of the stirring times we live in. No lag, no drag. Societies well officered, committees at work; "everybody at the task."

MUST HAVE INSTRUCTIVE AND INTERESTING PROGRAMS.

There is no news quite so thrilling as missionary news. It has to do with a great, seething world in which the battle for truth, righteousness, and justice is being waged against the mighty forces of sin, ignorance, and prejudice. Through these programs we learn where our fields, what our responsibility, and who our representatives. Such momentous information must not be dimmed by dullness or lack of attractiveness. Let it so ring out as to challenge the attention of the church.

Well conducted mission study classes must supplement the missionary education of the membership.

MUST CO-OPERATE

With all agencies that are working for uplift and human betterment in the community; must stand out as a force for reform and helpfulness upon which all other such forces may rely for support and co-operation. Must line up all Methodist women to do their part in all worthy movements.

MUST SERVE

The needy and dependent classes; build up the spiritual forces of the local church, aiding the pastor in personal evangelism, ministering to the shut-in and the sick.

MUST PRAY

In secret and unitedly; in family circles and voluntary groups for the coming of the kingdom; for wisdom and power upon the missionaries sent out—often by name; for power for native Christians; for justice for the alien, the Negro, the ignorant and down-trodden of every class; for ourselves, that we may not fail the cause of God.

MUST GIVE.

So as to please Him who said, "Freely ye have received, freely give"; lovingly, lavishly, sacrificially, joyfully, more than ever before because we know more and love more.

Let Us Climb Over the Top Again.

Dear Co-Workers: I am counting on you to secure the co-operation of the missionary women in promoting the Centenary Emergency Campaign. You will understand that this is simply an effort for collections of pledges already made during the Centenary drive and does not involve the collection of money for our missionary societies. The money collected will be Centenary money and will be remitted through the Centenary treasurer of each church. You will get the date of your meeting from your pastor and Centenary Committee.

Dr. W. G. Cram, directing Secretary of the Centenary, has requested that a day of prayer be set aside for special consideration of the Centenary obligation. He also requests that the presidents of the Woman's Missionary Societies in the large city centers where the churches subscribed $10,000 or more, to give full co-operation to the speaking team and plans and preparations for their coming, and also to assist in the collections campaign wherever possible.

Corns
Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!
Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

SORES BOILS, CUTS and BURNS have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

There will be women speakers included on the team of ten or twelve persons who will conduct this campaign, which begins January 19 and continues for four months in an effort to raise at least $4,000,000, which will be necessary to meet the obligations made for 1922 and carry on the work up to the meeting of the Board in 1923.

I'm sure the women will not fail at this critical time.

Yours in service,
MRS. S. A. MONTGOMERY,
Corresponding Secretary.

Nothing is sweeter than love, nothing stronger, nothing higher, nothing broader, nothing better either in heaven or earth, because love is born of God, and, rising above all created things, can find its rest in him alone.
—Thomas a Kempis.

Agents, $10 to $20 a Day!
Men or Women! Part or Entire Time

Get quick results. Coin money fast. Handle Ideal Self Heating Sad Iron. Not a thing like it. Fire inside. Heats while ironing. Women wild about it. Makes ironing a pleasure. Saves steps. Lessens fatigue. Can use it anywhere. No hose. No wires. No connections. No hot fire. No sooty bottoms. Average ironing costs less than two cents. It is absolutely safe. Guaranteed. It's a wonderful selling proposition. You can make big profits.
Others Sell from $60 to $120 Weekly!
Myers, Ia. writes: "Nothing to it, average $80 week easy!" Samson, Mich. says: "Having great success, just had another $20 day!" Baker, Ind. states: "Women delighted, am running around $90 week!" Many others enthusiastic. All making money. Practically sells on sight. A wonderful proposition. Five sales out of seven demonstrations. No long spell. Show and sell. Price is right. Hustlers knock out big money. It is not sold in stores. Exclusive territory. Write or wire for county.
IDEAL COMPANY
39 Walnut St. Springfield, Ohio

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

THE CAVE OF DEATH.

By Garfield Evans.

Every day in Cuba is a thrill if one has his eyes open. As we were driving along the road, we saw the sign in Spanish, "The Cave of Death." My guide, the local pastor, suggested that we drive by. It was only a small hole in the rock, but was surrounded by an iron fence. Inside the cave two fires were burning. Outside there was a small grotto in which was an image of the Virgin. In front of the cave was a long metal altar provided for sacrifices.

I was advised not to laugh while in the enclosure nor to touch any of the many clothes hanging over the fence, for by doing either it would be considered a desecration such that the disease of former visitors would be visited upon me. A short time before, a young woman, having no confidence in the superstitious worship, laughed at the foolishness of the people as she saw them worshipping at the shrine. It so happened that a few days after she met with an accident in which she was permanently crippled; and now the former worshippers confidently assert that her affliction is sent as a punishment for her unbelief.

This was a shrine similar to many others found in Cuba where pilgrimages are made by many devotees, fully believing that they are healed of disease by worshipping at this shrine. All around the cave were numerous crucifixes brought by many worshippers and many discarded crutches of people who thought they had been cured of their ills.

Here in Cardenas is the stronghold of the Presbyterians. In addition to a well organized congregation, they have a splendid school with a Theological Seminary developing in connection. Good evidence is shown here how different denominations should work together, mutually seeking to Christianize Cuba, without rivalry or competition.

Some ten or fifteen years ago I was given to understand that Cuba had been evangelized and that its further task was the ordinary program of the church such as would be found in the average Annual Conference. But I am now being relieved of this delusion. The other night I spent in a town of at least 30,000 population in which there is no Protestant work of any kind and where the work of the Catholic Church is but a joke. I talked personally with the priest and found that he was an Englishman who had only lately become a Romanist for some pecuniary reason. In this town we already have several Methodist laymen who have been trained in our schools and who would be the nucleus for any work that we might undertake.

The young laymen in this town begged me to do something in order to get a school started or a church opened. They carefully explained how all the private schools had previously failed because of mismanagement, and how the best class of people did not want to send their children to the public schools, for reasons that were well understood. But I had to drop my head in shame and despair, for I knew that the appropriations for Cuba had been strained already, and in fairness to the other needy fields we could not expect any additional appropriations. And then I thought of our wealthy Southland with the abundance of wealth which God had given us as stewards—and I wondered what it meant to be our "brother's keeper!"

WHEN IT COMES BE PREPARED

Insurance the only safeguard possible against such destruction.
THE NATIONAL MUTUAL CHURCH INSURANCE COMPANY
—The Methodist Mutual—SERVES AND SAVES Methodism and is now rendering a greater service than ever. In successful operation since 1898.
Insures against Fire, Lightning and Windstorm AT COST. No assessments; easy annual payments; legal reserve for protection of policy holders same as stock companies. No agents. Deal direct. Write for particulars to HENRY P. MAGILL, Sect'y. & Mgr.
1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.
Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, Agent, M. E. Church, South, 314 Norton Building, Louisville, Ky.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Itching PILES
PAZO OINTMENT instantly Relieves ITCHING PILES and you can get restful sleep after the first application.
All druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to Cure any case of ITCHING, BLIND, BLEEDING or PROTRUDING PILES. Cures ordinary cases in 6 days, the worst cases in 14 days. 60c.

"THINK OF HEAVEN, TALK OF HEAVEN."

By Letitia Rutledge.

John Wesley's father said: "Think of heaven, talk of heaven; all time is lost when we are not thinking of heaven." Think of heaven! Power to think! Heavenly thinking is Christlike living. And Christian living brings us close to God. Therefore we mortals of clay are blessed to have such a privilege! That function of the body called mind is the greatest of the many wonderful powers God gave to man. As we all know, Eve and Adam misused that power, or rather didn't use it in the highest heavenly sense thereby falling and causing sin to enter the world. But, thanks be to God, through the merits of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by his precious blood we are redeemed; and he makes us heirs to the kingdom of God. Simply believe in him and you have heaven. Be we sinner or saint, rich or poor, nothing of earth is ours. We own not the breath in our bodies. Yet, the soul has just claims to the lands of eternity. This immortal being has the right to take freely of and possess a part of God's country. The Will has the power to choose either heaven or hell.

Talk of heaven? Sure. Do not we talk of that which is in our hearts and minds? Maybe it is a dear loved one, a friend, or business; or perchance it be one of memory's pictures that cannot be erased. Yes, when we talk of love, not hate; tell something, not gossip, then it is that we have heaven. And we talk about what we have.

All time is lost when we do not think of heaven. Business is important because food, shelter and raiment are necessary. But Jesus said that but one thing was needful, and that Mary had chosen that better part. Spiritual feeding, clothing, sheltering, and education are essential to the ever-living soul. Wise and beautiful was the heart of Mary. Indeed, she is one of the most beautiful Bible characters. Oh! she sat at Jesus' feet. O to sit at the feet of the Master! It is while at this glory seat we receive the spiritual strength to rise to our own feet and bravely carry our crosses uncomplainingly, and help others to bear theirs. And this is what he would have us do: worship and work. Then it is that time is not lost, but gained, and saved for eternity.

Pachuta, Miss.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

Laxatives Replaced
By the Use of Nujol
Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe.
When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving.
Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it. Try

Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

TETTERINE
CLEARS BABY'S SKIN
and drives off the Rash and Pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"
Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels
A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will quickly start liver and bowel action and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Fig Syrup" because it never fails to work the sour bile and constipation poison right out of the little stomach and bowels without cramping or overacting.
Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Salem and Ecru, at E., Feb. 10, 11.
Randolph, at Randolph, Feb. 13.
Tocopola, at Thaxton, Feb. 14.
Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Corinth District—Second Round.

Corinth, First Church, preaching Feb. 11, at 11 a.m.; Q. C., Feb. 26, night.
Corinth, South Side, preaching Feb. 11, at night; Q. C., Feb. 27, night.
Blue Mountain, at Walnut, Feb. 24, 25.
Corinth Ct., at Mt. Carmel, Wednesday, Feb. 28.
Dumas Ct., at Wier Chapel, Mar. 3, 4.
Guntown, at Hebron, Thursday, Mar. 8.
Baldwyn, at Lebanon, Mar. 10, 11.
Booneville Sta., preaching Mar. 11, at night; Q. C., Apr. 6, at 3 p.m.
New Albany Sta., Q. C., Thursday night, Mar. 15; preaching, Mar. 18, night.
Potts Camp, at Bethlehem, Friday, Mar. 16.
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer, Mar. 17, 18.
Myrtle, at Union Hill, Friday, Mar. 23.
Sherman, at Chesterville, Mar. 24, 25.
Wheeler, at Hodge's Chapel, Wednesday, Mar. 28.
New Albany Ct., at Well's Chapel, Thursday, Mar. 29.
Kossuth, at Pleasant Hill, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Booneville Ct., at Carolina, Friday, Apr. 6.
Rienzi, at Blackland, Apr. 7, 8.
Paden, at Paden, Thursday, Apr. 12.
Tishomingo, at Paradise, Friday, Apr. 13.
Belmont, at Patterson's Chapel, Apr. 14, 15.
Ripley Sta., Q. C., Friday night, Apr. 20; preaching, Apr. 22, night.
Silver Springs, at Pain's Chapel, Apr. 21, 22.
Mooreville, at Oak Hill, Apr. 24.
Mantache, at Oak Grove, Apr. 25.
Marietta, at Gilmore's Chapel, Thursday, Apr. 26.
Chalybeate, at Mt. Pleasant, Apr. 28, 29.
Burnsville, at Chapel Hill, Friday, May 4.
Iuka Ct., at Harmony, Saturday, May 5.
Iuka Sta., Q. C., Friday night, May 4; preaching, May 6, at 11 a.m.
The Corinth District Conference will be held at Ripley, Miss., May 15-17.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven Dist.—First Round.

Crystal Springs, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Georgetown, at Georgetown, 7 p.m., Feb. 11.
Magnolia, Feb. 14.
McComb, Centenary, 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
McComb, La Branch St., 7 p.m., Feb. 18.
Scotland, at New Hope, Feb, 21.
Summit and Topisaw, at Topisaw, Feb, 24, 25.
Fernwood, at Fernwood, 7 p.m., Feb. 25.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

Hattiesburg Dist.—First Round.

Hattiesburg, Court St., Feb. 11, 11 a.m.
Purvis, Feb. 11, 12, 7 p.m., 9:30 a.m.
Lucedale ct., at Merrill, Feb. 18, 11 a.m.
New Augusta, Feb. 18, 7 p.m.
Sumrall, Wed., Feb. 21, 7 p.m.
Leakesville, at Pine Grove, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Lucedale, Feb. 25, 7 p.m.
Avera, Mar. 4, 11 a.m.
Hattiesburg, Broad St., Mar. 4, 7 p.m.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—First Round.

Camden, at Camden, Feb. 13, 14, 11 a.m.
Sharon, at Sharon, Feb. 14, 2:30 p.m.
Vaughn, Feb. 16, 11 a.m.
Benton, at Midway, Feb. 17, 11 a.m.
Eden, at Eden, Feb. 18, 2:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Yazoo City circuit, at ——, Feb. 24, 25, 11 a.m.
Yazoo City, Feb. 25, 2:30, 7 p.m.
Brandon, at Pelahatchie, Mar. 4, 11 a.m., 2 p.m.
Monterey, at Mt. Carmel, Feb. 5, 11 a.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—First Round.

Matherville, at Poplar Springs, Feb. 11, 12.
DeSoto, at Crandall, Feb. 10, 11.
Enterprise, Feb. 15, 16.
Pachuta, Feb. 14.
Quitman, Feb. 18.
Shubuta, Feb. 18, p.m.
Bucatunna, at State Line, Feb. 25.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Newton Dist.—First Round.

Decatur and Hickory, at Hickory, Feb. 11.
Chunky, at Chunky, Feb. 14.
Shiloh, at Shiloh, Feb. 17, 18.
Newton, at Newton, Feb. 21.
Raleigh, at Raleigh, Feb. 23.
Homewood, at Homewood, Feb. 24, 25.
Union, at Union, Feb. 28.
Laurel, First Church, March 4, 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Laurel, Kingston, March 5, 7 p.m.
Laurel, West End, March 6, 7 p.m.

J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—First Round.

Roxie, 11 a.m., Feb. 11.
Vicksburg, Crawford Street, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 11, 12.
Oak Ridge, at Flower Hill ,11 a.m. Feb. 14.
Louise and Holly Bluff, at H. B., 11 a.m., Feb. 18.
Silver City, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 18.
Mayersville, Feb. 24.
Anguilla at Delta City, 11 a.m., Feb. 25.
Rolling Fork, 7:30 p.m., Feb. 25.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

A Prominent Nurse Tells Her Experience

Something Worth Reading

Athens, Tenn.—"I suffered from chronic bronchitis for six years and when I had the 'flu' in 1919, my cough grew worse. I soon developed asthma. I suffered terribly and was sure I had consumption. I had a very bad color, could not sleep at night and had pains in my breast and shoulders. Also my arms would be numb. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and was cured of my cough. I worked all last winter—was up at night with my patients and did not have a cold all winter. Would ask all who suffer from weak lungs or throat trouble to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."—Mrs. W. C. Carter, Route 2.

Obtain the Discovery in tablets or liquid at your nearest drug store or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg., or write for free medical advice.

MONTHS OF SUFFERING

How a Baltimore Girl Recovered Her Health

Baltimore, Maryland.—"For several months I suffered with severe backache and general weakness. I could not sleep comfortably at night for pains in my back. I found your book at home one day and after reading it began at once to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had very good results and some of my girl friends are taking it now. You may use this letter to help other girls, as the letters in your book helped me."—ROSE WAIDNER, 3018 Roseland Place, Baltimore, Md.

That is the thought so often expressed in letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. These women know what they have suffered, they describe their symptoms and state how they were finally made well. Just plain statements, but they want other women to be helped.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine made from medicinal roots and herbs, and without drugs, to relieve the sickness women so often have, which is indicated by backache, weak feelings, nervousness, and no ambition to get anything done or to go anywhere. It has helped many women. Why not try it?

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS

Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction

Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

Salt Your Stock the Blackman Way

DO YOU TAKE SALT
with meals, or just fill up on salt once or
TWICE A WEEK?

A few licks of BLACKMAN'S Tonic Salt should be a part of the daily diet of your live stock. It is medicated and will improve digestion, make the feed go further, and keep them in healthy condition. So simple, so easy. Just drop brick in feed-box—it will do the rest.

The Blackman Stock Remedy Co.
Chattanooga, Tenn.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

IF BILIOUS, SICK! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children.

SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

(Continued from Page 12.)

Rev. R. A. Tucker, presiding elder of the Grenada District, held a successful meeting with his preachers at Grenada, Jan. 31 and Feb. 1. Nearly every preacher present agreed to use the program of work and to order the literature on evangelism. Under the leadership of Brother Tucker, this district will come as near doing the work required of Methodist preachers as the best.

Speaking of the literature on evangelism, a study of this literature and the proper application of the truths taught therein will show that the winning of souls to Jesus Christ is not to be confined to any professional class, but it is the chief business of every Christian, and is so simple that a child as well as the experienced scholar is called to take part in this Christ-like work. If we should enlist and train 5,000 teachers to engage in soul winning, surely they should each win one.

Each superintendent in the Conference has received a statement of the amount of the Centenary pledge unpaid. The largest amount pledged is small enough. The money is a small matter, but the failure to pay is not a small matter. The school that ignores the pledge is teaching every child that an obligation does not amount to anything. Talk about orthodoxy in creed and fail to be honest in meeting an obligation is enough to make the angels weep. Let us be orthodox and honest, and let us teach the rising generation that the word of the local Sunday school is perfectly good.

Breaks Up CROUP
Colds, Coughs, LaGrippe, Flu, and a valuable aid in treatment of Pneumonia,
CAPU-SAV
clears the phlegm, reduces inflammation, penetrates. White salve; does not discolor clothing. In handy, collapsible tubes, 25c, at drug stores, or sent by mail.
CAPUDINE CO. :: :: RALEIGH, N. C.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

VIGOR OF YOUTH A NEW DISCOVERY

Science Produces a Vitalizer Superior to the Famous Gland Treatment—Magic Power of a Bark from Africa.

Have you lost your youth, vigor and "pep"? Does life seem dull and work a grind? Don't worry. Science has discovered a new vitalizer; superior even to the much discussed "goat gland" and "monkey gland" treatment, by which anyone can now quickly and easily regain the vitality and gearness of youth and do it in the privacy of home.

The principal ingredient is an extract from the bark of an African tree. It is said to be the most amazing invigorator ever discovered. Combined with it are other tonic and vitalizing elements of proved merit. In most cases the compound produces marked improvement in a day or two, and in a short time the vitality is raised, the circulation improved and the glow of health is felt in every part.

The laboratories producing this new vitalizer, which is called Re-Bild-Tabs, are so confident of its power that they offer new customers a large, regular $2 supply for only $1 and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy fails to give results in one week.

Any reader of this paper may test the new discovery without risk. Send no money—but just your name and address to Re-Bild Laboratories, ty and eagerness of youth and do it in the privacy full $2 treatment of Re-Bild-Tabs will be mailed. Pay the postman $1 and postage on delivery. If not delighted by the results at the end of a week, notify the laboratories and your money will be refunded in full. Do not hesitate about accepting this test offer, as it is fully guaranteed.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston, Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid. 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL ITEMS.

C. D. Atkinson, Conference Superintendent.

The latest report from the Missionary Centenary headquarters shows the following list of Sunday schools of the Louisiana Conference that have paid 100 per cent upon their pledges to the Centenary to Jan. 1, 1923:

Alexandria District—First Church; Boyce; Donaldsonville.

Baton Rouge District—Keener Memorial; Ponchatoula.

Lake Charles District—Lafayette; Broad Street, Lake Charles; Robeline; Rayne.

Monroe District—Bartholomew; Mer Rouge.

New Orleans District—Algiers; First Church; St. Mark's; Rayne Memorial; Second Church.

Ruston District—Lisbon; Winfield; Minden; Gibsland; Haughton.

Shreveport District—Gillam; Keithville; Logansport; Texas Avenue.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

(In part.)

Boyce Ct., at Eden, Feb 11, a.m.
Lecompte and Woodworth, at Woodworth, Feb. 11, p.m.
Alexandria, Feb. 25, a.m., Mar. 5, p.m.
Pineville, Feb. 25, p.m., Feb. 27, p.m.
Elizabeth Ct., at Oberlin, Mar. 4.
Melder Ct., at Campground, Mar. 11, a.m.
Cheneyville, Mar. 11, p.m.
Marksville Ct., at Marksville, Mar. 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, Mar. 25.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, Mar. 31, Apr. 1, p.m.
Natchitoches, Apr. 1, a.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, Apr. 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, Apr. 15.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—Second Round.

Cedar Grove (preaching), Sun., Feb. 8, a.m.
Texas Avenue (preaching), Sun., Feb. [illegible] p.m.
Bossier City (preaching), Sun., Feb. [illegible] a.m.
Mangum Memorial (preaching) Sun., Feb. 25, p.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Lake End, and Powhatan, Sun., Mar. 4, a.m. and p.m.
Bossier City (Conference), Wed., Mar. 7, p.m.
Oil City, Sun., Mar. 11 a.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Trees, Sun., Mar. 11, p.m.
Noel Memorial (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, a.m.
First Church (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, p.m.
Mansfield Station and Mission, Sun., Mar. 25, a.m. and p.m.
Mangum Memorial (Conference), Wed., Mar. 28, p.m.
Belcher at Gilliam, Sun., Apr. 1, a.m.; Cnference, Mon., 9 a.m.
Ida at Hosston, Sun., Apl. 1; Conference, 3 p.m.; preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Texas Avenue (Conference), Wed., Apl. 4, p.m.
Pelican at Mitchell, Sun., Apl. 8.
Vivian, Sun., Apl. 15, a.m.
Mooringsport, Sun., Apl. 15, p.m.
DISTRICT CONFERENCE AT MANSFIELD, APRIL 17-19.
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane, Sun., Apl. 22, a.m.
Logansport, Sun., Apl. 22, p.m.
Noel Memorial (Conference), Wed., Apl. 25, p.m.
Pleasant Hill, at Beulah, Sun., Apl. 29.
First Church (Conference), Wed., May 2, p.m.
Longstreet, at Keatchie, Sun., May 6, a.m.
Greenwood, Sun., May 6. p.m.
Bayou La Chute, at Elm Grove, Sun., May 13.
Plain Dealing, at Benton, Sun., May 20.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Sardis District—Second Round.

Como, 11 a.m., Feb. 11, Q. C., April 4.
Coldwater, at Love, 11 a.m., Feb. 18; Q. C., Feb. 27, 4 p.m.
Hernando, Feb. 18, p.m.; Q. C., Feb. 27, p.m.
Senatobia, 11 a.m., Feb. 25; Q. C., Feb. 28, p.m.
Sardis, Feb. 25, p.m.; Q. C., March 1, p.m.
Batesville, March 4.
Oakland [illegible] Tillatobia, March 10, preaching 11 a.m., and Q. C. in afternoon.
Charleston, March 11, p.m.
Cockrum, at Independence, March 17-18.
Olive Branch, at Mineral Wells, 11 a.m., March 24; Q. C., in afternoon.
Byhalia, at Fountain Head, 11 a.m., March 25; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crenshaw, March 30.
Arkabutla, at Sarah, March 31, April 1.
Sardis Ct., at Cold Springs, 11 a.m., April 7; Q. C. in afternoon.
Longtown, at Pleasant Grove, April 8, 11 a.m.; Q. C., in afternoon.
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's Chapel, April 14-15.
Shuford, at Lovejoy, 11 a.m., April 21; Q. C., in afternoon.
Courtland, at Pope, 11 a.m., April 22; Q. C., in afternoon.
Horn Lake, at Poplar Corner, 11 a.m., April 28; Q. C., in afternoon.
Mount Pleasant, at Union, 11 a.m., April 29; Q. C., in afternoon.
Tyro, at Tyro, 11 a.m., May 5; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crowder, at Fredonia, 11 a.m., May 6; Q. C., in afternoon.

The District Conference is announcing for May 15, 16, 17, beginning 9:30 a.m., May 15, to be held at Senatobia, Miss. It is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of all members of this conference to be on hand. I trust that all the pastors will see that the Q. C. Records for their charges are there for examination. Please let every local preacher in the District be on hand to make his report. It is no less the duty of the local preachers to be present at this conference than it is the duty of the other members to be on hand. God helping us, we are going to have a great District Conference. Please let every member be there to do his part toward making it a spiritual and material success.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT.
Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

FAT PEOPLE CAN REDUCE QUICKLY

New Discovery Makes It Possible to Reduce a Pound a Day Without Dieting or Exercise.

Any fat man or woman can quickly and easily reduce to normal weight without dieting or exercise through the remarkable discovery of Rid-O-Fat by H. C. Haist, a Kansas City chemist.

You can eat what you please and as much as you wish, yet quickly reduce to the weight you desire. All you need do is to take one Rid-O-Fat tablet after each meal for a short time, and the fat will vanish as though by magic. Rid-O-Fat is a scientific product, has practically no odor or taste and can be taken by anyone with perfect safety, as it is recommended and indorsed by the highest medical authority.

So confident is Mr. Haist that Rid-O-Fat will delight everyone that he generously offers to send a free trial treatment to any reader who will write for it. This trial treatment is sufficient to reduce you from three to five pounds and will prove that you can be as slender as you wish without dieting or exercise.

Simply send your name and address to H. C. Haist, 1555 Coca-Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and the free trial treatment will be sent immediately under plain wrapper.

The Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co.,
Limited
THE GREAT FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF THE WORLD
Strong Liberal Prompt
SOUTHERN DEPARTMENT
COMPANY'S BUILDING NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 7. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3497

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 15, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

WE MUST NOT FORGET.

The church has many interests to engage its attention just now—all of them important and urgent—but it must not forget that the collection of the Centenary pledges is one of its primary tasks. We must not become stagnant as a church by failing to enlarge our program as the need of the world demands—but we must not become a discredited church by failing to maintain the enterprises we have already undertaken. Definitely made pledges constitute a sacred obligation to those who made them, and they ought to be a safe asset to the church which received them.

BUSY—ABOUT WHAT?

There is so much work that needs to be done in the world to-day that it is little short of criminal for anybody to stand idly by. A man who would stand on the bank of a river with his hands in his pockets and calmly watch a drowning person sink out of sight without the slightest effort to help him would be not a whit worse than is the man who shows no concern for the world in its troubles to-day. We believe it can be said, to the credit of humanity, that there are few who are thus unconcerned—nearly everybody is busy about something. But what are we busy about? Are we actually trying to find out what we most need to do and are we giving ourselves unreservedly to the accomplishment of our major tasks, or are we wasting time and energy on infinitesimal things? To revert to the figure of the drowning man, the onlooker might be intently engaged in catching top minnows with an angleworm stuck on a bent pin. Busy, yes—but what an occupation in sight of a perishing mortal! With a break in the levee imminent, who wants to fool with a flutter-wheel in the edge of the onrushing torrent? By common consent, the world is now passing through the greatest crisis of reconstruction in recorded history—and some men seem to be able to find nothing better to do than to dig doodlebugs and grab at grasshoppers. The supreme opportunity of Christianity to lay hold of the heart of humanity is at hand—and some confessedly good people are apparently having a great time chasing rabbits through the briar patches down in the creek bottom. We ought to be busy—but for God's sake and humanity's sake let us be busy about something worth while.

THE UNITED STATES AND THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

One of the most interesting developments in our national thinking during the last two or three years is the growing agreement among parties of all political faiths and leaders in all walks of life that the United States must enter the League of Nations, or some similar organization, or shoulder the blame for the failure of a definite movement toward universal peace. The fact is being emphasized that the nations of the world are engaged in the experiment of living in an organized community and under law, and that the experiment is doomed to failure if one great nation refuses to have part in the experiment. There seems to be a growing conviction that the failure of the League inevitably means another world war sooner or later. It is hard to understand why our Government should refuse to try this plan when all other nations are willing to do so. Some reservations or amendments to the provisions for the League may be expedient; but it is reasonably certain that these could be incorporated without destroying its effectiveness as a means of preventing war. We have learned all too well that we cannot remain in peaceful isolation when the rest of the world is in trouble; we should not want to do so when the rest of the world needs our help.

UTTERLY IMPOSSIBLE.

The secular newspapers generally, as is their custom, give great publicity to the statements now and then made by sensation-loving speakers who seem to think their shortest road to fame is by denying some of the religious beliefs that have held steadfast through the centuries; and, following this publicity, there is usually a widespread discussion as to the effect these statements will have upon the orthodox faith. We cannot always be sure that these speakers are correctly quoted, or that their words are given in their proper setting, but assuming that they are so given, we [illegible] reason to [illegible] that we are to be dispossessed of our holy faith. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, for example, may deny the deity of Jesus Christ—but he is not the first one who has done so, nor will he be the last. We suppose no truth has ever been accepted by every individual to whom it was presented, but the truth remains just the same, and it will, by the very naure of the case, ultimately prevail. The Son of God appeared among men, lived his life, performed his miracles, taught his gospel—and the record of twenty centuries sustains evry claim he made. We have a Divine Savior attested by the experience of millions of redeemed souls, and no man can make of him simply a man among men. Mr. Grant will have his day and pass on—but Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, to-day, and forever.

LYNCHING ON THE DECREASE.

It is encouraging to note that, according to the Commission on Interracial Co-Operation, the lynching evil is steadily being reduced, both as to numbers and area, and that its eradication is only a matter of years. The Commission draws its conclusions from a careful study of the lynching record for forty years, in which it is shown that there has been a decrease in the number of victims from the high mark of 255 in 1892 to 57 last year, and in which it is also shown that only ten States had lynchings in 1922 as compared with an average of twenty-one throughout the period studied. It is evident that the conscience of the people is becoming aroused concerning this great evil, and that the measures to prevent it are proving to be effective. We look forward to the day when this blot will no longer stain the pages of our history in any State.

A GOOD LESSON TO LEARN.

Several days ago, a peddler of trinkets in New Orleans found, according to a local newspaper, a package of bills amounting to $1000. He immediately reported his find to a friend, they inserted an advertisement in the newspaper, and, within a short time, the money had been restored to its owner. In answer to the question as to why he had not kept the money, the finder replied: "Why should I have kept it? It did not belong to me, and my conscience would have troubled me. My life has been lived. I have seen pleasures and sorrows. Finding the money did not give me the right to keep it. Some one would have suffered, and I've learned that it doesn't pay to benefit at the expense of others." That is a good lesson to learn—that it does not pay to benefit at the expense of others. We do not claim to have a very clear understanding of the present world situation, but we can imagine that the application of the principle contained in the statement of the peddler of trinkets by some of the great nations would go a long way toward settling some very perplexing problems. The Golden Rule is as applicable in international relationships as it is in personal conduct.

MORE THOREAUS.

We read the other day that Thoreau had a great aversion to the accumulation of mere things. He says that he had three pieces of limestone on his cabin desk, but that he was terrified to find that they required to be dusted daily, while the furniture of his mind was all undusted still, so he threw them out of the window in disgust. Thoreau may have gone entirely too far in his contempt for material things, but he was entirely right in not wanting to become the slave of his possessions. A few more Thoreaus might be a good thing for the world.

A LITTLE BIT MORE.

The day's work may be nearly done—but there is just another little task to be accomplished; do it. The journey may be nearly ended—just a few more miles to travel to complete the trip; complete it. The life may be beautiful in nearly every way—just one thing lacking to make it all that it ought to be; be it.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matter written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

THEY CANNOT BE CLEANSED.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

The indictment I made some time ago against the moving picture business and the predictions I made concerning the connection of Mr. Will Hays with it have been sustained by the facts which have followed during the past year.

I said then, and now repeat with emphasis, that the employment of Mr. Hays by the film producers was not to assure pure films, but to stay public judgment against the enormous immorality of these shows. He is paid $100,000 a year not to cleanse the movies, but to protect the immoral business against public censure, and especially to prevent censorship of it. Before his employment at this huge salary, he had never displayed any special knowledge of films or manifested any notable zeal for the suppression of impure pictures which suggested his pre-eminent fitness for the task he professed to undertake. On the contrary, everybody knows he knew very little of the business which it was said he would purge of its foulness. Moreover, it is ridiculous to suppose that his employers hired him to do what they themselves could have done any day if they had cared to do it. Does any sane man imagine that they paid Mr. Hays $100,000 a year to reform them and keep them reformed? Are Mr. Zukor, Mr. Loew, Mr. Abrams, and the rest, so remarkably zealous for the purification of themselves and their business that they will pay him $100,000 a year to operate upon them as a sort of "Old Dutch Cleanser?"

In part, here is what I said about a year ago:

"Mr. Hays will not dare to try to make the movies decent, and, if he should, he would fail and lose his lucrative position for his effort.

"The movies cannot be reformed. The speed with which the business has run to the lowest depths shows the inevitable gravitation of its nature towards evil. The millions which have been made by it with amazing swiftness assure the continuance of the same indecency which has been so profitable. Those who own and control the business are out for money, and they are getting it, so that they are able to pay enormous salaries to influential men to lend the influence of their names and social position to cover the craft by which their gains are got. No consideration of art, education or morality is involved in the business. It is coarse and corrupting commercialism through and through.

"What sort of people have the movies made famous and used as the bright particular stars of the cinema firmament? There is the shameless Arbuckle with his $25,000 automobile, his drunken bouts, licentious parties, and crime-breeding entertainments. There is Charlie Chaplin, who has quit his wife, and deserves to have been quit by her. Mary Pickford has two living husbands and rejoices in the fact. Douglas Fairbanks has married with equal frequency and unscrupulousness.

"Is a business educative, or elevating, which draws to it such persons and finds them its most profitable employees? Do they not reveal with utmost clearness that the source of the vileness of the movies is the very source from which the 'movies' spring? Can a thing be cleansed which thrives on the corruption which it creates? Would it not be slain if it were cleansed, and slain by the cleansing process?

"The simple truth is that the movie is the worst form of entertainment which the world has ever seen. The old stage plays were never, in their worst state, half as demoralizing. The theatre of former days did not reach the masses, and especially the children and youth, with the most defiling exhibitions at a price within the reach of all.

"Who can say what part in the production of the 'wave of crime' has been borne by the movies?"

Now come others saying substantially the same thing which I affirmed.

THE PRESBYTERIAN of Philadelphia says:

"When the nickelodeons and stereopticons were in use, there were some good, innocent pictures, and when the movies came, many felt we had an instrumentality which might prove very useful both for necessary and good recreations, and as a minor agency in fuller education. With this expectation, many attended them at first. It was not long, however, until the suggestion of the movies became such that good people felt they could not fail to be corrupting and degrading to young people, and most offensive to elder and more thoughtful people. Still there were hopes that they might be reclaimed. Commercialism, however, has gained such a control that hope has perished. More than that, people have become skeptical with regard to the essential nature of the enterprise. It has given itself up almost exclusively to an effort to amuse, and we believe that the history of man will show that when amusement is the only or chief object, the necessity and actual tendency is toward exhaustion of proper resources, and the temptation is to draw material from any source, regardless of character."

THE NEW YORK CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE speaks with equal vigor, taking occasion from the case of the notorious movie actor to whom Mr. Hays seemed to give absolution recently:

"The news of Mr. Will Hays' reinstatement of the unspeakable Arbuckle on the moving picture stage came upon the sweet air of Christmas week like a waft from the sewer. Though couched in the language of fairness and forgiveness to a sinner, this decision by the titular head of the moving picture industry is in effect a permission to his employees to realize on the large investment which they have made in the discredited buffoon. The capital which has been locked up in idleness because of the actor's nauseating misconduct as revealed in his trial for murder, is said to amount to over a million dollars. It is against these completed films that Mr. Hays' forgiveness lifts the ban. His favor, which he would represent as his desire to give a fellow man a chance to make good, will not fail to be interpreted by some as based on the necessity of giving his millionaire employers, the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors, an opportunity to unload their unproductive reels on the public."

A confession confirming all that these able editors say has been made by Mr. Schanck, the showman who is to employ the hero of Hollywood's shame. Of that creature, Mr. Schanck says: "He is as clean as any one in the motion pictures to-day. He merely got into a jam; he was unfortunate." That testimony of Mr. Schanck is quite true, and it means the vile fellow was caught, while a majority of the rest of the movie crew escaped.

Two books have appeared recently which offer further testimony to sustain my indictment of the "movies."

One is from the pen of Mr. Ellis Paxon Oberholtzer, who was for six years a member of the Pennsylvania Board of Censors. He strips the whole wretched business of all its delusive disguises and plausible defenses, and exposes to view the rotten core at the center of it. He says:

"Sex is the one potently dominant idea in the minds of the men who are gambling in the public taste for nasty photographic stories. The capitalist who is financing the picture-producing company, the executive officer whom he hires to make money for him, and the directors in the studios expend much of their time and energy in trying to devise that which will show the male and female in some unusual and new relationship. The public, sated by much looking at film, night after night, must be aroused from the apathy which comes from having long ago seen all that is proper to be shown, and we have been plunged into an abysmal morass of fornication, adultery, pandering and prostitution. The seduction of mill girls and stenographers by their employers, men living with mistresses, and women consorting with men without marriage, are flashed into the eyes of old and young, willy nilly, in our movie houses."

He alleges that the producers of films have carried the purveying of this purulence to the exhibition of even unnatural and impossible situations:

"If I were to travel the country over I should not know where to find women who conceal revolvers in their blouses, or in the drawers of their dressing tables; or men who wrestle in dress suits on the parlor floor for the affections of a lady, who, in a spangled evening gown, naked to her waist, grasps an iron from a fire-set on the hearth, or seizes the inevitably paper-knife to slay the villain, her lover rising in time to take the blame for the crime. Nor have I ever known a man who would tumble a rival for a woman's hand head-over-heels down stairways and over balustrades. Their whole seed, breed, and generation who now live in film are an insult to our intelligence, if not to our moral sense. * * * There is no American 'high life' which corresponds to what is set before us by the movie make outside of some occasional house of ill fame."

Mr. Oberholtzer points out the effect upon children and shows the amazing inconsistency of parents who carry their children to see movies far more demoralizing than the worst scenes of shame in the vilest places of our cities:

"There are few parents with ideals so low for their children that they would take one of them by the hand, lead it into the corners of our great cities, and show it drinking and drugging, prostitution, stealing and murder—few with feelings so [illegible]onic or blunted that they would wish to give a description of the daily life of some New York libertine or debauchee. * * * When we find parents in our back streets so dead to their responsibilities that they surround their children with vice by design, or from want of ability to keep them away from such influences, we take these children out of their charge and commit them to public institutions. If a father were to take his boy through the dens of the slums, he would be ashamed to be seen in such places. Yet fathers are taking their boys to picture houses showing these very places with every mark of reality. A child walking through vile places would not understand half as much of the devilment as he does in a movie where every effort is made to explain and to exploit every detail. To take an hour to show these things and then take a minute at the close for a moral warning is a foolish proceeding. The child will remember the hour's entertainment and forget the minute's warning."

The other book is by Canon William Sheafe Chase, D.D., of Brooklyn, and is entitled "Catechism on Motion Pictures; or, The Movie Peril Exposed." He shows from official investigations the truth of all that Mr. Oberholtzer affirms, and discloses even more. Among other things, he reveals the fact that the moving picture producers are working to break down the Christian Sabbath, as well as respect for all laws in general, and prohibition laws in particular. He shows further that the "movies" are being used politically by their opulent owners to defeat every man and every measure favoring their censorship. Could anything else establish more conclusively their obstinate and incurable corruption?

Nevertheless, the Hon. Will Hays, Ex-Postmaster General, spreads before the patrons of the "movies" (young children included) vile pictures, marked by his approval, which as Postmaster General he could not have lawfully admitted to the mails!

Mr. Hays has not reformed the "movies," nor can he reform them. Their owners, who for the time being at least, own him also, have demoralized Mr. Hays. It is what might have been expected. "Whose bread you eat, his song you sing."

VARIOUS REFLECTIONS AND SUGGESTIONS.

By Rev. Jno. W. Boswell, D.D.

Dear Brother Carley: There was a "heap of mighty interestin' readin'" in the Advocate of January 18. I liked it. I came near reading the whole of it, and was almost persuaded to write you a letter. But I delayed, and I am glad I did, for that issue was followed by the paper of the 25th, which also contained some things worthy of notice—especially one thing that every Southern Methodist should ponder in his heart.

The first thing that attracted attention was your short editorial on Christian Education. It was to the point. You truly say: "If our church schools simply propose to give only such education, and to furnish only such atmosphere and environment as are to be found elsewhere (in State-owned and controlled institutions), it is a waste of time, money, and men to undertake to establish, promote and sustain them. * * * Our Christian schools ought to be the most fervent centers of evangelism." Well said and true. But will you object if I venture to inquire whether or not all our church schools are fulfilling their mission? When I say "our church schools," I mean not only the schools of Southern Methodism, but all the schools maintained and controlled by evangelical Protestant denominations. Are they faithful in impressing the principles and practices of evangelical religion? Do they teach nothing adapted to undermine the simple faith of their students? Are they fervent centers of evangelism? And is the spirit of evangelism as strong in their students when they go back to their homes as when they entered the schools? If these questions can be answered in the affirmative, then I feel free to say that some of the schools are greatly slandered, for it has been sounded out, far and wide, that they have in their faculties higher critics and modernists who deny the very foundation of our holy religion. When St. Paul heard there were "divisions" among the Corinthians he said: "I partly believe it." So, when I hear so much about unsound teaching in our schools I say, I partly believe it.

Such schools, whatever else they may do, give their students a distorted view of Christ and his gospel. They subtract from the sum total of Christianity (Rev. xxii, 18, 19). The sowing of these evil deeds is not allowed in Methodist institutions. They are under the supervision, as a rule, of preachers who, as elders, have vowed before God and the church to "be ready with all faithful diligence to banish and drive away all erroneous and strange doctrines contrary to God's word." This vow should make all Methodists feel secure. But do they?

The next thing that attracted attention was your admirable arrangement for the News from the Districts. The news is given in short paragraphs containing a simple statement of the condition of the charges, or a word of commendation of the preachers. This, I think, is better and more satisfactory than a long communication from the presiding elders. It will prove interesting and stimulating if, from week to week, the presiding elders have something real good to report from the remote country circuits. Certainly we like to hear of success in the church, no matter where, but it must be a little discouraging to the country preacher to read of the big things done in the towns and cities, of the big salaries, and large numbers added to the church, with nothing said of success in the country. Jesus said that the poor woman who cast two mites into the Lord's treasury had cast in more than the rich, who of their abundance had cast in much. It is just as true that poor country churches do as much, and sometimes more, in proportion to their ability as the more favored churches in the cities. The raise of twenty-five dollars on the preacher's salary in some country circuits is more than a raise of five hundred in some moderately rich church in the city. Even as little a thing as that done in some sections is worthy of note. The spiritual condition of the church likewise is often worthy of mention. We hope to hear much in the coming weeks of the increase in members and spirituality.

The problem of the country church! Perhaps I am not competent to write on the subject, as it has been so long since I was a country preacher. But I'll put in a word. I do not doubt, as Brother Shipman says, that in some sections we have made no advance in "fifty years," but I cannot allow this blame to be fixed on the church. If we have labored in any one place fifty years and are worse off than when we began, it is because there was no foundation to build on at the start, or because the membership have moved to other places. In the latter case, the church is not at fault, and there is no problem. In the former case, the church is to blame for wasting men and means for so many years on unprofitable ground.

More than one section of the country should long since have been abandoned to the Baptists—the citizens of such section being of Baptist faith. I have my eye on a good big territory occupied by our church as far back as sixty-five years ago. Should some one inform me that we abandoned it forty years ago, I would not be surprised. There never was a foundation in that territory for a successful and permanent Methodist church.

Nevertheless though the country churches have in many places been depleted by giving their members to the towns and cities, on the whole, the country churches have made wonderful advancement during the past fifty years. The Church Extension Board could tell a wonderful story about this matter. Any brother sixty years of age could do the same thing. How many churches can a man of that age recall that are today worshiping in the same house occupied fifty years ago? Dead churches do not build new and substantial houses of worship. And if I am not mistaken, more than the half of our membership of 2,500,000 live in the country districts. Yet it is sadly true that here and there good churches have been abandoned, not because, as some have said, the church has lost its hold on the country, but because the citizens, including church members, have moved away—gone to other States and to the towns and cities. Are not these the churches that have caused the problem? Probably Brother Shipman's suggestion, if acted on, will solve the problem—in good weather and on the State and government highways—"consolidate and haul 'em." But what will become of the unfortunate ones who live in the out-of-the-way places, commonly called the backwoods? They are there by the thousands—yes, by the millions. If there is a good house of worship anywhere, with an average congregation, and the least prospect of doing good, that has been abandoned, we can say it is owing to peculiar conditions, and not to the fact that it does not pay.

Your last issue gives notice that the matter of unifying the Northern and Southern Methodists is again to the fore. This is unfortunate. It would be unfortunate even if we had nothing else before us to think and talk and write about, but it is particularly so just now, when we are pressing the collection of the Centenary and Educational pledges. It is true right now there is but one point in shape to discuss; that is the desirableness of union. Ostensibly, unification of some kind, and not organic union, is the object sought. But mark what I say: If the movement issues in anything, it will be union, possibly complete surrender of Southern Methodism. Some of our leaders favor union, and the Northern Methodists will be satisfied with nothing less. This has been clear to every mind for a long time. It was confirmed at the late session of the Joint Commission by the proposition of the Northern Commissioners, viz: "1. That we hold a joint meeting of the two General Conferences. * * * and declare that we are united." Unconditionally, of course, the details to be arranged after the union is declared to be a fact. Wonderful! What sort of folks do those Northern Methodists take us to be? Or did they do much writing in advance of the meeting and were misled? Our Commissioners were not napping. They promptly rejected the proposition and gave our Northern brethren something to think about.

Why should we think and talk about union? We are not distressed. We are at peace. There are a few disturbers—higher critics and rationalists—but not in sufficient numbers to drive us from our work or from our moorings. We are prospering throughout all our borders. We are raising and spending more money for the strengthening and enlarging of the kingdom than at any time in all our history, and we never had such an increase in membership as we had last year. Every department of the church is alive and active and succeeding. Let us still dwell under our own vine and fig tree. There is no reason why we should turn ourselves over to the great Methodist Episcopal Church, which outnumbers us two to one. I shall be content to stay where I am.

Nashville, Tenn.

LOUISIANA, ATTENTION!

At the last session of the Louisiana Conference a Hospital Board was elected and, by Conference action, Methodists of Louisiana are launching a movement for hospital work in this State. This does not mean that a hospital will be built at once, but that a start will be made looking to Methodists' taking a hand in the great work of helping the sick. Our first start will be a small one, but if each pastor leads and his people follow as they should, it will be a start. We want to enroll every Methodist in the State in the Golden Cross Society. What does this mean?

We have in our church now a Golden Cross Society. To join it means simply to sign the card and pay a dollar. This money goes to our Conference Treasurer for the Hospital Board, Rev. L. I. McCain, Lafayette, La. It becomes a fund on hand for constructive work. To this fund will be added gifts from kindly-disposed people. It becomes a nucleus to which will be added next year another roll-call fund. We have fifty thousand Methodists in Louisiana and should secure the first fifty thousand dollars easily.

After awhile some city, with a progressive spirit, will invite us to come and build a great hospital. We will have some money and we will get more and we will go. Some time in the next few years Methodists ought to have a great hospital in Louisiana. This first roll call will start the movement off. Let us make it unanimous.

I have had mailed to every pastor in Louisiana enough cards to cover his entire membership. If any have not received these cards, let me know and I will have them sent to you at once. By all means, let the pastors of the Conference appoint a director at once, and let that director begin now laying his plans how he will secure as many dollars as he has total number of members. It may mean to get a number of ten dollar, twenty-five dollar or, one hundred dollar members. If it does, let's get them.

A. J. GEARHEARD,
Haynesville, La. Sec. Hospital Board.

FAMILY PRAYERS.

By Laura Hubbard Jaccard.

You say you are "busy this morning
In the maelstrom of family cares,
And husband must rush to the office,
So there isn't a moment for prayers."

Then the children are sent to the school-room,
And the grind of the day thus begins,
With no word from God's Book to remember,
Nor the echo of strengthening hymns.

What wonder the burdens are heavy,
And the hours seem irksomely long!
What wonder that rash words are spoken,
And that life seems discordant and wrong!

And at even, discouraged and wearied,
You carelessly go to your rest,
Forgetting that Jesus is waiting
To pillow your head on His breast.

He longs for a word of thanksgiving,
And to hear your love spoken again;
He asks to review the day's record,
And to cleanse it of blotches and stain.

But if you forget Him so often,
Some time you may knock at His Gate,
And awaiting the summons to enter,
You may hear, "You are praying too late."

—Selected.

To reach success, my son, you must pass through the door upon which is the word "Push."

—Selected.

Nothing is more amazing than the readiness with which the crowd bows at the shrine of a new hero, unless it be the readiness with which they desert him when fickle fancy dictates.—Selected.

Faith is not like an aeroplane which takes a man to heaven. It is more like a Ford, that constantly lets him know that he is on his way and assures him that he will get there if he endures to the end.—Selected.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Newton District.

The Pastors' Institute of the Newton District was held at the Forest church opening at 10 a. m. Feb. 1, and closing with a consecration service at noon on the following day. The presiding elder, Rev. J. A. Moore, gave a helpful and illuminating exposition of the Mission of the Seventy, who were sent two by two into every city where Christ himself would go. The first topic discussed—the preacher's own religious life—brougth forth personal experiences which were spiritually uplifting. Every one participating was conscious of the Spirit's presence and felt "this is none other but the house of God and this is the gate of heaven." The program was interspersed by the singing of the old songs, and prayer. Every pastor present, at some period of the services, voiced the heart's desire of the body in a fervent prayer at the throne of grace. The presiding elder was careful to see that no phase of church life was neglected, and many helpful suggestions were made which will surely bear fruit in the future. A vote of thanks was tendered Rev. H. J. Moore and the good people of Forest for their kindly entertainment.

The pastor, his wife and charming daughter were host and hostesses to all the preachers at a dinner served at the parsonage. Artistically cut crimson letters were placed down the table, and when put together spelled "Newton District." At the conclusion of the feast, all stood in a vote of thanks for the gracious hospitality, after which our host, Brother H. J. Moore, led in singing,

"Blest be the tie that binds
Our hearts in Christian love;
The fellowship of kindred minds
Is like to that above."

* * *

Our people at Montrose, Rev. M. R. Jones, pastor, are considering the making of needed improvement in their house of worship. Whether they will erect a new building of brick or concrete, or remodel the present frame structure, has not yet been deermined. In any event, a better auditorium, with Sunday school facilities, is the objective.

* * *

Rev. G. G. Yeager, of the Rose Hill charge, has in prospect considerable improvement to church property. The church at Rose Hill is to be reseated. The old church at Paulding is to undergo needed repairs. The Hopewell church is to be treated to a new roof. Pleasant Grove church, damaged by tornado a few years ago, is to receive needed attention. Homewood church is in line for a new coat of paint. Brother Yeager has been well received by the membership of his new charge.

* * *

Rev. G. L. McNeece, of the Trenton charge, recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Jackson Sanatorium. A card received by his presiding elder indicates that the return trip from Jackson was attended with some unfavorable results. It is hoped that no serious backset will be suffered, and that Brother McNeece will soon be entirely restored to health.

* * *

Rev. W. W. Murray is favorably impressed with the outlook on his new charge—Harperville and Lena. His people are pleased with their new pastor.

* * *

Rev. T. B. Winstead begins his fourth year on the Carthage charge in high favor with his people. Since the beginning of Brother Winstead's pastorate, the Carthage church has made the greatest advance in its history in the matter of pastoral support. Of all the towns of the State wholly without railroad facilities, Carthage is probably the best. Brother Winstead serves a fine people.

* * *

Walnut Grove is an old charge with a fine opportunity to take on new life. The bounds of this charge have been pierced recently by the Jackson and Eastern Railroad—the first railroad ever to enter Leake County—New Walnut Grove being at present the western terminus of that road. It is hoped that the church and charge will keep pace with the material development brought about by the coming of the railroad. Rev. C. H. Herring is the new pastor.

* * *

We are pleased to note that, with the exception of the Seashore, the Newton District leads in the circulation of the Conference Organ. If the live wires of this district will put out a litle more force, we will take the banner from the Seashore at the next session of the Annual Conference.

* * *

We were shocked on last Thursday morning to learn of the passing of one of the elect ladies of this district, Mrs. (Dr.) Mars, of Philadelphia. May the Lord of all comfort be with the sorrowing family and friends.

* * *

A meeting of the pastors and treasurers of the Centenary Fund will be held at Newton on March 7.

* * *

The Newton Epworth League will entertain the District League Conference in March, the date to be fixed by the Conference president, Mr. W. D. Hawkins, of Meridian.

* * *

A commodious union church will soon be completed at Burnside, where the Griffin Lumber Company has built a large saw mill. There are quite a number of Methodists at that place, and a church will be organized there and a regular preaching service provided for.

* * *

Rev. J. V. Bennett is assisting Rev. T. C. Cooper in a revival meeting at Deemer. We hope to hear of many conversions and reclamations. Things come to pass with an evangelistic team like that at work.

* * *

A correspondent who writes from what he calls the "Big End" of the District, informs us that all goes well there and they are looking forward eagerly to the Gipsy Smith revival in May.

Fuller notes from that end of the line will appear in the next issue.

N. B. HARMON, Reporter.

Saashore District.

The Seashore District has the "flu."

* * *

We held our Preachers' Institute according to announcement, and while several of the brethren were absent because of sickness, the meeting was a succes. The Lord was with us.

* * *

Lumberton and Columbia are in the lead on salaries; Robert and Corley are happy.

Picayune was ready for the first quarterly conference. An every-member canvass was made. The lay leader, with all his committees, is ready to work, and eight or ten Sunday school rooms are being added to the church.

Grice, at Ocean Springs, is up from the "flu," and organizing for a good year.

Blackwell and his people are happy, and will bring things to pass.

Biloxi is starting off well.

Wherever the pastors and lay leaders will carry out the plan of organization that is now the law of the church, it will mean success. If Allen, Landrum, and Stringer can organize and work systemtically on those large circuits, all can.

Brother Castles and his entire family have been sick. but he has his "hand on the throttle and his eye on the rail."

With W. E. Barnes, district lay leader, and Horace Hinds and A. M. Hinton his assistants, if the charge lay leaders will co-operate, things will work well.

The Gipsy Smith meeting is starting off encouragingly. We are expecting a great meeting. I hope to report something besides "flu" next time.

W. M. SULLIVAN, P. E.

Vicksburg District.

The work of tho Lord's Kingdom goes forward this year, with an increasing interest, on the Vicksburg District. Pastors are busy, and in most places the laymen are helping to a very delightful degree. I am desirous that they all may see the opportunity that is before them, co-operate with their pastors, and make this a year of spiritual growth and financial success.

* * *

Under the lead of Rev. Robert Selby, Crawford Street, Vicksburg, is doing perhaps better than ever in her history. The men and women, as a rule, are alive to every interest of the church. The congregations are large and members are constantly added to the roll. Brother Selby is popular with his people, a good organizer, a diligent pastor, and strong preacher. I am, therefore, not surprised that Crawford Street is rapidly taking her place as one of the leading churches of our Conference. This she ought to do, being rich in history, with a cultured people and material resources that make her equal to anything that needs to be done in setting forward our Lord's Kingdom. Last November a parsonage was bought at a cost of $9,250. The pastor is happy, hopeful, and busy.

* * *

Gibson Memorial, Vicksburg, has made progress under the lead of Rev. T. B. Cottrell. Brother Cottrell's people love him, and many of them co-operate with him in doing the work of the church. Any pastor is fortunate who has associated with him a band of good women like those in Gibson Memorial. They are deeply religious and diligent in everything that will help in the work of their church. This church struggled long as a mission, but now is paying her pastor a $2,000 salary, and taking her full share of the Benevolences. Brother Cottrell and his folks deserve special mention for what they have accomplished during the past two years.

* * *

Brother C. A. Schultz is moving forward with Anguilla. He starts on his third year a very popular pastor. His officials have made his salary $2,400. They have laid their plans and are moving toward "everything in full." What Schultz and those fine people set their hearts and hands on doing will not likely fail. I am confidently expecting 100% from Anguilla this year. All hands agree that this shall be the best year the church has had in that part of the Delta. The folks and the pastor love each other and work together.

* * *

Rolling Fork is in love with Brother T. J. O'Neil. He is beginning his fifth year with the delightful people of Rolling Fork and Cary. His hold upon them grows, the longer he serves them. Brother O'Neil is doing a great work in the Delta. Last year he put improvements to the amount of about $2,000 on the church at Rolling Fork, and is now building a church at Cary, which is to cost $7,000. This fine people appreciate Brother O'Neil for his work, preaching ability, and strong leadership. I earnestly desire that he may have the pleasure of reporting all claims paid in full at the next meeting of our Annual Conference. This ought to be, and I belive will be. Brother O'Neil will lay it on the hearts of the people, and I believe they will respond. They have the loyalty and the resources. I look for them to show forth a spirit of co-operation that will make them and their pastor happy.

* * *

Rosetta Mission is being well looked after by Rev. N. S. Loftus. This work is scattered over a large territory, but Brother Loftus "gets there just the same." He is doing the job. The people have great confidence in him as a man, and they appreciate his evangelistic spirit and preaching. They are following him, and at the first quarterly confernce this year they showed their appreciation of him by increasing his salary. Rosetta should soon come to be one of the strong and self-supporting circuits of this district.

* * *

Rev. A. Joe Beasley is beginning his first year at the old historic town of Washington, and is beginning well. He also serves Kingston, whose history, like that of Washington, runs back to the beginning of Methodism in Mississippi. There are only a few people in the Kingston community, but they are a true and loyal folk. A real old-fashioned revival would put new life in all the activities of the church at Kingston. I feel sure that Brother Beasley will look diligently after every interest of the church, and that the fine people at Washington and Kingston will respond and be happy.

* * *

I was snow-bound on Sunday, Feb. 4, and failed to get to Rocky Springs, where I wished so much to be. Brother Wesley Ezelle is there making full proof of his ministry. I have not been with him yet, but am hearing only the best things of him and his work. I am expecting Rocky Springs to take a forward step under his lead. The first quarterly conference will be held on March 4, at Williams. Let the officials be on hand to lay plans for the best year thus far, to give heart and courage to their good pastor, and make him feel that he can lean on them. United effort and co-operation will mean much for the Rocky Springs circuit.

* * *

Woodville is fortunate in having Rev. H. G. Hawkins as pastor. No man among us is taking hold of the work with more interest than is he. The officials have shown their appreciation of Brother Hawkins by increasing his salary, and in showing their willingness to co-operate with him in doing the Lord's work. Woodville is a delightful place to live, and, with a live church, it will be a most delightful place to serve. The opportunities are great, and I am sure none will go to waste, or be overlooked by Brother Hawkins. With the church rallying to him, I am expecting Woodville to become one of our most attractive appointments

* * *

Our Preachers' Institute, held in Vicksburg Jan. 31-Feb. 1, was the best I have ever attended. I am grateful to the men who came, and was truly sorry that others were detained on account of sickness in their homes. Dr. Rolfe Hunt and fifteen of my pastors were present.

May the Lord bless all the men of our district, and keep them busy!

J. R. JONES, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

LAKE CHARLES DISTRICT.

We have about completed the first round of quarterly conferences; found the pastors all at their places, and hard at work to make this the best year in the history of the district. Just a word about my new preachers.

* * *

Brother Claude Mayo is doing fine work at Neame and Pickening.

* * *

Brother Young is getting ready for a great year at De Ridder. He will begin a revival the first Sunday in February, conducted by Evangelist Tucker.

* * *

Brother Roberts is starting off well at Sulphur and Vinton. The good people of these two appointments have made considerable improvements on the parsonage.

* * *

Brother Waddill is preaching some great sermons to good congregations in Lake Charles.

* * *

Brother Early was well received at Crowley, and has great plans for a splendid year's work.

* * *

Brother McLelland is winning his way at Rayne, and is planning to build a new church.

* * *

Brother Harrison was well received by the good people of New Iberia.

* * *

Brother Miller is doing fine at Abbeville and Kaplan, looking forward to great success this year.

* * *

Brother Barrett, at Hornbeck and Peason, is busy on his new charge.

* * *

These brethren are entering upon the first year at their various charges, and a note of encouragement comes from each one of them.

* * *

With Henderson at Zwolle, McCormick at Many and Robeline, L. A. Hoffpaiur at Leesville, R. M. Brown at Merryville, S. E. Williams at Carson, Bernard at Gueydan and Estherwood, P. O. Lowrey at Indian Bayou, J. I. Hoffpauir at Eunice, and L. I. McCain at Lafayette, and all the faithful and earnest laymen and good women over the district, we are looking for great things to be accomplished this year.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe District.

Since the last notes of Monroe District appeared we have experienced all kinds of weather—warm, windy, rainy—and at this writing a blanket of sleet and snow covers the ground. The climatic conditions have interfered to a great extent with the activities of the church.

* * *

To my mind one of the most encouraging signs is the great interest that is being manifested in the work of the Sunday school. Nearly every charge is planning better equipment to take care of the growing interest of the Sunday school.

* * *

We held our district stewards' meeting at Rayville recently. A liberal provision was made for the presiding elder, and the district parsonage's need was placed on a substantial basis. At the same time, the lay leaders of the district met and discussed plans for the year. Brothers R. O. Randle, S. W. B. Colvin, and E. E. Williams spoke relative to the part that the laymen should take in the work of the church.

* * *

Rayville charge, under the efficient leadership of Rev. W. R. Harvell, is doing good work. At the last quarterly conference authority was given to add Sunday school rooms to the church.

* * *

Rev. R. F. Harrell is busily engaged in the interest of the Kingdom at Tallulah. An Epworth League was recently organized, composed of capable young people, and it will mean much to the spiritual life of the community.

* * *

Oak Grove charge is in good hands. Rev. Geo. Fox is entering heartily into the work. He is doing nicely. There is a very fine Sunday school at this point.

* * *

Rev. P. B. McCullin is master of the situation at Midway and Epps. Darnell, a new saw mill town, is on the charge, and, with the willingness and capable leadership, we are looking for good results at this place.

* * *

Sicily Island circuit is one of magnificent distances. Bad weather and bad roads have handicapped the pastor in the prosecution of the work. However, Rev. R. T. Pickett is tackling the job with vim and vigor. Under his leadership the work will do well.

* * *

Rev. P. M. Caraway is the popular pastor on the Ferriday-Vidalia charge. At Ferriday all the plans are perfected for the erection of a brick church. This is a very strategic point in our district, and with careful procedure we can do a great work for our church. Brother Caraway has the situation well in hand.

* * *

The Missionary Society at Monroe is busily engaged in making preparation for the entertainment of the Missionary Conference, March 6-9.

* * *

The West Monroe parsonage was gladdened Feb. 5 by the arrival of a baby girl. Rev. J. L. Evans is the proud father. Mother and baby are doing well.

* * *

Sleet and snow caused the postponement of the quarterly conference at Mangham and Gilbert. From what I learned, Revs. J. D. Nesom and H. W. May are in high favor with their people, and the work is prospering. Ground has been broken at Gilbert for the erection of a new brick church.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

GRENADA DISTRICT PREACHERS' MEETING—A PERSONAL VIEW.

On January 31 and February 1 there was held at Grenada a very interesting meeting of the preachers of the Grenada District. Despite the "flu," it was well attended. Plans were set into operation, through organization of the district, county by county, for having service in every church in the district every Lord's Day. There was manifest from the beginning a spirit of loyal, consecrated co-öperation, an enthusiasm for looking after all the interests of the church, and a deep passion for souls, which augurs well for the work of the district for the year.

The presiding elder, Rev. R. A. Tucker, adopted the discussion plan for the meeting. A topic was introduced, and a leader appointed for opening the discussion. The following were among the topics considered: "The Pastor as Student;" "The Pastor Guiding all the Organizations of his Church;" "The Pastor as Evangelist." Every man who had any ideas which he thought would be helpful to the brethren was urged to speak. This meeting fulfilled a real need in that it offered every man a chance to take part in the program. Even a circuit rider feels that every once in a while his mind is capable of bringing forth a helpful idea. Every man went away with new ideas gained from the meeting, which will be very helpful in doing the work of the church. Each preacher went away with a new determination to be a pastor-evangelist and to win for Jesus Christ all those for whom he is responsible.

Brother Tucker is not the type man who makes a great deal of noise, but he is on the job. All the interests of the church are being looked after under his supervision. No detail is too small to engage his attention. The year promises well for the Grenada district. It has set for itself the motto, "Conference collections in full."

Pickens, Miss. JULIAN S. DUNCAN.

The Educational Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will meet at the Hotel Chisca, Memphis, Tenn., February 20-22. All educational institutions of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, whose classification is provided for by the Discipline, and all Annual Conference Boards of Education are eligible for membership in the Association. Dr. A. F. Watkins, of Millsaps College, is the president.

---

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Fifth Annual State Epworth League Assembly at Mansfield Female College

JUNE 12th TO 19th INCLUSIVE, 1923.

EVERY METHODIST CHURCH IN THE STATE IS EXPECTED TO SEND AT LEAST ONE DELEGATE. START TO RAISE YOUR DELEGATE FUND NOW. TWO HUNDRED OUR CAPACITY.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.
Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.
510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

WE SHALL REMEMBER THEM.

By Bishop James Atkins.

Many and great as have been the agencies which have brought America to its present position at the head of the Christian nations, not one has been more influential than have been the ministers of the gospel of Christ. We have had many distinguished politicians, some worthy diplomats, and a few genuine statesmen. In these respects our annals are worthy of comparison with even the best of the nations. And yet I dare say that not all of these combined are equal in real creative power to those men who have heard the call to the unworldly life and have devoted themselves wholly to the production of those lofty ideals without which no nation can be truly great. It will be a happy day for mankind when men realize and recognize that the power of the gospel which saves not only the souls of men but the whole of their lives and civilization is the greatest man among us.

While I with pleasure accord these results to the ministers of all Protestant denominations, I think I may without narrowness claim the primacy in all this work during the last hundred and fifty years of American history for the preachers of Episcopal Methodism. This has been in a larger measure due to the system under which they have worked, a system which has self-obligation as the very basis of it. It became plain to the public which they served that they were unselfish men, leading indeed lives of hardship and self-sacrifice. It became clear to their constituency that they were not given to self-indulgence and they were not seeking any of the things which perish with their using. The fact that they had adjourned their hope of emolument out of this world into another and had the patience of faith to wait for their reward gave them a powerful hold in the respect and confidence of men.

Moreover, they were fundamentalists in the true sense of that term. They studied, believed, and preached the Word of God with boldness and power. They did not fear any of the hazards which such a course implied. They had the courage of their convictions, but they had what is more than that; they had the courage of their affections. They loved God, and they loved men, and therefore for the glory of the One and the good of the other they were willing if need be to die. No man is truly fit to live until he has found something that is worth dying for; surely these men belonged to this royal class.

These men are also children of nature as well as sons of grace. They saw life from the inside. They looked up through it and not merely down upon it. They knew the human heart, its frailties and sins, and withal its wonderful capabilities of expansion under divine influences into a measureless greatness. They knew man's need of regeneration and how it was to be obtained, having themselves gone through this marvelous experience. They knew that men were called to holiness of character and of life, and they made clear the duty and processes of its attainment. All this separated them from the carnal world and its favor and made them dependent for its temporal good upon the success of their spiritual ministry. But the truly heroic in their lives made its appeal to all that is noble and unselfish in men and drew about them a great constituency of lay believers who were of the same spirit and also gave material as well as spiritual support to their preachers. Paul with the elders of Ephesus had no plainer or more impressive evidence of their devotion to him than these modern preachers had of the love and fealty of their lay brothers throughout the continent.

I do not take time to speak of the intellectual ability and attainments of these men. These are to be measured mainly by their achievements. Some of these were men of superb genius. Not a few have been men of large and accurate learning. Most of them have been men of more than ordinary ability. Many have been only mediocre as measured by the demand of the schools and by even occasional flashes of genius—in all except their devotion to their calling.

After more than fifty years of observation and of intimate association with the preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, I do not hesitate to say that they are filled in the main with the same spirit of loyalty to our system of doctrine and devotion to their ministry which signalized the preachers of the earlier days of Methodism.

Salaries and comforts have increased, it is true, but deepened complexities have come into all modern life and have made the issue even more biting than in the former days.

The men who were placed on the superannuate list at the last round of Conferences were worthy to measure up with a like class of fifty or a hundred years ago. It is also true that scarcely any of these have been able to lay up anything against the day of old age and retirement.

Will the Church allow these venerable heroes to suffer want or to be dragged forever through a galling anxiety lest want should come to them or to those whom they love better than their own lives? This is the question which the Church is soon to answer in the terms of its endowment for these noble men.

A Word of Prophecy.

I have been intimately associated with the great Centenary campaign from its beginning and later with the not less important Education Movement. I have felt every thrill due to the magnitude of these enterprises and the wonderful response of our people to them. But I dare now to predict that when the special effort for our Superannuate Fund is fully on, then will come to the Church the finest, richest, and most universal enthusiasm the Church has ever known in behalf of any cause. All the elements are in this appeal to produce this enthusiasm. The personal element is there, the obligation of men and their families for salvation from sin which came to them through these holy men, the obligation of citizens for the civil blessings which the ministry of these men has brought to the commonwealth, the sense of righteousness in dealing with these benefactors of all classes, and at least a Church which will move many to quit themselves of the shame of this long-neglected duty to those who were once the most self-sacrificing and now the most helpless class of public servants.

The treatment which the Church has hitherto bestowed upon these worthiest of men reminds one somewhat of Rudyard Kipling's poem, "The Last of the Light Brigade," the most biting sarcasm perhaps ever based on historic fact. The first two lines are:

> "There were thirty million English who talked of >     English might;
> There were twenty broken troopers who lacked a >     bed for the night."

This would be a good time for all Methodists to read the poem complete.

Lake Junaluska, N. C.

---

IN THE COMMON DAY.

A man who only sees God in the big things of life, and worships Him only in some temple set apart, is missing very much of the glory and fullness of living, and of the joy and comfort that should be his. God is in the thunder storm, and when the great clouds, forked with light, are rolling up the sky we irresistibly think of His majesty and might; but God is also in the little, quiet things of every day, and we can, if we have the eyes to see, get just as true and real pictures of Him there. God is in the great events and crises of history, and he would be a dull and stupid man indeed who did not see Him there. But is He not equally in the little commonplace things of every day, and even in such a commonplace and unimportant life as mine? And if I can see Him there, will it not be an equally true and beautiful and joy-compelling revelation? What a pity it would be that I should wait for the storm or tragedy or great event to bring Him near me, when all the while I might see Him this very day in the living, growing, beautiful things that are all about me, or in the daily duties and associations of life that would never be commonplace or humdrum if He were seen to be really there? Truly our God is not a God who hideth Himself, but we poor, foolish human creatures do so often shut our eyes to His presence and our hearts to all the joy and comfort and enlightenment that His presence would bring!—Christian Guardian.

---

The worst man is not quite so bad as he seems; and the best man is not quite so good as he appears to be.—Selected.

The Home Circle

JES' MY DOG.

Dedicated to my own mongrel, "Casey."

By Bertha Lyon McKinney.

He hasn't any pedigree,
He isn't much on looks,
You'd never find a dog like him
In any story books;
He's jes' my dog.

In color he's as yaller
As the onryest yaller cur,
But when I think o' his devotion
It fills my eyes with blur;
He's jes' my dog.

He wouldn't bring a dollar
If I wish'd ter hev him sold,
But every single yaller hair
To me is purest gold;
He's jes' my dog.

—Our Dumb Animals.

HILDA-WHO-SLEPT-IN-THE-KITCHEN.

By Emma Gary Wallace.

Hilda was a three-weeks-old kid—the cunningest little silky white goat you can imagine! She had long, shaky legs and tiny nubbins of horns, and her hair was as thick and warm as the fur of the little white neck-piece and muff Margaret, Hilda's mistress, wore when the weather was cold.

Margaret was delighted with the baby kid, for her Uncle John had brought it to her, knowing how fond she was of pets.

"See, Margaret," he pointed out as he took the little animal from the back seat of his car when he first brought it, "see what a silly little face Hilda has. She looks as if she were smiling all the time to herself over nothing; but that is just her natural expression, and you mustn't think she is laughing at you."

Margaret was only four years old, and she liked to go inside the fence which kept Hilda from leaving the premises, and sometimes the little girl would chase her around and almost catch the kid. But just at that point Hilda was sure to give another jump, and Margaret's fingers would slide along the little kid's silky-soft back.

Margaret was especially interested in watching her pet get her meals. Hilda was so small that she had to take her milk out of a bottle which was furnished with a rubber nipple. Hilda's mother was a big, brown goat who had been sold and taken to another place. Her purchaser did not want the little kid, so that was how Uncle John came to get her.

Margaret's mother took good care of Hilda, for Mrs. Aldrich didn't like to think of anything or anybody being uncomfortable, and of course, Margaret thought it a great treat to see her mother go out, catch Hilda, sit down on a box in the little yard, take the kid up in her lap, and put her arms round the little kid so that it couldn't wriggle out; and then it always made Margaret chuckle with glee to see her mother take Hilda's chin in her left hand, and with a finger and a thumb open the funny little mouth on each side and put the black nipple right into Hilda's mouth.

Hilda would chew and sputter and try to get away for a few minutes, but when she felt the nice warm milk running down her throat, and got a taste of it, she seemed to remember what she ought to do. Then she would take hold and drink the milk out of that bottle in a hurry.

One day when Hilda had not been there very long, Margaret and her mother took the bottle out for the kid's breakfast. The sun wasn't up very high, and Hilda's little shingled house stood in the shade where it was quite cool. Hilda was shivering, and she wouldn't eat. Margaret's mother said:

"Dear me, I wonder if Hilda has the stomach-ache just as you did the other night! We'll take her in by the fire and see how she feels then."

So Mrs. Aldrich picked Hilda up and wrapped her apron about her and took her into the warm kitchen. She had Margaret sit down on the floor and hold the kid while a bed was made for her.

So Margaret sat down and put her arms tight around the little white goat, and it seemed to Margaret as if the smile was all gone and there was a pleading look in its place, as if Hilda said, "Please help me!"

Mrs. Aldrich brought in a nice, clean wood-box and put it on two chairs right by the kitchen stove. She laid an old blanket in the bottom of it. Then she and Margaret put Hilda into the box and covered her up with something warm. They even put a nice hot water bottle right in beside her, and then Margaret's mother fixed up some soda and warm water and held Hilda's mouth open and made her swallow it. Then the little kid settled down and shut her eyes and went to sleep because she was so comfortable.

Margaret and her mother had some other things to attend to, for Margaret helped with the dusting and picked up the papers every morning. Every little while, however. Margaret would keep running back to the kitchen to look at Hilda. All of a sudden she called out:

"Mother, Mother! Come quick! Hilda's on the table!"

Sure enough, Hilda's warm, snug nap had cured her of the shivers, and like all baby kids, she never lost a chance to jump up on something higher. There she was on the table looking around and smiling as if she were quite enjoying herself.

Margaret's mother exclaimed: "Why, that'll never do," and she made a quick grab and caught Hilda just before the little animal decided which way to jump.

"I think you are well enough now to go out into your own house, Miss Hilda," said Margaret's mother. "But I will take the box along, for maybe the ground floor in the bottom of the dog kennel is too damp for you."

So they took Hilda out and put her down on the ground, where she gave a funny little jump, and went frisking around as if to say, "I'm all right now and ready for my breakfast, if you please!"—Christian Guardian.

---

A proper angle of vision is quite as important as correct vision. A house does not look the same from the alley as from the avenue.—Selected.

"TIME OUT."

A Brain Worker.

Jack—"What kind of fellow is Blinks?"

Bill—"Well, he is one of those fellows who always grab the stool when there is a piano to be moved."—Oregon Lemon Punch.

Not So Bad.

A teacher asked her class the difference between "results" and "consequences." A bright girl replied, "Results are what you expect and consequences are what you get."—Argonaut.

A Demonstration.

"Do you believe in heredity?"

"I certainly do. Why, for instance, is my six-months-old son always trying to get his toes in his mouth if it isn't because of his dad's constant struggle to make both ends meet?"—Selected.

A Linguist.

Pat and Norah were sitting in the theatre before the performance began, when the girl observed the word "Asbestos" on the curtain and inquired what it meant.

"Whisht!" said Pat, "and don't be displayin' yer ignorance. Don't ye know that 'Asbestos' is the Latin word for 'Welcome'?"—Boston Transcript.

Strategy.

Little Harold—"Mother, won't you give me five cents for a poor man who is out in front crying?"

Mother—"Yes, my son, here it is; and you are a good boy to think of it. Poor man. What is he crying about?"

Little Harold—"He's crying, 'Fresh roasted peanuts. Five cents a bag.'"—Presbyterian Standard.

Absolutely Correct.

"Well," remarked the husband, after a long and heated argument on the question of man's superiority over woman, "at least there is one good, sweet, and perfect thing which a man can have and a woman can not."

"Never!" cried his wife, passionately. "Never! I deny it! What do you mean?"

"A wife," replied hubby.—Selected.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

DEATH OF REV. W. D. DOMINICK.

We record with sorrow the death of Rev. W. D. Dominick, a superannuate member of the Mississippi Conference, at the home of his daughter, in Gulfport, Miss., early on Wednesday morning, January 31. His body was sent to Oakland, Cal., where his wife is buried, for interment. He is survived by four children, three of whom live in Oakland.

Brother Dominick was born in Greensboro, Ala. He was for many years a member of the Mississippi Conference, being ordained deacon in 1877, and elder in 1879. He was a faithful minister of the gospel and served the church well in the pastorates to which he was appointed. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to his sorrowing loved ones and friends. We trust we shall have a suitabl memoir for publication in due time.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Rev. E. M. Alien, of Vancleave, Miss., writes that everything is moving along well on his charge and that the outlook is good for a great year.

Rev. Casper W. Avery, of Crawford, Miss., writes that he is serving a splendid people and that everything is moving along nicely on his charge.

Dr. Alonzo Early, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Crowley, La., is developing plans for a great work in that important charge this year.

On Sunday, January 14, the attendance at the Big Brother Class, at Greenville, Miss., was 99. Eight new members were enrolled.

Rev. J. T. Lockhart, of Itta Bena, Miss., writes that he is getting along very well with everything except "flu." We can testify from experience that the "flu" is a hard customer to handle.

Dr. W. W. Pinson, General Secretary of the Board of Missions, and Mrs. Pinson, arrived in Nashville, January 24, from the Orient. Bishop H. A. Boaz and family, and Miss Mabel K. Howell, were also in the party.

Dr. W. T. Reid, Superintendent of Ivey Hospital, Songdo, Korea, but on furlough now in this country, will help in the Centenary Campaign in Alabama and Louisiana.

Rev. G. A. Morgan, our pastor at Bastrop, La., is issuing a weekly bulletin which he calls the "Church Outlook." It is filled with matter that is of interest to the local congregation.

It is now "Colonel" Walt Holcomb! This well-known evangelist has been placed on the staff of General Julian S. Carr, Commander-in-Chief of United States' Vetersan, with the rank of Colonel.

Rev. T. H. King, of the Saucier charge, Mississippi Conference, has been appointed pastor at Logtown, to fill the vacancy caused by the ill health of Rev. E. L. Alford.

Dr. E. W. O'Neal recently assisted Rev. T. M. Bradley in a meeting at Charleston, Miss. Dr. O'Neal is a successful preacher of wide experience, and his sermons at Charleston drew large congregations.

Bishop W. A. Candler, Chairman, has called a meeting of the commission appointed at the last General Conference to prepare a constitution for the church, in Atlanta, Ga., March 1, 2.

We regret to learn that Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Evans, of Natchez, Miss., have both been sick with the "flu." We are glad to know, however, that they are on the road to recovery.

We note with sorrow the death of Mrs. Perry Roehm, a faithful member of the Carrollton Avenue Church, this city, recently. She is survived by her husband and two children, to whom the Advocate extends sincere sympathy.

Mr. Louis Blaylock, publisher of the Texas Christian Advocate, and Finance Commissioner of the city of Dallas, has been nominated as mayor of the city by the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Association.

Rev. J. A. Randolph, Sardis, Miss., was in the Methodist Hospital at Memphis, Tenn., recently for tonsilotomy. We are glad to learn that the operation was successful and he has returned to his home.

Jno. Tillery Lewis, Jr., son of the presiding elder of the Sardis District, North Mississippi Conference, had the misfortune to sprain his left knee very badly recently. He is receiving medical attention in Memphis. An operation may be necessary to repair the injury.

Brother Bryon Smith, Peoria, Miss., has been a subscriber to the Advocate for about fifty years. In renewing his subscription, he writes some kindly words concerning the paper which we appreciate very much.

Rev. E. R. Smoot, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Corinth, Miss., is preaching a series of sermons on the Ten Commandments. These sermons are creating a great deal of interest, and large congregations wait upon the ministry of Brother Smoot.

Rev. T. M. Bradley, of Charleston, Miss., is issuing a weekly church bulletin, which is full of news items of interest to the local congregation. We learn from the bulletin that Silas Buchanan is agent for the New Orleans and the Nashville Christian Advocates in the Charleston church.

A committee of six Japanese doctors will arrive in the United States early in March as guests of the Rockefeller Foundation, for the purpose of studying American an' Canadian medical institutions and methods. The Japanese have made notable contributions to the progress of scientific medicine.

We regret to learn that Rev. L. P. Wasson, of Water Valley, Miss., and most of his family have been suffering from the "flu," but we are glad to know that they are recovering. Brother Wasson is planning to begin a revival meeting on the first Sunday in June, with Rev. Burke Culpepper to do the preaching.

A report from Mr. J. L. Bond, superintendent of the Western Methodist Assembly, indicates that the work of development is going forward rapidly. Many inquiries are being received from prospective purchasers of lots, and some lots have already been sold. Everything will be in readiness for the first session of the Assembly, beginning the latter part of June this year.

Property has been bought in Belzoni, Miss., as a site for the new church, for the erection of which plans are steadily going forward. Rev. H. P. Lewis is the efficient leader of this splendid congregation. Beginning on Sunday, February 25, Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Conference Sunday School Superintendent, will spend the week at Belzoni, holding a Sunday School Institute. The "Pupil" will be the book studied.

The Editor of the Advocate feels keen personal sorrow in the recent death of Mr. Sam Stone, Sr. He was for many years an official member of the Carrollton Avenue Church in this city, and was a most devout Christian gentleman. He was the father of Mrs. W. W. Holmes, wife of the pastor of our Noel Memorial Church, Shreveport, La. We extend sincere sympathy to the family of our deceased brother.

We announce with sorrow the death of Hon. W. J. Johnson at his home in Plain Dealing, La., on February 2. For a number of years Brother Johnson represented Bossier Parish in the State Legislature, and for many years he was an efficient steward of the Methodist Church. We extend sincere sympathy to his sorrowing loved ones and friends.

Rev. G. W. McLain, who has many friends in the two Mississippi Conferences, is now pastor of the Oaklawn Methodist Church, Hot Springs, Ark., having been appointed to that work by Bishop Atkins at the first of the year. This is a very promising field, and Brother McLain has entered upon his work very hopefully. The building of a new parsonage and a great ingathering of souls are his aims for the year.

The Journal of the 19th General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, held in Hot Springs, Ark., May 3-22, 1922, is just from the press. It is a complete record of the proceedings of that body and it should be in the hands of all those who desire to keep fully informed as to the work of the church. The price is one dollar a copy, and it may be had of the Publishing House at Nashville, or any of its branches.

Bishop W. N. Ainsworth will assist in the special Centenary campaign in the Mississippi Conference, joining Team No. 3 at Natchez, where he will speak on the evening of February 20. He will then join Team No. 2, speaking at Columbia on Wednesday evening, February 21. From Columbia, he will rejoin Team No. 3, and speak at Centenary, McComb, on Thursday evening, February 22. There is a treat in store for those who are fortunate enough to hear from Bishop Ainsworth the great message of the Centenary.

Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, of New Augusta, Miss., writes: "The work on this charge moves auspiciously in every way. Our parishioners have been thoughtful of our needs. They have already placed a lot of nice things in the parsonage for our comfort, with more to follow from the other churches on the charge. The pantry has not been overlooked by them. Plans are being made to remodel the parsonage in the future. The sunlight of God's love is shining brightly in our services. Everything looks promising for a gracious year's work."

The Centenary set-up meeting for the Meridian District was held at Centenary Church, Meridian, on Thursday, February 1. Rev. P. D. Hardin, presiding elder of the district, presided. After fully discussing the matters involved, it was unanimously decided that the second Sunday in April be designated as Centenary Sunday in the Meridian District. On that day every pulpit in the district will be filled by the pastor or a layman, who will speak on the Centenary pledge, and teams will spend Sunday afternoon and as much of the following week as may be necessary, for the collection of the pledges. In the meantime, the Centenary treasurers will collect as much as possible, the pastor and lay leaders assisting.

---

Rev. E. V. Duplantis requests us to say that his address is now St. Landry, La., instead of Ville Platte, as formerly.

---

Rev. W. W. Holmes has received fifty new members into the Noel Memorial Methodist Church, Shrevport, La., since Conference.

---

The Methodist Sunday school at Hazlehurst, Miss., is now enjoying the greatest prosperity in its history. Rev. W. H. Saunders is the pastor.

---

Announcement has been made that Mr. W. M. Cassetty has been elected treasurer of the Board of Mission, to succeed the lamented J. D. Hamilton.

---

Mrs. John A. Ellis, of Amite, La., in renewing her subscription to the Advocate, says: "For (I think) seventy years this paper has been my loved friend, and so I do love it."

---

Dr. Claude M. Simpson, who has many friends in Mississippi, is pastor of the great First Methodist Church of Wichita Falls, Tex. This church has a membership of 1,700, and the number is constantly growing.

---

Plans have been accepted for a new Methodist church at Franklinton, La., and the work will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. Rev. L. W. Cain is the popular and efficient pastor of that fine congregation.

---

Hon. Parham Williams, of Lexington, Miss., who died suddenly a short time ago, was a prominent layman of the North Mississippi Conference, active in all good works. He was a member of the State Legislature, and his death is a great loss to the State.

---

We regret to learn of a painful accident that befell Captain F. A. Howell, of Durant, Miss., recently. His knees and feet were badly bruised by some heavy iron pipe which fell off a wagon. He was confined to his home for several days, but we are glad to learn that his condition is steadily improving.

---

A great meeting was recently conducted at the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., in which the pastor, Dr. Henry Felgar Brooks, was assisted by Dr. H. C. Morrison, of Wilmore, Ky. In spite of unusually inclement weather, great congregations attended the services and much interest was manifested.

---

Dr. F. N. Parker, dean of the Candler School of Theology, Emory Unversity, paid the Advocate office an appreciated call on Saturday of last week. He was passing through the ety en route to Bogalusa, La., where he was going to preach the opening sermon in the manificent new church just completed at that place.

---

We learn with sorrow of the death of Mr. Frank Vaughan, brother of Rev. R. W. Vaughan and Chaplain A. F. Vaughan, both of the Louisiana Conference, who passed away after a lingering illness and was buried at Morgan City, La., on February 6. He is survived by his wife and three children. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to his sorrowing loved ones and friends.

---

Colonel R. B. McGehee, who was elected district lay leader for the Seashore District, Mississippi Conference, has found that he cannot serve, and Mr. W. E. Barnes, of Columbia, has been apponted to take his place, with Mr. A. M. Hinton, of Lumberton, and Mr. Horace Hinds of Pascagoula, as his associates. We make this announcement by authority of Rev. W. M. Sullivan, presiding elder of the Seashore District.

The largest single Bible order ever placed by any organization in the Unitel States, perhaps in the world, has just been given by the American Bible Society to a firm in New York City. 1,500,000 volumes of Scripture portions, consisting of the gospels of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John, the Book of Acts, and the Book of Proverbs in English and Spanish constitute this order. These little books are to be u orm in size, 64 pages each, with a separate l vy cover, and will be sold throughout the Ur d States and South America for one cent each. his is the first time since the war period that the Society has been able to produce these volumes at this price. Before the first deliveries had been made, advance orders to the number of 800,000 had been received.

---

We greatly enjoyed a call from Brother Ben F. Rogers, lately of Greriville, Miss., several days ago. Brother Rogers has recently entered the ministry, and he was passing through New Orleans en route to Gainesville, Fla., where he will serve as assistant pastor of the First Methodist Church, and as student pastor of the University of Florida. The Greenville Daily Democrat says: "Mr. Rogers is fitted in every respect for the work which he is to undertake, being a man of high character, a good speaker, a good singer and song leader, ambitious and energetic, and a fine layman. He has served his church and Bible class in such way that his place will be mighty hard to fill, and it is with sincere regret that the Methodist congregation he and the public with whom he has become a nted, lose him, wishing him, howevr, Godsp his new home and new undertaking."

---

THA KS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. H. J. Boltz, Simsboro, La., 2; D. W. Heidelberg, Shubuta, Miss., 2; Rev. G. G. Yeager, Rose Hill, Miss., 4; Rev. J. L. Cady, Baker, La., 2; Rev. J. T. Gullett, Booneville, Miss., 5; A. Hoffpauir, Hughes Spur, La., 2; Rev. E. M. Allen, Vancleave, Miss., 2; Rev. L. P. Wasson, Water Valley, Miss., 3; Rev. C. W. Avery, Crawford, Miss., 2; Rev. W. M. Campbell, West Point, Miss. (from Fulton, Miss.). 6; Rev. J. T. Lockhart, Itta Bena, Miss., 2; Mrs. D. D. Gibson, Newton, Miss., 2; Rev. H. S. Westbrook, New Augusta, Miss., 5; Rev. D. H. Crowson, Vardaman, Miss., 2; Rev. W. N. Duncan, Drew, Miss., 3; Rev. J. J. Garner, Baldwyn, La., 4; Miss Eunice E. Eldridge, Bastrop, La., 4; Rev. W. H. Lane, Lauderdale, Miss., 3.

---

EDUCATIONAL NOTES—LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

The modern world is profoundly interested in education of every sort. It spends time, thought and money on education more than any preceding age has done. The literature dealing with general education, technical education, theological education, moral and religious education, is abundant. But the outstanding need of the hour is for education that is thoroughly Christian.

General education is spreading with unparalleled rapidity. Great foundations are being established for the promotion of higher education in many forms. The modern educational movement is by no means, in all respect, a highly ethical and spiritual movement. Much of it is prompted with the spirit of materialism. There is, therefore, very great need in this day and time for emphasis upon the Christian ideals in education.

John Harvard was a young preacher who came to America from England in 1607. He lived but one year in the Western world and died at the age of thirty. When he died he gave away his library and half of his other property and thus become the founder of the first Christian college in America. He has im nortalized himself through the great Universit at bears his name. Diplomats, statesmen, sc sts, men of letters, preachers, missionaries distinguished men galore are ready to call h blessed and honor him for his contribution, whic will be cumulative through the ages.

Preachers are the God-ordained evangels for the Christian Education Movement. Their commission came direct from Christ as recorded by Matthew: "Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Success in putting over the educational program of the church will depend upon their efforts.

The second payment on the educational pledges is due now. We need to learn a lesson from the Centenary of Missions—never to get behind, but keep up-to-date. Our colleges—Mansfield and Centenary—are doing a very fine piece of work for the church and State and it becomes us as loyal contributors to back them up with the payment of our pledges. Do it now!

Shreveport, La. ALBERT S. LUTZ,
Conference Sec'y of Education.

---

TO THE PREACHERS OF THE ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.

Brethren: The very serious crisis that is before our church in carrying out our Centenary program is known to all. Missionary leaders tell us that we are far behind in making our payments. Unless we can collect at least four million dollars by May 1, we will say to our Board that we do not expect it to carry out the plans that we authorized it to project. The church at large is putting forth a great effort to secure collections on pledges past due. Sunday, April 8, and the following week is the time set to secure these collections in our district. The plan given below is suggested for use in securing collections on these pledges. If you have a plan better adapted to your charge, I trust that you will use it:

1. Put minute men on at each service.
2. Enlist the people in a renewal of intercessory prayer for the Centenary Movement.
3. Organize your forces:

a. Pastor, Lay Leader, Centenary Treasurer, Sunday School Superintendent, Chairman of Board of Stewards, President of Missionary Society to constitute advisory cabinet.

b. Organize in each church a collecting committee. Make this committee permanent through the remainder of the Centenary period.

c. Secure from Centenary Treasurer a full list of subscribers now in arrears. Assign them to the different members of the collection committee, to be seen on the above designated date.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

---

MERIDIAN DISTRICT PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Meridian District Preachers' Institute met at Central Church, Meridian, Thursday afternoon, Feb. 17, and closed at noon Friday. There were three sessions—afternoon, evening, and morning. It proved to be a blessed time of fellowship, heart-searching, and inspiration. Some of the outstanding features were as follows:

All the pastors in the district were present at least a part of the time; and there was a free and frank discussion of all matters that came before us. Practically all the problems that concern a pastor in any relationship were very thoroughly and helpfully discussed.

Two of the permanent results of the meeting were the organization of a "prayer league," composed of all pastors in the district, pledging daily prayers for all and special intercession as requested; and the organization of the District Pastor's Association, with the end in view of conserving and following up the work and program of the Institute. At least two meetings of the Association will be hold during the year. Brother J. D. Ellis, the efficient secretary of the Institute, was elected secretary of the Association.

The Institute closed with a conseeration service, conducted by Rev. P. D. Hardin, presiding elder.

W. A. HAYS, District Reporter.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

MISS MOLLIE ALLEN died at her home in Franklin, La., Sunday evening, January 20. She suffered a great deal the last few years from an injury caused by a fall, from which she never recovered. Though she was seriously ill for the last few months of her life, she was cheerful, and no one thought she would be summoned into the great beyond so soon. Miss Mollie loved her church, which she served in many different ways as long as she was able to do so. She was postmistress of Franklin for eight years, and filled this responsible position with marked ability. Deceased was also a charter member of the Allen Chapter of the Eastern Star Lodge. She is survived by her aged father, Captain Robert W. Allen, of Franklin; Mrs. W. T. Peterman, of Baton Rouge; Mrs. S. A. Johnson and Mrs. J. S. Underwood, of Franklin, and one brother, Robert W. Allen, Jr., of New Orleans. Funeral services were conducted at our church on Monday afternoon, January 21, and though the weather was inclement, the church was packed, and many remained on the outside.

LEE R. SPARKS.

In memory of E. C. TRAVIS, who departed this life on December 11, 1922, at the age of 16 years, 3 months and 11 days. He leaves a dear mother, Mrs. E. C. Travis, six brothers, and two sisters—Mrs. Nancy Steward, and Mrs. Bessie Bates—and many relatives and friends to mourn their loss. He was laid to rest in the family cemetery near his home, to await the resurrection morning, the funeral services being conducted by Robt. C. Williams, of Liverpool. E. C. was a boy of noble character, was lively wherever he went, and had lots of good friends and schoolmates. Oh, how sad it was for us to give him up! Oh, how the sad hearts of his mother, brothers, and sisters throb when they think of their home, robbed by death! Oh, how we miss him wherever we go! It is sad to say, but we shall never see his smiling face on earth again, but we shall see him some sweet day at the golden gates of heaven. E. C. is not dead, but sleeping, and we thank God that it is possible for us to meet him in the hereafter.

Dear cousin, we miss you wherever we go,
But we know you're waiting for us
On the bright and golden shore.
May we all prepare to meet you
Beside the Pearly Gate.
You left us sad and lonely,
Our grief is hard to bear,
But some sweet day we shall meet you over there.

A cousin,
OUIDA PHILLIPS.

MRS. E. J. DAVIS, widow of the late W. S. Davis, of Waynesboro, Miss., died at the home of her son, John P. Davis, of Waynesboro, Miss., on the night of January 13, 1923. Mrs. Davis had almost reached the 88th mile on the way. A long and useful life it was. All these years, she had lived very close to God, and was glad to be called His child. She counted her friends by the score, and every one loved and honored her for her devout Christian friendship. She was a holy woman, and to be in her presence was to feel that you were standing on holy ground. She was almost a lifelong member of the Methodist Church, joining at the tender age of 14. She loved the church very dearly, and when it was possible, she was found in her place at every service. She loved her pastors with a love that was almost sacred, and never had a poor one. She never spoke unkindly of her pastor, or any one else, but always looked for the silver lining in every life. She died as she had lived, holding on to God by faith, with her face very close up to the face of Jesus. She leaves four sons and one daughter, all of whom are Christians and members of the Methodist Church, the daughter being the wife of the Rev. C. C. Evans, of the Mississippi Conference. * * *

MARRIED.

On Dec. 16, 1922, at the home of Dr. B. T. Robinson, in New Augusta, Miss., by Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, MR. MEEKS WATKINS to MISS ANNIE L. DASSETT, both of New Augusta, Miss.

On Dec. 17, 1922, at the New Augusta parsonage, by Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, MR. C. H. HARRELSON to MISS HATTIE SLADE, both of Richton, Miss.

On Dec. 24, 1922, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bell, in Wingate, Miss., by Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, MR. CLYMER DUNKLEY to MISS SUSIE C. BELL, both of Wingate, Miss.

On Jan. 6, 1923, at the New Augusta parsonage, by Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, MR. LENARD SMITH to MISS EVA LEE WALLEY, both of Richton, Miss.

On Sept. 2, 1922, at the Seminary parsonage, by Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, MR. H. E. COOK to MISS IRMA EASTERLING, both of Seminary, Miss.

REVIVAL AT BELZONI, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: The Lord has blessed us with a great revival here. We had not been here two weeks when our officials told us that our greatest and most immediate need was a revival. So we made plans at once, secured the services of Brother John W. Robertson, our Conference missionary evangelist for this and the other Delta districts, and on Jan. 31 began our meeting.

Some preparation had been made in prayer circles, and from the start the presence and power of God were manifest. The Lord mightily used Brother Robertson in stirring up the people.

As results, I received into the church last Sunday 26 on profession and five by letter. Also the other churches in town received applicants for membership. Our building enterprises have gotten under way, new property has been purchased for church and parsonage, over $20,000 has been collected and subscribed towards a new church building. A Flying Squadron of over 50 men was organized, and they meet every Wednesday at the noon hour in weekly prayer service.

Brother Robertson is peculiarly fitted for the work assigned him. He won the hearts and ears of every one who heard him, and he is in great demand for another meeting here as soon as he can give us the time.

Belzoni has had a great revival.

Yours in Christ,
H. P. LEWIS, P. C.

A BARGAIN IN BOOKS.

Dear Brother Carley: I have in my shelves the following sets of books I would like to dispose of, and will give some young preacher or preachers a bargain in them:

1 set, 49 volumes, Pulpit Commentary.

1 set, 7 volumes, Treasury of David (Spurgeon).

1 set, 5 volumes, Biblical Encyclopedia.

1 set, 40 volumes, Imperial Encyclopedia.

Will greatly appreciate it if you will mention this in the Advocate, and I will be glad to answer any correspondence regarding same.

Ocean Springs charge is doing very well. I have recently had "flu," but am up again. Thanking you in advance, and wishing you every blessing, I am your brother,

J. H. GRICE.

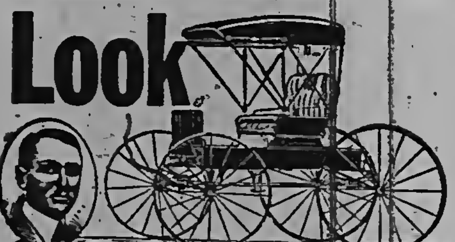
These processes of Nature when thou sowest grain, are only shadows and shells of the processes of God, when thou sowest good. . . All that we see is pattern of what shall be in the Mount.

—Robert Collyer.

WATCH THE ADDRESS LABEL ON YOUR PAPER AND RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION WHEN IT FALLS DUE.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS
A FINE GENERAL TONIC

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Is an Excellent Tonic for Women and Children. 60c



Look
What's Happened
Want a new buggy? Send your name, I want to show you something. I've got the world beat in buggy bargains. Best offer in 30 years.
BOHON WORLD LEADER
Makes Greatest Offer
No risk. Save one half. 60 Days' Road Trial. Unlimited Guarantee backed by a $30,000.00 Bond. Direct from oldest and biggest Direct-Selling-Maker in the world. I want your name now. Big Free Catalog. Every known style.
The D. T. Bohon Company
50 Main St. Harrodsburg, Ky.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS
Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction
Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

STOP ITCHING
Skins with Tetterine
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

For Troubled Nerves,
high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

BROTHER CAMPBELL WRITES OF FULTON, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: I am just back from Fulton, where I've been in ten days' meeting. It rained and rained, but in spite of that we had some good results.

Fulton is a coming town, right on the Bankhead Highway and twenty miles from Tupelo. The county has no railroad; but I understand one is to go through there soon. It is the county seat of Itawamba County, one of the most thickly settled counties, I guess, in the State. There are more fine boys and girls than I've ever seen anywhere.

One of the best Agricultural High Schools you will find anywhere is there. The work they are doing cannot be beat. The teachers are of the very best, and all Christian men and women, about equally divided as to church affiliation. The students are manly young men, and no college can boast of a higher grade of young women. I can say the same for the new city school, just recently finished.

Our church there is on the move upward. They are going to do things. The ladies now are beginning to raise money to put six Sunday school rooms to the church and overhaul it generally. The men have determined to put the work on a good system.

We organized a Flying Squadron, and we have a Millsaps boy as leader of it, Mr. Lansford; and H. L. Gillespie, superintendent of education, is the leader of quartet, etc. I must say right here, too, that it has never been my pleasure to meet a finer se[illegible] of officers than they have in the courthouse there. In fact, it is a town of splendid folks, with two thriving churches and a handsome Methodist parsonage—one of the best. The preacher who goes there will be pleased. I am glad Brother Dorsey sent me to Fulton.

WALTER M. CAMPBELL.

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE
AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

USEFULNESS OF BLACK-DRAUGHT

Louisiana Lady Tells How This Well-Known Liver Medicine Helped Her Obtain Relief.

Baton Rouge, La.—"After having used many laxatives, I chanced to hear of Black-Draught, and decided to use it as a liver tonic," says Mrs. E. B. Odom, of 838 South Boulevard, this city.

"Black-Draught acted on my liver, cleansed my system, and I was in much better condition after having used it," says Mrs. Odom.

"Black-Draught relieves the swimming, or lightness, in the head.

"It relieves the heavy feeling after meals, which indicated to me it was good for indigestion.

"So I keep Black-Draught in the house and use it for colds, headache, sour stomach and torpid liver. I have told my friends, and they use it also.

"My present health is improved wonderfully."

Thousands of people have learned of the value of Black-Draught from personal experience, and have chosen it as their favorite powdered liver medicine. It is purely vegetable; not disagreeable to take; causes no bad after-effects.

When you get up in the morning with a bad taste in your mouth, stomach not right, bilious, or have a headache, try a dose of Black-Draught. Keep a package in your home, ready for immediate use when needed.

Ask your druggist for Black-Draught liver medicine. See that the package label bears the name, "Thedbord's."—Adv.

VICKSBURG DISTRICT PREACHERS' INSTITUTE.

The Preachers' Institute of the Vicksburg District met in the Crawford Street Church, Vicksburg, Miss., on Jan. 31, at 2 o'clock. The following preachers were present: J. R. Jones, W. H. Huntley, R. Selby, [illegible] B. Cottrell, H. G. Hawkins, Rolf[illegible], C. F. Emery, C. A. Shultz, M[illegible]ller, A. J. Beasley, C. Y. Higgin[illegible] E. D. Simpson, J. H. Sharp, B. [illegible]nt, M. L. McCormick, V. G. Cliffor[illegible] The few absentees were kept away by sickness or sickness in their homes.

The Institute had two full sessoins devoted exclusively to the discussion of the carefully prepared program of our presiding elder. Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning were spent most profitably in the heart-to-heart talk. The counsel of the older brethren was especially appreciated. The subjects discussed were: "Personal Religious Life of the Preacher Himself"; "The Preacher and His Intellectual Life"; "The Preacher's Relation to Official Members"; "The Pastor's Relation to Children"; "The Pastor's Relation to the Work of the Women"; "Pastoral Visiting"; "Preparation, Conduct, and Conservation of Revival Campaigns"; "Circulating Christian Literature"; "Things That Hurt"; "Some District Goals."

The Wednesday evening hour was spent with the Vicksburg congregations in their usual prayer meeting services. Good services were held in both churches. Rev. C. A. Shultz and Dr. Rolfe Hunt conducted the services.

The resolution of appreciation moved by Rev. C. F. Emery was adopted. It was more than a formal expression of thanks, for every preacher was unusually appreciative of the presiding elder's efforts in preparing for the institute, and of the co-operation of Vicksburg pastors and their people in providing entertainment.

The Institute closed with a consecration service, and the Vicksburg District preachers went from their knees to return to their charges. The Institute committed itself to carry out the report of the Committee on Findings at the Conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, and you [illegible]y look for the greatest year the V[illegible]sburg District has ever had. B[illegible]r Clifford spoke of the Institute [illegible] a fitting climax to the Conferen[illegible] at Jackson. Dr. Huntley declared the [illegible]nstitute the best he had ever attended. Every one was glad to be there.

B. M. HUNT, Secretary.

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

(in part.)

Alexandria, Feb. 25, a.m., Mar. 5, p.m.
Pineville, Feb. 25, p.m., Feb. 27, p.m.
Elizabeth Ct., at Oberlin, Mar. 4.
Melder Ct., at Campground, Mar. 11, a.m.
Cheneyville, Mar. 11, p.m.
Marksville Ct., at Marksville, Mar. 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, Mar. 25.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, Mar. 31, Apr. 1, p.m.
Natchitoches, Apr. 1, a.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, Apr. 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, Apr. 15.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—Second Round.

Cedar Grove (preaching), Sun., Feb. 18, a.m.
Texas Avenue (preaching), Sun., Feb. 18, p.m.
Bossier City (preaching), Sun., Feb. 25 a.m.
Mangum Memorial (preaching) Sun., Feb. 25, p.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Lake End, and Powhatan, Sun., Mar. 4, a.m. and p.m.
Bossier City (Conference), Wed., Mar. 7, p.m.
Oil City, Sun., Mar. 11 a.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Trees, Sun., Mar. 11, p.m.
Noel Memorial (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, a.m.
First Church (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, p.m.
Mansfield Station and Mission. Sun., Mar. 25, a.m. and p.m.
Mangum Memorial (Conference), Wed., Mar. 28, p.m.
Belcher at Gilliam. Sun., Apr. 1, a.m.; Cnference, Mon., 9 a.m.
Ida at Hosston, Sun., Apl. 1; Conference, 3 p.m.; preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Texas Avenue (Conference), Wed., Apl. 4, p.m.
Pelican at Mitchell, Sun., Apl. 8.
Vivian, Sun., Apl. 15, a.m.
Mooringsport, Sun., Apl. 15, p.m.
DISTRICT CONFERENCE AT MANSFIELD, APRIL 17-19.
Grand Cane at Grand Cane, Sun., Apl. 22, a.m.
Logansport, Sun., Apl. 22, p.m.
Noel Memorial (Conference), Wed., Apl. 25, p.m.
Pleasant Hill, at Beulah Sun., Apl. 29.
First Church (Conference), Wed., May 2, p.m.
Longstreet, at Keatchie, Sun., May 6, a.m.
Greenwood, Sun., May 6, p.m.
Bayou La Chute, at Elm Grove, Sun., May 13.
Plain Dealing, at Benton, Sun., May 20.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

Harmless, purely vegetable, Infants' and Children's Regulator, formula on every label. Guaranteed non-narcotic, non-alcoholic.
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Children grow healthy and free from colic, diarrhoea, flatulency, constipation and other trouble if given it at teething time.
Safe, pleasant—always brings remarkable and gratifying results.
At All Druggists

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

WHEELER
Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

Child's tongue shows if bilious, constipated

MOTHER, CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love Its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

Hurry mother! A teaspooonful of "California Fig Syrup" today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If your child is constipated, bilious, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good liver and bowel action is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup." It never cramps or overacts. Full directions for babies and children of all ages are printed on each bottle. Say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Sunday School

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

The Columbus District Standard Training School for training in leadership will be held at Starkville March 26-31. The following compose the Board of Managers: Mr. Whitman Davis, Mrs. C. B. Buntin, Mrs. J. W. Eckford, Rev. W. W. Woollard, Rev. E. S. Lewis, Rev. S. H. Caffey, and Rev. Olin Ray. Rev. A. T. McIlwain is Educatinal Director. Four courses will be offered, Bible, the School, Principles of Religious Teaching, and a specialization course. The faculty is as strong as we can possibly secure. Their names will be given next week. If any pastor, superintendent, or teacher should read this notice, and would like to lend a helping hand, please send me the names of those you would like to attend this school that I may get in touch with them.

Orders have been going in for the literature on Evangelism. It is late, but not too late to begin. Did you ever know of souls finding Christ unless some one was interested in them? Let us be faithful to the children and young people under our care. Let us learn to tell them the story of his love and redeeming grace.

The list of schools that subscribed to the Centenary fund is before me. The figures speak for us. I wonder if they really tell God how much we love him. I believe we have not given the proper supervision. Our leadership is lacking in courage and information. During the next few months let us change these figures, let us give this matter proper attention. In the Aberdeen District, 27 schools promised $5,571; 7 paid nothing, the other schools have paid $2,435.76. In the Columbus District, 24 schools promised $5,698; 3 paid nothing, the others have paid $2,648.51. In the Corinth District, 38 schools promised $6,406; 19 paid nothing, the others have paid $1,682.11. In the Grenada District, 31 schools promised $4,751; 8 paid nothing, the others have paid $3,116.68. In the Greenville District, 20 schools promised $4.810; 4 paid nothing, the others have paid $2,296.05. In the Greenwood District, 20 schools promised $4,938; 4 paid nothing, the others have paid $1,755.78. In the Sardis District, 30 schools promised $4,489; 9 paid nothing, the others have paid $1,220.50.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

The first Sunday in February was spent on the Bayou Pierre circuit. The snow and sleet kept us from having a service. The circuit institute was postponed till the first of April. The parsonage here is being moved to Center Point. This will be a nice location for the preacher, and enable him to give more service.

We have been teaching a class in Organization and Administration here at Richton this week. We have a fine class. Ths is a great circuit, in the heart of the lumber industry. Brother O'Bryant is giving himself to the work. There is great hope for this work.

The Centenary forces are at work to collect in full. The Sunday schools owe it to the children to help them meet their pledges.

The following schools have overpaid their pledges for the five-year period: Capitol Street, Jackson; Florence; Mendenhall; Poplar Springs; Kingston; Conway; Montrose; Moss Point; Wesley House; Fayette; Port Gibson.

The following schools have paid up to date: McComb, Centenary; Fernwood; Court Street, Hattiesburg; Petal; Purvis; Bolton; Flora; State Line; Shubuta; Philadelphia; Columbia; Zion (on Escatawpa charge); Carlisle.

All the rest of the schools are behind. The whole Conference Sunday school pledge is two years behind. It is not impossible for us to pay out this year. Many of the schools have made no payment at all. These can pay something and help put the Conference over as a whole.

Nothing could do your school more good than for it to take a special. A most attractive list will be published soon. Try to get your school interested in a special.

If you have not ordered the literature for Evangelism, do so and get it into the hands of your workers and let them get a heart-vision of the greatest of all work—the saving of all the people.

Pray for the work. Pray for the workers. Pray for a revival. Pray for the hunger for souls to possess you.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

By Rev. C. D. Atkinson.

Charts of the "Program of Work" have been placed in the following Sunday schools:

Alexandria District, Elizabeth; Baton Rouge District, Amite, Kentwood, First Church, B. R.; Lake Charles District, Broad Street; Monroe District, Gilbert; Ruston District, Elmore circuit.

Special effort will be made by the Conference workers to place and interpret one of these charts in each Sunday school in the State. There will be one or more Sunday school workers in each district approved by the Central Office to help the Conference workers to place these charts.

Rev. Clem Baker, Conference Sunday School Superintendent in the Little Rock Conference, will attend our Bible Class Federation at Alexandria and will address the membership of the entire Federation on the subject of promoting the Program of Work.

The Executive Committe of our Sunday School Board met in New Orleans recently. The members of the committee present were: Mr. W. S. Holmes, Mr. A. M. Mayo, Rev. Alonzo Early, Rev. O. W. Bradley. Among the many things they did was to approve and adopt the Ruston District Training School as our Conference-Wide Standard Training School for 1923. Others present at the meeting were: Rev. C. D. Atkinson, Conference Superintendent of Sunday School Work; and Miss Caroline Hess, Elementary Superintendent.

TO STRENGTHEN HOLINESS.

A holy act strengthens the inward holiness. It is a seed of life growing into more life. . . You reap what you sow—not something else, but that. An act of love makes the soul more loving. A deed of humbleness deepens humbleness. The thing reaped is the very thing sown, multiplied a hundred fold. You have sown the seed of life, you reap life everlasting.

—F. W. Robertson.

IN ANSWERING ADVERTISEMENTS, PLEASE MENTION THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

Through the co-operation of the Department of Religious Education of Millsaps College and the General Sunday School Board, there will be a Sunday School Institute at Yazoo City, Miss., February 23-24, beginning at 9 a. m., Feb. 23. This is being held for the pastors and Sunday school workers of Yazoo County and adjacent territory. Pray for this meeting and for the workers.

C. A. BOWEN,
Chairman Religious Education.

Ye Would Not: O that thou hadst hearkened to my commandments! then had thy peace been as a river, and thy righteousness as the waves of the sea.—Isaiah 48:18.

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

·Everything to Fit the Stout Figure
Evening Gowns, Semi-Evening and Dinner Gowns, Street Dresses, Afternoon Dresses.
Wraps, Underwear, Hosiery, Corsets, Neckwear, and Accessories.
STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.
New Store 424-426 S. Rampart St.
Canal and Chartres St.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 1132
Old Stoves Taken In on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty
3921 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

COMET'S ORANGE DRINK
Something New for New Orleans.
Pure Orange Juice Served Daily. Take Home a [illegible]
Pints 15c. Quarts 30c.
Special Rates on All Social Affairs.
938 CANAL STREET.
Phone, Main 6953

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.
Owing to the ever-increasing patronage of the Stylish Stout Shop, Inc., the management has opened a new store at 601 Canal, corner of Chartres, where everything can be had to meet the requirements of the Stout Figure. The new spring styles are now on display, and courteous and pleasing sales people will be pleased to show them, whether or not you are ready to buy.—Adv.

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
LADIES' AND GENTS' WORK OF ALL KINDS
Calls Made Daily. High Class Work at Pre-war prices. Promptness, Courtesy, Honesty.
4105 MAGAZINE STREET
Uptown 4831

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

We Know How—Quick Service.
We Call for and Deliver. Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.
AUTO SERVICE.
CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER
103 NORTH DELTA ST.
OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

HEMSTITCHING
Embroidering, Buttons Covered, Scalloping, etc.
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS
100 BOURBON STREET. Main 734.

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls, Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2364

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

United Style Shop
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences.—Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES B. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

As to What to Wear,
How It Fits or Becomes You. You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS. GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.
If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162,
830 CANAL STREET.

Free Catalog
Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS
Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED
Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square, SEDALIA, MO.

TETTERINE
Makes Low Necks and Short Sleeves Possible. It Clears the Skin.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals; School Books.

Doctor Discovers
New Rupture Remedy
Akron, Ohio.—A prominent Ohio physician has discovered a wonderful new method, which is completely revolutionizing the treatment of rupture. This remedy is totally different from any other—no operation—no cutting, and nothing to "rub on." Anyone can use it without pain or danger and without losing an hour from work. Relief is felt almost immediately and recovery is usually so rapid as to seem miraculous. Anyone who is ruptured may obtain full information regarding this remarkable discovery, by writing E. H. Scott, Hernia Specialist, Suite 525 M. Scott Bldg., Akron, Ohio, who will send interesting booklet in plain sealed wrapper.—Adv.

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference.......Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The following letter from Mr. W. D. Hawkins will be of interest not only to the Leaguers of the Mississippi Conference, but also to all of Southern Methodism:

"It was my great pleasure to be with James Smith, President of the Meridian City Epworth League Union, to attend the Annual Presidents' meeting in Nashville Jan. 10, 11 and 12.

"This meeting was composed of presidents of Epworth League Conferences, presidents of Epworth League Boards, Conference Junior and Intermediate Superintendents, and City Union presidets.

"The meeting opened on the night of Jan. 10 with a banquet at the Grotto. Besides the delegates to the meeting, there were present members of the Central Office staff and General Epworth League Board. Bishop H. M. DuBose was master of ceremonies. Speeches were made by the various members of the General Board and the Central Office. It was a very enjoyable occasion.

"Throughout the 11th and 12th, the various departments of the League work were discussed, and all of this proved very helpful.

"Meridian renewed her invitation that was extended a year ago in Memphis for the meeting for 1924; although Washington, St. Louis, and Hot Springs asked for it, Meridian won on the first ballot, therefore Mississippi is to have her first churchwide meeting within her boundaries next January."

The second Assembly, Mississippi Conference Epworth League, will be held at Whitworth College, Brookhaven, Miss., June 4 to 10, 1923, beginning Monday night, June 4, and closing Sunday night, June 10.

The theme for the Assembly this year is, "Let Christ in," and the program is being arranged under the supervision of Rev. J. Loyd Decell, dean of the Assembly. Dr. F. S. Parker will be the representative from the Central Office, and Bishop DuBose will be with us for thre or four days. Other out-of-Conference speakers will be announced later.

Rates for board and lodging will be six dollars for the entire Assembly, for the six days, and, as last year, sheets, towels, pillows, etc., will have to be brought by each delegate.

Let us urge every chapter to begin now to arrange to have a representative for the Assembly. If you expect your League to be efficient, it will be necessary to train your leaders, and the Assembly is the best place to get them trained.

Our aim is to have this year 250 present, with the best program and the best Assembly ever.

Mr. Hawkins gives us here some very interesting facts which we are sure you will be glad to get. He says:

"The growth of the Epworth League for the year 1922 far surpassed all its previous history. In fact, the increase in chapters and members for 1922 was just a little less than the four years preceding. According to reports made by our pastors at Annual Conference at Crystal Springs, there was a net gain of forty-two chapters. In other words, we grew from 139 to 181 chapters, which were reported at Crystal Springs Conference, and there have been several new chapters organized since that time."

This looks fine and we feel proud of our organization. Our district secretaries have worked as never before, and the greater part of this fine showing is due to their determination to push forward. Our president, too, has let no opportunity pass to further our cause. And the entire membership of the League has been more eager to work and do things than ever before. Consequently, we have grown faster than any other department of the church. But we must not rest on our laurels, for there is much yet to be done.

Check up on your plan of work and standard of efficiency and see if you have done so far all that you started out to do. If you have failed in any point, find out why and begin to remedy the cause. Come to Brookhaven after a Gold Seal. They are harder to get than they used to be, but hard work means success.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

By Rev. W. H. Saunders.

Dear Dr. Carley: Your article on the front page of last week's Advocate on "Good Citizenship," provokes me to say that I have planned to visit every school, as far as possible, in Copiah County during this year, and speak on that most important subject. I have also spoken to some of our leading men in the town of Hazlehurst, and they are perfectly willing to give some time to this matter. Every teacher to whom I have spoken is more than willing to open the way for us to have the chance to speak to the young people. It is time we get to work to build our young people up in the faith of good citizenship, and teach the duty and the privilege and necessity of keeping the laws of our country.

This must be done now and made effective, as we know the whiskey forces of the world are combined to break down the Eighteenth Amendment, and bring it into as much disrepute as possible and wipe it from the Constitution. Prohibition a success in the United States, means prohibition in all the civilizations of the world in the near future, and this makes it doubly needful that we put forth a call to the people in the United States who believe in soberness, righteousness, prosperity, good homes and happy children, strong men and women, and a stable Christian civilization.

The failure of prohibition would bring back over the land the darkest cloud that ever brooded over the life of any nation, and be a stab at the heart of the greatest democracy and the highest type of civilization the world has ever seen. Of course, I am not thinking that failure is possible, but it is time that we rally every force and bring to bear all the power to make as complete a success as we want it to be. Our people must vote right, serve on juries, fill all the high places of a good citizen, and fulfill their high calling in the interest of the best for our homes and country. See that none but the right kind of men hold offices, and serve as officers of the interest of humanity. Let our laymen, lay leaders, school teachers, preachers, Flying Squadrons, and every agency be on the job, and in a few years we will have a constituency that will stand by the law.

(Continued on Last Page.)

Aspirin
Say "Bayer" and Insist!
Genuine BAYER
Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for
Colds Headache
Toothache Lumbago
Earache Rheumatism
Neuralgia Pain, Pain
Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

Rheumatic Pains Aches
are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also. 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to
Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The Mississippi Woman's Missionary Conference will convene in Laurel First Church, Laurel, Miss., March 5th through 8th. The meeting will open Monday evening at 7:30 and close Thursday afternoon.

Names of delegates are to be sent to Mrs. J. H. Hill, Laurel, Miss.

MABEL L. PORTER,
Recording Secretary.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Announcement.

The Eleventh Annual Meeting of Woman's Missionary Conference of North Mississippi will convene in Greenwood March 13-16. Send names of delegates to Mrs. L. E. Humphreys, Greenwood.

MRS. T. M. CLARK, President.
MRS. G. C. JONES, Rec. Sec'y.

To Members of Missionary Societies of North Mississippi.

Dear Co-Workers: The Lord hath done great things for us whereof we are glad. We praise Him for His blessings on our work during the past year, and we praise Him for greater opportunities for service that are ours to-day. If this year is to be devoted to evangelism, then truly we must make it a crowning year of our service. The program for the January meeting was just what we needed for the beginning of the New Year. We have pledged ourselves anew to a larger prayer life, a more earnest service, a more consecrated giving. With such a pledge in our hearts we begin the year with new courage, new hope, and new determination to bring up every part of our work. It ought to be an easy task for every adult society to make the Honor Roll during 1923.

At our approaching conference at Greenwood, special recognition will be given each adult society making the Honor Roll during 1922. In order that none be left out, I am asking that the names of all societies making the Honor Roll be sent in to me at once.

Also send me the names of any members who have died during the year. Have you sent Mrs. Neal and your district secretary a list of your new officers? Have you elected delegates to the Greenwood Conference? The program will be unusually attractive. Every society should be represented. Praying God's richest blessings upon you in your work, I am sincerely,

CORINNE ROGERS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

To Our Conference Superintendent of Social Service, Mrs. W. W. Holmes.

Dear Friend: To-day I mailed you a bundle of special inter-racial report blanks. Please send one to each of your social service superintendents as soon as possible. Send to Presidents where you have no reporting superintendents and you think conditions warrant inter-racial committees.

The blanks were prepared by the Chairman of the Council Commission on Race Relations, and sent at her request that she may get full information of progress before the coming Council meeting.

Literature giving detailed instructions for organization of the Inter-racial committees should have been sent the auxiliary superintendents long ago. I assume that you have assured yourself that they have it. The Council has spent money freely in the promotion of this work for a period of two years. It is time now for the conference superintendents and the auxiliary superintendents to show activity and some results. I feel sure you will do all you can to further the organization of the committees.

The committees will find the work far easier than most of them suppose. It lies at their doors, the problem meets us in our kitchens, on the street, in the Negro homes, schools and churches of our own communities. They need raise no money, simply follow the definite directions, first of all, laid down in the "Five Points" set forth in leaflet and in the Auxiliary Inter-Racial Handbook.

This [illegible] great opportunity to do a piece [illegible] sane, constructive social work. [illegible] opportunity for the social ser[illegible]perintendents to prove themselv[illegible] it is a chance to make safer their [illegible] homes while uplifting the condition of the Negro homes in co-operation with women of their own race. No white home is safe while Negro homes in the same community harbor dirt, ignorance, disease, or vice.

I pray our women may see this is a true and simple aspect, and answer this challenge of our beloved leader, gone to her reward, that we may be able to give a good account and be worthy her faith in her sisters.

With all confidence in you and best wishes, I am,

Yours cordially,
MRS. W. A. NEWELL.

Social Service Institute.

Our Mrs. R. H. Wynn was a visitor at the Atlanta meeting and I am indebted to her for help in getting out this issue of Louisiana News.

Mrs. Luke Johnson, chairman of this meeting, was quite ill during the Institute, but against the advice of physician and friends, spoke a number of times and took an active part when able to stand on her feet.

A Social Service Conference and Institute under the auspices of Commission on Race Relations, Woman's Missionary Council M. E. Church, South, was held in Atlanta Ga., Dec. 4, 5 and 6, 1922.

Our Social Service Superintendent, Mrs. W. W. Holmes, was unable to attend, and I was appointed by the Executive Committee of our State Missionary work to attend this meeting.

Every Social Service Superintendent east of the Mississippi River was invited to this meeting and expenses paid by the Council.

Mrs. Luke Johnson, chairman of the Inter-racial work, and her committee had every detail worked out for the comfort and convenience of the guests.

Reservation was made at the Ansley Hotel for the visitors, and lunch was served each day at the Daffodil Tea Room.

The morning, afternoon and night sessions were held in the Y. M. C. A. building, two blocks from Ansley Hotel.

A letter of instructions and suggestions from Mrs. Luke Johnson was found in each guest's room and a card with the following information: "Lunch—Daffodil Tea Room, 111 North Pryor Street. Private dining-room reserved for all.

"Route: Luckie to Peachtree—Turn to left—on to Candler Building—Through Candler Building—across the street to Daffodil.

"GO QUICKLY—Return quickly."

Dear Women: I wonder how many of you have lost a dear, sweet mother, and before she went away to be with our Father, she drew you close to her and poured out her heart, and you promised to carry out her last request.

Miss Bennett is our Council mother, and months before she left us, she begged the women of Southern Methodism to work out plans and policies for race relationships that will bring forth a spirit of Christian brotherhood such as the world has never known.

Mrs. Luke Johnson said: "It was

(Continued on Last Page)

Beautiful Hair In a Moment

Try This! A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair

At once! You can transform even plain, dull flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drugstore. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed.

Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs

For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.

25 CTS.

Constipation
Relieved Without the Use of Laxatives

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus replaces it. Try it today.

Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

A FRIEND IN NEED
A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and took eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend in need.'"—Mrs. GEORGE HARDEE, 1043 Byram St., Los Angeles, California.

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound be a "friend indeed" to you.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—First Round.

Fulton, at Van Buren, Feb. 17, 18.
Tremont, at Tremont, Feb. 18, 19.
Eupora and Mabin, at Eupora, Feb. 24, 25.
Smithville, at Smithville, Feb. 20.
Bellefontaine, at B., Feb. 23.
Mathiston, at Mathiston, Feb. 25, 26.
Algoma, at Algoma, March 3.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

Corinth District—Second Round.

Corinth, First Church, preaching Feb. 11, at 11 a.m.; Q. C., Feb. 26, night.
Corinth, South Side, preaching Feb. 11, at night; Q. C., Feb. 27, night.
Blue Mountain, at Walnut, Feb. 24, 25.
Corinth Ct., at Mt. Carmel, Wednesday, Feb. 28.
Dumas Ct., at Wier Chapel, Mar. 3, 4.
Guntown, at Hebron, Thursday, Mar. 8.
Baldwyn, at Lebanon, Mar. 10, 11.
Booneville Sta., preaching Mar. 11, at night; Q. C., Apr. 6. at 3 p.m.
New Albany Sta., Q. C., Thursday night, Mar. 15; preaching, Mar. 18, night.
Potts Camp, at Bethlehem, Friday, Mar. 16.
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer, Mar. 17, 18.
Myrtle, at Union Hill, Friday, Mar. 23.
Sherman, at Chesterville, Mar. 24, 25.
Wheeler, at Hodge's Chapel, Wednesday, Mar. 28.
New Albany Ct., at Well's Chapel, Thursday, Mar. 29.
Kossuth, at Pleasant Hill, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Booneville Ct., at Carolina, Friday, Apr. 6.
Rienzi, at Blackland, Apr. 7, 8.
Paden, at Paden, Thursday, Apr. 12.
Tishomingo, at Paradise, Friday, Apr. 13.
Belmont, at Patterson's Chapel, Apr. 14, 15.
Ripley Sta., Q. C., Friday night, Apr. 20; preaching, Apr. 22, night.
Silver Springs, at Pain's Chapel, Apr. 21, 22.
Mooreville, at Oak Hill, Apr. 24.
Mantachie, at Oak Grove, Apr. 25.
Marietta, at Gilmore's Chapel, Thursday, Apr. 26.
Chalybeate, at Mt. Pleasant, Apr. 28, 29.
Burnsville, at Chapel Hill, Friday, May 4.
Iuka Ct., at Harmony, Saturday, May 5.
Iuka Sta.; Q. C., Friday night, May 4; preaching, May 6, at 11 a.m.
The Corinth District Conference will be held at Ripley, Miss., May 15-17.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—Second Round.

Clarksdale, Feb. 18, a.m. and p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Sherard, Feb. 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. M. Brownlee.
Friars Point, Feb. 18, 7 p.m. Preaching by T. M. Brownlee.
Dubbs, Feb. 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by C. A. Parks.
Tunica, Feb. 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. H. Mills.
Dundee, Feb. 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Schoolhouse S. S., Feb. 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. M. Wyatt.
Dubbs, Feb. 25, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Tunica, Feb. 25, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Robinsonville, Mar. 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by C. A. Parks.
Hollywood, March 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. B. Conner.
Tunica, March 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Robinsonville, March 4, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Robinsonville, March 4, 7 p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Lyon, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. M. Brownlee.
Clarksdale, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching by Del Longgrear.
Clarksdale, March 11, 5 p.m. Q. C., Del Longgrear.
Dundee, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Lyon, March 11, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Alligator, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by C. M. Chapman.
Shelby, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by L. A. McKeown.
Duncan, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Sherard, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Alligator, March 18, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Shelby, March 18, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Hillhouse, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Gunnison, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. N. Dodds.
Malvina, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. B. Sharp.
Rosedale, March 25, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Leland, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Shaw, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. E. Gregory.
Litton, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. D. Simpson.
Shaw, April 1, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette will lead the music at Shaw evening service.
Cleveland, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Hartsfield.
Shipman's Chapel, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Mitchell.
Boyle, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Cleveland, April 8, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette at Boyle a.m. and Cleveland p.m. services.
Sherard, April 15, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Friars Point, April 15, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Pace, April 18, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette, high noon lunch, all officials present, get acquainted.
Hollandale, April 22, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. Nash Broyles.
Hollandale, afternoon and evening, Big Brothers and Q. C.
Greenville, April 22, a.m. and p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Greenville, April 25, 8 p.m. Q. C. Big Brothers Quartette and special program at this conference.
Glen Allan, April 29, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Benoit, April 29, 11 a.m. Big Brother J. J. Baird.
Benoit, April 29, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette heard at the Benoit evening service.
Shipman's Chapel, May 2, 11 a.m. Preaching and Quarterly Conference.
Duncan, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Bobo, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Duncan, May 6, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Duncan, May 6, p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Leland Q. C. during the district conference.

District conference and S. T. S. at Leland, May 7-12, 100 the minimum number to take the teachers' course. The best talent, the greatest hospitality, THE BIGGEST CONFERENCE OF THE KIND EVER HELD IN THIS DISTRICT.

The Wise Virgins looked after extra oil. Great Centenary offering immediately after the district conference. "Be ye also ready."

You must know the joy of hard work, honest sacrifice, before you can taste the sweet waters of success.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—Second Round.

Carrollton, at McCarley, Feb. 11, a.m.
Itta Bena, Feb. 11, p.m.
Indianola, Feb. 18, 11 a.m.
Moorehead, Feb. 18, 7:30 p.m.
Coila, at Coila, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Black Hawk, at Emory, March 4, 11 a.m.
Acona, March 4, 7:30 p.m.
Lambert, at Marks, March 11.
Annual Meeting of Woman's Missionary Society, at Greenwood, March 13-16.
Tutwiler, at Rome, March 18, 11 a.m.
Inverness, at Isola, March 25, 11 a.m.
Belzoni, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Sidon, at Cruger, April 1, 11 a.m.
Tchula, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Drew, at Sandy Bayou, April 8, 11 a.m.
Schlater, at Sunny Side, April 15, 11 a.m.
Minter City, at Glendora, April 22, 11 a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, April 29, 11 a.m.
Greenwood, April 30, 7:30 p.m.
Swift, at Swift, May 6, 11 a.m.
Dublin, at Mattson, May 13, 11 a.m.
Sunflower, at Fasonia, May 20, 11 a.m.
District Conference at Inverness, May 23-25.
Webb, at Sumner, May 27, 11 a.m.

All benevolences are expected to be reported, "provided for" by subscriptions or cash, not later than the meeting of the district conference. Let boards of stewards and pastors take this important matter up at once.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Sardis District—Second Round.

Como, 11 a.m., Feb. 11, Q. C., April 4.
Coldwater, at Love, 11 a.m., Feb. 18; Q. C., Feb. 27, 4 p.m.
Hernando, Feb. 18, p.m.; Q. C., Feb. 27, p.m.
Senatobia, 11 a.m., Feb. 25; Q. C., Feb. 28, p.m.
Sardis, Feb. 25, p.m.; Q. C., March 1, p.m.
Batesville, March 4.
Oakland, at Tillatobia, March 10, preaching 11 a.m., and Q. C. in afternoon.
Charleston, March 11, p.m.
Cockrum, at Independence, March 17-18.
Olive Branch, at Mineral Wells, 11 a.m., March 24; Q. C., in afternoon.
Byhalia, at Fountain Head, 11 a.m., March 25; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crenshaw, March 30.
Arkabutla, at Sarah, March 31, April 1.
Sardis Ct., at Cold Springs, 11 a.m., April 7; Q. C. in afternoon..
Longtown, at Pleasant Grove, April 8, 11 a.m.; Q. C., in afternoon.
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's Chapel, April 14-15.
Shuford, at Lovejoy, 11 a.m., April 21; Q. C., in afternoon.
Courtland, at Pope, 11 a.m., April 22; Q. C., in afternoon.
Horn Lake, at Poplar Corner, 11 a.m., April 28; Q. C., in afternoon.
Mount Pleasant, at Union, 11 a.m., April 29; Q. C., in afternoon.
Tyro, at Tyro, 11 a.m., May 5; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crowder, at Fredonia, 11 a.m., May 6; Q. C., in afternoon.

The District Conference is announcing for May 15, 16, 17, beginning 9:30 a.m., May 15, to be held at Senatobia, Miss. It is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of all members of this conference to be on hand. I trust that all the pastors will see that the Q. C. Records for their charges are there for examination. Please let every local preacher in the District be on hand to make his report. It is no less the duty of the local preachers to be present at this conference than it is the duty of the other members to be on hand. God helping us, we are going to have a great District Conference. Please let every member be there to do his part toward making it a spiritual and material success.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

A young man who practiced medicine in Pennsylvania became famous and was called in consultation in many towns and cities because of his success in the treatment of disease. This was Dr. Pierce, who finally made up his mind to place some of his medicines before the public, and moving to Buffalo, N. Y., put up what he called his "Favorite Prescription," and placed it with the druggists in every state.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has long been recognized as a tonic for diseases peculiar to womankind. After suffering pain, feeling nervous, dizzy, weak and dragged-down by weaknesses of her sex—a woman is quickly restored to health by its use. Thousands of women testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Perscription has entirely eradicated their distressing ailments.

More recently that wonderful discovery of Dr. Pierce's, called An-uric (for kidneys and backache), has been successfully used by many thousands who write Dr. Pierce of the benefits received—that their backache, rheumatism, and other symptoms of uric acid deposits in joints or muscles have been completely conquered by its use.

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial pkg. of any of his remedies, or write for free medical advice.

IF SICK TODAY!

TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP.

(Continued from Page 13.)

It is my observation that up to this time, in the South, the most difficult feature of the situation is our officials are not on the job as they should be. I believe that we have the best form of and the best organized government in the world, and if it should be properly administered we would have the happiest and most prosperous country on the earth. The disregard for this law against whiskey is not confined to the officials in the small towns and villages, not confined to just a few here and there. I fear that United States Senators, Congressmen, officials in the State and federal positions, whose duty it is to look and see that the law is enforced, are quietly sidestepping their duty, taking enough for their personal use and allowing the vendor to go free.

We must teach our young people that truth and honor go hand in hand with good citizenship; that when a man violates the law and lies to cover it up, he is worthy of the contempt of all honest people; that when a man is elected to an official position whose duty it is to see that the laws are enforced, takes an oath that he will abide by and support the laws of the country and faithfully fill the office he holds, and then fails to keep his obligation, is not only unworthy to fill a public office, but should be put out and considered as a liar and a grafter—taking money that he does not earn. A man should have enough honor about him to do his duty, or step down and out and let some one else try. If he fails, he should confess it, and ask the people to try some one who might be able to enforce the law. In many communities it is a common talk that bootleggers run the rounds every week, and sometimes oftener, with their white lightning. This is known to the officials, and yet they do not seem able to apprehend the offenders.

As the campaign for State and county officers is to open, or has opened, this year, I say that we must spring this issue and push it on the office-seekers, and secure from them their attitude and find out what they will do. If they promise and are elected, see that they do their duty. Here is where we need the "recall" in Mississippi, for if an officer should fail, he could be recalled.

I may be wrong in my opinion, but I believe that if all the officials, State, county, and town, were on the job as they should be, as they swore they would be, as they are paid to be, that these vendors of liquor would have a slim chance to run their trade. Then if it were not so easy to get out after they are convicted, it would be far more effective as a preventive. A small fine is easily paid; does not cost as much as a license under the old form. He can sell enough in one week to pay his fine.

Cuticura Soap
—The Safety Razor—
Shaving Soap
Cuticura Soap shaves without mug. Everywhere 25c.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it

APPLICANTS FOR INSURANCE OFTEN REJECTED.

Judging from reports from druggists who are constantly in direct touch with the public, there is one preparation that has been very successful in overcoming these conditions. The mild and healing influence of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its remarkable record of success.

An examining physician for one of the prominent Life Insurance Companies, in an interview of the subject, made the astonishing statement that one reason why so many applicants for insurance are rejected is because kidney trouble is so common to the American people, and the large majority of those whose applications are declined do not even suspect that they have the disease. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparatoin send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

TETTERINE
For the Complexion
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

FROM FIRST CHURCH, SHREVEPORT, LA.

Dear Dr. Carley: We have not been writing anything concerning our work since the Annual Conference—have been busy with the organization of the different departments of the work, the launching of the Laymen's Work, and laying the general plans for an active year. A very good beginning has been made; our audiences completely tax the capacity of the house. We have received eighty-six into the membership of the church. Our prayer meetings have gone to an average attendance of from one hundred to one hundred and fifty; a very marked interest has been developed, and we are now getting ready for a week's meeting with Dr. H. C. Morrison, of Asbury College, assisting us.

Our Sunday school is the marvel of North Louisiana. We have had an average of one thousand five hundred and eighteen in our Sunday school for the month of January. Our highest attendance has been 1,557, and our lowest attendance 1,422. Last Sunday our Men's Bible Class had 250 present, and the Baird Class had 150 or more. We have no organized campaign for new members, but the Sunday school spirit is enthusiastically on, not only in the Sunday school, but the church as well. We are now occupying the council chamber of the City Hall, aside from our many classrooms in the church building, and will be compelled to secure more room.

Shreveport Methodism is growing fast. Every pastor is preaching to large congregations, and is receiving people into the membership of the church. Our City Board of Missions and Extension has been organized, with Mr. F. T. Whited, an influential layman of this church, as chairman of the Board [illegible]ps will be taken shortly for the [illegible]tion of adjacent territory and organization of new church plants in several parts of our city. We are happy in the blessings our Lord has given us, and everything points to a most fruitful year.

HENRY FELGAR BROOKS P. C.

Woman's Missionary Society.

(Continued from Page 14.)

my sad privilege to stand by her bedside a few days before she passed away, and I held her pale, emaciated hand so tenderly clasping mine in her last loving admonition, and I can almost hear her saying now, "You won't fail your Negro work?"

President of your Auxiliary, are you helping your Superintendent of Social Service to carry out this last request?

If you are not informed as to what your Council and State expect of your auxiliary relative to Negro work, send to Miss Estelle Haskin, Literature Headquarters, Lambuth Building, Nashville, Tenn., for free literature, giving minute instruction about every phase of the work.

As Superintendent of Mission Study, and after talking to Mrs. McCoy and Miss Haskin while in Atlanta, I suggest that each Adult Auxiliary send $1.00 at once to Lamar & Barton, Nashville, Tenn., and order "Handicapped Winners" and "In the Vanguard of a Race." These books are intensely interesting, and the stories of George Carver and Janie Porter Barrett's life are given in detail. I must say I was amazed when I read these books and found out what the Negroes are capable of when given a chance.

Use these books in your Adult Mission Study Classes and do not take up "Trend of the Races" until your Auxiliary is familiar with these two books. These books do not require intensive study—a suggestion on the other side of this issue under "Handicapped Winners" will tell you how other adult auxiliaries are using these books in their Mission Study Classes.

I visited Emory University while in Atlanta and was guided through the buildings by a Japanese student.

We went over to the chapel and I had a wonderful thrill of reverence as I sat in Francis Asbury's chair and stood in the rough pulpit that John Wesley stood in when he preached to the Indians. Wish I could tell you more about my visit.

MRS. W. T. CUNNINGHAM.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT. Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

WATC THE DATE ON YOUR ADDRESS LABEL AND RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION WHEN IT FALLS DUE.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—Adv.

The Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co.,
Limited
THE GREAT FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY OF THE WORLD
Strong Liberal Prompt
SOUTHERN DEPARTMENT
COMPANY'S BUILDING NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 8. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3498.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

EVANGELISM IN THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

No church need lament the lack of opportunity for evangelistic work, for in its Sunday school there is a field that is ripe for harvesting. It is probably true that in every Sunday school there are a good many pupils who have not made the personal surrender of their lives to Christ and joined the church—they are especially ready for evangelistic activities; and it is likely that in every Sunday school there are homes represented where the parents are not Christians—through their children there is an approach that can be used with blessed results. We look with much favor upon the developing interest of pastors, superintendents, and teachers in the saving of those who are immediately in their charge, for we believe that the work begun there will inevitably spread to a larger circle throughout the community. If we can succeed in bringing our Sunday school pupils into a vital personal religious experience, we need have no fears about the future of the church, or about the ultimate evangelization of the whole world.

"CLEAN" (!) RACING.

Another season of horse racing at the Fair Grounds, this city, closed on Mardi Gras Day, and the scene of operations was immediately transferred to a track in Jefferson Parish, adjoining the city. We have never heen able to see that there is any difference hetween gambling before Lent and during Lent, but the feeling of a large part of the population of New Orleans seems to be that there is a difference, and during that season amusements and sports are more or less under the ban. When the fight against racing was being made at the last session of the Legislature, there seemed to be a general agreement that if the proponents of racing should win their fight, the season would end with the beginning of Lent; the Governor of the State vigorously opposed an extension of the season, and the newspapers of this city were very vigorous in their opposition to a lengthened season. They and the Business Men's Racing Association, under whose auspices the meet in this city is held, may think they have discharged their obligations by closing their own season with the coming of Lent; but the race horse owners and promoters of racing have shown how little regard they have for the public by their determination to continue the so-called sport according to their own inclinations. In spite of the claim of the Business Men's Racing Association that it has furnished "clean" racing, the fact remains that the city has been filled with burglars, thieves, hold-up men and a vast horde of criminals of the worst class, and that thousands of people have yielded to the mania for gambling as the opportunity has been afforded them daily on the local track. We cannot understand how business men, so-called, can contend that any enterprise is profitable from an economic point of view in which the gain of one side is conditioned absolutely upon the loss of the other side—and that is necessarily the case in gambling; and the most ardent advocate of racing will not contend that racing can be maintained without gambling. The time has come for the State to outlaw unequivocally this nefarious business, and we call upon the friends of public morality to effect such organization as will insure the pas[illegible]e of a law by the next Legislature that will [illegible] water" when attempt is made [illegible]en by the [illegible]illful lawyers to perforat[illegible] State tha[illegible] of the curse of the lot[illegible] not to h[illegible] to expel from its borders another evil that curses and ruins its thousands every year.

AFTER THIRTY CENTURIES.

The discovery and excavation in Egypt of the tomb of Tutankhamen is one of the most interesting and startling events in modern times in connection with explorations in that ancient land. The significance of the inscriptions on the walls and of the treasures in the tomb is not yet altogether apparent, but it is likely that they will throw a great deal of light upon a marvelous civilization of the past. Little by little we are coming into possession of facts that enable us to reconstruct accurately the history of nations long since perished, and these facts are such as to confirm and strengthen the faith of any who may have been disturbed concerning the biblical record. We are glad to have all the light possible upon what took place in the long ago, for the light reveals the truth—and it is the truth the world needs. How true is that saying of the Master: "There is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; and hid, that shall not be known!"

THE MISSION OF A COLLEGE.

In that fine little book just from the press, "Chapel Talks," made up of addresses delivered at the chapel exercises by the late Bishop John C. Kilgo while he was President of Trinity College, under the above caption we find the following suggestive statements: "A college, if it be true to its mission, must regard itself as a determined effort upon the part of a people to break through vexing limitations and raise human life in thought and in deeds. This is the most serious, the most vital mission of a college. For it is one of the points at which the thought, the faith, and the best ambitions of an age should have their fullest expression and from which they should get their surest promulgation. If this be not true, then the general public conception of a college is wholly wrong. There is no just reason for the place which such communities hold in the esteem of the general public. * * * I am frank to say that there are not lacking in American colleges signs which strain the confidence of thoughtful men. Steadily there have grown up in our educational communities customs and sentiments which beget just suspicions. The spirit of play has become alarmingly great, while the spirit of work has seemingly declined. A class of pedagogical adventurers have conceived the scheme of reducing education to a happy outing and a prolonged frolic. It is not difficult to see why their shallow philosophies should gain favor among the young, but the way to knowledge is still a steep, a long, and a hard way, only passed over by those who have courage and endurance. Men who work hard and economize closely to send their sons to college fail to understand why they should toil that their sons may frolic. And no sane man can show them a sound reason for such an arrangement."

IT ALL DEPENDS.

The other day we saw this headline: "Do brains pay?" Our first thought in answer to the question was, "Brains pay better than anything else in the world," but we thought about the matter a moment longer, and we decided that it all depends upon how brains are used, as to whether they pay or not. Brains mean sense—or they ought to—and some people apply their sense in such misdirected ways that they are a menace both to themselves and to society at large—there is small profit to brains in such cases. Some of the most notorious criminals on record have possessed unusual brain-power—but they were liabilities to the race, instead of being assets. "What are you doing with your brains?" is a more important question than "How much brains have you?"

METHODIST ENTERPRISE.

On Friday, February 2, a whole section of the Houston Evening Post, of Houston, Texas—ten pages in all—was devoted wholly to the work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in Houston particularly and in Texas generally. The section is elaborately illustrated, the display is attractive, and the articles are newsy and instructive. We do not know the arrangement made with the publishers for bringing out this section—it must have cost a pretty penny—hut we are sure the investment was a profitable one. Methodism is one of the greatest forces for righteousness in the world. Its doctrines have stood the test of time, its polity is the most efficient we know anything about, its institutions are blessings to society, its program is world-embracing in its beneficent intent, and its spirit is thoroughly evangelistic. It has something, therefore, worth telling the world about, and the Houston Methodists are doing the telling. We commend their example to others.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:

Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.

To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

THE STATE SUNDAY SCHOOLS AND THE DENOMINATIONS.

By Rev. Alonzo Early, D.D.

The public is waiting to hear from the meeting which was held in New Orleans concerning the merging of the International Sunday School Council of Evangelical Denominations. The "merger" has in a general way been accomplished with practically all the great Protestant denominations in the U. S. except the Southern Baptist.

This merger has come to the present status after several years of most thorough work and Christian endeavor on the part of both bodies. This new organization will not affect the local Sunday schools of any State or Conference until the State Sunday School Association delegates and the legally selected denominational delegates have come together in the authorized way and agreed on the merger for the State of Louisiana.

No denomination can become an affiliated member until its official denominational representative has determined to do so; then the several denominations entering into the same will affiliate in the new organization called "Louisiana Sunday School Council of Religious Education." No single person can be a self-constituted representative for his denomination. He must be delegated by the proper organization of the denomination operating in the territory. We have a number of denominations operating in the State of Louisiana which are missions with a very small constituency, and in the proposed plan of the merger the balance of power will be in the hands of the minority. The proposed plan tentatively adopted at New Orleans is one delegate for every ten thousand members of the Sunday school, or a major fraction thereof. This will give the M. E. Church, South, with its forty thousand members, four delegates.

Now, what was the meeting at New Orleans, Wednesday morning, January 24, and what was done? The meeting was called by the General Secretary of the Louisiana State Sunday School Association, Mr. Van Carter, who was requested to do so by Dr. H. S. Magill, Secretary of the International Sunday School Council of Religious Education, of Chicago. Dr. Magill does not represent the old International or Council of the denominations, but the new organizations.

The denominational representatives in attendance were not legally chosen by their denomination in every instance, but the following states the facts: The M. E. Church, South, was represented by the chairman of the committee, Mr. W. S. Holmes, appointed by the Conference Sunday School Board, at the last session of the Louisiana Conference, to get information concerning the merger, and report at the next Annual Conference in 1923; Presbyterians, U. S., were represented by Rev. A. H. Ziemer, with the instruction to get information and report to his presbytery for action; other individuals were present and spoke for their church, but to my knowledge did not speak of credentials from their denomination. The plan of the merger for any State requires fifty-fifty in representation of the State Sunday School Association and the denominations affiliating. And it was the decision of those present that others should be invited to sit in the committee, participate in the discussion, but the right to vote be given only to one denomination representative. Rev. Claude Jones spoke for the Christian Church; Dr. Barr, for the Presbyterian, U. S. A.; Rev. M. Schrader for the Evangelical Synod of North America; Rev. Mr. Lawless for the Congregational. The Methodist Protestant Church was reported by Mr. Carter as being in favor of the merger, and was given representation as a territorial delegate. The following persons were chosen for the association: R. T. Douglas, Dr. J. L. Scales, Henry Pharr, Rev. U. D. Mooney, V. Hamilton, Wm. Teitje, and W. G. Hudson. There being no denominational delegate or person to represent the Methodist Protestant, the committee was composed of six for the denominations and seven for the Association.

The International Sunday School Council of Religious Education has prepared a provisional constitution for Sunday School Council of the State with some sections of same which cannot be changed. The committee thought the best procedure would be to adopt a constitution, tentatively, in order to have specific propositions to report to the denominations which are considering the merger.

How does this merger affect the work of denominations affiliating and the work of the Louisiana Sunday School Association? It will be necessary that the Executive Committee adopt the constitution and by-laws, which shall be the authority governing the new organization. The work of the denominations in the Sunday school field will continue as in the past and the Louisiana State Sunday School Association will continue as heretofore until such time as the new organization shall be called together to adopt a program of work for the entire State. Just what this program of work will include must be determined by the executive committee of the new organization. The personnel of this executive committee cannot be determined until later. At this point most careful and prayerful effort must be put forth. It is where the association workers and denominational workers have crossed each other's paths that we have heard the complaint of duplication. The executive committee will have to present to the Association and the denominations a working program of religious education in which the local Sunday school and the church will be improved and made more effective, else there can be no merger of Sunday school work.

A State-wide convention is to be held annually under the supervision of the executive committee. The convention is to be a delegated body. The writer has endeavored to state the facts clearly and without prejudice. We await with interest the development of the plan proposed.—Crowley (La.) Signal.

MISSISSIPPI TUBERCULOSIS SANATORIUM.

In a month or two the State of Mississippi will have an institution in which to care for those who are afflicted with tuberculosis that will be a credit to her.

This sanatorium is situated about two and a half miles north of Magee, in Simpson County, on the Gulf and Ship Island Railroad. It has a depot and postoffice called Sanatorium. The enterprise was started in 1916, when the State Legislature appropriated $25,000 to begin the institution. The citizens of Magee donated two hundred acres of land on the highest point between Jackson and Gulfport, while the G. & S. I. gave $2,000. A special session of the Legislature in 1917 increased the appropriation by $31,500. With this, buildings were erected so as to care for about seventy-five patients. In addition to this, a three-hundred-acre farm was purchased, which suplies fruit and vegetables and about fifty gallons of milk each day from one of the best herds of Jersey cows in the State.

So numerous were the applicants for admission that the Legislature in 1919 appropriated $1,043,000 for additional buildings. These buildings will soon be completed. Most of them are fireproof, and are equipped with all modern appliances to care for the inmates and fight the dreaded disease. Its capacity will be four hundred and fifteen. The Order of Masons are to build in the near future for their members, which will give a total capacity of six hundred. The last Legislature appropriated $30,000 for a building for the colored people, which is to be built this summer.

Dr. Henry Boswell is the head of the Sanatorium, and to him in a large degree belongs the honor of bringing this great enterprise to its present state. Dr. Boswell has a nation-wide reputation as an authority on tuberculosis, and is much in demand as a speaker in all parts of the country. He has associated with him at the sanatorium Dr. E. C. Walker, Dr. May F. Jones, and a splendid staff of nurses and helpers. The patients are well cared for, and well fed. Rest, fresh air, and a well-balanced ration are the three things relied on for recovery, and many are being restored to health by this treatment. The cost for treatment in the sanatorium is not great —$5 a week, with a small fee for laundry, is all that is demanded. Thus, those of limited means can avail themselves of the benefits of the institution.

The morale of the inmates is most excellent. This is remarkable when we consider that many of them have not only been bedfast for months, but years. A cheerful atmosphere pervades the institution. The spiritual interest is not forgotten. Ministers of all denominations visit and preach to those who are unable to attend service. They have a regularly organized Sunday school under the superintendency of Miss Gertrude Butler, the secretary of the Sanatorium; and those who are not able to attend, study the lesson in their beds.

This great State institution is within the bounds of the Mount Olive and Magee charge, and, as pastor, I am desirous of ministering to the spiritual needs of the inmates. With the opening of the new buildings, many new patients will be admitted, for more than fifteen hundred are on the waiting list. I would esteem it a favor if pastors and friends of those who come to the Sanatorium for treatment would write me at Mount Olive, giving names of such, so that I can visit them and minister to them in the name of the Master.

J. L. GREENWAY.

Mount Olive, Miss.

THE LURE OF THE ORIENT.

By Bishop H. A. Boaz.

If the people at home could only realize the actual need on the mission field, it would be no trouble to secure the four million dollars necessary to carry on the work. I was in Korea less than a month ago and expecting to remain there until July, when a cablegram came calling me home at the earliest possible date to take part in the emergency Centenary Pay-Up Campaign. I did not want to come at this time, but on account of the urgency of the situation decided it would be best for me to come and do what little I could to present the great need of the foreign field to our people at home.

We closed the Japan Mission meeting at Kobe, Jan. 5, and took the boat the next day at Yokohama. In Japan we need at least eight new missionaries to man properly the field. At this time they need thirty new church buildings. Perhaps one-half the amount of these buildings can be secured in Japan and the other half ought to be given by the people at home. Several new church buildings have already been constructed, and in some of these the membership has been doubled within twelve months' time. One missionary reported that the membership could be doubled within twelve months' time at almost every place where the new church is needed, if the new church could only be provided.

In Korea we need at least eight new missionaries and assistance on buildings, something like two hundred small church buildings where our people could be housed. In this wonderful country, within the last two years, about 25,000 people have been enrolled as inquirers. They want to become Christians and be baptized. They need instruction, and they need assistance in building houses of worship where they may be instructed. Shall we give them the bread of life, or shall we deny it? Many of them are very poor, but very eager to hear the gospel and to become followers of Christ.

In the Korea Annual Conference there were four church bands. These church bands are largely responsible for this great increase in the number of adherents. We have instructed those bands to continue the work until April or May, with the understanding that in all probability, on account of shortage of funds, it will be necessary for them to cease preaching the gospel to do something else that they might find to do. A leader of one of these bands, in a meeting called recently to consider the work of the church, made a very strong appeal to be allowed to continue his work. With tears raining down his face and with many sobs he said: "Bishop, you have told me that in April or May I must cease preaching the gospel to our people God has commissioned me to preach. If you tell me now to quit preaching the gospel to my people who are starving for the bread of life, you will break my heart. My people must have the gospel and I must give it to them the best I can." Shall we tell this consecrated Korean preacher to cease preaching, or shall we tell him to go ahead with the ministry of the world?

SEASHORE CAMP GROUND—REV. JOHN BARRY McFERRIN, D.D.

An Incident—Are Any Alive Who Were Present?

By Payton A. Sowell.

As it is known to a few at least of the present day readers of the New Orleans Christian Advocate that my good wife was a daughter of Rev. Dr. John B. McFerrin, it is natural that I had opportunity to know this wonderful "Commoner of Methodism."

Lately, glancing through the life of Dr. McFerrin, by Bishop Fitzgerald, published in 1888—thirty-five years ago—my eye caught the incident I am to mention. It is the chapter, "Sunset Flashes," page 414.

I really did not remember that the old Doctor had ever been present at one of the wonderful meetings that live so pleasantly in the memory of many old Methodists of Mississippi, Alabama, and Louisiana—these meetings held on the beautiful grounds, that came to the church with the idea and purpose of worship—which grounds nestle down on the Gulf shore at Biloxi, Miss. But from his historian it is learned that he did. Whether he was ever present besides this time referred to, I do not know. As he and Bishop John C. Keener were such intimate friends, it is possible he made more visits than the one of which we speak.

At any rate, this one occurred when he was an old man, and feeble—at an age and in a state of health that would have shut up less heroic men in their own yards and homes. For one or more years, after he was virtually a blind man, and after he had been in the ministry over sixty years, he visited eight to a dozen Conferences yearly, and represented the Methodist Publishing House, preaching with great pathetic and intellectual power at those Conferences.

I have personally heard him use the illustration, and, after reading what Bishop Fitzgerald says, I am prepared to know of the marvelous effects he mentioned. Strange it is that in the years of intimacy with him, I never heard him allude to the presence of Ex-President Davis in his congregation. I knew that President James Knox Polk was converted under a sermon he preached at "Pisgah Camp Grounds," in Maury County, Tenn., and years afterwards he baptized and received Polk into the M. E. C., South.

The Incident.

"At the Seashore Camp Meeting, near Biloxi, he preached to a great congregation. At the Sabbath day service, towards the close of the sermon, there transpired one of those scenes that so often characterized his ministry.

"His sermon led him to draw a contrast between infidelity and Christianity, presenting the peace, comforts and hopes of Christianity, and the gloom and emptiness of infidelity. This he did in his own peculiar and inimitable way. The effect was wonderful upon the intelligent audience that hung upon the words of the venerable minister of God. He told them he had been a minister and witness to the divine power of religion for more than three-score years. He said: 'They ask us to surrender all the blessings and hopes of Christianity; and what do they offer to give us in return? I have at Nashville a house that belongs to me, not a modern house, it is true, but an old-fashioned dwelling, large enough for my family and me—a comfortable home for us all. A fellow calling himself an architect comes one day, he tells me my house is very badly constructed, it lacks many of the conveniences and adornments of modern architecture. He proposes to build me a better one. He draws me a plan of the new house on paper, and says he is ready to begin. Whereupon—after looking at this house he has drawn—I set fire to my old house and burn it to ashes. By so doing, I leave my family and myself without a shelter. I ask him for the house he is to provide me, and he hands me his plans on paper! Of what use to me or my family is a house on paper? If I were to act that way, everybody would call me a fool! And I would be a fool!

"'Yet that is what infidelity is asking you to do. It would take from you the deepest joys and sweetest hopes you possess, and in return offers you unbelief, or the certain doom of annihilation. Are you willing to accept their offer? Are you willing to give up your belief in God, your trust in Jesus, your hope of resurrection, your expectation of a glorious immortality?

"'All of you who this day purpose in your hearts to hold on to the Christian [illegible]gion until infidelity offers something better i[illegible] stead, rise and stand!' As b[illegible] simultane[illegible]pulse the vast crowd aro[illegible] of the fi[illegible] rise was Ex-Presiden[illegible] He had oc[illegible] a place near the speaker. The effect was electric, and infidelity was at a heavy discount that day among the thousands who worshiped that day at the Seashore Camp Ground."

Personally, I know that in those years, in the evening of his life, there rested on his ministry a strange and marvelous power. I, with thousands, have wondered at the secret of his influence as a speaker. Young, old, illiterate, learned, were moved by his ministry. It must have lain in his individual greatness, and his faith in God.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

Sensationalism is the order of the day. Unless a bit of "news," especially that which is related to social life, has the tang of "pep" about it, you may rest assured it counts for little in the market.

A rector in New York—God save the mark!—the word rector means one who teaches and stands for "right," proclaims to all the world doctrines directly contrary to revealed evangelical Christianity, and his name is heralded abroad. And some people who would not recognize a Christian doctrine if they should perchance meet one on the concrete road—about where this class is found on Sunday—count Mr. Grant among the elect leaders of thought, progress, etc.—all because newspapers serve such pabulum. And yet in this land thousands are uniting with churches, tens of thousands are hearing with delight, comfort, and assurance the full-rounded gospel which the Master taught on the Judean hills, and with which Paul and his companions dared the might of the Roman Empire and awoke a sleeping world to the glories of a new day. And there is more thrill about it, more life in it, more power to save and keep, than in all the damnable heresies from the time of Celsus to that of your modern apostate. A preacher is cajoling his own soul, and robbing men and women of life's most precious jewel when, as a minister of Jesus Christ, he listens to the siren voice of pleasure, popularity, or the perverted standards of conduct that obtain in many places, instead of declaring a gospel of repentance, faith, and obedience. It is poor practice, and worse economy, for there are infinite values involved. No great church was ever built up on such foundations, no great cause for humanity's uplift was ever originated and perpetuated by the preaching of doctrines that eliminate the spiritual factors of the gospel.

• • •

Pope, I think it was, said of one, "He chose the livery of heaven to serve the devil." Now I can see how a man be a Unitarian and be honest. This church has produced some notable men, and, no doubt, as great moralists they did good. But if one will be of the class who deny the deity of Christ, then why claim fellowship with a large body of Christians who believe and teach and hold he is "very God?" My poet said another brave thing: "An honest man is the noblest work of God," and unless a man is honest, sincere in speech and thought, he has no business to claim membership, especially as a minister, in any church whatever. A man may believe anything he wishes or chooses to believe with reference to religious matters under the Constitution and laws of this country, but common decency and fair play demand that he put himself where he rightly belongs. Raw infidelity is bad enough, but hypocrisy is worse. Freedom, yes; liberty, all you want; sometimes we think too much perhaps, but only when the Son of God makes you free are you free indeed. I can fire all the brush heaps I please in my own field, but must not burn my fences and houses, nor my neighbor's, lest I be an incendiary, and guilty before the law. Lots of brush heaps of error to be destroyed—why rush around over the fair domain of our blessed Lord, firing, or trying to fire, these great doctrinal principles that have withstood the storms of ages and under whose sheltering roofs the saints find peace, comfort, and assurance?

628 Kings Highway, Shreveport, La.

SALIENT SAYINGS.

By Walt Holcomb.

Radio has aroused the world. People got tired of being lectured, and the popular lecturer retired by common consent.

Then the movies had the day, and folk flocked to the moving picture shows, where they could sit down and not be bothered.

Now they are worn out gadding around and want to remain at home awhile and allow the radio apparatus to entertain them. Anything that will keep people at home will be a godsend.

However, will the more luxuriously inclined men and women of the future take advantage of the modern way of harnessing the ethereal waves and receive the sermons of their favorite preachers as they recline on their Sunday morning couches, instead of occupying their customary pews? The answer is in the pastor's sermon.

The world is growing brighter, but, like the sun, it still has some black spots upon it.

Saying prayers is a baby's task, but praying prayers is a man's job.

Some folks join the church just as they join a club.

We want clear ideas for our head and clean ideals for our hearts.

Some people are very much distressed over women's dress. They have found fault with every fashion since I can remember. I am more afraid of the cut of a woman's eyes than I am of the cut of a woman's dress.

An electrical storm purifies the atmosphere, but it does not last always, and that is true of a real revival.

Cartersville, Ga.

---

The preacher who can tell a story that would make a horse laugh need not be surprised when men refuse to believe him when he tells them the way to heaven.—Selected.

---

An evangelist went to Chicago saying that he could easily reform that city. He was arrested for a lunatic.—Selected.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Grenada District.

On Jan. 31-Feb. 1, a Pastors' Conference was held in Grenada, Rev. R. A. Tucker, presiding. The program included discussion of the sermon, its preparation and delivery; the Pastor's Library; Pastoral Supervision; Collection of Finances—with special emphasis upon Conference collections, the Centenary and the Educational subscriptions. Rev. B. P. Jacob, Missionary Secretary, and Rev. J. H. Holder, Educational Secretary, were present. Sunday school interests were represented by Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Conference Secretary of Sunday Schools. The conference was one of the best of its kind ever held. Most of the preachers of the district were present. Plans were made to collect the Centenary pledges during the period March 11-18 by means of an every-member canvass in every church.

A plan for evangelism was adopted and committees appointed. Each county was made the unit of operations. Through the organization of the laymen in each county efforts will be made to reach every church in the interior with a service during each month. Under the leadership of John Rundle, lay leader at Grenada, and J. C. Wilson, Secretary of the Interdenominational Laymen's Committee of Grenada County, the plans for carrying on this work in this county are being rapidly perfected.

District conference was announced to be held May 8-10 at Pickens, Miss. The conference will open at 3 o'clock, May 8, and close the afternoon of the 10th.

Rev. L. H. Estes, of the Methodist Hospital, represented that institution on the night of Jan. 31 in a brief but pointed address, after which Rev. Carroll Varner, of Winona, preached a very appropriate sermon.

The brethren throughout the District reported plans for their revivals. The pastors at Water Valley, Rev. L. P. Wasson and Rev. M. E. Scott, are making a survey of the city preparatory to two revival efforts. The first meeting is to be held in Main Street Church, beginning April 1, Rev. W. M. Campbell in charge. The second meeting will begin at First Church, June 3, with Rev. Burke Culpepper. Rev. J. W. Ward, of Lexington, is planning a revival to begin in April led by Rev. S. W. Walker, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Some of the pastors reported illness in their families. The conference was very much grieved to hear of the death of little Marvin Meek Scott, six-months-old son of Rev. M. E. Scott, of Main Street, Water Valley. The sympathy of the Conference was expressed through a brief message sent to the bereaved parents.

MELVILLE JOHNSON.

Greenwood District.

Lambert and Marks: "Lambert and Marks was represented in Jackson at our Home Mission and Evangelism meet by five of our choice laymen. The business of the church on this charge is on a sound basis, provided for by some of our very best business laymen who love the church (if some of the FELLOWS do wear DRESSES—SEE?). We are arranging our artillery to wipe out our Centenary pledges and to give the Christian Education pledges proper consideration. Our prayer meetings are well attended, Sunday schools making progress, our Missionary Societies hard at work, our revivals all planned and provided for."—C. A. Northington, P. C.

* * *

Sunflower: "Sunflower is rapidly coming to the front in more ways than one. Our new church building is taking definite form, and we hope to move in some time early in the spring. We have placed our order for seats, so they will be in time for the first service. Our Woman's Missionary Society is seating the church; they are a loyal set of workers. I no longer think to myself, 'Whom may I call on to lead in prayer to-day?' for our men's prayer meeting is rapidly changing from listeners to workers. I can now call on any of them to lead in prayer, AND THEY DO IT. I never saw it like this before. We are expecting great things this year. Our two new churches will mean a great deal for this charge. And when we build in Blain next year, we will be housed on this charge. Then, too, we will have Brother J. W. Robertson and Brother W. M. McIntosh with us in meetings, so you see great things are bound to happen.—F. H. McGee, P. C.

* * *

Inverness: "I have very little to report this time. The first Sunday I was here, and almost every Sunday since, it has been raining or snowing. However, I have met most of the people, and formed plans to organize the church for intensive work this year. I have just formed Boy Scout organizations in both Inverness and Isola. The boys are very enthusiastic in both towns. We will organize the girls as soon as Mrs. Gray arrives. I intend to provide some kind of entertainment in the church here each week for the young people and small children. The people have been very kind to me, we are full of hope, and look for a great year."—J. A. Gray, P. C.

* * *

Ruleville: "The work moves on encouragingly. Good Sunday schools at both Ruleville and Doddsville. We have completed the Sunday school addition at Doddsville, and the school at Ruleville is improving all the time. Congregations good at both places. Finances up to date. Will organize a League here soon. Prospects are good for a successful year's work."—R. O. Brown, P. C.

* * *

Greenwood: Our Greenwood church is alive in all departments. There have been 31 received into the church since Annual Conference. They have 700 on roll in the Sunday school, not including the Baby Roll. Three Leagues, Junior, Senior, and Intermediate, are doing the finest work I know of. A finely located lot has been purchased for a new and modern parsonage. Over $20,000 has been subscribed for a large brick Sunday school annex, to stand on the old parsonage lot next to the church. They have about the best choir in the State, and, under the efficient and consecrated leadership of Mrs. W. T. Johnson, President, the Woman's Missionary Society, is doing unusually good work. Large preparations are being made for the Missionary Society meet here in March. Brother V. C. Curtis, the pastor, is positively in the lead in all these things, and if he doesn't work himself to death this year, he will have a great report at Conference.—(P. E.)

* * *

Schlater: The "YOUNGEST MAN" in the District (72), reports as follows: "I have made 287 pastoral visits since Conference, and filled all my appointments, except when it snowed all day, and nobody ventured out. We have a boys' prayer meeting of 27, and any one of them will lead in prayer or conduct the service. We have recently organized a Boys' Scout movement, which promises well. I preach to the children one Sunday night each month. The Missionary Society gives every evidence of new life, and will doubtless do double their work of last year."—J. J. Brooks, P. C.

* * *

Dublin: "Our finances on Dublin charge are in good shape, all the Benevolences are pledged, and one-fourth of the finances collected. We have a bright outlook for the year."—N. J. Golding, P. C.

* * *

Moorehead: "Things are moving along pretty well at Moorehead, and we have begun the new year with some encouragement. The NEW PREACHERS are not the only ones that were remembered about the beginning of the new year. Our people were very thoughtful of us at Christmas time. Our Sunday school is doing some mighty good work among the young people and children. Many of our adults are shy on Sunday school. We have had our share of "flu" and measles, and of course have been hindered. We have a splendid League that even "flu" and measles did not stop in their good work. We have a great opportunity here, where one of the largest and best agricultural schools of the State is located."—W. D. Bennett, P. C.

* * *

As the Elder Sees It from the Unreported Charges.

Carrollton, where Rev. S. C. Yates "holds forth," is full of life and activity. Unless I miss my guess, this pastor reported the largest increase ON PROFESSION in our Conference last year. He has a wide-awake Flying Squadron, who go, whenever weather will permit, to nearby churches in the country and hold enthusiastic services. Yates edits a column in the Carrollton Weekly for his church, and his churches are planning to buy him a car for spring and summer. Carrollton never in my knowledge had a finer outlook for a great year. Yates is on the job.

* * *

Itta Bena: Brother J. T. Lockhart, the pastor, is REALLY in high favor with his people. Those people have little enough delicacy to say he can beat the elder preaching—and then mean it, too!

* * *

Indianola: Rev. W. C. Galceran and his people have formed a kind of "mutual admiration society"—he thinks Indianola about the best church in the Conference, and he says he "KNOWS it is the best in the District"; and his people say they would hesitate to exchange him for a bishop. This church will meet all claims ordered by the Conference. They have built a splendid men's classroom, and are planning for a new church.

* * *

Acona: Acona seems to have the right man in Rev. J. A. Patterson, a preacher of pollish and gifts, uncomplaining, hopeful, brilliant in the pulpit, and faithful in his pastoral work. Good things ahead for Acona.

* * *

Coila: The "schoolmaster" of our District, Rev. A. S. Brisco, is getting hold of this large rural field. He and his good people are determined to make a record this year not to be ashamed of. He has started well.

* * *

Sidon and Cruger: Rev. Carl Oakes, the pastor, is happy that his Conference course is over, and it looks to this Elder as if pastor and people mean to keep their charge out of the defaulting columns in our Conference minutes. He knows how to drive down a stake, and work to it.

* * *

Tchula: Rev. H. N. McKibben, the pastor, is hopeful of a much needed new church this year at Tchula. He has the movement started, with good prospects. His is the first charge in the District to pay their District work assessment in full. He looks carefully after Centenary and Education claims. He serves a choice people, and you always know McKibben is on the job.

* * *

Drew: Rev. W. N. Duncan, the pastor, is the hardest man to move from a place I ever knew; his people got kind of "sassy" just before Conference and plainly told the elder, "if you don't send Brother Duncan back the fifth year, we don't want to see you back, either." They have gotten to where they think the "bottom will drop out" if they lose their present pastor. I told them it would not, but they did not believe me, so he is there, and that brave and really wonderful little church deserved all the consideration the Conference could give them. They pay their pastor $3,000, and pay one-fourth of all claims at each quarterly conference. How they do it, I don't know, BUT THEY DO.

* * *

Belzoni: Rev. H. P. Lewis has just had a great revival, led by our District Evangelist, John W. Robertson. They have bought a beautiful new parsonage, and are planning for a new church; money is now being collected. Brother Lewis is in great favor with his people.

* * *

Tutwiler: Rev. C. P. Moss (Uncle Charlie) is in clover up to his neck. His people are delighted, and he says it does him good to preach to a full house each Sunday down here in the Delta. He has plans agoing for a great revival campaign in the large tabernacle at Tutwiler. Brother W. M. McIntosh will lead in this great meeting. His first quarterly conference made handsome provision for the pastor's salary this year.

* * *

Webb and Sumner: Our new preacher, Rev. C. T. Floyd, at Webb, is delighting the churches on Webb and Sumner charge. The elder was surprised to find a large and appreciative audience at Webb on a recent Sunday, though it rained in torrents all day. Some of the officials actually thanked the elder for securing so fine a man for their pastor, but I had a sneaking idea they really meant to thank me for the pastor's WIFE, who is already leading the good women in a great work in the Woman's Missionary Society.

* * *

Minter City: We all thank South Georgia for the gift of Rev. C. L. Rogers, our pastor at Minter City. There is more real life and hopeful outlook in this charge than I ever saw before. Rogers is a man with a vision, knows what he wants to do, and is doing it.

* * *

Black Hawk: Tho bad weather rained the first quarterly conference out at Black Hawk, where Brother W. S. Selman is pastor. Selman is a man who is not afraid of work. If his churches don't supply the pastor with "wherewithal" to live on, he does not complain, or nag, or scold—he simply gets out and supports his family; but he doesn't neglect his churches. I could tell a story here of loyalty, sacrifice, and devotion not often surpassed in these days. He has a really hopeful outlook for a good year.

* * *

Swift Town: Brother J. C. Nelson, the pastor, has made the annual payment on our new parsonage at Swift Town, and is planning for his revival campaign this summer. This charge will do more this year, if I do not badly miss my guess, than ever before.

* * *

Special Notice to the Greenwood District.

The month of April is to be given to our Centenary Emergency Campaign. Every pastor will please see that his Centenary committee canvass every subscriber for all or a part of subscriptions now due on Centenary, NOT LATER THAN MAY 1.

Brother J. M. Foreman, District Lay Leader, divides the District into three groups, as follows: Northern Group, Hon. L. R. Featherstone, of Tutwiler, Associate Leader; Western Group, Mr. A. E. Tanner, of Indianola, Associate; Eastern Group, Mr. E. L. Duke, of North Carrollton, Associate. Brother Foreman plans to give every assistance possible to our Centenary Emergency Campaign; write him for lay speakers to help you.

* * *

THE PASTORS OF GREENWOOD DISTRICT, in their meeting at Grenwood recently, agreed that every charge would attempt to report all Benevolences provided for by cash or good subscriptions, by the meeting of our District Conference, May 23.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Sarids. District.

Because of "flu" and real winter weather during the past month, we have not a great deal to report this month. I completed my first round of quarterly conferences on Feb. 4. That trip is the only hard trip I had on my first round. It was "some trip," to use modern slang. Snow was falling in just the way to make the hearts of the younger generation (to which I belong) dance with real joy. On that twenty-mile trip to Crenshaw I had to stop about every fifteen minutes and brush the snow off the windshield. Over at Longtown, on the cemetery hill, I tried to run up said hill in two ruts made by cars. My differential casing drug the ground, and I spent two hours on that hill before I got by. About 2 o'clock I arrived at Crenshaw in the worst snow storm we have had for the past fifteen or twenty years. On my way back to Safdis, Sunday afternoon, I ran into a snow drift about fourteen feet long and two feet deep. Had to walk a half mile to get a shovel and a negro. After getting by that place, I moved on within two miles of Como and had a puncture just at dark and it freezing. Then is when I said: "Lord, if you will forgive me for starting off in this weather with my car, I'll promise to act with good judgment from this on."

* * *

All our first quarterly conferences were good and well attended. We certainly have a fine bunch of laymen on this District as members of the various quarterly conferences. I do not now remember running up on a single steward whom I class as a low pressure man where his pastor's salary is concerned. To be sure, there are many of them who should pay their preachers a larger salary than they are paying, and I believe they will, before a great while.

* * *

Our church at Senatobia is in good condition every way. Just recently those good folks have spent about $5,000 on a Sunday school annex to their church, which will greatly add to the successful running of their Sunday school. This church has a men's Bible class that meets in the courthouse, and another adult Bible class that meets in the church. Brother J. R. Brinson is the teacher of the class in the courthouse, while that good man, Herbert Holmes, is the teacher of the class at the church. Every department of our church work is being looked after under Brother Shipman's leadership.

* * *

Over at Sarah, where my good friend, J. M. Abercrombie, lives, they are in process of building a much-needed Methodist church. For years our congregation has worshiped in the school house. Under the leadership of Brother Woodfin, our pastor on the Arkabutla circuit, and the able assistance of J. M. Abercrombie and others, the splendid people of Sarah will soon be worshiping in their own church. Already the material is on the ground and will soon be converted into a house in which to worship God.

* * *

We have a very beautiful and commodious new church at Crowder, on the Crowder and Fredonia circuit. This church has just been completed and has Sunday school rooms that can be thrown open and add to the space of the main auditorium. These enterprising and loyal Methodists have ordered beautiful pews for their church, which will soon be installed. It will then be one of the prettiest little churches in North Mississippi. Brother Wilson, our Conference evangelist, held a meeting in Crowder last summer that wonderfully stirred all those people and about revolutionized the town. It is now a religious town, with large Sunday school attendance in the Methodist and the Baptist churches, most of whom stay for preaching services. Brother Weed began the building of the church, and it is being completed under the pastorate of Brother T. H. Porter. All the people love Brother Porter and are glad to have him as their pastor.

* * *

On the Courtland circuit repairs have been made on two churches since Conference. Brother Hunt has been a busy man since Conference. He is looking after the work of the church with faithfulness. Besides this, he has completed all his Conference Course save about two books, I believe. Brother Hunt has a good people to serve who love and appreciate him. I am looking for large things to be done during the year on the Courtland circuit.

* * *

Though we had somewhat of a bad day of it, we had a representative from every church on the Tyro circuit at the first quarterly conference. It is a real joy and pleasure to the elder to have at least one representative from all the churches of a circuit. Both the people and Brother Maxey are pleased, and I am expecting the work on that charge to go forward this year.

* * *

Our good people at Batesville will soon erect a new parsonage. It is their purpose to build one that will be a credit to their church and town. Brother Young is in great favor with his people. Right now he is in Memphis for an operation. It is not serious, so we soon expect to have him back on the job.

* * *

Brother Bradley, at Charleston, has recently had Dr. O'Neill, of the Northern Methodist Church, with him in a revival. Though weather conditions were very unfavorable, they had good crowds during the revival, which resulted in ten additions to the church and two new tithers. Our church at Charleston has suffered much this winter from an epidemic of "flu." Brother J. W. Robertson, who has been a faithful member of our church there for years, died of "flu" just a few weeks ago. Brother Robertson will be missed by his loved ones and friends. His widow, Sister Robertson, is one of God's earthly jewels. She has our prayers in her sorrow. Brother Bradley is in favor with his people and is doing a good work.

* * *

Brother J. A. Randolph, our pastor at Sardis, has been greatly hindered since Conference in his work. His whole family have been sick of "flu." Besides this, his daughter came down from Memphis with her little girls for Christmas. Soon after they arrived the two girls developed scarlet fever. About two weeks ago Brother Randolph had his tonsils removed. Despite all these setbacks, no man is doing better work than is Brother Randolph. He loves his folks and they love him. He will do a great work here this year.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans District.

The banquet held on Jan. 26 in the interest of the Centenary emergency campaign was characterized by a fine spirit of enthusiasm. Each church in the city pledged itself to organize and push the campaign through March; and organization is being effected to this end.

* * *

The congregation of First Church is rejoicing in the fact that their pastor, Rev. R. H. Harper, is recovering from an illness that has kept him out of his pulpit for a month. This church has built up, under Brother Harper's pastorate, a large congregation, which offers a great opportunity for evangelism in the downtown section of this city. The Wesleyan Bible Class, with an attendance of about two hudred young people, is a notable element in this development.

* * *

The meeting at Houma last month resulted in 30 accessions to the church and gives the pastor and congregation a hopeful outlook for progress during the year.

(Continued on Page Nine.)

ANNOUNCEMENT!

Fifth Annual State Epworth League Assembly at Mansfield Female College

JUNE 12th TO 19th INCLUSIVE, 1923.

EVERY METHODIST CHURCH IN THE STATE IS EXPECTED TO SEND AT LEAST ONE DELEGATE. START TO RAISE YOUR DELEGATE FUND NOW. TWO HUNDRED OUR CAPACITY.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Se[illegible] Building [illegible]uis, Mo.

WHEN THE QUESTION BOX WAS OPENED!

A. Concerning the Board of Finance.

1. Question: What is the Board of Finance?

Answer: It is an organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, created by the General Conference of 1918 and given sole duty of helping to provide an adequate support for the superannuated preachers and the widows of preachers of the said Church.

2. Question: What specific work was intrusted to this Board by the General Conferences of 1918 and 1922?

Answer: That of raising a minimum of $10,000,000 from the entire Church for superannuate endowment.

3. Question: Where are the headquarters of this Board?

Answer: Security Building St. Louis, Mo.

4. Question: Who constitute this Board's present membership?

Answer: The officers: Bishop W. F. McMurry, President; Senator X. P. Wilfley, Vice President; Mr. John W. Fristoe, Treasurer; Rev. Luther E. Todd, Secretary. Other members are: Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, Bishop S. R. Hay, Rev. C. W. Tadlock, Rev. W. W. Armstrong, Rev. T. N. Ivey, Rev. J. W. Johnson, Rev. M. L. Burton, Rev. H. E. Draper, Rev. T. S. Hamilton, Rev. J. A. Smith, Rev. W. E. Foust, Rev. S. P. Cresap, Mr. Addison Maupin, Mr. C. C. Caron, Mr. J. Taylor Stratton, Mr. John T. Scott, Mr. J. T. Catlin, Mr. W. Stackhouse, Governor G. W. Donaghey, Mr. J. Harry Bryan.

5. Question: How were the members of this Board elected?

Answer: They were elected by the General Conference upon nomination by a General Conference committee, except the Secretary, who was elected by the General Conference by ballot.

6. Question: How many of the members of this Board as such receive salaries?

Answer: The Secretary is the only member on salary.

7. Question: How often does this Board meet?

Answer: The full Board meets regularly once each year, and oftener if necessary. The Executive Committee meets once each month, and oftener if necessary.

8. Question: Is this Board competent to handle safely and profitably a Superannuate Endowment Fund of $10,000,000?

Answer: The most prominent financiers of the city of St. Louis express unquestioned confidence in the business ability of this Board and unhesitatingly approved its methods. Also many prominent and successful laymen scattered over the whole Church have stated their unqualified confidence in the ability of the Board to do the work committed to its care.

9. Question: Has this Board access to dependable counsel?

Answer: Several of the strongest banks in the city of St. Louis give the Board free access to any kind of service or counsel needed. Also the Board keeps in touch with other sources of reliable help, such as prominent attorneys, etc.

10. Question: Are the laws of Missouri favorable to a Board of this character?

Answer: The Board is incorporated under a Missouri statute which makes it exempt from taxation. Other denominations having similar Boards think well of the laws of this State touching these matters.

11. Question: What assurance has the Church this Board will always be strong and trustworthy?

Answer: The [illegible]ence that the General Conference, which el[illegible] the members every four years, is competent to choose those best fitted to carry this responsibility.

12. Question: Has this Board any affiliating organization in the Annual Conference?

Answer: Yes, the Conference Board of Finance, whose members are elected by the Annual Conference every four years upon nomination by the presiding elders.

13. Question: What does the Conference Board of Finance do?

Answer: It looks after the superannuates and the widows and orphans of preachers within the Annual Conference and distributes to them each year the amount raised by the Conference on assessment for their support.

14. Question: Is it true, then, that these claimants have been, and are now chiefly supported by the money from assessment going to them from the Annual Conference through the Conference Board of Finance?

Answer: Yes, their principal support comes that way. However, they have also received annually the interest from the General Superannuate Endowment Fund going to them from the Board of Finance; but this endowment is less than $1,000,000, and the income from it is not enough to help the claimants as necessity requires.

B. Concerning the Conference Claimants.

1. Question: Who are the Conference claimants?

Answer: The superannuated preachers and the widows and orphans of deceased preachers of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

2. Question: How many in each class?

Answer: Superannuates, 860; widows, 1,332; orphans, 300.

3. Question: What is the average per capita amount from all sources now being paid to these claimants annually?

Answer: To superannuates, $283; to widows, $186; to orphans, $50.

4. Question: What are living conditions among these claimants?

Answer: Of the superannuates, about 400 have very bad sight or hearing, being practically blind or deaf a large number are practically invalids, being confined to their canes, crutches, wheelchairs, or beds; 170 have each an invalid member of the family to support; most of them live in humble rented cottages some live in homes they claim to own under heavy mortgages; some live in cheap rooming houses; some live with their children; some roam around; a few live in homes provided by the Conferences, and rarely one of them is able to do any kind of work. Among the widows the conditions are practically the same.

5. Question: Why did not these claimants save money for old age while they were in active service?

Answer: Their salaries were too small and rarely paid in full. They received an avegare per capita annual salary of $460, and a total of $3,000,000 promised them in salaries remains unpaid to this day.

6. Question: Do the active preachers of the present day save money out of their higher salaries?

Answer: Very few of them do, for even now the average p[illegible] annual [illegible] active preachers is [illegible]0. The h[illegible] of living makes such a[illegible] inadeq[illegible] current needs.

7. Question: W[illegible]o not active preachers seek income from outside sources to supplement their salaries?

Answer: Because they have solemnly obligated themselves to do the work of the Christian ministry alone, and also if they should seek to make money on the side the Churches would not want them for pastors.

8. Question: What is the average number of years a preacher serves before superannuation?

Answer: Twenty-nine years.

9. Question: When a preacher is superannuated, has he any other support from the Church besides that going to him as a claimant?

Answer: He has not.

10. Question: If the money expected from the special effort for superannuate endowment is actually raised, what difference will the income from the endowment make in the annual support of the claimants?

Answer: It will more than double their present annual support, provided the amount collected yearly on assessment for their support does not decrease.

11. Question: What is the average rate of the yearly increase in the number of claimants?

Answer: Since the Genearl Board of Finance began its work the number of superannuates has increased at the average net rate of 19 yearly, and the number of widows has increased at the average net rate of 11 yearly.

12. Question: Who was the first to refer to the superannuate as the "forgotten man"?

Answer: This expression was first made by one who is a leader in another denomination, but it was quoted years ago as the subject of a very strong editorial in the Christian Advocate by Dr. T. N. Ivey.

13. Question: Why is the superannuate referred to as the "forgotten man?"

Answer: Because the Church has neglected him and failed to provide him with an adequate support.

14. Question: When will the Secretary of the Board of Finance quit referring to the superannuate as the "forgotten man"?

Answer: When the Church raises that $10,000,000 for superannuate endowment.

15. Question: Is the superannuate Endowment Fund intended to benefit only the preachers who are now superannuated?

Answer: This fund is being raised for the benefit of preachers who are now superannuated, for the benefit of preachers who will be superannuated at any time in the future, for the benefit of the widows and orphans of preachers now deceased, and for the benefit of widows and orphans of preachers who will be deceased at any time in the future.

16. Question: Why do some preachers who are young and active in the service take so little interest in superannuate endowment?

Answer: Because they have been unable to understand that every active preacher is a "forgotten man" in the making.

17. Question: What would be the most effective way to wake up the active preachers on the subject of superannuate endowment?

Answer: Get the Annual Conferences to superannuate all of them for one year on trial.

18. Question: If all the active preachers were superannuated for one year on trial, how much would Rev. —— receive for support during the that year?

Answer: As matters now stand, Rev. —— in the average would receive from all sources for one year's support $283. (On the assumption that in the superannuated relation he is physically infirm and unable to do any kind of work.)

The Home Circle

WHEN TWILIGHT FALLS.

By William C. Poge.

The twilight falls, dusk hastens by on footsteps light,
Evening folds away her robe of rose, gold and gray;
The radiant stars come to lend their beauty to the night,
On melody's staff birds are scoring music across the way.

The twilight comes, that lovely, witching, happy hour,
When the toils and cares of day are past and gone;
Winds are hushed, the skies slowly blossom into flower,
Night, with her hours of rest, comes hurrying on.

Smoke drifts in hazy circles, light in a window gleams;
The sun sends his benedictions, peace lingers on the air,
The world lies silent and still as, wrapt in happy dreams,
The trees uplift their leafless boughs as if in silent prayer.

THE MAGIC COLLAR.

Mr. Tinker and his wife lived by themselves in a cozy little cottage at the edge of a great forest. They were very happy except for one thing; they had no little child to sit in their tiny white chair by the fireplace. The neighbors' children sat in it when they came to call with their mothers, and once in a while a visiting kitten climbed into it and slept; but no little child named Tinker had ever rested there.

One day when Mr. Tinker was walking in the forest he heard the sound of moaning. After searching about he found a little fawn that had broken its leg. Tenderly lifting the little creature, he carried it home and set the broken leg. When the fawn was well again, it would not go away.

"I think I'll make a collar of brass for it," said Mr. Tinker. And so he did.

When the fawn felt the collar around its neck, it ran to the pool in the woods and looked in and turned its head this way and that.

That night Mr. Tinker said to his wife: "Have you noticed how very, very bright that collar shines?"

And she answered: "I have indeed."

"There is something magical about it," he whispered over his big blue teacup. "I believe it will bring us good fortune."

As for the little fawn, it was very grateful for all the kindness of the good people. One day as it lay in the grass it heard Mr. Tinker sigh: "Wife, we have a fine cottage, roses in the garden, and a good pet. How perfect life would be if only we had a child to sit in our little white chair!"

His wife nodded. "Perfect indeed," she said.

The little fawn sprang to its feet and ran toward the road that wound in and out of the forest. "I will find them a little child," it said to itself.

After a while it came to a hunter's hut. A baby girl was playing outside the door.

"She will do," thought the fawn, but just then a smiling mother came out of the hut and picked the child up.

"Alas!" thought the fawn. "I cannot take that child away." So it went on.

All that day and the next it hunted for a little child who did not belong to anybody. But there seemed to be no such child.

At nightfall of the second day the fawn lay down to rest in the very heart of the forest. Suddenly it heard a little voice singing.

"Rabbits, put the kettle on;
Birdies, sing to me.
Lady Knight with silver feet
Waits beneath the tree."

The fawn jumped up and walked to the place from which the voice came. There it found a tiny brown hut, and on the door was a sign: "This is the home of little Johnny Blackjacket, who has lost his mother and father. He hopes to be adopted."

The fawn looked in at the window and saw a little fair-haired boy in a black jacket sitting by a table. Two rabbits were getting supper, and two birds perched on the head of a bed were warbling a sleepy song.

Suddenly the little boy said: "What is that face staring in at the window? O, it is only a fawn! What a pretty collar it has on!"

He ran out of the door, and the four pets followed him. The fawn knelt, and Johnny climbed up on its back. Whish! They were off and away, speeding through the fragrant, flowering forest, and the birds flew and the rabbits hopped as fast as the fawn ran. At last they all came to Mr. Tinker's hut.

The fawn knocked at the door with its little front foot.

Mr. Tinker came to the door with a nightcap on and a candle in his hand, and his wife peered over his shoulder.

"It is our fawn!" they cried. "But what is it carrying on its back?"

They opened the door wider, and into the house walked the fawn with little Johnny Blackjacket on its back. And after them hopped the two rabbits and the two birds. Then Johnny saw the tiny white chair by the fireplace and ran over to it. "It it mine?" he asked, lifting his face to Mr. Tinker and his wife. "May I stay and be your little boy? And may my four pets stay, too?"

They said all of them might stay, and they took him up and kissed him. And the magic collar shone with a brightness greater than ever.—Hiriam Clark Potter, in Exchange.

LONG CHONG, SHORT CHONG.

Chong Woo was a cunning little Chinese boy, as fat as butter and as yellow as a pumpkin. His clothes were quite marvelous. On dress-up occasions he always wore an embroidered blue jacket, mauve-colored trousers, and red slippers with cat faces and toes. His mother said the little bewhiskered faces were to make him as sure-footed as the cat.

Chong's home was next door to the mission compound, and Mother Woo was very fond of the missionary lady. So just to be friendly she used to send her little son over there once a week to polish spoons for her.

At first Chong, being a wee bit lazy, didn't like to do it, even if the missionary always did give him sugar cookies.

Then one day he found out something that made the job seem like play. After he had polished a spoon, he would hold it up and look at it, then laugh until he nearly popped out of his blue jacket. The honorable missionary heard him having such a good time back in the kitchen that she went to find out what it all was about.

"Ho, ho, ho, I'm making little looking-glasses!" shouted Chong gleefully as he held up a shining, polished spoon. "See, long Chong this way; short Chong that way!"

Sure enough, when he held up the spoon lengthwise and peered into the bowl there was reflected such a funny Chong Woo, very thin and very mournful. When he turned the spoon sideways, there appeared a roly-poly Chong Woo with very, very fat cheeks and mouth and nose.

"Chong like to polish; him come twice a week all time now," said the little boy as he cheerfully rubbed up the last spoon and accepted as pay a big round sugar cooky. "Little looking-glass, him lots of fun."—Exchange.

TIME OUT.

Dog vs. Lobster.

A Scotchman was strolling through the market place one day with his faithful collie at his heels. Attracted by a fine display of shell and other fish, the Scot stopped to admire, perhaps to purchase. The dog stood by gently wagging his tail while its master engaged the fishmonger in conversation.

Unfortunately for the dog, his tail dropped for a moment over a big basketful of fine live lobsters. Instantly one of the largest lobsters snapped its claws on the tail and the surprised collie dashed off through the market, yelping with pain, while the lobster hung on grimly, though dashed violently from side to side. The fishmonger for a moment was speechless with indignation. Then, turning to his prospective customer, he bawled:

"Mon, mon! whustle to yer dog! Whustle to yer dog!"

"Hoot, mon," returned the other, complacently, "whustle to yer lobster!"—New York World.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

"Everything moving along nicely at Vivian," writes Rev. R. T. Ware, of Vivian, La.

Rev. Guy Ray has entered upon what promises to be a very fine year in every way at McCool, Miss.

Rev. W. H. Lane, of Lauderdale, Miss., reports that the prospects for a fine year are encouraging on his work.

Rev. A. H. Williams, well known in North Mississippi, is now pastor at Cherokee, Ala., in the North Alabama Conference.

Rev. A. F. O'Bryant, of Richton, Miss., accompanied by a layman, Mr. Turner, paid the Advocate an appreciated call on Friday of last week.

Hon. Justice J. J. Maclaren, of Toronto, Canada, is now president of the World's Sunday School Association, having succeeded the late John Wanamaker.

Rev. W. L. Broome, who has many friends in Mississippi, is now Centenary Secretary for the East and the West Oklahoma Conferences, with his office in Oklahoma City.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Lambuth Evans West Monroe, La., are happy over the arrival in their home of a little daughter, Sophie Elizabeth, born on Feb. 5. Blessings upon the little one!

Rev. J. W. York, of New Albany, Miss., is happily at work in what he calls "one of God's blessed and chosen spots in the world." The outlook is promising for a fine year's work.

The address of Rev. J. S. Rutledge is Clinton, La., instead of Olive Branch, La., as it appears in the Conference Minutes. Brother Rutledge writes that his work is moving along well.

Dr. Mark N. Terrell, whom many of the Louisiana and Mississippi brethren met at the Annual Conferences, has recently assisted Rev. R. J. LaPrade in a fine meeting at New Castle, Texas. Dr. Terrell is one of our general evangelists.

One of our exchanges is authority for the statement that Dr. C. C. Selecman, recently chosen as secretary of the General Hospital Board, has decided not to accept the position, preferring to continue in the work of the pastorate.

We regret to learn that Rev. B. T. Crews, an honored superannuate member of the Louisiana Conference, is seriously ill of pneumonia, at his home in Shreveport, La. We are sure the brethren will remember him in their prayers.

Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Moore, of Newton, Miss., announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Vera, to Mr. James Franklin Waddell, on Thursday, March 1, at Newton. We extend all good wishes in advance of the happy event. The young couple will make their home at Meridian, Miss.

Mr. Raynor C. Eddins, gospel singer and pastor's helper, who led the singing in the Stough meeting at Brookhaven, Miss., just before Christmas, has recently been in a great meeting in the Methodist church at Winfield, Kansas. Mr. Eddins gives his time exclusively to helping pastors. He has some open dates for spring and summer. His address is Independence, Mo.

Rev. J. B. [illegible] presidin[illegible] of the Lake Charles Dist[illegible] isiana Conference, writes that in the rep[illegible] his district last week the names of Rev. S. [illegible] Howard, Lake Arthur, and Rev. J. H. Hoffpauir, of the Branch charge, were unintentionally omitted. Both these faithful pastors are hard at work in their respective fields of labor, diligently serving the Master.

We learn with sorrow of the death of Mrs. F. E. Ray, on Sunday morning, February 4, at the age of seventy years. She leaves a husband and eight children, three of whom are members of the North Mississippi Conference. She died in the faith, having joined the Methodist Church in early childhood and having been a consistent member ever since. We extend sincere sympathy to the sorrowing loved ones and friends.

Dr. Wm. H. Coleman, formerly of the Louisiana Conference, is having a great pastorate at the Central Methodist Church, Fort Worth, Texas. He is now entering upon the third year of that pastorate. During the preceding two years, an old debt on the church has been paid, two units of a magnificent group of new buildings have been completed and a third is to be begun immediately, and more than 600 members have been added to the church.

Rev. J. Tillery Lewis, the presiding elder, informs us that Bishop W. N. Ainsworth will spend three days in the Sardis District, North Mississippi Conference, in the Centenary campaign, as follows: Byhalia, March 12, 11 a. m.; Olive Branch, March 12, 7:15 p. m.; Batesville, March 13, 11 a. m.; Senatobia, March 13, 7:15 p. m.; Coldwater, March 14, 11 a. m.; Hernando, March 14, 4 p. m. The Sardis District is fortunate in securing the services of Bishop Ainsworth in this campaign.

Mr. T. H. Jackson and Miss Marian Hutchinson were married in the First Methodist Church, Shreveport, La., at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening, February 15, Rev. John F. Foster, of New Orleans, officiating. The Advocate extends all good wishes to this fine young couple. It is interesting to note that this was the ninth wedding Brother Foster has officiated at in the Hutchinson family, including one golden wedding ceremony. In this instance, he had baptized the bride in infancy, and had officiated at the wedding of the groom's parents.

The J. S. Noel, Jr., Memorial Methodist Church, of Shreveport, La., celebrated its tenth anniversary on Sunday, February 11. The following have served that church as pastor during its history: 1907-1908, Rev. R. J. Harp; 1909-1910, Rev. J. G. Snelling; 1911, Rev. F. A. Downs, Rev. F. R. Hill, Jr.; 1912, Rev. F. R. Hill, Jr.; 1913, Rev. W. W. Armstrong; 1914, Rev. E. K. Means; 1915-1916, Rev. R. W. Tucker; 1917-1922, Dr. W. W. Drake. Rev. W. W. Holmes is the present pastor. This church has grown to be one of the leading appointments in the Louisiana Conference.

We take pleasure in calling attention to the business ambitions of Homer B. Gilmore, of Hattiesburg, Miss., who is endeavoring to build up a magazine subscription agency. Mr. Gilmore is a member of the Broad Street Methodist Church, of Hattiesburg, and is a son of Rev. H. B. Gilmore, a local preacher. For the past six years he has been confined to a wheel chair, having been injured in an accident. It is a most praiseworthy thing for him to desire to be self-supporting, and we commend him to such of our readers as may be able to help him in a business way. His address is 302 Miller Street, Hattiesburg, Miss.

When Rev. W. C. Childress, our pastor at Minden, La., had a birthday recently, his wife and the board of stewards gave him a surprise party, the stewards presenting him with a handsome clock—perhaps as a reminder that time passes. The local correspondent of a Shreveport paper says, in connection with the occasion: "Mr. Childress was assigned to this charge at the recent Conference, and in so short a time he and his estimable wife and children have endeared themselves to the hearts of the citizens of Minden. Mr. Childress is not only an unusually eloquent and forceful pulpit speaker, a sympathetic and attentive pastor to his flock, but his recent experience as head of the city mission work in New Orleans has equipped him with quite an executive capacity, and under his leadership great strides of advancement are anticipated by the congregation during his pastorate."

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. J. L. Nabors, Sherman, Miss., 3; Rev. Olin Ray, Kosciusko, Miss., 5; Rev. O. A. Clark, Cedar Bluff, Miss., 3; Mrs. Margaret Tarpley, Vicksburg, Miss., 3; Rev. W. H. Lane, Lauderdale, Miss., 3; Rev. R. T. Ware, Vivian, La., 10; Rev. J. W. York, New Albany, Miss., 3; Rev. Alonzo Early, Crowley, La., 2; Rev. L. W. Smart, Clay, La., 2; Rev. H. J. Boltz, Simsboro, La., 2; Rev. S. N. Young, Lake, Miss., 2; Mrs. Ary Carruth, Summit, Miss., 2.

THE ONLY BOOK NEVER OFF THE PRESS.

By Frank H. Mann, General Secretary, American Bible Society.

Four hundred and sixty-seven years ago the first book was printed from movable type. That book was the Bible, and it took five years to complete the task. One of these books sold recently for $50,000. To-day great presses printing for the American Bible Society are turning off copies of the Gospel at the rate of 10,000 an hour, to be sold anywhere in the whole world for one cent each. In the intervening years the Bible has never been off the press. It has had a steady run for more than four centuries. Yet, if all the Bibles printed in all the years since printing was invented were available to-day, there would not be enough to supply the world's present population. The present rate of production of Bibles is not as great as the birth rate. Large portions of the population of the world are still unable to get the whole Bible, or even a main part, in their native tongue.

It must be said to the credit of the church that a vast work has been done in giving the Bible to the world. In whole or in part the Bible has been translated into 770 languages or dialects. During the past decade the Bible has appeared in a new language on an average of every six weeks. In the past century some 550,000,000 copies of the Scriptures have been prepared by the Bible Societies. Millions of dollars have been given by the church for this great task. Thousands of consecrated men have given themselves in sacrificial service.

But still the fact remains that the Book is undelivered. When the Bible Societies are asked for an explanation, their answer is immediate, direct and simple: "It could be delivered in hundreds of languages to millions of people if paid for." It is merely a matter of dollars and cents. The scholarship of the church is equal to the gigantic task of translation if it can only be made available. The mills are equipped to furnish the paper and the presses to print the sacred words if only funds are at hand to meet the expenses. The man power and woman power of the church are adequate for the task of distribution. In the most literal sense all that is wanting is money to finance the venture.

No phase of the church's task is so basic as that of giving the Bible to all men everywhere. It is probable that no other phase of the church's work produces so large a return for the same amount of money and service. And yet the church has never given as generously to this part of its work as it has to other branches of its missionary program. The percentage devoted to Bible work in the benevolent program of the church as a whole is not something of which the church may boast. If a great wave of generosity were to sweep the church in behalf of the Bible Cause, it would bring a revival of spiritual life to her membership. This thing is fundamental to the church's success as a spiritual force in the world.

Nor have the stewards of great wealth seemed to realize the unlimited opportunity for far-reaching service presented by the Bible program. The really conspicuous gifts made during the first hundred years of this work could be counted in the proverbial way on the fingers of one hand. No one has come forward to create a foundation for Bible circulation as has been done in behalf of other worthy enterprises, such as public health, education, music, literature and art. After a century of operation, the total endowment of the American Bible Society, which is second in importance to no other American institution, is less than $2,000,000, yielding an income of less than $100,000. May God stir the hearts of those whom he has richly endowed with material things to see this work as an opportunity fraught with vast possibility for human betterment and spiritual advancement!

TO THE PASTORS OF THE ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT.

Brethren: In a conference with the presiding elders soon after the adjournment of our last Annual Conference session, Bishop Candler expressed it as his opinion that the collection of Centenary pledges is a responsibility that must be undertaken by the regular organization of the church. This calls for the organization of our local forces to set about this work. The pastors are the leaders. What is done toward the collection of these pledges will depend in a very large measure upon your attitude toward this matter. The people need information concerning the accomplishments of the Centenary Movement. This information must come largely through you. Not many of our people read the literature sent them. Informing messages delivered with enthusiasm from the pulpit will do much to create an enthusiasm on the part of the people that will result in the payment of pledges. The little booklet, "Going Forward in His Name," has been sent to you. It has in it information that the people need. Organize your forces. Inform your people. Make ready for April 8. Brethren, let us do all possible to bring the Alexandria District up.

Yours in the work,
W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

SWINGING ON THE GATE.

The habit of swinging on the gate is formed by many men early in life. We do not need to tell you about how it is done and when it begins. You have seen it and perhaps have done a little in practice yourself. The gate-swinging habit gets a man nowhere. It is a listless way of spending the time. A gate is to go through. It is an entrance to something different. It is never to be left ajar. It should be closed and opened. It is not to be left swinging. You should never stop in it lest you fill it by your presence and prohibit others from passing through to a better and happier day.

Many men listlessly swing on the gate to the entrance of the Kingdom of God. They act as though any man could pass through, as though there was no check-up, nothing required, no demands made, no separation accomplished, no special decision required.

The minister who swings on the gate of evangelism as though no man needed to rush toward it with the feeling that he was making an escape from the wrath following him with scorching, bitter resentment is a shame to the gospel other ministers are preaching. He stands in the way, and by his action leads men to think that they do not need to hurry; that they should not be alarmed; that they do not need to escape; that they can quietly pass through the gate of the kingdom of heaven without the least concern.

But men are looking for a way of escape. They know what is following them. They are anxious. They know something is wrong. They are under the sense of fright. If the minister stands by a gate of escape and listlessly swings upon it, in an indifferent mood, they will not heed his voice when he invites them to turn his way for refuge. But if he beckons to them in an earnest manner—if his gate is closed and he stands with his hand upon it ready to swing it open for them at their approach—they will believe him and rush to his offer for escape.

Men are wanting to get away for relief. They have an inner urge that forces them to look for a way of escape from their sins; from their inner condemnation; from the burden of wrongdoing. What has the earn t minister to offer them? Jesus Christ has him at the gate of escape from the old life in. What is he doing with it? Is he listlessl ending it? Is he swinging upon it as though it ere an easy entrance? Does his care of it arouse confidence? Does his tending of it create assurance that his offer of escape can be trusted? Herein lies the secret of a minister's evangelistic appeal. Behold, O minister of the gospel, our Lord has set thee as a watchman at the gate to beckon to fleeing men and to announce to them that you have found a way of escape. Fail not those for whom Christ died in an hour of crisis.—Western Christian Advocate.

WAYSIDE TEACHERS.

By Caroline L. Palmer.

The writer of Ecclesiastes did not need to be a scientist to write the verses, "The sun also ariseth and the sun goeth down, and hasteth to its place where it ariseth. The wind goeth toward the south, and turnest about toward the north; it turneth a continually in its course, and the wind retu to its circuits. All the rivers run into the se he sea is not full; unto the place whither th go, thither they go again." The circuits of na re seen in every cloud, in every breeze, in every unset that fills the sky with its glory.

Giving and receiving again! This is surely the law of the spiritual realm. Only as we give do we receive, only as we die do we live, only as we empty ourselves do we receive again. This morning as I sat at the window looking at the beautiful snowstorm making its circuit of giving in order that it might receive again, a row of small icicles caught by eye. The processes of nature were arrested for the time being, the icicles were holding on, unwilling to let go, to give in order that they might receive again. There is real beauty in the slender sparkling stems, but not until they are released will the circuit of nature be complete. The great icebergs that float down from the north, a menace to the ships, making them change their course for the warmer southern waters—what are these but the combined icicles, holding on together, refusing to make the circuit to give? They have the company spirit of together, but not the world spirit for the whole.

This is surely one of the parables of life. He who refuses to give, he becomes the cold, perhaps the speaking, but never the giving spirit. People are like icicles, we say, and what do we mean? Cold, difficult, unapproachable because they are unwilling first of all to receive the warmning, loving, melting influence of the One who is called the Sun of Righteousness, and so they cannot give. They are always holding on and never in the great currents and circuits of life. So may the combined individuals be like the great icebergs, unwilling to be subject to the enlightening, warming influence of God, and so holding on together to their own selfish interests, unwilling to be wholly released for the great currents and circuits of life. There may be even the deception of giving a few drops, of releasing a little, but after all it is only the fulfiling of life's deepest, greatest plan when the whole is melted and released and no more icicles can be found and no more icebergs menace the world.—Exchange.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

New Orleans District.

(Continued from Fifth Page.)

Rev. Martin Hebert, our district evangelist, held a meeting with Rev. S. A. Seegers at Patterson recently which, in spite of the interruption of very unfavorable weather, added eight to the church there. He is now with Rev. E. V. Duplantis, of the Ville Platte charge, in a meeting at St. Landry. We hope for good reports later.

* * *

Rev. A. J. Martin, pastor of the St. Martinville charge, has opened recently a new preaching place where no Protestant sermon had ever been preached before. He preached to a hundred people, practically all French. A portable organ, played by Mrs. Martin, greatly helps his work. He also reports the Port Barre church as nearly ready for use after a thorough remodeling.

* * *

Rev. H. N. Brown and his board at Parker Memorial have secured the srvices of Dr. O. E. Goddard, of Conway, Ark., for a revival meeting in May. With Brother Brown's faithful pastoral preparation and Dr. Goddard's effective evangelistic work, this meeting should inaugurate a new era in Parker Memorial.

* * *

Rev. J. G. Snelling has stepped gracefully down from the eldership and taken hold of the Louisiana Avenue work with intelligent and painstaking enthusiasm. He has had a thorough survey made of the territory adjacent to the church to find what material is within reach, and is making use of its results. At a recent supper conference at the church, the spirit of earnest enthusiasm for constructive work was evident in the leadership of the congregation.

* * *

The City Mission Board, under the presidency of Mr. H. F. Foster, recently elected, has made plans for extending and enlarging its work. It is planning largely for the efficiency of St. Mark's as soon as the new building is ready to occupy, and, in addition, is looking forward to new openings for mission work throughout the city.

* * *

Rev. C. C. Wier, of Algiers, and Rev. F. B. Hill, of McDonoghville, recently exchanged pulpits, and both report good congregations. Brother Wier and his congregation are rejoicing in the new church building, which means much to our work on that side of the river. This is his seventh year in Algiers, and the congregation is delighted to have him back again.

* * *

While it is impossible to mention all the interesting items, it is noticeable that a spirit of hopefulness pervades all of our churches here, and the prospects are good for definite progress in the district.

W. WINANS DRAKE, P. E.

To make friends with timid children: Plan some work that you two can do together.

To prevent a scene: Laugh together at such foolishness before the affair gains headway, and "When you consent, consent cordially.

When you refuse, refuse finally.

When you punish, punish sympathetically and good-naturedly.

Comemnd often; never scold."

—Pilgrim Elementary Teacher.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

The subject of this sketch, Brother W. G. KELLY, was born in Covington County, Miss., on Dec. 8, 1856, and departed this life on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 5, 1922. He gave his heart to Jesus, and his hand for membership in the M. E. Church, South, in early life, and they tell us that he has always been a consistent member of the militant church. God's children die as they have lived, and then go from this stage of action to join the church triumphant. The home-going of a Christian is precious in the sight of the Lord. He was married to Miss Mary Drennan, about forty years ago, and to this happy union were born eight children. His sunset was beautiful. His last days were filled with religious joy, such as is rarely seen. He was ready and willing to go up and meet his Maker. As he bade adieu to all things mortal his face was radiant and his soul was exultant. Truly, it was good to be there in his presence, for God was there. The room was as the very ante-chamber of Heaven. His soul's flight from earth to Heaven was an inspiration to me.

How blessed it is to know that we can meet him again in the fair city of God! Weep not as those who have no hope. Your loved one has just gone home to be with God.

The funeral services were conducted at the Kelly cemetery on Monday afternoon, Nov. 6, by the writer, surrounded by his loved ones and a multitude of his friends. His wife and eight children survive him to mourn his demise. "Peace be to his ashes."

His Pastor,

HILARY S. WESTBROOK.

New Augusta, Miss.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ELIZABETH SANFORD COCHRAN.

"There is no death, what seems so is transition."

Though on the 24th of September, 1922, the spirit of ELIZABETH SANFORD COCHRAN winged its way into God's eternal heaven, the influence of her noble, Christian life lives on.

To-day, as we're gathered here at the Wesley House for our annual birthday celebration, joyous over the prospects for another year's service for the Master, our hearts grow sad and pensive as we pause to pay this little tribute to her blessed memory. It seems most fitting that we, assembled, should honor her whose beautiful life has influenced so many others to a fruitful service.

Mrs. Cochran loved the Lord and, being truly Christian in character, she loved all of his children, whether the heathen across the sea or "his own in our midst." Yea, many in that great day will rise up and call her blessed.

The organization of the City Mission Board, seventeen years ago, and the building of the Wesley House ten years ago, were the culmination of her earnest efforts, representing faith, prayer and work. Many obstacles came in the way, but she was undaunted in spirit—her faith led her on and on to the glorious day—and eternity alone can tell the result of her work.

The first building used in the City Mission work was located across the street from the Wesley House, and was named "The Elizabeth Cochran Reading Room." There the first deaconess sent out by the Council (Mrs. Alice Sheider) had her residence.

A poet hath truly said, "We live in deeds, not years." Then the life of Mrs. Cochran, so replete with good deeds, was, as a ripened sheaf, ready to be garnered by the Master. "She hath done what she could," for serving and doing his will was her life-work.

Of calm dignity, strong in character, gentle in spirit, ambitious for high attainment that she might serve the better, she passed into her own.

Therefore, be it resolved, That in the passing of the life of Mrs. Cochran the City Mission Board has suffered a distinct loss. A beautiful, consecrated Christian woman whom we all loved has gone from among us, to meet with us in our councils no more. Truly she was a leader, counsellor, friend.

That the good she has done, the hearts she has made glad, the physical comforts she has been able to bring to so many needy, erring ones, will be an enduring memorial to her.

Resolved, further, That our sympathy and appreciation are given her bereaved husband.

That these resolutions be spread on the minutes of the City Mission Board and a copy sent to her husband.

"Sleep on, beloved, sleep, and take thy rest,
Lay down thy head upon thy Saviour's breast,
We love thee well, but Jesus loved thee best."

Respectfully submitted,
MRS. G. C. KENDALL,
MRS. J. C. TEMPLETON,
MRS. J. H. RUSH,
Committee.

MARRIED.

At the home of the bride's parents, in Wiggins, Miss., February 3, 1923, MR. JOHN O. RUTLEDGE, of Jackson, Miss., and MISS LAUNA LOCKE. Rev. R. E. Rutledge officiating.

Thanks and Praise: O give thanks unto the Lord, for He is good: for His mercy endureth forever. Oh that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men.—Psalm 107: 1, 8.

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

Girls! Girls!! Clear Your Skin With Cuticura
Sample each (Soap, Ointment, Talcum) of Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass. Sold everywhere.

MINERALIZED WATER ROUTS CHICKEN LICE

Tablets Dropped into Drinking Founts Banish Vermin, Make Fowls Grow Faster and Increase Egg Yield.

Any poultry raiser can easily rid his flock of lice and mites, make chickens grow faster and increase their egg yield by simply adding minerals to the fowls' drinking water. This does away with all bother, such as dusting, greasing, dipping and spraying. The necessary minerals can now be obtained in convenient tablets, known as Paratabs. Soon after the fowls drink the mineralized water, all lice and mites leave them. The tablets also act as a tonic conditioner. The health of the fowls quickly improves, they grow faster and the egg yield frequently is doubled. Little chicks that drink freely of the water never will be bothered by mites or lice.

The method is especially recommended for raisers of purebred stock, as there is no risk of soiling the plumage. The tablets are warranted to impart no flavor or odor to the eggs or meat. This remarkable conditioner, egg tonic and lice remedy costs only a trifle and is sold under an absolute guarantee. The tablets are scientifically prepared, perfectly safe, and dissolve readily in water.

Any reader of this paper may try them without risk. The laboratories producing Paratabs are so confident of good results that to introduce them to every poultry raiser they offer two big $1 packages for only $1. Send no money, just your name and address—a card will do—to the Paratab Laboratories, Dept. 911, 1100 Coca Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and the two $1 packages, enough for 100 gallons of water, will be mailed. Pay the postman $1 and postage on delivery, and if you are not delighted with results in 10 days—if your chickens are not healthier, laying more eggs and entirely free from lice and mites—your money will be promptly refunded. Don't hesitate to accept this trial offer as you are fully protected by this guarantee.

For the HAIR—
To make it soft, fluffy and free from dandruff use
TETTERINE
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Public Service

HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS

On the Job

Delicious vegetables, tender and juicy, fresh from your home garden.

Beautiful flowers, brilliant and rare colors, filling your house with cut flowers and rich in display in your yard. Heavy yielding crops, for good livestock and poultry in your fields.

Hastings' Seeds have been bred and selected to produce the finest vegetables, richest colored flowers and heaviest yielding crops in cultivation.

Write today for the beautiful new 1923 catalog. It is the Seed Book of the South. It describes and pictures hundreds of the best varieties to grow and you need it in your home. It's entirely free and will come to you by return mail.

H. G. HASTINGS CO.
"The South's Seedsmen"
ATLANTA : : GEORGIA

TO START A CHURCH IN CUBA.

Dear Brother Carley: I am sending you $1 (one dollar) to be used as the nucleus for the establishing of a school or the opening of a church in the town Brother Garfield Evans mentions in his article in the Advocate of February 8 (in Cuba). With this small amount I am giving, I am praying to God to put it into the hearts of others to give enough to establish his work in this Cuban town (the name of which I do not know). May God hear my humble prayer.

Yours for the establishment of his Kingdom here on earth.

(Mrs.) BENNETT BELL.

Pelahatchie, Miss.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

Neutralizes Uric Acid!

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood. In order to be cured of rheumatism it is necessary to neutralize this acid. RENWAR is a scientific combination of salts prepared to neutralize the uric acid in the blood. There is nothing in Renwar to injure the stomach or affect the heart. It acts solely upon uric acid, completely eliminating it from the blood and thereby relieving your rheumatism. It is harmless but effective. Positively guaranteed by money-back offer. It is a godsend to sufferers from rheumatism. Renwar also corrects constipation. Mr. J. M. Willis of the Nashville Railway and Light Company says, "I must say that Renwar far surpassed my expectations, for it gave me almost immediate relief; too much can not be spoken in behalf of 'Renwar' for rheumatism." Sold by druggists, price 50 cents, or by mail from WARNER DRUG COMPANY, NASHVILLE, TENN.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

Any Weakness or Distress?

Copperhill, Tenn.—"I suffered for 8 years from stomach trouble, and truthfully can say that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery did more for me than all the doctors I ever tried. One of my neighbors said, 'Why don't you try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery?' I sent and got a bottle and I can hardly tell how much that one bottle did for me, and when I had taken three bottles I was able to do my washing. I couldn't do all my housework before I began taking the medicine, and now I can do anything I want to and feel good. I praise Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to everybody."—Mrs. J. A. Russell.

Go at once to your neighborhood drug store and get the "Golden Medical Discovery" in tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

TETTERINE

DRIVES AWAY PIMPLES

and leaves your skin soft and spotless 60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

When Fools Cry: Fools, because of their transgression, and because of their iniquities, are afflicted.

Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and He saveth them out of their distresses.—Psalm 107:17, 19.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

(In part.)

Alexandria, Feb. 25, a.m., Mar. 5, p.m.
Pineville, Feb. 25, p.m., Feb. 27, p.m.
Elizabeth Ct., at Oberlin, Mar. 4.
Melder Ct., at Campground, Mar. 11, a.m.
Cheneyville, Mar. 11, p.m.
Marksville Ct., at Marksville, Mar. 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, Mar. 25.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, Mar. 31, Apr. 1, p.m.
Natchitoches, Apr. 1, a.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, Apr. 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, Apr.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—Second Round.

25 a.m.
Mangum Memorial (preaching) Sun., Feb. 25, p.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Lake End, and Powhatan, Sun., Mar. 4, a.m. and p.m.
Bossier City (Conference), Wed., Mar. 7, p.m.
Oil City, Sun., Mar. 11 a.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Trees, Sun., Mar. 11, p.m.
Noel Memorial (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, a.m.
First Church (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, p.m.
Mansfield Station and Mission, Sun., Mar. 25, a.m. and p.m.
Mangum Memorial (Conference), Wed., Mar. 28, p.m.
Belcher at Gilliam, Sun., Apr. 1, a.m.; Conference, Mon., 9 a.m.
Ida at Hosston, Sun., [illegible]: Conference, 3 p.m.; preach[illegible] 7:30 p.m.
Texas Avenue (Confe[illegible]) Wed., Apl. 4, p.m.
Pelican at Mitchell, Sun[illegible]
Vivian, Sun., Apl. 15, a.m.
Mooringsport, Sun., Apl. 15, [illegible]
DISTRICT CONFERENCE AT MANSFIELD, APRIL 17-19.
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane, Sun., Apl. 22, a.m.
Logansport, Sun., Apl. 22, p.m.
Noel Memorial (Conference), Wed., Apl. 25, p.m.
Pleasant Hill, at Beulah, Sun., Apl. 29.
First Church (Conference), Wed., May 2, p.m.
Longstreet, at Keatchie, Sun., May 6, a.m.
Greenwood, Sun., May 6, p.m.
Bayou La Chute, at Elm Grove, Sun., May 13.
Plain Dealing, at Benton, Sun., May 20.

R. H. WYNN, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Corinth District—Second Round.

Corinth, First Church, preaching Feb. 11, at 11 a.m.; Q. C., Feb. 26, night.
Corinth, South Side, preaching Feb. 11, at night; Q. C., Feb. 27, night.
Blue Mountain, at Walnut, Feb. 24, 25.
Corinth Ct., at Mt. Carmel, Wednesday, Feb. 28.
Dumas Ct., at Wier Chapel, Mar. 3, 4.
Guntown, at Hebron, Thursday, Mar. 8.
Baldwyn, at Lebanon, Mar. 10, 11.
Booneville Sta., preaching Mar. 11, at night; Q. C., Apr. 6, at 3 p.m.
New Albany Sta., Q. C., Thursday night, Mar. 15; preaching, Mar. 18, night.
Potts Camp, at Bethlehem, Friday, Mar. 16.
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer, Mar. 17, 18.
Myrtle, at Union Hill, Friday, Mar. 23.
Sherman, at Chesterville, Mar. 24, 25.
Wheeler, at Hodge's Chapel, Wednesday, Mar. 28.
New Albany Ct., at Well's Chapel, Thursday, Mar. 29.
Kossuth, at Pleasant Hill, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Booneville Ct., at Carolina, Friday, Apr. 6.
Rienzi, at Blackland, Apr. 7, 8.
Paden, at Paden, Thursday, Apr. 12.
Tishomingo, at Paradise, Friday, Apr. 13.
Belmont, at Patterson's Chapel, Apr. 14, 15.
Ripley Sta.; Q. C., Friday night, Apr. 20; preaching, Apr. 22, night.
Silver Springs, at Pain's Chapel, Apr. 21, 22.
Mooreville, at Oak Hill, Apr. 24.
Mantachie, at Oak Grove, Apr. 25.
Marietta, at Gilmore's Chapel, Thursday, Apr. 26.
Chalybeate, at Mt. Pleasant, Apr. 28, 29.
Burnsville, at Chapel Hill, Friday, May 4.
Iuka Ct., at Harmony, Saturday, May 5.
Iuka Sta., Q. C., Friday night, May 4; preaching, May 6, at 11 a.m.
The Corinth Dstrict Conference will be held at Ripley, Miss., May 15-17.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—Second Round.

Coila, at Coila, Feb. 25, 11 a.m.
Black Hawk, at Emory, March 4, 11 a.m.
Acona, March 4, 7:30 p.m.
Lambert, at Marks, March 11.
Annual Meeting of Woman's Missionary Society, at Greenwood, March 13-16.
Tutwiler, at Rome, March 18, 11 a.m.
Inverness, at Isola, March 25, 11 a.m.
Belzoni, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Sidon, at Cruger, April 1, 11 a.m.
Tchula, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Drew, at Sandy Bayou, April 8, 11 a.m.
Schlater, at Sunny Side, April 15, 11 a.m.
Minter City, at Glendora, April 22, 11 a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, April 29, 11 a.m.
Greenwood, April 30, 7:30 p.m.
Swift, at Swift, May 6, 11 a.m.
Dublin, at Mattson, May 13, 11 a.m.
Sunflower, at Fasonia, May 20, 11 a.m.
District Conference at Inverness, May 23-25.
Webb, at Sumner, May 27, 11 a.m.

All benevolences are expected to be reported "provided for" by subscriptions or cash, not later than the meeting of the district conference. Let boards of stewards and pastors take this important matter up at once.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Salt Your Stock the Blackman Way

DO YOU TAKE SALT

with meals, or just fill up on salt once or

TWICE A WEEK?

A few licks of BLACKMAN'S Tonic Salt should be a part of the daily diet of your live stock. It is medicated and will improve digestion, make the feed go further, and keep them in healthy condition. So simple, so easy. Just drop brick in feed-box—it will do the rest.

The Blackman Stock Remedy Co.
Chattanooga, Tenn.

WHEELER Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

whooping cough

and CROUP—those dreaded Childhood afflictions are quickly and safely relieved by Roche's Herbal Embrocation—the remedy that has served several generations of Mothers successfully—since 1802.

Equally effective for BRONCHITIS or COLDS on the chest.

Always keep a bottle handy

E. FOUGERA & CO., Inc.
90-92 Beckman Street, New York

ROCHE'S HERBAL EMBROCATION

IF SICK, BILIOUS! START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

Sunday School

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES.

Rain and sickness cut us out of part of the work at Richton, but altogether it was a profitable trip. Their work starts well this year, and it will be a great year I feel sure.

The Mississippi Conference Sunday schools pledged $35,446 to the Centenary; they have paid only $20,658.39; there is still $14,787.61 to be paid. One district, the Jackson, has paid more than the pledges for five years. Jackson District pledged $5,196, and paid up to January 29, 1923, $5,453.1[illegible]. This was due to the Capitol Street Sunday school's pledging $1,500; and their interest has grown so that they have paid $2,977.06, and I understand that their pledge for this year is $[illegible],200. What this school has done others can do; and would it be too much to say that in proportion all should do?

The revival fires are burning. Are you longing for revival? Are you praying for revival? God will answer. I do believe the paying of the Centenary pledges and the getting of each school to pay something to the Centenary will help to open the way for a large REVIVAL.

Don't forget that each Sunday school worker, whether employed or in the local Sunday school, needs the definite prayers of each and every praying person. May the Lord pour His Spirit upon us.

Yours, in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

NEW SPRING GOODS
ARRIVING DAILY,
And the
PRICES ARE VERY,
VERY LOW.
CHAS. A. KAUFMAN
COMPANY.
DRYADES STREET,
New Orleans, La.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203,
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.

Complete Outfitters of Stylish Stouts
Everything to fit the Stout Figure. Evening Gowns, Semi-Evening Street Dresses, Afternoon Dresses.
Wraps, Underwear, Hosiery, Corsets, Neckwear and Accessories.
424-426 S. Rampart.
New Store:
Canal and Chartres

HEMSTITCHING
Embroidering, Buttons Covered, Scalloping, etc.
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS
109 BOURBON STREET. Main 734.
Elevator Service

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
LADIES' AND GENTS' WORK OF ALL KINDS
Calls Made Daily. High Class Work at Pre-war prices. Promptness. Courtesy. Honesty.
4105 MAGAZINE STREET
Uptown 4831

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 9132
Old Stoves Taken In on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty
3921 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

~~Rev.~~ R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

We have secured the following teachers to give instruction in the Columbus District Standard Training School to be held at Starkville, March 26-31:

Junior Organization and Administration, Miss Nannie Baker, of Mobile; Principles of Religious Teaching, Prof. C. A. Bowen, of Millsaps College; Life and Letters of Paul, Dr. H. G. Howard, of Emory University; The School, Rev. Melville Johnson, of Grenada.

The wise and kind thing to do is to write Rev. W. W. Woollard, Starkville, Miss., and tell him which of the courses you wish to take; and this should be done as early as possible, that we may know what books to order and that he may provide a home for you. Another matter of vital importance is to see that your school sends an offering to pay for the expense of the school.

We have recently employed Mrs. V. R. McDonald as Confernce Elementary Superintendent and general helper in all the Sunday school work of the Conference. Mrs. McDonald is a daughter of Rev. John A. Randolph, of Sardis. She has the best of training for this work and will be of great help in forwarding our Sunday school work in the Conference. The teachers of beginners, primary children, and juniors are fortunate in having her services. Write to her at Sardis, Miss.

Every superintendent will confer a great favor on us by ordering Sunday School Day programs at once. We must get at least 50 per cent of our schools to obey the law of the church this year. Every cent of the offering is to be used in our own Conference. Get the programs and observe the day before the schools have their commencements.

Bring the Centenary pledge before your school and pay every dollar that has been promised, for the honor of our church and for our own good, as well as for the glory of God.

Last week I held an institute for the teachers at Water Valley. The school accepted the "B" Program of Work and formally took up Evangelism as the first point to work out. Rev. L. P. Wasson's big heart is in his work and in his people. This school has done some great work in the past and promises to do still greater things for the Kingdom of God.

THE MEETING AT FIRST CHURCH, SHREVEPORT.

I have just returned from Shreveport, where I have been for eight days, attending the revival at the First Methodist Church, conducted by Dr. H. C. Morrison, of Wilmore, Ky., the noted evangelist. The influence of his sermons will not pass away soon. Considering the weather conditions which prevailed at the very beginning, continuing through the meeting—snow and rain—it proved to be a wonderful victory. Congregations were large and very attentive. To-day is different from years gone by. People are anxious for a Gospel that is sane, practical, and will aid them to live a life of purity, which only is acceptable by our Heavenly Father. Congregations were made up of the best people of the country.

Methodism is speeding up in that beautiful city. The Bible Class taught by Dr. Smith is made up of fine specimens of humanity; the teacher is the master of the situation, plain and practical. Dr. Brooks, P. C. of the church, is a fine man, a good mixer, loved by his people.

I met many of my old friends, preachers and their wives. I was real happy to meet dear old Sister Van Vaulkenburg and her beautiful young daughter, who live in Shreveport.

On my way home, on the train, at 12 o'clock, I opened my suitcase and got my sandwiches out to satisfy hunger. An Irishman sitting on the seat in front of me had the appearance of a hungry man; so I touched him on his shoulder and offered him one of my sandwiches. He gladly received it, became free with me in conversation, and at the proper time I asked him about his religious views. He expressed himself by saying he was not a member nor ever was a member of any church, because he did not want to be classed with the hypocrites—in the future he might change.

Yours fraternally,
JAMES H. WALKER.

MARRIED.

On Feb. 3, 1923, at the Seventh Avenue Methodist parsonage, Meridian, Miss., by Rev. D. E. Vickers, MR. HUBERT PURVIS to MISS EULA EUBANKS, both of Meridian, Miss.

On Feb. 6, 1923, at the Seventh Avenue Methodist parsonage, Meridian, Miss., by Rev. D. E. Vickers, MR. SAM L. RILEY to MISS EDNA J. KIDD, both of Clark County, Miss.

And lo! from the heaven above,
An angel leaned from the glory,
And sang his song of love.
He sang, that first sweet Christmas,
The song that shall not cease,
"Glory to God in the highest,
On earth good will and peace."
—Frederick W. Faber.

Policy is never best honesty.—Selected.

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls, Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2384

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

United Style Shop
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

COMET'S ORANGE DRINK
Something New for New Orleans.
Pure Orange Juice Served Daily. Take Home a [illegible]
Pints 15c. Quarts 30c.
Special Rates on All Social Affairs.
938 CANAL STREET.
Phone, Main 6953.

Revivals in which the revivalist is the chief thing are of small account.—Selected.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

Sure Relief
FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

UNITY
DENTAL CO.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE.

Highest class work in the city.
15-YEAR GUARANTEE.
Nerve Blocking our Specialty.
Eliminates all Pain.

108 UNIVERSITY PLACE
Phone Main 6606

We Know How—Quick Service.
We Call for and Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.
AUTO SERVICE.
CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER
103 NORTH DELTA ST.
OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

TETTERINE
ENDS COMPLEXION WORRIES.
Healing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

As to What to Wear,
How It Fits or Becomes You. You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.
If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162.
830 CANAL STREET.

Free Catalog
Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS
Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

TOPIC FOR MARCH 4.

(Taken from the Devotional Meeting Annual and used by permission.)

Psalms of Life—III. The Refuge Psalm.

Ps. 91:1-16; Heb. 13:5, 6.

(Monthly Roll Call Meeting.)

Daily Bible Readings.

M. An Ancient Covenant of Obedience and Protection. Deut. 7:12-15.
T. Another Psalm of Refuge. Ps. 46:1-3.
W. A Promise to the Servant of the Lord. Isa. 42:5-9.
T. Why Be Anxious? Matt. 6:25-34.
F. One Confident in Peril. Acts 27:20-26.
S. The Ground of Assurance. Rom. 8:31-38.

Directions.

Several subjects for an advertising poster will occur—a warrior with shield and sword protecting some one; the ark, on which the word "safety" is written.

A helpful exercise will be the reading of the Psalm by three voices, representing its dialogue character. The readers stand in order, 1, 2, 3. First read verses 1 and 2; second, 3 and 4; first, 5 to 8; second 9 to 13; third voice concludes as an answer from God with the reading of verses 14 to 16.

On the Topic.

If we supply the word "happy" at the beginning of verse one, we shall have a Beatitude Psalm, like Psalms 1, 32, 41 and 128, "Happy is the man," etc.; "He shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

1. What things are there that we have reason to fear? Refer to those mentioned in the Psalm—snares, pestilence, terror of the darkness, ambush, contagious diseases spread in the night, deadly sting of the mid-day sun, wild beasts, and serpents. Foes of spiritual and temporal, challenge human life and character.

2. The life of the righteous man is not always an easy one in this world. Our Master himself promised us, "In the world ye shall have tribulations." But he bids us "be of good cheer," for he has "overcome the world."

---

PERSONAL MESSAGE

To the Leaguers of Louisiana from Their Field Secretary.

Hello, Dear Leaguers: How are you these cold winter days? Fine, I am sure. Well, I am not suffering from the cold weather here in New Orleans, but rather I fear that I will soon be suffering from the heat.

I suppose you have asked yourself, and others, the question, "What has become of our Field Secretary?" Well, I do not blame you, for it has been about three months since you heard from me. But I am sure that as soon as you know the facts of the case, you will not be mad with me.

The Facts Are These.

During the past six months the future of our Field Program was very uncertain, and all of our workers were praying that the Lord would lead us in our future plans; so, during the month of November, I felt sure that the dear Lord would take care of us in the right way, and one day while assisting Rev. W. B. Hogg in a revival meeting at Alexandria, I felt my heart strangely warmed by the Holy Spirit to PREACH THE GOSPEL. I thought of this for some time, and then I completely surrendered myself to his call, for he has led me ever since I entered his service in the year 1913, and why should I have a cause to doubt his divine power of leadership at this time? With this conviction, I surrendered myself to the Annual Conference which met in Shreveport the latter part of November and, as a result, I was assigned to the Epworth Church in New Orleans. This was a surprise to me, but I will say it has proved to be a pleasant surprise, for it is a church that the City Union Epworth Leaguers of the city founded and operated for some time, and surely the Epworth League flavor is sweet to me.

I entered my field of service immediately after Conference, and within a couple of weeks I will write an article on "WHAT WE ARE DOING AT EPWORTH CHURCH."

I am sure that at this time the thing to do is to tell you faithful Leaguers a few facts about our State organization, as the time is fast passing and another year will soon be ended.

Most of you no doubt remember that at the Assembly of 1921 a certain individual in our State manifested his interest in our work by paying our organization out of debt, which amounted to several hundred dollars, and at that time he stated that he would give us during the next year about eighteen hundred dollars. We enlarged our program accordingly, and during that year we were able to do great things; but at the close of the year this individual was not in a position to take care of his obligation because of financial conditions. So, at our Fourth Assembly, we faced a deficit of $1,800. The above mentioned individual helped me to secure three other men, together with himself, to sign a note for $1,000 of this amount, which put us in a position to carry on the Fourth Assembly. With these conditions existing, we entered the new year (which closes June, 1923,) with a deficit of almost $1,800. We carried on our work very successfully up to November with money which was paid in to the State treasurer by the faithful Leaguers during the September Campaign for Loyalty Legion members, which I stop here long enough to say was mighty fine, and I certainly do thank them for their support, and hope they all received their banners. When we came to the 1st of November, we had paid off $400 of the thousand-dollar note, and at that time had a deficit of about $1,100. As soon as I felt called to enter the ministry, my first desire was to close up all bills and to leave the field work free from all obligations, so I set to work and secured a few dollars from a few friends of mine and then appealed to the Annual Conference Epworth League Board to appropriate as much as they possibly could out of their funds to help us abolish the old debts. They, in response to this appeal, signed over about $800. After selling some office furniture, and cashing in all we could, we have been successful in closing out all bills with the exception of the $600 balance at the bank and about $50 to Lamar & Barton. Now listen, Leaguers; why not let's clean that up before the first day of the next Assembly? I am going to call on all my personal friends whom the

(Continued on Last Page.)

"Calls Christians to greater use of creative energy for transforming society."—Missionary Review of the World. "Truly represents the mind and heart of the whole body of sound Protestant faith in relation to the evangelization of the world."—Nashville Christian Advocate. "An illuminating interpretation of present day Christian responsibility."—Western Recorder. "Sets forth clearly the essential objectives in missionary endeavor."—Missions. "Points out how the missionary propaganda of the Christian Church can be most intelligently formulated and successfully applied."—United Presbyterian. "A vital message, vigorous in statement, stimulating in thought, fervent in appeal."—Christian Intelligencer. "Sets forth clearly and forcibly the philosophy of modern evangelical missions."—North Carolina Christian Advocate.
MAKING THE WORLD CHRISTIAN
John Monroe Moore, D.D., Ph. D.
Net, $1.75
PUBLISHING HOUSE, M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH
Lamar & Barton, Agents
Nashville Dallas Richmond San Francisco

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

CHAMBERLAIN'S
TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

Rheumatic Pains Aches
are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also. 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT.

FROM RAYNE, LA.

One of the greatest and best things that can happen to a young preacher is that he be sent to Rayne. The people are just the finest ever, and their patience is wonderful to see. Their sympathy is always encouraging and they are ever loyal to the church. Our membership is not so large, but the strength of the church cannot be estimated in proportion to numbers. Our church is the only Protestant church in Rayne, and because of this fact we have worshiping with us families of other denominations, and we are all together—one big family.

The departments of the church are well organized and are functioning beautifully under the leadership of capable leaders. In proof of this fact, let me relate an incident that occurred in the latter part of the Conference year just passed. The pastor, because of his health, was forced to leave a few weeks before the Conference met. But hardly once did the pulpit remain vacant. The Sunday school did not by any means suffer because of the absence of the pastor. The capable leaders that were in charge were wide-awake and alert. Because of this fact, the school has earned for itself an enviable reputation. When the Conference met, the reports were handed in and there was not a hitch or miss anywhere.

The Sunday school, as mentioned above, is well organized and well officered. I do not hesitate to say that we have one of the best superintendents in the Conference. The departments are well organized and are doing splendid work. The teachers of our school are contributing no small amount to the success of the school. We are very proud of the work of our school, and especially of the faithful attendance of those enrolled. There is one thing lacking that would contribute much to the success of our school, namely, more classroom space. We feel very keenly our lack of space for classrooms, but hope in the near future that this obstacle may be surmounted and bothersome difficulties overcome. We hope to build a new church, and in the plans for the new building especial attention will be given to this need.

Our Epworth League is working, and one of the fruits of their labor has been the buying of a radio set, which has been installed in the "hut." The younger set and others enjoy the evenings listening to the programs sent out from distant broadcasting stations.

We are especially proud of our standing in the payment of Centenary pledges. Our assessed quota has been paid.

Our prayers are that we may have a glorious year and do much for the cause of Christ and the advancement of his kingdom.

A. K. McLELLAND.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Stops Malaria, Restores Strength and Energy. 60c

SORES BOILS, CUTS and BURNS have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

CANCER HOSPITAL: Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

FREEDOM FROM LAXATIVES

Discovery by Scientists Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent medical authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Medical authorities have found that the gentle lubricating action of Nujol most closely resembles that of Nature's own lubricant. As Nujol is not a laxative it cannot gripe. It is in no sense a medicine. And like pure water it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is prescribed by physicians; used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

INTELLIGENTLY PLAN FOR GREAT REVIVALS.

Pastors and congregations desiring great tent revivals should write me at once. I am now planning my work. Any one not acquainted with my work should write that wide-awake and successful pastor, Rev. A. W. O'Bryant, at Richton, Miss., where I held a great union tent meeting last year with 123 additions; or write our live-wire presiding elder, Rev. J. B. Randolph, Corinth, Miss. In regard to finances, I will state plainly that in any revival meeting where I have a real opportunity to render efficient service according to my plans, and do not have great and satisfactory results, I will not accept offerings for services above incidentals. So you see I am willing to work by faith absolutely, with intelligent planning on the human side. Gipsy Smith could not succeed as he does without proper planning. I do not ask pastors to burden their minds by assuming any obligations for my services, but merely co-operate with me in my sincere efforts to serve them acceptably. I will take care of everything by methods that I know will work and give general satisfaction. The pastor's salary is entitled to first consideration on the temporal side, so you have no risk to run. I am a Methodist preacher, but where churches will unite, and so desire, I will hold union meetings. A pastor's year's work is largely conditioned upon a genuine revival meeting. I have some open dates from April till July. All meetings cannot be held in the summer.

Who wants to plan for a great tent meeting?

W. D. BASS.

Corinth, Miss.

FROM THE CHALYBEATE CHARGE

Our [illegible] uarterly conference was held f[illegible] Chalybeate charge at Camp G[illegible] Church, Jan. 12, 1923. In many w[illegible] it was a success. The Lord gave u[illegible] a beautiful, bright day, a real, happy, jolly little bunch of people, a bountiful dinner, and a raise in our pastor's salary. Brother Randolph, our much beloved presiding elder, gave us an unusually splendid sermon, his text being taken from Romans 6:9: "And let us not be weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap if we faint not." It was strong and helpful. In our presiding elder we realize we have a godly man, and that he certainly has his work on his heart, and we feel that under his wise leadership, and also our pastor's, the work on the Chalybeate charge will still move forward.

We are glad to say that Brother Ward had the best report last year tha[illegible] has ever been given from this cha[illegible]e. We have only four churches on [illegible] is charge, and his report was $2,[illegible]. Yet we can't boast of this, becau[illegible] we haven't done our best. We hang our heads in shame when we think of our pastor's salary. But we are hoping to see a dissatisfied spirit among our church members—dissatisfied with our present way of doing, satisfied only as we work together with the presiding elder, pastor, and each other to push our church up to the standard. We can do it. Where there is unity, there is strength.

We believe this will be, and are expecting it to be, the best year yet. The pastor's salary has been put on the assessment basis. That is one mark of advancement. Brother Ward is a very busy man, looking constantly after his work, and he has started the new year with new zeal and energy; and with the prayers and help of his people, God only knows the results. We are rejoiced to see the Methodist church as a whole on the forward march.

REPORTER.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

THY FATHER.

Art tired?
There is a rest remaining. Hast thou sinned?
There is a sacrifice. Lift up thy head;
The lovely world, and the over world
alike,
Ring with a song eterne, a happy rede;
Thy Father loves thee.

—Jean Ingelow.

Shall Be My People: They shall be my people, and I will be their God: and I will give them one heart, and one way, that may fear me forever, for the good of them, and of their children after them.—Jeremiah 32: 38, 39.

PILES Don't Be Cut Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment
My internal method of treatment is the correct one, and is sanctioned by the best informed physicians and surgeons. Ointments, salves and other local applications give only temporary relief.
If you have piles in any form write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets and you will bless the day that you read this. Write today.
E. R. PAGE 430J Page Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Eve[illegible]oss, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste a[illegible] it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

When constipated, bilious, irritable, listless, or full of cold, your little one needs a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" to quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the sour bile and undigested food right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Greenville Dist.—Second Round.

Dundee, Feb. 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Schoolhouse S. S., Feb. 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. M. Wyatt.
Dubbs, Feb. 25, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Tunica, Feb. 25, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Robinsonville, Mar. 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by C. A. Parks.
Hollywood, March 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. B. Conner.
Tunica, March 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Robinsonville, March 4, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Robinsonville, March 4, 7 p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Lyon, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. M. Brownlee.
Clarksdale, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching by Del Longgrear.
Clarksdale, March 11, 5 p.m. Q. C., Del Longgrear.
Dundee, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Lyon, March 11, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Alligator, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by C. M. Chapman.
Shelby, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by L. A. McKeown.
Duncan, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Sherard, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Alligator, March 18, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Shelby, March 18, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Hillhouse, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Gunnison, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. N. Dodds.
Malvina, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. B. Sharp.
Rosedale, March 25, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Leland, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Shaw, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. E. Gregory.
Litton, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. D. Simpson.
Shaw, April 1, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette will lead the music at Shaw evening service.
Cleveland, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Hartsfield.
Shipman's Chapel, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Mitchell.
Boyle, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Cleveland, April 8, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette at Boyle a.m. and Cleveland p.m. services.
Sherard, April 15, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Friars Point, April 15, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Pace, April 18, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette, high noon lunch, all officials present, get acquainted.
Hollandale, April 22, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. Nash Broyles.
Hollandale, afternoon and evening, Big Brothers and Q. C.
Greenville, April 22, a.m. and p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Greenville, April 25, 8 p.m. Q. C. Big Brothers Quartette and special program at this conference.
Glen Allan, April 29, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Benoit, April 29, 11 a.m. Big Brother J. J. Baird.
Benoit, April 29, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette heard at the Benoit evening service.
Shipman's Chapel, May 2, 11 a.m. Preaching and Quarterly Conference.
Duncan, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Bobo, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Duncan, May 6, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Duncan, May 6, p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Leland Q. C. during the district conference.

District conference and S. T. S. at Leland, May 7-12, 100 the minimum number to take the teachers' course. The best talent, the greatest hospitality, THE BIGGEST CONFERENCE OF THE KIND EVER HELD IN THIS DISTRICT.

The Wise Virgins looked after extra oil. Great Centenary offering immediately after the district conference. "Be ye also ready."

You must know the joy of hard work, honest sacrifice, before you can taste the sweet waters of success.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

Sardis District—Second Round.

Como, 11 a.m., Feb. 11, Q. C., April 4.
Coldwater, at Love, 11 a.m., Feb. 18; Q. C., Feb. 27, 4 p.m.
Hernando, Feb. 18, p.m.; Q. C., Feb. 27, p.m.
Senatobia, 11 a.m., Feb. 25; Q. C., Feb. 28, p.m.
Sardis, Feb. 25, p.m.; Q. C., March 1, p.m.
Batesville, March 4.
Oakland, at Tillatobia, March 10, preaching 11 a.m., and Q. C. in afternoon.
Charleston, March 11, p.m.
Cockrum, at Independence, March 17-18.
Olive Branch, at Mineral Wells, 11 a.m., March 24; Q. C., in afternoon.
Byhalia, at Fountain Head, 11 a.m., March 25; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crenshaw, March 30.
Arkabutla, at Sarah, March 31, April 1.
Sardis Ct., at Cold Springs, 11 a.m., April 7; Q. C. in afternoon.
Longtown, at Pleasant Grove, April 8, 11 a.m.; Q. C., in afternoon.
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's Chapel, April 14-15.
Shuford, at Lovejoy, 11 a.m., April 21; Q. C., in afternoon.
Courtland, at Pope, 11 a.m., April 22; Q. C., in afternoon.
Horn Lake, at Poplar Corner, 11 a.m., April 28; Q. C., in afternoon.
Mount Pleasant, at Union, 11 a.m., April 29; Q. C., in afternoon.
Tyro, at Tyro, 11 a.m., May 5; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crowder, at Fredonia, 11 a.m., May 6; Q. C., in afternoon.

The District Conference is announcing for May 15, 16, 17, beginning 9:30 a.m., May 15, to be held at Senatobia, Miss. It is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of all members of this conference to be on hand. I trust that all the pastors will see that the Q. C. Records for their charges are there for examination. Please let every local preacher in the District be on hand to make his report. It is no less the duty of the local preachers to be present at this conference than it is the duty of the other members to be on hand. God helping us, we are going to have a great District Conference. Please let every member be there to do his part toward making it a spiritual and material success.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

Corns

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC

SOLD 50 YEARS — A FINE GENERAL TONIC

If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.

IS IT INSURED?

No body knows when Fire or Lightning or Wind will rage and destroy. Somewhere every day church property is burning.

THE NATIONAL MUTUAL CHURCH INSURANCE COMPANY of CHICAGO

—The Methodist Mutual—has been furnishing protection AT COST upon easy annual payments since 1898. No assessments; legal reserve for protection of policy-holders same as stock companies. No agents. Deal direct. The oldest fire insurance company in the United States is a Mutual organized by Benjamin Franklin. Get the facts.

Write to HENRY P. MAGILL, Sec'ty. & Mgr. 1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, Agent, M. E. Church, South, 314 Norton Building, Louisville, Ky.

CHILDLESS HOMES MADE HAPPY

Presence of Little Ones a Great Blessing

Four Interesting Letters

Cortland, N. Y.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was weak and wanted to become strong and have a child. My husband read about it in the 'Cortland Standard' and thought it might help me. It certainly did for I now have a lovely boy fifteen months old who weighs forty pounds. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to my friends and you can certainly use my testimonial in your little books and in the newspapers, as it might help to make some other childless home happy by the presence of little ones as it has done mine."—Mrs. CLAUDE P. CANFIELD, 10 Salisbury St., Cortland, N. Y.

A Message to Mothers

Hamilton, Ohio.—"I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound since girlhood, having taken it when I was younger and suffering from a weakness and backache. Lately I have taken it again to strengthen me before the birth of my child, as I was troubled with pains in my back and a lifeless, weak feeling. I think if mothers would only take your wonderful medicine they would not dread childbirth as they do. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to every woman."—Mrs. JOS. FALCOIN, JR., 552 S. 11th Street, Hamilton, Ohio.

St. Louis, Mo.—"I want to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me seven years ago. I was run down and had a weakness such as women often have. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and after being married sixteen years became the mother of a sweet little girl. I now have four lovely children—three fine boys and the little girl six years old. I had longed for children all the while and wept many a day and envied every woman with a child. I was 36 years old when my first baby was born. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any woman who is ailing with female weakness."—Mrs. J. NAUMANN, 1517 Benton St., St. Louis, Mo.

Was Weak and Run Down

St. Louis, Mo.—"My mother took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was a girl, and when I was troubled with cramps I took it, and later when I married I again took it to make me strong as the doctor said I was weak and run down and could not have children. I took it and got along fine and now I have three girls. So you know why I keep the Compound in the house. I am a well woman and do my work and sewing too."—Mrs. JULIUS HARTMAN, 2501 W. Dodier St., St. Louis, Mo.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds Headache
Toothache Lumbago
Earache Rheumatism
Neuralgia Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1828 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

ASTHMA

The attack is relieved at once and comfortable rest assured simply by vaporizing Cresolene near the bed at night.

Introduced in 1879 Vapo-Cresolene

"Used While You Sleep"

It is the drugless treatment for bronchial ailments—coughs, colds, spasmodic croup, whooping cough and bronchitis.

Send for descriptive booklet 43B. Sold by druggists

Vapo-Cresolene Co., 62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

Epworth League.

(Continued from Page 13.)

Lord has blessed with means, about the 1st of May, and I am in hopes of securing a couple of hundred dollars; and if all the Leagues in the State will help out a little, we can easily close up the matter without any trouble. Now; I have done my best for you and I am going to count on you loyal Leaguers to help me out in this final.

I hope to be able to write an article for the Advocate every couple of weeks from now until the Assembly, as the time is drawing near for our FIFTH ANNUAL ASSEMBLY, which is set for June 12 to 19, and I want to keep you all posted as to what we are doing and what we are planning for you at the Assembly. So keep your eyes on the Epworth League column in the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Trusting that you have forgiven me for my neglect of you by this time, I close this letter, praying God's richest blessings upon each of your chapters and each of you individually.

Yours in our Master's service,
JAME B. GRAMBLING,
Field Secretary.

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession, and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c;. 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Lake Charles Dist.—Second Round.

Zwolle, at Noble, Feb. 25, 11 a.m..
Many and Robeline, at Robeline, Feb. 25, 7:30 p.m.
Hornbeck and Peason, at Peason, March 4, 11 a.m.
Lafayette, March 11, 11 a.m.
New Iberia, March 11, 7:30 p.m.
Rayne, March 18, 11 a.m.
Indian Bayou, March 18, 7:30 p.m.
Abbeville and Kaplan, at Kaplan, March 25, 11 a.m.
Gueydan and Estherwood, at Estherwood, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Leesville, April 1, 11 a.m.
Neame and Pickering, at Pickering, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Branch and Maxie, at Branch, April 8, 11 a.m.
Crowley, April 8, 7:30 p.m.
Eunice, at Reeves, April 15, 11 a.m.
Merryville, April 29, 11 a.m.
De Ridder, April 29, 7:30 p.m.
Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, May 6, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, May 6, 7:30 p.m.
Lake Charles, May 13, 11 a.m.
Carson, May 13, 7:30 p.m.

District Conference at New Iberia, beginning Wednesday night, April 18, and closing Friday, April 20.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe Dist.—Second Round.

(In Part)

Bastrop, March 3, 4.
Bonita. at Jones, March 11, a.m.
Mer Rouge, at Collinston, March 11, p.m.
W. Monroe, March 18, a.m.
Tallulah, March 18, p.m.
Columbia, at Grayson, March 24, 25.
Monroe, March 25, p. m.
Rayville, at Delhi, April 1.
Oak Grove, at Pioneer, April 7, 8.
Midway and Epps, at Epps, April 8, p.m.
Ferriday, at Clayton, April 14, 15.
Gilbert, at Wisner, April 15, p.m.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

NORTH MISS. CONFERENCE.

Columbus Dist.—Second Round.

Columbus, First Church, March 4, a.m.
Caledonia, at Mt. Pleasant, March 9; preaching, March 11.
Macon Ct., at Salem, March 18, a.m.
Macon Sta., March 18, p.m.
Chester, at Nebo, March 24, 25.
Standard Training School, at Starkville, March 26 to 31.
Columbus, Central Church, Q. C., April 3; preaching, March 4, p.m.
Noxapater, at Pisgah, April 6.
High Point, at Rural Hill, April 7, 8.
Louisville, April 8, p.m.
Kosciusko Ct., at Smyrna, April 13.
Kosciusko Sta., April 13, p.m.
Crawford and Shaeffers, at Shaeffers, April 15. a.m.
Stu[illegible]s, at Pleasant Hill, April 18.
Shu[illegible]alak, at Cooksville, April 20.
Ma[illegible]laville, at Mt. Hebron, April 21, 22.
Brooksville. April 22, p.m.
District Conference, at Ackerman. April 26, 27.
Ethel, at ——. April 28, 29.
Ackerman and Weir, at Ackerman, April 29, 30.
Mayhew and Sessums, at ——. May 2; preaching at Mayhew, April 1, a.m.
Artesia, May 3, night; preaching, April 15, night.
McCool, at Liberty Hill, May 5, 6.
Starkville, May 6. p.m.
West Point, May 9; preaching, April 1, p.m.
Cedar Bluff, at ——, May 10.

District Conference at Ackerman April 26-27. Opening sermon Wednesday night the 25th. The District Standard Training School will be held at Starkville March 26-31. All pastors are requested to let Brother Woollard know, right away, how many will attend this School from their charges. We hope to have every school in the district represented at this School. Starkville will furnish free entertainment.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—Second Round.

Holly Springs, Feb. 23, 25.
Red Banks ct., at Victoria, Feb. 24.
Water Valley, Main and T., at Taylor, Feb. 25, a.m.
Oxford, Mar. 4.
Water Valley. First Church, Mar. 9, 11.
Paris ct., at Paris, Mar. 10.
Winona ct., at New Hope, Mar. 17.
Vaiden and West, at W., Mar. 18.
Sallis ct., at Bethel, Mar. 24.
Pickens and Goodman, at G., Mar. 25 (a.m.), 26 (a.m.)
Durant, Mar. 25 (p.m.), 26 (p.m.)
Holcomb ct., at Spring Hill, Mar. 31.
Grenada, Apr. 1.
Tie Plant ct., at New Hope, Apr. 1, 2.
Poplar Creek ct., at N. Union, Apr. 7.
Kilmichael ct., at Tomnolen, Apr. 8.
Coffeeville ct., at Goshen, Apr. 15.
Duck Hill ct., at Chapel Hill, Apr. 21, 22.
Winona, Apr. 22, 23.
Lamar ct., at Early Grove, Apr. 28.
Ashland ct., at Ashland, Apr. 29.
Ebeneze[illegible] ct., at Ebenzer, May 6, 7 (a.[illegible]
Lexingt[illegible]y 6, 7.
Waterf[illegible] at Harris Chapel, May 12.
Abbeville [illegible] at Mt. Zion, May 13.

District [illegible]ference at Pickens May 8 10. Opening session at 2:30 p.m., May 8.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT. Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS

Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction

Most Modern and Best Equipped
Dental Parlors South.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

First Step in Treatment Is a Brisk Purgative With Calotabs, the Purified and Refined Calomel Tablets That Are Nausealess, Safe and Sure.

Doctors have found by experience that no medicine for colds, coughs, sore throat, and influenza can be depended upon for full effectiveness until the liver is made thoroughly active. That is why the first step in the treatment is the new, nausealess calomel tablets called Calotabs, which are free from the sickening and weakening effects of the old style calomel. Doctors also point out the fact that an active liver may go a long way towards preventing influenza and colds and is one of the most important factors in enabling the patient to successfully withstand an attack and ward off pneumonia.

One or two Calotabs on the tongue at bed time, with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, pleasure or work. Next morning your cold has vanished, your liver is active, your system is purified, and you are feeling fine, with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Genuine Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price thirty-five cents for the large, family-package; ten cents for the small, vest-pocket size.—Adv.

The Liverpool & London & Globe Ins. Co.,
Limited
THE GREAT FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF THE WORLD
Strong Liberal Prompt
SOUTHERN DEPARTMENT
COMPANY'S BUILDING NEW ORLEANS.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 9. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3499.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, MARCH 1, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

THE GOLDEN CROSS SOCIETY.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

Our General Conference acted wisely, and none too soon, when it organized a General Hospital Board looking to the establishment and maintaining of hospitals throughout the borders of our great church.

Indeed, this work has been neglected by the Methodists far too long. Without hospitals we cannot do our duty to the sick and suffering of the land, especially the poor who are unable to give proper care to the members of their household who are overtaken by disease or wounded by accidents.

The General Conference organized also the "Golden Cross Society," which it made auxiliary to the General Hospital Board of the Church, and upon which the General Hospital Board must depend largely for the funds with which it is expected to promote the hospital work of the church.

The Golden Cross Society is not an organization which has meetings and conventions, but is rather an enrollment of the members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, somewhat like the enrollment of the supporters of the Red Cross Society. Its members are enrolled in the office of the General Hospital Board, 416 Wesley Memorial Building, Atlanta, Ga., and each signs a card containing this pledge:

"Desiring to manifest my love to Christ by serving and helping the sick, the needy and the unfortunate, I hereby enroll as a member of the GOLDEN CROSS of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Write me as one who loves his fellow-man."

Adult members pay $1.00 a year and children under fourteen years of age pay 25 cents. In addition to these members there are special members as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Supporting memberships ...... | $ 10.00 |
| Sustaining memberships ...... | 25.00 |
| Service memberships .......... | 50.00 |
| Life memberships ............. | 100.00 |
| Life patron .................. | 500.00 |
| Knight of the Golden Cross.... | 10,000.00 |

Eighty per cent of the funds accruing from membership fees in the Golden Cross Society is used for the erection, endowment and support of hospitals under direction of patronizing Conferences and endorsed by the General Hospital Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and twenty per cent of the fund goes to the support of the General Hospital Board.

In our great church there are 2,500,000 members, and if even so many as half of them enroll in the Golden Cross Society the General Hospital Board can soon put a Methodist Hospital at every point in the South where one ought to be, and thus we shall take from the Roman Catholics the work which we, as Methodists, ought to do and which we have allowed them to do for us far too long.

Surely, every loyal Methodist will quickly enroll in the Golden Cross Society, and give active support to the hospital work of our church.

From a similar enrollment in the Northern Methodist Church there was raised during the year 1922 for hospitals in that church more than $700,000. By consequence, the Northern Methodists now have above eighty well-equipped and well-conducted hospitals.

Southern Methodism has only four hospitals in actual operation, and three more are in actual process of erection.

Our church ought to have not less than one great hospital for each State in which we have a work, and these hospitals we can have if we are half as zealous as our Northern Methodist brethren.

Southern Baptists are also engaging in hospital work, and their hospitals are multiplying rapidly.

In this great effort on behalf of the sick and suffering, Southern Methodism must not fall behind the foremost church in the land.

THE CENTENARY AND THE LAYMEN.

By G. L. Morelock,
General Secretary of the General Board of Lay Activities.

No other movement of Methodism has meant so much in the development of our laymen as the Centenary. The Centenary movement was world-wide in its scope and revolutionary in its policy. It dared to survey the field and to say what the church should do for a needy and distraught world. It made an unusual appeal to the missionary spirit, which is instinctive in the heart of every Christian, and threw out a challenge which was accepted by every red-blooded man in the entire church. There was developed a feeling that the church was being called upon in earnest to save the world. Methodism heard the call, welcomed the opportunity, accepted the task and made its pledges gladly, enthusiastically, even hilariously.

These pledges will be paid. Some of the subscribers have died, some have failed in business, and a few may have repudiated their pledges. There are only a few of these and they have been misled by men in the church who have declared that the Centenary funds were being squandered or being used to teach doctrines contrary to the fundamental tenets of the Christian faith. In spite of all this, as new converts come into the church and as the church comes to know the glorious results achieved by the Centenary, the subscriptions will be paid. One by one all over our church local congregations are assuming the full amounts subscribed and making up all deficits. This will be done by all.

The laymen have been in the Centenary from the beginning. They composed a majority of the now famous Memphis meeting. They made up half of the General Conference that authorized the Centenary. In the campaign, the laymen were used more and more as Conference, district and church campaign directors. Lay speakers were developed and used in each local church and sent to assist pastors on circuits until in the end the laity of the entire church was enthusiastically enlisted. We saw one time at least the church in action. The amount asked was more than subscribed. But that was the least of the achievements. The spiritual assets discovered were the great results. The church had awakened to a new consciousness. She had done a big thing in a big way. Never again can she do things in a little way. In the future her whole missionary and evangelistic effort will be enterprised on the plan of the Centenary. This will be easy as our laymen come to recognize their relation to God as stewards of life, talent, time, and property.

Not the least significant and far-reaching result of the Centenary was the revelation which Methodism had of its latent forces and unused assets. What cannot be accomplished when this latent force is aroused and put to work? The Laymen's Missionary Movement sought to discover this force and in a measure succeeded, but the Centenary revealed it in all its power and the organization of the Board of Lay Activities recognized these forces and possibilities and sought to provide the vehicle by which the results could be achieved. Through the organization of this Board, it is sought to enlist every member of the church in some form of definite Christian service. This hope is already being realized. The possibilities here are limitless.

But now we have come to a crisis in the work made possible by the Centenary. At home and abroad our missionary enterprises have been enlarged, new fields entered, and altogether the most marvelous page in the history of our church is being written. But all this must be halted; building must stop; schools must close or retrench; and missionaries and other workers must be called home—unless the Centenary pledges are paid. We are now in the midst of an emergency campaign to raise $4,000,000 by May 1. Bishops, General Secretaries, Centenary Secretaries, the Boards of the church, the church-press—all our leaders are asking that the whole church deliver her full strength just at this time to this campaign.

The Board of Lay Activities has been asked especially to make this its major task during these first four months of the year. We have heard the call and accepted the challenge. Already our forces have rallied from the Atlantic

(Continued on Eighth Page.)

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 10, 1918.

TERMS:

Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

TRAVEL LETTER FROM DR. AND MRS. I. W. COOPER.

Some English Castles.

A motor drive of twenty-three miles from London brought us, one beautiful autumn morning, to Stoke-Poges. The crisp in the air, the beautiful sunshine on the trim hedges, well-kept lawns and quaint cottages gave us a feeling of exhilaration as we entered the typical English lane-road which leads to the entrance of Stoke-Poges churchyard. This feeling was, perhaps, at variance with the wish of the great bard who hoped that "by lonely contemplation led" some soul would "mark where rests the head" of him whom melancholy marked for her own. But, after all, why should one be sad when visiting such a beautiful and well-kept "God's acre" as this? It is the neglected, unfenced, unkept country graveyard of America should that fill our hearts with sorrow for the "mutability of flesh." Here was no such suggestion, for "the rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep" in undisturbed peace, their graves well tended by the ancient sexton, their names, their years, still spelt in visible letters "by the unlettered muse"—though some have been here over two hundred years. The rugged elms and yew trees still shade many of these resting places, and beneath one of the "ivy-mantled towers" of the church, a stone slab, imbedded in the masonry, directs the eye to a simple, upper-ground vault of brick, just across the pathway. Here, since 1771 has rested the body of Sir Thomas Gray, buried by his own request, "in the Hope of a joyful Resurrection," in the grave with his mother, to whom he was very devoted. He called himself "a youth of fortune and to fame unknown," but the very writing of this elegy lifted him to fame and proved to the world that the man whose heart and mind are thoroughly furnished with fine principles, high ideals and deep feelings may immortalize himself by only one great contribution to life or literature. What food for joyous hope we find in such a thought!

About one hundred yards outside of the churchyard stands an imposing monument to Gray—a stone sarcophagus upon a massive square base—the whole designed by the architect Wyatt and paid for by an American millionaire. It is handsome and impressive in its place near the roadside, but we felt that the churchyard itself, that "haunt of ancient peace", which his genius had made so famous, was a much more appropriate memorial.

The Stoke-Poges church itself, St. Giles, and the Manor House, some two hundred yards beyond the church, are of historic and architectural interest. The history of the estate goes back to its first recorded owner, William Stokes (for Stockes), who probably fell in the battle of Hastings. Through several hands the estate came, in 1300, to belong to Robert Poges, who added his name to it and to the parish. But, to us, the most interesting owners were the Penns. In 1760, the estate was bought by Thomas Penn, son of Wm. Penn, the famous Quaker founder of Pennsylvania. It remained in the Penn family until 1840. In 1911, the Manor House was put in excellent repair by its present owner, Lord Taunton. The house and its immediate surroundings are not open to tourists.

The church is not beautiful, but is unique in many particulars. It would bear much longer study than we gave it. To us, its most interesting features were the Penn pew and the quaint stained glass window known as the Bicycle Window.

But we started this letter to tell you of some English castles which we visited. From Stoke-Poges, we drove to Windsor, through the outskirts of Eton village and campus, across the bridge over the Thames. We wished to stop at Eaton College, not because of its appearance, for it has no claims to beauty, but because it is the oldest and best know of English public schools. But Time warned us not to tarry. After a hurried luncheon, we entered the precincts of Windsor Castle. This castle is said to have been founded by William the Conqueror. At any rate, it has long been a favorite royal residence and has been enlarged and beautified by many succeeding generations of English sovereigns. Queen Victoria was particularly fond of this castle and spent a great portion of her time in residence there. Both she and Prince Albert are buried in a beautiful mausoleum at Frogmore, near Windsor Castle, but the royal tomb-house of Windsor, known as Albert Chapel, was restored and adorned by Victoria in memory of her consort. Its decorations are so lavish as to make it remarkable, even among royal possessions. It is incrusted with colored marbles, sculpture, mosaics, gilding and precious stones. The windows are filled with painted glasses which depict not only scriptural subjects, but scenes from the family history of Prince Albert.

Just beside Albert Chapel is the famous Chapel of St. George. One of its most interesting features is the elaborately carved choir stalls of the Knights of the Garter, adorned with their arms and banners. Here the Order of the Knights of the Garter is said to have originated.

In a recess of St. George's Chapel may be found one of the most beautiful "poems in marble" in the whole world. It is the cenotaph of Princess Charlotte and is an eloquent and pathetic tribute from a broken-hearted young husband to his beautiful, sainted wife. Despair and grief in the prostrate forms of the Princess and her sorrowing sisters seem contradicted by the buoyant attitudes of three lovely angels who hover near. But this wonderful group of figures "beggars description." We can only advise those of our readers who may some day visit this chapel to be sure to save an appreciative glance and a sympathetic tear for this rare memorial.

Of course, the royal apartments are not open to visitors, but the state apartments are shown on payment of extra fees. The Waterloo Chamber, which is the state dining-room, contains many wonderful portraits, paintings, tapestries, carpets and hand-wrought furniture. All the paintings in the ballroom are portraits by Vandyke. It seems impossible to give a word-picture which would convey a correct impression of the dignity, the elegance and the beauty of these apartments.

The gardens and terraces of Windsor are remarkably extensive and well-kept, but the castle itself seems to dominate everything, so long as a portion of its massive stone, battlemented walls and numerous towers are in sight. Windsor Park opens into Windsor Forest, which covers thirteen thousand acres. Here are some very historic walks and trees. Many of the oak trees are said to be over a thousand years old.

About half-way back to London, we stopped at Hampton Court Palace and Gardens. Quite in contrast to the imposing appearance of Windsor is this royal palace, for, though it dates back only to the days of Henry VIII, its extensive red brick exterior looks rather worn and dilapidated. However, the architectural outlines of these Tudor buildings, which surround three courts, are rather graceful and attractive, and we can well imagne that in the days of their original owner, the lordly and extravagant Cardinal Wolsey, these Hampton Court structures must have been, taken altogether, an elegant palace. Indeed, history tells us that Henry VIII was jealous of the state in which his Cardinal lived and, after his first break with Wolsey, he turned this handsome dwelling into a "King's Pleasure Ground," with an extensive deer park. Here he lived for a while and here one of his numerous queens, Jane Seymour, died. Other monarchs have lived here, from time to time, and added to the original palace. Many of the state apartments are still handsomely furnished, though on a far less magnificent scale than those of Windsor. The picture galleries of Hampton Court contain some fine originals by Holbein, Kneller, West and others; but the seven wonderful cartoons by Raphael, which once belonged here, have been removed to a London art gallery.

Personally, we found the Gardens of Hampton Court more interesting than the palace. About forty-four acres, immediately surrounding the palace, were devoted to park and gardens and laid out, in formal Dutch style, by William III. They are now a series of terraces covered with thousands of brilliant, blooming flowers, formal flower-pots and long, shady, trim arcades of shrubbery. If the palace seems a little dilapidated, the gardens impress one as being wonderfully and constantly tended. Among the attractions of the garden is a very extensive maze, or labyrinth of well-clipped shrubbery. It is more than seven feet tall. Here some of our young American party lost themselves and had to be rescued by a solemn-faced policeman. After this adventure, we thought it time to turn our faces back to London.

(To be Continued.)

RECOLLECTIONS OF PARSONAGE LIFE.

By a Son.

Yes, I am a preacher's son; and, better yet, a Methodist preacher's son. For something over thirty years my father has been a member of the North Mississippi Conference, in good and active standing—thirty years of hard but glorious toil for the church and for the Master; thirty years as a poor circuit rider among the red clay hills of Mississippi, years of hardship, but of wonderful fruitage, of poverty, but of glorious recompense.

And as I write these lines away out on the Pacific coast, enjoying all the wonderful bounties of sunny California, and yet homesick for that same simple parsonage life among the barren hills of Mississippi that I enjoyed for over twenty years, my great desire is to be able to show my appreciation of my heritage, a priceless heritage—a preacher's son.

My father came from good, plain American stock, a sturdy, simple family that produced two sons and a grandson for the Southern Methodist Church. My mother's people were blessed with a larger share of this world's goods, a fact that endears my mother to me more and more when I think of the sacrifices, and oftentimes want, that have been hers throughout her married life. And all these without a murmur, without complaint.

We are a large family, eight children, all living—another priceless heritage. My first recollection is of a three-room parsonage on one of the poorest circuits of the Conference. A parsonage that would not have made a respectable barn, was our lot; no paint, broken windows, the barest necessities in the way of furniture. Two bedrooms, and a family of nine! My memory is fresh to-day of those old trundle-beds, that appeared at night, and disappeared so mysteriously in the day time.

The town boasted of a fair public school, also a college. Off a salary of three or four hundred dollars a year, father kept us in school; the youngest of us in the public school, the oldest in the college. The average father could never have performed this heroic feat. Certainly it must have been done through prayer; for prayer has wrought wonders among us. And yet, educating a family on this pittance was nothing short of miraculous. Four hundred dollars to-day would last the average college student about three months. And nine of us had to live on this—and seven of us were in school!

My five sisters were very pretty, and though only a chap of six or seven years, I was very proud of their fine friends and their popularity. They loved companionship; and what humiliation must have been theirs, must have been my mother's, to have these friends see our home—our three rooms with the broken windows, the trundle-beds! Such humiliation was not false pride. It was sadly justifiable. How many, many times would I walk along the streets of the town gazing wistfully at the attractive, or even respectable, homes—wondering why we could not enjoy such respectability. And that was not a childish wish. It is just as strong to-day.

Why must the parsonage be the worst looking place in town? Why cannot the preacher live as a respectable citizen should live? I have suffered the tortures of the damned because of these parsonages that have been our lot. Stuffy, crowded rooms, never a sufficient number, even for a small family; odds and ends of furniture that a junk dealer would not have—no grass, no flowers, no beauty anywhere. Our lives starved for this sort of thing. And I dare any one to say that these desires were unworthy.

Four years at this appointment, and our next home was a larger circuit, and a larger town; with possibly a hundred dollars increase in salary. The parsonage was somewhat larger, but still inadequate; and the furniture meagre and ready to fall to pieces, as was the whole house.

Moving to this new charge was my, together with some of the other, children's first experience in riding on the train. It was a great occasion. For weeks nothing else had filled our minds. When the important day came it found us uncertain and scared. The services of the whole train crew were enlisted to get us aboard safely. Even to-day our mother relates this story with the greatest relish.

Here in our new home we all had the mumps, the measles, my baby brother was born, and my father and two of the children were down with the typhoid fever at one time. That is another period in our lives that has clearly demonstrated to me the power of prayer. Undoubtedly it must have been the prayers of our consecrated parents and good friends that enabled us to pull through that troublesome siege of sickness.

I was not a happy boy. I was bookish, timid, and could not understand why I had to wear patched breeches and worn-out shoes, and suffer the jibes of my schoolmates. The agonies that I suffered from those comparisons are just as keen to-day as they were twenty years ago. I was not permitted to play with the boys of the neighborhood. It was a smutty crowd. As a result, I suffered torments when they caught me, "untied from my mother's apron strings." A jibe hurled at me one day is painfully fresh in mind to-day:

"He's a preacher's son. His daddy has to beg for a living." Just to what extent does that express the general attitude of the public to-day?

I found all my pleasure in reading, and in tending the chickens. I haunted the town library—reading everything, from Mary J. Holmes, to Dickens, Scott and Hugo. The chickens were my special charge—and even to-day nothing appeals to me more than a yard of fine chickens. I always managed to have two or three pets among the flock. "Old Dominick" was my particular favorite—and telling her good-bye every morning before leaving for school was a religious ceremony with me.

My older brother had two or three young yearlings that he had trained to work. At one time one of the yearlings was sick, and we were afraid that he would die. Father was away one night, and it was my turn to lead in family prayer. My entire prayer was a most earnest supplication that the life of this yearling be spared! Simple confidence in prayer has been mine throughout my life. It almost seems to me that I came into this world praying.

To my mind the power of prayer is the most wonderful part of the Christian's life. How many, many times have I seen the earnest prayers of my parents answered—when there seemed to be no way out, no solution to some of their many problems!

There was lots of fun in our home despite lack of room, lack of money, and lack of most everything else but religion. We usually had good neighbors, even though they did not believe in paying the preacher a living salary. At Christmas times we children were wildly pleased with the pitiful attempts of old Santa Claus to make the best of second-hand toys, books, etc. Our good neighbors always proved their charity by unloading such things on us at this time of the year. Home mission work! Mother would celebrate our birthdays occasionally by baking a wonderful cake, and asking in a few friends. There was always a special dish of chicken with dumplings for me. And to-day that dish is just as toothsome for me as ever.

My sisters were growing prettier and prettier, and there were beaus to be considered. There was no place in our parsonage home to receive them, and no pretty clothes for my sisters—nothing but bare necessities, and those in only limited quantities.

Oftentimes I would go with father to his appointments—"ride the circuit" with him. On one occasion we were entertained in the home of one of his stewards. There was jelly for supper, and as a youngster I was fond of jelly. I was permitted to help myself as the bowl of jelly was passed around the table. It was not possible for me to empty the spoon as I wanted to, and so to make certain that the spoon would go back empty, I calmly licked off the last bit of jelly. The meal went off happily enough. Father and I returned home in the course of the week. Father, evidenly thinking that the scolding should come from mother, told her the tragedy of the jelly spoon! I do not recollect the details of the interview, but I was not permitted to forget the incident. I was not able to understand why we were given a new appointment at the close of our third year on this circuit. On asking my mother this perplexing question, she calmly replied that we moved because I had licked the jelly spoon.

The years passed in quick succession now—fruitful years for our father. Invariably each appointment wanted him the full four years. Never have I seen a more popular man—loved by both saint and sinner, living a life of complete self-denial. Many, many times have I found him in the barn, in the garden, or some other secluded place, on his knees. It is here that he fights out his battles, wins his victories. Never shall I forget the long and serious illness of our baby brother. Medical skill had done all within its power. There was nothing more for human hands to do. And yet he was saved to us, brought back from the brink of the grave by the agonized prayers that I listened to night after night—incessant praying, not without avail.

My sisters were away at college, preparing to teach. We were living in small towns then, with poor schools. It had long been my ambition to go away to school. We had almost given up hope of having a comfortable or roomy parsonage. For years we had dreamed of a commodious, "two-story" house. I would lie awake nights planning room after room, placing the furniture here and there—a flower garden and a well-kept lawn. How these longings filled our dreams! How we would anxiously await news from each Annual Conference!

Entertaining the presiding elder was always an event. And it has always been my father's happy privilege to claim the close friendship of them all. How I would long to ask the presiding elder to give us a good appointment—a "two-story parsonage!" Never in all my life have I heard my father complain about an appointment. But yet, since I have reached manhood, I wonder if justice is always rendered by the cabinet. The cabinet—that formidable array of presiding elders in formal session! Is it always free from politics, from wire-pulling? I still wonder about these things.

Our lot was cast in a small country town for four years. The good people would not give our father up, in spite of the fact that a pious Baptist brother said that he would have us moved because he did not like the attentions I paid his daughter. About this time my prayers were answered and the way was opened for me to go off to preparatory school. O, how I prayed and prayed for this privilege. If I have no other qualification, I believe my belief in prayer would almost take me to heaven.

Three years in a good preparatory school was a wonderful advantage. Two years of teaching followed; and then a university course in one of Virginia's proud old institutions. The prayers of my parents followed me, guided me, spurred me on. And all the while they were struggling to keep body and soul together. Salaries continued around the six and seven hundred dollar mark. Parsonages continued small and inadequate, in spite of the fact that my sisters were marrying, and the family circle was gradually breaking.

How my young sister and I longed for a nice home into which we might bring our friends! I was now making my own money, and able to gratify in a small way our mother's long-starved love for dainty, respectable clothes, flowers, and other beauties of life. How pleased we all were to see our pretty mother dressed in a nice silk dress—just like a girl! How eagerly have I bought dresses and hats for her—what thrills it furnishes me! And how young and beautiful our mother looks all dressed up! Her pleasure at this revealed to me with pangs of agony just how much she has missed these beautiful things of life that are so dear to the feminine heart. Who will dare say that a preacher's wife has no right to want such things? Let that be the attitude of old Brother Tightwad, and the good Lord knows their number is legion. But what fair-minded man or woman will deny a few human desires to us, just because we are "preachers' folks"?

And at last we reached a circuit that boasted of one of the best parsonages in the Conference. It is true, it was not a "two-story"; but everything else seemed to be there. The good news reached me in a letter from mother. A real home, her letter read, with wide porches, nice rooms, closets, reception hall, study, bath, mirrored doors, and everything! It was almost too good to be true—a parsonage that we were not ashamed of. And on reaching home for the holidays we found that our dream was just about realized. We single children put our money together to fix up a real home. We bought attractive furniture, rugs, draperies. We made the porches and lawn into things of beauty. We had the most attractive home in town. An unheard-of-thing for a parsonage!

And what happened? The good people of the church looked on in amazement; and then the gossip started:

"The preacher's folks are fixing the parsonage up too fine."

"The preacher's daughter teaches in a college, and holds her head too high, and dresses too fine."

"The preacher's sons are dudes."

And when the time came to talk "salary" for another year, the good church people shook their heads knowingly, clicked their teeth, and held on to their pocketbooks. So the presiding elder took pity on the preacher, and gave him another appointment. There was honest regret on the part of the people at the change—but who was to blame?

Can one say that this criticism was justified? That our desire for a comfortable home is an unholy one? The laity of the church does not understand the sacrifices that make up the life of the preacher and his family. Too often the laity pay the preacher grudgingly. Too often the preacher and his family are considered a public charge—no privacy given their affairs; their every action subject to gossip and criticism.

I had long known that it was the ambition of my parents that I enter the ministry. Various presiding elders and others had talked to me about the matter. It was the custom on one of the circuits that my father served to hold an annual camp meeting. These were great occasions. I was almost persuaded at one of these meetings to accept the ministry as my life work. Possibly it was the influence of the religious fervor that char-

(Continued on Page 6.)

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Shreveport District Notes.

Educational.

Presidents Sexton and Bobbit, and Rev. A. S. Lutz, attended the recent meeting of Educational Association in Memphis.

Prof. C. M. Hughes, for many years in the public schools of Louisiana, now principal of Centenary Academy, is displaying great constructive ability in thoroughly standardizing his department and in promoting lofty Christian ideals. Two of our preachers, Raulins and Roberts, are associated with him. He is himself the son of a preacher.

Dr. Sexton has inaugurated an effort to raise $160,000 at once to erect a new Science Building and to take care of improvements made last summer. A great home-coming of alumni is being planned for the annual commencement.

The dormitories of our college in Mansfield is full. No finer body of girls can be found anywhere. On a recent Sunday evening, when the weather was doing its worst, it was an inspiration to the presiding elder to preach to a good congregation composed in part of the entire student body, undaunted by rain. A great work for Methodism is being done in Mansfield College under the leadership of President Bobbitt. More money must be found to meet its urgent requirements. The recent gift of property on the north side of campus by Mrs. E. A. Nabors will prove to be a most valuable addition to its value and beauty.

Missionary.

The district set-up meeting in the interest of the Centenary collection was held in First Church, Shreveport, on Feb. 6. It was in the midst of the Morrison meeting, and Dr. Morrison was conscripted to make the main address. He thrilled the audience by the dramatic narration of experiences in traveling around the world, and made a powerful appeal for the payment of Centenary pledges. On the evening of Jan. 26, at a banquet in the basement of First Church, Bishop DuBose delivered a great address, and other most effective speeches were made by Dr. J. W. Reid, of Korea, and Mr. S. S. Thomas. On Wednesday evening the Centenary team visited Mansfield, Bishop Boaz, fresh from the Orient, being the leading speaker.

Brother Pearson is appealing to his congregation to donate their telephone refund checks to the Centenary cause, in honor of a consecrated Christian woman who died recently and who had paid her Centenary subscription more than three times over.

Our district hopes to make creditable showing on our Centenary subscriptions by March 11.

The Shreveport City Board of Missions and Church Extension held a special meeting on Feb. 20, at which a movement was launched to raise at least $10,000 during the week April 22-29, for the relief of church debts and for new enterprises in our city.

Personals.

The sympathy and prayers of all Advocate readers is requested for the family of Dr. J. R. Rushing, Lula, La., in the recent tragic loss of his son Robert in an automobile accident on the highway between Mansfield and Shreveport.

Rev. J. S. Sanders, for many years a member of the Louisiana Conference, has decided to withdraw from the Nazarene Church and spend his remaining days as a local preacher in our church. His home is in Shreveport, 1242 Gary Street, and he would be glad to assist in meetings where it is desired.

Rev. R. M. Black, Hardy, Ark., would like to assist in one meeting in Shreveport District. He may enter Centenary College in the fall to complete his education. He gives excellent references.

Rev. D. E. Dulaney has secured a strong hold on the affections of the entire community at Greenwood. Recently he and his wife were given a surprise shower with a great variety of gifts in the home of a family not connected with the church.

News from the Churches.

The contract has been let for a $10,000 church in Logansport, and the work has begun. Brother Clegg and his loyal congregation are planning for a great year.

The church at Longstreet has inaugurated a financial system, and there are many indications of increased interest. Rev. W. F. Roberts is pastor of this charge.

The Benton congregation is planning to erect a new church in the near future, and the Plain Dealing church is going ahead with their proposed brick building. Brother Bonnette has his hands full with two church building enterprises, and an extensive circuit to look after besides.

First Church has had 116 additions since Conference. Twenty-seven per cent of the membership of the Shreveport District are now in this great church. It would take an entire column to recount its varied activities.

The tenth anniversary of the Noel Memorial Church was fittingly planned and observed on Sunday, Feb. 11, by the pastor, Brother Holmes. The work of the first pastor, Rev. R. J. Harp, was commemorated and a visit was made to the grave of the founder, Mr. J. S. Noel, in Mooringsport, and flowers placed thereon. This church has had 60 additions since Conference and a membership of approximately 900.

Methodist terminology is not forgotten in Shreveport, as is evidenced by the fact that Texas Avenue holds an old-time class meeting, and the Woman's Missionary Societies of First Church and Noel recently held a love feast.

R. H. WYNN.

Ruston District.

Arcadia is pushing their new church proposition. Most of the money has been subscribed, and every organization of the church is working toward this end with enthusiasm. Rev. H. W. Ledbetter, the pastor, seems to be a church builder.

* * *

Our quarterly conference at Gibsland showed that there is an interest at this charge. Rev. S. S. Bogan has made a good impression with his people. A resolution was passed in the conference authorizing a new church building, and plans are being considered.

* * *

The quarterly conference of Haughton and Doyline was held at Doyline. Notwithstanding the most-all-day rain Sunday, we had a good congregation and service. The stewards from Haughton drove over through the mud, so that the attendance at the conference was good. Rev. J. O. Bennett is doing fine work, notwithstanding that he has had sickness in his home the entire year.

* * *

At Simmsboro we held our conference on Friday. We had preaching at 11 o'clock, and dinner was served on the ground. The service was good and the quarterly conference was well attended. Brother Boltz and the good people of Simmsboro are repairing the parsonage.

* * *

Rev. E. J. Buck, our pastor at Castor, has the co-operation of his people. They have built a new church at Jamestown. The work is advancing on all lines. Their next quarterly conference will be held in this new church. Brother Buck is a student in Centenary College.

* * *

Athens, where Brother C. F. Sheppard is pastor, is planning for a great year. We had a splendid quarterly conference and a good service Sunday morning.

* * *

Brother Joyner and the loyal people of Ruston are planning an addition to their church, to take care of the Sunday school and other interests of the work. This addition will cost about $60,000. Ruston is growing. Every congregation in the town is planning for more church room.

* * *

We had just two set-up meetings in this district in the interest of the Centenary drive. Most of the preachers attended one or the other of these meetings. There was a hopeful note sounded by both preachers and laymen as to the collection of the pledges.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Aberdeen District.

We have had two preachers' meetings in the Aberdeen District—one at Tupelo, the other at Houston. Both of these were frozen out except for the preachers who live near railroads. Some constructive planning was done. Brothers Jaco and Campbell attended both meetings, one representing the Centenary, and the other revival work in the waste places. All the preachers present pledged full co-operation in these great movements in the church.

* * *

It is desired that every pastor, treasurer, and others who love our great church, shall be diligent during March, giving all possible information about the Centenary and organizing the forces, and on the first Sunday in April and the week following give every subscriber a good opportunity to pay at least the first four years' pledges, leaving one year unpaid, which can be paid in the coming fall. Our work has progressed slowly since Christmas. January was "flu" month, and the weather during February has been severe on the work in the country, where I have been. I have met all my appointments, but many of the stewards have not met me.

* * *

The stewards were snowed out at Houlka, so Brother Martin (the pastor) and Gaines and I held the quarterly conference. There was a good report from the Houlka church.

* * *

Brother D. H. Crowson has a good start for a great year on the Vardaman circuit. A good spirit prevailed at the quarterly conference, and there was substantial raise in the salary.

* * *

We had a good conference at Calhoun City, where Brother Bullard has charge. We had a good report from the churches, and the outlook is good. No preacher works harder at his task than Bullard.

* * *

Bad roads, bad weather and sickness interfered with our conference for the Salem and Ecru charge. The pastor, Brother Papason, and all his family have been sick. All are better now, and he was able to be present at the quarterly conference.

* * *

After encountering a lot of deep mud and a downpour of rain, I reached Randolph, which is twelve miles from Pontotoc, where the roads are good. We had a fair representation, considering the weather. Brother Brody is in great favor with his flock.

* * *

I went from Randolph to Thaxton, on the Toccopola circuit. All the stewards except Brothers Patton and Duncan, of Lafayette Springs, were frozen in—at least they were not frozen out to the conference. Brother Commander is happy in his work.

* * *

I have just returned from Fulton, Tremont and Smithville. We still are without a pastor at Fulton. I preached there Saturday and Sunday. The people there are getting things in shape for a forward movement—in fact, it has begun. A new parsonage is just about finished, and a plan is on foot to remodel the church.

* * *

We had a good time at Tremont—good services Sunday evening and Monday morning, a good dinner "on the grounds," and a raise of $100 for the pastor, and plans for a great revival. Brother Betterton is in full charge.

* * *

Went from there to Smithville. Brother Murff had everything ready. We had more than one steward from each church. I preached at the High School, where we had a fine service. After preaching and dining we held a first-class quarterly conference—about $320 paid. A substantial raise in salary was made, and almost every church paid a fourth of its assessment.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

"REVEREND SMITH"—SPARE US, MESSERS EDITORS! OH, SPARE US!

By Dr. R. H. Bennett.

"Reverend Smith"—Faugh! The very idea! This atrocious and unconscionable rhetorical guttersnipe was sired by a jest and born of a laugh. Or as Shakespeare would say, linguistically speaking, it was "ditch delivered of a drab." Some years ago our jokesters began to write up a mythical personage yclept "Reverend Johnsing." He was a member of "The Limekiln Club" (colored), a goggle-eyed, balb-mouthed, splay-footed, bandy-legged, long-shanked Senegambian, an angel in ebony, so to speak, albeit somewhat of a fallen one, being better acquainted with the unlocked chicken houses of his neighbors than with orthodox clerical ethics. His name, "Reverend Johnsing," was as much of a joke as his grotesque personality, the humor of them both lying in the absurd disresemblance to a correct name and to the proper standard of personality in a preacher, either white or black.

We laughed at him with the humorists for a little while, but soon specks began to appear on the sky. Now and then a newspaper reporter with no sense of humor or acquaintance with the language, began to drop references in print to "Reverend Smith," or "Reverend Brown." At first we either took these also for jokes or treated them as such. But alas and alack, the thing has grown by leaps and bounds to such an extent that we see the ghost of "Reverend Johnsing's" title appearing in reputable newspapers and actually once in a while ogling us with its goggle eyes in the Church press. I even recall an instance where a preacher in print, in violation of the law that "dog does not eat dog," has actually libeled his brother minister as "Reverend Williams."

"It is to laugh." But unless a quick resolution throttles the impulse the laugh ends in something akin to profanity. For when a man calls you Reverend Smith, you feel as if he had knocked off your hat, slapped you in the face and said, "You goggle-eyed, blab-mouthed, splay-footed, bandy-legged, long-shanked ignorant humbug of a hypocritical, chicken-stealing negro parson!" And of course your Irish rushes at once up to one hundred and ten degrees and you feel that the only reply appropriate is to draw a rhetorical black oak shilalah and make a large and effective dent in his linguistic cranium.

But will some expert student of female affairs kindly inform me of the adequate and proper action when the aforesaid affront comes from one of the fair sex? Now and then "long distance" calls me to the 'phone. "Is that Reverend Bennett?" "No, Miss, I beg your pardon. This is not Reverend Bennett. This is Reverend R. H. Bennett, or Reverend Mister Bennett, or Reverend Doctor Bennett, whichever you choose; but this is not Reverend Bennett. I know of no such person." But it is as water off a duck's back. In that same pleasant voice that the Bell people train "Central" to use, the same voice in which she no doubt replies to inmates of lunatic asylums and with whom she probably classes you, she repeats in the next breath, "Reverend Bennett, Atlanta (or Richmond or Memphis as the case may be) wants to talk to you"—and there you are.

And now the janitors and "cabbies" are going a bowshot further and leaving off the "Smith." They hail you in a chipper way simply as "Reverend"—a sort of grass-widow title anchored to no surname.

The first time I heard the meretricious appellation in question was in one of my early pastorates from a book agent innocent of grammar or literature. He seemed a type of those who use the epithet in question, being apparently a twin to Mr. Kremlin in Disraeli's Sybil, who was distinguished for his ignorance. Mr. Kremlin had only one idea and that was wrong. This man wished to sell me a cyclopaedia and his trump card was the statement that if I would buy the book that my own life record should be printed in the magnum opus. In spite of my skepticism on this point, he drew his note book and pencil on me and proceeded to ask, "Now then, Reverend Bennett, when were you born?"

Will some one please tell me why a preacher should be "Reverend Smith" any more than a lawyer is "Legal Jones," or a physician "Medical Brown," or an editor "Literary Johnson," or a storekeeper "Mercantile Williams," or a pedagogue "Scholastic Simpson," or a farmer "Agricultural Hudgins," or the milk man "Lacteal Waters," or the fruit man "Huckleberry Hicks," or a saw-mill proprietor "Lumbering Black," or a dentist "Jawbone Jones," or a surgeon Sawbone Hall," or the all-round scamp of the community "Mephistophelian Moore?"

In the name of Joseph Addison or Thomas Babington Macaulay, will not our dear editor friends protect us from "Epithetical Penny-a-liners?" Will they not pass the word along? Will they not warn "Reportorial Robinson" and "Typothetical Proofreader" that this fly blown entitlement of the ministry must be forever banished from respectable newspapers or the perpetrators thereof shall be consigned to a journalistic oblivion without a resurrection?

"I desire a league of offensive and a defensive with all men" on this issue. "I summon all forward looking men," and all backward looking and upward looking and downward looking men to the standard. "Let us highly resolve" that offensive vulgarisms shall not win, but that English, pure, sweet, gentle, courteous English, "of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

And will not the public, you, gentle reader, and every one else, "Right Reverend and Wrong Reverend of every order," help us drive this flea-bitten cur from under our linguistic bed? Here, take this poker to him! We must get him out even if we have to turn the hose on him. It were better to wet the whole room than for all the family to catch a rhetorical mango.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

God is everywhere. So answered the children in the days when the catechism was taught. We can't get beyond this. Learned terms, "ubiquity," "omnipresence," "immanence," all mean about the same in the final analysis. No, you cannot escape God—he is everwhere. The wings of the morning may bear one to the uttermost in the heights above, the depths below, or the vast ranges about, yet he is there, all at once, forever present. He is "nearer than hands or feet, nearer than breathing," sings the poet, in my life, in your life, here and hereafter. The suicide does not escape him; the sinner must inevitably reckon with him. When through faith in the Son one learns to trust absolutely in God the Father, he learns life's greatest lesson. He knows, with a knowledge, passing expression, he is in God's hands, whether living or dead, in the physical sense.

This knowledge, passing human knowledge, brings comfort and assurance to the saints of all time. You cannot escape God—I don't want to escape him. His presence in the night watches brings me comfort, his strength girds me for the tasks of the day. Sparrows, ravens, and lilies are in his care—don't you fret. You are of more value, for you are immortal. Read Psalm 139 until the grandeur of its thought lives in your very soul; then, perhaps, a new revelation may come to you, and you will be led anew in the way everlasting.

* * *

Mr. Stefanson, Arctic explorer, gave a lecture to our people concerning those northern regions of much ice and snow. According to press reports, he described certain portions of the frigid zone as desirable locations, where one might live in comfort, with the attendant blessings of health and prosperity. Forthwith there pounced upon our devoted heads one of those borean blasts from regions aforesaid that, for a season at least, so far as I am concerned, discouraged closer residence. Snow, ice, sleet, preceded by rain that had that disagreeable, penetrating quality which causes one to seek the fireside and be grateful for shelter and warmth. Let others have all the frigid zone they want; if I have a claim thereto, I herewith deed it to them with all its rights, perquisites, privileges, etc. Sunshine and plenty of it, be my lot and portion. I am a true son of the South. No wonder people want warm food, warm-hearted friends, and other comforts which come from fire and sun. On the other hand, coldness in religion, friendship, love, means these emotions are near the vanishing point. B-r-r-r-! See that snow on the bank over the street. The sight of it sends shivers over all the body physic, and even halts the movements of the psychic. I never could preach a decent sermon when cold and shivery. The thoughts would not coalesce and flow—just frozen up! The hope of the coming spring and summer gives me comfort. If this "signal" is too personal, wave a warmer one. I want to see a blue bird.

628 King's Highway, Shreveport, La.

BISHOP AINSWORTH AND EMERGENCY CAMPAIGN IN NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE FOR ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Beginning on the evening of March 9, and continuing through the 14th, the Bishop, assisted by Dr. W. W. Pinson, Dr. W. B. Ricks, Dr. W. T. Reid, Miss Haskin, Miss Daisy Davies, Dr. Zumbrunnen, Dr. J. R. Countiss, Dr. D. C. Hull, Rev. J. H. Holder, Judge Percy Bell, Dr. C. A. Bowen, Mr. W. D. Hawkins, Mr. D. H. Hall, Mrs. J. W. Conger, and others, will speak at Macon, Starkville, Columbus, West Point, Okolona, Booneville, Amory, Corinth, Aberdeen, Tupelo, Iuka, New Albany, Winona, Holly Springs, Oxford, Water Valley, Grenada, Kosciusko, Durant, Lexington, Greenwood, Greenville, Cleveland, Clarksdale, Byhalia, Olive Branch, Batesville, Senatobia, Coldwater, Hernando, Houston, Pontotoc, and possibly other points, on the raising of the last payments on Centenary pledges.

At this time the pastors and Centenary committees will arrange for an every-member canvass of all persons making pledges for full payments and of new members for voluntary contributions. The same careful, thorough planning and systematic work will be asked in this as in the canvass for first subscriptions. To hear these speakers tell of the wonderful work already done and the great need for further effort, will stir all of our hearts. Do not fail to hear them. Make their coming a great success by your co-operation.

This campaign will continue until May, being carried into every charge and every church, and to every member. The pastors and lay speakers will carry the message to all from Sunday to Sunday, and the local treasurers will send out notice cards to all who have not paid up; then, on the day set in each district or charge, make the canvass of every member. We must raise more than one hundred thousand dollars. This amount would complete one thousand churches in Korea; or, if used in evangelistic work as successfully as was done in one city last year, it would bear the expense of evangelizing one-half of a million people!

Who will dare to hold a dollar when five heathen may be led to Christ with it? Our good Bishop and his colaborers are working day and night for this cause; let all of us get busy, too.

BEN. P. JACO, Secretary.

"To understand and answer children's questions is a considerable art, including both a large and deep knowledge of things and a quick, sympathetic insight into the little questioner's mind."—Prof. Sully.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

TESTIMONIALS FROM CONNECTIONAL OFFICERS IN BEHALF OF THE "FORGOTTEN MAN."

The Secretary of the Board of Finance is not alone in his contention that the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, owes a just debt to her superannuated preachers and the widows and orphans of her deceased preachers. As proof of this statement the attention of my readers is called this week to the statements on the subject from several of the Church's prominent leaders.

---

Sufficient attention to material affairs to make provision for old age is the greatest handicap that a preacher can place upon his ministry. The only way for a preacher to succeed is to give himself wholly to the work of preaching the gospel. The policy of the Church to use her ministers through their effective period and then "turn them out to grass" in an old age is a thoughtlessly cruel program to pursue. It is high time for our Church to treat her most necessary and faithful servants with proper consideration, and the plan for raising the ten million dollars for superannuate endowment proposes the very least that we can afford to undertake. I feel sure that the obvious honesty and justice underlying such an effort will guarantee a generous response from the membership as soon as the plan is presented.—Gilbert T. Rowe, Editor of the Methodist Quarterly Review.

It is gratifying to know that an effort is now to be made to furnish relief for the "forgotten man" of Methodism. This has waited all too long. These men have served faithfully and unselfishly in the cause of righteousness and human brotherhood, and it is pitiable that in their old age they are left too often penniless and on the tender mercies of a public not always grateful. The movement for adequate superannuate endowment deserves the hearty co-operation of every agent and agency of the Church for its successful completion.—J. W. Perry, Secretary of Board of Missions, Home Department.

For many years more or less sporadic efforts have been made in our Church to secure an endowment fund for the purpose of giving financial aid to worn-out ministers and the dependent members of their families and to the widows and orphans of deceased preachers. Much fine work has been done. Some money has been raised which is now invested and yielding an annual income. However, only a beginning has been made. The last General Conference asked the Church to contribute for this purpose during this quadrennium $10,000,000 and authorized the Board of Finance to organize and to put in operation the necessary agencies to secure this sum. I am sure that this cause will receive hearty response from the members of our great Church. All of us should respond gladly to the request of the General Conference. The entire Church should and will no doubt heartily co-operate with the Board of Finance in their plans to raise this money.—Stonewall Anderson, General Secretary of the Board of Education, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The task of the Church is not finished. She must be always looking forward, always planning for larger and more effective work. But she must not in her zeal for greater conquests forget the men who have made possible her past achievements and laid the foundations upon which she can build in the future. That would be a denial of the very spirit which she is seeking to propagate, a species of cruel ingratitude of which no decent city government or business corporation would be guilty. The institution which claims to represent Christ in the world must be true to the teachings of Christ not only in her conduct toward men in general but also in her dealings with those who give up all secular pursuits in order that they may devote their lives to the furthering of her great mission. The man who joins the Methodist itinerancy surrenders the right to choose his field of labor. He goes where the Church sends him and accepts such financial remuneration as the people whom he serves may see fit to offer him. As a rule, his salary is pitifully meager, and if he is faithful to his calling he has neither time nor opportunity for supplementing it by such means as are commonly employed by men of either professions. It is to his credit, therefore, rather than a matter for blame if old age finds him still poor as to worldly goods. But what about the institution which, having made the most of his time and energy through the years of his strength, turns him out to starve when the infirmities of age have overtaken him? Can such an institution expect the world to regard it as the representative of Him who taught and lived the gospel of love? The next great witness to her fidelity to Christ which the Church is called to give is an adequate provision for her worn-out preachers.—E. B. Chappell, Sunday School Editor.

The one thing at my desk that I cannot turn aside for even a single moment is the big work that is being done for the "forgotten man." Indeed, it touches this department very vitally. It proposes to make provision not only for the old preachers at home but for those who have wrought for us so faithfully abroad. This means not only the missionaries that are members of the Annual Conferences but nationals. Some of these are second or third generations of Methodist preachers. They need and are worthy of this help. But of course my interest goes even deeper. The old preacher has always been our joy and pride—in our speeches. We have not done much for him financially, but it looks now as if we have made up our minds to do the big task for the Centenary. Nobody has been more interested than he in the re-enforcement of our missionary work. He was willing to wait until we had done a big thing for our schools. It was he who laid the foundation of these schools, and he has a personal interest in most of them. But now he gets his inning, and we are glad to help. His long and worthy service and his pitiful need call loudly to us. Our own sense of right and honor urges. The General Conference has spoken. The warm, true, loyal heart of our Church, I believe, is ready for it. We ought to turn to and do a bigger thing even than we have thought. Let's go. If there is anything that this Secretary or this department can do to aid this great cause, it will be a joy to respond. —E. H. Rawlings, Secretary of the Board of Missions, Foreign Department.

Every man deserves a fair competence for the service he renders in life. No class of men renders a better service to humanity and does it at so small an income than the minister of the gospel. His service is purely humanitarian, and such a worker is never properly paid for his service. Thus it becomes necessary for others whose work is of a nature to allow them to make more to make provision for those who have been so busy looking after the moral welfare of the people that they have not had time to make and save money for themselves. The ministers are the moral benefactors of the race and as such deserve in their old age proper consideration at the hands of all the people, for all the people have received great blessings at the hands of the preachers. We have had much sentiment about this "way-worn traveler." It is all proper and good, but "money talks." We believe the people will now speak in the language of the coin of the realm.—R. L. Russell, Secretary of the Board of Missions, Home Department.

Some interests need no arguments to sustain them. The reasons why they are set forward are too plain to require explanation. The cause of the superannuates is of this nature. No one hesitates in the advocacy of proper provision for the support of these honored ones of the Church. The fact that we have delayed this matter so long is our shame. If we be called upon, however, to give reasons for the movement to raise $10,000,000 for this purpose, there should come to mind at once the requirement made of every minister when he is admitted into full connection: "Are you resolved to devote yourself wholly to God and his work? * * * It is, therefore, your duty to employ your time in the manner which we direct. * * * Above all, if you labor with us in the Lord's vineyard, it is needful that you should do that part of the work which we advise at those times and places which we judge most for his glory." A church which requires such complete devotion and unity of effort under its direction—a type of service which practically forbids the making of money or the possession of property—is under moral obligation to care for its ministers and those dependent upon them when age enfeebles or disease makes work impossible.—T. D. Ellis, Secretary of the Board of Church Extension.

---

RECOLLECTIONS OF PARSONAGE LIFE.

(Continued from Page 3.)

acterized the place. At any rate, the notion did not stay with me long. I honor and love my father for his profession. I honor and respect his self-denial. But I could not find it in my heart to endure what he has had to endure.

My father has educated a family of eight children in the best schools of Virginia, Tennessee and Mississippi. He has done this on salaries ranging from three hundred to a thousand dollars a year. He has given his whole life to the church. His work is always successful. He has never made a complaint. He has never made a request for anything better. His life has been one long sacrifice. He has given his children a priceless heritage. But is the above an incentive for his sons to follow his profession? With sorrow in my heart I must confess that I am doubtful.

The Home Circle

LULLABY.

Hush! the waves are rolling in,
 White with foam, white with foam;
Father toils amid the din;
 But the baby sleeps at home.

Hush! the winds roar hoarse and deep—,
 On they come, on they come!
Brother seeks the wandering sheep;
 But baby sleeps at home.

Hush! the rain sweeps o'er the knowes,
 Where they roam, where they roam;
Sister goes to seek the cows;
 But baby sleeps at home.

—From the Old Gaelic.

GETTING EVEN.

"I'll get even with you, Tom Byers, you'll see! Cutting the string of my new kite and letting it fly away just to be mean!"

"I don't see how you can," said Bob, watching Tom slam the door of the tumble-down house where he lived. "He's bigger than you are, and his father is away most all the time, and his mother is dead."

"Let's go down behind the barn and talk about it," answered Ted, and the two boys ran to their favorite hiding place.

"I've thought of a brand-new way," said Bob "Listen, and I'll whisper."

At first Ted would not agree to the whispered plan, but Bob kept on talking until he said he would.

It was nearly dark that night when they went down the road, carrying a heavy basket between them. They crept up to the window of Tom's house and saw him sitting at a table with only a few dishes and a little bread on it. They put the basket on the step, gave a loud rap, and hid where they could watch him come out. He took the basket in, and through the dirty window they could see him standing and looking at it as if he did not dare open it.

"He's teased so many of the boys he thinks some one has brought a snake or a rat to scare him," said Bob.

Just then Tom took off the paper tied over the basket and very slowly opened one of the three boxes he saw. Then he gave a big jump of surprise and pulled open the other boxes. One was filled with crisp cookies, another held big red apples, and the last had hickory nuts. Underneath the boxes was a sweater, faded but thick and warm, and under that a suit of clothes. Tom could scarcely believe his eyes. He drew his ragged sleeve across his eyes and then looked again. At the very bottom of the basket was a piece of paper with "Ted" written on it.

"Where did you get all the things?" asked Bob as they ran down the road.

"Aunt Julia sent me the cookies for a present, and the nuts and apples grew on my own trees, so I could give them away if I wanted to. Mother said the clothes were too little for Harry and too big for me, so I could give them to Tom. She didn't know how we were going to do it, though."

"Didn't he jump though!" chuckled Bob. "I wonder how he feels now."

The next night they found out, for there was a knock at the door, and when Ted opened it Tom was standing there holding a fine big kite. As soon as he saw Ted he said: "I'm awful sorry I took your kite, and I made this one for you, and—and—I liked the things in the basket a lot."

Ted had "got even" in the "Jesus way," as he told his mother that night.—Sunday School Times.

THE ROOSTER AND THE RABBIT.

A story told by an Inhambane boy to a member of the staff of the South Africa Christian Advocate:

Once upon a time Mr. Rooster and Mr. Rabbit were very good friends. They used to take turns calling upon each other every day. One day Mr. Rooster forgot to go to see Mr. Rabbit because he was so busy finding a nest for Mrs. Hen. Toward evening he remembered that he had not gone and felt ashamed about it. But is was too late to go then.

So he said to Mrs. Hen: "I am going to stand here and keep my head under my wing. Now if Mr. Rabbit comes to call on me just tell him that my head has gone calling but that I have left my body here for you to take care of."

When evening came Mr. Rabbit wondered why Mr. Rooster had not come to see him, so he ran over to see his friend, before he could eat his supper. There he saw the body of his friend Mr. Rooster but it had no head; he was very much surprised, but soon Mrs. Hen spoke up and said: "Mr. Rooster has gone calling by sending his head. But I am staying here to care for his body to-day."

Mr. Rabbit thought that a very clever thing to do, so he hurried home at once and said to Mrs. Rabbit: "I am going visiting with my head, but I will leave my body here and you can look after it. Now get a knife and cut my head off."

Mrs. Rabbit did not quite understand all this but she did as Mr. Rabbit said. When the head did not go visiting but lay there on the ground, Mrs. Rabbit said, "Foolish Mr. Rabbit."—Exchange.

UNCLE PHIL'S STORY.

"Tell us a story, Uncle Phil," said Rob and Archie, running to him.

"What about?" said Uncle Phil, as Rob climbed on his right knee and Archie on his left.

"Oh, about something that happened to you," said Rob. "Something when you were a little boy," added Archie.

"Once when I was a little boy," said Uncle Phil, "I asked my mother to let Roy and myself go down to the river. My mother said yes, and we went, and had a good deal of sport. After a while I took a shingle for a boat, and sailed it along the bank. At last it began to get into deep water where I couldn't reach it with a stick. Then I told Roy to go and bring it to me. He almost always did as I told him, but this time he did not. I began scolding him, and he ran toward home. Then I was very angry. I picked up a stone and threw it at him as hard as I could."

"Oh, Uncle Phil!" said Archie.

"Just then Roy turned his head, and it hit him over his eyes."

"Oh, Uncle Phil!" cried Rob.

"Yes, it made him stagger. He gave a little cry, and lay on the ground. I did not go to him, but waded into the water for my boat. But it was deeper than I thought. Before I knew it, I was in a strong current. I screamed as it carried me down stream, but no man was near to help me. But, as I went down under the deep water, something took hold of me, and dragged me toward the shore. And, when I was safe on the bank, I saw it was Roy who had saved my life."

"Good fellow! Was he your cousin?" asked Rob.

"No," replied Uncle Phil.

"What did you say to him?" asked Archie.

"I put my arms around the dear fellow's neck and begged him to forgive me."

"What did he say?"

"He said, 'Bow, wow, wow!'"

"Why, who was Roy, anyway?" asked Archie, in great astonishment.

"He was my dog," said Uncle Phil, "the best dog I ever saw. I have never been unkind to a dog or any other animal since and I hope you never will be."—Selected.

DICTIONARY GIRLS.

A disagreeable girl—Annie Mosity.
A sweet girl—Carrie Mel.
A very pleasant girl—Jenny Rosity.
A smooth girl—Amelia Ration.
A seedy girl—Cora Ander.
A clear case of girl—E. Lucy Date.
A geometrical girl—Polly Gon.
Not orthodox—Hetty Rodoxy.
One of the best girls—Ella Gant.
A flower girl—Rhoda Dendron.
A musical girl—Sarah Nade.
A profound girl—Mettie Physics.
A clinging girl—Jessie Mine.
A nervous girl—Hester Ical.
A muscular girl—Callie Sthenic.
A sad girl—Ella G.
A warlike girl—Mily Tary.
A chemical girl—An Elixa.
An unworthy girl—Charlotte Ann.

—Christian Advocate.

Many a boy has neglected to break himself of a bad habit until the habit has broken him.—Selected.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid; it is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

EDITORIAL NOTICE.

The Editor was taken ill with influenza on last Friday, and at this writing is confined to his bed. His illness accounts for the absence of editorial matter in this issue of the Advocate.

THE CENTENARY AND THE LAYMEN.

(Continued from First Page.)

to the Pacific and are making their influence felt.

We shall not be content nor shall we cease our activity until every dollar of Centenary money has been made good.

There must be no retrenchment in our missionary program either at home or abroad. The honor and leadership of our church must be vindicated. Our responsibility to a world that knows only the vocabulary of selfishness, greed, hate and war, cannot be shirked. It is ours to teach the world the vocabulary of co-operation, honesty, confidence, love and peace—the vocabulary of Jesus Christ our Savior.

Methodism, must again demonstrate her power of leadership by bringing to a glorious consummation the Spirit-born Centenary Movement. No task is too great for her when all her members show forth in their lives and by their gifts the vital religion of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

Nashville, Tenn.

FROM THE COMMITTEE ON EVANGELISM.

(At the meeting of the General Committee on Evangelism, held on Dec. 19, 1922, a committee was appointed to prepare a paper for the church press. The paper follows.—Editor.)

The past year has been one to inspire hope and courage in evangelism throughout our church. Simultaneous efforts in our cities preceding Easter, and in the districts over the country, have brought us reports of gracious blessings wherever the program has been carried out. The labors of our general evangelists have been abundant and fruitful. But there are too many charges reporting no accessions on profession of faith. There are in the connection, in round numbers, three hundred of these, and many of them with hundreds of members, strong, well organized churches. When a Methodist pastor and his charge pass through a whole year with no conversions or accessions, there is cause for humiliation and shame. A Methodist pastor or church which has no evangelistic passion is, to say the least, pitiable.

Our General Conference, in session at Hot Springs, Ark., last May, put before our church a challenge to its faith, zeal, and spirit of co-operation in a resolution by the help of God's grace to win, during this quadrennium, not less than one million souls for Christ and our church. If we are the evangelical church we so often boast of being, shall we not accept this challenge in the spirit of faith, humble consecration and earnest co-operation?

We would earnestly call upon our people to enter into a covenant of prayer, that in answer to their united and daily supplications and intercessions in the secret places there may come upon us all the quickening of the Holy Spirit and that sinners may be converted to God. Every Methodist home ought to have in it an altar of prayer that our homes may be centers of Christian nurture. We would urge all our pastors and people to labor and strive diligently to the end that by the close of this quadrennium there may be regular worship in at least one-fourth of the homes of our people. Why not half a million family altars in Southern Methodist homes?

Every congregation should secure at least one life service volunteer to recruit the ranks of our ministry and workers, and see to it that this volunteer is trained for service. It is possible that churches may have regarded too lightly their responsibility in this matter. We would urge our pastors to give special emphasis to the call to the ministry, and we request the secretary of this committee to place in the hands of every pastor some cards for these young people to sign, and ask the pastor, after prayerful consideration, to present this matter to the choice young people of his congregation and give them the opportunity to record themselves as volunteers for life service as preachers, deaconesses, directors of religious education, pastors' assistants, or social service workers. We do not deem it wise to encourage a promiscuous offering of this call.

To attain these ends, to fulfill our mission as a church, there should be a revival effort once each year in every congregation, and new fields should be entered and occupied. We must seek after the lost who do not habitually attend church services, and bring back the thousands who drop out of our Sunday schools, who are in danger of being drowned in a sea of perdition; for it is sometimes stated that 60 per cent of the children who enter our Sunday schools drop out. Can we afford not to make every effort to bring them back to a saving faith in Christ?

We must have, as a church, not alone the co-operation of our pastors in revival efforts, but of the church press—General and Conference organs, the Sunday schools, the organizations of lay activities; the Epworth Leagues, and Woman's Missionary Societies. There is work for every agent, agency and organization and department of service in the church. What work could be worthier? We earnestly desire in the arrangment of programs and carrying out of the plans, the co-operation of the General Sunday School Board, Board of Lay Activities, Epworth League and Department of Woman's Work of the Board of Missions, and the auxiliaries of those in annual conferences, districts, charges and churches.

Good results have been achieved through the revivals in our schools and colleges, and this work will be continued. It is most encouraging that these are centers of spiritual life and power out of which are coming the trained and equipped leaders of the forces of righteousness.

Seventeen training schools for pastors and church leaders are scheduled for the coming summer. In all these we shall offer the best and most practical courses possible in evangelism. This course has been one of the most popular and helpful in the schools held in the past years.

We have selected and recommended forty-seven men for appointment as general evangelists, and ask our pastors and people to make use of these. They are tested men and worthy, and are subject to the Discipline and usages of our Church, and your committee has carefully reviewed their lives, efficiency and qualities for service. Any pastor needing the help of an evangelist, unless he personally knows the man he invites to help him, should confer with Dr. R. L. Russell before sending an invitation, in order that the evangelists may be so placed as to render the best service. This is just as important as for presiding elders to be consulted in making the appointments of pastors.

We are convinced that the best results in cities are achieved by means of a simultaneous, co-operative effort of all the churches within the city. Some rural districts have had gracious results in the same way. Wherever possible, we would urge that such campaigns be arranged for every year and that, as far as practicable, general evangelists, conference evangelists, and evangelistic pastors be called in to help in these, wherever any pastor feels the need of any help.

Every charge and pastor should have as a goal the organization of at least one Sunday school in new territory not hitherto occupied by our church, looking to the formation of a new congregation; for we must grow by expansion as well as by concentration of effort.

We are rejoiced to learn that some of our bishops are planning for a conference on Home Missions and Evangelism, to continue for two days in each of the Annual Conferences in their episcopal districts. We trust this may be done in every Annual Conference in the whole church, at home and abroad. The presiding elders, district lay leaders, conference and district Sunday schools and Epworth League officers, and the Conference and district secretaries of the Woman's Missionary Societies should be invited to these meetings. Then every presding elder's district and every city should have a similar meeting, to effect an organization in carrying on the work.

We have asked Dr. Russell to prepare a pamphlet setting forth our aims and the plans for achieving them.

We realize that, after all, our only hope is in Him who is over all, and on HIM we must depend to use all the plans and human organizations for the accomplishment of His own purposes. We are only striving as best we can to carry out the instructions given us by our General Conference, and promote evangelism by the use of all the agencies of and in all lands occupied by our church. We place ourselves humbly at the service of our loved church and her people, praying the grace of God upon all.

J. W. PERRY,
W. G. CRAM,
W. E. MORRIS,
Committee.

FURTHER CONCERNING THE MOVIES.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

The owners and agents of the motion picture business seem to be aggrieved no little by my article published some weeks ago.

This is not strange. The pocket nerve is always sensitive, and a man's heart is generally attached to his interests.

They accuse me of condemning the whole business because a few films are bad. But in this they misrepresent me, and I might justly retort by saying that a few good pictures prove that all are good.

What are the facts? The matter is fully and fairly set forth in a recent book entitled "The Moving Picture and the Home," written by Miss Minnie Kennedy, and published by the Abingdon Press of New York:

The gifted authoress records the results of a survey that was made of moving pictures in various cities of the United States not long since. The places visited and investigated were not exceptional, but just such as are the moving picture shows generally. The following are the resulting "facts and figures":

| | |
|---|---|
| Number of films examined | 404 |
| Number free of objections | 35 |
| Number unfit to be shown | 369 |
| Number showing unfaithfulness in married life | 117 |
| Number featuring divorce | 38 |
| Number showing immodest dress | 172 |
| Number showing social or individual drinking | 140 |
| Number showing indecent cabaret dancing | 97 |
| Number showing interior houses of ill-fame, gambling dens, etc. | 124 |
| Number showing undue freedom between sexes | 192 |
| Number showing smoking by girls and women | 82 |
| Number showing realistic struggle by girl or woman to defend her honor | 113 |
| Number showing tense, nerve-racking situations | 223 |

In the light of these facts will any fair man say that what was said in my article some weeks ago was unjust? It was scarcely as severe as the facts would justify.

And these facts show also that the supervision of "the movies" by the Hon. Will Hays eliminates none of their moral pollution.

He undertook to put back in these shows the notorious Arbuckle, who was forced by the press of the country, especially the religious papers, to retire again from the business after the attempt was made to restore him to the "movie" stage.

The employer of Arbuckle (who was to have used him after his restoration by Mr. Hays) gave the whole case of "the movies" away when he said of the hero of Hollywood's shame, "He is as clean as any one in the motion pictures to-day. He merely got into a jam; he was unfortunate." Mr. Schrenck, the moving picture man, who said this, ought to know the truth about the business, and doubtless he does. He sees in the case not misconduct above what is common among the movie actors, but nothing more than misfortune.

The effort to justify the commercialized "movies" by saying that many churches and schools use motion pictures in their work is utterly vain. The commercialized "movies" and the pictures exhibited by churches and schools are vastly different things, although it must be confessed that not infrequently the film makers put off on churches and schools pictures which present history with wretched inaccuracy and set forth sacred scenes almost profanely. Of course, most schools and churches which are thus imposed upon discard at once such impositions.

The plain truth is that the commercialized movie is the worst form of amusement the world has ever seen, and the fact that it engages many thousands of people in the manufacturing of its filth and the exhibition of its foul products in no wise justifies it, as its defenders would have us believe; but does rather increase the evil to which it gives rise. Why should human lives be thus worse than wasted?

But the American people are being awakened to the enormous evil of this new and pernicious business. The secular press, as well as the religious papers, has been aroused by the Arbuckle incident to condemn the whole thing. Look at the following quotations from secular newspapers:

The Citronelle (Alabama) Call says:

"The general wave of crime and disregard for law is not all the aftermath of war. You must remember the children of this country have for the last number of years been looking on scenes which have a tendency to create a disregard for law, when they sit and look at many of the moving pictures of the present day.

"Citronelle has an unusually high type of citizens. For a number of years the ladies of the town had in charge the moving picture business here. They tried and tried, and tried hard, to get pictures that were honestly and truly worth while, but they were disappointed so often that they finally gave it up. * * *

"A man from Citronelle recently made it a point to see what the movie shows of Mobile had to offer, every time he was in Mobile, and for a number of times searched in vain for a single show where he could go and spend an hour or so and feel that he was being repaid for his time."

The Christian Statesman, which is not a church periodical, contains this significant item:

"A proper comment upon the action of Mr. Hays comes from Sing Sing prison. The warden there has decided that the films of the 'restored comedian' are not fit for hardened criminals to see."

The Dearborn Independent, referring to Hon. Will Hays, says:

"He has made not only a serious mistake, but a fatal one. Perhaps it was inevitable. If his employers hired him to smooth things over, they have got what was coming to them. Any man, "white, free and twenty-one," whose mind could harbor the thought that he could work the Christmas Good Will feeling to bring Arbuckle back into the eye of the American people, into schools and recreation centers and public halls of entertainment, for the sole purpose of saving hundreds of thousands of dollars on that over-rated young man, and millions of dollars on his 'owner,' shows an incurable defect of judgment. It might go in politics; Will Hays has seen it work in politics many a time; but it wears out. It has worn out now.

"In the midst of all this, what is to become of Mr. Hays himself? His employers do not like to retain stage failures. And he has failed, right in front of the footlights, with all the Christmas scenery falling on him. It has been predicted for months that Will Hays would do one of two things. Either he would pull off some superficial improvement in Moviedom and then resign in a properly press agented blaze of glory, bowing to the American people and declaring that he had accomplished the great work he had set out to do; or, failing to get his employers to improve even superficially, he would pull the indignation stunt and throw up his munificent salary, protesting to the American people to witness the integrity of his soul by his sacrifice. After the Arbuckle incident, it is difficult to see how he can do the first. And, after the Arbuckle incident, it is more difficult to see how he can do the second.

"It appears that Hays' employers have jockied him into an awkward position. They are experts at that.

"All that remains now is another deluge of publicity dope telling how really nice Moviedom is.

"Then—Crash!—with the next scandal."

Many more quotations of the same sort might be produced, if space permitted. Very many are appearing daily, and I have clipped not a few.

The church papers of all denominations, from Maine to California, have spoken out with great unanimity and force.

Now, what have the minions of moviedom to say to all this? They cannot discredit the hundreds of editors who have condemned their injurious traffic in immorality, nor successfully deny the facts alleged in support of their condemnation.

The commercialized movie is doomed to die, or reform. And it will die, if it does reform; for it flourishes on its foulness.

Again I say the commercialized movies cannot be cleansed.

The only safe course for people who care for the morality of their children, and for their own religious life, to pursue is to cease patronizing an institution which prospers by its pollution, and would perish if it were purified.

THE CENTENARY IN THE NEW ORLEANS DISTRICT.

Dear Brother Carley: I want to thank you for the splendid way in which you are answering the call of our great church in this hour of her urgent need. The success of the Centenary rests, as does all other movements in the Church, largely on the leadership of the pastor. Our laymen are loyal and willing, but they look to us to direct them.

Since organization means 50 per cent of the victory in any campaign, I feel very assured that the New Orleans churches will continue to hold the splendid record made in the past, for each pastor has reported that he has organized his committees, or will do so, and be ready on time for the PAY-UP WEEK, March 4th to 11th.

The fact that the Minute Men have been speaking each Sunday and the pastors carrying out the suggestions as to announcements and sermons on this subject, together with the full co-operation of our Lay Leaders and the earnest and consecrated women of our churches, we will not disappoint our Bishops, and the result of our combined efforts and sacrifices will glorify the Master in his Kingdom.

We will present a solid front on March 4th, presiding elders, pastor and people, captains, lieutenants, teams, autos, cards and lunches, to go forth with prayer, taking as our slogan: "REDEEM YOUR PLEDGE IF YOU CAN."

Yours in His name,
J. G. SNELLING, City Director.

TO THE PASTORS AND MEMBERS OF THE MONROE DISTRICT.

A terrific crisis is now confronting our various missionary enterprises and unless we come to the rescue of our leaders deplorable conditions will prevail and there will be such results that it will take years for us to overcome them. According to figures furnished by our Centenary Treasurer the Monroe District's quota for the Missionary Centenary was $93,250. We now owe on this quota $34,728. I am asking every pastor, every official and every member in the district to get under the burden of raising this deficit. We must not fail as there is too much depending upon the raising of this money. We have set the week beginning Sunday, April 8, as pay-up week, and I sincerely trust that when the results are reported we will have the honor of knowing that our district has done what our Lord had expected us to do. Let us all get busy on the task and let nothing keep us from putting over in good shape this one outstanding, important task. Talk about it, pray over it and then let us altogether pay our vows unto the Lord.

Sincerely,
W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

A DREAM.

(After hearing the Editor's story)

Last night as I lay on my pillow,
  Last night as I lay on my bed,
Last night as I lay on my pillow,
  I dreamed of the church that was dead.

There were bishops and elders and preachers,
  Lay leaders, and others who led;
There were stewards, superintendents and teachers,
  And millions of members—all dead!

There were buildings of marble and splendor,
  And preaching far over my head;
There was music I never could render,
  But the organist even was dead.

There were fields that were vast as creation,
  For the heart-hungry world must be fed;
All was ripe for the birth of a nation,
  For the pessimist also was dead.

I asked then of one who was living,
  Why all was thus seemingly dead.
He answered, with little misgiving,
  "CHURCH PAPERS—UNMENTIONED, UNREAD."

* * *

A show of irritation when dealing with one whom you would advise betrays a lack of self-control that displays a low degree of personal culture.—Selected.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

Brother DANIEL W. CRANFORD passed to his reward on Dec. 12, 1922, after being in a state of retarded health for more than a year. He was born in Jones County, Miss., April 27, 1873, professed faith in Christ early in life, and joined the M. E. Church, South. A family altar was erected by him when he married. During his entire illness, he went praying all the time. Being demented when he ended his life, we hope that there may be some provision for him, and that he will not be held amenable for his rash act, when the secrets of all hearts shall be disclosed. Brother Cranford will be greatly missed in the little town of Seminary, Miss. He was a friend to everybody, loving everybody, and especially interested in the preacher and his family. He loved his pastors and was always dependable. I am glad to say that I have never served a more brotherly man than he. His life was one of unswerving fidelity to his church, his family, and his God. He leaves a wife, six children, two brothers, four sisters and a stepmother to mourn their loss. He was a member of the Blue Lodge Chapter, and a Council Mason, also a member of the Eastern Star, at his home town. The funeral services were held in the Methodist church in Seminary, at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, Dec. 13, conducted by the writer. The Masons then took charge and concluded the services at the city cemetery in the presence of a large concourse of relatives and friends, after which his form was deposited in the grave to wait the resurrection morn.

His former pastor,
HILARY S. WESTBROOK.
New Augusta, Miss.

Girls! Beautify Hair at Once

Try This! A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair

In a few moments you can transform even plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drugstore. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed.

Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

A MEMOIR.

On Monday, Sept. 4, 1922, the spirit of MRS. A. L. DAVENPORT slipped quietly away to God, who gave it. She was taken suddenly with appendicitis, and was rushed to the Meridian Hospital. Brother Davenport was away in a meeting, but joined her on the way. She lived only two days.

Her death was a severe shock to her many friends all over North Mississippi. Truly her friends were numbered by her acquaintances. She had many great virtues, a sunny dispositoin, and she was always ready to push forward every good movement. I had the pleasure of being her nearest neighbor for four years, and I recall the profitable hours we spent together. She was no drawback to Brother Davenport—was always willing for him to go anywhere and at any time. In a letter from Brother Davenport, he says she was a Christian, and, from the amount of material that she sent on to heaven before she went, she has a beautiful mansion in which to live. So thank God she is in a place where there is no more suffering, and the beautiful landscape is not marred with graves.

She leaves a true, noble husband, and four children; may they all live such lives that they may join her in the sweet by-and-by.

A true friend,
MRS. W. W. DAVIDSON.
Chalybeate, Miss.

RESOLUTIONS.

On January 6, 1923, it pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our midst our beloved sister, MRS. ELIZABETH FRYANT, and desiring to make a memorial of our estimate of her life and character; therefore, be it resolved by the Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, Jackson, Miss.:

1. That in her going our church sustains a great loss.

2. That we recognize in her life a noble type of Christian womanhood and that, as a member of the church, the Sunday school, the Woman's Missionary Society, she was a shining example for all who knew her.

3. That we desire to express our fullest appreciation of her pure, faithful Christian character.

4. That we extend to the bereaved family our strong assurance that they are not alone in their sorrow, but that we, too, mourn the departure of their loved one.

5. Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes and a copy be sent to the family.

MRS. B. F. LEWIS.
MRS. W. B. LEWIS.

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

The worst man is not quite so bad as he seems; and the best man is not quite so good as he appears to be.—Selected.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

(In part.)

Elizabeth Ct., at Oberlin, Mar. 4.
Melder Ct., at Campground, Mar. 11, a.m.
Cheneyville, Mar. 11, p.m.
Marksville Ct., at Marksville, Mar. 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, Mar. 25.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, Mar. 31, Apr. 1, p.m.
Natchitoches, Apr. 1, a.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, Apr. 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, Apr. 15.
W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Lake Charles Dist.—Second Round.

Hornbeck and Peason, at Peason, March 4, 11 a.m.
Lafayette, March 11, 11 a.m.
New Iberia, March 11, 7:30 p.m.
Rayne, March 18, 11 a.m.
Indian Bayou, March 18, 7:30 p.m.
Abbeville and Kaplan, at Kaplan, March 25, 11 a.m.
Gueydan and Estherwood, at Estherwood, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Leesville, April 1, 11 a.m.
Neame and Pickering, at Pickering, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Branch and Maxie, at Branch, April 8, 11 a.m.
Crowley, April 8, 7:30 p.m.
Eunice, at Reeves, April 15, 11 a.m.
Merryville, April 29, 11 a.m.
De Ridder, April 29, 7:30 p.m.
Sulphur and Vinton, at Vinton, May 6, 11 a.m.
Lake Arthur, May 6, 7:30 p.m.
Lake Charles, May 13, 11 a.m.
Carson, May 13, 7:30 p.m.

District Conference at New Iberia, beginning Wednesday night, April 18, and closing Friday, April 20.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe Dist.—Second Round.

(In Part)

Bastrop, March 3, 4.
Bonita, at Jones, March 11, a.m.
Mer Rouge, at Collinston, March 11, p.m.
W. Monroe, March 18, a.m.
Tallulah, March 18, p.m.
Columbia, at Grayson, March 24, 25.
Monroe, March 25, p. m.
Rayville, at Delhi, April 1.
Oak Grove, at Pioneer, April 7, 8.
Midway and Epps, at Epps, April 8, p.m.
Ferriday, at Clayton, April 14, 15.
Gilbert, at Wisner, April 15, p.m.
W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

Shreveport Dist.—Second Round.

Shreveport Circuit at Lake End, and Powhatan, Sun., Mar. 4, a.m. and p.m.
Bossier City (Conference), Wed., Mar. 7, p.m.
Oil City, Sun., Mar. 11 a.m.
Shreveport Circuit at Trees, Sun., Mar. 11, p.m.
Noel Memorial (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, a.m.
First Church (preaching), Sun., Mar. 18, p.m.
Mansfield Station and Mission, Sun., Mar. 25, a.m. and p.m.
Mangum Memorial (Conference), Wed., Mar. 28, p.m.
Belcher at Gilliam, Sun., Apr. 1, a.m.; Cnference, Mon., 9 a.m.
Ida at Hosston, Sun., Apl. 1; Conference, 3 p.m.; preaching, 7:30 p.m.
Texas Avenue (Conference), Wed., Apl. 4, p.m.
Pelican at Mitchell, Sun., Apl. 8.
Vivian, Sun., Apl. 15, a.m.
Mooringsport, Sun., Apl. 15, p.m.
DISTRICT CONFERENCE AT MANSFIELD, APRIL 17-19.
Grand Cane, at Grand Cane, Sun., Apl. 22, a.m.
Logansport, Sun., Apl. 22, p.m.
Noel Memorial (Conference), Wed., Apl. 25, p.m.
Pleasant Hill, at Beulah, Sun., Apl. 29.
First Church (Conference), Wed., May 2, p.m.
Longstreet, at Keatchie, Sun., May 6, a.m.
Greenwood, Sun., May 6. p.m.
Bayou La Chute, at Elm Grove, Sun., May 13.
Plain Dealing, at Benton, Sun., May 20.
R. H. WYNN, P. E.

TETTERINE
CLEARS BABY'S SKIN
and drives off the Rash and Pimples. Harmless, Soothing, Fragrant.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

Church Furniture
WORK OF THE HIGHEST QUALITY AT REASONABLE PRICES
Write for Catalogue
BUDDE & WEIS MFG. CO.
JACKSON, TENNESSEE

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

FINE WORK AT SPRINGHILL, LA.

Dear Brother Carley: For the first time, I am a subscriber to the Christian Advocate. I like it splendidly. I wonder if you will give me spaco to say a few words. With the exception of a few, all the people here are members of some church. We have two Baptist organizations here, and I have told several preachers that we would have the best Methodist church in the State of Louisiana if we could get a preacher that could handle tho situation, and I believe we have got him—Rev. T. W. St. John. Every ono seems to like him, and he seems to love every one—willing to go anywhere and do anything he can—so we are looking forward for great results before the year closes. Our determination is to see this a Christian town. It is the best lot of people for a mill town I ever havo lived among. All are willing to perform their Christian duty.

With the help of Dr. Henry, Dr. Dodson, and Dr. Wynn, the Lord has enabled mo in the last four years to enroll 74 members, organize and build four new churches and reinstate one, ono at Goodwlil, Adner, Jamestown, and Ivan. I would love to have the chance of building new churches or renewing old ones in needy territory.

J. C. SUTTON,
Local Preacher.

Springhill, La., Box 14.

BLACK DRAUGHT OVER 30 YEARS

"Saved Me Many a Sick Spell," Says Texas Farmer, Who Has Long Known Usefulness of Black-Draught.

Naples, Texas.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for years—I can safely say for more than 30 years," declares Mr. H. H. Cromer, a substantial, well-known farmer, residing out on Route 3 from here.

"I am 43 years old, and when a small boy I had indigestion and was puny and my folks gave me a liver regulator. Then Black-Draught was advertised and we heard of it.

"I began to take Black-Draught, and have used it, when needed, ever since. I use Black-Draught now in my home, and certainly recommend it for any liver trouble.

"I have given it a thorough trial, and after thirty years can say Black-Draught is my stand-by. It has saved me many sick spells."

Mr. Cromer writes that he is "never out of Black-Draught," and says several of his neighbors prefer it to any other liver medicine. "I always recommend Black-Draught to my friends," he adds.

This valuable, old, powdered liver medicine is prepared from medicinal roots and herbs, and has none of the bad effects so often observed from the use of calomel, or other powerful mineral drugs.

Black-Draught helps to keep the liver in trim, helping prevent or relieve such troubles as constipation, biliousness, indigestion, sick headache.

Be sure, to get the genuine.—Adv.

Piles

CURED
In 6 to 14 Days

All Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of ITCHING, BLIND, BLEEDING or PROTRUDING PILES. Cures ordinary cases in 6 days, the worst cases in 14 days.

PAZO OINTMENT instantly Relieves ITCHING PILES and you can get restful sleep after the first application. 60c.

DANDRUFF
quickly disappears when
TETTERINE
is applied. Fragrant and Soothing. 60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

MARION LAWRANCE TO VISIT LOUISIANA.

The Louisiana Sunday School Association announces that Marion Lawrance, of Chicago, America's most widely known Sunday school leader, and General Secretary of the International Sunday School Association for a quarter of a century, is to spend one week in Louisiana, March 1-8, in the interest of Sunday school work. Mr. Lawrance's visit will bo to eight Parish Conventions as follows:

New Iberia, Thursday, March 1; Crowley, Friday, March 2; Jennings, Saturday and Sunday, March 3-4; Lake Charles, Sunday and Monday, March 4-5; Shreveport, Tuesday, March 6; Minden, Wednesday, March 7; Hayensville, Thursday, March 8.

Here's a fine opportunity for Sunday school workers in adjoining parishes to receive information and inspiration from a man who has given his whole life to Sunday schools, and is full of suggestions, methods and plans that are workable in any schools of any size. We welcome Mr. Lawrance to our State, and wish him Godspeed in his mingling with us.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Columbus Dist.—Second Round.

Columbus, First Church, March 4, a.m.
Caledonia, at Mt. Pleasant, March 9; preaching, March 11.
Macon Ct., at Salem, March 18, a.m.
Macon Sta., March 18, p.m.
Chester, at Nebo, March 24, 25.
Standard Training School, at Starkville, March 26 to 31.
Columbus, Central Church, Q. C., April 3; preaching, March 4, p.m.
Noxapater, at Pisgah, April 6.
High Point, at Rural Hill, April 7, 8.
Louisville, April 8, p.m.
Kosciusko Ct., at Smyrna, April 13.
Kosciusko Sta., April 13, p.m.
Crawford and Shaeffers, at Shaeffers, April 15, a.m.
Sturgis, at Pleasant Hill, April 18.
Shuqualak, at Cooksville, April 20.
Mashulaville, at Mt. Hebron, April 21, 22.
Brooksville, April 22, p.m.
District Conference, at Ackerman, April 26, 27.
Ethel, at ——, April 28, 29.
Ackerman and Weir, at Ackerman, April 29, 30.
Mayhew and Sessums, at ——, May 2; preaching at Mayhew, April 1, a.m.
Artesia, May 3, night; preaching, April 15, night.
McCool, at Liberty Hill, May 5, 6.
Starkville, May 6, p.m.
West Point, May 9; preaching, April 1, p.m.
Cedar Bluff, at ——, May 10.

District Conference at Ackerman April 26-27. Opening sermon Wednesday night the 25th. The District Standard Training School will be held at Starkville March 26-31. All pastors are requested to let Brother Woollard know, right away, how many will attend this School from their charges. We hope to have every school in the district represented at this School. Starkville will furnish free entertainment.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Greenwood Dist.—Second Round.

Black Hawk, at Emory, March 4, 11 a.m.
Acona, March 4, 7:30 p.m.
Lambert, at Marks, March 11.
Annual Meeting of Woman's Missionary Society, at Greenwood, March 13-16.
Tutwiler, at Rome, March 18, 11 a.m.
Inverness, at Isola, March 25, 11 a.m.
Belzoni, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Sidon, at Cruger, April 1, 11 a.m.
Tchula, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Drew, at Sandy Bayou, April 8, 11 a.m.
Schlater, at Sunny Side, April 15, 11 a.m.
Minter City, at Glendora, April 22, 11 a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, April 29, 11 a.m.
Greenwood, April 30, 7:30 p.m.
Swift, at Swift, May 6, 11 a.m.
Dublin, at Mattson, May 13, 11 a.m.
Sunflower, at Fasonla, May 20, 11 a.m.
District Conference at Inverness, May 23-25.
Webb, at Sumner, May 27, 11 a.m.

All benevolences are expected to be reported, "provided for" by subscriptions or cash, not later than the meeting of the district conference. Let boards of stewards and pastors take this important matter up at once.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—Second Round.

Oxford, Mar. 4.
Water Valley, First Church, Mar. 9, 11.
Paris ct., at Paris, Mar. 10.
Winona ct., at New Hope, Mar. 17.
Vaiden and West, at W., Mar. 18.
Sallis ct., at Bethel, Mar. 24.
Pickens and Goodman, at G., Mar. 25 (a.m.), 26 (a.m.)
Durant, Mar. 25 (p.m.), 26 (p.m.)
Holcomb ct., at Spring Hill, Mar. 31.
Grenada, Apr. 1.
Tie Plant ct., at New Hope, Apr. 1, 2.
Poplar Creek ct., at N. Union, Apr. 7.
Kilmichael ct., at Tomnolen, Apr. 8.
Coffeeville ct., at Goshen, Apr. 15.
Duck Hill ct., at Chapel Hill, Apr. 21, 22.
Winona, Apr. 22, 23.
Lamar ct., at Early Grove, Apr. 28.
Ashland ct., at Ashland, Apr. 29.
Ebenezer ct., at Ebenzer, May 6, 7 (a.m.)
Lexington, May 6, 7.
Waterford ct., at Harris Chapel, May 12.
Abbeville ct., at Mt. Zion, May 13.

District Conference at Pickens May 8-10. Opening session at 2:30 p.m., May 8.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Help Wanted

We require the services of an ambitious person to do some special advertising work right in your own locality. The work is pleasant and dignified. Pay is exceptionally large. No previous experience is required, as all that is necessary is a willingness on your part to carry out our instructions. If you are at present employed, we can use your spare time in a way that will not interfere with your present employment—yet pay you well for your time.
If you are making less than $150 a month, the offer I am going to make will appeal to you. Your spare time will pay you well—your full time will bring you in a handsome income.
Its costs nothing to investigate. Write me today and I will send you full particulars by return mail and place before you the facts so that you can decide for yourself.
ALBERT MILLS, Gen. Mgr. Employment Dept
7531 American Bldg., CINCINNATI, OHIO.

You can save money by getting our prices before you buy. Write our nearest factory today.
FULTON BAG & COTTON MILLS
[Manufacturers since 1870.]
Atlanta Brooklyn Dallas St. Louis and New Orleans

WHEELER
Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

Child's tongue shows if bilious, constipated

MOTHER, CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

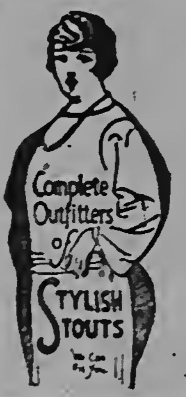
Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will quickly start liver and bowel action and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Fig Syrup" because it never fails to work the sour bile and constipation poison right out of the little stomach and bowels without cramping or overacting.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203,
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.



Complete Outfitters of Stylish Stouts

Everything to fit the Stout Figure. Evening Gowns. Semi-Evening. Street Dresses. Afternoon Dresses.
Wraps. Underwear. Hosiery. Corsets. Neckwear and Accessories.
424-426 S. Rampart.
New Store: Canal and Chartres

HEMSTITCHING
Embroidering, Buttons Covered, Scalloping, etc.
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS
109 BOURBON STREET. Main 734.
Elevator Service

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
Uptown 4831
COUPON
Cut this Coupon out. Men's Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 75c. Palm Beach, Linen and Seersucker Suits Cleaned and Pressed 40c. Ladies' Garments at lowest prices. Good for 60 days only.

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 9132
Old Stoves Taken in on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty
3921 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

We Know How—Quick Service.
We Call for and Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.
AUTO SERVICE
CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER
103 NORTH DELTA ST.
OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

UNITY
DENTAL CO.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE.
Highest class work in the city.
15-YEAR GUARANTEE.
Nerve Blocking our Specialty.
Eliminates all Pain.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE
Phone Main 6606

Sunday School

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

To the Adult and Young People's Bible Classes of the North Mississippi Conference.

Dear Fellow-Workers: Another year with its challenge to all Wesley Bible classes is upon us. God gave it to us, for all our years are His. The challenge being His, lays a tremendous responsibility upon us.

How shall we meet this challenge, as organized Bible classes?

I trust in the fear of the God who gives it, and with love for the cause He has committed to our hands.

What that particular work is, in the case of our Wesley Bible classes, is suggested in our motto, "My brother and I." Unselfish, altruistic service in Christ's name has always been both the motive and the great end of our work. Each year should find us better qualified, more perfectly equipped for this task and surely this year of grace, 1923, does find us girded and eager for some big and worth-while effort. Nor are we left in doubt as to what our special contribution should be to the great program of the kingdom, as it is being mapped out by our church leaders for the year.

Evangelism.

This is the keynote of that program, as it has been made the watchword for our Conference by our evangelistic, forward-looking Bishop Ainsworth. The evangelistic note which he sounded as with a bugle blast to Methodist men and women at Water Valley was re-enforced, made full and resonant in the great conference on Home Missions and Evangelism held in Jackson in January. I wish that every member of every Wesley Bible class in North Mississippi could have attended that meeting and have come under the influence of its burning spirit of evangelism. Then would each class become a powerful evangelistic center, with all its members intelligently, continuously, enthusiastically at work for the salvation of souls. Bringing men to a personal knowledge of Jesus the divine Savior of men would loom large in our thinking as the one "big business" of life. The men of our organized classes would, like Andrew and Philip, be busy about their Father's business, seeking and saving their brothers and friends.

Though we were not all privileged to catch the mountain-top vision of the Jackson meeting, can we not, in a measure, catch its spirit and co-operate heartily with our leaders in the attainment of its great objectives? Are there not some very definite things which the men's and women's classes may do toward making this the greatest year for the ingathering of souls, through the Sunday school and other agencies, that our Conference has ever known?

A threefold call to evangelism is made upon our Adult Bible Classes this year. The second of these comes in the intensive and comprehensive evangelistic program for January, February and March, which is now being vigorously worked out in the Sunday schools, under the inspiration and direction of our General Sunday School Board.

The third is that of our own Field Secretary, Rev. R. H. B. Gadney, making our slogan for the year, "Ten thousand souls for Christ, through the Sunday schools."

To whom can these leaders turn for co-operation and help in putting over their great program if not to the adult life of the church as it is organized in the Wesley Bible Classes? In God's Providence, surely they have come into their place of power and influence for such a time and for such a work as this!

Everything needful to make effective the work of evangelism in our Sunday schools as it is carried forward by pastors, superintendents and teachers, should be sponsored wholeheartedly by the Adult Bible Classes. This is the very least that could be expected of them, in fulfillment of their duty to God, to the church and to their own children.

There is only space here for the mere mention of a few of the definite things which should be undertaken by the organized classes this year. But it is hoped that it may prove suggestive and provocative of many "good works."

Flying Squadrons have already pointed the way to successful evangelistic achievement. The amazing response to this Christian movement on the part of laymen makes argument in its favor superfluous. Following this lead, every men's class should form "Gospel teams" or evangelistic bands, and report to pastors and presiding elders as volunteer evangelistic workers, the spirit of each being, "here am I, send me." Such groups of laymen, thoroughly equipped by prayer, Bible study and training under pastors and other Christian leaders, would supply the great army of recruits needed in Bishop Ainsworth's plan to have every pulpit throughout our Conference filled every Sunday. Already some of our men's classes are doing this character of work; notable among these are the "Big Brothers" of Greenville, Miss., and the "Business Men's Class" of Durant. All honor to these pioneers! Let others follow the path they have blazed.

Organization of Rural Sunday Schools. Here is a crying need, in view of the startling fact revealed in chart form at the Jackson meeting that only 38 per cent of the people of our State are members of the church. All our leaders are agreed that the neglect and decay evident in rural church life are appalling, in view of the fact that the country churches have hitherto constituted the chief source of supply for the ministry and religious leadership generally.

To the rescue, men of the Wesley Bible classes! Organize, foster and lead rural Sunday schools in your own territory. Keep them going until local leadership is developed. The "Torchbearers" of Dundee, Miss., have demonstrated the possibility of such constructive work, by maintaining such a school for the past seven months. Need it be said that the fine young laymen who have worked joyously and untiringly at this task have grown more spiritually than have the rural folk they serve?

Extension Departments. By this is meant the Cradle Roll and Home Department of the Sunday school. Certainly the sacred responsibility of promoting both these phases of Christian education rests primarily upon the adults of the Sunday school. Both these paths lead straight to the home, that first school of religious influence and training.

Our work of evangelism is superficial and worthless if it does not begin, continue and end in our homes. This is

(Continued on last page.)

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

United
Style Shop
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

ELYOD ART NEEDLEWORK CO.
1842 Dryades Street.
Stamped Articles. Floss. Yarn. Crochet Cotton, etc. Mail orders solicited. Send for beautiful illustrated circular of stamped articles.

ADORABLE TOGS FOR BABY
And Up to Six!
Maison Rouff
216 Chartres St.
"Just" Down from Godchaux's'

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

As to What to Wear,

How It Fits or Becomes You, You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting

Milady's Creative Shop

Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS. GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.

If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.

221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162,
830 CANAL STREET.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

SEVERE PAINS AND SO WEAK

Florida Lady Says She Suffered Greatly, but Found That Cardui Helped Her, and She Got "Stout and Well."

Dady, Fla.—"For a long time I had trouble each month, and suffered a great deal, evidently some womanly weakness," says Mrs. E. E. Pagett, who resides here on Route 1. "I would have very severe pains down on each side and across my back, and feel so weak I would have to lie down, and then have a bad headache.

"I knew there was trouble somewhere, and with all the doctoring I had done I didn't get relief. Teas and such didn't reach my trouble, so I decided to take Cardui.

"I found as the time came around, the pain was less, but I kept on till I took six bottles. I am stout and well ....and give Cardui all the praise."

Thousands of other women praise Cardui, for beneficial results.

Cardui is a mild, harmless, vegetable tonic medicine, found valuable in the treatment of many common womanly ailments. If you suffer as many women do, don't let your troubles run on without doing anything for yourself. Take Cardui! Since it has helped so many, Cardui may be of valuable assistance to you, in regaining your health.

Take CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

TOPIC FOR MARCH 11.

(Taken from the Devotional Meeting Annual and used by permission.)

Matt. 25:14-30; I Peter 4:10.

Daily Bible Readings.

M. God's Owenrship of All Things. Deut. 10:14.

T. Ability as a Trust from God. Deut. 8:17,18.

W. The Requirements of a Steward. I Cor. 4:1-5.

T. Proportionate Giving. I Cor. 16-20.

F. A Foolish Rich Man. Luke 12:16-21.

S. Laying up Treasure in Heaven. Matt. 6:19, 20.

Planning the Program.

Order a copy of "The Plan of Christian Stewardship Enlistment" and enough pledge cards for your Chapter (40 cents per hundred). You may also get free literature on Stewardship. The cards should be presented to those present and later to all other members of your Chapter.

For the Leader.

Avoid the presentation of tithing as an end in itself. Tithing is only an expression of a man's stewardship, an acknowledgment of God's ownership of all that he is and has. Emphasize that there is a stewardship of acquiring and spending as well as giving. Seek to gain an acceptance of this larger idea of stewardship before asking for the pledge.

For Discussion.

Money-making a gift.

Wesley's three principles.

Right and wrong methods of making money.

Right and wrong use of money.

Reference Material.

"Money the Acid Test."

Quotations.

A man may make the giving of money a mighty means of grace to himself as well as a personal service to others.—D. McConaughy.

Keep an account. Enter every penny spent on yourself in one column, and every penny given to God's work in another. Balance the account at the close of each month. Total to Self; total to the Lord.—Moore.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Below is shown the Louisiana Conference Epworth League Missionary Special. It is hoped that all who read it will see that a copy of this report is posted in your League room and that all the Leagues will do their very best to get their pledge paid up in full by the end of the League year, which is May 1, 1923:

| Alexandria Dist.— | Pledge. | Paid to date. |
|---|---|---|
| Alexandria Senior.... | $100.00 | $48.00 |
| Bunkie Senior ...... | 25.00 | 3.82 |
| Glenmora Senior .... | 35.00 | 19.90 |
| Jena Senior ... .... | 25.00 | .... |
| Lecompte Int. ....... | 25.00 | 1.20 |
| Natchitoches Sr. .... | 50.00 | .... |
| Oakdale Sr. ......... | 20.00 | .... |
| Oakdale Int. ........ | 20.00 | .... |
| Oakdale Jr. .... .... | 10.00 | .... |
| Pineville Sr. ........ | 15.00 | .... |
| Rochelle Sr. .. ... | 15.00 | .... |
| Standard Int. ....... | 5.00 | .... |
| Olla Sr. .... ........ | 15.00 | .... |
| Winnfield Sr. .. .. .. | 10.00 | .... |
| Davis Springs Sr..... | 20.00 | .... |
| Baton Rouge Dist.— | | |
| Amite Sr. ...... .... | 25.00 | .... |
| Baton Rouge Sr. .... | 200.00 | .... |
| Zachary Sr. ......... | .... | 10.00 |
| Lake Charles Dist.— | | |
| De Ridder Sr. ...... | 25.00 | .... |
| Do Ridder Int. ...... | 10.00 | .... |
| Lake Charles Sr. .... | 75.00 | .... |
| Lake Charles Jr. .... | .... | 3.00 |
| Many Sr. .. .. ...... | 10.00 | .... |
| Zwolle Sr. .......... | 10.00 | .... |
| Zwolle Int. .......... | 10.00 | .... |
| Lafayette Sr. ........ | .... | *30.00 |
| Monroe-Ruston Dist.— | | |
| Monroe Sr. .......... | 25.00 | .... |
| Ruston Int. ......... | 45.00 | .... |
| Calhoun Sr. ......... | 25.00 | .... |
| Rayville .... .... ... | 50.00 | .... |
| New Orleans Dist.— | | |
| Algiers Sr. .......... | 30.00 | .... |
| Algiers Jr. .......... | 10.00 | .... |
| Bogalusa Sr ........ | 25.00 | .... |
| Carrollton Sr. ....... | 150.00 | 75.00 |
| Epworth Sr. ......... | 25.00 | *50.00 |
| First Church Sr. ..... | 50.00 | .... |
| McDonoghville Sr. ... | 40.00 | 30.00 |
| Rayne Memorial Sr... | 75.00 | .... |
| Second Church Sr. .. | 50.00 | .... |
| Second Church Jr..... | 10.00 | .... |
| St. Marks' ... ..... | .... | 9.00 |
| Parker Memorial .... | 50.00 | .... |
| Shreveport Dist.— | | |
| Arcadia Sr. ......... | 15.00 | .... |
| Bossier Sr. .......... | 20.00 | .... |
| Cedar Grove Int. .... | 35.00 | .... |
| Grand Cain Sr. ...... | 15.00 | 10.00 |
| Haynesville Sr. ...... | 25.00 | 24.00 |
| Logansport Sr. ...... | 40.00 | .... |
| Mansfield Sr. ........ | 25.00 | .... |
| Mansfield Int. ....... | 25.00 | .... |
| Minden Sr. .......... | 35.00 | 5.00 |
| Minden Jr. .......... | .... | 5.00 |
| Pelican Sr. .......... | 15.00 | 18.00 |
| Noel Memorial Sr.... | 100.00 | .... |
| Noel Memorial Jr..... | 10.00 | .... |
| Mangham Mem. Sr. .. | 35.00 | .... |
| Vivian Sr. .......... | 75.00 | .... |
| Vivian Jr. .......... | 10.00 | .... |
| Stonewall Sr. ....... | .... | 2.00 |
| Stonewall Jr. ........ | .... | 6.00 |
| First Church Sr. .... | 150.00 | .... |
| First Church Int. .... | 25.00 | .... |
| Total .... .. .. | $2070.00 | |

*Back payment.

Payments credited are up to February 1.

Total needed this year:
$1800 for African Special,
100 for Colored Institute work,
500 for French Church furniture and Houma.

INCOME TAX FACTS.

Revenue officers are visiting every county in the United States to aid taxpayers in the preparation of their income tax returns for the year 1922. Information concerning the date of their arrival and the location of their offices may be obtained by writing the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer lives.

Forms for filing returns for the individual net income for the year 1922 are being sent to taxpayers who filed returns for the year 1921. Failure to receive a form, however, does not re-

(Continued on Last Page.)

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid. 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed. Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls, Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2364

TETTERINE
Makes Hair Beautiful, Free from Dandruff and Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Rheumatic Pains Aches are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also. 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT.

It works this way:
It starts circulation. This scatters congestion. The inflammation disappears—and along with it the pain.

The pains of strains and sprains are due to congestion. When you start circulation, you remove the cause of pain.

Relieves painful rheumatic twinges too. Warms and eases backaches, neuralgia, colds in chest. Keep it handy.

Sloan's penetrates without rubbing. It is truly "the World's Liniment." At all drug stores, 35c, 70c and $1.40.

Sloan's Liniment-kills pain!

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

CHANGE OF DATE, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

The following telegram from Mrs. H. L. McCleskey, Corresponding Secretary, is self-explanatory:

"Date for Mississippi Woman's Missionary Conference at First Church, Laurel, Miss., has been changed to March 27-30. Names of delegates are to be sent to Mrs. J. H. Hill, Laurel, Miss."

ANNUAL MEETING, WOMAN'S MISSIONARY COUNCIL.

The Woman's Missionary Council will hold its Thirteenth Annual Meeting in St. Francis Street Methodist Episcopal Church, South, Mobile, Ala., April 4-11, 1923.

The meeting will open at 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening, with an inspirational service in loving remembrance of Miss Belle H. Bennett.

The first business session will be at 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

An Executive Committee meeting will be held Wednesday afternoon, and the Workers' Conference will meet during the business session of the Council.

Reduced railway rates of one and one-half fare have been secured. This, according to the certificate plan, requires an attendance of 250 persons who have paid a normal one-way fare of sixty-seven cents or more on the going trip. Tickets purchased from March 31 to April 6 will be good until April 14 if the certificate secured when tickets is purchased is properly validated. Validation dates are April 7 and 11.

Council headquarters will be at Hotel Cawthon, St. Francis Street.

Mrs. L. P. Adams, general chairman of local committees, care Adams Auto Co., Mobile, Ala., will furnish desired information concerning hotels, boarding houses, etc.

MRS. F. F. STEPHENS,
Vice-President.
MRS. FITZGERALD S. PARKER,
Recording Secretary.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

How Many Will Be There?

How many superintendents of children's work will be at Monroe, March 6, 7, 8 and 9 to meet Mrs. Althea Jones, our Council Superintendent of Children's Work? The auxiliaries have been asked, whenever possible, to send the superintendent of children's work as a delegate this year. A united and concerted action of this sort would bring large results in this poorly developed part of our auxiliary activities.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

All-Day Meeting at Lorman.

Our Missionary Society at Lorman planned an "All-Day Meeting" when we learned that our District Secretary, Mrs. T. B. Cottrell, of Vicksburg, could be with us on Jan 26.

We invited the ladies of the community to come and hear Mrs. Cottrell's address at 11 o'clock and to be our guests at the luncheon hour, and to be present at the afternoon exercises.

While sickness and other causes prevented some from coming, we had a representative group of our good women. We regretted very much that any had to be away.

Mrs. Cottrell's address was not only instructive but inspirational as well. It was what our Society, just organized last September, needed to get a better district-wide, State-wide and world-wide idea of our great missionary work.

A noon recess was given, a bountiful lunch served, and a short social season followed.

In the afternoon Mrs. Cottrell again addressed us, explaining the organization and operation of the young people's work, also the children's work.

The teachers of the local school accompanied the pupils to the church. The primary teacher had the children sing some songs, which were enjoyed very much by all. We appreciated the co-operation of the teachers, and feel sure the children and young people will not forget Mrs. Cottrell's helpful words to them.

Taken altogether, the "All-Day meeting" was very enjoyable, and we feel grateful for Mrs. Cottrell's timely visit to our Society.

REPORTER.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT.

It is hard to realize that the time has come for another year book to go out. Yet 1922 has passed and we are all back from our Deputation trips. Many have written telling of the pleasure the programs have given in the meetings. We owe a great debt to those who prepared the Deputation programs and the fine literature that went with them.

The Year Book coming to you now is entirely different. We are not to travel again this year, but will stay at home and revel in the study of those who, in the years that have passed, did "leave father and mother" and go out for the Gospel's sake; not caring, as Paul said, to work where so many others had, but pushing on into new places or hard conditions that no one had ever met.

We have the HERO BOOK for our program for 1923. After having seen in the detailed travel-stories of our fields and stations for the past two years the conditions that exist there, and under which those heroes lived and worked, we will have, I am sure, a more intelligent background for understanding their lives and efforts. We will also have a deeper sympathy for them, as in the "loneliness of leadership" they did their great work. These heroes are chosen from every field in which our Board of Missions has work, and from each type of missionary work that is done, so that we approach the great work from a new angle this year: the angle of consecrated personality at work.

Yet a printed year book in your hands will not do all the work. You will be able to use it as a guide and to profit by its suggestions. But your program committee or those chosen to lead the study each month, must put themselves into it, and by real effort, individuality and ingenuity, find different and attractive ways of presenting the monthly program.

A Hero Contest is the special feature for this year. You are to divide the Auxiliary into six circles at the beginning of the year, and into six different circles at the end of six months, making each circle responsible for presenting one program before the society. At the end of each six months the members are to decide by a vote, by ballots—which come with the Year Book—which Hero is most worthy to be placed in an imaginary Hall of Fame. Each member must have her own year book to be entitled to vote the ballots it carries. The ballots are to be sent to your Conference Superintendent, who will count them, and send the results to me.

The theme will also be carried out in the Bible lessons chosen for the devotional services. These will be studies of Bible Heroes and are well worth all the work we can put into them.

There will be many other sources of information about these heroes than the leaflets sent you. Many of you can find articles in some friend's library that will give a different presentation of the life. Themes on these characters could be presented for school work.

You will remember that I also have charge of filling the Young People's pages in The Voice. I didn't hear from many auxiliaries with news items last year. But please do remember to have some one send me an account of something that you do that is of special interest. I can pass on many ideas if they are only sent to me.

If your Auxiliary did not make the Honor Roll, won't you work harder for it next year? It means thorough and efficient organization.

I believe we can, building on the work of the past, make the year 1923 very helpful to our own lives and to the auxiliary. The study of these Heroes should inspire us to do better, bigger things with our lives. I shall be with you in the studies and in prayer for you all.

Yours in "Loyalty to Christ!"

MRS. P. L. COBB,
Council Supt. of Young People's Work,
1703 Primrose Avenue, Nashville, Tenn.

Are You An Ailing Woman?
Here is Most Vital and Important Advice

Jonesboro, N. C.—"At one time I was greatly distressed and had to walk tiptoe for fear of jarring myself. The doctor said I had an organic trouble. He doctored me for that and I received some relief from his medicine, enough so I could do a little work in the house, but for two years I suffered with that awful 'achy' pain. Finally, a friend heard of my illness, and told me what Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription had done for her, and I decided I would try it. The first few doses helped me, and by the time I had taken two bottles I began to feel all right again. I have great faith in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. Hannah McCain.

Get Favorite Prescription at once from your nearest druggist, in either liquid or tablet form.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Send Me Your Name Now

Big Saving On Every Style

BOHON'S YEAR BANG—goes every price in the biggest and finest vehicle book ever printed. Let me send it FREE—NOW. I'll show bargain hunters a treat. I mean it. Prices smashed. Unlimited Guarantee 60 Days' Road Test. Write the biggest and oldest Direct Factory in the world—now. Big Free catalog. Every known style.

The D. T. Bohon Company
50 Main St. Harrodsburg, Ky.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns.
Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

VIGOR OF YOUTH
A NEW DISCOVERY

Science Produces a Vitalizer Superior to the Famous Gland Treatment—Magic Power of a Bark from Africa.

Have you lost your youth, vigor and "pep"? Does life seem dull and work a grind? Don't worry. Science has discovered a new vitalizer, superior even to the much discussed "goat gland" and "monkey gland" treatment, by which anyone can now quickly and easily regain the vitality and eagerness of youth and do it in the privacy of home.

The principal ingredient is an extract from the bark of an African tree. It is said to be the most amazing invigorator ever discovered. Combined with it are other tonic and vitalizing elements of proved merit. In most cases the compound produces marked improvement in a day or two, and in a short time the vitality is raised, the circulation improved and the glow of health is felt in every part.

The laboratories producing this new vitalizer, which is called Re-Bild-Tabs, are so confident of its power that they offer new customers a large, regular $2 supply for only $1 and guarantee to refund the money if the remedy fails to give results in one week.

Any reader of this paper may test the new discovery without risk. Send no money, but just your name and address to Re-Bild Laboratories, 315 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., and a full $2 treatment of Re-Bild-Tabs will be mailed. Pay the postman $1 and postage on delivery. If not delighted by the results at the end of a week, notify the laboratories and your money will be refunded in full. Do not hesitate about accepting this test offer, as it is fully guaranteed.

For Troubled Nerves,

high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Corinth District—Second Round.

Guntown, at Hebron, Thursday, Mar. 8.
Baldwyn, at Lebanon, Mar. 10, 11.
Booneville Sta., preaching Mar. 11, at night; Q. C., Apr. 6. at 3 p.m.
New Albany Sta., Q. C., Thursday night, Mar. 15; preaching, Mar. 18, night.
Potts Camp, at Bethlehem, Friday, Mar. 16.
Hickory Flat, at Ebenezer, Mar. 17, 18.
Myrtle, at Union Hill, Friday, Mar. 23.
Sherman, at Chesterville, Mar. 24, 25.
Wheeler, at Hodge's Chapel, Wednesday, Mar. 28.
New Albany Ct., at Well's Chapel, Thursday, Mar. 29.
Kossuth, at Pleasant Hill, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Booneville Ct., at Carolina, Friday, Apr. 6.
Rienzi, at Blackland, Apr. 7, 8.
Paden, at Paden, Thursday, Apr. 12.
Tishomingo, at Paradise, Friday, Apr. 13.
Belmont, at Patterson's Chapel, Apr. 14, 15.
Ripley Sta., Q. C., Friday night, Apr. 20; preaching, Apr. 22, night.
Silver Springs, at Pain's Chapel, Apr. 21, 22.
Mooreville, at Oak Hill, Apr. 24.
Mantachie, at Oak Grove, Apr. 25.
Marietta, at Gilmore's Chapel, Thursday, Apr. 26.
Chalybeate, at Mt. Pleasant, Apr. 28, 29.
Burnsville, at Chapel Hill, Friday, May 4.
Iuka Ct., at Harmony, Saturday, May 5.
Iuka Sta., Q. C., Friday night, May 4; preaching, May 6, at 11 a.m.

The Corinth Dstrict Conference will be held at Ripley, Miss., May 15-17.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

BABIES LOVE
MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Pleasant to give—pleasant to take. Guaranteed purely vegetable and absolutely harmless. It quickly overcomes colic, diarrhoea, flatulency and other like disorders. The open published formula appears on every label.
At All Druggists

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED
Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls. N. Y.

Free upon Request
Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free, upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information that every woman should have.

Greenville Dist.—Second Round.

Hollywood, March 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. B. Conner.
Tunica, March 4, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Robinsonville, March 4, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Robinsonville, March 4, 7 p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Lyon, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. M. Brownlee.
Clarksdale, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching by Del Longgrear.
Clarksdale, March 11, 5 p.m. Q. C., Del Longgrear.
Dundee, March 11, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Lyon, March 11, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Alligator, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by C. M. Chapman.
Shelby, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by L. A. McKeown.
Duncan, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Sherard, March 18, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Alligator, March 18, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Shelby, March 18, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Hillhouse, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Gunnison, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. N. Dodds.
Malvina, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. B. Sharp.
Rosedale, March 25, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Leland, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Shaw, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. E. Gregory.
Litton, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. D. Simpson.
Shaw, April 1, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette will lead the music at Shaw evening service.
Cleveland, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Hartsfield.
Shipman's Chapel, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Mitchell.
Boyle, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Cleveland, April 8, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette at Boyle a.m. and Cleveland p.m. services.
Sherard, April 15, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Friars Point, April 15, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Pace, April 18, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette, high noon lunch, all officials present, get acquainted.
Hollandale, April 22, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. Nash Broyles.
Hollandale, afternoon and evening, Big Brothers and Q. C.
Greenville, April 22, a.m. and p.m. Preaching by James H, Felts.
Greenville, April 25, 8 p.m. Q. C. Big Brothers Quartette and special program at this conference.
Glen Allan, April 29, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Benoit, April 29, 11 a.m. Big Brother J. J. Baird.
Benoit, April 29, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette heard at the Benoit evening service.
Shipman's Chapel, May 2, 11 a.m. Preaching and Quarterly Conference.
Duncan, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Bobo, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Duncan, May 6, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Duncan, May 6, p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Leland Q. C. during the district conference.

District conference and S. T. S. at Leland, May 7-12, 100 the minimum number to take the teachers' course. The best talent, the greatest hospitality, THE BIGGEST CONFERENCE OF THE KIND EVER HELD IN THIS DISTRICT.

The Wise Virgins looked after extra oil. Great Centenary offering immediately after the district conference. "Be ye also ready."

You must know the joy of hard work, honest sacrifice, before you can taste the sweet waters of success.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC SOLD 50 YEARS
If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.

Sardis District—Second Round.

Sardis, Feb. 25, p.m.; Q. C., March 1, p.m.
Batesville, Q. C., April 3.
Oakland, at Tillatoba, March 10, preaching 11 a.m., and Q. C. in afternoon.
Charleston, Q. C., April 4.
Cockrum, at Independence, March 17-18.
Olive Branch, at Mineral Wells, 11 a.m., March 24; Q. C., in afternoon.
Byhalia, at Fountain Head, 11 a.m., March 25; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crenshaw, Q. C., May 2.
Arkabutla, at Sarah, March 31, April 1.
Como, Q. C., April 2, p.m.
Sardis Ct., at Cold Springs, 11 a.m., April 7; Q. C. in afternoon.
Longtown, at Pleasant Grove, April 8, 11 a.m.; Q. C., in afternoon.
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's Chapel, April 14-15.
Shuford, at Lovejoy, 11 a.m., April 21; Q. C., in afternoon.
Courtland, at Pope, 11 a.m., April 22; Q. C., in afternoon.
Horn Lake, at Poplar Corner, 11 a.m., April 28; Q. C., in afternoon.
Mount Pleasant, at Union, 11 a.m., April 29; Q. C., in afternoon.
Tyro, at Tyro, 11 a.m., May 5; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crowder, at Fredonia, 11 a.m., May 6; Q. C., in afternoon.

The District Conference is announcing for May 15, 16, 17, beginning 9:30 a.m., May 15, to be held at Senatobia, Miss. It is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of all members of this conference to be on hand. I trust that all the pastors will see that the Q. C. Records for their charges are there for examination. Please let every local preacher in the District be on hand to make his report. It is no less the duty of the local preachers to be present at this conference than it is the duty of the other members to be on hand. God helping us, we are going to have a great District Conference. Please let every member be there to do his part toward making it a spiritual and material success.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents, also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

IF BILIOUS, SICK! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds
Toothache
Earache
Neuralgia
Headache
Lumbago
Rheumatism
Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with

Gray's Ointment

Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

Ladies Let Cuticura Keep Your Skin Fresh and Young

Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. For samples address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

Grippe

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or Influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

BISHOP MOUZON HOLDS REVIVAL.

We ask permission to quote in full this news account from Clarksville, Tenn., which appeared in the Memphis Commercial-Appeal of February 15. Our purpose is not to point the moral that each hishop should hold revival meetings. With the multitudinous demands upon their time, this would be as impossihle as it is impracticable. But some have feared that the good hishop has heen preaching doctrines contrary to our estahlished doctrines of religion. Bishop Mouzon's leadership of this revival gives us a fair insight into the spirit of the man. Long may he be spared to continue his work.

"Clarksville, Tenn., Feb. 14.—It is not often that we hear of a bishop holding a revival. But we do hear of them holding Annual Conferences, presiding over the general boards of the connection, or delivering addresses on special occasions. But to hold a revival is something out of the ordinary.

"But Bishop Edwin Dubose Mouzon, of the M. E. Church, South, who presides over the Tennessee Conferences of this connection, last week at the Madison Avenue Methodist Church in this city, held the city of Clarksville spellbound hy his stirring and earnest preaching of the old-time religion.

"Bishop Mouzon is a 100 per cent gospel preacher. He is a scholar, philosopher, orator, evangelist and mystic. He would grace any pulpit in the world. He hrings all of his culture down to the man in the street. None of your higher criticism or denial of the divinity of Christ, or theories ahout evolution, we have heard so much about in the press recently. He hrings the gospel home to men's business and hosoms.

"He discussed the themes of the old heartfelt religion that Methodists love to talk ahout. His sermons will he long rememhered on the following great suhjects: 'Pure and Undefiled Religion'; 'Called to Be Saints'; 'The Immortality of the Soul'; 'The Divine Forgiveness'; 'The Consequences of Sin'; 'What and Where is God?' 'How to Become a Christian,' and 'Individual Responsibility.' These grand old themes the hishop discussed to large audiences morning, afternoon and night."

He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.

JULIAN S. DUNCAN.

Pickens, Miss.

GREAT DAYS IN OAKDALE, LA.

The days since Conference have all been great days; and yet greater days are just ahead.

Three weeks ago, we began the erection of a great auditorium that will seat 1,500 people; and the huilding is nearly complete. We expect to occupy it before this appears in print. Built on the 'tahernacle" plan, it is of good material and workmanship, and will cost approximately $5,000. It is on the most desirable corner lot in the town, next door to our parsonage.

Wednesday night, Feb. 14, our revival started. Our huilding heing incomplete, the Baptist hrethren loaned us their great new tahernacle; and, with the Wisdom Sisters singing for us, Brother D. B. Boddie, our Glenmora pastor, leading our choir and doing the preaching, we had a good beginning. Yesterday, the evangelist, Rev. W. T. May, of Wellsville, Mo., arrived and took charge, and now the meeting is fairly under way.

Our church is unified as never before. The whole community is interested in this revival movement, and we are expecting a mighty outpouring of the Holy Spirit, "not many days hence." Such gospel singing I have never heard as that which the Wisdom Sisters are doing. May is deeply spiritual, and preaches a clear, ringing, heart-searching gospel. On the 28th, when he will he forced to leave us for a chain of engagements in Texas, Dr. Andrew Sledd, of Emory University, will take charge of the services, and preach for us till March 7.

What a day of opportunity! What good fortune for this section of Louisiana! Where will one find a more deeply consecrated team than these workers? What church or community will be served at once by five such outstanding and devoted personalities as the three Wisdom Sisters, and May and Sledd? And we are looking for yet greater help, in the Person of Him who said, "And lo! I am with you alway!" Even so, come, Lord Jesus!

It will be a good time for brethren in this part of the State to visit us. Christian workers of other towns for miles around should avail themselves of this great opportunity! Dr. Carley, run up and visit us during these services. Pray for us, hrethren.

ARTHUR M. SHAW, Pastor.

INCOME TAX FACTS.

(Continued From Page 13.)

lieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file a return and pay the tax on time, on or before March 15, 1923. The forms, 1040A for filing returns of net income of $5,000 and less, and 1040 for filing returns of net income in excess of $5,000, may he obtained from collectors of internal revenue and deputy collectors.

Returns are required of every single person whose net income for 1922 was $1,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more, and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more or whose gross income was $5,000 or more. Careful study of the instructions on the forms will greatly aid in making a correct return.—Government Bulletin.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

(Continued From Page 12.)

hasic. We, as adults, the custodians of home life, must not only "keep the home fires burning," hut we must, under God, keep the altar-fires burning in those homes.

Our women's organized classes will find the door of opportunity and Christian service wide open here. Let them enter tactfully, wisely, prayerfully, in the holy attempt to take the modern home for God.

The Wesley Bible Class Federation, in Grenada, Miss., June 6, 7, 8. Let all the Wesley Bible classes hegin to pray and to prepare for that great gathering. The evangelistic note will he sounded loud and clear at that time.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT. Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

Brother Gladney has secured the promise of Mr. Fred Sullens and Boyd Campbell, of the Jackson Flying Squadron, to he present and take prominent part in that meeting. What an inspiration, and also what a training school of methods in lay evangelism that will he! Your class cannot afford to miss it.

Yours for a great year and a great Federation meet.

MRS. J. M. WYATT,
Conference Superintendent, Adult Bible Classes.
Lula, Miss., February 14.

Rupture is Dangerous

Instant Relief; Many Cures Reported; Full Directions and Sample SENT FREE

Just because you have been ruptured for years and have tried all kinds of bungling trusses and appliances, salves, liniments and plasters without satisfactory results, do not think you have to stay in this dangerous condition.

You may have instant, blessed relief and, as scores of others report, complete recovery by the use of this simple, inexpensive discovery.

Send no money. To prove that my famous Sponge Rubber Rupture Pad does Conquer Rupture, even in its worst forms, I will send a sample absolutely free to any ruptured person, in a plain sealed package. Possibly you are wondering whether this can be true. Stop it! The test is free and surely the test will tell. Cut out this notice and hand it to a ruptured friend or send it with your name and address to E. H. Scott, Hernia Expert, 525-N Scott Building, Akron, Ohio, and you will quickly receive a sample Sponge Rubber Pad with full directions. No obligation to purchase. Don't let Rupture handicap you in the battle of life, but make this test today.—Adv.

FAT PEOPLE CAN REDUCE QUICKLY

New Discovery Makes it Possible to Reduce a Pound a Day Without Dieting or Exercise.

Any fat man or woman can quickly and easily reduce to normal weight without dieting or exercise through the remarkable discovery of Rid-O-Fat by H. C. Haist, a Kansas City chemist.

You can eat what you please and as much as you wish, yet quickly reduce to the weight you desire. All you need do is to take one Rid-O-Fat tablet after each meal for a short time, and the fat will vanish as though by magic. Rid-O-Fat is a scientific product, has practically no odor or taste and can be taken by anyone with perfect safety, as it is recommended and indorsed by the highest medical authority.

So confident is Mr. Haist that Rid-O-Fat will delight everyone that he generously offers to send a free trial treatment to any reader who will write for it. This trial treatment is sufficient to reduce you from three to five pounds and will prove that you can be as slender as you wish without dieting or exercise.

Simply send your name and address to H. C. Haist, 1557 Coca-Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and the free trial treatment will be sent immediately under plain wrapper.

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 10. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3500.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, MARCH 8, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

A LOYAL LAYMAN.

We have learned that a loyal layman is one of the greatest treasures of the church. He is always in his place at the services on Sunday, and at such times as he may be called upon during the week he is ready to respond to the best of his ability. He does not look for excuses to absent himself from the post of duty—rather he seeks opportunities to help forward the work. He is a friend to his pastor, co-operating with him in his plans and encouraging him in the difficult tasks that fall to his lot. He remembers that a word fitly spoken is like apples of gold in pictures of silver—and his speech is seasoned with kindness and wisdom. He gives liberally of his means to the cause of the church, yet he counts that among the least of his virtues. He believes the best is yet to be, and he labors diligently to make the past a stepping stone to greater things in the future. He believes in his church and in its program, and he stands by them even when others find fault and hold back. His own affairs are not more dear to him than is the business of the Kingdom, so he has time to do his part in maintaining and extending the Kingdom. The church would be weak indeed without him. God bless the loyal layman.

ANSWERED PRAYERS.

In that suggestive book, "The Unrealized Logic of Religion," the author, Dr. W. H. Fitchett, has a chapter on "The Logic of Answered Prayers," which is well worth reading in this day when so many men are questioning the value of prayer and the objective reality of answers to prayer. We quote some pertinent passages: "On the Christian theory prayer has behind it a profound philosophy, and the facts correspond to the philosophy. Its reason lies in the roots of our nature. We are persons, and God is a person; and however-wide the interval of mere scale, the analogies of human personality best interpret to us what God It. And nothing is more certain than that self-communication is the essential impulse of personality. This is the human fact; and on the Christian belief that God has made us in his likeness, the desire of self-communication must be in him. Personality in us is the faint shadow of personality in God; and the Christian theory is that in us the need, in God the desire, of self-communication are fundamental. But it is commonly said that prayer is a purely subjective exercise, and it is questioned whether the human mind in the act of prayer actually touches the divine mind. Are there, in a word, any such things as answers to prayer; the response of the divine love to human need; the touch in the darkness, the whisper in the silence, the answer of the Heavenly Father to the cry of his children? * * * Answers to prayer! Who shall classify them, remember them, or measure them? They are made up of deliverances, comforts, pardons, illuminations; strange endowments of strength to the weak, of courage to the fearful, and of guidance to the perplexed. The lives of all good mothers are rich in them. Little children know them. Strong men live by them. They have put an atmosphere of triumph around innumerable death-beds. They have dried how many tears, and comforted how many sorrows! They form part of the daily experience of multitudes. The days come and go to their music."

HOW WE LOVE THEM!

If our children could only know how we love them! Maybe it is the fault of the parents that they do not know it better than they do—so often we fail to speak the word of love or do the little deed of love that would find response in the tender heart of the child. But the father and the mother love her children, and when some event in their lives arises that means separation and strange experiences, the parental affection expresses itself in no unmistakable terms. We know a father whose son has recently entered employment that will take him across the Atlantic Ocean; he is a comparatively young boy, and this is his first long separation from home. We were privileged to read a letter from the father to the son, written just after the ship had steamed out of the harbor and forwarded to reach him at the first port of call. It is too intimate to be quoted in full—but the closing words carry, we are sure, the message of many a father and mother to their children upon the ocean of life, and we give them with the hope that some boy, some girl will catch that message and remember those prayers that ascend for them daily around the family altar: "Well, my boy, return home whenever and as often as you can. Carry with you always the thought that our hearts are yearning for the progress, development, and success of our first-born; and may the Lord God of Mercy be pleased to lay his hand of love, mercy, truth, and guidance upon you, and keep you." And we revently say, Amen.

WHO ARE THE HOWLERS?

There may be some weak-kneed friends of prohibition who imagine that the reaction against the Eighteenth Amendment is becoming so strong that it is only a matter of time till a modification permitting the sale of light wines and beer will have to be made. Our greatest surprise in such cases is that any kind of believer in prohibition can be so easily frightened by a propaganda that is so manifestly promoted by those whose interest almost invariably will be found to center in their own selfish desires, either the gratification of their own appetites for liquor, or the restoration of a business through which they hope to make large profits. As a rule, those who are howling for beer and wine are mighty poor specimens of the best citizenship of the nation. We have to listen to them sometimes on railroad trains and in hotel lobbies, and their very forms of expression are such as to disgust and nauseate decent people. Obscenity and profanity of the vilest type pour from their lips in a stream that is as foul as are the recesses of the heart whence it comes. If we had no other convictions on the subject, we should be utterly prejudiced against a cause which enlists in its support those who are so lost to a sense of common decency as to make their conversation as dirty as a cesspool and their companionship as obnoxious as the plague. There may be some good people who conscientiously believe that the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment was a mistake—but they are in mighty poor company with the foul-mouthed blackguards who frequent public places in such large numbers. In the meantime, prohibition is vindicating itself by the beneficence of its results, and we have no idea that this nation is going to reverse itself on a measure that is economically and morally sound.

SOME THAT SEE CANNOT.

New Orleans had a visitor last week who is said to possess the ability, while blindfolded, to drive an automobile through the crowded traffic of city streets without running into pedestrians or other cars, observing all the traffic signals, and parking his car safely in any available space. He is supposed to perform this remarkable feat through the activity of his subconscious will. We do not vouch for the truth of the report that he is able to do this, nor do we guarantee the correctness of the explanation offered; we do know, though, that there are a good many people in this city who cannot drive through the streets with their eyes open without endangering the lives of all those in the neighborhood. A reckless automobile driver is a criminal, pure and simple, and he—or she—should be dealt with accordingly.

A HAIRLESS MONSTER.

According to a local news item in a local newspaper last week, a "hairless monster" being exhibited by a drunken sailor turned out to be nothing more than a harmless house cat that had been carefully and completely shaved. It is just possible that some of the "monsters" we are hearing so much about and that seem to have thrown some people almost into hysterics are, after all, inoffensive things.

THE WONDERS OF SCIENCE.

The Literary Digest last week gave an account of a process by which a coin can be photographed without the aid of a camera. It would be more to the point, so far as we are concerned, for some scientist to show us how to photograph a coin without the aid of the coin. We find ourselves unable to do various and sundry things that we should like to do, simply because the coin is lacking.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

---

IMMORTALITY.

Two caterpillars, crawling on a leaf,
By some strange accident in contact came;
Their conversation—passing all belief—
Was that same argument, the very same,
That has been "proed and conned" from man to man,
Yea, ever since this wondrous world began.
The ugly creatures,
Deaf and dumb and blind,
Devoid of features
That adorn mankind,
Were vain enough, in dull and wordy strife,
To speculate upon a future life.

The first was optimistic, full of hope;
The second, quite dyspeptic, seemed to mope.
Said number one, "I'm sure of our salvation."
Said number two, "I'm sure of our danmation;
Our ugly forms would seal our fates
And bar our entrance through the golden gates.
Suppose that death should take us unawares,
How could we climb the golden stairs?
If maidens shun us as they pass us by,
Would angels bid us welcome in the sky?
I wonder what great crimes we have committed
That leave us so forlorn and so unpitied.
Perhps we've been ungrateful, unforgiving;
'Tis plain to me that life's not worth the living."

"Come, come, cheer up," the jovial worm replied.
"Let's take a look upon the other side;
Suppose we cannot fly like moths or millers;
Are we to blame for being caterpillars?
Will that same God that doomed us crawl the earth,
A prey to every bird that's given birth,
Forgive our captor as he eats and sings
And damn poor us because we have not wings?
If we can't skim the air like owl or bat,
A worm will turn 'for a' that.'"

They argued through the summer; autumn nigh,
The ugly things composed themselves to die.
And so, to make their funeral quite complete,
Each wrapped him in his little winding sheet.
The tangled web encompassed full soon;
Each for his coffin made him a cocoon.
All through the winter's chilling blast they lay
Dead to the world, aye, dead as human clay.
Lo! spring comes forth with all her warmth and love;
She brings sweet justice from the realms above;
She breaks the chrysalis, she resurrects the dead—
Two butterflies ascend encircling her head.
And so this emblem shall forever be
A sign of immortality.

—Joseph Jefferson.

---

The religion of Jesus Christ will never reach the outposts of this old world until its preachers learn the science of broadcasting their messages.

—Selected.

---

TRAVEL LETTER FROM DR. AND MRS. J. W. COOPER.

Some English Castles.

Another day out from London brought us to the Shakespeare country, where besides our visit to Stratford, of which we will write later, we visited two more castles. One of these, Warwick Castle, is one of the oldest, if not the oldest and best preserved castles in the kingdom. Like Windsor, it is a series of very large, handsome stone structures, and immediately suggests its ancient character of fortress-citadel. It is beautifully situated on a rocky elevation, on the banks of the Avon. Two famous old towers, Guy's Tower, one hundred and twenty-eight feet high, and Caesar's Tower, one hundred and forty-seven feet high, date back to the days of the Norman Conquest. They are very massive and imposing, and dominate not only the castle precincts, but all the surrounding country. The interior of the castle has long been remarkable for its splendor and elegance. Indeed, as we passed with our guide from one spacious, richly appointed apartment to another and noted the treasures of historic value, the wonderful carpets, hand-painted and gilded walls and ceilings and inlaid furniture, we marveled that this luxurious place could be the abode of any persons short of royalty. However, the castle has never been a royal palace, but its owners were so powerful that the Earls of Warwick were called the "King Makers." We were told that the present Earl is not rich, and for this reason only he has consented to show his ancestral castle to the public—that the door fees may be used to help keep the buildings and grounds in repair. Certainly everything is wonderfully tended. At every turn, we found evidences of the most perfect service. The grounds are ramarkably beautiful. They are not nearly so extensive as those of Windsor, but are veritably a garden spot of beauty in their fine intermingling of nature's work—in grand old forest trees—and the art of landscape gardens in the placing and cultivating of lawns, flower-beds and shrubbery. Nothing seemed lacking to make this an Earthly Paradise, and nothing about it suggested age or decay.

About two miles beyond Warwick Castle is Guy's Cliffe House and the Old Saxon Mill. The present owner of this estate is Lord Algernon Percy, a descendant of William de Percy, who came to England in 1066 with William the Conqueror. The manor was originally a monastery, and from its foundations a subterranean passage extended to Warwick Castle. The greater part of this passage has fallen in, but about forty yards of it remain to this day. To-day, the house is, perhaps, most famous as the home from which occurred the run-away marriage of Sarah Kemblo to her fellow-actor, William Siddons. Later on, after Mrs. Siddons had attained great fame as a tragedienne, she was a frequent visitor to Guy's Cliffe House. During the recent war, Lord Percy generously offered, and used, Guy's Cliff House as a hospital for English wounded. It accommodated only thirty-five patients.

Just around a curve of the Avon, still in sight from Guy's Cliff House, is the ancient Saxon Mill, which dates back, as its name implies, even before the Norman Conquest. If is certainly most picturesque, and is said to be one of the oldest working mills in existence. It has two water-wheels and grinds twelve sacks per hour on old-fashioned stones. Not only industry but romance has been busy around the old mill, for not far from it is Guy's Cave. And here we come to the story which gives name to both the mill and the manor house.

In Saxon times, in the days of King Athelstane, Guy Segard, son of the steward of Earl Warwick, aspired to the hand of his master's beautiful daughter, Felice, also called Phyllis. She consented to marry him on condition that he prove his worth by knightly deeds. Forthwith, he launched upon a series of most remarkable adventures, which ended in the killing of many men, and finally in the destruction of a great dragon. Felice then married the hero and he assumed the title Guy of Warwick. But after forty days of wedded bliss, he became so remorseful for the numerous murders he had wrought, in seeking the love of this woman, that he left his home in the garb of a palmer and visited the Holy Land. His wife knew not where he was, but sorrowed deeply for him. Years later, old and broken, he returned on foot to Warwick gate, where he waited till evening, at which time his wife was accustomed to feed thirteen poor men. Unrecognized, he received from her his portion of food and betook himself to a rocky recess beside the river, where, with his own hands, he hewed a cave out of the cliff. There he dwelt as a hermit, no one knowing that he was the powerful Guy of Warwick. After a few years he fell sick, and knowing he was near death, he sent half his wedding ring to Phaelice. As she had the other half, she recognized the sign and hastened to him in time to close his dying eyes. She buried him where he desired—in the cave—then, within fifteen days, she, too, sickened and died. At her request, she was buried in his grave.

So Romance has busied herself with the Warwick region; but even more she has "carried on" a few miles further up the road, at the site of Kenilworth Castle.

> "Here let us pause awhile,
> To read the melancholy tale of pomp,
> Laid low in dust."

In ancient times, because of its advantages of position, near the center of England, Kenilworth was one of the most important castles in the kingdom. Its military strength was great, its fortifications by towers, lake and large garrison made it a very desirable possession. Indeed, it has several times been a royal holding and has many times changed hands. Perhaps its most famous period was the time when it was given by Queen Elizabeth to her favorite, Lord Dudley, whom she created Earl of Leicester. A little later, she was entertained at the castle in a degree of splendor then almost unknown to the world. She made three visits to Kenilworth, but the last one, in 1575, lasted seventeen days, and it was at this time that her entertainment cost so extravagantly. One historian tells us that the "cost may be guessed by the fact that 320 hogsheads of beer were consumed." Amusements in great variety were provided for the queen. The great artificial lake on one side of the castle was the scene of many of these festivities. There were fireworks all day Sunday on the lake, and fireworks were rare and expensive in those days. On the lake one evening was exhibited a Triton, riding on a mermaid, 18 feet long, and Arion, on a dolphin, each carrying concealed music. But most significant of all the entertainments was that the Coventry players came over and acted an ancient play called Hocks Tuesday, showing the English supremacy over the Danes. Why was this significant? The Queen was greatly pleased, but more important still, we are told that William Shakespeare, who was then "quite a stripling," walked over to Kenilworth, from Stratford, saw the play enacted and from that hour onward was interested in play-making.

Many of our readers will remember the delightful description in Scott's Kenilworth of this period of Eliazbeth's visit. Historians, however, have called this Scott's unhistorical novel and then deny all of the romantic element which Scott introduces with the presence of Amy Robsart. Indeed, the facts they give seem to show that Elizabeth had no rival on this occasion.

Kenilworth was connected with the history of many sovereigns besides Elizabeth, and not always were rulers so gloriously entertained within its walls. For instance, on the twenty-first of January, 1327, King Edward II was ushered into the Great Hall of the castle and forced to sign a renunciation of his crown. Other dramatic scenes here enacted made interesting reading. The closing chapter of the History of Kenilworth Castle was written by Oliver Cromwell when he ordered the castle to be dismantled, the lake to be drained and the lands to be divided among several of his officers. After the Restoration, the whole estate was granted to Lord Hyde, from whom it descended to its present owner, the Earl of Clarendon.

How much did we see of the ancient glories of Kenilworth Castle? Only picturesque and rather impressive ruins of masonary. A professional guide met us at the entrance and told us in very dramatic style much of the history and use of the various portions of the castle. He showed us, also, the location of the lake and pointed out some of the beautiful views. But despite the beauty of the day and the glory of the landscape, this "banquet hall," deserted, filled our hearts with melancholy and we are glad that the words "English castle" now call to our minds not the ruins of Kenilworth, but the fascinations of Warwick.

DR. H. C. MORRISON IN SHREVEPORT.

Dr. H. C. Morrison has been preaching a series of sermons in the First Methodist Church of Shreveport. Large congregations waited on his ministry despite the inclement weather of the past ten days. On Sunday last it was estimated an audience of nearly three thousand crowded the church. The Doctor preached the well established doctrines of Methodism without fear and with much favor: Repentance, regeneration, righteousness, three indispensable R's of the Christian life, with their closely interwoven qualities of obedience. Sanctification and the splendid privileges of divine love, were the great subjects that formed the warp and woof of his messages.

In this age, when men are teaching that Christianity is but a philosophy of life, a kind of continuous evolution of human thought, a mere system of morals changeable and adaptable to conditions of life and social relations that are ever changing in themselves, it is refreshing to have a man of convincement; one who holds unswervingly to the truth, that our holy faith is a revelation from heaven, and that this faith once delivered to the saints is found recorded in the Bible, the inspired Word of God. Holiness to the preacher finds expression in consecration, in service, in life and spirit. The world has a wrong conception of God. Get right with him and all the privileges of sonship is then life's richest heritage and the fruition of loftiest attainment in this divine life.

Sad indeed is the condition of many churches to-day. They are orphans in the Father's household, children crying in the dark night—the night of a gospel bereft of spiritual life and power. Paul meant much when he said, "If ye then be risen with Christ"—the inseparable union of a redeemed soul and its Redeemer—"seek those things which are above." The crowning miracle and the crowning work for the human soul are united forevermore.

Dr. Morrison's style is simple and plain. He abounds with illustrations garnered through a long and extended period of ministry. He has developed the grace of deliberation. Never hurried, never flighty, he has the tact of claiming the attention of his hearers and holding them by a sympathetic enlistment of sharing with him the burden and joy of the message. His most earnest desire was to lead the people, waiting on his services, into the richer, fuller, higher experiences of the divine life. In this he was successful, as many will from this forward enter more fully into the joy, and more faithfully into the labor of our blessed Lord, putting on the whole armor of God.

S. J. DAVIES.

Shreveport, La.

WEEK DAY WORK IN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

By John W. Shackford, General Secretary Sunday School Board.

The action of our last General Conference in recognizing that week day work in religious education must be allied with work on Sunday is essentially sound. Nothing could be more unfortunate or devisive of the forces engaged in religious education than to undertake to create a new institution in the field of religious education known as the Week Day School of Religious Education. This would be still further to divide the interests and loyalties of the pupils, and to set up a week day institution as a competitor of the Sunday institution attempting the same thing.

Certainly it is not in accordance with the temper of the church at this time that the machinery of the local church should be further complicated by the creation of a new piece of machinery unrelated to the existing provisions for promoting religious education in the local churches.

Every pastor who has had any experience in trying to develop a strong program of religious education in his own church realizes that the present need is to simplify and unify the agencies of religious education in the local church rather than increase the overlapping and unrelated elements of the local church educational program. The importance of working out a unified program for the local church is fundamental, therefore, both from an educational viewpoint and from that of a practical situation existing in our local churches.

In order that this new development in week day work may be projected in harmony with this demand for unity and for simplication, it is most important that from the beginning the week day and Sunday program be projected as one under adequate provisions for co-ordination, both in administration and in curriculum.

Paragraph 361 of the Discipline says the General Sunday School Board "Shall have oversight of the Sunday school work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, INCLUDING ALLIED WEEK DAY RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION." The Board is also authorized to determine the Sunday school curriculum, including "Courses for week day religious instruction correlated with the Sunday school." (See paragraph 365. See also paragraph 381.)

Before any of our Methodist churches, acting in co-operation with other local Methodist churches in the community, or with other denominations, enter upon the actual projection of any scheme of week day religious education, they should give the most careful study to the matter they are undertaking, and clarify in their own thinking the purpose and relationships of this new type of work and should make the necessary arrangements for permanency, for a competent teaching corps, and for adequacy of supervision.

Under the instruction of the General Conference, it is the purpose of the General Sunday School Board to provide for the supervision and guidance of week day work in religious education as a part of the program of religious education of the local church.

The purpose of the movement in the direction of week day work in religious education is:

1. To develop a more adequate program of religious education for the pupils of school age.

(a) By providing more time for religious education.

(b) By providing a more complete and effective program of religious education.

(c) By reaching a larger number with this program than are reached by the present program of the church school.

2. To seek as far as possible to unify the provisions for religious education as they relate to the pupil, whether such provision be made for Sunday or week days.

The relation of the Church to Religious Education on week days deserves the most careful consideration at this time.

The entire program of religious education in so far as practicable should be arranged with the pupils' day school program in mind, both with a view to utilizing the interest and information gained in the day school for the more vital and intelligent study of the materials of religious education, and with the purpose of supplying a religious motive and viewpoint that may assimilate to itself the materials of the week day school, and altogether, to unify the educational experience of the child and give that experience a distinctly Christian outlook and character.

On the other hand, the distinct responsibility of the church for the work of religious education should be kept clearly in mind. The church exists for the Christianization of the world and for the establishment of the Kingdom of Christ in the earth. Its chief means of making the world Christian is through Jesus' own method of teaching the Christian religion to those who are under its care and within the reach of its teaching ministry.

In its responsibility for teaching the Christian religion to those under its care, the church is second only to the Christian home, with which it shares this primary repsonbility. Where the home is not Christian the church must assume the entire responsibility for teaching the Christian religion to the young in so far as this may be consistent with the wishes or consent of the parents or legal guardians of the pupils.

In attempting to provide a complete program of religious education, including week day time, the church will seek to co-operate with the public schools so as to insure needed relationship of curriculum, unity of experience, helpful advice and common understanding.

At the same time, the position of the Church is that it is not the province of the State to undertake to become the interpreter and teacher of religion, or to attempt to mediate any distinct body of religious experience to the young. Our churches need to be warned against entering into any hasty alliances with the public schools by which they are asked to undertake religious education. As a matter of fact, the State cannot undertake religious education in any sense as the Church of Christ understands it; and any effort to turn this responsibility over to the State is fraught with untold dangers, both to the State and to the Christian religion.

Since, therefore, the Church must hold to its own primacy of responsibility, after the home, for the religious education of those under its care, it is bound by every consideration, both to the pupils themselves and to society, to provide as rapidly as possible for a program of religious instruction and training that is educationally comparable to the educational program provided for the same pupils by the public schools.

The responsibility of the Church in this field must be met mainly through and in connection with the local churches. In the local church, as a rule, some measure of religious instruction is already provided for a large proportion of the pupils of school age in the communities where such churches are located. Again, the local church supplies the most logical and natural avenue through which to reach pupils of the same communities, who as yet have not been brought under the influence of the local church school.

In our entire approach, therefore, to this subject, this principle should be fundamental in our thinking, that the church functioning through the local church organization, and through its regularly established general plan of organization, must assume responsibility for maintaining and supervising the work of religious education on Sunday and week days alike.

The General Sunday School Board will, upon request, make more detailed suggestions regarding the supervision and control of the various types of week-day work in religious education with a view to helping those who are planning to project experiments in this field to project them in harmony with the general principles suggested above. Suggestions will be made in reference to unity of administration and consistency in the curriculum.

STRICTLY BUSINESS.

"Business is poor," said the beggar.
Said the undertaker, "It's dead!"
"Falling off!" said the riding school teacher.
The druggist, "Oh, vial!" he said.

"It's all write with me," said the author.
"Picking up!" said the man on the dump.
"My business is sound," quoth the bandsman.
Said the athlete, "I'm kept on the jump."

The bottler declared it was "corking!"
The parson, "It's good!" answered he.
"I make both ends meat," said the butcher.
The tailor replied, "It suits me."

—Exchange.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Corinth District.

The first round of quarterly conferences has been completed and a good start made on the second round on the Corinth District.

* * *

Paden is the new mission formed at the recent session of our Conference. Rev. W. T. Bazzell is the pastor. The first quarterly conference was held at West Side. We had a fine congregation, as the school turned out and came in a body. There was a sumptuous dinner spread at the church. A Sunday school was organized there. The assessment for the pastor was deferred to the second quarterly conference. The pastor has been sick, but is able to do his work now. We are expecting a good work to be done on this charge.

* * *

Rev. W. T. Phillips, of Tishomingo charge, reported the largest amount collected on the Benevolences of any pastor in the district. He is getting off his Conference Course of Study. He reported a number of accessions to the church. The church at Tishomingo made a substantial increase in his salary.

* * *

Rev. C. W. Baley seems to be happy in his new parsonage at Belmont. We had a pleasant visit there the night before the first quarterly conference, which was held at Golden. Belmont Church takes half time now, and more than doubled their assessment for the pastor.

* * *

Marietta was the last conference of the first round. A second trip was necessary on account of the epidemic of "flu." This time the trip was made on horseback from Booneville, a distance of fifteen miles each way. It seemed much further to one who has not traveled much that way in some time. Have you tried it lately? We had a good conference. Brother Wimberly has some good plans. He will organize an Epworth League soon. The churches left on the circuit made the same assessment as before. They plan to build a new church at Marietta this year.

* * *

The second quarterly conference at First Church, Corinth, was one of the very best. Brother Smoot made a fine report. His prayer meeting is still interesting and well attended. His Sunday school prospers under the leadership of Brothers R. M. Weaver and J. H. Blakemore. The W. M. S. has been divided into five circles. It is prospering under the presidency of Mrs. J. Wesley Rankin. The Intermediate Epworth League is flourishing. A Senior League is needed and planned for the near future, I think. The salaries are paid up to date.

Great plans are being made for the Gipsy Smith revival to begin here the first Sunday in April. The tabernacle is being built just across the street from the First Methodist Church.

* * *

South Side, with Brother Boggs, as the leader, is coming into its own. They have full-time service. They plan an Epworth League soon. They made the best report for several years at least. They will meet all obligations in full.

* * *

Corinth circuit made the best report financially for any second quarterly conference, so far as I know. Brother McDougal made a good report. He has a Sunday school at each church, running through the winter. Gaines Chapel will build new Sunday school rooms right away. The school has outgrown the house. The Epworth League is thriving. They have a preaching service every Sunday. This is one of the best country churches that I know. We had a fine congregation at Mt. Carmel and a great dinner. I got a little uneasy about Brother McDougal. They planned to repair and paint the parsonage.

Rev. W. D. Bass, evangelist, Corinth, belongs to this church. He has promised three or four tent meetings in the Corinth District. He is a good, true, strong preacher, and is safe and sane in his methods. He has some open dates between now and July.

* * *

The second quarterly conference for Blue Mountain was held at Walnut. We had good congregations both Saturday and Sunday. Most of the churches made good reports. Brother Hammond is doing fine service on the charge. He is planning to build a new parsonage at Blue Mountain soon. The lot was donated some time ago by Miss Lilie Tilghman, more than four acres in the town of Blue Mountain, near the College. A building committee was appointed at this quarterly conference.

* * *

The Corinth District Conference will be held at Ripley, May 15-17. The committees will be announced later.

* * *

The Corinth District Standard Training School will be held at New Albany, June 25 to 30. The faculty and courses will be announced later.

* * *

The time set for securing pledges and cash for the Benevolences for the district is April 15 to May 15. We want all financial columns LEVEL at Greenville this fall. We want the Corinth District to go OVER THE TOP on payment of Centenary Pledges. March 18 has been set apart as CENTENARY SUNDAY FOR THE CORINTH DISTRICT.

For efficiency and co-operation in the Centenary Campaign in the Corinth District, March 18 to 24, the district has been divided into six groups, with a preacher and the district lay leader, or one of the associate lay leaders, in charge of each group to assist in organizing, selecting speakers, and helping the pastor carry out in full the plans for the Centenary in the Corinth District. Let the pastor who is Centenary Director for his charge call on his group leader or the lay leader of his group for any help needed.

1. The Baldwyn Group is composed of Baldwyn, Guntown, Mantachie and Mooreville charges, with Rev. J. J. Garner, leader, and J. G. Houston, New Albany, lay leader.
2. The Booneville Group: Booneville Station, Booneville Circuit, Rienzi, Marietta, and Wheeler charges, with Rev. E. G. Mohler, leader, and J. G. Houston, lay leader.
3. The Corinth Group: Rev. E. R. Smoot, leader, and J. A. Lowe, lay leader; Corinth, First Church; South Side, Corinth Circuit, Kossuth, and Belmont charges.
4. The Iuka Group: Iuka Station, Iuka Circuit, Burnsville, Paden, and Tishomingo. Rev. W. W. Jones, Iuka, leader, and J. A. Lowe, Corinth, lay leader.
5. The New Albany Group: Rev. J. D. Wroten, leader, and J. G. Houston, lay leader, with New Albany Station, New Albany Circuit, Myrtle, Hickory Flat, Potts Camp, and Sherman.
6. The Ripley Group: Rev. S. A. Brown, leader; C. Lee Cox, Ripley, lay leader, with Ripley Station, Blue Mountain, Dumas, Chalybeate, and Silver Springs charges.

It is desired that the group leader, group lay leader and pastor organize each charge as suggested by letter they will receive, secure speakers, one for each church, make appointments and secure conveyance for speakers, and cultivate thoroughly for the collection of Centenary Pledges.

Let us all work and co-operate in this worthy cause, and make it GO!

* * *

We are planning for some great revivals in the district this year.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Jackson District.

The following are notes from some of the pastors of the Jackson District:

Bentonia.—The congregation at Bentonia, on the Bentonia charge, has chosen the plans for a new church building, which will cost between five and six thousand dollars when finished. They hope to begin building within the next thirty days.—Jesse Watson.

* * *

Bolton.—The building committee at Bolton has asked for bids for the new parsonage.—H. M. Johnson.

* * *

Eden.—The first quarterly conference was held in the afternoon of Feb. 18. Three of the churches were represented. The people of Pleasant Hill are asking that the pastor hold a revival right away, which will be done, beginning the second Sunday in March.—B. W. Lewis.

* * *

Edwards.—Miss Daisy Davies visited us a short time ago, and thrilled our people with one of her inspiring addresses.—B. F. Jones.

* * *

Fannin.—On Feb. 17 we had a surprise pounding by the people of Fannin community. It amounted to about $25. Substantial improvements are being made on the parsonage, through the kindness of some of the people.—W. T. Barrett.

* * *

Flora.—Flora charge is in very good condition in every way. Our congregations are good. We have a Bible study class in connection with our prayer meetings, which we enjoy very much, and think much good will be accomplished.

Our revival meeting will embrace the first and second Sundays in May. Brother Bennett will do the preaching. We are planning to put on a personal evangelistic campaign preparatory to the revival.—J. H. Foreman.

* * *

Harrisville.—Realizing the need of a real revival in the community, the people of the Rexford church, Harrisville charge, have organized a prayer band, meeting once a week, to pray for a real revival. The painting of the new church at Harrisville is completed; we expect to install the pews in the next few months, and our church will then be completed. It is a credit to the community.—I. H. Sells.

* * *

Capitol Street.—The two outstanding things in the activity of Capitol Street during February are the increased interest in cottage prayer meetings held by the laymen, and the Young Business Woman's Class, led by Miss Claudine Curtis.—H. F. Tolle.

* * *

Rankin Street.—The Rankin Street Methodists are planning and working to supply their greatest need—a church building. Our present building is badly out of repair. We must build in the near future, or be practically out of doors. Pearl Chapel, across Pearl river, in Rankin County, is a beautiful, new church, but incomplete. We hope to close the year with two brand new church buildings.—F. L. Applewhite.

* * *

Mendenhall and D'Lo.—Mendenhall has installed and paid for a new heating plant. The Methodist and Baptist laymen are conducting special weekly prayer meetings. The whole work moves well.

—J. O. Ware.

* * *

Vaughn.—This charge has a splendid, big-hearted people. Despite an epidemic of "flu" and severe weather, the services have been well attended and the interest good. A representative from each church, was at the first quarterly conference, Feb. 16. The financial report was good. The money is in hand to remodel the church at Dessonville. We are working and praying for a revival all over the charge this year.—A. S. Byrd.

* * *

Yazoo City.—Everything is moving along nicely with us at Yazoo City. The Sunday School Institute left a fine influence with us. We are planning, hoping and praying that our church may go 100 per cent along all lines of church activity.

—W. J. Ferguson.

Yazoo City Circuit.—Most inspiring increase in church attendance since Dec. 6, when I went on the work.—George H. Boyles.

It is customary nowadays for preachers to have a pastor's assistant. Brother Boyles believes in Old Testament truths. "It is not good for man to be alone." He got her from a district parsonage at Brownsville, Tenn. Congratulations!

We have just closed the Centenary set-up meeting. Fifty-one were present. Resolutions were unanimously adopted. The first week in April is canvass week. The Jackson District does not boast, but we will try and bring things to pass.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian District.

At the close of the first quarter encouraging notes are heard from all sections of the district. Something of interest could be said with reference to each charge.

* * *

Brother Wood and his people at Waynesboro are planning to repair and enlarge the church at that place, making it adequate for the Sunday school and other activities of the congregation.

* * *

The Pachuta circuit is prospering under the consecrated leadership of Brother R. E. Rutledge. The church at Pachuta is in the midst of a building program.

* * *

At Shubuta Brother Terry is preaching to unusually large congregations, and the work is moving well in all departments. Twenty have been received into the church since the Annual Conference.

* * *

Brother Vickers will begin a meeting at Seventh Avenue the third Sunday in March. The services will be held in the gospel tent recently purchased for use in this district. He will be assisted by some of the Meridian pastors.

* * *

Brother Decell and his people at Central are looking forward to the dedication service April 1. Bishop Ainsworth will preach the sermon. Central Church is one of the best appointed houses of worship in the State, and the congregation is growing.

* * *

At East End a "flying squadron" of thirty members has been organized. These brethren are ready for service anywhere they may be needed. A teachers' training class has been organized in the Sunday school, and the members are enthusiastically pursuing the course of study. The weekly prayer meeting has averaged ninety in attendance the past month.

* * *

Fifth Street is in the midst of a gracious revival. Daily prayer meetings are held in various homes of the community, and nightly preaching services at the church. The altar is filled with seekers at almost every service, and there have been around fifty professions of reclamation and conversion, more than thirty accessions to the church, and a number of family altars have been erected. The meeting will continue through next Sunday. Brother Sells is assisted by Evangelist Earl B. Moll, of North Carolina. Brother Moll is a forceful and uncompromising preacher of the Word, and God is honoring his ministry.

W. A. HAYS, Reporter.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria District.

Mr. S. S. Thomas, Conference Centenary Treasurer, is very busily engaged in getting the collection of pledges before the people of the Conference. In company with him, the presiding elder has already held three group meetings for the Centenary. Another is planned for Oakdale for March 19. This is for the churches at Oakdale, Glenmora, Elizabeth and other churches on the Elizabeth circuit.

Sunday, April 8, is the date fixed for collections to be made in this district. Let every charge come to the District Conference at Elizabeth on April 10 prepared to make a good report of collections for this cause.

The collection of Centenary pledges is one of the most important things now before the church. We must put forth every effort to secure these collections.

Besides the meetings reported above as having been held by the Conference treasurer and the presiding elder, others were held at Alexandria and at Bunkie. Both of these meetings were addressed by Miss Daisy Davies and Dr. A. C. Zumbrunnen of Nashville, Tenn.

The presiding elder is presenting this cause at every point.

* * *

The second quarterly conference of the Boyce circuit was held at Eden Church on Feb. 10. This conference made a good showing in the support of the ministry. Mr. J. A. Ingram, superintendent of the Sunday school at Boyce, had a full report of his Sunday school work, as is required by the Discipline. He is the second man who has thus far made such a report.

The first to give in such a report was Prof. A. C. Maddox, of the State Normal College and superintendent of the Sunday school at Natchitoches. Prof. Maddox's report showed his school to be in good condition and to be doing good work.

* * *

Mrs. A. T. McDonogh, president of the Glenmora Missionary Society, was the first to give in a written report from the Missionary Society, according to the new requirement of the Discipline. The same may be said of Mr. Clarence White, of the Glenmora Epworth League.

Mrs. W. T. Cunningham, president of the Natchitoches Missionary Society, had her written report ready for the quarterly conference, and was in attendance to read the same.

No charge lay leader has yet given in a written report to the quarterly conference. No other presidents of missionary societies, presidents of Epworth Leagues, or Sunday school superintendents have done so with the exception of the above mentioned.

* * *

The second quarterly conference of the Lecompte and Woodworth charge was held at Woodworth on the afternoon of Feb. 10. Brother H. W. Bowman is going forward well on this charge.

Brother Bowman has recently undergone an operation for the removal of his tonsils. He hopes to be much improved by this operation.

* * *

The first quarterly conference of the Livonia circuit was held at Rosedale on Feb. 18. This was a fine, clear, cold day. The attendance at the preaching service was fair. Brother Geo. P. White has completed a good parsonage at Livonia for this circuit. He has put forth strenuous efforts and has also made considerable sacrifice to build this house. It is well located in the center of an important rural section, where our church has almost an undisputed field for Protestant operations.

* * *

The first quarterly conference of the Plaquemine and Donaldsonville charge was held at New Roads. Rev. H. B. Hines is getting things well under way on this charge. He is growing in favor with his people. Both people and pastor expect a gracious year.

* * *

Last year the people of Glenmora completed a large auditorium under the leadership of their pastor, D. B. Boddle. This has become an inspiration to the people and has helped in largely increasing the attendance on the services of the church there. When the presiding elder was there for the first quarterly conference on a rainy, cold night in January, he was greeted with the largest congregation that he has ever had for a conference occasion before at that point.

* * *

On the first Sunday in February, the quarterly conference for the Jena and Jonesville charge was to have been held at Jena. When we awakened on the morning of that day, a blanket of sleet was over the ground. This kept up throughout the day. The conference was postponed until the 16th inst., when we had a good conference, though it was attended only by the people at Jena. Brother B. H. Sheppard is located in the parsonage at Jena and is getting about his work on that charge.

* * *

The first quarterly conference for Trout and Good Pine was held at Trout on the evening of the first Sunday in February. A few of the brethren came to the parsonage and the business was transacted. No preaching service could be held.

* * *

A fine congregation greeted the presiding elder at Pineville on the night of Feb. 25. Things are moving well in this church.

* * *

The people of Oakdale have constructed a large permanent tabernacle at a cost of about four thousand dollars. They expect to use this instead of a church for some time. It has been made comfortable. Their present church building has been outgrown by this congregation under the leadership of Rev. A. M. Shaw. He is at the present time in the midst of a revival meeting in which he is being assisted by the Wisdom Sisters and an evangelist. Dr. Andrew Sledd, of Emory University, is to be with him for a week beginning on Feb. 28.

* * *

Rev. W. W. Perry, of Rochelle, has started preaching at Pollock at night during the week. The people are responding well to this effort on his part. He has also made a regular appointment at Selma and is opening up our work there again.

* * *

The Pineville quarterly conference was held on the evening of Feb. 28. The work of this church showed up well. Finances are somewhat short, but this congregation has raised a total of about $950. This is a fine showing for this church. Congregations are good.

* * *

Throughout the entire district, wherever the presiding elder has been since Conference, the congregations have been good. People are attending the services of the church with a very marked degree of increasing interest.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Baton Rouge District.

The church is moving forward and upward on this district in spite of rains and slush and bad roads, and an epidemic of flu. The flu has interfered with the work to a great extent, in some places necessitating the closing of the schools for a couple of weeks, and this malady has been no respecter of persons, and in many instances it has not spared the pastors, but at the present writing all are up and hard at work, as far as I can learn, except Dr. Crisler, who is a sufferer, but is improved and hopes to be up in a few days.

* * *

Brother F. N. Sweeney is doing splendidly on the Bogalusa circuit, and is greatly loved by his parishioners. He is a good preacher, and a most devoted and diligent pastor, looking faithfully after the spiritual welfare of his noble flock. No more devout minister ever wrought among us than Sweeney.

* * *

Frazier is hard at work on the Springfield charge, where he has begun his third year most auspiciously. He is busy raising funds for the erection of a new church at Springfield and for the purchase of a church at Livingston, and soon he will have a good church building at both these little towns. He is in high favor with his people.

* * *

Jay Cohurn is our young preacher on the Franklinton charge, having been admitted on trial at the last Conference. He is the son of

(Continued on Eighth Page.)

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

THE SUPERANNUATE ENDOWMENT FUND.

By Rev. George Stoves.

The greatest feature of our last General Conference was the launching of the movement looking to a special effort for superannuate endowment. It is gratifying to note how our great church is so unanimously agreed on this thing. Notwithstanding the great undertakings of 1919 and 1921, we hear of no opposition to the proposed program in behalf of the "forgotten man." That phrase carries with it a pathetic ring, but it is none the less true.

How Can These Things Be?

The saddest chapter in our church's history is the story of our worn-out preachers—a chapter that never has been written and maybe ought not to be written because of the deep feeling of shame that it brings to us. When one quietly sits in reflection on the way these worthy men have been treated and are being treated, it is difficult to believe that an institution standing for what we do could be guilty of such conduct. We have done worse than to forget them; in too many instances we have thrust them aside, ignored them in our deliberations, and cast them on the scrap heap. This is true not only of our preachers who have served in ordinary places, but also of those who have held the high places in our church.

The writer has not suffered at the hands of his church. When he reads the story of Methodism and compares his conditions with those of the preachers of the past century, he is led to exclaim that his lines have fallen in pleasant places, that he has a goodly heritage, but he is not unmindful that the way has been made smooth by the bleeding feet of the forgotten and neglected men. I have the profoundest pity for that Methodist preacher whose soul is not stirred by the appeal of "The Call of the Conference Claimants" as it is being rung through our Church to-day by Dr. Luther E. Todd and who does not feel ready to lay himself out even to the point of self-denial for the sake of this worthy cause?

A Chance to Change These Things.

The plan to raise a minimum of ten million dollars for superannuate endowment is admirable in its simplicity and in its reasonableness. To present it to our people earnestly and clearly will guarantee its success. My optimism is based on facts which anyone may gather. Our laymen have never been as willing and eager to undertake anything as they are this task. During the past twenty-five years many of them have amassed fortunes far beyond their fondest dreams, and as the harp of memory is touched they recall that simple, modest Methodist preacher who came into their lives at the country church or at the old home fireside. The fact that he is suffering appeals to them, and they want to pay their debt.

Furthermore, many of our laymen are officers and directors in large industrial and commercial concerns that pension their employees after a period of faithful service. This has suggested to them that the preacher should be treated at least as well.

Then again, in spite of all we say and write and read about this materialistic age, there never has been a time when people were thinking as much about the spiritual. Deep down in the human heart there is the conviction that only spiritual values are real and abiding.

An Amazing Contrast.

Some time ago I had the pleasure of visiting a church in whose congregation I found two superannuated Methodist preachers. They were as unlike as two men could possibly be. There were but two elements which both possessed in common. They were both Methodist preachers and both were good. Physically one was tall and slender; the other was short and chubby. Temperamentally one was reserved and quiet; the other was emotional and rollicking. One is a member of the Pittsburgh Conference and is what we call a "Northern Methodist"; the other is a Southern Methodist and a member of the Tennessee Conference. But the contrast does not stop here. The man from the North is retired with an annual income of $700; the man from the South receives $200 this year without a guarantee for next year.

A Sad Picture of a Thoughtless Church.

I have before me a letter which gives a typical description of the average superannuate Methodist preacher. This good man has traveled as an itinerant for twenty-five years, serving our poorest missions and hardest circuits. Last year, broken in health, he was superannuated. Of course, by this action of his Conference he was turned out of the parsonage of the circuit which he had been serving. According to our polity, this had to be done. Now we see him standing, a sick man with a wife and one child, out in the cold with two hundred dollars, the amount allotted him by the Conference Board of Finance, with which to provide himself shelter, fuel, food, and clothing for one year, which I call a sad, cheerless picture.

We seem to feel very deeply for the superannuate when we meet him at our Annual Conference session. When opportunity affords we will cry over him and tell in glowing terms the glory of his record. This is all good as far as it goes, but he needs something more substantial. One of our Conferences has for the past three years voted that every charge make a special offering in the form of a Christmas present for our "forgotten men," and never yet has fifty per cent of our preachers presented the matter to their congregations. What construction are we to place on such conduct? There is something in which we are more concerned. There is not a congregation in Southern Methodism but would contribute something to such a cause if given an opportunity.

Many of the preachers who are being well cared for need to ask forgiveness for their indifference to our worn-out brethren. Why is it that some of our Conferences take so much better care of their broken-down preachers than others? Is there such a vast difference in the grade of the people that constitute Southern Methodism of our respective Conferences?

There is a source of revenue for the superannuates that we could all boast, laymen and preachers alike. I speak of our Publishing House. Know ye not that our constitution says that all profits from said institution shall go to the support of our "forgotten men"? Every dollar's worth of business that you send to Lamar & Barton is helping this fund. Then buy your books and your Sunday school literature from our own House and get your people to take our periodicals and pay for them.

Nashville, Tenn.

---

The active preacher of to-day who refuses to do his best for superannuate endowment will not have ground for complaint if he superannuates to-morrow on an annual pittance for his support.

—Todd.

---

SIMPLY ROTTEN!

Now Uncle Jim had labored long
  On circuits wide and stations small,
And preached the gospel right along,
  Right true and faithful to his call,
    Serving his Lord
    With little reward
      From men.

Through weight of years did Uncle Jim,
  With grace and grit, retire
From active work on circuits thin,
  For age had somewhat tamed the fire
    That burned within,
    Somewhat akin
      To age.

Of youth bereft, with feelings left,
  It somewhat raised his ire
For younger men, with careless ken,
  To say, when he did retire,
    "Count him forgotten"—
    'Twas simply rotten
      To Uncle Jim!

---

Tell It Everywhere.—Every active preacher of the church is a "forgotten man" in the making.

---

Deliverance Amid Trials: When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah 43:2.

The Home Circle

THE MAN THAT STUBBED HIS TOE.

Most men when boys went barefoot, and all barefooted boys stub their toes—not once, but many times. The following lines, therefore, should serve to remind most men of their childhood days and may stir a feeling of sympathy for the man who has stubbed his toe, says one of our exchanges.

"Long th' road of human life you see a fellow travelin' slow,
An' like as not you'll find he's some poor chap that's stubbed his toe.
An' his friends all hurried onward, an' left him there alone.
He ain't sobbin' or ain't snifflin'—he's too old for tears an' cries,
But he's grievin' just as earnest if it only comes in sighs,
An' it does a heap of good sometimes to go a little slow,
An' say a word of comfort to th' man that's stubbed his toe." —Florida Advocate.

THE PROUD CHICKEN.

There was once a widow named Hong Mo, who lived in a little house near a market place and sold chickens for a living. Every year she raised hundreds of them and with the money she got from their sale supported herself and her two children.

Among her hundreds of chickens there was one rooster that was known as the leader of the others because he was the strongest of them all and could crow the loudest. None dared to oppose him. Therefore he was called king of the flock.

The king led the flock to new places for food. Each day he guided it out to the fields near by, and every chicken in there hunted for bugs, rice, and green things to eat.

One day he said: "Let us go to the other side of the mountain near the wilderness to-day and hunt for rice, wheat, corn, and wild silkworms. There is no food here."

But the other chickens did not want to go. They said: "Eagles and foxes are out there to catch us. We are afraid to go so far."

"Let the old hens and the cowards stay home, then!" spluttered the king.

"I will go with you to the wilderness," offered the king's secretary. "I am not afraid." So the two started away together.

They had not gone far before the secretary found a nice, fat beetle and was just swallowing it when the king flew at him angrily, saying: "Common chickens like you do not eat beetles. Why do you not give that beetle to me?" He began to fight the secretary, and while the fight was on the beetle ran away and hid under the grass where he could not be found.

After a while the secretary said: "I will not fight for you hereafter, and I will not go with you now to the wilderness, either." And he went home.

At sunset the king came home, and, although the other chickens had saved the best roosting place for him, he fought with one after another of them because none of them had gone to the wilderness with him.

Because he was so strong and a great fighter, none of them could stand against him. At last the chickens said: "We will serve this king no longer. Let us leave this place and stay in the vegetable garden if Hong Mo will not give us another home in which to live. Let us stay out three nights and see if she will."

So the next day when Hong Mo waited at sunset for the chickens to come home, none but the king came.

"Where are all my chickens?" Hong Mo asked him.

In a very proud and angry tone he answered her: "I would not care if they stayed away forever. They are of no use in the world."

But Hong Mo said to him: "You are not the only chicken in the world. I want my other chickens here. If you drive them away you will see trouble."

Then the king laughed and jumped on the fence and crowed "Nga-unganyo-na" (Cock-a-doodle-doo-doo), in a loud voice. "I don't care for you!"

Hong Mo went out and hunted through the tall grass until she found her chickens and brought them in to make peace with the king.

When the king saw them, he walked about, scraped his wings on the ground, and sharpened his spurs. The chickens were glad to see their king and bowed their heads. But the king still walked about and would not bow.

He said: "Do you not know that I am a king, always a king? You bow your heads to please me, but what do I care? I should not care if there was never another chicken in the world but myself. I am king!"

Then he hopped up on a tree and sang some war songs. There an eagle heard him and, flying down, caught him in his talons and carried him away. The chickens never saw their proud, quarrelsome king again.

Ee Sze (meaning): No position in life is so high that it gives the right to be proud and quarrelsome.—Retold from "Chinese Fables and Folk Stories," by Mary Hays Davis.

THE LITTLE MISSIONARY.

A little girl, when her father was sick, went to the post office and said: "Please give me my father's letters," with a sweet childish voice.

"Who is your father?" said the postmaster.

"Don't you know my father?" she said with astonishment.

"Of course I don't," he answered. "Why should I?"

"Everybody knows my father," she answered.

"There is certainly one person who does not," he replied.

"Don't you go to meeting Sunday?" she asked.

"No, I don't go to meeting."

"What! Never go to meeting? That's why you do not know my father. He is the minister, and everybody knows him."

"If you will tell me his name, I will see if there are any letters."

She did so, and when he said there were none, she said, "Did you say you never go to meeting?"

"That's what I said," he answered, turning away. He had become worse than careless about such things. The little girl walked away, looking sad.

Next day the postmaster told her there were no letters yet, and turned away.

But she was not to be foiled in her purpose, and said, "You never saw my father, did you?"

"Not to know him," he replied.

"Everybody likes him that knows him, and they say he is a nice preacher."

The postmaster laughed and said he did not doubt it.

"Don't you ever go to meeting?"

"Not in these days."

"You would like to hear my father. Everybody does."

The question came too close for him and he again turned away.

Next day he offered her a letter directed to her father, saying: "It has come at last."

"He will be glad to have it," she said, thanking him; then with earnestness continued, "I wish you knew my father; you would like him."

"I have no doubt I should if he is anything like his daughter."

"I wish you would come next Sunday and hear him preach. I know you will be pleased."

"I don't know anyone there; I should feel like a stranger."

"You'll know me, and I shall be so happy to see you. You can come to our pew."

He objected again and again, but she persisted in her childish way until at last he promised to go. He did not look entirely pleased, but she ran off pleased enough.

Sabbath morning she anxiously looked out of her window to see if the day would be fine. She was early in her pew, and turned nervously a great many times toward the door, and at last beckoned with her little hand. A tall man came awkwardly forward and entered the pew. She nestled up to his side and placed her hand in his.

She thought her father never preached better; God certainly helped him. She looked up into the gentleman's face and saw tears starting from his eyes, and then she pressed his hand in hers. He hurried out of the church, after thanking her for the seat.

The next week, however, he came to see her father and had a long talk with him. The door was shut but there were sounds of a person in prayer. After the man went, the minister told her that she had brought a soul to Jesus, and that he had found rest and peace.—Unknown.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of:—6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

EDITORIAL NOTICE.

The Editor is still almost wholly incapacitated for work as the result of an attack of influenza. He is still under the care of the physician, though able to be up a little each day. He hopes to be able to give needed attention to the accumulated work in the office by next week. In the meantime, he assures the brethren he appreciates their patience and sympathy.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

In sending in a number of subscriptions, Rev. Paul H. Grice writes that the prospects are bright for a good year at Johns, Miss.

In sending in a check for his Advocate, Rev. John W. Chisholm, of Seguin, Texas, writes that the church of which he is pastor has just installed a new pipe organ.

Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor of Noel Memorial Church, Shreveport, represented the Shreveport Club at the meeting of the trustees of the Louisiana-Mississippi District of Kiwanis Clubs, February 21, at Jackson, Miss.

Beginning Feb. 11, Brother L. R. Sparks, assisted by the Kelly Brothers, conducted a most helpful revival meeting at Franklin, La. Much good was accomplished in the church itself, while there were twenty accessions to the church as a result of the meeting.

We learn from the bulletin of First Church, Shreveport, for Feb. 25 that 116 persons have been received into the church since Conference, 38 being received upon profession of faith. The present membership of the church is 2131, and there are 2,300 enrolled in the Sunday school.

Rev. Lee R. Sparks, pastor of the church in Franklin, La., writes of a number of good things which have come to him recently. His salary is regularly paid in full and twice his people have brought good things to the parsonage. But still better, he reports that there are indications of growth along all lines of church activity in his charge.

A good meeting of two weeks' duration has recently closed at Shaw, Miss., Brother Simpson writes. Rev. Jno. W. Robertson, district evangelist, did the preaching. Notwithstanding cold weather, including rain and snow, the results were fine. The church was blessed, a number were converted and reclaimed, and twenty-three united with the church.

We have just received the first issue of "The Pastor's Calendar," a paper devoted to the interests of the church at Sardis, Miss. The pastor, Rev. J. A. Randolph, is editor, and Mr. James H. Nichols is assistant. The purpose of the paper is certainly good—to "stimulate all the interests of the church, especially evangelism, stewardship, and tithing, church attendance, interest in Sunday school and Bible study, and the creditable consummation of the great movement enterprised in 1919, known as the Centenary Campaign."

A great revival has recently closed at DeRidder, La., where Rev. Henry T. Young is pastor. The preaching was done by Rev. George Tucker, one of our general evangelists. Mr. Turbeville led the singing. Sixty-six persons have already been received into the church as a result of the meeting and more are expected. The pastor writes in high terms of the work of Brother Tucker and his singer. He says that Brother Tucker is especially successful in reaching men and that there are more men than women in attendance upon the night services.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

(Continued from Fifth Page.)

our dear Brother A. J. Coburn of Kentwood, and, like his noble father, is a zealous worker, and is pushing forward the work on his charge, and is organizing his forces for a great year's work.

* * *

Brother J. S. Rutledge is diligent in service on the Olive Branch circuit. He has a large but splendid charge, composed of some of the best people in the State. This charge has contributed much to Methodism in Louisiana, and their worthy pastor has been a builder of spirituality for more than a quarter of a century, but is still a young man in spirit and activity. His charge is in a flourishing state.

* * *

J. L. Cady is happy in his work on the Baker charge. He has done a good work on this splendid and wide-awake circuit, having repaired and thoroughly renovated his parsonage, doing much of the work with his own hands, and now the little cottage with its new coat of white paint by the side of the neat little church also clothed in a new coat of paint, presents a very attractive appearance. On this charge are to be found as fine people as ever served the Lord. The writer knows whereof he speaks, having served them as pastor four years, and a more loyal, sympathetic and devoted flock he has never known in a ministry of thirty years. This charge has been a fruitful one to the church, and from its flock men have gone into the ministry and into other congregations to bless the world with their faith and good works.

* * *

Brother Murphy, the grand old young man, is in high favor with his flock on the Tickfaw mission. He has served these people, or at least two of the churches of this charge, several times before, and is greatly beloved by young and old. His noble wife is a great helper in his work, and is a most devoted and efficient Sunday school teacher. In spite of the bad weather and the flu, they have maintained a splendid school at Tickfaw, where they have a most capable superintendent in the person of Mrs. G. W. Nesom. This school had every member present a few weeks ago—a fine record, indeed.

* * *

J. W. Booth is doing splendidly at Amite. Booth never fails anywhere. He is a good preacher, a fine organizer, and there is no better pastor in our Conference. He serves a most estimable people, intelligent, cultured and devout. It is needless to say that with such a pastor and congregation the church is flourishing.

* * *

J. T. McVey is in high favor with his people on the Greensburg charge. I hear good things of him in this his new field of labor. He serves a noble-spirited folk of pure old Anglo-Saxon blood and of strong old Methodist stock. There is a fine opportunity here for service, and McVey is equal to the responsibility. We are expecting great things of this heroic pastor and devoted people this year.'

* * *

I have not been to Kentwood this year, but reports indicate progress there with this most excellent congregation under the competent leadership of Brother A. J. Coburn.

* * *

At Covington, I found Brother W. O. Wagoner happy in his new field of labor and full of plans for a great year's work. He serves a fine people, who have received him and his good family most royally. His congregation at Covington worships in a beautiful new church erected under the efficient pastorate of Brother Foster.

* * *

A. Brulet is stirring things on the Gonzales charge. He is a young man with spirit and zeal, who is very valuable to us in missionary work, as he speaks the French language fluently. He is a diligent pastor, a hard student, and will succeed.

* * *

We are all looking forward to the great co-operative revival meeting to be held here in Baton Rouge, March 4-25, led by Gipsy Smith, Jr. Every preparation has been made, and we expect a great revival in this city.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

ROBERT PIERCE CAMERON.

How like flowers of rarest beauty amid an ugly, broken landscape, is a man of gentle, noble spirit among men! How like the sweet and indescribable perfume of the ambergris amid the ill and repulsive odors of the waste, is a true, unselfish, radiant spirit among the sordid, selfish, enslaved multitudes of men! Such was Robert Cameron among his fellows—a light, a joy, a welcome guest, a cordial friend and thoughtful reminder of what was humanly fine and worthy. His life was appealing and compelling—an open book on whose pages gleamed a light from above. It is difficult to write about one so rarely fine and splendid, whose inner attractions you have seen and felt and yet cannot speak to an uninitiated soul. How often we find things in other lives which are impossible of speech to those who do not know those lives in intimacy.

He was an only son of Rev. Thos. and Mrs. Ella Jones Cameron. His sainted mother preceded him to heaven by a number of years. His noble itinerant father went before him by the space of only a couple of months. He was blessed with two loving sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Tom Marshall, passed on to the spiritual beyond three or more years before him. The other, Miss Ida, was mother and father to him in his last illness. It was a heavenly devotion and the service of a love stronger than death that she rendered. He passed to heaven from a Memphis hospital on Dec. 14, 1922, and the following day was buried at New Albany, amid his devoted and life-long friends. Tender hands and hearts paid their devotion to his noble and beautiful life.

Robert Cameron was born Feb. 10, 1876, at Trenton, Tenn. Thus he came in love's decree to bless and cheer and brighten, and then passed amid tears and sorrowing farewells to his eternal home. To know Robert was a deep joy and inspiration. He was kind, generous, gentle, loving, pure, true and noble. He was blessed beyond the ordinary mortal in his parentage, training and home life. They were as nearly ideal as could be found. His father was noted for his piety, his superior intelligence, his strong character and great preaching ability, also for the wide range of his love and sympathies. The home makes us all pretty much all we are. His home was the nursery of great principles, ideals and devotion. He in turn became to them what they had been to him. He was the stay, the pride, the support, the heaven on earth to his family. When in age and infirmity his father was superannuated he was, as most in his class, shelterless and breadless, no place to go and no strength left to provide his daily sustenance; this worthy, noble son of that noble father had built a splendid, commodious home, comfortable and beautiful, and moved his loved ones into it and out of a not too large salary provided them an easy, comfortable living for their last days on earth.

Brother Cameron was a preacher's son who more than sustained the good name and reputation of his father. He never knew anything but goodness, purity, unselfishness and largeness of love.

Neither his behavior nor character was ever suspected of shadow or unmanly mark. His father and mother were his care as long as they lived. This, no doubt, is the reason he never married. He felt the claim of his family as above every heaven-born obligation. His love sought no other object, his energies no other channel. All earth and heaven were comprehended in his beautiful heroism, unwearied toil, self-abnegation in their behalf. They had the best his labor could afford, and that, too, while he himself was an invalid much of the time. He was for twelve years a great sufferer, carrying a drainage tube in his side for three or four years of that time. He should have had absolute rest, and was so advised by physicians, but how could he rest? There were home, and father, and mother, without income or daily bread if he quit. When advised that he must go west he secured a transfer to the same work in Arizona and kept at his task for three or four years that he spent out there in order to care for those at home. He sent all he made back home, while he was going day by day with fever and weakness and great suffering. Several of his ribs, some five or six, had to be removed or portions of that many, because of tubercular infection which finally closed his life.

Talk about chivalry, heroism, bearing the colors to the ramparts of the enemy! I never saw such courage, such heroism in a mortal breast as Robert Cameron possessed. During all these years of suffering and toil no one ever heard a murmur, a complaint, a sad, depressed utterance from his lips or saw it in his strong, genial, attractive face. No, no; it was not there. He was the noblest hero I ever saw—the finest, manliest man. So human and gentle and kind and mild-mannered, and yet so brave, so unearthly, and divine in the fires that burned in his breast!

In the burdens he carried, the far ends of all thought and love and he saw! With the shadows of shortening days falling in his face and round about him, with the chill of death's icy breath blowing upon him, with the conscious melting of life's snows of hope and health from the mountains of his dreams, he smiled on and toiled on, and fulfilled the ends of noblest heroic service and justified the ways of God to men. It is amazing to me as I think of it. It overwhelms my every sense of the greatest, the noblest, the sublimest riches and attractions and remunerations in earth or heaven. If there is anything higher or greater than this ever uncovered to men by philosophy, science, love or God, I have failed to find it.

The biographer of Robert Louis Stevenson said in a brilliant closing paragraph: "When we consider what he accomplished in literature, in his life-work, with disease, infirmity and handicaps, we marvel at what he did; but when we consider the man he was, we marvel far more." So with those who knew Robert Cameron.

I loved him with all the devotion of my nature. His place up yonder is a high one, if awards are meted out on condition of unselfish, loving service, and that is what Jesus said.

L. M. LIPSCOMB.

TO THE RUSTON DISTRICT.

Ruston District pastors and people: Don't forget April 8 is the day fixed for our Centenary pay-up. Minute men, keep this before the Sunday school and church. Let's all remember that this is the most important thing before us. All together—no slackers.

Nehemiah said, "So built we the wall, for the people had a mind to work."

I believe we can and we will do it. Don't you?

Sincerely,
K. W. DODSON, P. E.

AN APPEAL TO PASTORS TO ENCOURAGE THE EPWORTH LEAGUES.

To the Preachers of the Louisiana Conference.

I am using this method to call your attention to "A Pageant, The Modern Prodigal," for Epworth League Anniversary Day, issuel by the Central Office of the Epworth Leagues of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and published by Lamar & Barton.

My experience with a pageant is, that it has a mighty drawing power, and if it is rightly presented the truth of it is very gripping. In 1921, I used the month of December to present the Christmas thought of the "Giving of substance, service and self." I preached on the subject in the mornings, and the same subject was presented at night through a drama or pageant, specially prepared by a gifted woman in my church. Judged from any angle and from every angle it was a great success. It was the talk of the town. Standing room in the church was at a premium. The hearts of the people were deeply stirred. Our publishing house thought so well of it that they paid fifty dollars for the stories, and they are now in pamphlet form and are for sale.

Brother pastor, if you want the largest crowd of young people you have ever had in your church, and if you want to present the Epworth League in the most effective way, put on this pageant for Epworth League Anniversary Day, the second Sunday in April. If you have no Epworth League, get the young people of your church interested in the pageant. It will help you to organize a League. I gladly give this service to the young people of my church, and am going to help them all I can to make it a great success. I want the Anniversary Day offering to be large. Half of the money raised that day will be used right here for our young people in Louisiana. No Conference is doing a better work for its young people than ours. Let me urge every preacher to give his full support to this very important work. The pageant programs can be secured from Rev. J. B. Grambling, 438 South Scott Street, New Orleans. Send the entire amount of the Anniversary Day offering to Mr. J. H. Cain, Treasurer, De Ridder, La. Last year only thirty-eight out of the one hundred and eight pastoral charges reporting Leagues held an Anniversary Day service. The full amount of the offering was only $416. "Anniversary Day Celebration in every League and an offering of at least a thousand dollars" ought to be our goal for this year. For the sake of our young people and the Kingdom of God let's make this our goal for 1923.

W. W. HOLMES,
President Louisiana Conference Epworth League Board.
543 Egan Street, Shreveport, La.

THE CREED OF THE ANTI-MISSIONARY.

I believe:

That the world is not lost, and does not need a Seviour.

That Jesus made a great mistake when He said, "Go ye into all the world and preach my Gospel to every creature."

That the Gospel is not the "power of God unto salvation," although the Bible says so.

That the Christian missionaries should not have come to our ancestors and lifted them from the darkness of heathenism.

That Cain was right in raising this question, "Am I my brother's keeper?"

That God has nothing to do with my money, and the selfish use of it has nothing to do with my religion.

That to share in the final Christian victory is a matter of small importance, if important at all.

That Jesus was talking pure sentiment when He said, "Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of the least, ye did it not unto me."

That the Bible is not the Word of life, but a collection of personal opinions not to be taken seriously by a "Sucker and a Skinflint."

J. W. PEARSON.

WHEN THE OTHER FELLOW BEATS.

By J. Elmer Russell.

Sometimes the other fellow will beat. That is one thing you may be sure of. Naturally you would like to win every running race, get around first always in a croquet game and end up with the most games in tennis every time. But you just can't do it. The other fellow will win part of the time.

What do you do and how do you act when you are beaten? Well, if you are like some boys, you will do the baby act. You will "get mad." You will tell the other fellow he cheated. You will go off in a sulk.

Really, isn't a boy who acts that way a regular "boob?" He may not weep over his failure, but he has the cry-baby, sissy streak in his make-up. You can't imagine a college boy acting up in any such fashion.

The college boy is a good loser. He doesn't get angry because a classmate can outplay him at tennis or outjump him at field day. When he is beaten he calls out to the winner: "Good work, old man! You trimmed me that time, all right."

And why should not a boy of Scout age be as manly as a college boy? A boy doesn't have to be babyish just because he isn't in his teens yet.

It takes real spunk and courage to keep smiling when the other fellow is winning, but that is just what a boy who is strong and manly does.—The Continent.

THE GREATEST THINGS.

The greatest sin—fear.

The best day—to-day.

The biggest fool—the girl or boy who will not go to school.

The greatest deceiver—one who deceives himself.

The most beautiful woman—the one you love.

The greatest mistake—giving up.

The most expensive indulgence—hate.

The cheapest, stupidest and easiest thing to do—finding fault.

The greatest trouble maker—talking too much.

The worst bankrupt—the soul that has lost its enthusiasm.

The cleverest man—one who always does what he thinks right.

The best teacher—one who makes you want to learn.

The best part of any one's religion—gentleness and cheerfulness.

The meanest feeling—jealousy.

The most important training—training in democracy.

The greatest need—common sense.

The best gift—forgivenes.—Dr. Frank Crane.

DO YOU KNOW THE SECRET?

"What is the secret of success?" asked the Sphinx.

"Push," said the button.

"Beat your way through life," said the Heart.

"Never be led," said the Pencil.

"Have nerve," said the Tooth.

"Be up-to-date," said the Calendar.

"Always keep cool," said the Ice.

"Look pleasant," said the Camera.

"Do business on tick," said the Clock.

"Put up a bluff," said the Mountain.

"Keep to your bed," said the River.

"Never lose your head," said the Barrel.

"Drive things in," said the Hammer.

"Make light of everything," said the Fire.

"Make much of small things," said the Microscope.

"Never do anything offhand," said the Glove.

""Have a pur-puss," said the Cat.

"An egg a day," said the Hen.

"Spend much time in reflection," said the Mirror.

"Be sharp in your dealings," said the Knife.

"Find a good thing and stick to it," said the Glue.—Selected.

FRECKLES

March Brings Out Unsightly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

The woman with tender skin dreads March because it is likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, Othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength Othine should remove them.

Get an ounce from your druggist and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.

No One Need Buy Cuticura Before He Tries Free Samples

Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. Samples free of Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

Quick Relief to BRONCHIAL SUFFERERS

Coughs, nasal and bronchial colds are relieved promptly by the vapor of Cresolene—the standard drugless treatment with forty years of successful use its guarantee. The most widely used remedy for whooping cough and spasmodic croup.

Introduced in 1879

Vapo-Cresolene

"Used While You Sleep"

Send for descriptive booklet 43C. Sold by druggists

Vapo-Cresolene Co., 62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

All this jewelry is yours for selling only 6 Boxes Mentho Nova Salve at 25 cents. Wonderful for catarrh, cuts, burns, etc. Order today. When sold return $1.50 and all 5 Pieces are yours.

U. S. SUPPLY COMPANY, Dept. M10 Greenville, Pa.

Rodeheaver's Gospel Songs

Our New Book ready Oct. 1st.

Also: Victory Songs, Awakening Songs Songs for Service

For all religious occasions. Shaped or round notes

Singly prepaid. 45c Cloth, 35c Limp, 30c Manila (Quantities Not Prepaid) 40c, 30c, 25c

Catalog of Sheet Music, Song Books, Bibles—Books and Folding Organs on request.

Rainbow Sacred Records

Favorite Gospel Selections 75c each not postpd.

Ask for Complete List

THE RODEHEAVER COMPANY

Chicago, Ill. 677 McClurg Bldg.

Philadelphia, Pa. Dpt. 22—814 Walnut St.

DESTROYED BY LIGHTNING SAVED BY INSURANCE

That is the story of many churches and yet many are damaged or destroyed—and no insurance whatever. THE NATIONAL MUTUAL CHURCH INSURANCE COMPANY OF CHICAGO—The Methodist Mutual—has since 1898 been impressing upon Church Officials everywhere the need of this protection. Insures against Fire, Lightning and Tornado. No assessments; legal reserve for protection of policy-holders same as stock companies. No agents. Deal direct. Write to

HENRY P. MAGILL, Sect'y. & Mgr.
1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, Agent M. E. Church, South, 314 Norton Building, Louisville, Ky.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

---

In tender memory of MRS. FLORENCE LATTIMER MARS, beloved wife of Dr. W. H. Mars, whose spirit winged its way to Heaven after a brief illness in her home at Philadelphia, Miss., Jan. 29, 1923.

Mrs. Mars was born in Plattsburg, Miss., forty-eight years ago, and was married twenty-four years ago. Her husband, one daughter, three sons, a mother, two sisters and two brothers survive her.

The writer has known this good woman ever since her marriage, and this sketch is written as a feeble tribute to her pure, unselfish, noble life. It was no secret that her heart's best love was laid upon the altar of her home, where her patience, love and faith knew no bounds. Her spirit was a rare and beautiful one, and illuminated her home and social life, breathing a fragrance and benediction upon all who passed her modest way. Possessed of a charming personality and a generous, cheerful nature, a keen sense of humor, she carried sunshine wherever she went. She lived by the Golden Rule of her Master, and "To know her was to love her."

We delight to bring our alabaster box and pour an ointment of sweetest incense upon the altar of her sacred memory and pray that the Giver of all good gifts may bless and keep her loved ones.

If we could think of her as feeling disappointment at receiving her summons to her heavenly reward, when the Master whispered, "She hath done what she could, enter into the joys of thy Lord," it would be because her idolized son and daughter did not reach her bedside in time to receive her final earthly blessing.

We are told that our finite minds cannot conceive of the joys that await the children of God. To this pure soul, her first joy must have been in beholding the face of her Redeemer and next in greeting her loved ones gone on before to await her, dear father, brother, sister, and Father and Mother Mars, who on earth were so devoted to "Florence."

She loved her Bible and exemplified its teachings in her life of Christian service. Soon after her marriage she left the church of her rearing and joined the Methodist with her husband, believing that "a house divided against itself cannot stand." In the Methodist connection she was consistent and faithful, and preachers always knew they had a welcome in the heart and home of Sister Mars.

She had a firm faith in the Bible's teaching and died trusting in its promises as implicitly as the tender child does in the teachings of its mother.

"Though dead she yet liveth" in her Christian influence, ever reaching out to comfort, uplift, and cheer, and the imperishable memory of her sympathetic, gentle, useful life will be a guardian angel to guide and bless the lives of her loved ones as they journey on toward the land of the unsetting sun, where by faith and emulating her example of holy living, they may be an unbroken family circle in "that home not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Her niece,
LEILA MARS HARBOUR.

---

Mrs. ELLEN B. WEBB was born December 9, 1885, and died at her home in Meridian, Miss., January 30, 1923. Her husband, Dr. J. A. Webb, preceded her a number of years. She was the mother of three children, two of whom still survive, Mrs. Minnie Hill, and J. F. Webb.

She united with the Methodist church early in life. For a number of years she was a member of Fifth Street. When this church grew stronger, she moved her membership to Seventh Avenue, and was a member of this church until death. She was very loyal to her church, and had an influence that was not surpassed by any one. She was one of the most consecrated persons I have ever known. For many years a flow of her extraordinary graces passed into the lives of many.

Nothing disturbed her last repose, no fear disquieted her serene courage as she approached the portals of death.

We who knew her, miss her inspiring presence; we mourn her absence, but rejoice in the beauty of her life.

HER PASTOR.

---

WATCH THE DATE ON YOUR ADDRESS LABEL AND RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION WHEN IT FALLS DUE.

---

Every Christian conquest has its beginning in some place of secret prayer.—Selected.

Public Service

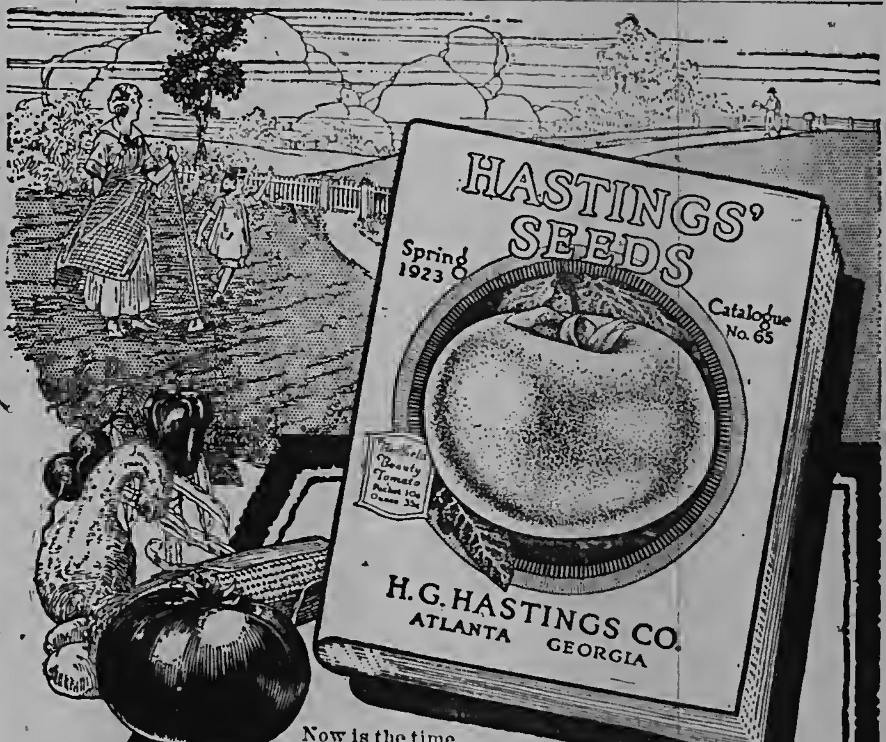
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS

On the Job

TETTERINE

For the Complexion

60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.



Now is the time. Have you planned your garden and flower beds for this spring? It is already getting late. First early vegetables are ready to be planted the first day the weather permits. Have a real garden this year by planting real good seeds of the proper varieties. This Seed Book makes ordering easy. It is the Seed Book of the South. It is the Garden Guide for you. It will come to you by return mail. Absolutely free. Write for it today.

H. G. HASTINGS CO.
ATLANTA "The South's Seedsmen" GEORGIA

HASTINGS' SEEDS

Piles

are usually due to straining when constipated.

Nujol being a lubricant keeps the food waste soft and therefore prevents straining. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it not only soothes the suffering of piles but relieves the irritation, brings comfort and helps to remove them.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative — so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

TETTERINE

Makes Low Necks and Short Sleeves Possible. It Clears the Skin.

60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT

National Dental Parlors

Canal and Bourbon Sts.

Over Worner's Drug Store

Entrance on Bourbon Street

Phone Main 2193.

NEW ORLEANS

Crown and Bridge Specialist

Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction

Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

HEALTH IS VITAL

Here is How to Take Proper Care of It

Covington, Ky.—"For a long time I have used Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for biliousness and constipation to my entire satisfaction. I have also recommended the same to other people who have later thanked me for telling them about these 'Pleasant Pellets'. Just take them according to directions and relief is certain."—Mrs. A. Walker, 1325 Banklick St.

Constipation is at the root of most ailments. You can avoid half the ills in life by taking Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Your neighborhood druggist has them in small vials, convenient to carry—easy to take.

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss.
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

MARCH 18.—WORLD UPLIFT THROUGH CHRISTIAN LIFE.

Matt. 5:13-16; 1 Thess. 1:6-8.

Daily Bible Readings.

M. Christ the Foundation of Character. I Cor. 3:10, 11.
T. The Tragedy of the Fruitless Life. Luke 13:6-7.
W. Doers of the Word. James 1:23-27.
T. Known by Our Fruits. Matt. 7:15-23.
F. The Fruits of the Spirit. Gal. 5:22-23.
S. The Commission of the Christian. Matt. 28:18-20.

Purpose of the Meeting.

To show that only by Christian living can the world be lifted and the obligation of every Christian to make his life count for the largest possible service.

Some Thoughts for Development.

"We are not responsible for the way we find the world, but we are responsible for the way we leave it."

What men are determines their individual character; what they share determines their social character. Can the Christian afford to leave either undeveloped?

For Discussion.

The sin of uselessness.
The danger of negative goodness.
Can the world be lifted by social service alone?
Why cannot morals alone lift the world?

---

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

An Organization Movement.

The following letter from James E. Ellis, Intermediate League Secretary, will be of vital interest, I am sure, to all Epworth Leaguers:

"Dear Leaguers: The month of March has been set aside for the campaign for the organization of Intermediate and Junior Epworth League chapters in our church. It is a well known fact that many of our finest boys and girls are being lost to our church because we have not found some attractive activity to secure their interest in the church. This interest must be secured and must be maintained.

"Our boys and girls are really hungry for the finest and best, and when this is presented in the right way there is a splendid response. They can be easily led away from the church; they can also be led by the church into a life of usefulness and helpfulness to others. What shall we do? The answer is for us to make.

"The intermediate Epworth League is the organization of the church to give the fourfold development of the boy and girl of the "teen age" and to give the desire for activity a chance for full expression in the work of the League. The method of work is 'Learn to do by doing.' Your young people need it. Will you supply it for them?

"Get in touch with your Assistant District Secretary, District Secretary, Conference Intermediate Superintendent, or Conference President. Either one of them will be glad to send you information and help you organize.

"Let us always pray for the intermediate boys and girls of our church during these days."

"JAMES E. ELLIS,
"Intermediate League Secretary.
"Nashville, Tenn."

Monroe District.

The Monroe District Secretary reports that there is being more interest manifested in League work lately than ever before. The Third Department Superintendent is on the job and socials have been held regularly, thus attracting new members also. A very delightful Valentine party was held in the Sunday school annex, which was very prettily decorated with St. Valentine colors. We are all glad to hear that Monroe is doing so nicely, and hope that in the coming year they may meet with much greater success.

New Orleans District.

Carrollton Avenue League had an entertainment on Tuesday, Feb. 27. Vocal solos, violin solo and shadowland pictures by both the Junior League and Senior League were among the numbers on the program. The playlet, entitled "Six Cups of Chocolate," was greatly enjoyed by all.

---

THE BEST BUSHEL OF WHEAT IN AMERICA.

The International Wheat Show in Kansas gave last year's prize for the best bushel of wheat grown in America to a bushel of Black Hull, whose ancestral grain came from Armenia. Nine years ago a boy of fifteen found in his father's field one stalk taller and more sturdy than the others, its head containing dark chaff. Sowing the seed from this head and carefully saving the seed, he produced enough in nine years to sow half a million acres of Kansas land. It was a bushel from this splendidly developed crop that took the prize. The winner was the boy whose sharp eyes had first seen the single stalk, and he sent the bushel to the home of its forebears, Armenia, to be distributed among Armenian farmers.

---

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

Taylor University

A member of the Association of American Colleges. Offers the best standards for mind and soul and body. A favorite school for ministers and missionaries.

Address JOHN PAUL, President

UPLAND, INDIANA

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

A Body Builder for Pale, Delicate Children. 60c

WHEELER Business College

BIRMINGHAM, ALA.

"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"

Call or Write For Free Catalogue

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure to mention this paper.

IF SICK TODAY!

TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

PROGRESSIVE FURNITURE STORE

Substantial Furniture, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, for the home, office, and church. Convenient terms. Country trade taken care of. Prompt delivery. Service.

5515 MAGAZINE STREET.

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.

Complete Outfitters of Stylish Stouts

Everything to fit the Stout Figure. Evening Gowns. Semi-Evening. Street Dresses; Afternoon Dresses.

Wraps. Underwear. Hosiery. Corsets. Neckwear and Accessories.

424-426 S. Rampart.

New Store: Canal and Chartres

HEMSTITCHING

Embroidering, Buttons Covered, Scalloping, etc. MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO

HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS

109 BOURBON ST. Elevator service. Main 734

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,

Uptown 4831

COUPON

Cut this Coupon out. Men's Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 75c. Palm Beach, Linen and Searsucker Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 40c. Suits Sponged and Pressed, 35c. Ladies' Garments at lowest prices.

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.

PHONE UPTOWN 1232.

Old Stoves Taken in on Rebuilt Stoves

Light Welding a Specialty

3921 MAGAZINE ST.

W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

QUALITY GOODS AT LOW PRICES

D. H. Holmes Co., LIMITED.

We Know How—Quick Service.

We Call for and Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.

AUTO SERVICE.

CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER

103 NORTH DELTA ST.

OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

UNITY DENTAL CO.

108 UNIVERSITY PLACE.

Highest class work in the city.

15-YEAR GUARANTEE.

Nerve Blocking our Specialty.

Eliminates all Pain.

108 UNIVERSITY PLACE

Phone Main 6606

Stop Your Wash Day Worries and PHONE JACKSON 203,

SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,

2520 Magnolia St.

Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,

Six Cents per lb.

Sunday School

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE NOTES

The workers have visited 19 schools last month. Brother Hull is doing a fine work, and those who have had him are calling for him right along.

At Yazoo City, on Feb. 23 and 24, we had a County-wide Institute. Brother Brabham, of Nashville, was with us, and he did fine work. All the preachers were present but one, and quite a number of laymen. Bro. Bowen and Bro. Brabham did excellent work.

On the 18th ult, I was with the Court Street, Hattiesburg, folks. They have built a beautiful building and are getting their forces together to do a great work for the Kingdom. They were putting on their Centenary work, and I was glad to see how finely the folks responded.

On Sunday, the 25th ult., we organized the Satartia Circuit-Wide Sunday School Institute, at Mt. Olivet. Each Sunday school on the circuit was present. The following officers were elected: Mrs. S. C. Newman, Phoenix, president; Prof. G. M. McLendon, Phoenix, vice president; S. A. Childress, Satartia, secretary; Mrs. Beatrice Stampley, Mechanicsburg, treasurer. The following goals were set to be reached by the next meeting of the Circuit Institute, which is to meet at Phoenix: $240 raised by the Sunday school for the parsonage; each Sunday school workers' council to master Program of Work "C"; each Sunday school to observe Clean-up, Fix-up Day.

Monday morning I spoke to the Satartia High School. Brother Williams is the principal of the school, and he has a fine school, doing a good work. The work on the charge looks encouraging.

Thursday we were at Hattiesburg in the Centenary Set-up Meeting. Fifteen of the pastors were present. We had a good meeting. A day was set by which the canvass should be completed, and all promised to start to work immediately to get the matter before the folks.

Friday we attended the Jackson Centenary Set-up Meeting. Twenty of the preachers were present, and a very large delegation of Centenary treasurers. The reports were good and the brethren seemed to have a very optimistic note in their talking. Plans were made and accepted for pressing the work.

Some encouraging letters are being received from the Sunday schools. A good amount of new money has been pledged by the schools, and $689 of old pledges are definitely promised to be paid. But look at the Sunday schools which are doing nothing! If the people are to be trained to support the cause of missions, they must be taught this in their early youth.

The most attractive Specials can be gotten, from $25 a year up. What could mean more to a school than having the support of an evangelist or Bible worker, or renting a chapel for the preaching of the gospel or for Sunday schools? Let us hear from you. Direct your Sunday schools to definite mission work.

Sunday School Day programs have been ordered sent to each pastor. If you do not get yours, please let me know, that they may be ordered again. Can we not count on $2500 this year from Sunday School Day? We need the money. The programs are the best we have ever had, I think, and I trust that the message of these programs will reach the hearts of the people.

Pray for all the workers. Can you not pray for Brother Hull and myself by name? We need your prayers. Being held up by prayer, God can do a mighty work with us. God bless you each and everyone.

JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

To the Sunday School Workers of North Mississippi.

Greeting:—

It is good to be at home again, and at work in dear old Mississippi, and, best of all, to be working for little children. Of course, one worker, all alone, can do very little, but all the men and women that really and truly love God, and native land, and little children, when they work together with Him, can make the impossible possible.

All of you can help me by writing me about conditions in the schools where you live and work, and by giving me the names of men and women that can do good work with children under 12. Also, I am hoping you will find many ways in which I can help you, and that you will ask for that help when you need it.

VALCOUR R. McDONALD

Treasurer's Report, Fifth Sunday Collections.

By order of the Conference at Water Valley, the collection in the Sunday schools of the Conference the fifth Sunday in December were to be sent to the Conference Board to help take care of the expense of the District Training Schools. Here is the report to date:

Aberdeen District: Maben, $1.76; Okolona, $5; Okolona circuit, $1.25; Houston, $6; Europa, $5; Randolph, $1; Algoma, $1.08. Total, $21.09.

Columbus District: Kosciusko, $5.08; Macon, $8.19; Cooksville, $1; Crawford, $5.25. Total, $19.52.

Corinth District: Hickory Flat, $2.25; Blackland, $2; Tishomingo, $3; Baldwyn, $2.88; Belmont, $2.10; Moreville, $5; Rienzi circuit, $2.20; Booneville circuit, 25c. Total, $19.68.

Greenwood District: Wehb, $3.67; Glendora, $1; Sledge, $2.85; Moorhead, $5.10; Acona, $1; Indianola, $10; Dublin, $2; Ruleville, $6.02; Lamhert, $3.35; Schlater, $2. Total, $36.99.

Grenada District: Sallis, $1.73; Durant, $11.34; Vaiden, $3; Water V. Main, $2.09; Winona, $7.04; Victoria, $1.51; Red Banks, $4; Holcomb, $2.05; Grenada, $6.06; Ebenezer, $1; Tie Plant, $1; Duck Hill, $5.48; West, $2.20; Holly Springs, $13.49; Pickens, $2. Total, $63.99.

Sardis District: Como, $5; Arkabutla, $2.02; Coldwater, $8.50; Shuford circuit, $1.35; Poplar Corner, $1.60; Batesville, $7. Total, $24.47.

The District schools will cost the Board from $150 to $300. The Greenville District is planning to make a report of $300. It will come in due time.

J. E. STEPENS, Treasurer.

Grenada, Miss., Feb. 12, 1923.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT.

Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

Many a man has neglected to break himself of a bad habit until the habit has broken him.—Selected.

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED

COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS

Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls. Musical Instruments

BARRE MUSIC SHOP

1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2364

God's delays are not always denials.—Selected.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

ADORABLE TOGS FOR BABY And Up to Six!

Maison Rouff

216 Chartres St.

"Just Down from Godchaux's."

WALLACE

(The New Orleans News Man)

PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD

105 Royal St. 104 University Place

United Style Shop

Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.

WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.

Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.

SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS

in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.

129 Bourbon Street

Phone Main 703.

Phone Jackson 126

THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL

2320 MAGAZINE ST.

ELYOD ART NEEDLEWORK CO.

1842 Dryades Street.

Stamped Articles, Floss, Yarn, Crochet Cotton, etc. Mail orders solicited. Send for beautiful illustrated circular of stamped articles.

PRYTANIA HEMSTITCHING PARLOR

1413 LYON ST., NEW ORLEANS

No delay. Out-of-town patronage solicited. Price List furnished on application. Charges prepaid.

The Christian Women's Exchange

Two dollars per year enables a consigner the right to exhibit and ten per cent on sales. A wonderful display of art, curio, and needlework always on hand. Visitors welcomed.

520 ROYAL STREET.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE

If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.

J. A. WHERRY,

420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING

Cough Syrup

Easy to Take

No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of

DR. RICHARD ANGELL

Prepared by

JAMES R. ANGELL,

New Orleans, La.

PRICE 35c AND 65c

AT ALL DRUGGISTS

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

| | |
|---|---|
| Colds | Headache |
| Toothache | Lumbago |
| Earache | Rheumatism |
| Neuralgia | Pain, Pain |

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

CABBAGE PLANTS. Fulwood's Frostproof and Charleston Wakefield, Succession and Flat Dutch. Prices, by express, 1,000 to 4,000 at $1.50 per 1,000; 5,000 to 9,000 at $1.25 per 1,000; 10,000 and over at $1.00 per 1,000. By parcel post postpaid, 100 for 50c; 500 for $1.25; 1,000 for $2.25. First class plants from best Long Island seed., Satisfaction guaranteed or money returned. P. D. Fulwood, Tifton, Ga.—Adv.

As to What to Wear,

How It Fits or Becomes You, You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting

Milady's Creative Shop

Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.

If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.

221 Macheca Bldg. · Phone, M. 5162,
830 CANAL STREET.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs

Special Terms

FOR

CHURCHES

Sunday Schools

AND

SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.

"Largest Music House South"

New Orleans Baton Rouge

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION

TO THE LAY WORKERS, DURANT DISTRICT.

Dear Brothers: Herewith I hand you a copy of the schedule of appointments arranged for the Laymen of the Durant church.

As you will observe, the schedule is made out through August, and the intention is that the same schedule operate throughout the year.

I hope and believe that you will cooperate with us and with the Methodists of Mississippi in this campaign to give every Methodist church in the State at least one service on every Lord's day.

It is desired that the captain of each team assume responsibility for the program and for transportation, and also for notifying the members of his team and reminding them of the dates. It is also requested that if any team is unable to fill an appointment, the lay leader be notified at least twenty-four hours before time for the appointment, or as soon thereafter as possible.

There will be called a meeting of all teams at an early date, and you will receive due notice.

Schedule of Appointments for Durant Laymen, 1923.

Team No. 1: R. J. Deckard, Captain; J. S. Keathofer, Mrs. G. R. Bennett, Mrs. B. W. Moore. Alternates: Mrs. R. S. Anderson, W. H. Petty, E. Cole.

Second Sunday in March: Salem, 11 a. m.; Zemuly, 2:30 p. m.

Third Sunday in April; Midway, 11 a. m.; Hebron, 2:30 p. m.

Fourth Sunday in May: Shrock, 11 a. m.; Spring Grove, 2:30 p. m.

Second Sunday in June: Salem, 11 a. m.; Zemuly, 2:30 p. m.

Third Sunday in July: Midway, 11 a. m.; Hebron, 2:30 p. m.

Fourth Sunday in August: Shrock, 11 a. m.; Spring Grove, 2:30 p. m.

Team No. 2: Roy Lyon, Captain; Mrs. C. W. Broos; B. W. Moore, C. W. Brooks. Alternates: Lillie Elmore, Pope Ramsey.

Third Sunday in March: Midway, 11 a. m.; Hebron, 2:30 p. m.

Fourth Sunday in April: Shrock, 11 a. m.; Spring Grove, 2:30 p. m.; Second Sunday in May: Salem, 11 a. m.; Zemuly, 2:30 p. m.

Third Sunday in June: Midway, 11 a. m.; Hebron, 2:30 p. m.

Fourth Sunday in July: Shrock, 11 a. m.; Spring Grove, 2:30 p. m. Second Sunday in August, Salem 11 a. m.; Zemuly, 2:30 p. m.

Team No. 3: Walter Odom, Captain; Mrs. R. P. Neblett, Mrs. Eugene Cole, Mrs. R. C. Elmore, J. A. Meredith. Alternates: Miss Roberta Clower, G. A. Guess.

Fourth Sunday in March: Shrock, 11 a. m.; Spring Grove, 2:30 p. m.

Second Sunday in April: Salem, 11 a. m.; Zemuly, 2:30 p. m.

Third Sunday in May: Midway, 11 a. m.; Hebron, 2:30 p. m.

Fourth Sunday in June: Shrock, 11 a. m.; Spring Grove, 2:30 p. m.

Second Sunday in July: Salem, 11 a. m.; Zemuly, 2:30 p. m.

Third Sunday in August: Midway, 11 a. m.; Hebron, 2:30 p. m.

Schedule operates in same way through remaining months of 1923.

Your brother,
R. C. ELMORE, Lay Leader.

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—Second Round.
(In Part)

Tupelo, Mar. 3, 4.
Okolona, Mar. 4, 5.
Amory, Mar. 11, 12.
Houston, Mar. 17, 18.
Pontotoc, Mar. 18, 19.
Buena Vista, at Boone's chapel, Mar. 23.
Aberdeen, Mar. 24, 25.
Prairie and Strong, at P., Mar. 25, 26.
Shannon and Nettleton, at Brewer, Mar 31, Apr. 1.
Verona, at Plantersville, Apr. 1, 2.
Nettleton, at Shiloh, Apr. 7, 8.
Woodland, at Palestine, Apr. 14, 15.
Greenwood Springs, at New Hope, Apr. 21, 22.
Salem and Ecru, at Liberty Hill, Apr. 27.
Tocopola, at Lafayette Springs, Apr. 28, 29.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Newton Dist.—Second Round.
(In Part)

North Neshoba, at Henry Chapel, Mar. 9.
Neshoba, at Mars Hill, Mar. 10, 11.
Philadelphia, Mar. 11, 7:30 p.m.; 12, 8 a.m.
Trenton, at Pine Grove, Mar. 17, 18.
Forest and Morton, at M., Mar. 18, 3 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Rose Hill, at Pleasant Grove, Mar. 24, 25.
Montrose, at Garlandville, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Carthage, at Rocky Point, Apr. 7, 8.

District Sunday School Institute at Hickory will open at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 8, followed by the opening sermon of the District Conference at 8 o'clock the evening of the same day. Let delegates be elected by church conference as the law provides. J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—Second Round.
(In Part)

Hermanville, at Pattison, 11 a.m., Mar. 18.
Port Gibson, 7:30 p.m., Mar. 18.
Nebo, at Oak Grove, 11 a.m., Mar. 24.
Roxie, at McNair, 11 a.m., Mar. 25.
Harriston, 3:30 p.m., Mar. 25.
Fayette, 7:30 p.m., Mar. 25.
Vicksburg, Crawford St., 7:30 p.m. Mar. 26.
Vicksburg, Gibson Mem., 7:30 p.m., Mar. 28.

Pastors will please elect their delegates, send names to Rev. V. G. Clifford, Centerville, and to me. It is important that this be done, that Bro. Clifford can provide homes for all delegates, and that I may make up the official role of the conference.

Let it be remembered that district, charge lay leaders, local preachers, and district secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society are members of the conference.

Local preachers are urged to make their report in writing.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—Second Round.
(In Part)

Fannin, at Drake's, Mar. 10, 11, 11 a.m.
Rankin St., at Pearl Chapel, Mar 11, 3 p.m.
Florence, at Star, Mar. 17, 18, 11 a.m.
Terry at Terry, Mar. 18, 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Edwards at Learned, Mar 25, 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.
Bolton, at Bolton, Mar. 25, 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Madison, at Ridgeland, Apr. 1, 11 a.m. and 2, 10 a.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
-SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

BUY A BOTTLE OF BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

SPECTACLES FREE!
ON TRIAL

Let me send you on Ten Days Free Trial a pair of my famous "True Fit" Shell Rim Spectacles. Hundreds of thousands now in use everywhere. These splendid Glasses will enable anyone to read the smallest print, thread the finest needle, see far or near and prevent eyestrain or headaches. If after trying them for 10 days and nights you are amazed and delighted, and think them equal to glasses sold elsewhere at $15.00, send only $4.49; if you don't want to keep them, return them and there will be no charge. Send no Money! Pay no C. O. D.! Simply your name, address and age, and state the length of time you have worn glasses, if any. A beautiful velveteen-lined, gold-lettered Spectacle Case FREE.

RITHOLZ SPECTACLE CO.
1462 W. Madison St. Dept. Dr. 2101 Chicago, Ill.

Rheumatic Pains Aches

are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also. 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT.

Try This Newer Form of Iron at Our Expense

QUICKLY INCREASES 'PEP,' STRENGTH AND ENERGY

"You cannot be well and strong and full of vigor, force and power unless your blood is rich in iron," says Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician in Bellevue Hospital (Out-door Department), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital. "It is your red blood that enables you to resist and overcome disease and that nourishes every organ in your body. Without iron your blood becomes thin, pale, and watery. Poor blood cannot nourish your vital organs, and as a result you may have pains in your heart or kidneys, indigestion, headaches, and feel all run-down and tired out."

When your blood lacks iron, do not waste your time taking stimulating medicines or narcotic drugs, but directly enrich your blood with the newer form of iron, known as Nuxated Iron.

You can obtain from any druggist the regular full sized package on two weeks' trial. Tear out the coupon below and get your trial bottle of Nuxated Iron to-day from your own druggist. Take it for two weeks and if you have not, like thousands of others, obtained most surprising new health, strength and energy, your own druggist will promptly refund your money.

Trial Coupon

Fill in this coupon with your name and address and take it to any druggist in your city. Deposit with him the price of one regular full-size bottle of Nuxated Iron. This is not a payment, but a deposit only. If you are not more than delighted with the results obtained by two weeks' use of Nuxated Iron, simply return the outside wrapper to your own druggist, who will promptly refund your money. We will repay the druggist the full amount he refunds upon receipt of the coupon and wrapper.

DAE HEALTH LABORATORIES
New York City

Name ....................................

Address ....................................

Fill in your name and address above

NOTE—Nuxated Iron has been used for years whenever needed in the family of the advertising Representative of this paper with excellent results. We are able to guarantee that if you do not obtain all and even greater benefits than you expect from Nuxated Iron, the manufacturers will refund your money.—Ad.

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to
Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Annual Session Woman's Society Meets March 13

Mrs. T. M. Clark, of Tueplo, president of the North Mississippi Conference of the Woman's Missionary Society, Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and Mrs. G. C. Jones, of Marks, recording secretary, have made official announcement that the eleventh annual meeting of this conference will convene in the First Methodist Church at Greerwood, March 13 to 16. Mrs. Clark was elected president at the conference which convened at Water Valley last year and will preside over the meeting at Greenwood in March. This conference embraces the entire northern half of the State. Following are the officers of the Woman's Conference who have served this year: Mrs. T. M. Clark, Tupelo, president; Mrs. J. W. Conger, Winona, vice-president; Mrs. R. Neblett, Durant, superintendent of children; Mrs. C. A. Neal, Carrollton, superintendent of mission study and publicity; Mrs. W. V. Pitman, Indianola, superintendent social service; Mrs. Susie Thomas, conference treasurer; Mrs. W. D. Naromore, conference auditor; Mrs. G. C. Jones, Marks, recording secretary; Miss Corinne Rogers, New Albany, corresponding secretary. The following are the secretaries or directors of the work in the seven presiding elder's districts of the Conference: Aberdeen, Mrs. Jeff Busby, Houston; Columbus, Mrs. Kemp Williams, West Point; Corinth, Miss Esther Murry, Ripley; Greenville, Mrs. B. P. Woollard, Cleveland; Greenwood, Mrs. B. F. Whitehead, Tchula; Grenada, Mrs. W. V. Stokes, Grenada; Sardis, Mrs. W. J. East, Senatobia. A general report from the general body directing the seven conferences will be made at this conference to be held in Greenwood. The opening service of the conference will be held on Tuesday evening, March 13. Rev. Soloman L. Pope is presiding elder in the district in which the conference will be held. Rev. V. C. Curtis will be pastor-host of the conference. Those officially connected will be entertained.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Dear Co-workers: Several weeks ago, a letter was sent to each auxiliary president asking for individual and collective co-operation with the Centenary Campaign, by setting aside a day of prayer in your auxiliary, and by helping in every way possible with the Centenary collections in the churches. If you did not get yours, it is not too late to do these things, for the campaign is still on and the four million dollars MUST come in by May 1. I hope it is thoroughly understood that this does not affect our own pledge, or rather obligations within the Society, but refers only to Centenary pledges made as church members. No one can doubt the importance of this campaign, nor its direct influence upon the Woman's Work, when we review the enlarging of the work in every single field with money derived from the Centenary.

We shall have with us at our annual meeting in Laurel, March 27-30, Mrs. E. B. Chappel, one of the editors of The Missionary Voice; Miss Hallie Buie, missionary from Korea, now studying in New York; and Brother W. D. Hawkins, of Meridian, Centenary Conference Secretary, who will show on Thursday night those interesting new pictures on the work of our church in Europe.

A request has gone out to every officer and district secretary to pledge herself to bring to the meeting at least one good poster, showing either some phase of her own work or bearing on the missionary work in general. If this is done, much good will result from this visual presentation. Will you do your part?

Several requests have come in for the address of Cavie Clark, our newest recruit to Brazil, so I am giving it here: Colegio Americano, Rua Independencia 70, Porto Allegro, Brazil. If she is not there, all mail will be promptly forwarded.

Below follows a partial report of statistics for the year, some of the items showing encouraging advancement. For instance, whereas last year there were 23 societies making the Standard of Excellence, this year we have 39.

In several instances of societies in small communities or logging camps, there has been a decrease; and this is true in the case of Y. P. and Junior auxiliaries, too. So the net increase is not very large. But the number of new societies shows that unoccupied territory is gradually becoming occupied.

An important feature of our annual meeting this year will be the Workers' Conference on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, March 27. Every delegate and conference officer is expected to be there and on time. This may be the only time during the session to discuss at length many problems in an informal way.

Will all auxiliary corresponding secretaries please report AT ONCE to their district secretary the amount of pledge for 1923? This will be taken at conference only by districts; so please do not handicap your district secretary by failure to report to her immediately.

The nearness of Council this year should insure a large delegation of visitors from our conference. As you read this, why not begin to make your own plans to attend? There may not be this good opportunity again in years. You will not regret the effort and sacrifice. Mobile, April 4-11, are the place and date.

Yours for service,
MRS. H. L. McKLESKEY,
Conference Cor. Sec.

Number adult auxiliaries, 166; number new auxiliaries, 24; number of members, 3675; number new members, 75; number Y. P. societies, 23; number new Y. P. societies, 8; number of members, 465; number of new members, 64; number Junior divisions, 45; number new divisions, 8; number of members, 515; number of new members, 30; number of Baby divisions, 32; number of new Baby divisions, 6; subscribers to Voice, 960; Subscribers to Y. C. Worker, 180; number auxiliaries presenting Stewardship, 234; number of scholarships, 1; number observing Week of Prayer, (adult), 128; number adult auxiliaries on Roll of Honor, 24; number Y. P. auxiliaries on Roll of Honor, 6; number of Juniors on Roll of Honor, 9.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Baton Rouge Dist.—Second Round.

Zachary, at Slaughter, Mar. 18, p.m.
Clinton, at Pinegrove, Mar. 25, a.m.
Jackson and Ethel, at Jackson, Mar. 25, p.m.
Hammond, Apr. 1, a.m.
Denham Springs, at Live Oak, Apr. 1, p.m.
Baton Rouge, First Church, Apr. 2, p.m.
Natalbany and Pine Grove, at P. G., Apr. 8, a.m.
Istrouma, Apr. 8, p.m.
St. Francisville, at Star Hill, Apr. 15, a.m.
Keener Memorial, Apr. 15, p.m.
Pearl River, at Bush, Apr. 22, a.m.
Bogalusa ct., Sunday, Apr. 22, 3 p.m.
Slidell, Apr. 22, 7:30 p.m.
Springfield, at Livingston, Apr. 29, a.m.
Ponchatoula, Apr. 29, p.m.
Franklinton ct., at Mt. Hermon, May 5, a.m. and p.m.
Franklinton, May 6, a.m.
Bogalusa, May 6 p.m.
Baker, at Deerford, May 12, a.m., 13, p.m.
Olive Branch, at Clear Creek, May 13, a.m.
Covington, May 20, a.m.
Amite, May 20, p.m.
Kentwood, May 22, p.m.
Greensburg, May 27, a.m.
Tickfaw, May 27, p.m.
Gonzales, June 2, a.m.

J. W. LEE, P. E.

Ruston Dist.—Second Round.

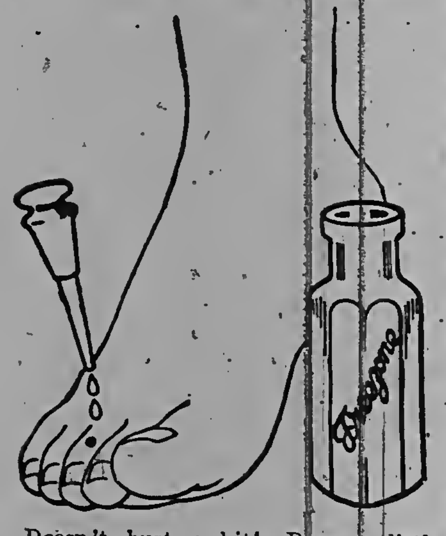
Arcadia, Feb. 28, 7:30 p.m.
Homer, March 4, 11 a.m.
Sibley, at Brushwood, March 11, 11 a.m.
Winnfield, March 14, 7:30 p.m.
Jonesboro, at Jonesboro, March 15, 7:30 p.m.
Bernice, at Alabama, March 18, 11 a.m.
Marion, at Downsville, March 25, 11 a.m.
Dubach, at Lisbon, April 1, 11 a.m.
Springhill, April 4, 7:30 p.m.
Elmore, at New Prospect, April 8, 11 a.m.
Simmsboro, at Antioch, April 15, 11 a.m.
Bienville, at Strange, April 17, 2 p.m.
Minden, April 19, 7:30 p.m.
Farmerville, April 22, 11 a.m.
Ruston, April —, 7:30 p.m.
Gibsland, April 29, 11 a.m.
Haynesville, May 3, 7:30 p.m.
Ringgold, May 10, 2 p.m.
Winnfield Ct., May 12, 2 p.m.
Haughton and Doyline, at Haughton, May 15, 3:30 p.m.
Castor, at Jamestown, May 20, 11 a.m.
Wesley Ct., May 22, 2 p.m.
Athens, at Arizona, May 27, 11 a.m.
District Conference, at Haynesville, May 4-6.

K. W. DODSON, P. E.



Corns

Lift Off with Fingers

Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

SORES BOILS, CUTS and BURNS have been healed since 1820 with

Gray's Ointment

Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS
A FINE GENERAL TONIC

Sure Relief
FOR INDIGESTION
BELL-ANS FOR INDIGESTION 25 CENTS
6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs.
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

STOP ITCHING
Skins with Tetterine
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 oz. of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.—Adv.

BANNERMAN Army Auction Bargains
20 ga. Hand and Shoulder Gun . $14.85
Luger pistol $21.50 | Haversacks .15 up
Krag rifle $12.50 | TENTS $1.95 up
Fullset Army steel letters and figures, $1.00
15 acres army goods. Illustrated catalog for 1922—372 pages—including full and highly interesting information (specially secured) of all World War small arms, mailed 50 cents. NEW circular, 16 page, 10 cents. Established 1865.
Francis Bannerman Sons, 501 Broadway, N.Y.

ROCHE'S
HERBAL
EMBROCATION
The external remedy for CROUP or WHOOPING COUGH that several generations of mothers have used successfully (since 1802). Roche's loosens the phlegm—relieves quickly and safely. Equally effective for bronchitis and colds on the chest.
Always keep a bottle handy. All druggists or
E. FOUGERA & CO., Inc.
90-92 Beekman St., New York

"Cutting teeth is made easy"

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

The Infants' and Children's Regulator

At all druggists

Non-Narcotic, Non-Alcoholic

Oakland, Nebr., Feb. 28, 1920

Anglo-American Drug Co.,

Gentlemen:

I am more than glad to tell you of the experience and result obtained from your wonderful Baby Medicine. Our second baby is now seven months old and has never given us a moment's trouble. The first and only thing she has ever taken was Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. She has four teeth and is always smiling and playing. Cutting teeth is made easy by the use of Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. Most sincerely,

(Name on request)

ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO.

215-217 Fulton Street, New York

Gen. Selling Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Inc. New York, Toronto, London, Sydney

5,000 CHRISTIAN WORKERS WANTED

to sell Bibles, Testaments, good books and handsome velvet Scripture Mottoes. Good commission. Send for free catalogue and price list.

GEORGE W. NOBLE, Publisher

Dept. D., Monon Bldg., Chicago, Illinois

RENWAR VS. RHEUMATISM.

It is certainly a pity that so many people suffer year after year the intense pains of rheumatism when it can be so easily expelled from the system by the simple treatment of taking Renwar Rheumatic Salts. Rheumatism is caused by uric acid in the blood; and in order to effect a complete cure, it is necessary to entirely eliminate this acid from the blood. Renwar is guaranteed to relieve or your money is refunded. It contains no injurious drugs. It is the one sure remedy, and it does not in the slightest degree injure the stomach or affect the heart. Mr. Joseph L. Boehner says, "One 50c bottle has done me more good than all sanatorium treatment, and what it did for me, why should it not do the same for others! Should any one doubt the virtue of Renwar and the certainty of curing this malady, refer them to me." For sale by druggists, price 50c; or by mail on receipt of price from WARNER DRUG COMPANY, NASHVILLE, TENN.—Adv.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Brookhaven Dist.—Second Round.

Bogue Chitto and Norfield, at Bogue Chitto, March 4, 7 p.m.
Bayou Pierre, at Pleasant Ridge, March 7.
Pleasant Grove, at Tilton, March 10. 11.
Meadville and Bude, at Meadville, March 14, 7 p.m.
Adams, at Ebenezer, March 17, 18.
McComb, at La Branch, March 18, 7:30 p.m.
Hazlehurst, April 1, 11 a.m.
Wesson and Beauregard, at Beauregard, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Monticello, at Sontag, April 8.
Brookhaven, April 8. 7:30 p.m.
Galiman, at Mt. Pleasant, April 14, 15.
Crystal Springs, April 15, 7:30 p.m.
Barlow, at Brandywine, April 21, 22.
McComb, Pearl River Ave., April 22, 7:30 p.m.
Osyka, at Muddy Springs, April 28, 29.
Magnolia, April 29, 7:30 p.m.
Fernwood, at Kokomo, May 6.
Tylertown, May 6, 7:30 p.m.
Scotland, at Hawkins' Chapel, May 12, 13.
McComb, Centenary, May 13, 7:30 p.m.
Foxworth, at Hopewell, May 16.
Georgetown, at Providence, May 23.
Summit and Topisaw, at Pisgah, May 26, 27.

District Conference will convene in Magnolia at 9 a. m., Tuesday, April 3, 1923. Send names of all elected delegates early to myself and Rev. C. P. Jones, Magnolia, Miss. Let us go praying and expecting two days of great refreshing from the Lord.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—Second Round.

Meridian, Hawkins Memorial, March 4, 11 a.m.
Meridian, Poplar Springs, March 11, 11 a.m.
Meridian, East End, March 18, 11 a.m.
Meridian, Central, March 18, p.m.
Meridian, Seventh Avenue, March 25, 11 a.m.
Meridian, Fifth Street, March 25, p.m.
Central Church dedication, April 1.
Scooba, at Wahalak, April 8.
Porterville, at Briggs' Chapel, April 15.
Waynesboro Ct., at Pleasant Grove, April 21, 22.
Waynesboro, April 22, 23.
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel, April 28, 29.
Lauderdale and Electric Mills, at Lauderdale, April 29, p.m.
District Conference, at Poplar Springs, May 1, 2.
DeKalb, at New Hope, May 4.
Cleveland, at Big Oak, May 5, 6.
Shubuta, May 13.
Bucatunna, May 13, 14.
Enterprise, at Stonewall, May 20.
Quitman, May 20, p.m.
Pachuta, at Salem, May 26, 27.
Matherville, at State Line, June 2, 3.
De Soto, at Andrew's Chapel, June 3, 4.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Seashore Dist.—Second Round.

Long Beach, March 4, 11 a.m.
Biloxi, March 11, 11 a.m.
Wesley Memorial, March 11, 7:30 p.m.
Logtown, Thurs., March 15, 7:30 p.m.
Bay St. Louis, March 18, 11 a.m.
Poplarville, March 25, 11 a.m.
Lumberton, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Escatawpa, at Big Point, March 31, April 1.
Pascagoula, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Moss Point, Tues., April 3, 7:30 p.m.
District Conference, at Moss Point, April 4, 5, 6.
Columbia, April 8, 11 a.m.
Columbia Mission, April 8, 3:30 p.m.
Saucier, April 15.
Picayune, Thurs., April 19, 7:30 p.m.
Carriere, April 20, 22.
Bay St. Louis, Q. C., Wed., April 25, 7:30 p.m.
Ocean Springs, at Handsboro, April 29.
Americus, at Cross Roads, May 5, 6.
Gulfport, Q. C., Wed., May 9, 7:30 p.m.
Wesley Memorial, Q. C., Thurs., May 10, 7:30 p.m.
Mentoruni, May 12, 13.
Wiggins, May 13, 7:30 p.m.
Long Beach, Q. C., Mon., May 14, 7:30 p.m.
Biloxi, Q. C., Tues., May 15, 7:30 p.m.
Brooklyn and Bond, May 20, 11 a.m.
Coalville, at Beulah, May 20, 3:30 p.m.
Vancleave, at Red Hill, May 26, 27.
Pass Christian, June 3.

The District Conference will convene at Moss Point, April 3, at 7:30 p. m. Opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. G. Galloway. The quarterly conference will be held immediately after preaching Wednesday morning, at 8:30, we will organize. Wednesday afternoon will be devoted to the work of the laymen; Dr. J. M. Sullivan and W. E. Barnes will have charge. Thursday afternoon will be devoted to Sunday school work, and Rev. J. C. Chambers, or some one appointed by him, will have charge. Let all the pastors elect their delegates at once, and send names to me and to Rev. J. E. Gray. Brethren, please don't neglect this. Do it now, and also have reports from all the local preachers. Let us pray for a great conference.

W. M. SULIIVAN, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

Melder Ct., at Campground, March 11, a.m.
Cheneyville, March 11 p.m.
Marksville Ct., at Marksville, March 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, March 25.
Oakdale, April 1, a.m.
Glenmora, April 1, p.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, April 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, April 15.
Trout and Good Pine, at Good Pine, April 22, a.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jonesville, April 22, p.m.
Opelousas, May 6, a.m.
Livonia Ct., at Lottie, May 7, p.m.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, May 12, 13, p.m.
Natchitoches, May 13, a.m.
Rochelle and Standard, at Rochelle, May 20.
Bunkie, May 27.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

PILES Don't Be Cut Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment

My internal method of treatment is the correct one, and is sanctioned by the best informed physicians and surgeons. Ointments, salves and other local applications give only temporary relief.

If you have piles in any form write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets and you will bless the day that you read this. Write today.

E. R. PAGE 430J Page Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

NERVOUS WOMAN COMPLETE WRECK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Indianapolis, Indiana.—"Now I want to tell you just what induced me to take your medicine. It seemed that I had some kind of weakness so that I could not carry a child its full time. The last time I was troubled this way I had a nervous breakdown and was a complete wreck. The doctor thought I would not live, and if I did that I would never be well and strong again. But I told them I was going to get well, that I was not going to die just then. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took six bottles of it. I soon got strong again and had three more children. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound ever since, and if you could see me now you would think I had always been well."—Mrs. MARY F. HERRICK, 234 Detroit St., Indianapolis, Ind.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire reproductive system, so that it may work in every respect effectually as nature intends.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated.

MOTHER, YOUR CHILD'S BOWELS NEED "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Mrs. Rosenbach Needed Money

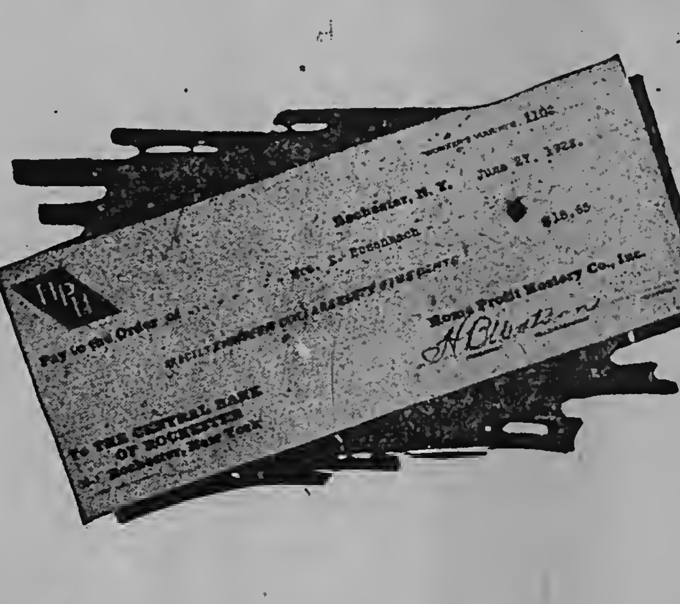
AND HOW SHE TURNED SPARE HALF HOURS INTO $179.62—ALL IN SEVENTEEN WEEKS—AN AVERAGE OF $10.59 A WEEK—AND WITHOUT STEPPING OUT OF THE HOUSE.



Rochester, N. Y. June 27, 1922.

Pay to the Order of Mrs. E. Rosenbach $18.65

Home Profit Hosiery Co., Inc.

To THE CENTRAL BANK OF ROCHESTER Rochester, New York

IT was neither his fault nor hers that the Rosenbachs were so often hard pressed.

Mr. Rosenbach earns good wages. And Mrs. Rosenbach knows how to make every dollar go as far as a dollar possibly can.

But somehow the week's pay was never quite enough.

No matter how carefully she planned and figured, or how carefully she economized, there were always things she had to do without—things she had set her heart on.

But now all that is a thing of the past.

Mrs. Rosenbach doesn't have to make last season's dresses or suits or hats do her another year. She no longer has to mend and remake the children's old clothes instead of buying new ones. If she wants a new rug or a new piece of furniture, or wants to go to a concert or have some other pleasure, she now has a way to provide the necessary money.

What Has Brought This Happy Change?

It is an interesting story. And all the more so because any woman with two hands and a little spare time, and the willingness to use it, may easily straighten out the money problem in the same way that Mrs. Rosenbach solved hers.

THE MASTER KNITTER

The Secret

Here is the whole secret—Mrs. Rosenbach has become one of the many spare time home workers for the Home Profit Hosiery Company.

Whenever she has a little time, Mrs. Rosenbach sits down at the handy little Home Profit Knitter sent to her by the Home Profit Hosiery Company and knits socks—men's, women's or children's.

From the nicely turned heel to the cuff at the top, this wonderful little machine shapes and knits each sock or stocking. Mrs. Rosenbach says it is all so easy—and such a pleasant change from housework—that it seems more like a diversion than work.

Above all, every hour that Mrs. Rosenbach spends at her Home Profit Knitter means extra money for her. She sends the finished hose to the Home Profit Hosiery Company, and gets good pay for every pair she knits in accordance with specifications—all guaranteed in advance.

$10.59 Extra EACH WEEK

Mrs. Rosenbach received her knitter last April. Between then and the last week of August—a period of 17 weeks—she received from the Home Profit Hosiery Company a total of 17 checks, amounting to $179.62.

That is an average of $10.59 per week. Every penny of it earned in spare time—time that would otherwise have been wasted.

Then, too, Mrs. Rosenbach earned this extra money in the privacy of her own home—didn't have to step out of the house. All without interfering with her regular household duties. Started and stopped her knitting just when she felt like it—did as much or as little each day or week as she pleased. At all times absolutely her own boss. No wonder that Mrs. Rosenbach, like so many others, says that this is the ideal way to add to one's income.

Of course, not every woman earns as much as Mrs. Rosenbach does, but, on the other hand, some women have received even larger checks for their socks. It all depends on how anxious you are to earn money and on how rapidly you work and ship the finished socks to us.

Mrs. E. Rosenbach, Brooklyn, Ny

17 Checks in 17 Weeks Altogether $179.62

Here are the exact dates and amounts of the 17 checks sent to Mrs. Rosenbach of Brooklyn, N. Y. for spare-time home work during the 17 weeks from April 25th to August 26th, a total of $179.62, or an average of $10.59 per week.

| | |
|---|---|
| April 25 | $ 9.38 |
| May 8 | 9.05 |
| May 22 | 11.15 |
| June 1 | 11.19 |
| June 8 | 9.11 |
| June 16 | 9.36 |
| June 27 | 18.65 |
| July 10 | 7.50 |
| July 11 | 7.49 |
| July 17 | 9.40 |
| July 20 | 11.29 |
| July 25 | 11.35 |
| Aug. 1 | 9.50 |
| Aug. 8 | 11.29 |
| Aug. 17 | 11.29 |
| Aug. 22 | 11.31 |
| Aug. 26 | 11.31 |
| Total | $179.62 |

More Home Workers Needed

The Home Profit Hosiery Company wants more spare-time home workers like Mrs. Rosenbach—many more.

The demand for genuine home-knit wool hose of the kind so easily fashioned on the Home Profit Knitter is steady—because these hose wear longer, fit better and look better than ordinary factory hose.

The machine itself does both the shaping and the knitting, and our illustrated instruction book explains the operation in a simple and easily understood manner.

The Purchase Price is Guaranteed

We guarantee to buy all the socks and stockings you knit on our machine with our Waskill yarn and to pay you a guaranteed and fixed-in-advance price for every pair. An equivalent amount of yarn for every pair you send us is furnished free.

How much you can earn at this work simply depends on how much time you give it—and that of course rests entirely with you. A few minutes now and then—an hour a day—two hours—just as you find time and have the inclination.

You can count on getting a check from us just as often as you send in hose, whether you knit tw or three dozen pairs a day or onl that many in a week or month How often you receive a check and the size of each check onl depends on your output of sock

If You Have Two Han and a Little Spare Time

Maybe you want more clot for yourself. Maybe somethi for the house. Maybe clothes c other things for the childre Maybe it's some old bills yo have been worrying about. Mayl to help pay for a home. No matter for what purpose you war extra money, here is a pleasant and sure year-round way to ear it. All you need are two hands, a little spare time and one of thes Master Knitters.

Even $2 extra each week means $104 a year. $5 extra each week means $260 a year. $10 extra each week means $520 a year. Think of all the things you can buy—all the pleasure and comforts you might have—with that much additional money.

Let us send you full information about this easy and interesting home work plan that every week and every month is bringing in extra money for so many others—then judge for yourself. Simply sign and mail this coupon. That won't cost you anything or obligate you in any way, yet it can easily mean hundreds of dollars a year to you.

COUPON

Home Profit Hosiery Company, Inc.,
Dept. 69, 872 Hudson Ave., Rochester, N. Y.

Send me full information about making money at home in my spare time with the Home Profit Knitter. I am enclosing 2 cents postage to cover cost of mailing, and I understand that I am not obligated in any way.

NAME ....................................................
STREET ....................................................
CITY.............................. STATE..........................

Write Name and Address Plainly

Home Profit Hosiery Co., Inc.

Dept 69., 872 Hudson Avenue - - - - - - Rochester, N. Y.

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 11. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3501.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, MARCH 15, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

A PROGRAM OF PROGRESS IN THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES.

We, the undersigned officers and appointed leaders in the Mississippi and the North Mississippi Conferences, hereby pledge ourselves to seek the following goals in the work of the church for 1923, and we would urge upon the pastors, officers, and members of every congregation to take counsel together and make definite plans for the attainment of these ends in every local church.

1. We will seek a genuine revival of the work of God throughout the Conferences. Believing that all movements that get anywhere must start somewhere, we pledge ourselves to promote a comprehensive revival campaign in every church, preceded by a careful survey of all adjacent territory, to the end that nobody may be overlooked in the appeal of the church to accept Christ as Savior and enlist in His service.

2. We pledge ourselves further to enlist the pastors, evangelists, and laymen of every district to conduct campaigns of evangelism in all unoccupied territory within the districts, to the end that nobody in Mississippi may be left without the ministry of Methodism and its saving benefits during this year. The call of the church is for our ministers and laymen everywhere to follow the precedents of early Methodism and get beyond the organized channels by breaking some new ground in an aggressive program of evangelism.

3. Believing that every laborer in the vineyard of the Lord, whether at home or abroad, is worthy of a reasonable living for himself and his family, we pledge ourselves to seek the payment in full of all salaries and benevolences in every church in the Mississippi Conferences this year. The assessments levied upon the charges are the minimum of the church's need, and we believe no church should be satisfied to report a deficit on these meager demands. Many churches should exceed the sums that are asked of them, and none should fall below these reasonable requests. The thorough indoctrination of our people in the Bible principles of Christian stewardship cannot fail to lead to this result, with a consequent spiritual enlargement in all our borders. We, therefore, set as our goal for the year level columns of finance from every church in the Conferences, and to this end we will seek to secure pledges to cover all obligations by May 15, with a surplus of 20% to insure their final payment in full.

God is asking a new thing at our hands. No former program is adequate to meet the needs of this day, and we would call upon our people everywhere to enlist in a general and concerted plan of prayer and faith and action to realize these worthy ends.

Bishop in Charge—William N. Ainsworth.

Brookhaven District—H. M. Ellis, Presiding Elder.

Hattiesburg District—W. W. Graves, Presiding Elder.

Jackson District, M. L. Burton, Presiding Elder.

Meridian District—P. D. Hardin, Presiding Elder.

Newton District—J. A. Moore, Presiding Elder.

Seashore District—W. M. Sullivan, Presiding Elder.

Vicksburg District—J. R. Jones, Presiding Elder.

Brookhaven District—J. E. Carruth, Lay Leader.
Hattiesburg District—K. T. Moore, Lay Leader.
Jackson District—O. H. Wingfield, Lay Leader.
Meridian District—S. M. Graham, Lay Leader.
Newton District—W. A. Davenport, Lay Leader.
Seashore District—W. E. Barnes, Lay Leader.
Vicksburg District— — —— ——, Lay Leader.

Lay Leader Mississippi Conference—J. M. Sullivan.

Lay Leader North Mississippi Conference—D. H. Hall.

Aberdeen District—T. H. Dorsey, Presiding Elder.

Columbus District—A. T. McIlwain, Presiding Elder.

Corinth District—J. B. Randolph, Presiding Elder.

Greenville District—J. H. Felts, Presiding Elder.

Greenwood District—S. L. Pope, Presiding Elder.

Grenada District—R. A. Tucker, Presiding Elder.

Sardis District—J. T. Lewis, Presiding Elder.

Aberdeen District—R. H. Furr, Lay Leader.
Columbus District— — —— ———, Lay Leader.
Corinth District—J. G. Houston, Lay Leader.
Greenville District—S. V. Wall, Lay Leader.
Greenwood District— —— —— —, Lay Leader.
Grenada District—L. G. Fant, Lay Leader.
Sardis District—L. L. Minor, Lay Leader.

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

What Makes Lawlessness.

This country needs to do some clear thinking and vigorous speaking in regard to the growing menace of lawlessness. We sometimes speak of the disrespect of the law, but, in some communities at least, the term should be contempt for law. When a statute has meen duly enacted and properly published, it would seem that every loyal citizen should feel himself under obligation to obey it; but in many cases the first thought of some seems to be as to how the provisions of the law can best be ignored and completely set aside. Our system of administering justice has allowed the matter of technicalities so to offset the plain spirit of the law that oftentimes a conviction of crime becomes impossible when there can be absolutely no doubt as to the guilt of the accused; through the same process, delays and postponements are permitted that ultimately completely defeat justice; in some cases those who are chosen to enforce the law seem to think that it lies within their power to say whether or not the law ought to be enforced—their personal opinions have more weight than the oath of office they have taken; in many places there has come to be such an indifference to the enforcement of the law on the part of the public generally that flagrant violations are passed by unnoticed; there are even cases in which it seems that the machinery of justice is in the hands of the criminals themselves—and of course they use it to their own advantage. All these things give encouragement to and make possible a reign of lawlessness. A further effect is that good citizens, seeing the law so defiantly ignored, themselves become so outraged in feeling as to undertake the administration of justice by extra-legal means, and thus the spirit of lawlessness is increased. There should be a revision of our legal system that will bring cases to trial within a reasonable length of time—speedy justice is no less justice because it is speedy; that would make the only question before the court one of innocence or guilt—technicalities ought not to be allowed to defeat justice; that would force officers of the law to do their duty regadless of their own notions of justice; that would compel judges to assess penalties that would at least have a deterrent effect upon those proved to be guilty. We are playing with fire when we allow the administration of justice to become lax—a conflagration may develop that will result in ruin. Justice ought to be tempered with mercy, to be sure, but a maudlin sentimentality is a protector of criminals. God is love, but—"the soul that sinneth, it shall die." The impartial, strict, and speedy enforcement of the law will go a long way toward destroying the spirit of lawlessness that is so rampant to-day.

What They Need.

When we begin to consider the needs of most of the people we know, we ought not to think in terms of the material so much as in terms of the spiritual. People must have food and shelter and clothing—but these are not their greatest need; they need, more than these, companionship and sympathy and spiritual fellowship. We may go into the sickroom of one who is poverty-stricken, and we may imagine that a little money will supply all the requirements of that particular case; not so. A cheerful word, a sympathetic smile, a message that deals simply but lovingly with spiritual verities will do more to ease the burden and relieve the pain than a handful of coin coldly given. People need sympathy, and they must have it if their lives are to be spared the tragedy of disappointment, unhappiness, and sorrow. And the blessed thing about it is that all of us can give what is so much needed.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 20, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matter written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

LISTENING IN.

By Mrs. Ike Lipscomb.

Listening in—how wonderful and grand!
The whole world is now at our command.
From north to south, from east to west,
Sermons, addresses—the very best.
Sweet music is borne on ethereal wing,
For radio makes the world to sing
When we listen in.

Listening in, we can hear the S. O. S.
Of great vessels—their signals of distress;
So relief ships quickly mount the waves
And hundreds rescue from watery graves.
'Tis a wonderful age in which we dwell;
And marvelous things will radio tell
When we listen in.

Listening in, we may hear the Father's voice
As he bids his children to rejoice,
Because to man such power is given
That he almost hears the music of heaven.
God's word broadcasted to you and me
No longer seems a mystery
If we listen in.

God's radio stations along life's way
Send to us messages every day.
Messages of hope and comfort, too,
Telling us to be faithful and true.
Through the storm, which our souls with terror fill,
Can be heard the soft whisper, "Peace, be still,"
If we listen in.

Oxford, Miss.

HOW TO PREPARE A SERMON.

By Rev. H. Walter Featherstun, D.D.

(Substance of a talk made at the request of the Presiding Elder to the Preachers' Institute of the Jackson District.)

First of all, get a subject. Sometimes a text suggests a subject; but it is better to get a subject and then find a text, i. e., what the Bible says about it. It is not always easy to decide just what to preach about; but as clear a knowledge of the congregation as can be gotten and a little talk with God will settle that matter.

Then a text must be selected. The text should, as exactly as possible, express the theme or subject. Fantastic themes and fantastic texts have no place in a Christian pulpit. The business of the preacher is not a fantastic business.

The text must be "made plain" to the people. The exact sense intended by the Divine Author is the only sense that any honest preacher dares to give to any text. The exact sense is not always easily found; but there are facilities within the reach of us all for finding the real sense of almost any text. Preachers sometimes fail to get the sense by overlooking the connection. A young preacher dealing with the ineffable glories of heaven, had for his text I Cor. ii.9: "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." I said to him: "Your sermon was true and good; but your text did not fit." He wanted me to explain, and I did: "If you had read on, you would have seen that Paul had no thought of heaven when he wrote those words; but he was telling of the glories which the Christian era had brought; for he goes on thus: 'But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit.'" Time and again have I heard John xvi.8. thus quoted: "And he (the Spirit) when he is come will convict the world in respect of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment to come." The words "to come," are not there and do not belong there, and falsify our Lord's meaning. Read verse 11: "of judgment because the prince of this world hath been judged." A past and not a future judgment was in Christ's mind. Let us be very careful to study the connections of our texts.

Among the last words before his Ascension that fell from the lips of our Christ were these: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel." Preach the Gospel! The word Gospel is an old English word that means good news. When Paul wrote in Romans 1:16, "I am not ashamed of the Gospel," he did not say "of Christ." Somebody after Paul's day put in that phrase. It is not found in the oldest and truest MSS. Oh, yes, it is perfectly accurate—it is verily "the Gospel of Christ." But Paul did not think it necessary to say so. In his thought nothing else in the world was comparable to it—he really knew no other "good news." The Christians at Rome thought as he did and thoroughly understood him. To "preach the Gospel" is to tell to hungry-hearted humanity the grandest, sweetest, tenderest, holiest, most joyous "good news" earth ever heard. Our supreme commission is to preach this "good news." The man who would deal in twaddle and so-called science and paltry questions a la "modernity" miscalled, about the dreamed-of uncertainties of the authorship of the Pentateuch and the authenticity of Daniel and such like stuff, in the pulpit, instead of this sublime Christ-given "good news," is, to say the least, insane or densely ignorant.

GOLDEN CROSS SOCIETY.

Shreveport, La., March 1, 1923.

To the Pastors and Members of the Louisiana Conference.

Dear Brethren: At the last session of the General Conference in Hot Springs, Arkansas, the Conference took action establishing a General Hospital Board whose duty it was to study the hospital situation in the church, to provide literature, and to devise plans for the promotion of hospital enterprises and to assist in building and financing hospitals in the Conference communities throughout our connection.

This Hospital Board has been duly chartered under the laws of the State of Georgia, and its office has been established in Room 416, Wesley Memorial Building, Atlanta, Ga. Bishop W. A. Candler is the President; Rev. C. C. Selectman, D.D., Secretary, and Mr. Walker White is the Treasurer. The matter was presented at our last Annual Conference and the Conference adopted the general provisions for the creation of the hospital idea and elected an Annual Conference Board, which is to function in this Conference under the advisement of the General Conference Board.

That the Conference and General Boards may proceed to some definite action, the General Conference provided that there shall be organized in each charge of our connection a Golden Cross Society, to be based on the plan of Annual Memberships as operated by the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and other kindred organizations, for the purpose of interesting the entire membership of our church in the work of building and sustaining hospitals and in raising funds annually under the direction of the General Board.

It is authorized that any one desiring to aid needy and suffering humanity may become a member of the Golden Cross Society by the payment of $1.00 per year. Also their children under fourteen years of age may enroll as Junior Members by the payment of 25 cents per year. Then a further membership is provided under six different classifications:

| | |
|---|---|
| A Supporting Membership...... $ | 10.00 per year |
| A Sustaining Membership ...... | 25.00 per year |
| A Service Membership ....... | 50.00 per year |
| A Life Membership ........... | 100.00 per year |
| A Life Patron Membership..... | 500.00 per year |
| A Knight of the Golden Cross.. | 10,000.00 per year |

It is further provided that 80% of the funds accruing from membership fees shall be used for the erection, endowment, or support of hospitals having connection with patronizing Annual Conferences introduced by the General Hospital Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and that 20% of the funds shall be paid into the General Hospital Board.

And now comes a letter from Bishop W. A. Candler, President of the General Hospital Board, stating that the week preceding and including Easter has been set apart by said Board for a campaign of enrolling members in the Golden Cross Society; and, furthermore, that each pastor can secure literature and directions about how to organize this movement in his charge by writing to the General Hospital Board of the M. E. Church, South, Room 416, Wesley Memorial Building, Atlanta, Ga. Therefore, as President of the Conference Board, I am taking this means of saying to the pastors of the different charges of our church in this Conference that you at once order such literature and such number of Golden Cross enrollment cards, if you do not already have enough, as you may need for the introduction of this movement in your charge and the enrollment of your people in the Golden Cross Society.

This is a long needed movement in our church connection. Too long we have been neglectful of the sick in our church, and have depended upon others, and largely upon the Roman Catholics, to do the work that we ought to have been doing. Now that we have awakened to the situation and the deed, let's arise as one man and enroll our whole membership in this organization. We have in our whole connection more than two million, five hundred thousand members, and if even so many as half of them should enroll in the Golden Cross Society, the General Hospital Board could soon put a Methodist hospital at every point in the South where one ought to be.

We have in this Conference fifty thousand members. If each of these should enroll under the general membership provision and pay $1.00 each, it would net us $50,000.00. And if there should be, as there is certain to be, a great number of our people who will enroll under the other classifications of membership, this Conference alone can raise for this movement well on to one hundred thousand dollars the first year, 80% of which will go as a very nice nucleus around which to begin the Methodist hospital movement in our own Conference.

My brethren, let us take this to our hearts and at once proceed to a faithful performance of our duty, not only to the church, but to suffering humanity. Those pastors living in the Monroe, Ruston, Alexandria and Shreveport Districts will make their reports to Rev. A. J. Gearheard, at Haynesville, La.; and those living in the Lake Charles, New Orleans and Baton Rouge Districts will make their report to the Rev. L. I. McCain, at Lafayette, La.

I am praying that this movement will set our hearts on fire and that our Conference will have a great enrollment during the Easter-time. No better time in the year could have been chosen than this resurrection time of our Lord and Christ. Let us, therefore, arise from our lethargy and indifference to the needs of the sick of our land and move forward toward the establishment of hospitals within our country that will help us to act out in practical sympathy what we have so long preached in theory.

Very sincerely yours,
HENRY FELGAR BROOKS,
President of the Conference Hospital Board.
Shreveport, La.

REPORT OF FINDINGS COMMITTEE, EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION, M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH.

1. It is the conviction of the Association that the year that is past has been in a general way the most fruitful year in the educational history of Southern Methodism. In the face of unfavorable financial conditions, the student bodies have increased in numbers beyond the record of any previous year, and in the midst of a world of dimmed faith and vanished ideals, our institutions have been strong in faith and bright with ideals, and our young men and women have never been so responsive to what is best in life and religion.

2. The year registers, we believe, extraordinary progress in the organization and practical work of the departments of Religious Education. These departments are really beginning to find themselves in not only teaching the meaning of religion, but also in transforming the lives of our students, developing them in character, and in training them in methods of practical service.

3. We are gratified to record a year that has been characterized by unusually fruitful evangelistic services. It is our experience that hardly another year in the history of our institutions has shown such significant results in respect to the permanent influence of the services which have been held. If the church at large were aware in its reality of the nature and extent of this influence, it would get a new conception of the supreme importance of its institutions.

4. We have never seen our students more open to the call of God to service, more ready to answer the call, and more solemnly resolved to accept the responsibility of training themselves adequately for it. The quality and number of these young people, the fact that their fields of service cover every activity and need of the church, are profoundly significant and inspiring as we look ahead to the church of to-morrow.

5. It is our carefully considered judgment that the spiritual atmosphere and ideals of our institutions were never more wholesome, that trustees, faculties and students never before have had such a clear understanding of the meaning of Christian education and of the need of present conditions for the application of its principles, and never have they shown a stronger sense of loyalty to it. While within the institutions there is the unshaken determination to make them what they should be in the fundamental matter of scholarship and intellectual standards, yet there is also the determination, stronger, if possible, to apply religious values to the great process of education, and thus keep faith with the purpose of the church in maintaining institutions of learning.

6. We, therefore, call upon the church to which we belong and which we are trying to serve also to keep faith—to keep faith with the five objectives of the Christian Education Movement to which it has pledged itself by General Conference enactments, by Annual Conference acceptances, and by individual subscriptions amounting to approximately $20,000,000. The institutions of the church are endeavoring with all the resources at their command, material and human, to carry out the spiritual objectives of the Christian Education Movement program. But the spiritual results in their fullness wait upon the church's meeting its obligation to the financial part of the program. Our institutions were never so crowded with eager youth, the need of the world for the type of Christian leadership we might train them for never so tragically acute, but the need cannot be met unless the church now furnishes the means to enable our institutions to do what we believe they are divinely called to do—particularly at this time. Any failure on the part of the membership of the church to meet its pledges in money would constitute not only a financial delinquency of the most depressing sort, but a spiritual delinquency that would bring to us a humiliating loss of self-respect and paralyze for a generation the progress of the church and its institutions. The Centenary is in a sense behind us, with its marvelous achievements, in which we all have been glad and proud to have a share. From 1923 the educational forces of the church have the first word, and this word must be clear and vital with a sense of the service of our institutions and the spiritual obligations of the church to widen and deepen this service by furnishing the financial means to which it has so solemnly pledged itself.

THE PREACHERS' INSTITUTE AND CENTENARY SET-UP MEETING OF THE HATTIESBURG DISTRICT.

The Preachers' Institute of the Hattiesburg District met in Main St. Methodist Church, Hattiesburg, Feb. 28, at 2:30 o'clock. There were two sessions of the Institute, afternoon and evening, during which time the interesting and helpful program which had been carefully and prayerfully planned by the so much interested presiding elder, Rev. W. W. Graves, was carefully carried out. The main topics were: "The Preacher Himself;" "Some Things that Hurt the Preacher;" "The Preacher's Pastoral Relations;" "How to Prepare for and Conduct a Revival;" "The Preacher's Relation to the Finances of the Church." Many sub-topics under each head made it very helpful and inspiring.

One of the outstanding features of this Institute was that all the pastors of the District were present except three. Most of the preachers had something to say under some one or more topics, which showed that it was a very helpful as well as interesting meeting.

The Centenary Set-up Meeting followed the next day, March 1, at 9 o'clock a. m., with a program outlining discussions as follows: "Indifference," by Rev. J. B. Cain; "Other Church Obligations," by Rev. C. M. Crossley; "Sacrifice," by Rev. W. M. Williams; General address, by W. D. Hawkins, our most efficient Missionary Centenary Secretary and Treasurer of this Conference.

In the afternoon we had: "The Pastor's Part," discussed by Rev. J. T. Leggett; "The Lay Leader's Part," by Mr. K. T. Moore; "The Woman's Missionary Society's Part," by Mrs. H. L. McClesky: "The Epworth League's Part," by Mr. Harrell, District Secretary of Epworth Leagues; "The Sunday School's Part," by Rev. J. C. Chambers, Sunday School Field Secretary of the Mississippi Conference.

After the program was fully carried out and a brief discussion as to what we would do about this all-important work of the church, it was unanimously decided that every pastor and layman go back to his place of work and stress this work in every way and, in his own good way, after carefully and prayerfully considering it, adopt his best working plan to collect the pledges, and that the second Sunday in April be recognized as Centenary Day, and on that day have a service in every church and gather the fragments on that day and report immediately. It is also suggested that collection of pledges be taken at that time. Gather the fragments in the afternoon with your team workers.

These meetings were very helpful and a good working spirit was manifested.

Rev. J. T. Leggett, the pastor, proved himself a splendid co-worker with the presiding elder in holding the preachers together and sticking through to the end, notwithstanding the fact that his daughter was to be married a few minutes after the close of this splendid program.

H. R. McKEE, Secretary.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

The Christian conception of business teaches that the mere piling up of millions is not the highest goal in business, but that the supreme purpose of any business should be to render a service equal to the price charged for it, and that the business man who aspires to win the highest recognition for success and God's blessing must distinguish himself not in the magnitude of his profits, but the value of the real service performed in the name of the Master.

This Christian conception is coming to be recognized among some modern business leaders. It shows that the rolling up of a gigantic fortune no longer is accepted as success unless the process has been accompanied by service of commensurate value to mankind. The highest kind of service is found in perpetuating Christian education. We are looking for our people who have made a financial success to turn some of their money towards Centenary and Mansfield Colleges. Here is the place for a memorial that will be cumulative through the future ages. Look at the magnificent gift of Major Millsaps, who gave half a million dollars to the cause of Christian education. What a blessing has this been to our church and the whole South!

Millsaps College will always weave garlands of glory around the memory of this great and good man. His whole life was devoted to working out his ideal of service to humanity. He still lives immortally in the Christian influence going out from the institution bearing his name. Let us have others who will follow his footsteps and upon whom the mantle of this good man will fall.

James J. Hill died very rich; yet, who will deny that he did a gigantic work in the development of the United States and in making millions of blades of grass and stalks of wheat grow where none grew before? He said: "The Christian college is the hope of America. Character is essential to statesmanship, and these colleges are vital factors in the development of sterling character."

Things are booming now. Good times are at hand. This young, vigorous and fertile land of America, with its unlimited resources, agricultural, mineral, commercial and financial, is destined to save the world out of its chaos. For this we need leaders. We will find them among the youth of our colleges to-day. Why not invest in them and so take part in the good days to come? Follow recent developments in the world field with a keen, scrutinizing, analytical eye and learn your duty. Our church is preparing the way for this new era with the Centenary of Missions, and it is necessary to follow up this program with the Christian Education Movement in order to get the right kind of workers in the field.

During the month of February we collected $5,738.37 for Christian education. During the month of March we ought to be able to collect twice this much, as it is one of the best months of the year. We will be glad for every collector to send in a report before March 25. Let those who have pledged hunt up the collector and pay their pledge up to date. The sooner the better.

ALBERT S. LUTZ,
Conference Secretary of Education.

SALIENT SAYINGS.

By Walt Holcomb.

As I am a preacher, I must have a text. A text is a preacher's self-starter. A self-stopper hasn't been discovered yet.

"Be sure your sin will find you out." Sin is a traitor. It prompted Judas to betray Christ with a kiss and, before Jesus could forgive him, it haunted, hounded, and hurried him to the hangman's noose and sent him to "the potter's field."

I do not care to know everything you know about everybody in town; but I would like to know what you know on yourself that hasn't got out yet.

Just being a church member does not make any difference, if you are a sinner.

There is no difference in a man who sins on the inside of the church, and a man who sins on the outside of the church.

Some people, if they like a preacher, will support him; if they do not like him, they will deport him.

A sinner will be no more concerned about his soul than a Christian is for his soul.

Next to a wife, I think an automobile is the greatest institution in this country—and very much like a wife when it gets out of fix; you have no idea what is the matter with it. You don't know whether you had a blow-out or a puncture.

Cartersville, Ga.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Lake Charles District.

The second round of quarterly conferences began with the Zwolle charge, at Noble. The pastor, Rev. W. F. Henderson, Jr., was too ill to attend. Am glad to report his recovery and return to work. He will begin a meeting at Zwolle soon, assisted by Rev. J. W. Pearson, our pastor at Mansfield.

* * *

The work at Many and Robeline is moving forward under the guidance of Rev. J. A. McCormack.

* * *

We preached to large congregations at Peason last Sunday morning and evening. Rev. A. E. Barrett serves this, the largest circuit in the district.

* * *

Rev. L. N. Hoffpauir at Leesville, and Rev. Claude Mayo at Neame stand in high favor with the good people whom they serve.

* * *

Rev. H. T. Young, DeRidder, has closed a fine meeting, resulting in 66 additions to the church. This brings the number of members received this year to more than 100.

* * *

Rev. R. M. Brown, assisted by Rev. L. I. McCain and Rev. Charlie Morris is holding a meeting at Merryville.

* * *

Rev. P. O. Lowrey, in reporting from Indian Bayou, states that 36 subscribers to the N. O. Advocate and 17 to the Nashville put his work from near the bottom to near the top in the list of subscribers. Brother Lowrey is pushing every interest of the church.

* * *

It would take too much of your time and space, Brother Carley, to give in detail all the work that is being done by the pastors, laymen and women on the district.

We are in the midst of Centenary collections, praying that every worker and subscriber will be true to their pledges and do the right thing, that the great work may go forward as it should.

The District Conference will be held in New Iberia, April 18-20, at which time the 100th anniversary of the organization of our church at that place will be celebrated. We hope to have you with us.

J. B. WILLIAMS, P. E.

Monroe District.

The general tone of the work over the District is very good. All of the pastors are enthusiastically engaged in labors looking forward to the upbuilding of the Kingdom. The people are responding loyally to the call of their spiritual leaders, and I believe with such whole-hearted cooperation we are going to have some real good results.

* * *

Since our last report we held a Centenary Setup meeting at Rayville. Considering the awful condition of all the roads, the attendance was good, the spirit fine, and we are expecting good things. Rev. O. W. Bradley, of Alexandria, delivered a fine address relative to the Centenary. He made a good impression. The expression of the laymen proved that they were not expecting to do anything but their full duty in this great work.

* * *

First Church, Monroe, was signally blessed by a series of sermons delivered by Rev. H. C. Morrison, D.D. The attendance was very fine—at times the church was taxed to its utmost capacity. The sermons were of a very high type, and good impressions were made. Brother Freeman is in high favor with his people. Seventy-five members have been added to the church since Conference. Rev. J. L. Evans, of West Monroe, did effective work as song leader during the revival.

* * *

Winnsboro church, under the efficient leadership of Rev. J. M. Alford, is progressing nicely. The salary for the work has been placed at $2,500, an increase of $300. The country appointments are being well cared for, and if the Winnsboro congregation had an adequate building we would see real progress. They have an active Woman's Missionary Society. In a recent membership campaign 45 new members were added. Enthusiasm prevails in this charge.

* * *

The Eros charge is making good progress—a fine Sunday school, an active Missionary Society, a willing people; a good pastor (Rev. W. H. Young). Where such such things exist, the Kingdom will not suffer.

* * *

Rev. G. A. Morgan has the work well in hand at Bastrop. We are sorely in need of a new building at this place. The building is not adequate for the needs of the congregation. At a recent Sunday it was necessary to hold Sunday school classes under the trees. There is a very fine class of men and women in the school, under the leadership of Hon. J. T. Shell. At the quarterly conference a discussion relative to a new church was held, and I believe that it will not be long before this will be brought to pass, and then we can look for good things to come from Bastrop.

* * *

Lake Providence and her spiritual interests are being cared for by Rev. T. J. Warlick. A good congregation attend the services. The salary was increased $300 over last year. We have a very fine plant at this point.

* * *

Rev. J. D. Nesom is faithfully looking after the church on the Mangham charge. He serves a loyal people, who are always ready to respond to the call of the church.

* * *

At this writing Monroe is flooded with a representative gathering of women from all sections of the State, in attendance upon the annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Societies. Monroe is doing herself proud in lavish hospitality, and the conference is bringing real good things. After this conference there should be an awakening in every church along missionary lines.

W. D. KLEINSCHMIDT, P. E.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Columbus District.

The Preachers' Meeting at West Point, Jan. 30-31, was pronounced by all who attended as a great success. I feel that we will think of this as the most successful meeting of its kind we have attended for many years. All the preachers of the District were present, except three, and sickness kept them away. Following Bishop Ainsworth's suggestion, the meeting was entirely informal—no set speeches were made. The preachers were called on to discuss such subjects as we felt were of vital importance to the preachers' own life as well as the work of the church. All responded and discussed these subjects as ably as if they had been notified in advance. There being no subjects assigned in advance, all felt free to enter the discussions, which added much to the interest of the meeting.

The last session of the meeting, Wednesday afternoon, the 31, was given over to the laymen of the district, with Dr. N. D. Guerry, District Lay Leader, in the chair. The following laymen made strong addresses: J. H. McKinnon, Dr. H. H. Ellis, and Hon., W. W. Magruder. Short talks were made by other leading laymen of the District. Brother Lipscomb and his good people furnished entertainment for all who attended, and their gracious hospitality added much to the pleasure of the meeting.

* * *

Our District Standard Training School will be held at Starkville, March 26-31. Brother Gladney and the Board have secured a strong team of instructors for this school, and no one interested in Sunday school work can afford to miss it if at all possible to attend. The School is for pastors, teachers, superintendents and all Sunday school workers. Dr. Howard, of Emory University, will give a course in Bible study, and Dr. Bowen, of them are as follows: Methodists, $130,730,479; ligious Education." Other courses will be given by strong instructors. Get in touch with Brother Gladney, determine which course you wish to take, and enroll for that course. Starkville will furnish entertainment for all who attend, and Brother Woollard is anxious to know just how many to arrange for. If you expect to attend, see your pastor at once and have him send in your name.

* * *

We have fixed April 1-8 as a time to make a thorough canvass of all Centenary pledges. To make this campaign more effective, we have divided the District into five groups and appointed a leader for each group. The charges of the District have been grouped and group leaders appointed as follows: Group No. 1: S. H. Caffey, leader; Shuqualak, Macon, Brooksville, Macon circuit, and Mashulavilla. Group No. 2: E. S. Lewis leader; Columbus, First, Columbus, Central, Caledonia, Artesia, and Crawford. Group No. 3: W. W. Woollard, leader; Mayhew and Sessums, West Point, Cedar Bluff, Starkville, and Sturgis. Group No. 4: J. W. Dorman, leader; Noxapater, Louisville, High Point, Ackerman and Wier, Chester. Group No. 5: Olin Ray, leader; Kosciusko station, Kosciusko circuit, Ethel and McCool. These group leaders and the presiding elder met at Starkville Thursday, March 1, to discuss further plans for the campaign. It was decided to put an outside speaker in every pulpit on the fourth Sunday in March. To do this it may be necessary to exchange a number of our pastors.

* * *

Since our last report we have finished our first round of quarterly conferences. We have held the following since our last report: Artesia: This is Brother Young's third year, and he is getting a good start. We found the church well organized and moving along nicely. It was the pleasure of the writer to attend a meeting of the Epworth League at Artesia a few weeks ago, and it was an inspiring service. To watch and listen to those fine boys and girls while they rendered such an impressive service was inspiring and reminded us that all our young people are not "going to the bad," as we so often hear it said. This service reminded the writer that in this same church, many years ago, he tried to conduct his first public service as president of the Epworth League. There is no better organization in our church for developing our young people into leaders than the Epworth League.

* * *

Ackerman and Wier: This charge was composed of three churches last year, Ackerman, Wier and Salem. But our wide-awake church at Wier decided they must have more time, so they asked for two Sundays this year. Salem carried an assessment of $300 for P. C., and Ackerman and Wier make this up in their present assessment. This is one of the most delightful charges in the District. The people say Brother Storment improves with age. To mention that these two churches have five mid-week prayer meetings, three at Ackerman and two at Wier, is all that needs to be said for the spiritual state of that charge. The spiritual state of the charge is running at high tide. Everything well organized and moving along well.

* * *

Brooksville: One of the best organized churches in the District—the only church in the District that really works the budget plan in handling their finances. They collect monthly and credit a certain portion to benevolences each month. They are never troubled with the annual "tug" just before Conference. They have paid 80% on the Centenary and everything else is up to date. Preacher and people seem to be happy and prospects are bright for a great year.

* * *

Ethel: Conference well attended and bright prospects for a good year. Brother Ellis has four churches and six Sunday schools. Who can beat that for a Sunday school record? Parsonage debt paid since Conference. Their nice, new parsonage is now out of debt and in good repair. A movement is now on foot to add another room and change the plan of the house sometime during the year.

* * *

McCool: This charge has been very materially strengthened by adding another strong church—Salem, from Ackerman and Wier. The weather was very unfavorable, yet we had a good attendance on the part of the officials. Salem had a full delegation present. Brother Ray is in high favor with his people, and prospects are good for a fine year's work. Salem is planning to build Sunday school rooms.

* * *

Mayhew and Sessums: Good attendance. fine interest. Financial report good. Brother James has made a fine impression and things are bright for a good year.

* * *

Starkville: We found that Brother Woollard had a fine grip on the entire situation and everything moving along smoothly. Plans are rapidly shaping for a new church to cost $75,000 to $100,000. This is one of our strongest and most important charges.

* * *

Sturgis: Weather very unfavorable, attendance small. Brother Lawson has been very much handicapped with sickness since Conference, but is much improved and we hope will soon be entirely well. He is very popular among his people, and prospects are bright for another good year on the charge.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

BAPTIST PRESUMPTION.

By. Rev. John W. Ramsey.

Some time ago a writer in the Baptist Record, published at Jackson, Miss., declared that it is the purpose of the Baptist church to make Mississippi a Baptist empire, and now a section or group of Texas Baptists announce to the world that they expect to place a Baptist crown upon Jesus Christ. If this is not denominational bigotry and presumption "gone to seed," the writer does not know what bigotry and presumption are. Indeed, it is not only bigotry and presumption, but the Baptist declaration that they expect to place a Baptist crown upon Jesus Christ is nothing short of sacrilege.

Apropos of their making Mississippi a Baptist, empire, the Baptists are publishing to the world through the Mississippi press that they now have a membership of 650,000 in the State, and if this be true they are making considerable progress toward the achievement of their expressed purpose; but, if the statistics of other churches, which I have recently secured directly from the authorized representatives of those churches, are even approximately correct, the Baptist claim of a membership in this State of 650,000 will not stand the light of investigation.

As a matter of experiment, suppose we examine the figures somewhat and see what becomes of the Baptist claim. To begin with, leaving out of the calculation the membership of all other churches, the Methodist bodies alone in Mississippi have a membership of 264,204. Now, theso 264,204 Methodist people in the State are distributed among the various branches of Methodism as follows: Methodist Episcopal Church, South, 140,000; Colored Methodist Episcopal Church, 45,825; Methodist Episcopal Church, 44,848; American Methodist Episcopal Church, 25,000; American Methodist Episcopal Zion Church, 11,869; Methodist Protestant Church, 4,622; Congregational Methodist Church, 2,000. Adding these figures together, we have a grand total of 264,204 Methodists in Mississippi.

The population of Mississippi is 1,780,000. The Baptists claim a membership of 650,000. They claim a white membership of 200,000, the remainder, 450,000, are negroes. The population of 1,780,000, less 650,000, leaves a remainder of 1,130,000 to compose the membership of all other denominations in Mississippi—Methodists, Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Catholics and various other smaller bodies— provided, of course, the entire population of Mississippi are members of some church; but, as it happens, only 42 per cent of the population belong to the church, and 42 per cent of 1,780,000, the State's population, is 747,600. Now, deducting 650,000, the membership claimed by the Baptists, from 747,600, or 42 per cent of the population, we have a remainder of 97,600 for the combined membership of all the churches, other than the Baptist. Now, if it be recalled that there are 264,204 Methodists in the State, leaving out of the consideration the Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Catholics and many other smaller denominations, the Baptist claim will be seen to be impossible; because, after the Baptists have, according to their estimate, taken 650,000 out of 747,600 people of the State who belong to the church there are left only 97,600 for all other churches: the number being very far short of 264,204, which, I claim, is the membership of the Methodist Church. The claim, therefore, of the Baptist church is absurd on the very face of it. If it be true that all the churches of the State, exclusive of the Baptists, during all these years have succeeded in receiving only 97,600 members while the Baptists have gathered into their fold 650,000, I submit that the rest of us would do better to go out of business, turn the State over to the Baptists and let them carry out their expressed purpose of making Mississippi a Baptist empire. However, it is not true that there are only 97,600 people belonging to all other churches, since Methodism alone numbers 264,204 in the State. Now, in the face of these figures, what becomes of the Baptist claim?

Candidly, I am of the opinion that our Baptist friends are given much these days to much horn blowing, not to say the perversion of facts and the truth. As an illustration of the latter, I recall that on one occasion a Baptist minister, who had a "D.D" attached to his name, while conducting a funeral service of a child, in the presence of death, made a vicious assault upon infant baptism. In his funeral address, he stated that infant baptism grew out of the erroneous doctrine of baptismal regeneration. Now, any one who knows anything of the historical development of church doctrine will recognize the above statement not only as a perversion of the truth, but also as a direct reversal of the facts of church history—the truth being that the denial of infant baptism grew out of the doctrine of baptismal regeneration. If any people can thus juggle with the truth of history, are they not also capable of juggling with such a small thing as figures? But with all their manipulation of figures, I do not understand how they can claim 650,000 membership in this State unless in their eagerness to place a Baptist crown upon Jesus Christ and in their unholy ambition to make Mississippi a Baptist empire, they have fallen upon the expedient of counting the noses of dead Baptists.

Placing a Baptist crown upon Jesus Christ! Such sacrilege! Going to make Mississippi a Baptist empire, are they? Such presumption! Well, they have set for themselves a tremendous task; nay, an impossible one. They will either first have to destroy, absorb or banish from the State 264,204 Methodists and thousands of Presbyterians, Episcopalians, Catholics and others; or else they will have to wait till these thousands of members of other churches are dead, before they will ever see the realization of their purpose of placing a Baptist crown upon Jesus Christ and setting him upon the throne of a Baptist empire in Mississippi. Provided, of course, that they do not become so skillful in the manipulation of figures and so successful in the enumeration of dead Baptists that they count the rest of us out of the race.

While the Baptists are blowing their own horn so loud and long, I suppose I shall be granted the privilege of blowing a few blasts upon the Methodist horn—so here goes. In the Literary Digest for Nov. 4, 1922, under the title, "The Church's Weekly Mite," there are given the various amounts of money contributed by all the many denominations of the United States. Taking the four leading denominations in the order in which they are in the Literary Digest, the amounts contributed by them are as follows: Methodists, $130,730,179, Catholics, $75,368,234; Baptists, $60,798,534; Presbyterians, $46,384,170. These figures show that the Methodist Church leads all the other churches in the amount contributed toward the furtherance of the interest of the kingdom of Jesus Christ. Now, if you will place all the money contributed by the Methodists and all the money contributed by the Baptists in a separate money bag, setting the Baptist money bag beside the Methodist money bag, you will see that the Methodist money bag is much more than twice as large as the Baptist money bag. In the list to which I have referred, the Literary Digest gives the Baptist church the third place and allots the first place to the Methodist Church—thus setting the Methodist Church in the lead of all the churches of the United States.

In closing, let me say that it is no part of the purpose of Methodism to push any of the Lord's people out of Mississippi and put a Methodist crown upon Jesus Christ; but it is her holy ambition to help all the churches to take the world for Christ. John Wesley said, "The world is my parish," and world-wide is the mission of Methodism. So successful has she been in the achievement of that mission that to-day her standard has been planted upon every continent and her victorious banners are waving in the breezes blowing from the isles of the sea—the sun never sets on her dominions! Methodism, despite the claims of the Baptists, is to-day both financially and numerically the strongest church not only in the United States, but also in the world, and is doing more than any other church for the evangelization of the nations of the earth! Her Lord has approved her work and crowned her with glorious achievements!

---

If you will, let Him walk with you in your streets, and sit with you in your homes, and teach you in your churches, and abide with you as the living Presence in your hearts, you, too, shall know what freedom is, and while you do your duties, be above your duties; and while you own yourselves the sons of men, know you are the sons of God.—Phillips Brooks.

---

O Christ, I am helpless to live the true life. I now hand myself over to thee. Live thou in me; and living in me, win for me the complete victory every day.—Selected.

STUDY MISSIONS!

What has he contributed to America?

ARE WE FAIR WITH THE NEGRO

1. In our thinking about him?
2. In our business dealings with him?
3. In giving him opportunity to develop?
4. In helping him to live comfortably?
5. In securing protection?
6. In respecting his rights?

ORGANIZE A MISSION STUDY CLASS
Study "The Trend of the Races"

DEPARTMENT OF MISSIONARY WORK
THE EPWORTH LEAGUE
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

"IT IS THUS RECORDED."

By Bishop H. M. DuBose.

The discovery of Luxor, in Egypt, of the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen, with its stupendously rich store of bejeweled furniture, personal belongings, and embalmed food, is of surpassing interest aside from its archaeological value. It teaches the folly of materialism in faith and practice. King Tut-Ankh-Amen verily believed that in the house beyond the grave he should need his rich furniture, his kingly apparel, and his stores of embalmed food. His pagan faith told him that after a sleep of a thousand years his spirit should awake to immortality and claim the supplies which in life he had laid up in his mausoleum. But three thousand five hundred years have passed, and the death largess of Tut-Ankh-Amen is being contended for by the museums of Egypt, England, and America. Such is the unction of materialism, however laid to the soul.

The story of King Tut-Ankh-Amen and his sepulchral horde stands in strong contrast with the faith of the Christian disciple, and especially with the ideals of the wholly consecrated preacher of the cross. The theology of his disposition of his personal self is not only, "We brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we can carry nothing out," but his whole faith swings toward the inheritance "incorruptible and undefiled" in the heavens.

This has always been the ideal of the consecrated Christian ministry. St. Paul effectively set the standard in the first century, and those of his successors who coveted princely titles and the accessories of luxurious wealth made shipwreck of the faith, and that in a way that affected the ages of history. Not only the sins of simony, indulgences, commercialized prayer, and ritual peculations lie along this path, but a secret coveteousness which becomes idolatry in the final assets of life. The ministry of Jesus Christ was no time to lay up treasures this side the minting house of God, and its members must sleep at last in tombs of eathern plainness supplied—how often!—as was that of their Lord, from the bounty of those to whom they ministered in life.

This is a view of the ministry of Jesus Christ taken from the material side as it is. Indeed, it is a view which visualizes the ministry as it must remain if the gospel is to continue to run and be glorified in the salvation of men. Secular weights and the accidents of material fortunes are incompatible with a spiritual and soul-devoted ministry. Nor is there distinction of line of cleavage as between the members of the calling. The ministry must be a unit in regimen and devotion. The celibates and poverty-sworn monks of the Romish Church were the serfs of the "princess" of that Church, who rolled in luxury and fattened on "Peter's pence," and both became the ministers of Satan at last. The necessity of abjuring in the ministry coveteousness and wealth gathering is little, if any, short of the need of chastity in womanhood. This is a hard rule, but judgment which has moved through the Christian centuries is at the door. The Church must demand such a ministry; it must provide for such a ministry.

To save its ministry from the itching palm of cheap coveteousness, to deliver it from the sense of mendicancy and those cramping conditions which lessen its power of spiritual service—in a word, to maintain it unfettered and free, the Church must fulfill its part of the obligation expressed in the rule: "The workman is worthy of his hire."

In terms of severe plainness this means that the Church should provide for its ministers during the years of their active pastoral service a salary sufficient to meet the material, intellectual, and social needs of themselves, and their families and should supply the requirements of their infirmity and age and also of the dependent ones left on their hands. No other investment made by the Church can possibly yield the returns which come of contributions to the fund for its superannuated ministry.

The ideal of the ministry sketched above is not only necessary to the spirituality of the Church, but is also a guarantee of material prosperity. The coffers of the Church may for a time overflow under a worldly message delivered from the pulpit and a vaccilating life in the pastorage, but this order cannot long endure. On this matter let there be great searchings of the heart in Israel.

An itinerate ministry is necessary to the largest success of the gospel. The evangel began under such an order. "They went everywhere preaching the gospel." Such a ministry fits into the constitution of things. "How shall they hear, except they have a preacher? and how shall he preach, except he be sent?" God moves on the world through the ministry of his Church. "How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of them that bring good tidings!" The pageantry of prophecy is the commonplace of the commission of the Christian ministry. The prophets were sent as heralds on the wide outposts of a preparing dispensation. To-day village vies with village as city answers to city in the messages of men who are sent. The itinerant is the pioneer of the kingdom of God. John Wycliffe, "the morning star of the Reformation," employed itinerants in England. John Wesley logically, if not consciously, followed the example of the illustrious reformer in sending out his "brown-bread preachers." To modern Christianity the English revival gave not only a spiritual watchword in the doctrine of the witness of the Spirit, but it also furnished in the itinerancy of the Wesleyan movement a working plan which has been of unparalleled efficiency.

Now, this itinerancy must remain untrammeled. It must not become entangled with worldly concerns; it must, as far as possible, be delivered from the temptation of risking such entanaglement. The efficiency of the Roman soldier was gauged by the minimum of his impedimenta. Personal initiative, celerity, and the short spear half won for Rome the mastery of the world. The morale of the ministry is in unworldliness and spiritual power. A record of early American Methodism was that the members of the Asburian Conference were men "dead to the pride and concern of the world." An earlier set standard runs to the same end: "He that warreth entangleth not himself."

The kingdom of God is in the hands of its ministry; the ministry is in the hands of his Church.

---

Send all gifts and contributions to the Board of Finance, Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

The Home Circle

THE MOON AND THE SANDMAN.

When I go to bed, the moon
  Often visits me;
Makes nice pictures on the wall
  That I like to see!
But the Sandman comes along
  And shuts up my eyes;
And soon I am drifting to
  Where the dream ship lies.

How I wish the moon would chase
  The Sandman away
For a little while; I'd like
  Longer time to stay
Where these pictures dance about
  On my bedroom wall;
But while I'm watching them
  Down my eyelids fall.

—Helen M. Richardson, in Exchange.

A BEAUTIFUL YEAR.

A girl was tacking up a new wall calendar, bearing the unfamiliar figures of the new year just about to open.

"It's going to be a beautiful year," she said, with a prophetic tone of assurance.

Some one who heard the girl's prediction, curious to know what was in her mind, asked:

"How do you know it is going to be a beautiful year? A year is a long time."

"Well," she answered, "a day isn't a long time, and I know because I'm going to take a day at a time and make it so. Years are only days when you come right down to it, and I'm going to see that every single one of these 365 days gets some one beautiful thing into it."

"Then it will be a beautiful year," the friend answered. "You've got hold of a wonderful secret."

"So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us."—The Evangelical.

RAY COON AND RUSTY FOX.

"Ray," said Mrs. Coon one fine winter morning, "I wish I had some way to get this basket of rolls and chicken over to your grandma. She is looking for it, I know."

"I know a good way," said Ray Coon. "It is red with a string tied to it."

He scampered around the house and came back with his sled. Three minutes later he was marching gayly across the fields, dragging a basket of good things on his sled. All at once he began to sniff the wind. "I smell apples," he said. "Just as sure as I live I smell apples. Um-um, but I'd like to have a big, juicy red one!"

Just then Rusty Fox came striding into view. He was just about to take a bite in a large winesap apple.

"Hello, Ray," he said. "Are you carrying the wash in that basket?"

"Oh, no," said Ray, with his eyes glued to the juicy apple. It made his mouth water. "This is some food that my mother is sending my grandmother."

Rusty bit deep into the winesap. "Ah, I see," he said. "Apples, perhaps?"

Ray shook his head. "We have no apples," he said wistfully. "This is chicken."

At the word "chicken" Rusty's nose began to quiver in a strange way. He gazed intently at the basket with his sharp little eyes. And while he gazed at the basket Ray Coon gazed at the winesap. There was a long silence.

"Do you like apples?" Rusty Fox asked suddenly.

Ray jumped. "Indeed, I do," he said heartily.

"Well, you can get all you want at my Cousin Sally Fox's, over on the other hill," said Rusty. "Tell her I sent you."

"O, thank you!" Ray said. But as he tightened his hold on the rope and turned in the direction of the house the other stopped him.

"Wait a minute," Rusty said. "On second thought I'd advise you to leave that sled with me. Cousin Sally is very fussy about having things dragged around her yard."

So Ray passed the rope trustfully over to Rusty and went hurrying away toward the house on the other hill. When he reached the brow of the hill, he turned to look back. To his dismay, Rusty Fox was running off at top speed with the sled. Ray shrieked and waved his arms, but Rusty took no notice of him; he only ran faster. There was nothing for Ray to do but follow as fast as he could. He came over the slope of the hill and down the other side like a swift-rolling, squeaking rubber ball.

All at once there were other squeaks on the still winter air, shrill, angry squeaks that rose higher and higher. Ray stopped and peered toward the bottom of the hill. There he saw Rusty tangled in a barbed-wire fence. The sled had slipped under the wire and had turned entirely around, basket and all, but Rusty himself was caught fast.

Ray Coon ran down the hill and rolled under the lowest strand of wire without hurting himself. Then he came running to help Rusty. But there was nothing he could do. Rusty had struggled so that he was caught tight in the wire; worse still, he had cut his leg badly. And all the time he kept snarling at the wire as if it were a live thing holding him.

Ray turned and ran for his cousin, Farmer Bear, who lived a quarter of a mile away. Farmer Bear was something of a doctor and knew what to do. In three minutes after he reached the spot he had freed Rusty Fox from the wire and was carefully binding up his leg.

Ray Coon looked on soberly. He felt sorry for Rusty, but he took pains to grasp the rope on the sled very tight.

Rusty had the grace to be ashamed of himself. "You are a good chap, Ray," he said.

"Not very," Ray Coon replied. "Good-by, Rusty; I must go and carry this basket to my grandmother."

"Wait," said Rusty Fox cheerfully. He drew a big winesap apple from his pocket and held it out to Ray Coon.

Ray took the apple joyfully. As he walked along toward his grandmother's, eating it, he thought to himself: "I suppose I was pretty careless. I'll be glad when this basket is safe at my grandmother's house, that I will indeed!"—G. H. Smith, in Youth's Companion.

CHINESE RIDDLES.

The Chinese have many riddles which grown people as well as children play at guessing. Here are some for you to try your wits upon:

1. It was born in a mountain forest. It died in an earthen chamber. Its soul dispersed to the four winds. And its bones laid out for sale.
2. In a small house there lived five little girls.
3. On the outside is a stone wall. In the inside there is a small golden lady.
4. It takes away the courage of a demon. Its sound is like that of thunder. It frightens men so that they drop their chop-sticks. When one turns one's head around to look at it, it is turned into smoke.
5. There are two sisters of equal size; one sits inside, the other outside.
6. In the front are five openings; on the sides are two windows; behind hangs an onion-stalk.
7. What is it that sits very low and eats more grass than a buffalo?

Here are the answers: (1) Charcoal. (2) A shoe. (3) An egg. (4) A cannon. (5) A looking glass. (6) A Chinaman's head. (7) A Chinese kitchen range (which is generally heated with ferns and grass).—Children of China.

All Brutes Are Alike.

First Lady (in village-shop, speaking to another patron)—"Would you mind if I make my small purchase first? We have a horse outside and he won't keep quiet."

Second Lady—"Certainly; but you won't be very long, will you? I have a husband outside and he's rather restive, too."—Punch.

Not an Accident.

John Helferwork, Happy Hawkins' hired man, was being examined preparatory to taking out an insurance policy.

"Ever had any accidents?" asked the doctor.

"Nope."

"Never had an accident in your life?"

"Nope. 'Sept maybe last spring when Happy's bull threw me over the corn crib."

"Don't you call that an accident?"

"Gosh, no! He did it on purpose."—Exchange.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat-meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dornian.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE SCHEDULE.

Louisiana Conference.

Alexandria, at Elizabeth, April 10-12.
Shreveport, at Mansfield, April 17-19.
Lake Charles, at New Iberia, April 19-22.
New Orleans, at St. Mark's, April 23-25.
Monroe, at Winnsboro, April 27-29.
Ruston, at Haynesville, May 4-6.
Baton Rouge, at Kentwood, May 23-25.

Mississippi Conference.

Brookhaven, at ———, April 3-4.
Seashore, at Moss Point, April 3-5.
Vicksburg, at Centreville, April 24.
Meridian, at Poplar Springs, May 1-2.
Newton, at Hickory, May 8-10.
Hattiesburg, at ———, ——— —.
Jackson, at ——— ——— —.

North Mississippi.

Columbus, at Ackerman, April 26-27.
Greenville, at Leland, May 7-12.
Grenada, at Pickens, May 8-10.
Corinth, at Ripley, May 15-17.
Sardis, at Senatobia, May 15-17.
Greenwood, at Inverness, May 23-25.
Aberdeen, at ——— ——— —.

NEW SECRETARY OF GENERAL HOSPITAL BOARD.

Rev. Charles C. Jarrell, D.D., has been elected Secretary of the General Hospital Board, to succeed Rev. Charles C. Selecman, D.D., who, feeling constrained by urgent conditions to remain in the pastorate of First Church, Dallas, resigned the secretaryship.

Dr. Jarrell is a man of high character, good scholarship, and excellent platform ability. He is possessed of uncommon executive gifts for the administration of matters of business.

He graduated with distinction from Emory College, and subsequently took with honor his theological course at Vanderbilt University. Later he took special courses in Glasgow University in Scotland and the University of Berlin.

He was for a time a member of the faculty of Emory College, and served also as one of the directors of the Correspondence School.

He was one of the most successful commissioners for Emory University during the first years after the establishment of the institution and raised considerable funds for its endowment and equipment.

He brings to the work of the General Hospital Board eminent qualifications for it.

In the General Conferences of 1918 and 1922 he was a delegate from the North Georgia Conference.

At the time of his election he was pastor of St. John's Church, Augusta, Ga., from which church he removes to Atlanta to assume the duties of his new position.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

"All goes well on the Calhoun City charge," writes Rev. B. F. Bullard.

Rev. W. L. Dickens reports that his work at Daleville, Miss., is moving along nicely in every way.

Rev. W. L. Atkins, of Algoma, Miss., is delighted with the charge he is serving. This is his first year as a member of the Conference.

Rev. P. M. Caraway writes to say that his address is Ferriday, La., instead of Vidalia, as it appears in the Louisiana Conference Journal.

Rev. W. H. Young, our pastor at Eros, La., announces that he will be assisted in a meeting at Eros by Rev. Dan Kelly, beginning on Monday, April 16.

Rev. A. R. Beasley, of Glen Allan, Miss., is issuing the Glen Allan Messenger twice a month in the interest of the religious and moral life of the community.

Rev. B. W. Lewis, of Eden, Miss., writes that his work is moving along splendidly—peace and harmony prevail, and the spirit of prayer rests upon the people.

Rev. W. B. Jones, our capable pastor at Crystal Springs, Miss., is issuing the Methodist Messenger as a monthly bulletin concerning the affairs of the local church.

Rev. W. A. Powell, of Liberty, Miss., has been a subscriber to the Advocate for more than fifty years. We appreciate his kindly words in commendation of the paper.

Rev. A. D. Martin requests us to say that his address is now 868 High Street, Houma, La. He is now serving the Lafourche Mission, on which he has five preaching places.

Rev. W. J. Wood, of Oakland, Miss., writes: "We are moving along nicely over here on the Oakland charge. Congregations are good, and getting better all the time."

Rev. Walter M. Given, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at Clendenin, W. Va., writes that Dr. Theodore Copeland held a great meeting in his church during February.

Mrs. J. F. Mars, of Meridian, Miss., has been a reader of the Advocate from childhood. In renewing her subscription for another year, she speaks of the paper as one of her best-loved friends.

Rev. W. S. Shipman, of Senatobia, Miss., has been "fighting the flu" for several weeks, but we are glad to learn that he has about won the victory. We know how to sympathize with him.

Rev. A. L. Davenport, of Brooksville, Miss., says that he is serving some of the best people in the world. He is confidently expecting to be able to say at Conference, "Everything in full, Bishop."

Rev. R. G. A. Carlisle, of Sallis, Miss., writes that a new parsonage will soon be built on that charge—in fact, most of the money for the building is already in hand, and the contract has been let.

Rev. D. E. Vickers, pastor of the Seventh Avenue Methodist Church, Meridian, Miss., has entered well upon what promises to be the best of the four years he has served as pastor of this important charge.

Among the candidates approved and assigned by the Candidates Committee of the Board of Missions on February 26, we notice the name of Miss Anne Deavors, of Laurel, Miss., who was appointed to Japan.

Brother W. D. Sawtelle, of Shreveport, La., father of Mrs. R. H. Wynn, will be ninety years old on Friday, March 16. He is in a perfect state of health, and we pray that he may be spared many years yet to his loved ones and friends.

Rev. R. W. Tucker, of Homer, La., is rejoicing over the approaching completion of what he says will be one of the finest churches in Louisiana. The building will cost about $70,000, and it will be ready for occupancy in about three months.

Rev. W. M. Sullivan, presiding elder of the Seashore District, Mississippi Conference, authorizes us to say that Bishop W. N. Ainsworth has confirmed the appointment of Rev. T. H. King as pastor at Logtown, Miss., and of Rev. R. P. George as pastor of the Saucier charge.

Mr. Stephen S. Thomas, Centenary Secretary-Treasurer of the Louisiana Conference, spent Monday and Tuesday of this week in New Orleans. He reported that the Centenary spirit throughout the Conference is fine.

Rev. L. E. Crooks, of Campti, La., writes to say that he can recommend Rev. J. B. Waggoner, of Lebannon, Tenn., very highly for evangelistic work. Brother Waggoner would be glad to assist the brethren in Louisiana, and he will be glad to make engagements with those who may desire his services.

Rev. P. O. Lowrey, of Indian Bayou, La., believes in promoting every interest of the church committed to his care. The Sunday school, the Epworth League, the Woman's Missionary Society—all the organizations of the charge are actively at work. Brother Lowrey is an indefatigable worker.

The second session of the Columbus District Standard Training School will be held at Starkville, Miss., March 26-31. The presiding alder of the District, Rev. A. T. McIlwain, is Educational Director, and Rev. W. W. Woollard is Registrar. A most capable faculty has been provided and a helpful program arranged.

We regret to learn that Rev. B. T. Crews, of Shreveport, La., a superannuate member of the Louisiana Conference, after apparently entering upon a period of convalescence from serious illness, has developed complications which make his recovery uncertain. The brethren are asked to remember him in their prayers and sympathy.

The Editor of the Advocate is under deep obligation to Rev. R. H. Harper, for editorial assistance, and to Rev. John L. Williams, Rev. W. G. Evans, and Dr. H. L. Schroder, for ministerial assistance during his recent illness. He is also indebted to Brother Charles O. Chalmers, Business Manager of the Advocate, and the entire office force for many kindnesses.

Rev. W. T. Phillips, of Tishomingo, Miss., writes that his work is moving along prosperously. Nine members have been received into the church since Conference, the parsonage has been repapered and repainted, and new furniture has been bought. He is praying and working to the end that this may be a great year on the Tishomingo charge.

We record with sorrow the death of Mr. Shockley Thompson, at Collins, Miss., on March 1. He was nearly seventy-seven years of age. He had been a life-long Methodist and was a Confederate veteran. The funeral services, held on March 2, were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. W. Thompson, assisted by Rev. W. M. Williams, Rev. L. Carley, and Rev. J. T. Dale, a Baptist preacher. The large attendance at the funeral indicated the esteem in which he was held. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to his daughters who survive and other relatives and friends.

Rev. Earl B. Moll, evangelist, of Wilmington, N. C., who has recently held a great meeting with Rev. J. L. Seils at the Fifth Street Methodist Church, Meridian, Miss., is now with Rev. H. J. Moore in a meeting at Forest, Miss. Brother Moll formerly lived at Shreveport, La., where he attended Centenary College. He has been greatly blessed in his evangelistic work.

A note from Rev. T. B. Cottrell, of Vicksburg, Miss., brings the distressing news that his father, Rev. H. B. Cottrell, who will be 92 years old on April 19, fell on March 9 and broke both bones in his right leg, just above the ankle. He is resting as well as could be expected, but, on account of his age, his condition is serious. We are sure the brethren will remember him in their prayers.

Rev. J. A. McCormack, of Many, La., writes: "The people of Many gave this scribe and his family a great pounding a few days ago. It makes a fellow feel good to know that he is among friends. Rev. J. B. Williams is making a fine elder, and the district is looking forward to a great year. Brother Williams is a strong preacher, a man of fine judgment, and has the work at heart."

We call special attention to the statement by Bishop Ainsworth and the leaders of the two Mississippi Conferences concerning the program of Methodism in Mississippi, appearing on the first page of this issue. Bishop Ainsworth is giving vigorous leadership to the work of the church in his Episcopal District, and he is spending this week in the bounds of North Mississippi Conference.

Rev. Frank C. Collins, formerly of Lake Charles, La., who is now one of the teachers in the Lydia Patterson Institute, El Paso, Texas, one of our mission schools, will be available for evangelistic work after the first week in June. Brother Collins is a trained singer, and he can conduct the music in a meeting, in addition to preaching. He may be addressed at 503 South Florence Street, El Paso, Texas.

We are glad to learn that John Toler, the young son of Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Cady, of Baker, La., who was recently operated on for tonsilitis and adenoids, stood the operation well and is rapidly recovering. Brother Cady gives a good account of the work on his charge. He serves an appreciative people, who look well after the needs of their pastor. He is expecting this to be a great year.

We have received the following interesting note from Rev. J. M. Wyatt, of Lula, Miss.: "We have just closed a two weeks' meeting. Our district evagelist, Rev. J. W. Robertson, preached with effectiveness and power. The whole community was blessed, in that Christians were revived, backsliders were reclaimed, and sinners converted. We took a class of twenty-one into our church as one of the visible results. Four joined the Baptist church."

Rev. G. S. Harmon, who has achieved success as editor of the Free Press, at Poplarville, Miss., has recently bought the Hattiesburg American, one of the leading daily newspapers of Mississippi, of which he will be editor and manager. Under the control of Brother Harmon, the American will continue to be a mighty force for righteousness in the territory in which it circulates. Brother Harmon is one of the best known and most efficient members of the Mississippi Conference.

Rev. Isaac D. Borders, Director of the Department of Evangelism of the Board of Missions of the Southwest Missouri Conference, will assist Rev. P. F. Luter in a meeting at Hernando, Miss., beginning April 22, this being the sixth revival in which Brother Borders has assisted Brother Luter. Brother Borders, who is a native Mississippian, can spare time for two additional meetings in the State, and any of the brethren who may desire his help may communicate with him at 1841 Pendleton Avenue, Kansas City, Mo.

Rev. C. M. Morris, Conference evangelist of the South Carolina Conference, is visiting relatives in Shreveport, Louisiana. While in the State, he will assist Rev. R. M. Brown in a meeting at Merryville, closing on March 18. He can accept another engagement in Louisiana, including Easter Sunday, and any of the brethren who may desire his assistance may write him at Merryville, in care of Brother Brown. Brother Morris is an experienced leader of song and a sololist, as well as preacher, and he has met with success in his meetings.

On Wednesday evening, March 7, while prayer meeting was in progress, a fire was discovered in the roof of the Methodist church at Magnolia, Miss. The roof was badly damaged, and the pipe organ, valued at $3500, was completely destroyed. The total loss amounts to about $6000. Sunday school will be held for the present in the public school auditorium. This injury to the church makes it impracticable for Magnolia to entertain the Brookhaven District Conference. Another place will be selected for the conference and due announcement made. We deeply sympathize with the pastor, Brother Claude P. Jones, and his fine people in the misfortune that has befallen them.

We are privileged to quote the following from a letter recently received from Rev. J. F. Patterson, a honored superannuate member of the Louisiana Conference, now making his home at El Paso, Tex.: "I feel assured of divine acceptance and eternal life. My thoughts, desires, and ambitions are centered in the heavenly world. I am eighty-one years of age, and you know, according to the Scriptures, it becomes me to be ready, for I shall soon take wings and fly away. My general health is good. I attend the sanctuary services regularly and am endeavoring to live right so as to die an honored superannuate of the old Louisiana Conference."

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. J. O. Ware, Mendenhall, Miss., 7; Rev. P. O. Lowrey, Indian Bayou, La., 2; Rev. Carroll Varner (by Miss Louise Dunstan), Winona, Miss., 7; Rev. J. M. Wyatt, Lula, Miss., 2; Rev. D. B. Raulins, Shreveport, La., 2; Rev. M. L. White, De Kalb, Miss., 2; Rev. W. M. Commander, Toccopola, Miss., 3; Rev. M. B. Sharbrough, Biloxi, Miss., 3; Rev. R. W. Tucker, Homer, La., 38; Rev. V. G. Clifford, Centreville, Miss., 2; Rev. J. S. Duncan, Pickens, Miss., 13; Rev. L. P. Wasson, Water Valley, Miss., 5; Rev. E. C. Driskell, Buena Vista, Miss., 4; Rev. J. H. Foreman, Flora, Miss., 3; Rev. W. R. Goudelock, Noxapater, Miss., 5; Rev. A. D. George, Bunkie, La., 3; Rev. H. L. Norton, Fernwood, Miss., 2; Rev. J. T. Leggett, Hattiesburg, Miss., 3; Rev. W. W. Bruner, Victoria, Miss., 2; Rev. W. W. Cammack, Fayette, Miss., 2; Mrs. R. O. Coorpender, Alexandria, La., 2; Rev. J. L. Carter, Wesson, Miss., 2; Rev. R. C. Nanney, Hickory Flat, Miss., 4; Rev. L. E. Alford, Philadelphia, Miss., 2; Mrs. A. R. Bynum, Booneville, Miss., 8; Miss Mollie Higginbotham, Mer Rouge, La., 11; Rev. C. F. Emery, Fayette, Miss., 2; Rev. W. T. Phillips, Tishomingo, Miss., 2; Mrs. V. M. Millsaps, Harriston, Miss., 7; Rev. R. G. A. Carlisle, Sallis, Miss., 4; Rev. J. B. Cain, Ellisville, Miss., 5; Rev. L. M. Sharp, Jackson, Miss., 5; Mrs. L. Betterton, Tremont, Miss., 2; Rev. P. M. Caraway, Ferriday, La., 2; Rev. J. C. Jackson, Vossburg, Miss., 2; Mrs. H. W. Reynolds, Taylorsville, Miss., 6.

REVIVAL AT MILLSAPS.

The annual meeting at Milisaps College closed last Tuesday night (Feb. 27), aind was unusual in the character of results attained.

This meeting had been looked forward to by the Christian students and the faculty, and plans had been laid and preliminary work had been done to secure its success. Dr. Stoves, of Nashville, who was to have held the meeting, wired at the last moment that on account of sickness he could not come; but, fortunately, Rev. James V. Bennett was in town and agreed to do the preaching.

At the outset, Brother Bennett gripped the student body by his fine, earnest, spiritual messages. The response was all that could be desired. Almost the entire student body professed Christ, and numbers of them signed life service cards. The interest was cumulative, and on the final night there was a great consecration service, the audience moving to the front of the auditorium and kneeling in a prayer of dedication to Christ and His service.

The singing was led by Mr. Edgar Tolle, nephew of Rev. H. F. Tolle. With his fine voice and his trombone he rendered royal aid.

The college spirit was never better than today. We have a great college in Millsaps, of which Mississippi Methodists should be proud. Let the college have your prayers, sympathy and co-operation, and there will be less to criticize and more to appreciate in this Christian institution.

F. L. APPLEWHITE.

CHRIST THE WAY.

By Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook.

"I am the way, the truth, and the life." (St. John, 14:6.) When Adam sinned, all mankind wandered far from God and lost all power and ability to return. Sin made a great gulf between God and man, over which man could not pass; but Christ has revealed himself as a way over this dark gulf, a way into the presence of God, and no man cometh unto the Father but by him. He conducts from a state of depravity to a state of purity, from threatened wrath to unfeigned love and exquisite happiness, and all who walk this way pass from death unto life, and shall not come into condemnation. I am the Way to Happiness, for I am Happiness. There can be no true happiness without being in close connection with the source of happiness, which is God. To be out of connection with God means to be in connection with the source of trouble, which is the enemy. We naturally would expect ill treatment and destruction from an enemy. On the other hand, when we are in touch with God we may expect good, because he is our abiding friend. He is a way which brings honor to all God's perfections and puts man in possession of every needed blessing. He is a highway and a holy way that leads us direct to God. He is a living way and quickens all who walk therein. He is a safe way; in this way we have nothing to fear, but everything to expect. Justice is satisfied with every traveler who goes on this road, and mercy delights to bless them; it is stored with all necessary provisions, and no good thing will he withhold from those who choose this radiant path; here God meets and blesses them and Jesus unfolds the riches of his grace to them; here we are safe from dangers, secure from foes, in fellowship with God and entitled to all spiritual blessings. It is the way of salvation, peace, holiness, and happiness. It is the only way by which a sinner can approach God with comfort and meet death with a shout of triumphant victory. It is a straight and narrow way through which all the redeemed pass to their final home in heaven. I am the Way home, for I am the Home.

I am glad we can say with the poet:

"When we walk in the light from above,
Catching glimpses of infinite love,
We may scatter each twinkling light
From the truth of the Book that is right.

"When a shadow falls into our path,
And temptation would lead us to wrath,
If we're walking in heavenly light,
Evil presence will soon take its flight.

"When we shine for the Savior each day,
We've a Friend who will help us for aye—
Not a moment our needs will forget,
But will guide us till life's sun is set."

New Augusta, Miss.

Beautiful Hair In a Moment

Try This! - A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair

At once! You can transform even plain, dull flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drugstore. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed.

Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

You can save money by getting our prices before you buy. Write our nearest factory today.

FULTON BAG & COTTON MILLS

[Manufacturers since 1870.]

Atlanta Brooklyn Dallas St. Louis and New Orleans

Cuticura Soap —Is Ideal for— The Complexion

Soap, Ointment, Talcum, 25c. everywhere. For samples address: Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with

Gray's Ointment

Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over [illegible] words in length will be published free of charge. All over [illegible] must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

ELIZABETH C. DUGGER was born in G[illegible] County, Tenn., January 31, [illegible], died at Quapaw, Oklahoma, February [illegible], 1923, aged [illegible] years and 4 days. She was married to Wm. G. McDonald, of Marion County, Alabama, December [illegible]. Mr. McDonald died November 5, [illegible]. To this union was born six children. Two died in infancy, one at the age of nine, and three lived to be grown and married. Only one Mrs. R. F. Broome, of Quapaw, Oklahoma, survives her. On November 5, 1876, she was again married to Harris Jernigan, of Pontotoc, Miss. Mr. Jernigan died February 24, 1885, Since that time she has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. R. F. Broome. She joined the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at the age of twelve years and remained a consistent member to the day of her death. Funeral services were conducted in the Methodist church in Quapaw, Oklahoma, by Dr. J. M. Peterson, presiding elder of the Vinita District, assisted by Rev. R. C. Cantrell, of Picher, Oklahoma. The remains were laid to rest in Miami, Okla., Feb. 6, 1923. A very remarkable woman has passed to her reward. Grandmother loved her church with a genuine devotion. She had a splendid library of Methodist literature. She knew the history and doctrines of her church and rejoiced in every forward movement of her church. One of the greatest joys of her life was that during the last years of her life her own grandson was her pastor. She always prayed for her pastor, but in this case she prayed more earnestly than ever. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. A. J. Looney, of Aberdeen, Miss., and Mrs. C. C. Beard, of Pontotoc, Miss. Thirteen grandchildren and forty great-grandchildren and scores of friends are left to mourn her going away.

"Servant of God, well done,
The glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the victory won,
And thou art crowned at last."

Her grandson,
W. L. BROOME.
Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

---

JOHN L. SURRATT was born in Hernando, Miss., Dec. 13, 1843, and died Feb. 1, 1923. His parents moved to Corinth and put him in school, but he enlisted in the Civil War in 1861 and returned in 1865. November 28, 1867, he was married to Miss Mary Ellen Puckett. God blessed this union with nine children, six of whom survive him: J. H. Surrat, of Marietta, Miss., J. M. Surrat, of Columbus, Miss., Mrs. Mollie Colson, of Madill, Okla., W. A. Surratt of Corinth, Miss., Mrs. Lizzie Franks, of Golden, Miss., and T. A. Surrat, of Marietta, Miss. In August, 1882, Mrs. Surrat died. On August 29, 1883, he married Mrs. Elizabeth Kisler, who died Dec. 27, 1909. December 1, 1910, he married Miss Addie Alexander. She died March 9, 1917. On August 25, 1917, he married Mrs. Annie C. Fite, who survives him. He served the people of his country as sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, mayor, and justice of the peace. The last-named office was vacated by his death. Forty years ago he joined the Methodist Church; after serving as steward a long time, he continued his faithfulness until God called him home.

E. C. SULLIVAN,
His Pastor.

---

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Alexandria Dist.—Second Round.

Marksville Ct., at Marksville, March 18.
Plaquemine and Donaldsonville, at Plaquemine, March 25.
Oakdale, April 1, a.m.
Glenmora, April 1, p.m.
Melville Ct., at Jacoby, April 8.
Colfax Ct., at Montgomery, April 15.
Trout and Good Pine, at Good Pine, April 22, a.m.
Jena and Jonesville, at Jonesville, April 22, p.m.
Coushatta, April 29.
Opelousas, May 6, a.m.
Livonia Ct., at Lottie, May 6, p.m.
Campti Ct., at Clarence, May 12, 13, p.m.
Natchitoches, May 13, a.m.
Rochelle and Standard, at Rochelle, May 20.
Bunkie, May 27.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs

Special Terms

FOR

CHURCHES

Sunday Schools

AND

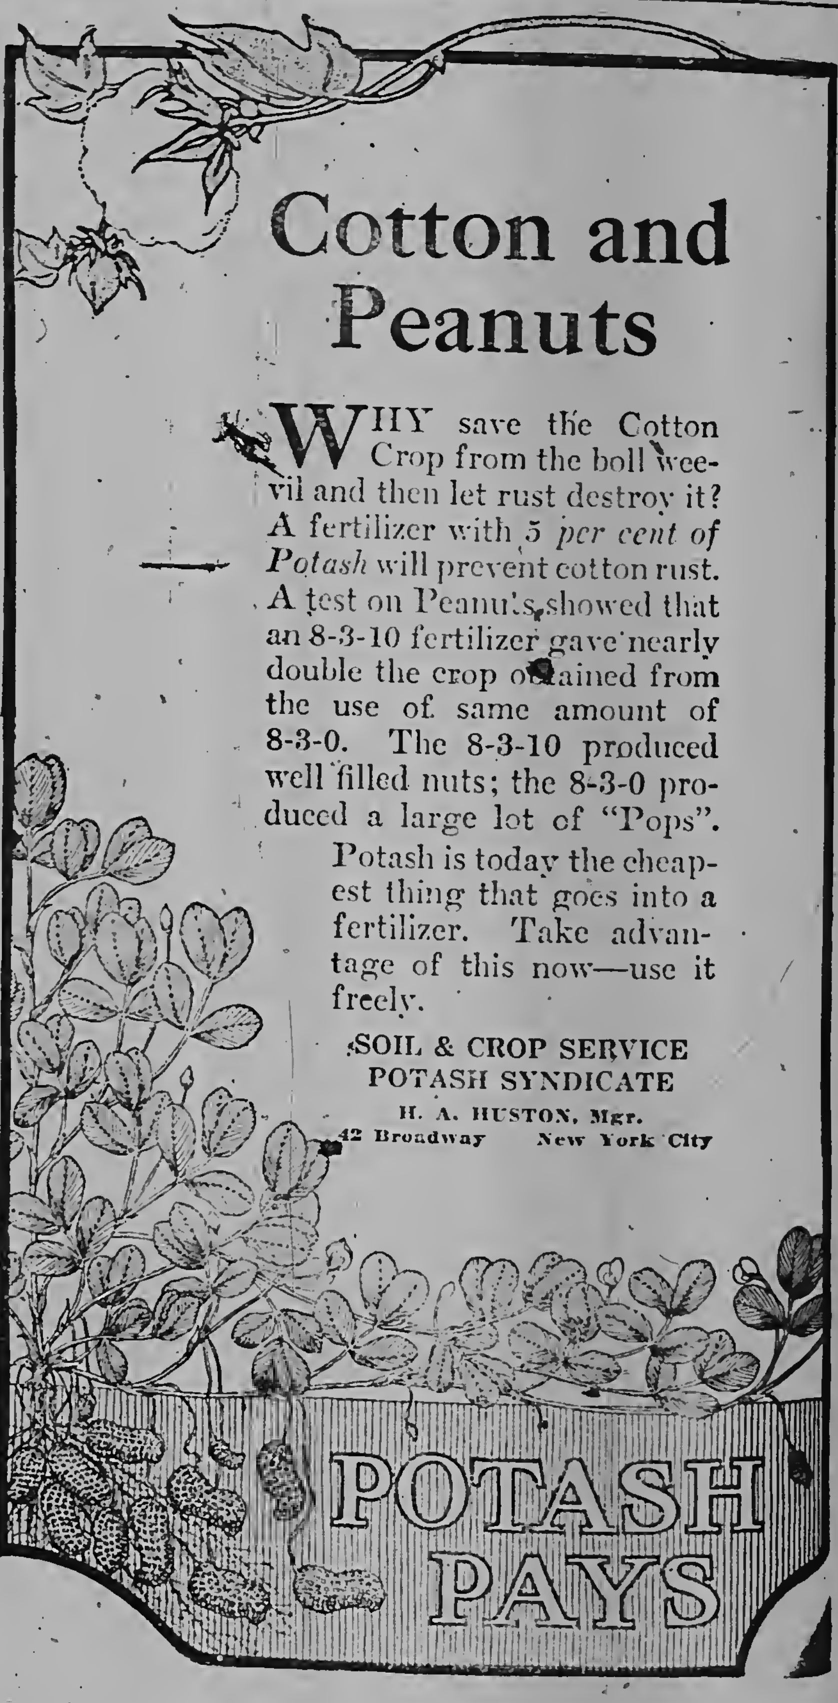
SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.

"Largest Music House South"

New Orleans Baton Rouge

WHEN WRITING OUR ADVERTISERS PLEASE MENTION THIS PUBLICATION



Cotton and Peanuts

WHY save the Cotton Crop from the boll weevil and then let rust destroy it? A fertilizer with 5 per cent of Potash will prevent cotton rust. A test on Peanuts showed that an 8-3-10 fertilizer gave nearly double the crop obtained from the use of same amount of 8-3-0. The 8-3-10 produced well filled nuts; the 8-3-0 produced a large lot of "Pops".

Potash is today the cheapest thing that goes into a fertilizer. Take advantage of this now—use it freely.

SOIL & CROP SERVICE
POTASH SYNDICATE
H. A. HUSTON, Mgr.
42 Broadway New York City

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Aberdeen Dist.—Second Round.

Houston, Mar. 17, 18.
Pontotoc, Mar. 18, 19.
Buena Vista, at Boone's chapel, Mar. 23.
Aberdeen, Mar. 24, 25.
Prairie and Strong, at P., Mar. 25, 26.
Shannon and Nettleton, at Brewer, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Verona, at Plantersville, Apr. 1, 2.
Nettleton, at Shiloh, Apr. 7, 8.
Woodland, at Palestine, Apr. 11, 15.
Greenwood Springs, at New Hope, Apr. 21, 22.
Salem and Ecru, at Liberty Hill, Apr. 27.
Tocopola, at Lafayette Springs, Apr. 28, 29.
Randolph, at Washington, Apr. 29, 30.
Calhoun City, at Pittsboro, May 5, 6.
Vardaman, at Lloyd, May 6, 7.
Houlka, at Concord, May 8.
Smithville, at Paine's Memorial, May 12, 13.
Eupora and Maben, at M., May 14.
Mathiston, at Lagrange, May 15.
Bellefontaine, at S. Union, May 16.
Algoma, at Ebenezer, May. 18.
Fulton, at Friendship., May 19, 20.
Tremont, at Mt. Pleasant, May 20, 21.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Newton Dist.—Second Round.

Trenton, at Pine Grove, Mar. 17, 18.
Forest and Morton, at M., Mar. 18, 3 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Rose Hill, at Pleasant Grove, Mar. 24, 25.
Montrose, at Garlandville, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Carthage, at Rocky Point, Apr. 7, 8.
Bay Springs, at B. S., Apr. 15, 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Shiloh, at Forest Hill, Apr. 21, 22.
Walnut Grove, at Sebastapol, Apr. 28, 29.
Raleigh, at Pleasant Hill, May 5, 6.
District Conference at Hickory, beginning May 8.
Harperville and Lena, at Lena, May 12, 13.
Chunky, at Suqualena, May 19, 20.
Homewood, at Carr Church, May 23.
Lake, at Eureka, May 26, 27.
Newton, May 27, 7:30 p.m.; 28.
Decatur and Hickory, at D., May 30, 3 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Union, at Union, June 3.
Laurel, First Church, June 8, 7:30 p.m.
Laurel, Kingston, June 10, 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Laurel, West End, June 10, 7:30 p.m.

District Sunday School Institute at Hickory will open at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, May 8, followed by the opening sermon of the District Conference at 8 o'clock the evening of the same day. Let delegates be elected by church conference as the law provides.

J. A. MOORE, P. E.

Vicksburg Dist.—Second Round.

Hermanville, at Pattison, 11 a.m., Mar. 18.
Port Gibson, 7:30 p.m., Mar. 18.
Nebo, at Oak Grove, 11 a.m., Mar. 24.
Roxie, at McNair, 11 a.m., Mar. 25.
Harriston, 3:30 p.m., Mar. 25.
Fayette, 7:30 p.m., Mar. 25.
Vicksburg, Crawford St., 7:30 p.m. Mar. 26.
Vicksburg, Gibson Mem., 7:30 p.m., Mar. 28.
Washington, at Kingston, 11 a.m., Apr. 1.
Natchez, 7:30 p.m., Apr. 1.
Utica, at Cayuga, 11 a.m., Apr. 8.
Gloster, at Mt. Olive, 11 a.m., Apr. 13.
Rosetta, at Hopewell, 11 a.m., Apr. 14.
Centerville, at Stephenson, 11 a.m., Apr. 15.
Oak Ridge, at Flower Hill, 11 a.m., Apr. 22.
Woodville, at White's, 3 p.m., Apr. 29.
Louise and Holly Bluff, at Louise, 11 a.m., May 6.
Silver City, at Midnight, 7:30 p.m., May 6.
Mayersville, at Grace, 11 a.m., May 11.
Rocky Springs, at———, 11 a.m., May 12.
Rolling Fork, at Cary, 11 a.m., May 20.
Anguilla, 7:30 p.m., May 20.

The District Conference will meet at Centerville on Tuesday, April 24, at 2:30 p.m.

Pastors will please elect their delegates, send names to Rev. V. G. Clifford, Centerville, and to me. It is important that this be done, that Bro. Clifford can provide homes for all delegates, and that I may make up the official role of the conference.

Let it be remembered that district, charge lay leaders, local preachers, and district secretary of the Woman's Missionary Society are members of the conference.

Local preachers are urged to make their report in writing.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

Jackson Dist.—Second Round.

Florence, at Star, Mar. 17, 18, 11 a.m.
Terry at Terry, Mar. 18, 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Edwards at Learned, Mar 25, 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.
Bolton, at Bolton, Mar. 25, 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Madison, at Ridgeland, Apr. 1, 11 a.m. and 2, 10 a.m.
Flora, Apr. 1, 4 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Satartia, at Phoenix, Apr. 7, 8, 11 a.m.
Bentonia, at Dover, Apr. 8, 3 p.m.
Camden, at Soule's Chapel, Apr. 14, 15, 11 a.m.
Sharon, at Millville, Apr. 15, 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.
Capitol Street, Apr. 22, 11 a.m.
Galloway Memorial, Apr. 22, 7:30 p.m.
Harrisville, at Pisgah, Apr. 28, 29, 11 a.m.
Mendenhall, at M., Apr. 29, 7:30 p.m., and 30, 9 a.m.
Eden, at Bethany, May 5, 6, 11 a.m.
Yazoo City, May 6, 3 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Vaughn, at Deasonville, May 12, 13, 11 a.m.
Benton, at Benton, May 13, 7:30 p.m.; 14, 10 a.m.
Monterey, May 19, 20, 11 a.m.
Brandon, May 20, 3 p.m., 7:30 p.m.
Yazoo City ct., May 26, 27, 11 a.m.
Canton, May 27, 7:30 p.m.

M. L. BURTON, P. E.

Meridian Dist.—Second Round.

Meridian, Central, March 18, p.m.
Meridian, Seventh Avenue, March 25, 11 a.m.
Meridian, Fifth Street, March 25, p.m.
Central Church dedication, April 1.
Scooba, at Wahalak, April 8.
Porterville, at Briggs' Chapel, April 15.
Waynesboro Ct., at Pleasant Grove, April 21, 22.
Waynesboro, April 22, 23.
Vimville, at Coker's Chapel, April 25.
Daleville, at Soule's Chapel, April 28, 29.
Lauderdale and Electric Mills, at Lauderdale, April 29, p.m.
District Conference, at Poplar Springs, May 1, 2.
DeKalb, at New Hope, May 4.
Cleveland, at Big Oak, May 5, 6.
Shubuta, May 13.
Bucatunna, May 13, 14.
Enterprise, at Stonewall, May 20.
Quitman, May 20, p.m.
Pachuta, at Salem, May 26, 27.
Matherville, at State Line, June 2, 3.
De Soto at Andrew's Chapel, June 3, 4.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

TETTERINE
DRIVES AWAY PIMPLES
and leaves your skin soft and spotless
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO. SAVANNAH, GA

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practised medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alterative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge. All druggists sell Discovery, tablets or liquid. Send 10c for trial pkg.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS
Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction
Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

Ditching Terracing
Made Easy—Bigger crops, better farms with Martin Farm Ditcher Terracer & Road Grader
Cuts Ditch V-shaped to 4 feet——Grades Roads
10 day's trial—Money-back Guarantee
All Steel—Practical—Adjustable—Reversible—No wheels, levers, cogs to get out of fix. Also cleans ditches, cuts and works out dirt same time. Does work of big machines, saves work of 100 men, prevents crop failures, reclaims abandoned land. Needed on every farm. Soon pays for itself. Write for free booklet and introductory offer.
Owensboro Ditcher & Grader Co., Inc., Box Owensboro, Ky.

NO OPERATION FOR HER

She Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Escaped the Operation Doctor Advised

Louisville, Ky.—"I wish to thank you for what your medicine has done for me. I was in bed for eight or nine days every month and had a great deal of pain. The doctor said my only relief was an operation. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines and tried the Vegetable Compound and the Sanative Wash, and they surely did wonders for me. I feel fine all the time now, also am picking up in weight. I will tell any one that your medicines are wonderful, and you may publish my letter if you wish."—Mrs. Ed. Boehnlein, 1130 Ash St., Louisville, Ky.

Backache nervousness, painful times, irregularity, tired and run-down feelings, are symptoms of female troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken whenever there is reason to fear such troubles. It contains nothing that can injure, and tends to tone up and strengthen the organs concerned, so that they may work in a healthy, normal manner. Let it help you as it has thousands of others. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now selling almost all over the world.

IF SICK, BILIOUS!
START YOUR LIVER

Don't Take Calomel! "Dodson's Liver Tone" Acts Better and Doesn't Gripe, Salivate or Make You Sick—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.

Complete Outfitters of Stylish Stouts

Everything to fit the Stout Figure. Evening Gowns. Semi-Evening. Street Dresses. Afternoon Dresses.

Wraps. Underwear. Hosiery. Corsets. Neckwear and Accessories.

424-426 S. Rampart.

New Store: Canal and Chartres

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
Uptown 4831

COUPON
Cut this Coupon out. Men's Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 75c. Palm Beach, Linen and Searsucker Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 40c. Suits Sponged and Pressed, 35c. Ladies' Garments at Lowest Prices.

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 9132
Old Stoves Taken In on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty.
3321 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

QUALITY GOODS
AT LOW PRICES
D. H. Holmes Co.,
LIMITED.

We Know How—Quick Service.
We Call for and Deliver Baggage, Transfer Freight Anywhere in the City.
AUTO SERVICE.
CITY BAGGAGE TRANSFER
103 NORTH DELTA ST.
OPP. L. & N. DEPOT. Phone M. 4218

PROGRESSIVE FURNITURE STORE

Substantial Furniture, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, for the home, office, and church. Convenient terms. Country trade taken care of. Prompt delivery, Service.
5515 MAGAZINE STREET.

Science's Discovery Routs Chicken Lice

Mineralized Water Gets Rid of Dusting or Spraying—Birds Delouse Themselves—Fine for Baby Chicks and All Poultry.

A recent discovery promises to revolutionize all the commonly accepted methods for keeping poultry free from lice and mites. This wonderful product keeps the poultry always lice-free without the poultry raiser doing any work. It is the simplest, easiest, surest and best method ever discovered.

Hick's Lice-Go, which is the name of this remarkable lice remedy, is dropped in the chicken's drinking water. Taken into the system of the bird, it comes out through the oil glands of the skin and every louse or mite leaves the body. It is guaranteed to help the hatchability of the eggs and cannot injure the flavor of the eggs or meat; is harmless to chicks and does not affect the plumage. A few days' treatment at the start and then a little added to the drinking water each month is all that is necessary.

Send No Money—just your name and address to Chas. M. Hick & Company, Dept. 356, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill. A card will do. Mr. Hick is so confident that Hick's Lice-Go will get rid of every louse or mite that he will send you two large double strength $1.00 packages for the price of one. When they arrive, pay postman only $1.00 and postage. Sell one to your neighbor and get yours free. If you are not absolutely satisfied after 30 days' trial, your money will be refunded. This offer is guaranteed by two big Chicago banks, who say that Mr. Hick will do exactly as he agrees without question or argument. Write to-day before this remarkable trial offer is withdrawn.

Sunday School

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Under the leadership of Rev. W. W. Woollard, the church at Starkville is getting everything in readiness for the training school to be held March 26-31. The reason for holding these schools is to train men and women in the art of winning souls to Christ, and the care for those souls after the great decision has been made.

After a certain superintendent had carefully studied the Program of Work, he remarked: "I now know what to do." Hundreds of superintendents would be more useful if they understood definitely what is expected of them. The program, published in leaflet form, is furnished free; the large wall chart costs twenty-five cents. Write to me for either or both.

The school at Kosciusko has before it the "B" program and promises to be among the first to cover every point.

One of the livest schools in the Conference is at Dundee. This school claims to have made six or seven points. Before the close of the year you may look for this school to place itself in the standard class of the "C" type.

The presiding elders of the Conference have agreed to use these programs as a basis for the reports at the district conferences. It will be very humiliating to be forced to confess that the school has not been led into the evangelistic campaign, that it has not been, and will not be led to observe Sunday School Day, and so on down the line. That will be bad enough, but what about the final judgment?

Orders for literature on Evangelism and for Sunday School Day programs are coming in slowly. Why not begin early and get ahead of many obstacles that hinder when the weather becomes warm? If it is possible for one man to be loyal to the Lord and to his church, is it impossible for any one to be true to the spirit and the letter of the law?

Orders for Sunday School Day programs are coming in slowly. Tutwiler is the only school that has ordered the Pageant. All our large schools should take this new program and have it rendered with fine effect. The town schools are the slowest about sending in orders, and they ought to be the first.

Mrs. McDonald and I held a circuit institute at Shuford, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. All the schools were represented except Pisgah. From ten to twenty young girls took a deep interest in the services. Ten of them are studying "Life in the Making." Bro. Thrower and Miss Brand are working hard to meet the needs of the people and the expectations of the church. We can never do the work for this circuit that should be done until we have at least one church building properly equipped with Sunday school rooms.

A GREAT REVIVAL AT DE RIDDER, LA.

Last night we closed a revival that really shook the town for God. Rev. George Tucker, one of our general evangelists, assisted us, and for fifteen days, day after day, he "delivered the goods." Tucker is an unusually strong evangelist, as well as a unique one. He has a splendid appearance, a strong body, and a message that he believes God has given to him alone. His preaching is different from other men's, and perhaps therein is much of his strength. He reaches men of all walks of life, and all the while more men were at the night services than were women. Many of the strongest men of the town were converted and brought into our church. We took in sixty-six members yesterday, as a result of the meeting, and there will be others, I am sure, to come in with us. A large number of prayer meetings were established, and the entire membership was girded afresh for service. No man will make a mistake in securing the services of George Tucker for a revival campaign, provided he will stand behind the whole counsel of God against sin and worldliness, and wants to see people born of God into the new life. Tucker has no compromise with sin, nor favorites among men.

HEMSTITCHING
Embroidering, Buttons Covered, Scalloping, etc.
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS
109 BOURBON ST. Elevator service. Main 734

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls, Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
[illegible] DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2364

Brother Tucker had with him as singer Brother Turbeville, and he won the hearts of our people with his spiritual singing and consecrated life. Our people want them back again.

HENRY T. YOUNG, Pastor.
De Ridder, La.

LOOKING FOR WORK?
We are looking for women to introduce our Pelvic Emanator, an internal Radium Applicator, $5 to $8 a day not unusual. Write for plan. THE RADIUM PRODUCTS CO., Dept. R. F., 519 Main St., Cincinnati, O.

FROM SHAW, MISS.

Dear Dr. Carley: We have just closed our protracted meeting at Shaw, which lasted two weeks. We were hindered at the start by snow and rain, and the weather was really cold all through the meeting. But we had a glorious meeting, a great victory for God. We had with us to do the preaching the Rev. John W. Robertson, our district evangelist, and he so worked his way into the hearts and lives of our people that they love him very dearly. He stirs men to their very depths, influencing them as a result to seek Christ. He preaches the old-time Gospel of power and of salvation, which will save the world if believed and accepted. The number of conversions and reclamations is unknown. Twenty-three joined the church by profession of faith and by letter, ranging in age from sixteen to sixty-five, eleven of this number being men over thirty.

One interesting feature was the baptizing of a baby boy with four generations present. A great service was held for men only on the last day of the meeting, which was largely attended. The spirit of God was present, and strong men wept and repented. As a result thirty-five gave their names as members to form a camp of "The Delta Minute Men," to help to advance the cause of God and humanity. There is a great movement toward God in this Delta country, which is going to mean much.

The Greenville District, with our hustling presiding elder as our leader, is fast forging to the front, and by the help of the good Lord we expect to make this the banner year. All ready, brethren. "Let's go."

J. D. SIMPSON.

Rheumatic Pains Aches
are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT

A cynic is a man who tries to hide his sores behind his sneers.—Selected.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

ADORABLE TOGS FOR BABY
And Up to Six!
Maison Rouff
216 Chartres St.
"Just Down from Godchaux's"

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

United Style Shop

Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.

WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.

Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No Inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.

SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS

In the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.

129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

ELYOD ART NEEDLEWORK CO.
1842 Dryades Street.
Stamped Articles, Floss, Yarn, Crochet Cotton, etc. Mail orders solicited. Send for beautiful illustrated circular of stamped articles.

PRYTANIA HEMSTITCHING PARLOR
1413 LYON ST., NEW ORLEANS
No delay. Out-of-town patronage solicited. Price List furnished on application. Charges prepaid.

The Christian Women's Exchange
Two dollars per year enables a consigner the right to exhibit and ten per cent on sales. A wonderful display of art, curio, and needlework always on hand. Visitors welcomed.
520 ROYAL STREET.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

Robertson-Smith
BEAUTY CULTURIST
Specializing in Scalp Treatment, Massage, Hair Dyeing, and Manicuring.
1031 HOWARD AVE.
Residential Work by Appointment.

Phone, Main 288
Rose M. Caffrey
SUPERIOR MULTIGRAPHING
311 MASONIC TEMPLE

As to What to Wear,
How It Fits or Becomes You, You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.
If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162.
830 CANAL STREET.

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203,
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

Mineralized Water Routs Chicken Lice

Tablets Dropped Into Drinking Founts Banish Vermin, Make Fowls Grow Faster and Increase Egg Yield.

Any poultry raiser can easily rid his flock of lice and mites, make chickens grow faster and increase their egg yield by simply adding minerals to the fowls' drinking water. This does away with all bother, such as dusting, greasing, dipping and spraying. The necessary minerals can now be obtained in convenient tablets, known as Paratabs. Soon after the fowls drink the mineralized water, all lice and mites leave them. The tablets also act as a tonic conditioner. The health of the fowls quickly improves, they grow faster and the egg yield frequently is doubled. Little chicks that drink freely of the water never will be bothered by mites or lice.

The method is especially recommended for raisers of purebred stock, as there is no risk of soiling the plumage. The tablets are warranted to impart no flavor or odor to the eggs and meat. This remarkable conditioner, egg tonic and lice remedy costs only a trifle and is sold under an absolute guarantee. The tablets are scientifically prepared, perfectly safe, and dissolve readily in water.

Any reader of this paper may try them without risk. The laboratories producing Paratabs are so confident of good results that to introduce them to every poultry raiser they offer two big packages for only $1. Send no money, just your name and address—a card will do—to the Paratab Laboratories, Dept. 911, 1100 Coca Cola Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and the two $1 packages, enough for 100 gallons of water, will be mailed. Pay the postman $1 and postage on delivery, and if you are not delighted with results in 10 days—if your chickens are not healthier, laying more eggs and entirely free from lice and mites—your money will be promptly refunded. Don't hesitate to accept this trial offer as you are fully protected by this guarantee.

Epworth League.

TOPIC FOR MARCH 25.—TYPES OF MISSIONARY WORK AT HOME.

Luke 10:33-37; Matt. 11:5.

Daily Bible Readings.

M. A Mission to the Poor. Acts 9:36-39.
T. A Mission to the Afflicted. Acts 3:2-9.
W. A Mission to the Despised. John 4:4-14.
T. A Mission to the Broken-Hearted. John 13:31-41.
F. A Mission to the Sinning. Gal. 6:1, 2.
S. Doing Good to All Men. Gal. 6:9,10.

Purpose of the Meeting.

To present the needs and opportunities of missionary work in the homeland.

The Program.

Let several young men present the opportunities for service in the homeland, which are open to young men while a number of girls may present the work open to young women. This discussion will be more interesting if those on the program will present it in the first person, as if it were their own work. There should grow out of this meeting, some definite plans for work in your own community. This would be the best possible training for one who expects to take up such work as a life service.

Reference Material.

"A Life Service Talk with Myself" (free).

"The Deaconess" (free).

"World Survey—Home Volume" ($1).

For Discussion.

Home mission work as a vocation.

Opportunity for home mission work as a part-time service for Leaguers.

Quotations.

The slogan of the nation is: "We must have an Americanization program"; that of the Church is: "We must have a Christianization program."—E. Worth.

Evangelism is the only true regenerator of the human heart, the only cleanser of the nation.—President Mackenzie.

(Taken from the Devotional Meeting Annual, and used by permission.)

SACRED MEMORIES AROUSED.

"I went from Randolph to Thaxton, on the Toccopola circuit Brothers Patton and Duncan, of Lafayette Springs." What a flood of memories crowd my mind as I read the names of Thaxton, Toccopola, and Lafayette Springs! My first remembrance of a Methodist preacher was at Toccopola, and this preacher was my mother's brother. How my heart was moved with devotion and awe as I beheld my first presiding elder on the steps of the Methodist church in Toccopola, as he was coming from a quarterly conference! This presiding elder was Rev. H. C. Morehead. I attended pretty regularly as a boy the afternoon appointments of the Methodist preacher at Mayhew's Chapel at Thaxton. This church was named for my mother's uncle, Rev. C. C. Mayhew. It was at these monthly afternoon appointments where I got the conviction that the Methodist preachers ask for money too often. Most every appointment it was for the Conference Claimants, Orphans' Home, or some other benevolent cause. I became almost disgusted, and I believe that feeling has had largely to do with the Lord helping me out financially and in being enthusiastic about tithing. It was at Lafayette Springs where I first heard Dr. H. C. Morrison preach. I heard others who came from Kentucky, and for a time I was fully convinced that the doctrine of entire sanctification as taught by Mr. Wesley originated in Kentucky! At Randolph I heard Rev. L. L. Pickett, and at both places I heard another one of our general evangelists, Dr. Andrew Johnson. All three of the above mentioned men were from Kentucky, preached at Lafayette Springs, and were ardent exponents of the Wesleyan doctrine of entire sanctification, so as a young man I came to the conclusion that this good old Methodist doctrine had its birth in Kentucky! Since those days I have found out quite differently! It was under a spacious tabernacle at Lafayette Springs, at the old-fashioned mourners' bench, on the night of July 21, 1903, that I received this most gracious blessing. Oh! how my heart glows now as I think of that night! Have I lived up to its teaching? Have I ever knowingly failed to be brotherly toward any who might have seen differently from me? My consuming desire since that blessed and glorious night has been to adorn this doctrine and exemplify toward all that perfect love that casts out fear. I owe practically all that I am to that night and that glorious experience. Did I know Christ before this night? He had forgiven me of my sins and had written my name in the Lamb's Book about five years before. This night and this experience "compelled me to go out into the highways and hedges," and till this day I still feel that heavenly compulsion. Yes, Randolph, Thaxton, Toccopola, and Lafayette Springs arouse sacred memories to this pastor.

The Lord bless the people of these places, their pastors, and presiding elder.

Still on the way.

J. A. WELLS.

UNITY
DENTAL CO.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE.
Highest class work in the city.
15-YEAR GUARANTEE.
Nerve Blocking our Specialty.
Eliminates all Pain.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE
Phone Main 6606

TEACHERS WANTED
Positions to offer in Grades, High School subjects, Principals and Superintendents of High Schools; also in Colleges. Correspond with us at once. SOUTH ATLANTIC TEACHERS' AGENCY, 410 Wesley Memorial Bldg., Atlanta, Georgia.

MARRIED.

On Feb. 14, 1923, at Seventh Avenue parsonage, Meridian, Miss., by Rev. D. E. Vickers, MR. WILLIE C. SMITH to MISS CLAUDIE MAY HARRIS, both of Meridian, Miss.

Have you ever noticed how many of your opinions are second-hand?—Selected.

It is easier to get a good reputation than to lose a bad one. Selected.

NEW CHURCH DESIGNS
"[illegible] YET ATTAINED"
INDORSED BY CHURCH AUTHORITIES
WRITE US YOUR NEEDS
R·H·HUNT CO·ARCHITECTS·
CHATTANOOGA TENN DALLAS TE

666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

The Hand of God in American History
By Wilbur Fisk Tillett, D.D., LL.D.
Dean Emeritus of the Theological Faculty in Vanderbilt University

WAS RALPH WALDO EMERSON justified in calling America "the last and noblest effort of Divine Providence in behalf of the human race"?

In what way has the history of the United States exemplified the Divine Law?

What deeds can America appeal to in proof of the truth of her claim that she had a providential origin, a providential history, and a providential mission in the world?

There are a dozen good sermons between the lines of this little book.

Board, 35 cents; paper, 25 cents

Lamar & Barton
NASHVILLE RICHMOND
DALLAS SAN FRANCISCO

His Headaches Soon Headed Off

Kentucky Man, Who Suffered With Severe Headache, Says He Found Relief by Taking Black-Draught.

Endicott, Ky.—Describing the trouble he used to have with headache and how he obtained relief by taking Thedford's Black-Draught, Mr. Jeff Jervis, of this place, says:

"I began having severe headaches. I can't tell just how they would begin, but soon my head felt like it would split open and I would be so sick I felt like I was paralyzed.

"I would have shooting pains in my neck, and if I turned my head I felt like it would crack at my neck. My eyeballs were tore and I would vomit. I would be 'torn to pieces' for a day or two. I would take headache medicine and feel so queer afterwards I'd be scared. I didn't feel right—I felt numb.

"I was telling a neighbor and he said: 'Get some Black-Draught and take a big dose when you feel a headache coming on.' I did it and took a few doses each night. Soon I had these headaches headed off. Now it is very seldom I have one at all. I just keep Black-Draught and use it when I need it. I don't let myself get constipated."

Thedford's Black-Draught has been found to relieve many of the symptoms described above, and others, when due to constipation or a torpid liver. It is a purely vegetable remedy, made from carefully selected herbs and roots, contains no dangerous drugs, and acts in a natural way on the system. Try it. Sold everywhere.

EXCITING NEW $1.75 NOVEL FOR 15c.

You Should Read "The Free Trader," That Intensely Interesting Love and Mystery Story of the Canadian Wilds.

Washington, D. C. (Special.)—"The Free Trader," by the [illegible], is a wonderfully absorbing and well told tale of love, heroism, adventure and villainy. The Pathfinder, in accord with its policy of giving the best of everything, has secured the serial rights to this unusual story prior to its publication in book form and will print it starting March 17. The Pathfinder is the great illustrated weekly magazine from the nation's capital, now read in over half a million homes. Send 15 cents and receive it 13 weeks, containing this brand new serial and many other fine stories and features—unequaled digest of news, record of congress, jokes, stunts, puzzles, question box, etc. It costs the editor a lot of money to do this, but he says it pays to invest in new friends. Send 15 cents to-day to Pathfinder, 346 Langdon Station, Washington, D. C.—Adv.

Swamp-Root for Kidney Ailments

There is only one medicine that really stands out preeminent as a medicine for curable ailments of the kidneys, liver and bladder.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root stands the highest for the reason that it has proven to be just the remedy needed in thousands upon thousands of distressing cases. Swamp-Root makes friends quickly because its mild and immediate effect is soon realized in most cases. It is a gentle, healing vegetable compound.

Start treatment at once. Sold at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Taylor University

Represents a happy adjustment between standard education and old time religion. A good place to feed your faith and starve your doubts.

Its schools and departments offer about everything in academic and special courses that the average student needs

Address JOHN PAUL, President
UPLAND, INDIANA

Influenza

Physicians advise keeping the bowels open as a safeguard against Grippe or Influenza.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

IMPORTANT!

Reduced rates of one and one-half fare will be offered for the Council meeting in Mobile. This rate is open not only to delegates, but to any who wish to attend, and tickets will be on sale as early as March 31. Tickets are sold on the usual certificate plan. This is an unusual opportunity for those living in these three Conferences. MRS. H. L. McCLESKEY.

Hattiesburg, Miss., March 1.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI.

Can You Beat Robinsonville?

Some thirty miles below Memphis, in the North Mississippi Conference, Greenville District, is the little town of Robinsonville, in Tunica County. While quautity is not its chief characteristic—for its main street is not much longer than its name—we beg to boast of the quality of its inhabitants. And this is the why and the wherefore of our assertion: Both the Adult Woman's Society and the Junior Missionary Society made the Honor Roll for tho year 1922. At the present writing we have a fine start for 1923, and hope to keep up our excellent record. Isn't there a question often seen in the newspapers these days: "Can you beat it?" Really, can you? MRS. W. E. COX.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

Good News from West Monroe Auxiliary.

As we have not seen a report of the good work carried on in this community we deem it a privilege to report some of the many things accomplished by the West Monroe Methodist Church. Our beloved pastor, Rev. J. L. Evans, went to Conference with a full report, and was returned to us, to the delight of the membership. The W. M. S., through the efficient leadership of the President, Mrs. W. M. Hunt, reached forward towards the Standard of Excellence. Every department is functioning. We wish to mention especially the Social Service activities. After securing our commission and getting in touch with the State Superintendent, Mrs. W. W. Holmes, we proceeded to work with our "might what our hands found to do." Our experiences have been many and varied.

We carried out our quarterly program and secured outside speakers, as suggested in the By-laws on Social Service. We carried out the Citizenship Program, the Baptists co-operating, urging upon our women the responsibility of the ballot. Co-operating with Community Service, we had a "pet" show with a Humane Education Program, securing from the State W. C. T. U. a silver medal. Our boys and girls participated in the program. We secured from the Children's Bureau a motion picture on "Child Welfare," the Tuberculosis and Parish Health unit co-operating. We federated with the Monroe Auxiliary and Protestant Methodists in visiting jails. We have organized a Directing and Friendship Community Club for the Negroes. In conversation with the pastor, an old but highly respected Negro man, he remarked that he felt this a "God's blessing" to his people, as he had always felt the good white people let them go too soon, referring to teaching and directing their efforts. We believe this work is in its infancy, a great, open door for the church, finding the Negro women responsive and anxious to make good, and that they are very humble and appreciative.

We have co-operated with the Juvenile officer in trying to locate a man that has deserted his wife and children; also to find boys out of school, and have befriended an orphan girl that was wrongfully accused of evil. A good committee for the year is appointed, and we are looking forward to doing greater things for our blessed Lord and Master.

Our co-operation motto is: "Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed."

Sincerely in His Name,
EFFIE E. PACE,
Superintendent Social Service,
W. Monroe W. M. S.

WOMEN PLEAD FOR CENTENARY FUNDS.

Administrative missionary secretaries of the woman's department of the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, are urging speedy collections of Centenary money. They say that missionary interests under their charge are threatened and their work will suffer unless additional funds are available. They urge that members of the woman's missionary societies in Methodist churches in this section lend every assistance in the church-wide emergency campaign which is planned to complete the collection of Centenary money subscribed four years ago.

This matter was discussed at a meeting of the church leaders held in Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 28, 29, to devise ways and means to bring up arrearages to the $35,000,000 Centenary fund. The four administrative secretaries of the woman's department of the Board of Missions of the M. E. Church, South, told how Centenary money allotted to work in their departments is yet unpaid.

Mrs. J. H. McCoy, administrative secretary of the woman's department for territory east of the Mississippi river, says that a large proportion of the Centenary money allotted to work in her department is yet unpaid.

Mrs. J. W. Downs, administrative secretary for the home department of the woman's work in the western and central territory, reports that money is needed in her department to further the work of Wesley Houses, work in educational centers and among the immigrant population of the United States.

Miss Esther Case reports advances on eight foreign fields, namely: Africa, Cuba, Brazil, Mexico, China, Japan and Korea. An extensive building program is going on and many new missionaries have been sent out as a result of the impetus given to missions by the Centenary Movement.

—Missionary Voice.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT. Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

TETTERINE

ENDS COMPLEXION WORRIES.

Healing, Antiseptic, Soothing, Fragrant.

60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

WHEELER
Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

I thank thee too that thou hast made
Joy to abound,
So many gentle thoughts and deeds
Circling us round
That in the darkest spots of earth
Some love is found.

—Adelaide Proctor.

WATCH THE DATE ON YOUR ADDRESS LABEL AND RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION WHEN IT FALLS DUE.

A blind man and a lame man meeting upon the way, the lame man said, "If thou wilt be feet unto me, then I will be eyes unto thee." So the blind man carrying the lame, and the lame guiding the blind, both arrived at their journey's end in a good hour.—Aesop.

Aspirin

Say "Bayer" and Insist!

BAYER

Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds
Toothache
Earache
Neuralgia
Headache
Lumbago
Rheumatism
Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

IN MEMORIAM.

The subject of this sketch, Hon. WILLIAM JOHN JOHNSTON, was born December 14, 1856, in the Fairfield District of South Carolina, and died at his home in Plain Dealing, Bossier Parish, La., Friday morning, February 2, 1923, in the sixty-seventh year of his age.

When a young man he came to Louisiana and settled in the section of Bossier Parish on Bodcau Lake, where the writer first became acquainted with him in 1886, ever afterwards esteeming him as a gentleman and true Christian.

Senator Johnston was a living example of service to his fellow-men. He was one of the first to join the M. E. Church, South, at Walker's Chapel in his section, and served as steward both there and at Plain Dealing, where he afterwards removed, to the day of his death, in all nearly or quite forty years. He was the pastor's friend and sympathetic adviser.

Hon. William John Johnston.

His personality soon attracted attention with his executive ability, and in 1892 he was requested to act as a member of the Parish School Board, where he served for sixteen years. He was then requested to stand for election to the State Legislature, where he served honorably from 1908 to 1916 as a member of the House of Representatives, and was then elected to the State Senate from the Parishes of Bossier and Webster, and was re-elected without opposition for the term beginning in 1920 for another four years.

Had Senator Johnston lived through his present term he would have served thirty-two years in public service without one penny of reward, and often not receiving enough to pay his expenses. Such was his noble self-sacrifice.

No one ever feared where Senator Johnston stood on all public questions. He was forever on the side of RIGHT! He aided in passing anti-race track gambling, the ratification of prohibition, and was known to favor all moral legislation. It was unnecessary for the friends of moral measures to remind him to be present in his seat when these matters were to come up. They knew he would be there.

In Baton Rouge he was faithful in his attendance at the services of the church, oftentimes even the prayer meetings, and was always letting his light shine, glorifying his Lord.

Neither did he forget the prisoners. He was often with me in the services in the State Penitentiary at Angola, the old walls, and afterwards at the receiving station. His presence among these men was an inspiration to them.

Senator Johnston was married three times. His first wife was Miss Susie Hendricks. To this union four children were born. His second wife was Mrs. John Stroud, and to this union was born one child. His third wife was Mrs. Israel Rogers, who, with four of the children, survive.

The living children are: Mr. William Davis Johnston, of Phillips Hill, La.; Mr. Henry Pleasant Johnston, of Emma, La.; Mrs. W. F. Burks, of Phillips Hill, La., and Mrs. J. D. Waggoner, of Plain Dealing, La.

Also there are two living brothers, Messrs. S. P. and J. B. Johnston, of Plain Dealing, La., and three sisters, Mrs. M. W. Cason, residing near Cotton Valley, La., and the other two residing in Texas. Senator Johnston also left several grandchildren.

In the death of Senator Johnston the State of Louisiana lost a true Christian legislator; a man of sound wisdom and prudence, and all who knew him loved and respected him.

His funeral took place in Plain Dealing, where he had resided for the past sixteen years. Rev. A. J. Bonnett, his pastor, conducting the services, assisted by Rev. H. J. McGhee, of the Presbyterian Church, and the Masons, of which order he had been an honorable members for many years. Final interment took place at Emma, near the old Walker's Chapel, where he had joined the church in his early manhood.

Thus the life of this good man came to a close in honor and service to his State and church.

May his example be an inspiration to all who read! He lived respected, and died regretted!

"Servant of God, well done!
Thy glorious warfare's past:
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou are crowned at last."

H. S. JOHNS.

Baton Rouge, La.

BEAUTIFUL LIGHT OF GOD.

By F. H. Murphy.

There's no shadow falls behind
Where the beautiful light doth shine;
All around us is but light.
There's no darkness in our sight.

His presence fills the universe,
Dispelling all that's dark,
His light is great above the Heavens,
While ours is but a spark.

When his glory is revealed,
We shall stand in perfect light,
For the power of his glory
Shall chase away the night.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS — A FINE GENERAL TONIC
If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.

For Troubled Nerves,
high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashhville, Tenn.

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED
Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1900 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

For the HAIR—
To make it soft, fluffy and free from dandruff use
TETTERINE
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Purifies the Blood and makes the cheeks rosy. 60c

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 127, ATLANTA, GA.

Child's tongue shows if bilious, constipated

MOTHER, CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

Hurry mother! A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If your child is constipated, bilious, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good liver and bowel action is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup." It never cramps or overacts. Full directions for babies and children of all ages are printed on each bottle. Say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Ruptured?—

Throw Away Your Truss!

For Many Years We Have Been Telling You That No Truss Will Ever Help You --- We Have Told You the Harm That Trusses Are Doing. We Have Told You That the Only Truly Comfortable and Scientific Device for Holding Rupture is the Brooks Rupture Appliance --- and That It Is

Sent on Trial to Prove It

If you have tried most everything else, come to us. Where others fail is where we have our greatest success.

Send attached coupon today and we will send you free our illustrated book on Rupture and its cure, showing our Appliance and giving you prices and names of many people who have tried it and were cured. It is instant relief when all others fail. Remember, we use no salves, no harness, no lies.

We send on trial to prove, what we say is true. There is no better guide in life than the experience of others.

Below are a few letters picked, all from our files, and coming from all sections of the country. They cover the experience of men, women and children.

Some of them may prove of interest to you. We have thousands of similar letters all of them telling the gratitude and joy felt by the writers over the relief and cures brought by the Brooks Appliance.

Read them and try to imagine your own joy if you too had found all your rupture troubles over.

"Did Everything You Said It Would"

Mt. Pleasant, Utah, Box 151,
February 9, 1921.

Dear Mr. Brooks:—I am writing this letter to let you know that your Appliance has completely cured me of my rupture. I wore it for one year and it did everything that you said it would. I have recommended your Appliance to several of my friends for I am sure it would do them as much good as it has done me. If you wish to use my name for advertising you have my consent.

With Kindest Regards,

J. C. Christensen.

C. E. Brooks

The Above is C. E. Brooks, Inventor of the Appliance. Mr. Brooks Cured Himself of Rupture Over 30 Years Ago, and Patented the Appliance From His Personel Experience. If Ruptured Write Todey to the Brooks Appliance Co., Marshall, Mich.

Ten Reasons Why

You Should Send For Brooks Rupture Appliance

1. It is absolutely the only Appliance of the kind on the market today, and in it are embodied the principles that inventors have sought after for years.

2. The Appliance for retaining the rupture cannot be thrown out of position.

3. Being an air cushion of soft rubber it clings closely to the body, yet never blisters or causes irritation.

4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, used in other trusses, it is not cumbersome or ungainly.

5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.

6. The soft, pliable bands holding the Appliance do not give one the unpleasant sensation of wearing a harness.

7. There is nothing about it to get foul, and when it becomes soiled it can be washed without injuring it in the least

8. There are no metal springs in the Appliance to torture one by cutting and bruising the flesh.

9. All of the material of which the Appliances are made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.

10. We guarantee your comfort at all times and in all positions, and sell every Appliance with this positive understanding.

So Reasonable in Price

Oswego, Ill., Box 53,
July 7, 1921.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir;—I am pleased to inform you that your Appliance absolutely cured me and I truthfully recommend it to anyone that is ruptured. I thank you for the wonderful cure that your Appliance gave me and, as it's within the reach of everybody, I should surely think they would get one. If this will help you along you can use it as you wish. With Best Wishes,

David T. Matthews.

Advises All to Try the Appliance

Hiawatha, Mich.,
July 1?, 1921.

Brooks Rupture Appliance Co.,
Marshall, Mich.

Gentlemen:—A year ago I purchased one of your Appliances, and after wearing it three months I was completely cured. The Doctor had told me I would have to have an operation, but I advise all sufferers of hernia to try your Appliance first. You may publish my statement if you care to.

Yours truly,

Mrs. Glen Reed.

"My Rupture Completely Cured"

Horton, Kans.,
June 12, 1921.

My Dear Mr. Brooks:—I have not had occasion to put the Appliance on for more than two years and have not worn it to exceed one year all told. My rupture is completely healed, and you may use this for a testimonial if you choose. I will gladly refer any rupture patients to you that I may come in contact with.

Yours truly,

L. T. Broaddus.

"Thought We Would Try Your Appliance First"

Princeton, Minn., R. No. 5,
April 26, 1921.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—Our little girl became ruptured about three years ago. The Doctor said an operation would be about the only cure for her, but we thought we'd try your Appliance first. After wearing it about one year she was cured. She hasn't worn it now for over a year and is perfectly cured. Use my name in any manner for the benefit of those who are suffering.

With Best Wishes,

Wm. Vedders.

Experience of a Molder

Dayton, Ohio, 201 Springfield St.,
February 14, 1921.

Brooks Appliance Co., Marshall, Mich.

Gentlemen: —About a year and a half ago I bought an Appliance of you and it has cured me of my rupture. Haven't worn it since October 23rd and feel as if I am entirely cured. I am a molder and did heavy work during that time. I am recommending your Appliance to all I know.

Yours truly,

C. L. Robinson.

Cannot Express Gratitude Felt

Mattoon, Wis., Box 605, R. No. 1,
April 10, 1921.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—I cannot find words to express my gratitude—all I can say is "Thanks to your Appliance." It has done wonders for my son. It is a year and four months since he was ruptured and after wearing your Appliance four months it disappeared. You can use this in your testimonials.

Truly yours, Frank Beck.

Surprised and Grateful

Roanoke, Ind., R. No. 2,
March 23, 1921.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—I laid my Appliance aside in June, 1920, and haven't had it on since. I now feel that my rupture is completely cured, for which I am surprised and greatly thankful. I am a farmer and do all kinds of work now without fear. I believe the thing to do for rupture is to get the Brooks Rupture Appliance.

A. L. Brundige.

Remember

Never on sale in stores, as every Appliance is made to order, the proper size and shape of Air Cushion depending on the nature of each case. Beware of imitations. Look for trademark bearing portrait and signature of C. E. Brooks which appears on every Appliance. None other genuine.

"Tried All Kinds of Trusses"

Gordon, Nebr., R. No. 1,
January 6, 1921.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—I tried all kinds of trusses without any relief until I bought your Appliance. When I sent for the Appliance I thought it was like all other trusses, but no—it relieved me. I wore your Appliance a long time, being afraid to go without it, but am completely cured. I will be glad to answer any inquiry that is made and words tell how thankful I am.

Sincerely yours,

Gust Nordwall.

"Have Done All Kinds of Work"

Monson, Maine, Box 234,
March 15, 1921.

Mr. C. E. Brooks, Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—It has been two years and over since I wore my Appliance and have done all kinds of work and have felt fine ever since. It's the best Appliance I ever had and will encourage everyone I see that has a rupture to get one of your Appliances.

Yours. J. W. Russell.

FREE Information Coupon

Brooks Appliance Co.,
443J State Street, Marshall, Mich.

Please send me by mail in plain wrapper your illustrated book and full information about your Appliance for the cure of rupture.

Name ..........................................................................
Address ......................................................................
R.F.D. ......... City ............................ State ....................

NEW ORLEANS
CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 12. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3502.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, MARCH 22, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

THE ONLY REMEDY.

There is only one remedy for a world that is out of joint—the religion of Jesus Christ. Various other remedies have been tried, and all have failed. The militarists have done their best—or their worst—and still the world is trembling in the balance between universal peace and another war. The diplomatists have held conference after conference, but they seem to have availed naught in settling the troubles of the distracted nations. The business men of the world have come together to consider the situation, and they have been unable to agree upon a solution. Now it is time to give God a chance. Righteousness alone can exalt a people, and righteousness alone can save the world. The militarists, the diplomatists, the business men, all have proceeded upon the assumption that self-interest must be the dominating principle in negotiations looking toward a satisfactory international agreement, but their utmost efforts have not relieved the difficulty. Self-interest—which is another term for selfishness—never can solve the problem. The altruism of the gospel alone can bring about a state of harmony, good will, and peace. We must preach this gospel, and we must live it—all the time, everywhere. Christianity has not failed, and it will not fail if we give it a fair chance. It is high time that we begin to bring the mind that was in Christ to the solution of our world problems.

DEADHEADS.

"Deadhead" is a colloquial term which is used to designate those who receive for nothing privileges and benefits that most people have to pay for. For example, sometimes the promoter of a theatrical enterprise will issue free tickets for the sake of getting a crowd to attend his performance—all who use these tickets are "deadheads." They have not paid anything for what they receive, they will not pay anything—but they will take advantage of any opportunity to get something for nothing. We are not sure that they ought to be called "deadheads"—but we sometimes think there are people whose names are on the church register who cannot be placed in any other classification. They have joined the church in due form, assuming all the solemn obligations of membership and voluntarily affirming their purpose to attend upon the ordinances of the church, obey its rules, and support its institutions; yet they very seldom appear in the sanctuary, they take no interest in its work, they contribute not a cent to its expenses. In times of need they seem to feel that they are entitled to all the privileges of the church—but they never offer anything in return. It may be all right for the church to carry "deadheads"—but it would be in a poor way if it were dependent upon them for carrying out its divine commission. It seems to us that about the last thing a self-respecting person would want to be is the thing we are talking about. We notice that benevolent and fraternal organizations to carry mighty few "deadheads" on their rolls.

A CONVERSION.

Fred Stone, the noted comedian, while on a tour recently, was snowbound for a week and during that time he began to think seriously of his personal responsibility toward God. At the first opportunity, he bought a Bible and began to read and pray. When he reached Butte, Montana, he called on the pastor of the Methodist church to talk with him about his religious life. That pastor tells the story as follows: "He said his instincts were always good and that his playing was always wholesome and clean, yet he realized that something had been lacking in his life. I explained to him the meaning of Christianity and the necessity of faith in Jesus Christ and acceptance of his program. While on our knees, Fred Stone gave his life to God.

"Mr. Stone attended services Sunday morning and listened to a sermon on the divine principle of property ownership. After the benediction he grasped the pastor's hand and said, 'I shall give one-tenth of my income for Christian work.'

"He attended Sunday school and contributed $79 to the school and the church. He ascended the pulpit and told his life story and his decision. He told of his early home in Denver, his experience on the plains. Twenty years before he was baptized in the Methodist Church, but since had scarcely attended service. 'I am now determined to live a Christian life,' he said. 'I mean to be true to this decision to the end of the trail.'

"Fred Stone then fell upon his knees at the chancel, and while every head was bowed reverently he repeated the Lord's Prayer he had learned in childhood."

Later, when a great daily newspaper sent him a telegram asking for confirmation of the report of his conversion, Fred Stone replied: "What you read in the Butter Miner is true. I am not looking for publicity. It is a simple and natural thing, much too sacred to be used as copy."

Would that more men would take the time to think seriously of their personal responsibility toward God! Then the grace of God would be shed abroad in their hearts, and they would yield allegiance to Jesus Christ. It is a simple and natural thing to do—and it is much too sacred to be used simply as newspaper copy.

LAZINESS AND UNHAPPINESS.

We read this the other day: "Happiness is a by-product of industry." We think there is good sense in the statement. We began to think of the happiest people we know—and all of them are busy people; and then we began to think of those who seem always to have a grouch and they are not doing much. We can conceive of a man's actually being too lazy to be unhappy—but his happiness is a good deal like that of the turtle, which climbs out of the water on a log and seems to enjoy himself immensely just a sittin' in the sun. He may be happy or unhappy—but it does not amount to much one way or another. We do know this: a man who can work and won't work has no right to happiness. Are you happy?

EASTER OFFERINGS FOR OUR ORPHANAGES.

The church must never forget the obligation resting upon it to take care of its dependent children. In meeting that obligation, we have in Louisiana and Mississippi two institutions devoted to the care of these helpless little ones. In Louisiana, the Annual Conference, by formal action, recommends the taking of a collection on Easter Sunday in every congregation and Sunday school for the support of the Orphanage; and in Mississippi, we presume that the same cause appeals strongly to all our people. We commend heartily the taking of an offering on that day for the support of this noble work.

WHERE DO THEY STAND?

We believe that horse racing as conducted in Louisiana is a curse without a single redeeming feature. The gambling that is necessarily attendant upon it is in violation of every sound economic and moral principle, and the evils that follow it are such as to call for its extermination. As the time is fast approaching when candidates for the governorship of the State will announce themselves, we join vigorously in the demand that those who seek this high office let the public know where they stand on this important question. If, in spite of the declaration of the State Constitution that gambling is an evil and the Legislature shall take steps to abolish it, any candidate for office is in favor of permitting horse racing, which is dependent upon gambling for its maintenance, whether as a wide-open proposition or under the control of a State board, we want to know it—and we have a right to know it. Come out in the open, gentlemen, and let the people know just what to expect. The Louisiana State Lottery was finally wiped out—and the horse race gamble is going to meet the same fate. Even respectable men cannot make respectable a disreputable business.

THE CENTENARY PLEDGES.

Those who made Centenary pledges have either paid them, or they have not paid them. If they have paid them to date, happy are they; if they have not paid them simply because they would not, they are responsible for a serious situation in the church. Let us pay our pledges!

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One Year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

A REPLY TO THE WISH EXPRESSED IN THE POEM, "THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN."

By Rev. R. W. Tucker.

But is there not such a wonderful place,
  "A Land of Beginning Again,"
Where all our sorrow and grief and pain
  Will be seen to be the richest of gain?
A place where the soul will cease its vain wishing,
  And sighs will be changed into song;
A place where anthems of praise will be ringing
  To gladden us all the day long?

Yes! 'Tis the city of God, so wondrous fair,
  A city with streets of pure gold,
Where shines no sun and no candles they bear,
  And the inhabitants never grow old;
Where the winds that blow off the eternal hills
  Fan away all sorrow and care;
Where the mansions so bright his presence fills;
  And Jesus invites us all there.

There, those we have loved and lost awhile
  Are safe in the heavenly fold,
And they drink in his love and bask in his smile;
  But the half can never be told
Of its riches of grace and its beauty of place.
  Where the saved are gathering home,
All heaven to greet them in fond embrace
  And none will want ever to roam.

Ah! there they shall know as now they are known,
  And see as they are seen,
Bathed in light from the eternal throne
  And never a cloud between;
Their natures there will be enlarged,
  Their powers all energized,
And with immortal youth surcharged
  They'll rise to explore the skies.

Their golden harps in sweet accord
  With the music of the eternal spheres,
And robed and crowned by their gracious Lord,
  They'll praise him through endless years,
Singing forever the old, old story
  Sung by all the heavenly host,
And on and on, from glory to glory,
  Praising Father. Son, and Holy Ghost.

So there is "a wonderful place
Called the Land of Beginning Again;
Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches
And all our poor selfish grief
Will be dropped, like a shabby old coat, at the door,
And never put on again."

EASTER AND EVANGELISM.

By R. L. Russell, D.D.

It has come to be a custom with many of our churches to conduct pre-Easter evangelistic campaigns. This is a good sign and it will be a great thing for our Methodism when all our churches devote the month preceding Easter to evangelism.

In these campaigns we should promote services of prayer, family religion, Christian stewardship and life service; but most of all, we should proclaim the happy news of salvation for all penitent sinners.

It is hoped that with the close of this Easter time there may be at least 100,000 people added to our church. This should be our minimum goal. Why should not 2,300,000 members gain 100,000 new members for the church and Kingdom in a four weeks' campaign? One hundred thousand new members would be less than fifteen to each pastor of our denomination. Therefore, if every pastor of his church would set as his minimum goal fifteen additions to the church as an Easter offering to our Lord, we would easily reach the 100,000.

The Bureau of Evangelism craves to be of help to the brethren in creating a real revival spirit throughout the church. We are glad to co-operate with the Commission on Evangelism and Life Service of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America in this great pre-Easter campaign, and submit herewith a letter which they have addressed to all Protestant Churches in America:

A CALL TO PRAYER

For the Pre-Easter Period and the Holy Week of Prayer, March 25 to April 1, 1923.

"When has the world's need for sympathy and brotherhood been so impelling and beseeching as it is to-day? When have hate and selfishness so nearly brought ruin to all that is good and helpful? How shall the church perform to-day the task to which God has sent her as the light of the world and the salt of the earth, if her own lamp is not trimmed and burning and her own life so true that she can be the purifying influence in a time of selfishness and sin?

"The call to the church is first of all a summons to prayer and consecration. We need to confess our shortcomings and to be ashamed of our aloofness, our sinfulness and complacency. Let us examine ourselves before we take others to task. Hatred and selfish unconcern will cease among the nations when they cease in the individual hearts of men and women.

"There is a deepening conviction among men that the greatest power on earth is the power of prayer. It will release more energy for the world's help than any other agency. Pentecosts are ever at hand and will fall upon the church when, by the same method that precipitated the first Pentecost, she brings herself close to the Infinite.

"'Day long a craven cry goes up,
The people drink a bitter cup,
They languish, seeking stones for bread.
Brave faith seems fallen—the old hope dead,
The babblers will not cease,
The people have no peace.
Wake, wake your strings of fire!
God for us—strike the lyre!'

"Our topics for the Easter season present Jesus Christ as the Savior of the world. There is no human need so great that he cannot meet it; there is no want that he cannot satisfy. Once more we follow in his footsteps through the tender teaching, the holy fellowship, the cruel scourging, and the agony of the cross. With greater hope than ever we hail the Easter Dawn and pray that the light of that great day may illuminate the world.

"'He went out into a mountain to pray and continued all night in prayer to God.'

"'And when it was day . . . he came down . . . and stood in the plain . . . There went virtue out of him and healed them all.'

"Thus with the Master, he who would do the work of the world in the daylight hours must find his way back, at every eventide, to the sources of his spiritual strength. There is no vital service without a commensurate spiritual life, and the one will be as real and abiding as the other is deep and reverent.

"The world's deepest need is not political, is not economic; it is, in every age, and above all at the present hour, the need of vital religion."

"Protestantism may find it difficult to get together on many things, but we should find it easy to agree on a campaign of soul-winning. The salvation of the human race waits largely on the American churches, and yet not one-half of the American people are members of any church—either Protestant or Roman Catholic, and many of us who belong to the churches are half-Christian and half-pagan—judging by much of our attitude of life. It is well, therefore, that we set aside this pre-Easter time for heart-searching, repentance, a renewal of our vows, and an aggressive campaign for the lost.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON COMITY.

The following recommendations were adopted by the Joint Commission on Comity representing the Methodist Episcopal Church and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at a meeting held in Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 14, 1923:

In beginning these negotiations, we desire to emphasize the fact that no step should be taken in the interest of either church that may be a detriment to American Methodism.

During the progress of the negotiations of the Joint Commission on Unification of the two churches we recommend:

1. That no plans looking to the exchange of territory in the same field be attempted by this Commission.

2. That there shall be the largest possible co-operation in all the connectional enterprises of the two churches.

3. That to this end, the Executive Committee of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension, and the Board of Missions and the Sunday School Board of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, or such sub-committee from the same as the bodies involved may mutually agree upon and appoint, shall meet in joint session with a view to reaching such agreements in regard to co-operation and the occupation of unoccupied territory as may seem wise.

4. That neither church shall organize a new society in any community in which the other church has a duly organized society, except by the consent of the quarterly conference of the existing society.

5. That we deem it wise to call attention to the fact that in certain portions of the field where both our churches are now actively at work, marked and rapid developments are taking place which are constantly opening up new opportunities. We recommend that our administrators, and especially those of them who by our church laws are made more or less directly responsible for the occupancy of such fields, use special care to observe comity, to avoid even the appearance of competition and overlapping, and to co-operate in such a way and to such degrees as that all the doors shall be entered and all needy fields occupied without duplication or overlapping.

A BETTER MADE AND A BETTER CIRCULATED ADVOCATE.

By Rev. P. O. Lowrey.

According to our judgment, the "News from the Districts" is the best forward move that has been made in late years for making the Advocate both interesting and profitable to the readers, and will go far towards making it a paper that will be self-supporting on its own merits. We have always wondered why our seven Louisiana presiding elders, and our several Conference field workers—together with the editor—could not tell us what our churches throughout the Conference are doing. For when you add to our seven presiding elders, our Educational, Sunday school, Missionary, orphanage, and our Methodist Anti-Saloon League secretaries and agents, whose duties call them to travel among the churches of the State, we have enough field workers to tell us much that is going on, and some things that are not, and none of them be severely taxed at their reportorial desks. And when we do not hear from them for such long periods of time we never know whether they are working or resting, and some times are tempted to guess that they have betaken themselves to comfortable quarters, and are congratulating themselves that they have escaped the strenuous work of the pastorate. Dr. Todd of the Superannuate Endowment cause is an example of what a specialist might be when he is really putting his life's blood and brain into his work, for in almost any church paper that you pick up you will find published carefully prepared news and various types of information, without limit. This in addition to his traveling throughout the church represents, we dare say, unceasing work on the trains and at wayside hotels both by day and by night, and his is one work about which there is no question raised in the minds of the church as to whether it is worth what it costs. Where are our Louisiana Conference corps of specialists that we so rarely ever hear of where they are or what they are doing?

As reporters, our presiding elders are starting off well, but need to learn the editorial knack of news gathering, which will come by note-making and experience. In their first round they took up too much space, we think, in complimenting the pastors, and not enough in telling us of the new moves in the several churches. Some of us doubtless need complimenting, and some of our work should be commended, but to compliment us too much looks as if it might be "put up stuff," and as if our elders might be surprised, rather than expect, that "Brother Swift starts off well at First Church," and "Brother Humble was well received on Hardscramble." Let our reporters tell us of the special features of merit in the different church organizations, and what moves the pastors and lay workers in the several churches are leading, and how they are doing it, and we can make notes of these and pass the ideas and inspiration on to our churches. To commend in good taste the virtues of Christian workers is always in place, but too much of it offends the ethical sense and is repugnant to the one complimented and to the one to whom it is made as well. But let the "News from the Districts" and from the several field workers come in thick and fast and in every issue—properly boiled down by the editor—and we will give you in return willing readers and an enlarged subscription list. The "canned goods" that is passed around among the Advocates is doubtless worthy of such publication, as so many of our people do not read the general church organs, but most of our members do not read this, and are not willing to pay for its publication except as a matter of church loyalty. They expect from their Conference papers what they propose to give them—news and progress from their own people. To this end the editor should bestir himself and get the pastors and laymen who have thoughts and experiences that express individuality to write them down for the readers of the Advocate, allowing them to think their own thoughts and experiences and express them in their own way, even at the expense of what might look more orthodox and more dignified, and we can have a paper that will fill a high place in developing the forces of the Kingdom.

The provision that the statistics have made for having the church papers reported in our Conference Minutes is a likewise important forward move, as now we can get a line on what pastors are doing in the educational development of their congregations, and know how many are reading our church literature. An untaught church member is subject to all kinds of ecclesiastical diseases, and is at best an uncertain quantity, and any pastor who is running his church mostly on enthusiasm, is a poor kingdom builder, for it is only a matter of time when the enthusiasm will cool off, and the members must run on character and intelligent duty, and then if untaught they are all at sea, and their landing uncertain.

In our congregation here, approximating some five hundred members, we have increased the subscribers to our Conference and General organs from one each to 40 to the New Orleans and 17 to the Nashville Advocate, and the Epworth Era and Missionary Voice in about the same proportion in their special fields, as well as a full supply of the Sunday school papers for the several grades of scholars, in two years, and that in the midst of the sorest financial depression that we have ever known except that in North Louisiana in 1897. This was made possible by the help of a loan fund of $30, that was given us by a benevolent man of means, which enabled us right on the spot to send in anybody's subscription who wanted to subscribe. At one time, in addition to the $30 of the loan fund, we had out about $15 of our own meagre allowance, but it has practically all been paid back and we are still using the loan to fine advantage, having secured seven Epworth Era subscribers, four New Orleans Advocate subscribers, and a club of thirteen at half-price—for the Christian Herald, since Conference. Suppose the pastors who are unable to get the Advocate subscriptions put into their regular budgets try this loan fund plan?

We are with you for a better made and a better circulated Advocate.

Indian Bayou, La.

WESLEY MEMORIAL MISSION—REV. WALDO W. MOORE.

By Payton A. Sowell.

There is no busier pastor in Mississippi than Rev. W. W. Moore. He has a difficult charge to cultivate. It is as important as it is difficult. This year, the Conference added other points to it—except the distinctive mission—among the foreign element of the city and suburbs of Biloxi.

After Conference, his presiding elder, who himself will not allow the grass to grow under his own feet, and feels that it must not under his colaborers' feet, has added the visitation and ministry to the ships that enter the Gulfport harbor to the work of Rev. W. W. Moore.

Brother Moore cannot effectively serve this wide charge and walk or depend on the electric cars.

He has attempted to secure a Ford—to be the property of the Mission, to be used by himself while pastor, and by his successor. He has hoped, and so has his presiding elder, that liberal-hearted Methodists in the Mississippi Conference and elsewhere, would realize the need of this pastor for Ford and its importance to the work, and would contribute the money for the purchase of this Ford.

Brother Moore could not do without it; and he has already bought one and involved himself in the pledge for its purchase.

It is, in its way and in its situation, as important as the "Near East." Brother Moore and his presiding elder do not even dream I am writing this, as I sit here in No. 176 Camp Ground. I did not know myself I was going to do so, until fifteen minutes ago I felt "moved" by some "spirit" to do so before I slept. I am an old "Forgotten"—74 years old, licensed 58 years ago, joined the Itinerant brotherhood 53 years ago, and a member of the Tennessee Conference. I love our ministry, and church; I am touched with a sense of the present need in the case of Brother Moore and the Ford. If the Methodists of the Mississippi Conference and other good-hearted saints desire to do a gracious service, why, on reading this, send a check as generous as you can afford to Rev. W. W. Moore, Biloxi, Miss., and do not delay.

SUMMER SCHOOLS FOR PASTORS.

The Board of Missions and the Sunday School Board, in co-operation with the Annual Conference Boards and colleges, will conduct fifteen schools for rural and city pastors during the coming summer. Doctor J. W. Perry will represent the Board of Missions in directing the school for city pastors, Rev. Robert H. Ruff for the town and country pastors, and Mr. L. F. Sensabaugh will represent the General Sunday School Board and direct the work of Religious Education in each of these schools.

The pastors and membership of rural and town churches, which comprise three-fourths of the membership of the church, will be interested to know that plans have been developed and are nearing completion for holding fifteen schools for rural pastors during the summer of 1923. These schools were initiated two years ago by the Rural Work Department of the Board of Missions. That they have met a real need is evidenced by the fact that in response to the demand the number of schools has been increased yearly. Two years ago there were two schools held. The experiment was so successful that last year, 1922, six schools, with approximately six hundred pastors in attendance, were held. In 1923 it is proposed to conduct fifteen of these schools. And in order to make it possible for rural pastors to have training in the entire program of the church, the Sunday School Board will co-operate with the Board of Missions in putting on a full and comprehensive course of study.

The rural training schools are designed primarily to bring university extension work to the pastors and lay workers in country sections. They enable the pastor of a country church to keep abreast with the times and to secure special training in his own line of work. They are to the country preacher what the summer normal is to the literary teacher, the course of lectures to the doctor or scientific worker. Many pastors have not had the advantage of higher education. Special training will help to overcome this handicap. The rural school is the answer to the question, What can we do for the preacher in the country to make him more efficient? Adequate provisions have also been made to meet the needs of the large town and city pastors.

Twelve days of regular study are required. A full four-year course of study has been outlined, covering every phase of rural life as it pertains to the work of a pastor. These courses include studies in presenting the gospel message, Bible study, Sunday school work, all problems touching community life, practical methods and training, recreational and health topics. Outstanding men and women, authorities on these subjects, have been secured to compose the faculty. They will bring to the pastor in his own setting and surroundings the benefit of years of study and practical experience. Bishops and leaders of our own denomination will be active in rendering assistance. Written examinations at the close of the session will be required and credits given for the work done. Upon the completion of any course, credits will be given looking to a full diploma.

In planning locations for the 1923 schools, thought has been given to the accessibility from various points in Annual Conference territory.

It is expected that the pastors from Mississippi and Louisiana will attend either the Birmingham School, Birmingham-Southern College, Birmingham, Ala., May 31-June 14, Doctor Guy E. Snavely, Dean, or the Hendrix College School, Conway, Ark., June 13-27, Doctor J. H. Reynolds, Dean.

MERIDIAN DISTRICT CONFERENCE AND SUNDAY SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

The District Conference of the Meridian District will be held at Poplar Springs, Meridian, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 1 and 2. Let the pastors elect delegates promptly and send their names, with others who should attend, to our host, Rev. W. A. Hays, Poplar Springs Road, Meridian, Miss. All local preachers should be present with written reports of their labors for the past year. If impossible to attend, send reports. Let quarterly conference records be presented for examination.

The District Sunday School Institute will meet at 2:30 Monday afternoon, April 30, with afternoon and evening sessions. Rev. J. C. Chambers, Conference Field Secretary, will be in charge.

Names of the Sunday school workers who expect to attend should be sent to Brother Hays.

Brethren, let us pray earnestly for the presence of the Holy Spirit that our meeting together may be a great spiritual blessing to the entire district.

PAUL D. HARDIN, P. E.

Meridian, Miss., March 12, 1923.

NEWS FROM THE DISTRICTS.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Sardis District.

Please let every pastor, charge lay leader, and treasurer of the Centenary do all within his power to make the Centenary collection during the month set aside for doing this work. Of course, there is no disposition on the part of the church leaders to press the collection of Centenary pledges where people are not able to meet them. To seek to collect from those who have it not, would be contrary to the spirit of Christ. On the other hand, it is contrary to the spirit of Christ for one to refuse to pay this solemn obligation when one is able to pay. Some of our good and loyal laymen throughout our church are borrowing money to meet these just claims. Such men are to be commended for their loyalty to God and to the church. I trust and believe that the good people of the Sardis District will not fail God and their church at this crucial hour in the history of our world. Above all, we preachers, lay leaders, and Centenary treasurers must not fail to do all within our power to lay the claims of the great Centenary cause upon the hearts of our people. I am depending upon the preachers of the District to do all within their power in behalf of the Centenary and all other claims of our great church.

* * *

The work of the District is progressing well. All our pastors are busy and are getting things in shape for a good year's work. I shall make special report on but few of the charges this month.

* * *

Coldwater: Things are moving in the right direction at Coldwater under the leadership of Brother R. G. Moore. The League at that place is one of the best in the North Mississippi Conference. Its efficiency and enthusiasm are an inspiration to the whole church. Two missionary specials are being carried by the Coldwater church—one by the League and one by the Woman's Missionary Society. The several Disciplinary committees were appointed and installed in the early part of the Conference year. The Committees on Evangelism, and Stewardship and Tithing are doing efficient work. The religious census will be completed at an early date. Quite a number of the people have indicated their purpose to tithe. Plans are being formulated to make the Sunday school an agency of power and evangelism. They will endeavor to work out the B program of work as outlined by the General Sunday School Board. Since Conference, the pastor has made two hundred and twelve pastoral visits. Last, but not least, the enterprising pastor of Coldwater is publishing a monthly church bullletin which will greatly stimulate all the interests of the church.

* * *

Hernando: Pat Luter blows no trumpet, but he is silently and effectively pushing forward the interest of the Kingdom in that good town of Hernando. I like the personal work that Pat does for the Kingdom. Since Conference, one has joined the church on profession of faith and more are to follow. One-third of the resident membership of Hernando attends the weekly prayer meeting. Brother Luter struck on the unique plan of appointing several teams, each one of which is to be responsible for the attendance upon prayer meeting on certain nights. Practically all of the church is becoming interested in prayer meeting. Brother Luter realizes that it is "up to him" to keep his people interested. A get-together spirit is very manifest in the church at Hernando, and the pastor is looking forward with great hope to a most successful year's work. The pastor and Brother I. D. Borders will begin a revival, April 22. I know that under the leadership of Luter and Borders the good people of Hernando will be blessed with one of the greatest revivals they have ever had.

* * *

Como: Right now the Methodists of Como are worshiping in the new school house. Their beautiful church is undergoing necessary repairs, which will soon be completed. They will spend about $1,500 in repairing the church. The Woman's Missionary Society is doing good work. They have one of the best Sunday schools at Como that we have in the District. The Sunday school has paid 90% of their Centenary pledge and will pay the remaining 10% some time soon. The good people of Como are in love with their pastor. I was in Como but a few Sundays ago and heard only words of praise for Brother McCorkle, his family, and the work being done by him. The per cent of those out of the church in Como is very small indeed; therefore it is impossible for Brother McCorkle to have any great ingathering like others of our pastors who are serving communities where there are large numbers out of the church. Every interest of our church is being carefully looked after under Brother McCorkle's leadership.

* * *

Shuford: Brother Thrower is faithfully at his work on the Shuford charge. He held a Sunday School Institute on his charge March 2-4. Besides thus looking after the Sunday school interest, he is pushing all other interests of the church. Just recently they raised the mortgage off the parsonage, which gives a good property to the Shuford circuit. Among other things that Brother Thrower is doing, he is publishing a monthly bulletin called The Shuford Methodist. This will be a great help to him in his work.

* * *

Byhalia: Brother Augustus is one of our most faithful workers. Since Conference ten have been received into the church, while other worth-while work has been done. Brother Augustus looks faithfully after the interest of the people as pastor. Money is being raised to add an annex to the church, which will add much to the efficient work of the Sunday school. Dr. D. R. Moore is the superintendent of this Sunday school. He makes a fine leader of the Sunday school force. Dr. Moore is a brother to our pastor, R. G. Moore, of Coldwater.

* * *

Pleasant Hill: Brother T. L. Oaks is faithfully looking after the interests of Christianity and the Methodist church on the Pleasant Hill charge. He has been greatly hindered in his work so far because of "flu" in his body, in his home, and on his charge. He believes that just as soon as weather conditions get stable, the work on that charge will move off without a hitch. I am confident that a great work looking toward the building up of the interest of the Kingdom will be done on that charge this year.

* * *

Oakland: I have just held the second quarterly conference on the Oakland charge. Brother Wood made a fine report and the stewards came up fine with the finances. Our good people at Oakland have made needed repairs on their church and contemplate doing more. Every interest of our church is being looked after by Brother Wood.

* * *

When we weigh the great program of our Methodist Episcoal Church, South, in the light of the world's need, together with the teaching of Christianity as to what God's agents and reresentatives should do upon earth, we can but be proud of the fact that we belong to so great a Christian denomination, then look to God with the spirit of consecration and ask God to give us grace, grit and power to follow the leaders of our church as they, in the name of our Savior, are leading us in doing the necessary work that looks toward making Christ known to all the peoples of earth. Any man who would consciously do anything whatsoever that has a tendency to block the wheels of the M. E. Church, South, in her great forward movements, either at home or abroad, is unworthy of being called a Methodist. I trust that every preacher of the Sardis District will throw all the powers of his being into a studied, prayerful effort to help our great church in the realization of the Christ ideals that promoted the great Centenary and every other forward-looking program of our church. I trust that we shall have the hearty AMEN support of every layman in this great work. Thus pulling together for God's glory, we will put ourselves where God can open the windows of heaven and pour out upon us a blessing too great for us to contain.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans District.

The first quarterly conference of the Carrollton Avenue Church was characterized as a hundred per cent conference. Every question was answered, every department was ready with a report and the pastor reported, only two and a half months after Conference, forty additions to the church.

* * *

A number of our churches in the city are carrying out the evangelistic campaign in the Sunday school, and have good classes of the children in preparation for reception into the church.

* * *

The City Board of Missions, in addition to its work in connection with the furnishing and maintenance of St. Mark's Hall, have organized a church extension department, with Mr. Tudor B. Carre as chairman, which is making definite plans for the extension of our work in the city. We expect to report definite results shortly.

* * *

Rev. A. D. Martin, appointed to supply the Lafourche mission, to which Lockport and Griffin have been added, writes, after looking over his field: "I find that a great work is to be done on Bayou Lafourche." He is already planning to open up a new point where we have not worked before.

* * *

Rev. S. A. Seegers is enlarging the church at Patterson to give added room for the Sunday school. He is giving diligent attention to the work of both churches in his charge. He publishes a monthly Messenger, and sends it to all his people, and has put a Discipline into the hands of every official member.

* * *

The Houma church as an organization is only about fourteen years old; but it has grown to about 150 members, reported the largest per capita contribution of any in the Conference, and this year raised its assessment for the pastor $200 above last year. An interesting feature of the Sunday school is a Mothers' class, in which are enlisted the mothers of the Cradle Roll children. The motto stressed in this class is "Family prayer in every home."

* * *

Rev. L. R. Sparks gives a good account of the meeting conducted by Rev. Dan Kelly in Franklin. Twenty were added to the church and a good spirit resulted. The pastor says: "Being a member of the church will mean much more to those who attended."

* * *

The White Chapel church, which has been added since Conference to the Ville Platte charge, set a fine example by reporting to the first quarterly conference one-quarter of its assessment for the year paid in. Just following the quarterly conference, which was at St. Landry, Brother Hebert assisted the pastor, Brother Duplantis, in a meeting which resulted in adding fourteen to the membership. Brother Hebert is now engaged in a meeting with Rev. A. J. Martin at Palmetto.

* * *

Rev. C. C. Wier, at Algiers, is planning for a meeting the two weeks preceding Easter, with the assistance of Rev. W. E. Thomas, formerly of this Conference. In preparation for the meeting, he arranged for eighty cottage prayer meetings during the week preceding.

* * *

Rev. Clerville Thibodeaux is serving his first charge as a supply at Lydia, the field of our first French Mission work. One of his churches is at Pecan Island, in the Gulf marsh. This appointment must be reached by the mail boat that goes only once a week, and the trip takes nearly a week to go and come, spending four or five days on the island. The days of the pioneers are not altogether past.

* * *

The Bayou Blue charge was the first work organized in the new Terrebonne Parish territory fifteen years ago, and has been a feeder to all the churches in that territory. Rev. R. E. Martin, one of our first and most fatihful helpers in that section, is one of the mainstays of the charge, and eagerly enters into any plan for the advancement of the French mission work. It was a pleasure to visit him in his home. Rev. George A. LaGrange, the pastor, is doing faithful work and is opening up new points on the charge. His wife is at present in New Orleans, recovering from a surgical operation.

* * *

On the Morgan City and Berwick charge, the pastor, Rev. Wm. Schuhle, with the co-operation of faithful lay workers, has arranged to have services conducted in the Morgan City church every time he is absent at the Berwick appointment, so that the church is always open. Lay services are also held at Berwick in the absence of the pastor.

* * *

Rev. J. A. Alford, in his eighth year at Second Church, is the senior among our city pastors, and is still doing excellent and progressive work. His church is always in line with every movement, as evidenced by the fact that they made the first report of the organization of a Golden Cross Circle.

* * *

Rev. James B. Grambling is putting into the work at Epworth the same enthusiasm and "pep" that he has been displaying in the League work of the State, and congregations at all services are growing. One young man from Epworth has been recommended for license to preach.

W. WINANS DRAKE, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

On account of the recent damage by fire to the Magnolia church, the District Conference of the Brookhaven District will be held at Tylertown, Miss., as the pastor and good people of that town have opened their doors to us.

Let all the pastors please send the names of their delegates and charge lay leaders to Rev. F. B. Ormond, Tylertown, Miss., that he may know whom to expect and provide accommodations for them, and also to me, that I may make up the roll. Conference convenes Tuesday morning at 9, April 17, and will continue through the next day. The change of date is by request of the church at Tylertown. Pray for the meeting.

H. M. ELLIS, P. E.

BROOKHAVEN DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Brookhaven District Conference will be held at Tylertown instead of Magnolia, and will be Tuesday and Wednesday, April 17-18, instead of April 3-4.

The change of place was made necessary because of the church at Magnolia being damaged by fire, and the change in the date is to give the people of Tylertown two weeks more time to prepare to entertain the Conference.

Will the pastors of the District please send me at once the names of their delegates and all others who expect to attend from their charges?

I will also appreciate it very much if the delegates and pastors will drop me a card stating whether they expect to come by rail or private conveyance.

Brethren, we are glad of the opportunity to entertain you in our little city, and we assure you of a warm welcome and pray that your coming among us will be a blessing to you and especially to our church and community.

Let the pastors and delegates provide me with the above information at their earliest opportunity.

F. B. ORMOND, Pastor.

Tylertown, Miss.

STRENGTHEN COLLEGE.

Dr. R. E. Bobbitt Elected Vice-President of Whitworth.

(From the Lincoln County Times, of Brookhaven, March 15.)

The Board of Trustees of Whitworth College held a meeting Monday, and among other business transacted, unanimously elected as vice-president Dr. R. E. Bobbitt, who is at present president of Mansfield Female College, a Methodist school of Louisiana. Dr. Bobbitt has accepted the position.

The selection of Dr. I. W. Cooper to actively handle the campaign for an endowment of a quarter of a milion dollars for Whitworth College, which was decided on at a meeting of the Board of Trustees a month ago, made it necessary to relieve Dr. Cooper for the time of immediate supervision of college affairs. The board realized the magnitude of the task they were laying on Dr. Cooper, who is pre-eminently the man to undertake it, and have been looking about for a capable assistant. They believe that they have found in Mr. Bobbitt the very best school man who could be selected, a man with fifteen years' experience at the head of Mansfield College, which has flourished under his guidance. It is understood that Dr. Bobbitt will take the internal management, with nominal supervision by Dr. Cooper, who will continue to direct the business end of the management.

Dr. Cooper recommended this action, and believes that the coming of so strong a man as Dr. Bobbitt to the faculty of Whitworth will prove a long step forward. In addition to assuming the duties of vice-president, Dr. Bobbitt will also fill the chair of mathematics.

At this meeting the board granted a leave of absence of a year on half salary to Miss McVoy, director of the Conservtory of Music, whose ill health for the last year warns her to take absolute rest. The board holds the service of Miss McVoy to the College in the highest esteem. The music department has flourished under her supervision, and every one connected with the College regrets to give her up even for a year.

Asked about the outlook for the endowment campaign, Dr. Cooper said the prospects are excellent. In every part of the State influential Methodists are saying that the endowment shall be raised. The campaign has not started: yet one layman has subscribed ten thousand dollars, and another pledge of five thousand dollars has been made.

TO THE PASTORS OF THE HATTIESBURG DISTRICT.

Dear Brethren: Please attend to the electing of your delegates to the District Conference at once, and send their names to Rev. A. W. O'Bryant, Richton, and to me at Hattiesburg. It is important that this be done promptly so that Brother O'Bryant can provide entertainment for the delegates, and that I may be able to make up the official roll of the Conference.

The opening sermon will be preached Wednesday evening, April 25, at 7:30, by Rev. A. J. Davis, pastor Broad Street Church, Hattiesburg.

Thursday will be given largely to the District Sunday School Institute, under the direction of the Field Secretary, Rev. John C. Chambers. Evangelistic services will be held morning and evening throughout the Conference.

Now, brethren, remember that you will be expected to remain until all the business of the Conference is attended to and the Conference closed in due form. Let every preacher pray much for a great Conference and a great spiritual feast.

Faithfully yours,

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

NEWTON DISTRICT PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

1. All pastors are requested to make frequent appeal in their preaching, pointing out some of the things achieved through the Centenary, calling attention to the unfinished tasks that depend for their completion upon the collection of unpaid pledges and to the embarrassment that will come to the whole church unless the pledges are paid.

2. The second Sunday in April is to be designated Centenary Sunday.

3. Just before this Sunday let every local church treasurer send out an accurate statement to each subscriber in his church showing the amount subscribed, the amount paid, and the balance due (if anything) to date.

4. Have lay leaders—charge and church—prepare for this Sunday, beginning immediately after the District meeting—associating with themselves such laymen as they may be able to enlist:

(1) By distributing Centenary literature.

(2) By arranging, through co-operation with the pastor, to hold a service in every church on the charge on that Sunday, using local laymen or the district lay leader, or one of the associate district lay leaders, or any other suitable layman that may be secured, in case the pastor cannot be present. In these services let one or more addresses or speeches be made setting forth the urgent need of the mission fields for the money represented in the unpaid pledges.

5. Provide teams of solicitors (as many to the team as may be needed) to follow up Centenary Sunday services at once and as rapidly as possible with the pledge cards or subscriptions, and give every subscriber an urgent solicitation to pay his or her pledge to date. (Care should be had to select solicitors who have paid up their own pledges or are now doing so.)

6. Let all local church treasurers report promptly to the Conference Treasurer, Mr. W. D. Hawkins, Meridian, Miss., the result of the campaign in his church, sending all collections to him. Also make report of result of drive to Rev. J. A. Moore, presiding elder, Newton, Miss.

O. S. LEWIS, Chairman.
GEO. R. NOBLES, Secretary.

CITY CAMPAIGN, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

To the City Campaign Directors, Pastors, Centenary Treasurers, and Lay Leaders:

Through a team of speakers, the City Campaign was inaugurated February 16 to 22 in churches in the following cities:

Brookhaven District—Brookhaven, McComb, Crystal Springs, Tylertown, Magnolia, Fernwood, and Summit.

Hattiesburg District—Hattiesburg, Purvis, Ellisville, and Richton.

Jackson District—All churches in Jackson.

Meridian District—All churches in Meridian.

Newton District—Newton.

Vicksburg District—Vicksburg.

Seashore District—Columbia and Lumberton.

Please keep up the campaign until every subscriber has been seen, and every dollar collected possible, and those who have moved away have been written to with urgent request that they pay, and the amount collected is reported. This is very important, as the money should be in our depository at Meridian as quickly as possible. Please stay "in behind" the workers and urge them to make complete report as early as possible, and then you report to me.

If some promise to pay at a later date, please see that they are interviewed at the time they desired to pay. It is important that every dollar possible be collected.

With very best wishes, I am,

Yours for service,
W. D. HAWKINS,
Field Secretary-Treasurer,
Mississippi Conference.

W. W. CARRÈ CO.
LUMBER SASH. DOORS
AND OTHER BUILDING MATERIAL
Retail & Wholesale NEW ORLEANS

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

THE HEARTLESS CORPORATION.

By the Inimitable Dr. George R. Stuart.

Mr. Johnson, president of the manufacturing company of Johnson & Wheeler, had just driven down from his comfortable home to his office in the main factory building. The first visitor to his office was Mr. Harris, superintendent of one of the important departments of the large organization. After a friendly and cordial greeting, Mr. Harris addressed the president of the corporation: "Mr. Johnson, I have called to talk with you in regard to old man Gresham. As you know, he is getting old and inefficient. I think he should be replaced by a younger and more active man, but I hesitated to turn him off without your approval, as he is one of the men whom you employed, I understand, when your business was first started."

A mingled smile and shadow swept the features of the president as he said: "Old Billy Gresham! Well, well, he started with us twenty-five years ago. I employed him, as you say. He was fifteen years my senior at the time. He has been a faithful, reliable, and useful man. Is he living in one of our houses?" inquired the president.

"He is—in one of our best," replied Mr. Harris. "Has he accumulated anything during these years?"

"No, sir. His family has been unfortunate, and it has taken his salary for their support. He has nothing to go on, and I dislike to discharge him and throw him out without work, penniless and homeless."

The president arose to his feet, pushed his fingers nervously through his iron-gray hair, and said with pathos: "Turn Billy Gresham out to starve after twenty-five years of faithful service? No, sir! We will never do it. I have some pleasant news for you, Mr. Harris. Mr. Wheeler and I discussed this very matter fully a few days ago and settled upon a policy. We decided that men who have worked with us twenty years or more, giving us the valuable and productive years of their lives, have brought us under a just obligation to them, and we are ready to acknowledge this obligation. We have decided that when such men become too old and too feeble to work they shall be placed on our honor roll, shall be recognized as our employees, and given something or nothing to do, as their strength and preference may indicate. They shall be continued on the pay roll at half salary as long as they live. They shall be allowed to occupy the same house and have all the privileges of the active men of our organization. We have set aside a sum of money to take care of these cases. It is simple justice, Mr. Harris, to care for old men whose strength and vigor have been given to the company. You may notify my good old friend, Billy Gresham, that the company is delighted to grant him the first place on this honor roll. He is to occupy his home, draw his salary, and spend the evening of his life in comfort and ease. He has deserved it."

"I am delighted to hear this, Mr. President. This news will make the old man and his faithful wife very happy," said Mr. Harris, "and every one who knows him will be gratified. I am glad to hear of this just decision of your company. I believe most of the large companies will now provide for their superannuated men."

Mr. Harris hurried away to notify Mr. Gresham. Big tears came to the eyes of the old man when he heard the news. He said it over and over to himself: "In my own home and on the pay roll till I die! Thank God! That will make the sunset clear."

The wife of the Methodist preacher was one of the first to visit the home and congratulate the old couple. Mr. Gresham said to the minister's wife: "I have heard that you and Dr. Henderson are going to be superannuated at the Conference this fall."

"Yes," said Mrs. Henderson with a sigh. "We have been changed every year for the last few years, and it has dawned upon us that after forty years in the service we have served our day. Since my husband has grown old and deaf, no church seems to want us, and we declined to be a burden any longer."

Elated over her happy condition, Mrs. Gresham, with radiant face, looking forward to the delightful companionship of the minister's wife, began to inquire: "Where will you live? Maybe you can still live near us in your pleasant home."

A shadow too deep to describe came over the wrinkled face of the aged minister's wife as she said: "No, we shall have to surrender the parsonage to the next pastor, a younger and more efficient man. I do not know where we shall live."

Thinking that the Church would be at least as just as what is called the "heartless corporation," Mrs. Gresham inquired further: "They will pay you a salary, won't they, Mrs. Henderson?"

This inquiry affected deeply the aged minister's wife, and with a quivering lip she replied: "No. There is no allowance in our Church for the salary of old preachers. They give a small allowance, but it does not cut much figure in the year's expenses."

"How will you live, then?" inquired Mrs. Gresham.

This brought the reality so close to home that the old Methodist preacher's wife broke down and sobbed out her answer: "God only knows. We are trusting him."

The two old women sat silently and sobbed together. Mrs. Henderson arose to go, and Mrs. Gresham said: "I wish the best for you, Sister Henderson. Maybe the Church will some day be as good to her workmen as the factories are to theirs."

The Fatal Defect.—All the religious denominations acknowledge the superb and efficient organiaztion of the Methodist Church. Our system is not the result of an imaginary schemer who sat down and brought out a machine for "spreading Scriptural holiness" over the earth. Methodism is a child of circumstance, a growth from necessities. Consecrated men on fire with the desire to give the gospel to every creature started to work and were willing to use any divinely suggested man or plan. First, individuals went forth without set fields or fixed places except to travel through the country and preach as Providence led and opportunity was given. Later these men formed themselves into a group, adopted a plan and accepted a superintendent.

As emergencies or circumstances demanded, methods were devised and adapted to the case. Thus this strangely adapted Methodist system grew until it is well acknowledged to be the most perfect machine on the earth for sending the gospel into every nook and corner, for securing the most favorable hearing, for getting the best possible results, and for taking the best possible care of the workers and the work—every place a preacher and every preacher a place, every church supplied with a preacher and every preacher furnished a home and a living.

Every preacher stands at the bar of the Conference with all personal preferences and selfish interests surrendered, willing to go anywhere. He surrenders the right to select his field, name his salary, or decide upon the house in which he shall live. He goes where he is sent, lives in the parsonage designated. His good and heroic wife adjusts her furniture, arranges her rugs, and hangs the pictures according to the house; the pastor plans his hours according to the work, and they arrange to live on the salary provided, however small. The preacher and his wife surrender the joy of owning a home, planting a bit of shrubbery, constructing the outside or the inside of the building to their taste, and repeating to themselves the exquisite and comforting sentence: "This is our very own." They spend their lives in another's house; live in constant expectation of a move, and must be ready to pack up and obey orders at the end of every Conference year.

After forty years more or less of this moving, mending funiture, adjusting things and selves to new surroundings, taking what is offered and bearing what is imposed, surrendering their personal choice and executing the will of others, going forth in winter and summer, in clear and cloudy weather, then what? When the preacher is old and feeble and can go no more to his work, when he and his heroic wife come up to the Conference to acknowledge that their work is done, what then? Put them on the superannuate list. No work, no salary, no home, no provision for a living—where will they go, what will they live on? Can the Methodist Church, in the face of the altruism of the age, longer practice this criminal injustice to the soldiers of the cross? This is the horrible, inhuman, and non-Christian part of our great system. It must be changed.

Birmingham, Ala.

The Home Circle

A LETTER FROM THE FARM.

Dear Mother:
I got here on Monday,
I'm having a whole lot of fun,
I rode on the hay all of one day,
I freckled all up in the sun.
There's cows, and there's bees making honey,
And a calf that is awfully queer.
I help feed the pigs—they're so funny!
I wish you were here.

My appetite's "truly alarming,"
So grandma says. I eat some!
I help them a lot with the farming,
I guess it is lucky I come.
I get in the eggs, and I'm learning
To milk—I can milk pretty near,
And mornings I help with the churning
I wish you were here.

Please send me my two baseball mittens,
Please send me my drum, don't forget!
The cat has five beautiful kittens,
They haven't their eyes open yet.
The weather is perfectly splendid,
The skies are so blue and so clear.
I tore my best pants, but they're mended—
I wish you were here.

I work with the man that is hired,
I go with him round everywhere,
At night I'm so dreadfully tired
I 'most fall asleep in my chair.
Except that I get awful dirty
I try to be good, mother, dear.
Love to all.
From your little son, Bertle.
P. S.—I wish you were here.

—Author Unknown.

WHAT ARE LITTLE BOYS MADE OF?

This is the story of a little boy who got out of the wrong side of the bed. I am afraid it was not the first time Paul had done that, either. "I'm going to be naughty to-day," he cheerfully told Aunt Ann when she washed his face that morning.

Ann looked grave. "Little boys who talk so end in tears before bedtime," she replied.

But Paul did not feel at all like tears, but like teasing. Betty and Cousin Joan wanted to amuse themselves, and Paul thought girls were silly. Betty sometimes cried when he called her names, but Cousin Joan always answered back. She called after him to-day in answer to his teasing, "Snips and snails and puppy dog tails." Paul didn't care. He rather liked snips and snails.

To begin with, he walked along the vine border because it was forbidden. Thomas, the gardener, was waiting to speak to him when he reached the wall.

"That's a funny thing, Master Paul," said he. "I just cut this here little bunch of grapes for you, being as they hung too thick, but after you treatin' the poor old vine so bad those grapes go elsewhere." And he put that nice little bunch in his basket as he walked off.

"Silly old Billy," murmured Paul. But he would have liked those grapes.

Later he spied the doll family, and a grand idea for teasing came to him. Selecting the little girls' best dolls, he tucked them into his belt and began to climb the cedar. He could climb like a squirrel, and he went ever so high. Then he scrambled as far as he dared along one of the branches and hung Selina and Belinda by their flaxen hair from the strongest twigs. He had scarcely gotten down when the little girls came running out. They sighed aloud when they saw Paul. It was Joan who beheld the awful sight of the hanging favorites. She shed real tears then, and so did Betty.

"All their hair will be pulled out," sobbed Betty, "and their new frocks spolled."

Joan's' anger was hot. "You've got to go up and fetch those dolls at once!" she said.

And as Paul was a little afraid of Joan, he climbed the tree. He disentangled Selina's hair and was about to free Belinda when—it was a rather thin little bough Paul had balanced on, and Selina had nearly fallen onto Joan's upturned face. In grabbing to save Selina, Paul jerked, the bough cracked, and with a yell of terror down came Paul, heels over head, topsy-turvy onto the ground with Selina and Belinda on top of him.

"He's killed!" screamed Betty. "O darling, darling Paul!"

Joan was practical. She made a rush for house and nurse. Paul wasn't killed. He had broken his leg.

* * * * * * *

Ann had been right. He did cry before bedtime, and it was worse than crying for poor Paul. It was pain, such pain, which the doctor said he bore quite bravely and called him a plucky little man. Betty and Joan waited on him so kindly during those long weeks. He had half expected Joan to say, "It serves you right," but she did not say it. She did not even seem to think it.

And although they were terribly long weeks, they were not wasted weeks, for Paul was learning three things: patience, gratitude and gentleness. Joan was quite outspoken about it that day when Paul thanked her and Betty for bringing him so many raspberries.

"We love to wait on you, poor Paul," she said, "because—isn't it rather funny?—your poor broken leg has turned you from snips and snails and puppy dog tails to sugar and spice and all that's nice."

How they all laughed! But Paul grew anxious. "Do you think I'm getting girlish?" he asked in such horror that the little girls had to laugh again as they assured him he wasn't that at all, but the nicest boy that could be.

I believe that was worth having a broken leg for.—Exchange.

MOTHER.

By Walter Potts Boswell (aged thirteen years).

Mother! Was there ever a sweeter word? Compared with it, other words fall upon the ear like the brazen clang of brass compared with the silver tones of a bell. How many people are there who do not hold the personage or memory of their mother as the greatest of all treasures? How bad he or she may seem, that cherished word is always exalted in their hearts. Many are the people who do not know how much their mother has suffered for them. When they suffer, she suffers, and at night gets down and prays and sobs her heart out before her Creator for them. Mother—the greatest, most heavenly and most loved of all words!

New Albany, Miss.

"TIME OUT."

Not Only In Kansas.

There is a preacher in Kansas who should have his salary raised for making the following announcement from his pulpit: "Brethren, the janitor and I will hold our regular prayer meeting next Wednesday evening, as usual."—Exchange.

The Difference.

A wayfarer, says the World To-morrow, passing along the highway came upon three stone masons cutting stone in a great quarry.

"What are you doing, friend?" he asked one of the masons.

"Trimming the stone, can't you see?" was the answer.

Turning to the second mason, the wayfarer said: "What are you doing, my friend?"

"Working for my wages," replied the mason.

"And you,'" the wayfarer asked the third mason, "What are you doing?"

"I am helping to build a cathedral."

Even so. There is a difference between men.

Well Licked.

A Milwaukee school teacher recently received the following note from the mother of one of her pupils:

"Dear Teacher: Excuse John for being away yesterday. He played truant; but do not whip him for it. Two boys he was with in the morning licked him, and a man he threw a snowball at licked him, and a truck driver he hung on licked him, and the man who owned a dog, he licked him, and the grocery man licked him for taking an apple, and an automobile driver licked him for blowing the horn. Then I licked him when he came home; then his father licked him when he came home; then I had to lick him again for sassing me for telling his father on him; then his father licked him for sassing me. So you need not lick him this time."—Western Christian Advocate.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.
CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:
Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.
Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.
North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4 Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE SCHEDULE.

Louisiana Conference.

Alexandria, at Elizabeth, April 10-12.
Shreveport, at Mansfield, April 17-19.
Lake Charles, at New Iberia, April 19-22.
New Orleans, at St. Mark's, April 23-25.
Monroe, at Winnsboro, April 27-29.
Ruston, at Haynesville, May 4-6.
Baton Rouge, at Kentwood, May 23-25.

Mississippi Conference.

Brookhaven, at Tylertown, April 17-18.
Seashore, at Moss Point, April 3-5.
Vicksburg, at Centreville, April 24.
Meridian, at Poplar Springs, May 1-2.
Newton, at Hickory, May 8-10.
Hattiesburg; at Richton, April 25-27.
Jackson, at —— ——.

North Mississippi.

Columbus, at Ackerman, April 26-27.
Greenville, at Leland, May 7-12.
Grenada, at Pickens, May 8-10.
Corinth, at Ripley, May 15-17.
Sardis, at Senatobia, May 15-17.
Greenwood, at Inverness, May 23-25.
Aberdeen, at —— ——.

A VISIT TO COLUMBIA, S. C.

The meeting of the Southern Methodist Press Association at Columbia, S. C., February 20-22, was the occasion of a pleasant visit to the beautiful and historic city. The Association met there upon invitation of Dr. R. E. Stackhouse, the gifted editor of the Southern Christian Advocate, and the courtesies extended by him and Dr. J. H. Noland, the business manager of that paper, were such as to lay the visitors under heavy obligations. The Methodist preachers of the city had the editors as their guests at one of the leading hotels, and the pastor of the Washington Street Methodist Church, Dr. M. L. Carlisle, and the Men's Club of that church also showed courtesies that were greatly appreciated.

The Association was almost continuously in session, but time was found for a luncheon, at which Dr. W. W. Alexander, of the Inter-racial Commission, acted as host, and for a drive around the city as the guests of the Men's Club referred to above. During the course of the drive many interesting and historic places were viewed, and at its conclusion the editors were the guests at supper of the Columbia College, one of the leading institutions of the church for the education of young women. The visitors also had the privilege of seeing the great Epworth Methodist Orphanage at Columbia, which is rated as one of the best institutions of its kind in the connection.

The meetings of the Association were both interesting and profitable. Matters pertaining to the editorial and business management of the papers were discussed, and action was taken which holds promise of materially strengthening these organs of the church in various ways.

The election of officers resulted in the choice of Dr. R. S. Satterfield, of the Nashville Christian Advocate, as president; Dr. R. E. Stackhouse, of the Southern Christian Advocate, as vice-president; Dr. J. M. Rowland, of the Richmond Christian Advocate, as secretary-treasurer.

This Editor enjoyed every minute of his stay in Columbia, and it was in his heart to give a more detailed account of his visit; but he went to bed on the day of his return to New Orleans with the "flu," and for ten days or more he had little interest in anything except getting the better of that malignant antagonist. He believes now that he has about won the victory—but the work at hand and ahead gives him little time for dwelling upon the pleasures of the past. Anyway, he had a great time at Columbia.

PRESIDENT BOBBITT, OF MANSFIELD COLLEGE, RESIGNS.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Mansfield Female College, held at Mansfield, La., last week, President R. E. Bobbitt tendered his resignation, to take effect on July 1. He declined the urgent request of the Board to withdraw his resignation, and a committee was ordered appointed to choose his successor.

President Bobbitt went to Mansfield College at a time when its fortunes were at low ebb, being, at the time he was chosen, one of the most efficient and popular teachers at the State Normal at Natchitoches. By his native ability, hard work, and a genius for organzitaion and leadership, he has succeeded in very materially improving and enlarging the college property, and in filling the dormitories to their capacity with students. At the same time he has so strengthened the courses of study and the faculty that the institution today commands the respect and confidence of the educational authorities of the State and the church at large.

Announcement is made that President Bobbitt has accepted the vice presidency of Whitworth, our great school for girls at Brookhaven, Miss., President Cooper assuming the task of raising an endowment for Whitworth that will enable it to meet the new requirements of the Educational Commission.

We regret more than we are able to express President Bobbitt's determination to sever his connection with Manssfild; but we commend him unreservedly to the Methodists of Mississippi and the authorieics of Whitworth College. He is a Christian gentleman, a thoroughly competent educator, and a most devoted and active layman in the church. May blessings be upon him in his new field of labor!

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

The Big Brother's Class, of Greenville, Miss., had an attendance of 115 on the first Sunday in March.

Rev. W. B. Jones, our pastor at Crystal Springs, Miss., has received forty members into the church since Conference.

Rev. R. P. Neblett, our pastor at Durant, Miss., was recently elected by the Mississippi Grand Lodge as Grand Chaplain for the ensuing Masonic year.

Brother B. L. Smith, of West Point, Miss., has been a subscriber to the Advocate for more than fifty years. We appreciate his kindly words concerning the paper.

Mrs. W. M. Harwell has been appointed by her pastor, Rev. R. E. Rutledge, as agent for the Advocate at Pachuta, Miss., and she is diligently at work in the performance of her duties.

Rev. John L. Williams, Superintendent of the Louisiana Child and Home Finding Society, recently attended a meeting of the National Child Welfare League of America at Atlanta, Ga.

Rev. J. H. Jolly has begun well at Leaksville, Miss. He has the hearty co-operation of a splendid group of laymen, and the people generally have been very kind to the pastor and his family.

We have been informed that Rev. Bob Jones, general evangelist, of Montgomery, Ala., will conduct a camp meeting at Biloxi, Miss., beginning on Sunday, August 5, and closing Sunday, August 19.

Rev. Hilary S. Westbrook, of New Augusta, Miss., reports that his work is moving along splendidly. The prayer meeting is especially well attended, about fifty being present on a recent Wednesday evening.

Rev. A. T. McIlwain, presiding elder of the Columbus District, North Mississippi Conference, is issuing a quarterly bulletin which he sends to every church official in the District. It is filled with interesting information.

Rev. C. C. Wier, pastor of our church in Algiers, began a revival meting last Sunday, to continue through Easter, in which he is assisted by Rev. W. E. Thomas. In preparation for the meeting about eighty cottage prayer meetings were held.

The Brookhaven District Conference will be held at Tylertown, Miss., on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 17 and 18; The change of place and date was made necessary on account of the damage by fire to the Methodist church at Magnolia, Miss.

We note with sorrow the death of Mrs. Priscilla Dean Fordham, mother of Rev. Willis Fordham, a local elder of our church, at his home in Cotton Valley, La., on February 27. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to her sorrowing loved ones and friends.

The fine list of subscribers sent to the Advocate by Herbert Gillis, of Hattiesburg, Miss., was secured by the members of the Epworth League of the Court Street Methodist Church of that city. We thank the Leaguers for their interest in circulating the Conference organ.

Laurel, Miss., is looking forward with great interest to the Gipsy Smith Evangelistic Campaign, April 29-May 20. Rev. G. D. Tucker, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, is chairman of the Executive Committee, and Rev. O. S. Lewis, of the First Methodist Church, is secretary.

Rev. W. W. Williams, of McAlester, Okla., was given the superannuate relation at the recent session of the East Oklahoma Conference. He has been a reader of the Advocate for fifty-five years. He was for many years a member of the North Mississippi Conference. He is seventy-eight years of age, but says he is still young in the cause.

Rev. A. J. Bonnette, of Plain Dealing, La., writes that his charge is in the midst of a building enterprise. Plans are about completed for the erection of a brick building with modern equipment at Plain Dealing, and the Vinton congregation is planning the erection of a frame building. The present indications are that this will be a fine year on that charge.

The people of our church should be congratulated on what is apparently a greater desire to know more of the organization of the church. This is shown in the distribution of the 1922 Discipline. More copies of this edition have already been sold than during any previous quadrennium. The publishers have experienced difficulty in filling orders. In the haste to get the Discipline out as early as practicable, an edition of 25,000 was printed. This has been repeated by several 10.000 editions since. A new supply will be ready for distribution about March 25. We cannot urge too strongly the value of a Discipline in every Methodist home.

A young college-town pastor, owning a multigraph which he runs with student labor, is getting out a very neat, practical evangelistic survey card, which he is offering to sell at the very reasonable price of $1 for the first hundred, and 50 cents per hundred for additional numbers. It is recommended very highly by religious survey authorities. Information may be had by addressing Rev. Byron Harwell, 341 Prince Street, Conway, Ark.

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. S. F. Harkey, Meadville, Miss., 2; Rev. J. C. Sutton, Springhill, La., 2; Mrs. W. M. Harwell, Pachuta. Miss., 3; Mrs. Margaret Tarpley, Vicksburg. Miss., 11; Rev. T. B. Cottrell. Vicksburg, Miss., 3; Rev. P. O. Lowrey, Indian Bayou, La., 2; F. A. Howell, Durant, Miss., 14; Mrs. V. M. Millsaps, Harriston. Miss.. 2; Rev. S. S. Bogan, Gibsland, La., 2; Herbert Gillis, Hattiesburg, Miss., 8; Rev. H. A. Gatlin, Canton, Miss., 2; Rev. L. E. Crooks, Campti. La., 2; Rev. W. J. Dawson, Brandon, Miss., 10; J. G. Ainsworth, Wesson, Miss., 3; Rev. J. H. Jolly, Leaksville, Miss., 8; Rev. J. W. Dorman, Louisville, Miss., 3; Rev. N. B. Harmon, Newton, Miss., 2; B. L. Smith, West Point, Miss., 2; Rev. B. W. Lewis, Eden, Miss., 2.

EASTER SUNDAY FOR THE ORPHANAGE.

As our people generally know, Easter Sunday is set apart by the Louisiana Annual Conference as ORPHANAGE DAY, at which time our churches and Sunday schools are supposed to contribute to the maintenance fund for our Orphanage. We desire to urge upon our people a generous offering at this time. We now have 150 children who must be provided for in every way. It is our purpose to give them every opportunity so that we may thoroughly equip and fit them for useful life, and to do so we must provide them with ample school facilities, properly clothe and feed them, and see that they are kept in a healthy, happy condition. To do this costs money. As we employ no other means by which we raise money for this work except through our Easter collections in the spring and Work Day collections in the fall, it is imperative that every church and Sunday school in our State do their utmost for a generous, liberal collection.

Trusting that our people will not fail us at any point, and assuring them that we are putting the utmost of our strength and effort in this great task, and thanking them for the help that they may render.

I am, faithfully,

ROB'T W. VAUGHAN,

Superintendent, Louisiana Methodist Orphanage.

Ruston, La.

TO THE PASTORS, LAY LEADERS, AND SUBSCRIBERS TO THE CENTENARY IN THE JACKSON DISTRICT.

Greetings: A great opportunity was presented to the Christian church in 1918-19.

The General Conference that met in Atlanta authorized the Centenary Commission. More than one hundred laymen met with this Commission in Memphis. After conference and prayer, they accepted for us a task. The minimum amount necessary to finance this task was put at $35,000,000. This campaign was put on, and in May, 1919, the subscriptions were taken, amounting to $37,000,000, without credits. Did you subscribe? Have you paid four-fifths of your subscription? Has God given you health? Have you fully appreciated the blessings of God?

The subscription was taken in all our mission fields, as well as in our own Conferences. The native Christians in these fields have met their obligations to date. Can we who live in a gospel land afford to do less? The purpose is not that "one should be burdened and another eased." but that all should "pay their vows unto the Lord."

The Epworth League asked permission to take care of the African mission. They have met their obligations to date, their annaul contributions amounting to over $70,000.

A few years ago we had only a few foreign mission fields. To-day we have eleven. We have in these fields. 550 missionaries. We have 293 mission schools with 25.000 pupils. The membership in a number of our mission fields is growing so rapidly that to give the number to-day would not be correct to-morrow. Some of our largest churches, in point of membership, are in foreign fields. Since the Centenary campaign was inaugurated more than a half million people have united with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, on profession of faith. Does not this read like Apostolic days? Shall the missionaries be disappointed in us? Shall the world be disappointed in us? Can Christ depend on us? These are not idle questions.

"How much owest thou?" If Christ gave all for us, can we do less than our best? If your circumstances are such that you cannot pay now, will you please see your treasurer and tell him when you can pay?

The church believed in us when we gave our subscription. Can the church depend on us now? An honest obligation, made by an honest man, is never out of date. The obligations, represented by the Centenary subscriptions, were made by honest men and women. Has the Centenary made good? Yes. Have you made good?

Yours in Christian love and fellowship,

M. L. BURTON, Presiding Elder.

J. M. SULLIVAN, Conference Lay Leader.

O. H. WINGFIELD, District Lay Leader.

PLAN FOR EMERGENCY CAMPAIGN FOR THE VICKSBURG DISTRICT, ADOPTED AT THE VICKSBURG AND FAYETTE MEETINGS.

1. That the presiding elder, in consultation with the pastors and lay leaders of the respective charges of the district, shall arrange for a Centenary Day at each church on each charge, between the third Sunday in March and the third Sunday in April, inclusive, and provide for speakers to be present on the occasion.

2. Wherever practical, the pastor be requested to prepare for such Centenary Day by previously preaching on the subject and also using the minute men to present the Centenary as often as necessary or advisable, and that in the meantime the treasurer be instructed to send statements of the Centenary subscriptions to each one who made a pledge and is in arrears.

3. That the pastor, with the Centenary treasurer and lay leader, appoint the necessary number of solicitors to see personally each one who made a pledge.

4. That immediately following the day, the Centenary committee of each church be urged to see each delinquent subscriber to the Centenary and do everything practical toward the collection of each pledge, and in case the work is not completed the first day, it be continued till all are seen.

5. That all collections be turned over at once to the treasurer of the Centenary, and a report be made to the presiding elder.

J. R. JONES, P. E.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE AND THE CENTENARY.

The "Set-Up Meetings" have been held in each district with splendid interest. The plan adopted has been placed in the hands of every pastor, and doubtless is now being worked out. Though there are some differences in the plan adopted, all were agreed that it would take an organized effort in every church to collect the money needed to "carry on"; that the information and inspiration of the Centenary should be given each subscriber by preaching on the Centenary, using the "Minute Men," and distribution of literature; that the Centenary treasurer should send out a statement to each subscriber, showing amount pledged, amount paid, and amount due, and enclosing with the statement one or more pieces of literature (this being furnished upon application to this office); that collectors as many as necessary for each church, should be secured, and follow this up by seeing every one who made a pledge and urge payment of it. If all cannot be collected, get as much as possible and report the amount collected.

The QUOTA FOR EVERY CHURCH IS FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE AMOUNT PLEDGED, but let us collect all of it. Please remember that though the plans may be adopted, they cannot work out themselves, and it is going to take an earnest effort on the part of every one to bring about the largest results. Let's make up our minds that WE ARE GOING TO DO IT, and do everything possible to bring it to pass, in order that we may "MAKE GOOD" in these days of our wonderful opportunity.

Our Conference has been called upon to collect $90,000 by May 1. Let us all do our best to get it. I am ready to co-operate with you and ask that you join with me in praying that God's blessings be upon us while we are working on this great task, and that He may direct us for a wonderful victory.

Yours for service,

W. D. HAWKINS,

Field Secretary-Treasurer,

Mississippi Conference.

ARE YOU PLANNING FOR A REVIVAL?

If so, correspond with me and let me advise with you. I have been in this work five years. My services are available to those preachers in Louisiana and Mississippi who desire to have a real revival. Write me fully. References furnished.

P. W. WYMAN,

Wisner, La.

OPEN FOR EVANGELISTIC WORK.

I have some open dates which I shall be glad to give any one desiring my help in revivals. My terms: I will give two full weeks or longer, and trust the Lord and the people for the rest. Don't let any one hesitate to write me because you feel your people are too poor to put over a revival.

Address:

D. L. GRIFFIN,
R. F. D. No. 1, Box 155,
Shreveport, La.

CHURCH ETIQUETTE.

The following are some of the "dont's" and "you ought to's" that should always be regarded as we attend divine service; and now is as good a time as any to attend to them if you have been careless in these matters, says an exchange.

Don't come late. You ought to come five minutes early in order to get comfortable before the service begins.

Don't enter the house during prayer if it can possibly be avoided. Bow your head a moment in inward prayer as you take your seat

Don't whisper unless it is absolutely necessary, nor turn your head every time any one enters the church or the janitor adjusts a window.

Don't cast piercing glances at the mother when her baby cries, for she is disconcerted enough anyway. It is well, however, for a mother to go to the vestibule as soon as consistent when her baby begins to cry.

Don't allow your children to be out playing during the meeting, but keep them with you.

In short, learn how "thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God."

If you want to leave the church with a light heart, throw heavily into the collection—Exchange.

Bishop John M. Moore's Great Missionary Book

If you have not read

MAKING THE WORLD CHRISTIAN

By John Monroe Moore, D.D., Ph. D.

you should get a copy from Lamar & Barton at once. It's one of the very greatest books on the need and place of Christian Missions ever written.

Read what reviewers say of it:

"A vital message, vigorous in statement, stimulating in thought, fervent in appeal."

"A philosophy of modern evangelical Christianity."

"An illuminating interpretation of present day Christian responsibility."

"Sets forth clearly the essential objectives in missionary endeavor."

"Truly represents the mind and heart of the whole body of sound Protestant faith in relation to the evangelization of the world."

Net $1.75

PUBLISHING HOUSE, M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH
Lamar & Barton, Agents
Nashville, Dallas, Richmond, San Francisco

Taylor University

A member of the Association of American Colleges. Offers the best standards for mind and soul and body. A favorite school for ministers and missionaries.

Address JOHN PAUL, President
UPLAND, INDIANA

Cuticura Soap
—The Healthy—
Shaving Soap

Cuticura Soap shaves without mug. Everywhere 25c.

Keep Stomach and Bowels Right

By giving baby the harmless, purely vegetable, infants' and children's regulator.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP

brings astonishing, gratifying results in making baby's stomach digest food and bowels move as they should at teething time. Guaranteed free from narcotics, opiates, alcohol and all harmful ingredients. Safe and satisfactory.

At All Druggists

IT IS A BURNING SHAME

That so many Churches are without sufficient insurance and not properly safe-guarded against Fire, Lightning and Tornado.

THE NATIONAL MUTUAL CHURCH INSURANCE COMPANY OF CHICAGO—The Methodist Mutual—in successful operation since 1898—furnishes protection AT COST upon easy annual payments. No assessments; legal reserve for security of policy-holders same as stock companies.

No agents. Deal direct. For applications and particulars address

HENRY P. MAGILL, Sect'y. & Mgr.
1509 Insurance Exchange, Chicago, Ill.

Mrs. Alice Hargrove Barclay, Agent, M. E. Church, South, 314 Norton Building, Louisville, Ky.

√ Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary, with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

GRANDMA SHACKELFORD, as she was familiarly and lovingly called, was born near Spartansburg, S. C., Oct. 27, 1836, and departed this life in Eden, Miss., Feb. 3, 1923, having reached the ripe age of 86 years, and having maintained her mental faculties up until a few hours of her demise.

She joined the Methodist Church in early life, and lived a consistent Christian life until the day of her death.

Her husband, F. M. Shackelford, died some time in 1890. After her husband's death she remained on the home place for a number of years, later coming to Eden, Miss., where she lived with her son, I. M. Shackelford. One other son, Walter, lives to bless her memory. In the passing of Grandma Shackelford a saint has been garnered to the fold. A short time before her death she remarked to a friend that she did not see why the Lord was keeping her here, that she was anxious to go home. She was patient and had abiding faith, and was appreciative of her loved ones and friends.

We will miss her, though she was a shut-in, and we only saw her in the limits of her home.

Her pastor,
B. W. LEWIS.

The subject of this sketch, Brother J. H. SHACK, was born Nov. 8, 1859, and died Nov. 28, 1922, aged 63 years and 8 months. He was married to Miss Callie Bryant, Dec. 5, 1886. Three children blessed this union, one of whom preceded him to the world beyond.

He was a member of the Methodist church at Sinai, on the Florence and Braxton charge. His loyalty to his church, love and devotion to God, were outstanding characteristics of his noble life. He was a loving father and a devoted husband. Brother Shack was a friend to one and all, and was much loved by those who knew him. A truly good man has gone from our church and community, but is not forgotten. His many noble traits of Christian character will abide with us. I visited him several times during his illness, and although sick for several months, he was very patient and resigned to the will of God. His loved ones and mnay friends were untiring in their efforts to minister to his every want. Let me say to the loved ones left behind, remember, he will not come back to us, but we can go where he is.

May God bless every one of them is our prayer.

A. A. SIMMS, Pastor.

SAMUEL NELMS was born in Tippah County, Miss., Dec. 13, 1852, and died at his home in Ripley, Miss., Jan. 24, 1923. His funeral was held at the Methodist church on the following day, being conducted by his pastor. Judge Thos. E. Pegram and Captain Thos. Spight, friends of many years, paid beautiful tribute. He was buried with Masonic honors. Brother Nelms was a splendid citizen, a man whose life was exemplary, a public-spirited man with large influence. For twenty years he had filled places of public trust, having served as sheriff and clerk of the county. At the time of his death he was mayor of the town, having only recently been re-elected after having been mayor for seven years. His home was a happy home, a home of large hospitality and geniality. Eleven children blessed the home life, four of whom preceded their father to the better land; the remaining seven, who were devoted to him, with his dear companion, were at his bedside when he died.

Brother Nelms was a faithful member of the Methodist Church, having professed religion at a camp ground in this county when a young man and joined the church. He loved the old songs, the old-fashioned revival, and the "good, old-fashioned way" was good enough for him. Faithfulness, courage, cheerfulness characterized his life. May the God of all comfort continually sustain and comfort the bereaved companion and ever bless the children and enable them to follow in the footsteps of their sainted father.

S. A. BROWN.

Ripley, Miss.

Mrs. FREDERICK MATTHIES was born in Mecklenburg Stralitz, Germany, Jan. 22, 1828, and died at Waldhiem, La., Feb. 1, 1923, aged 95 years and 10 days. Her maiden name was Catherine Maria Madg Busch. She was first married to Gerhard Weishand, in Germany, at the age of 23. Soon after her first marriage she moved to America. During the yellow fever epidemic in the early fifties she lost her first husband and a child. Her second marriage was to Christian Hempel, in 1856. To this union eight children were born, four of whom died in early life. The four living are F. B. Hempel, Mrs. S. Schoenberger, Mrs. E. E. Dutsche, and Miss Rosa Hempel. She was married the third time to Rev. Frederick Matthies, in 1874, who was a very useful local preacher in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for many years. Brother Matthies died in 1915. She first united with the Lutheran church at the age of 14. Shortly after she moved to America, she united (with her husband) with the Methodist church, and was ever a faithful, consistent member of the same. It was my privilege to serve as her pastor five years. She never missed attending church so long as she was able to go, even after she got so feeble she had to be helped in and out of the buggy. What a wonderful example this was! The Holy Bible and her prayer book were her constant companions. Her home was ever open to God's ministers; her precious hands prepared many a meal for them. She was fortunate in her old days to have one of the most faithful, devoted daughters to care for her; I am sure there is a great reward laid up in heaven for Miss Rosa for her devotion and care of her precious mother. She was laid to rest in the family cemetery, Feb. 2, 1923, at 3:30 p. m., at Waldheim. Rev. W. O. Wagoner, of Covington, La., conducted the funeral services. The floral offerings were most beautiful. May the blessings of God rest upon the bereaved ones.

F. N. SWEENEY.

Free Catalog

Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR
CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND
SCHOOLS

Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

MARRIED.

At the Gibson Memorial parsonage, Jan. 27, 1923, by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. H. G. RODGERS to MISS INEZ SMITH, both of Vicksburg.

At the Gibson Memorial parsonage, Jan. 28, 1923, by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. EARL L. PINKSTON, of Greenville, Miss., to MISS JUANITA STAMPLY, of Holly Bluff, Miss.

At the Gibson Memorial parsonage, Feb. 4, 1923, by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. H. G. OGLESBY, of Greenville, Miss., to MISS MAVIS LEWIS, of McCool, Miss.

At the Gibson Memorial parsonage, Feb. 25, 1923, by Rev. H. B. Cottrell, MR. LEON MORRIS to MISS IDA TUCKER, both of Vicksburg, Miss.

At Gibson Memorial Methodist Church, March 7, 1923, by Rev. T. B. Cottrell, MR. W. E. POTTS, of Raymond, Miss., to MISS MARY LEE PARKER, of Vicksburg, Miss.

Salt Your Stock the Blackman Way

DO YOU TAKE SALT

with meals, or just fill up on salt once or

TWICE A WEEK?

A few licks of BLACKMAN'S Tonic Salt should be a part of the daily diet of your live stock. It is medicated and will improve digestion, make the feed go further, and keep them in healthy condition. So simple, so easy. Just drop brick in feed-box—it will do the rest.

The Blackman Stock Remedy Co.
Chattanooga, Tenn.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCE.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Greenwood Dist.—Second Round.

Inverness, at Isola, March 25, 11 a.m.
Belzoni, March 25, 7:30 p.m.
Sidon, at Cruger, April 1, 11 a.m.
Tchula, April 1, 7:30 p.m.
Drew, at Sandy Bayou, April 8, 11 a.m.
Schlater, at Sunny Side, April 15, 11 a.m.
Minter City, at Glendora, April 22, 11 a.m.
Ruleville, at Doddsville, April 29, 11 a.m.
Greenwood, April 30, 7:30 p.m.
Swift, at Swift, May 6, 11 a.m.
Dublin, at Mattson, May 13, 11 a.m.
Sunflower, at Fasonia, May 20, 11 a.m.
District Conference at Inverness, May 23-25.
Webb, at Sumner, May 27, 11 a.m,

All benevolences are expected to be reported, "provided for" by subscriptions or cash, not later than the meeting of the district conference. Let boards of stewards and pastors take this important matter up at once.

S. L. POPE, P. E.

Grenada Dist.—Second Round.

Sallis ct., at Bethel, Mar. 24.
Pickens and Goodman, at G., Mar. 25 (a.m.), 26 (a.m.)
Durant, Mar. 25 (p.m.), 26 (p.m.)
Holcomb ct., at Spring Hill, Mar. 31.
Grenada, Apr. 1.
Tie Plant ct., at New Hope, Apr. 1, 2.
Poplar Creek ct., at N. Union, Apr. 7.
Kilmichael ct., at Tomnolen, Apr. 8.
Coffeeville ct., at Goshen, Apr. 15.
Duck Hill ct., at Chapel Hill, Apr. 21, 22.
Winona, Apr. 22, 23.
Lamar ct., at Early Grove, Apr. 28.
Ashland ct., at Ashland, Apr. 29.
Ebenezer ct., at Ebenzer, May 6, 7 (a.m.)
Lexington, May 6, 7.
Waterford ct., at Harris Chapel, May 12.
Abbeville ct., at Mt. Zion, May 13.

District Conference at Pickens May 8-10. Opening session at 2:30 p.m., May 8.

R. A. TUCKER, P. E.

Corinth District—Second Round.

Myrtle, at Union Hill, Friday, Mar. 23.
Sherman, at Chesterville, Mar. 24, 25.
Wheeler, at Hodge's Chapel, Wednesday, Mar. 28.
New Albany Ct., at Well's Chapel, Thursday, Mar. 29.
Kossuth, at Pleasant Hill, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Booneville Ct., at Carolina, Friday, Apr. 6.
Rienzi, at Blackland, Apr. 7, 8.
Paden, at Paden, Thursday, Apr. 12.
Tishomingo, at Paradise, Friday, Apr. 13.
Belmont, at Patterson's Chapel, Apr. 14, 15.
Ripley Sta., Q. C., Friday night, Apr. 20; preaching, Apr. 22, night.
Silver Springs, at Pain's Chapel, Apr. 21, 22.
Mooreville, at Oak Hill, Apr. 24.
Mantachie, at Oak Grove, Apr. 25.
Marietta, at Gilmore's Chapel, Thursday, Apr. 26.
Chalybeate, at Mt. Pleasant, Apr. 28, 29.
Burnsville, at Chapel Hill, Friday, May 4.
Iuka Ct., at Harmony, Saturday, May 5.
Iuka Sta., Q. C., Friday night, May 4; preaching, May 6, at 11 a.m.

The Corinth Dstrict Conference will be held at Ripley, Miss., May 15-17.

JOSEPH B. RANDOLPH, P. E.

Greenville Dist.—Second Round.

Hillhouse, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Gunnison, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. N. Dodds.
Malvina, March 25, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. B. Sharp.
Rosedale, March 25, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Leland, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Shaw, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by T. E. Gregory.
Litton, April 1, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. D. Simpson.
Shaw, April 1, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette will lead the music at Shaw evening service.
Cleveland, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Hartsfield.
Shipman's Chapel, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by W. W. Mitchell.
Boyle, April 8, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Cleveland, April 8, 7 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette at Boyle a.m. and Cleveland p.m. services.
Sherard, April 15, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Friars Point, April 15, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Pace, April 18, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette, high noon lunch, all officials present, get acquainted.
Hollandale, April 22, 11 a.m. Preaching by E. Nash Broyles.
Hollandale, afternoon and evening, Big Brothers and Q. C.
Greenville, April 22, a.m. and p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Greenville, April 25, 8 p.m. Q. C. Big Brothers Quartette and special program at this conference.
Glen Allan, April 29, 11 a.m. Preaching and Q. C.
Benoit, April 29, 11 a.m. Big Brother J. J. Baird.
Benoit, April 29, 8 p.m. Preaching and Q. C. Boyle Quartette heard at the Benoit evening service.
Shipman's Chapel, May 2, 11 a.m. Preaching and Quarterly Conference.
Duncan, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Bobo, May 6, 11 a.m. Preaching by J. A. George.
Duncan, May 6, 3 p.m. Q. C.
Duncan, May 6, p.m. Preaching by James H. Felts.
Leland Q. C. during the district conference.

District conference and S. T. S. at Leland, May 7-12, 100 the minimum number to take the teachers' course. The best talent, the greatest hospitality, THE BIGGEST CONFERENCE OF THE KIND EVER HELD IN THIS DISTRICT.

The Wise Virgins looked after extra oil. Great Centenary offering immediately after the district conference. "Be ye also ready."

You must know the joy of hard work, honest sacrifice, before you can taste the sweet waters of success.

JAMES H. FELTS, P. E.

Sardis District—Second Round.

Byhalia, at Fountain Head, 11 a.m., March 25; Q. C., in afternoon.
Arkabutla, at Sarah, March 31, April 1.
Como, Q. C., April 2, p m.
Batesville, Q. C., April 3.
Charleston, Q. C., April 4.
Sardis Ct., at Cold Springs; 11 a.m., April 7; Q. C. in afternoon.
Longtown, at Pleasant Grove, April 8, 11 a.m.; Q. C., in afternoon,
Pleasant Hill, at Baker's Chapel, April 14-15.
Shuford, at Lovejoy, 11 a.m., April 21; Q. C., in afternoon.
Courtland, at Pope, 11 a.m., April 22; Q. C., in afternoon.
Horn Lake, at Poplar Corner, 11 a.m., April 28; Q. C., in afternoon.
Mount Pleasant, at Union, 11 a.m., April 29; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crenshaw, Q. C., May 2.
Tyro, at Tyro, 11 a.m., May 5; Q. C., in afternoon.
Crowder, at Fredonia, 11 a.m., May 6; Q. C., in afternoon.

The District Conference is announcing for May 15, 16, 17, beginning 9:30 a.m., May 15, to be held at Senatobia, Miss. It is the duty, and should be the pleasure, of all members of this conference to be on hand. I trust that all the pastors will see that the Q. C. Records for their charges are there for examination. Please let every local preacher in the District be on hand to make his report. It is no less the duty of the local preachers to be present at this conference than it is the duty of the other members to be on hand. God helping us, we are going to have a great District Conference. Please let every member be there to do his part toward making it a spiritual and material success.

J. TILLERY LEWIS, P. E.

Makes a Family Supply of Cough Remedy

Really better than ready-made cough syrups, and saves about $2. Easily and quickly prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS

Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction

Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs

For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.

25 CTS.

A Remedy for Piles

Ask your Druggist (whom you know) what he knows about PAZO OINTMENT as a Remedy for Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. 60c.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, OPEN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

If your child is listless, full of cold, has colic, or if the stomach is sour, breath bad, tongue coated, a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" will quickly start liver and bowel action. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works the constipation poison, sour bile and waste right out and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful today may save a sick child tomorrow. It never cramps or overacts. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

THERE IS LIFE BEYOND.

"I hear it singing, singing sweetly.
Softly in an undertone:
Singing as if God had taught it,
'It is better farther on.'

"Night and day it sings the same song,
Sings it while I sit alone,
Sings it so the heart can hear it,
'It is better farther on.'

"Sits upon the grave and sings it,
Sings it when the heart would groan,
Sings it when the shadows darken,
'It is better farther on.'

"Farther on! how much farther?
Count the mile stones one by one?
No, no counting, only trusting,
'It is better farther on.'"

VISIT
THE Courtyard Corner
520 ROYAL ST.
GIFT SHOP
"GIFTS THAT ARE DIFFERENT"

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
Uptown 4831
COUPON
Cut this Coupon out. Men's Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 75c. Palm Beach, Linen and Searsucker Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 40c. Suits Sponged and Pressed, 35c. Ladies' Garments at lowest prices.

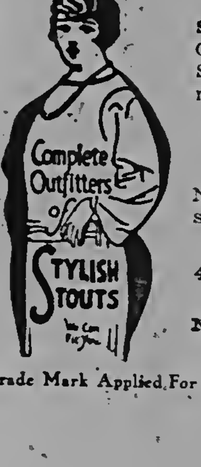
NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 9132
Old Stoves Taken in on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty
3921 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

PROGRESSIVE FURNITURE STORE
Substantial Furniture, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, for the home, office, and church. Convenient terms. Country trade taken care of. Prompt delivery. Service.
5515 MAGAZINE STREET.

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls, Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2363

HEMSTITCHING
Embroidering, Buttons Covered, Scalloping, etc.
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS
109 BOURBON ST. Elevator Service. Main 734

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.



Complete Outfitters of STYLISH STOUTS

Everything to fit the Stout Figure. Evening Gowns. Semi-Evening. Street Dresses. Afternoon Dresses.

Wraps. Underwear. Hosiery. Corsets. Neckwear, and Accessories.

424-426 S. Rampart.

New Store: Canal and Chartres

Trade Mark Applied For

Sunday School

NOTES FROM NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Rev. J. E. Stephens, Grenada, is Conference Superintendent of Leadership Training; Mrs. J. M. Wyatt, Lula, Miss., is Conference Superintendent of Adult Department; Mrs. W. N. Duncan, Drew, Miss., is Superintendent of Intermediate, Senior, and Young People's Departments; Mrs. V. R. McDonald, Sardis, Miss., is Conference Elementary Superintendent. These workers are ready to help in any way possible in the work assigned them. You note the Intermediate, Senior and Young People are under one head.

The Shaw Sunday school is pressing forward to attain the full program of work in the "B" type. Some of the big schools are not paying any attention to this plan of work. The school at Tillatoba has accepted the "C" program.

Kosciusko and Shaw have ordered the pageant for their Sunday School Day program. There are other schools that could undertake something as ambitious as this program offers. Send for it to-day.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

Sunday School Day is the THIRD Sunday in April, or as near thereto as practicable. Discipline, 1923, Paragraph 393.

Sunday School Day programs have been sent each pastor. If you did NOT get yours, let us hear from you. If you need more, let us know.

Three NEW Suuday schools organized already this year; 100 schools have been reached in meetings and 62 schools visited, making a total of 162 Sunday schools reached out of 455, in the first quarter; 2,841 letters have been written, 54 packages of leaflets sent and 5,317 leaflets distributed; traveled 5,202 miles, spoke to 6,461 people, made 67 speeches, 81 addresses, and preached 28 times; 3 conversions, 2 united with the church; 14 books read, 57 books sold, valued at $54; 29 "C" Programs of Work placed, 6 "B" type, 1 "A" type; 100 points on Programs of Work promised; $350 new Centenary money pledged; $3,000 promised to be paid this year.

We need Sunday School Day observance. Don't forget us.

Court Street, Hattiesburg, 385 present day of opening the new church building. This is very fine.

Millsaps Memorial promises to be the FIRST 100% "C" type school.

Satartia circuit organized a Circuit-wide Institute.

Elementary Goals for 1923:

1. 10% of active Cradle Rolls in each Conference, with a Mothers' Class meeting at the Sunday school hour, studying problems of infancy.

2. Children's Week observed adequately with respect to home visitation, parents' meetings, and forward steps in behalf of the schools selected to observe the week in each Conference.

3. 20% increase in each Conference in the number of standard departments in that Conference, provided that the number of new departments does not fall below ten.

If we PULL together, the Mississippi Conference can reach these goals.

Please don't forget Sunday School Day.

Pray for the work of the Mississippi Conference Sunday School Board. We need your prayers.

JOHN C. CHAMBERS,
Conference Superintendent.

GUIDEPOSTS.

Dear Brother Carley: I'd like for Brother Davies to add "And Guideposts" to his weekly contribution. Late last Monday afternoon, returning over a strange road from one of my appointments, or disappointments in this case, as the weather man treated us badly, I came to a parting of the way. "Which way shall I take?" shouted my voice to the guidepost. The silence was eloquent. The post had no information to give—a blank guidepost. The futility of it—the utter uselessness of a blank guidepost either on our State highways or upon the King's Highway! Something to think about.

In addition to the song "Jesus wants me for a sunbeam," why not have one something like this?

Jesus wants me for a guidepost
To point to Him each day,
All who earnestly seek Him,
The Truth, the Life, the Way.

Jesus wants me as a guidepost
To be in place serene,
And give to wayworn trav'lers,
Directions pure and clean.

I'll be a guidepost for Jesus,
And those who would be free,
Direct them to the Lamb of God
Who died upon the tree.

Chorus.
A guidepost, a guidepost,
Master, a guidepost let me be:
A guidepost, a guidepost,
Helping direct men to Thee.

Yours for a freshly painted, properly labeled guidepost along the Highway of Life,

JAY COBURN.
Kentwood, La.

REVIVAL AT FIFTH STREET, MERIDIAN, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: There has been a sound of a going in the tops of the mulberry trees, in my church, and the result was a glorious revival. One of your former pupils in old Centenary, now Evangelist Earl B. Moll, was my helper, and a very effective one, too. Without fear or favor, he declared the whole counsel of God, in denouncing sin of all kinds, and in proclaiming a full and free salvation. There were at least 75 professions of conversion or reclamation, and 60 additions to the membership of the church, 32 of that number by baptism. The finances of the meeting came easily, and all claims were met in full, such as incidentals and a generous purse for Brother Moll. We believe that Fifth Street Church will make real progress, following this work of grace. We hope to do some effective work for the Advocate soon.

JAMES L. SELLS.
March 10, 1923.

United Style Shop
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

ELYOD ART NEEDLEWORK CO.
1842 Dryades Street.
Stamped Articles, Floss, Yarn, Crochet Cotton, etc. Mail orders solicited. Send for beautiful Illustrated circular of stamped articles.

PRYTANIA HEMSTITCHING PARLOR
1413 LYON ST., NEW ORLEANS
No delay. Out-of-town patronage solicited. Price List furnished on application. Charges prepaid.

The Christian Women's Exchange
Two dollars per year enables a consigner the right to exhibit and ten per cent on sales. A wonderful display of art, curio, and needlework always on hand. Visitors welcomed.
520 ROYAL STREET.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

ADORABLE TOGS FOR BABY
And Up to Six!
Maison Rouff
216 Chartres St.
"Just Down from Godchaux's."

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES R. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

HOLMES
81st BIRTHDAY SALE
WHICH BEGINS
MONDAY, APRIL 2nd
MEANS BIG SAVINGS FOR YOU

D. H. HOLMES CO.,
LIMITED
For 81 Years the Best Place to Shop

Robertson-Smith
BEAUTY CULTURIST
Specializing in Scalp Treatment, Massage, Hair Dyeing, and Manicuring.
1031 HOWARD AVE.
Residential Work by Appointment.

Phone, Main 2838
Rose McCaffrey
SUPERIOR MULTIGRAPHING
311 MASONIC TEMPLE

As to What to Wear,
How It Fits or Becomes You, You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.
If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162,
830 CANAL STREET.

The success of some men must furnish them with the big surprise of their life.—Selected.

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203,
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

UNITY
DENTAL CO.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE.

Highest class work in the city.
15-YEAR GUARANTEE.
Nerve Blocking our Specialty.
Eliminates all Pain.

108 UNIVERSITY PLACE
Phone Main 6606

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

Epworth League.

TOPIC FOR APRIL 8.—SOME OF THE SUPREME VALUES OF THE EPWORTH LEAGUE.

1 Tim. 6:11-16.

(Anniversary Day Program.)

Daily Bible Readings.

M. Youth and Vision. Joel 2:28.
T. Mutual Helpfulness. Heb. 10:24, 25.
W. Youth Setting the Pace. 1 Tim. 4:12.
T. The Hope of Youth. Ps. 71:5.
F. Stalwart Sons and Attractive Daughters. Ps. 144:12.
S. Paul's Advice to Young Timothy. 2 Tim. 2:22.

Program Pointers.

It is advised that this service be held at the regular church hour, preferably in the morning. An offering should be taken and the entire amount sent to the Conference Epworth League Treasurer.

Your aim should be to sell the Epworth League idea to the entire church, young and old. To do so your presentation will have to be enthusiastic, clear, convincing, and interesting.

Talking Points.

Tho Epworth League is the best agency in the church for conserving the religious life of the young people of the church. Its devotional meeting, its Quiet Hour and Fellow Worker's Covenants; its constant challenge to the best that is in them for his service, builds lives that are rich in spiritual power.

"I never knew there was anything in the church that I could do until I got into the Epworth League," was the remark we heard one young woman make. The Epworth League develops young people into workers by putting young people to work. We learn to do by doing.

The Epworth League is an organization of the young people, by the young people, for the young people. The very fact that it is their own organization makes it peculiarly adapted to the task of developing in them initiative, resourcefulness, the sense of responsibility, and efficiency.

(Taken from the Devotional Meeting Annual and user by permission.)

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Wo wish to call the attention of our pastors to the Epworth League Anniversary Day program, which should be given the second Sunday in April. The program is in the form of a Pageant, "The Modern Prodigal," and is said to be one of the best programs for this occasion we have had given us in somo years.

We wish to call on our pastors to co-operato with their respective Epworth Leagues in making our Anniversary Day this year the greatest ever. Mr. Pastor, suppose you give over your 11 o'clock hour on this date to your League; at least give them one of tho regular preaching hours. This is your chance to get your League before the church and have the largest congregation of young people your church has ever had. Advertise your program, see that thorough preparation is made, and make it a RED LETTER day in your church. Let's have an Epworth League Day in every church, whether you have a League or not. Order the programs from your District Secretary; or Lamar & Barton, Nashville. They cost 20 cents per dozen, or $1.50 per hundred. Be sure the regular Anniversary Day offering is taken and the entire amount sent to the Conference Treasurer, Rev. L. F. Alford, Pascagoula, Miss. This money is used to further the cause of young people's work in our church, half of the amount being used in our own Conference. Don't overlook your young people. To-morrow they will be your official members.

Our President, Mr. Hawkins, spoke to the Wesson Chapter a few Sundays ago, and at the request of the pastor filled the pulpit at the evening hour, using for his subject "The Church's Responsibility for the Young People." It was a fine service, concluded with a consecration service, which brought a splendid response from both the young people and the older people.

Are you making great plans for the Assembly? The time is drawing near and we will expect to meet you there. Don't forget your African special pledge. If by chance you cannot send a delegation to the Assembly, write the President what your pledge will be. We will give you here a statement showing the percentage of Chapters pledging to this cause in 1922. Look at us. Let's make it one hundred per cent this time:

Alabama, 17%; Baltimore, 48%; Central Texas, 23%; East Oklahoma, 25%; Florida, 58%; Holston, 19%; Illinois, 71%; Kentucky, 66%; Little Rock, 43%; Los Angeles, 62%; Memphis, 35%; Missouri, 16%; North Alabama, 16%; North Arkansas, 29%; North Carolina, 40%; North Mississippi, 35%; North Texas, 34 %; Northwest, 30%; Northwest Texas, 27%; Pacific, 43%; St. Louis, 52%; South Carolina, 28%; South Georgia, 32%; Southwest Missouri, 29%; Texas, 14%; Upper South Carolina, 85%; Virginia, 53%; West Oklahoma, 17%; West Texas, 39%; Western North Carolina, 54%; Western Virginia, 26%; MISSISSIPPI, NINETY-FOUR PER CENT. We can make it one hundred. Let's do it.

Miss Oscie Saunders is to be the representative from the Board of Missions at our Assembly.

The Assembly will be bigger and better than last year. Are you coming?

"You ain't said you ain't—dat make you is."

Say! You District Secrelaries, what are you doing? Let us have some news from your District. If you have anything good, don't be selfish about it—let the rest of us know about it. Will your District be 100% in the observance of Anniversary Day? If so, we want to know it. If not, don't be ashamed to own up. Let us know how many Chapters you have and how many observe Anniversary Day.

Are you at work? Say which?

"Well, you ain't said you is; dat make you ain't."

A NEED MET.

Last year Rev. J. O. J. Taylor, Superintendent, Siberia Mission, sent in a call for magazines and papers for the American sailors in Vladivostok harbor. He now writes: "Please state that the last United States cruiser has left Vladivostok and that we have now no more American sailors here. We are pretty lonesome without them, you may be sure. The church at home responded to our request with a zeal that shows what Southern Methodism can do when she wants to. Please express to every one our thanks for their help in the effort to make life a bit more enjoyable for the tars. If there are those who can continue to send a few magazines, such as Asia, Review of Reviews, Literary Digest, Punch, and American for the missionaries and foreign community, the funny papers for the children, we shall be happy to have them."

Rheumatic Pains Aches
are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also. 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT

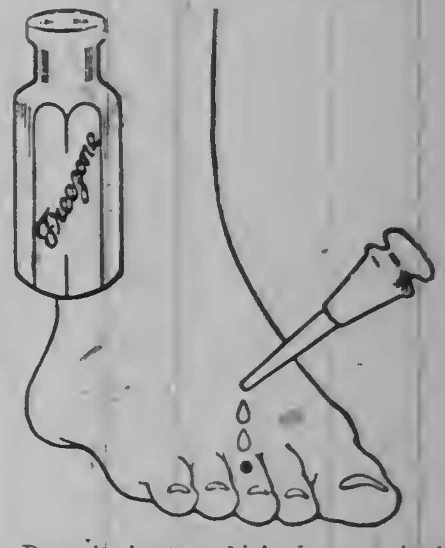
666 quickly relieves Colds, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness & Headaches.

WHEELER Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

If the soloist in your choir sings in English once in a while, raise his salary.—Selected.

Corns
Lift Off with Fingers



Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. Truly!

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

You Cannot Afford to be without the Old Familiar Songs of the Gospel. Millions now in use. [illegible] songs, words and music. [illegible] each in 100 [illegible], 161 songs, words and music [illegible] each in [illegible] lots. Send [illegible] for sample copies. We do not pay express charges on [illegible] or more books. Send cash with order.
E. A. K. HACKETT, Publisher, Fort Wayne, Indiana

Why Take Laxatives?

Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them.

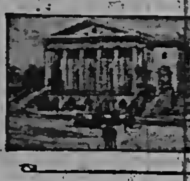
Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method lubrication.

As Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, it cannot gripe and; like pure water, it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today. (adv.)



NEW CHURCH DESIGNS
"HIGHEST EFFICIENCY YET ATTAINED"
INDORSED BY CHURCH AUTHORITIES
WRITE US YOUR NEEDS
R·H·HUNT CO·ARCHITECTS·
CHATTANOOGA TENN DALLAS TEX

SORES BOILS, CUTS and BURNS have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

Whooping Cough
Asthma, Spasmodic Croup, Bronchitis Coughs and Influenza.
The most widely used remedy for whooping cough and spasmodic croup. The little lamp vaporizes the remedy while the patient sleeps.
Introduced in 1879 Vapo-Cresolene.
"Used While You Sleep"
Send for descriptive booklet 43A. Sold by druggists
Vapo-Cresolene Co., 62 Cortlandt St., N. Y.

FRECKLES

March Worst Month for This Trouble —How to Remove Easily.

There's a reason why nearly everybody freckles in March, but happily there is also a remedy for these ugly blemishes, and no one need stay freckled.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and apply a little of it night and morning, and in a few days you should see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the light ones have vanished entirely. Now is the time to rid yourself of freckles, for if not removed now they may stay all Summer, and spoil an otherwise beautiful complexion. Your money back if Othine fails.

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to
Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

PROGRAM OF ANNUAL MEETING, MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Tuesday, March 27.

2 P. M.—Workers' Conference.

7:30 P. M.—Opening devotional, Rev. Osmond S. Lewis; music; addresses of welcome; response, Mrs. F. L. Matthews; address, Mrs. E. B. Chappell, editor of "Missionary Voice," Nashville, Tenn; benediction; reception in substory of church.

Wednesdlay, March 28.

9 A. M.—Executive Committee meeting Conference officers.

9:30 A. M.—Devotional service, Mrs. T. B. Cottrell; communion service, Rev. Osmond Lewis; organization; President's message, Mrs. B. F. Lewis. Reports of officers: Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. H. L. McCleskey; Treasurer, Mrs. Robert Ricketts; Vice-President, Mrs. Sam Ewin; announcements.

12 M.—Quiet Hour, Mrs. E. B. Chappell, Nashville, Tenn. Lunch at church.

Afternoon.

2:30 P. M.—Devotional service, Mrs. Osmond Lewis. Report of District Secretaries: (Delegates to be given an opportunity to tell of successful plans used in Auxiliary work.) Brookhaven, Mrs. Mamie Meyer; Hattiesburg, Mrs. J. H. Scott; Jackson, Mrs. T. B. Gaddis; Meridian, Miss Ella Wayne Ormond; Newton, Miss Lois Hunt; Seashore, Mrs. R. B. Dacey; Vicksburg, Mrs. T. B. Cottrell; committee meetings.

Evening.

7:30 P. M.—Devotional service; music. Addresses: "Telling the Story on the Foreign Fields," Mrs. H. L. McCleskey; "Telling the Story in Korea," Miss Hallie Buie; awarding badges to Societies attaining "Standard of Excellence."

Thursday, March 29.

9:30 A. M.—Devotional service, Miss Constance Palmore. Addresses: "Telling the Story at Home," Mrs. E. B. Chappell, Nashville, Tenn.; "Our Syrian Guest," Rev. Charles Assaf. Literature hour: "Open forum on Literature," conducted by Mrs. E. B. Chappell: book review—"Building with India," Mrs. D. E. Kelly; pledge hour.

12 M.—Quiet Hour, Mrs. E. B. Chappell. Lunch at church.

Afternoon.

2:30 P. M.—Devotional service, Mrs. J. H. Scott. Address: "Telling the Story with Our Centenary Money," Mr. W. D. Hawkins, Meridian, Miss. Reports of officers: Superintendent Young People, Mrs. J. M. Smith; Superintendent Children, Mrs. Will Bradley; Superintendent Study and Publicity, Mrs. Campbell Herlong; Superintendent Supplies, Mrs. C. R. McQueen; Superintendent Social Service, Mrs. L. W. Alford. Committee meetings.

Evening.

7:30 P. M.—"The Adult Missionary Society in the Making," Juniors and Young People; pictures telling the Story of Our Centenary Work in Europe, Mr. W. D. Hawkins.

Friday, March 30.

9:30 A. M.—Devotional service, Miss S. Ellis. Addresses: "Telling the Story of the Meridian Wesley House," Miss Constance Palmore; "Telling the Story of the Biloxi Wesley House," Miss S. Ellis. Election of officers; reports of committees; place of next meeting; unfinished business.

12 M.—Quiet Hour, Mrs. E. B. Chappell. Lunch at church.

FROM FRANKLIN, LA.

Dear Doctor Carley: I care nothing about "limelight," but feel that good reports are always helpful to our Lord's great cause.

All along there have been indications of decided growth on this charge that some who don't know wouldn't call the best in the Conference. These indications have appeared in all departments of our work. We have been, during nearly twenty years of our ministry, among all kinds of people; but never among any who stand by their pastor any better than these Franklin folks do.

Instead of the hackneyed though beautiful expression, "The lines have fallen unto us in pleasant places," at the risk of its not being an improvement, we are saying. "The church chariot is rolling among green pastures and though occasionally the wheels strike hard bumps, the Driver is there with His rod and staff." And these pastures are inhabited by sheep who know how to receive and help the "under shepherd."

Besides the salary being in full on time, tokens of kindness too numerous to mention are constantly being shown.

Of course our good presiding elder was loyally received, not only by his old parishioners, but by every one.

A few days before Christmas, a big car drove in the parsonage yard and unloaded a great big clothes-basket of eatables. A similar stunt was pulled off a few days ago.

On the 11th of February we began a revival meeting, with the well known Kelly brothers assisting. It would be impossible to narrate all the good that was accomplished in this excellent meeting, which came to a close last Sunday. Most of the work in this revival was with the church. Many attended who had not been seen in our church before. Brother Dan's straightforward way of exploding against sins of all degrees and stations was especially attractive to men. Of course, everybody falls in love with this jovial, big, good-natured preacher of righteousness. An extra large crowd heard his sermon to Masons. We have over twenty to receive into the church, and the whole atmosphere seems charged with Christian love. We enjoyed our association with these brethren very much, and they have our prayers and best wishes.

LEE R. SPARKS, P. C.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT.
Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

Sure Relief
FOR INDIGESTION
6 BELL-ANS
Hot water
Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
25¢ AND 75¢ PACKAGES EVERYWHERE

TETTERINE
Makes Hair Beautiful, Free from Dandruff and Keeps the Scalp Healthy.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

IF BILIOUS, SICK! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

You're bilious! Your liver is sluggish! You feel lazy, dizzy and all knocked out. Your head is dull, your tongue is coated; breath bad; stomach sour and bowels constipated. But don't take salivating calomel. It makes you sick, you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel crashes into sour bile like dynamite, breaking it up. That's when you feel that awful nausea and cramping.

If you want to enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced just take a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight. Your druggist or dealer sells you a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents under my personal money-back guarantee that each spoonful will clean your sluggish liver better than a dose of nasty calomel and that it won't make you sick.

Dodson's Liver Tone is real liver medicine. You'll know it next morning because you will wake up feeling fine, your liver will be working, your headache and dizziness gone, your stomach will be sweet and your bowels regular. You will feel like working; you'll be cheerful; full of vigor and ambition.

Dodson's Liver Tone is entirely vegetable, therefore harmless and can not salivate. Give it to your children.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR-
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

whooping cough
and CROUP—those dreaded Childhood afflictions are quickly and safely relieved by Roche's Herbal Embrocation—the remedy that has served several generations of Mothers successfully—since 1802.
Equally effective for BRONCHITIS or COLDS on the chest.
Always keep a bottle handy
E. FOUGERA & CO., Inc.
90-92 Beekman Street, New York
ROCHE'S
HERBAL EMBROCATION

OUSTS RHEUMATISM.

Here it is. Those awful pains of rheumatism so common during the cold rainy weather are completely forgotten, and the rheumatism is expelled from your system by the very simple treatment of taking Renwar Salts which neutralizes the uric acid in the blood, and Renwar attacks the very cause of this malady and expells the uric acid from the system. Renwar is entirely dependable. It does not in any way injure the stomach or affect the heart. It is prescribed by the best physicians, and your money is refunded if Renwar fails to relieve you of rheumatism. Give Renwar a trial and you will never regret it. Mr. Benagh of the Nashville Railway and Light Company says, "Within two or three days after using Renwar my rheumatism disappeared.". Price 50c. Ask your druggist for it, or write Warner Drug

DANDRUFF
quickly disappears when
TETTERINE
is applied. Fragrant and Soothing. 60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

FROM THE WESLEY MEMORIAL CHARGE, BILOXI, MISS.

I need not say again that I have a real mission. My parishioners are composed of Americans, Poles, Austrians, Bohemians, and French, some of whom are as fine people as you find anywhere.

I have no flowery bed upon which to recline. I believe, though, there are those who share the responsibility with me, and if those away could appreciate conditions existing in this field, they would be more interested. I am expected to visit the ships which anchor at Gulfport, and there are many in the harbor just now. I also preach for the world war veterans at the United States Hospital. I have also done some street preaching since Annual Conference. I have the famous Ford car fitted up with a pulpit and I go out with singers Sunday afternoon to sing and preach. On March 1, I held two precious services on the street; a number of people listened attentively, and singers and preachers returned home feeling that God was manifest in these services. One great need for the street meetings was an organ. Brother Charles Allen, Gipsy Smith's singer and organizer, and Miss Lucile Abernathy, his pianist, in looking over the field and holding a service with me, met this need by presenting me with a check with which to buy a folding organ. May God's richest blessings rest upon these good people for the much needed assistance which they have rendered me in my work! (Gipsy Smith did a great work in Biloxi.)

There are other needs that would not require a large sum of money to supply, but will require more than I can spare (even with stint) from a meager salary. I need Bibles in English, Bohemian, Austrian, and Polish, and a few in other languages. The Ford car has not yet been paid for. I need $24 each month until a debt of $200 is paid. When urged by bishops and Boards to steer clear of debts and knowing that this is a real mission and that I have no man to whom I can appeal for help, it tests my faith and makes the hair on my head grow white. I have received letters of enquiry about my work and have had some small checks to be applied on the car. I appreciate all this, and I believe there are others equally interested. The Ladies' Aid of Main Street Church here, have shown no small interest in my work, and I thank God for their helpfulness. The workers at the Wesley House are faithful in their work with me, and only God can know the good these women do in this factory district. Don't you want some part in this mission field at your door? Then give us your prayers, and supply our needs for Bibles and the car.

WALDO W. MOORE,
Missionary Pastor at Back Bay and Wesley Memorial Churches.
Biloxi, Miss., Box 500.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE

Columbus Dist.—Second Round.

Standard Training School, at Starkville, March 26 to 31.
Columbus, Central Church, Q. C., April 3; preaching, March 4, p.m.
Noxapater, at Pisgah, April 6.
High Point, at Rural Hill, April 7, 8.
Louisville, April 8, p.m.
Kosciusko Ct., at Smyrna, April 13.
Kosciusko Sta., April 13, p.m.
Crawford and Shaeffers, at Shaeffers, April 15, a.m.
Sturgis, at Pleasant Hill, April 18.
Shuqualak, at Cooksville, April 20.
Mashulaville, at Mt. Hebron, April 21, 22.
Brooksville, April 22, p.m.
District Conference, at Ackerman, April 26, 27.
Ethel, at ——, April 28, 29.
Ackerman and Weir, at Ackerman, April 29, 30.
Mayhew and Sessums, at ——, May 2; preaching at Mayhew, April 1, a.m.
Artesia, May 3, night; preaching, April 15, night.
McCool, at Liberty Hill, May 5, 6.
Starkville, May 6, p.m.
West Point, May 9; preaching, April 1, p.m.
Cedar Bluff, at ——, May 10.

District Conference at Ackerman April 26-27. Opening sermon Wednesday night the 25th. The District Standard Training School will be held at Starkville March 26-31. All pastors are requested to let Brother Woollard know, right away, how many will attend this School from their charges. We hope to have every school in the district represented at this School. Starkville will furnish free entertainment.

A. T. McILWAIN, P. E.

Aberdeen Dist.—Second Round.

Aberdeen, Mar. 24, 25.
Prairie and Strong, at P., Mar. 25, 26.
Shannon and Nettleton, at Brewer, Mar. 31, Apr. 1.
Verona, at Plantersville, Apr. 1, 2.
Nettleton, at Shiloh, Apr. 7, 8.
Woodland, at Palestine, Apr. 14, 15.
Greenwood Springs, at New Hope, Apr. 21, 22.
Salem and Ecru, at Liberty Hill, Apr. 27.
Tocopola, at Lafayette Springs, Apr. 28, 29.
Randolph, at Washington, Apr. 29, 30
Calhoun City, at Pittsboro, May 5, 6.
Vardaman, at Lloyd, May 6, 7.
Houlka, at Concord, May 8.
Smithville, at Paine's Memorial, May 12, 13.
Eupora and Maben, at M., May 14.
Mathiston, at Lagrange, May 15.
Bellefontaine, at S. Union, May 16.
Algoma, at Ebenezer, May. 18.
Fulton, at Friendship., May 19, 20.
Tremont, at Mt. Pleasant, May 20, 21.

T. H. DORSEY, P. E.

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC SOLD 50 YEARS
If not sold by your druggist, write Wintersmith Chemical Co., Louisville, Ky.

MRS. RUTH WILLIAMSON.

A Mother's Advice
Health is Vital to You, Mothers!

Birmingham, Ala.—"After becoming a mother my health gave way. I suffered severely with a pain low down in my right side. My sister-in-law, having been cured of a bad case of feminine trouble by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, advised me to take it, which I did. I am now starting on my third bottle and the pain has all left me. My husband said to me the other day, 'That Favorite Prescription must be a wonderful medicine, I don't hear you complaining any more.'"—Mrs. Ruth Williamson, 4016 First Avenue.

You should obtain this famous Prescription now at your nearest drug store, in tablets or liquid, or write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free medical advice.

HEALTH FOR WORKING WOMEN

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Help You to Become Well

Thousands of girls have to work in homes, offices, stores, mills or factories who are physically unfit for work, with often an aged or invalid father or mother dependent upon them for support. Standing all day week in and week out, or sitting in cramped positions a girl often contracts some deranged condition of her organic system which calls a halt to her progress and demands restoration to health before she can be of use to herself or anyone else.

For these distressing weaknesses and derangements these girls have found health to do their work in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"Like many girls, I had troubles every month," says Carolyne Mangels, "and they interfered with my work as I could never be sure of my time. My mother often suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but I never did until lately. I have had very good results, and am now a private secretary and do my work without missing a day. I recommend your medicine to every girl who speaks of having troubles like I have had."—CAROLYNE MANGELS, 407 14th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Office Worker Helped

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine for three and a half years, and they have improved my health wonderfully. My mother also has taken the Vegetable Compound and we recommend it to our friends. I am working in an office now and can always do my work as I do not have the troubles I had at first. I read of your Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and you may use my letter in that way if you wish to do so."—ELEANOR SHEBLAK, 537 36th St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Pains and Headache

Webster, Mass.—"I was all run-down, had a bad complexion, and suffered with pains and backache, and was dizzy at times and felt weak. I worked in a mill and my girl chum told me about your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am feeling much better since taking it."—MARY PLAZA, 19 West Street, Webster, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

FROM FIRST CHURCH, COLUMBUS, MISS.

At the Conference in Water Valley in November Bishop Ainsworth lifted me up from Greenville, where I had been for five years, and placed me in this great church. There are at present about 900 members, and the best equipment for Sunday school work in the Conference. I found the church well organized all the way from the Board of Stewards down to the Junior Missionary Society. But this is neither surprising nor remarkable. With such pastors as they have had here for many years, if the church had not been well organized very grave doubt would have filled our minds as to these pastors and what they had been doing here. But they have left a good record behind. Think of a church being served by such men as Joshua T. Heard, William Murrah, P. F. Neely, R. H. Hargrove, A. E. Arrowe, Joseph E. Carroll, T. A. E. Adams, E. A. Read, and than five or six men who have served here within the past twenty or twenty-five years, all of whom made their contribution to the church according to their talent and opportunity. Many of the children and grandchildren of the first families which settled here about a hundred years ago are still found in the membership of the church. They are on the Board of Stewards, they are trustees, they are teachers in the Sunday school, they are officers in the W. M. S. Then there are many splendid people in our church here who came in from the surrounding country. We do not know the difference. A fine brotherly spirit prevails throughout the membership and a most hopeful outlook characterizes all our work. The church has paid $7,200 on a pledge of $10,425 for the Centenary. The Sunday school is paying $20 per month for the Centenary and has paid up to date. The Missionary Society is very active and is doing a most excellent work. There are 440 Methodist young ladies in the college here which adds tremendously to the responsibility and the opportunity of the writer and his co-pastor at Central Church, the Rev. A. E. Barnes. We have the finest sort of co-operation on the part of the Methodist teachers at the college. The Y. W. C. A. Secretary is the wife of a Methodist preacher and is rendering the finest kind of service there.

We have had only nine additions to the church since Conference, two of these being on profession of faith. But there are others to be found, and we are after them. The Board of Stewards were kind enough to raise the pastor's salary $500, and the parsonage was put in splendid condition by the good women.

A long-continued scourge of the "flu" has hindered us very greatly in reaching the people, though the pastor's family has escaped so far. But despite these conditions, we had 433 present the other Sunday in our Sunday school; 193 of them were college girls in one class. There were not less than 130 college girls present that day in a combined program given by the Baracas and the Philatheas the same day where were 123 present. We sent $50 for Near East Relief and $15 for the District Training School. We give some of the other classes and schools in this territory notice that we mean to share with them some of the publicity and glory they have so much enjoyed recently. On with the fight!

E. S. LEWIS.

WHEN YOU ENLIST
—by—
Margaret Slattery.

THIS is one of the best-written and most attractive little inspirational books that have appeared in a long time. Most of the Lord's workers understand what the author means by the title. It is a book for those who want to or ought to enlist.

Bound in ornamental leatherette. 75c.

LAMAR & BARTON
Nashville Dallas Richmond San Francisco

AGENTS WANTED

Men and women. Big profits for full or spare time. Our [illegible] Bibles, Testaments and Religious Books are fast sellers.
[illegible]
Write for catalog with agent's terms.

Wilmore Book & Bible Co. 440 S. Dearborn St. Chicago, Illinois

A FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is absolutely pure and contains no harmful or habit producing drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and excellence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

It is scientifically compounded from vegetable herbs.

It is not a stimulant and is taken in teaspoonful doses.

It is not recommended for everything.

It is nature's great helper in relieving and overcoming kidney, liver and bladder troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the best. On sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, medium and large.

However, if you wish first to try this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

666 is a prescription for Colds, Fever and LaGrippe. It's the most speedy remedy we know.

REVIVAL AT HOLLY SPRINGS, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: We have just closed one of the greatest revivals which the people of Holly Springs have experienced in a generation. We had Rev. Frank M. Neal, general evangelist, of Amarillo, Texas; Fred Cunningham, of Sherman, Texas, was his singer. The two make an excellent team for evangelistic work. Brother Neal came to us on Feb. 25, and continued to preach twice each day through three Sundays. At the beginning, he told me that he wanted ushers provided for day services, as he expected to have the church filled to overflowing at 10:30 each day; by the third or fourth day the church was crowded, and at night we could hardly seat the people. He is a powerful preacher of the Gospel and lays no uncertain emphasis, whether it be in high places or low places. [illegible] The old time power was seen as of old. [illegible] a number of young boys professed to have the call to the ministry and [illegible] Brother Neal builds the revival around the church and the pastor. He stresses family altars, Sunday school, Epworth Leagues, tithing, and calls the people to rally to the work of the church. We are looking for a great change in the church work at Holly Springs, and that change for the better in every respect. Forty gave their names for church membership to the various churches.

Some of the brethren doubtless would be pleased to have some idea of what type of man Brother Neal is, as this is his first meeting in Mississippi. I will say he is [illegible] years old and has been in the evangelistic work nine years—six as Conference evangelist and three as general evangelist. His style is something on the order of Sam Jones—humorous, sarcastic, piercing, illustrative, dramatic. I would be glad to see him hold a meeting in every large town in the North Mississippi Annual Conference.

W. R. LOTT, P. C.

FROM CEDAR BLUFF, MISS.

Dear Advocate: We have just closed the greatest meeting at Pheba, in the Cedar Bluff charge, that the town has ever experienced. Rev. W. A. Wilson, North Mississippi Conference evangelist, came to us on Sunday March 4, and stayed ten days. The presence and power of the Holy Spirit were felt from the very beginning. The house was crowded at almost every service. There were forty-two additions to the churches of the town, half of them going to the Baptist church.

Every student in the boarding department of the County Agricultural High School who was not a Christian was converted and joined one of the churches.

Brother Wilson has had a wonderful Christian experience. His earnestness and his great faith make him a power for God in the ministry.

We are moving along smoothly on the second year on this charge.

We are planning other revivals for this year.

O. A. CLARK, P. C.

Watch the date on your address label and renew your subscription when it falls due.

Life is one continuous round of un[illegible] business.—Selected.

The best splinter—extracting sunshine from a cloudy day.—Selected.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Hattiesburg Dist.—Second Round.

Collins, at Bethel, March 10, 11, 11 a.m.
[illegible], at Tunison, March 18, 11 a.m., 2:30 p.m.
[illegible], at Circle Camp, March 25, 11 a.m., 2:30 p.m.
Silver Creek, at Pinola, March 27.
Hattiesburg, Court St., April 1, 11 a.m.
Petal, at [illegible], April 1, 2:30 p.m.
Prentiss, at [illegible], April 8, 9, 11 a.m., 3 p.m.
Purvis, at Union Grove, April 10, 11 a.m.
[illegible], at Boyles Chapel, April 15, 11 a.m.
Williamsburg, at W., April 17, 11 a.m.
Taylorsville-Mize, at M., April 18, 11 a.m.
Seminary, at Sanford, April 22, 11 a.m., 2:30 p.m.
Hattiesburg, Broad St., April 22, 7:30 p.m.
DISTRICT CONFERENCE, at Richton, April 25-26.
New Augusta, at McLain, April 29, 3 and 7:30 p.m.
Avera, at Avera, May 6, 11 a.m.
Leakesville, at Winburn Chapel, May 9, 11 a.m.
Lucedale, May 9, 7:30 p.m.
Lucedale Ct., at Refuge, May 10, 11 a.m.
Hattiesburg, Main St., May 13, 11 a.m.
Sumrall, May 13, 14, 7:30 p.m., 9 a.m.
Ellisville, at Hinton, May 15, 11 a.m.
Heidelberg, at Philadelphia, May 20, 11 a.m.
Mt. Olive-Magee, at Mt. Olive, May 27.

Pastors will please elect their delegates to the District Conference at once and forward their names to Rev. A. W. O'Bryant, Richton, and to me.

W. W. GRAVES, P. E.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

TETTERINE
CLEARS BABY'S SKIN
and drives off the Rash and Pimples. Harmless. Soothing. Fragrant.
50c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Aspirin
Say "Bayer" and Insist!
BAYER
Genuine

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for

Colds Headache
Toothache Lumbago
Earache Rheumatism
Neuralgia Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—Adv.

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 13. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3503.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, MARCH 29, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

IF CHRIST HAS NOT RISEN.

By Bishop Warren A. Candler.

In our day there is a prevalent disposition among a certain class of men to pare down the body of Christian truth to the smallest number and least supernatural of religious principles, and substitute the fragment thus left for the whole body of the heavenly revelation made to mankind through the Redeemer.

Men of this sort presume to decide for themselves and for others what is fundamental and essential to Christianity, and what may be set aside as needless doctrines which put too much strain upon the believing capacity of human nature. They approach the Holy Scriptures like bargain-counter shoppers in a modern department store, proposing to take what most strikes their fancy and may be had at the lowest price, and reject all the rest of the stock.

This disposition to pick and choose among Christian truths is most unreasonable and most dangerous. It is unreasonable because it proceeds on the mistaken notion that the human mind is capable of determining not only what has been revealed by God, but what ought to be the contents of the revelation which He has given of Himself—a notion which, if it were true, would supersede the necessity of any revelation at all. It is dangerous because once a man begins to set aside whatever in the Scriptures may be unacceptable to him, he rarely stops until at last he has nothing of vital importance left to believe.

Such was the case of certain parties in the church at Corinth in the days of St. Paul. Taking counsel of their philosophic speculations, and not perceiving the consequences flowing from the acceptance of a dogma of materialism, they boldly and flatly declared there is no resurrection of the dead. They had not weighed the meaning of their words, nor considered the fatal effect upon faith of accepting such a tenet of skepticism. They did not intend to give up Christianity. Least of all did they propose to surrender their own claim to the Christian name. They probably flattered themselves that they were more intelligent Christians than the common run of members of the Corinthian church because they had secured a firmer hold upon all that was really essential to "the Christianity of Christ" by rejecting legendary additions made by too credulous apostles. They accepted the ethics of Jesus and admired his beautiful example, which also they were ready to imitate; but they felt to require them to believe that after being crucified, dead and buried, he rose again the third day, was to seek to impose upon them "a man-made creed," and was an affront to their superior intelligence and larger enlightenment. Hence they dismissed it—belief in the resurrection—as unimportant, if not manifestly untrue. How like many men of our day were Corinthian rationalists!

In his first letter to the church at Corinth, the great Apostle told those ancient skeptics flatly that if they held such tenets they had no Christianity at all. "If there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen. And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain and your faith is also vain" (I Corinthians xv:13 and 14). That trenchant declaration forced them to face the fact that, however they might deceive themselves, such doubters as they were could not be called Christians at all. Their faith, if faith it might be accounted, was both empty and futile. It contained nothing potential for the regeneration of the heart; and the preaching of it was no more than the impotent utterance of vacuous vagaries. They might be conceited enough to imagine that they were not less religious, but only more intelligent than the Apostles and other believers, but Paul would not permit them to indulge any such vain delusion. He gave them to understand clearly that the end of their false teachings was the utter abandonment of Christianity. He set before them, in all its naked repulsiveness, what it meant to profess to be a follower of Christ and yet deny the resurrection of the dead.

"HE IS RISEN!"

The world has been passing through some dark days—but this Easter Day ought to bring sunshine and happiness to many a sorrowful soul as the message is proclaimed in all lands and to all nations, "He is risen!" Those glorious words are enough to inspire the hope of every despondent person on earth and to stir the hearts of men and women everywhere. He is risen! The chilling tides of death may be approaching—they are approaching—but they bring no dread to one who knows that there is another land "fairer than day" just across the stream. The grave may seem dark and dreary—but we are not to stay in the grave. Some may say, "How do the dead rise?" The resurrection may be a mystery—but it is a fact. We will say it is a miracle—what then? Is not our God able to work miracles, and will He not work miracles to vindicate the hopes of those who have put their trust in Him, and to establish the fact of His sovereignty over the universe? It is as easy to believe in miracles as it is to believe in God—and where is the man who will say in his heart, "There is no God?" Jesus rose from the grave, he was victor over death—and through him the whole race is redeemed from despair. "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" Our own hearts confirm the testimony of unimpeachable witnesses, and we exclaim with them, "He is risen!" If there were no resurrection, we should, of all men, be most miserable. How much we owe to our Savior Jesus Christ, "who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light!" He is risen! —wonderful words are these that we speak today. Let us not forget, either, that exhortation of the Apostle: "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God."

Similar plain dealing with present-day rationalism is required. The advocates of this mutilated Christianity need to be told that they have nothing left worthy of the name, that without the risen Christ the Christian religion is both false and futile.

If Christ is not risen, what remains to be accepted or rejected?

If he be not risen, He has not power on earth to forgive sins; for only the judge of sin is competent to pardon it, and God has committed all judgment to the Son (John v:22). But how shall sinners, such as we, be assured of this fact? Let Paul's address to the philosophers of Athens furnish the answer: "Now, God commandeth all men everywhere to repent: Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men in that he hath raised him from the dead" Acts xvii:30-31).

If Christ be not risen, there is no room for human repentance nor ground for the pardon of sin. Wherefore we are taught that He "was delivered for our offenses, and was raised again for our justification" (Romans iv:25).

If salvation is essential, belief in the Risen Redeemer is not a non-essential thing. What signifies his death, if it was not followed by his resurrection? It amounts to no more than the death of any other good man who might have given up his life for some noble cause to which he was devoted. And why should the death of a mere man be esteemed as a source of life and salvation to sinful souls? Who could think of the holiest man who ever lived, as bearing by his death "the sins of men in his own body on the tree"? Who would dare say of such a man that sinners are "reconciled to God", by his death, or that he is the "propitiation for their sins, and not for theirs only but for the sins of the whole world"? (I John ii:2).

Furthermore, the gospel without the Risen Redeemer offers, and can offer, no hope of regeneration or renewal of life "in righteousness and true holiness." Truly and solemnly, therefore, said St. Paul to the Corinthian skeptics: "If Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins" (I Corinthians xv:17). And all mankind likewise is hopelessly and helplessly involved in incurable sin without the life-giving power of the Risen Saviour.

And what shall we do about death and the grave, if we can not be redeemed from the guilt and thraldom of sin? How shall men approach their decease? Burdened with the consciousness of both sins and sinfulness, they must come to it with "a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation."

But if our dying and risen Lord has "made us free from the law of sin and death," "death is swallowed up in victory," "life and immortality are brought to light in the gospel," and at the entrance to the tomb we may exultantly cry, "O grave, where is thy victory"?

Our cemeteries wear not the gloomy aspect they would possess if Christ had not risen. They and all the earth are transfigured because of His resurrection. From Him the perfume of a heavenly atmosphere is wafted to our sad world, and with the fragrant hope which is thus borne in upon us our sorrowful souls are soothed and satisfied. They who have fallen asleep, we are assured by our Lord's resurrection, can not have perished. "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him" (I Thesalonians iv:14).

Wherefore, at this Easter season, while we assure ourselves again that "the Lord is risen indeed," let us comfort one another with these words of the Holy Scriptures.

"Then let our songs abound
And every tear be dry;
We are marching through Immanuel's ground
To fairer worlds on high."

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103; Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:
Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

MESSAGE OF THE BISHOPS CONCERNING THE ENLARGED PROGRAM FOR THE LAYMEN OF OUR CHURCH.

To the Ministers and Members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Dear Brethren: We desire at this time to draw your attention to the work of the General Board of Lay Activities, authorized by the action of the General Conference of our Church, sitting in Hot Springs, Ark., in May, 1922.

It is worthy of mention that the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has, from the very beginning of her history, sought to give places of large service to her laymen. Our General Conference consists of an equal number of clerical and lay delegates. Our laymen have full responsibility as delegates to our Annual Conferences, and serve on all Annual Conference Boards. The District Conferences, the Quarterly Conference, and the Church Conference, are all conferences which are composed largely of laymen. It is evident, therefore, that in all the official conferences of the Church, laymen have a useful and conspicuous place. The Laymen's Missionary Movement, organized some fifteen years ago, was a further step in the plans of our Church to give to laymen a larger place of influence and effective way, especially in the enlargement and futherance of the missionary program of the Church. In the great Centenary and Christian Education Movements, it was seen that many of the most useful Conference, District and Church Directors were men who had been developed in the work of the Laymen's Missionary Movement. They had fully demonstrated both their ability and their readiness to lead in the great enterprises of the Church.

Believing that the time had come for a broader and more complete organization, the leaders of the Laymen's Missionary Movement presented to the General Conference, in May, 1922, well-considered plans for the reorganization of the lay forces of the Church. The General Conference responded by creating the General Board of Lay Activities. By many, this enactment is considered one of the most constructive and far-reaching pieces of work done by our recent General Conference.

We call your attention to the fact that the Church faces conditions to-day which demand not only the gifts and graces of a well trained ministry, but also the business ability of her consecrated laymen. The past quadrennium, one of the most successful in all our history, revealed the fact that we have a great body of laymen who stand ready and willing to serve. The organization, therefore, of the General Board of Lay Activities comes, in our judgment, at an opportune and providential hour. This new Board is created, not for administrative purposes, but for the purpose of co-operating with the other Boards of the Church in doing the work which they have in hand. To this end, larger lay activities must be encouraged and larger leadership among our laymen must be developed. This new organization should be a great factor in awakening our entire Church to her world-wide responsibilities. For no church can even begin to do the work of world-evangelization without effectively utilizing the laymen who constitute the rank and file of her membership.

The Board of Lay Activities plans to bring every local congregation into active co-operation with all our great denominational plans and purposes. This new organization, extending all the way from the General Board of Lay Activities to the Annual Conference, from the Conference lay leader to the District lay leader, and from the District lay leader to the Church lay leader, presents a logical way of reaching the last church and the last man in the Church for enlarged service.

Some of the objectives which the Board of Lay Activities has set before itself for the present quadrennium are as follows:

1. It is proposed to bring to the local congregation a fuller realization of its relation to the connectional program of Methodism. No greater service can be rendered just now than successfully to relate the local congregation to the church-wide enterprise of our great denomination.

2. It is proposed to co-operate to the fullest extent with the forces of the Church now undertaking to raise four million dollars on the Centenary pledges by the first day of May. The enthusiasm with which the Board of Lay Activities is entering upon this task, prophesies large success. The Church is depending upon her laymen to play a large part in gathering in these funds. This organization is also co-operating with the Christian Education Movement, and stands ready for the heartiest service in the matter of the Superannuate Endowment Fund.

3. The Board of Lay Activities has realized the necessity for the paying in full of the benevolent assessments on the Church, and is presenting this need and the best methods of accomplishing it through lay leaders in all the Annual and District Conferences of the Church.

4. The great Evangelistic Campaign has made a special appeal to our laymen, and the Board of Lay Activities is co-operating heartily with the Commission on Evangelism. It is sought to develop a larger number of laymen in every congregation who will do personal work.

5. The principles of Christian Stewardship, which were emphasized in the earlier days of the Centenary Movement, must be carried forward until they are adopted by our whole Church as the practical plan for financing the Kingdom of God. The Board of Lay Activities is addressing itself with most commendable zeal to the task of giving to all our people intelligent plans for spreading abroad this gospel of Christian Stewardship. There can scarcely be a greater service than this that our laymen can render. For our substance, as well as ourselves and our personal service, must all be consecrated to God, if his kingdom is to come and his will to be done on earth as it is done in heaven.

In these and in many other ways are our laymen placing themselves on the altar of God for service. We thank God and take courage. For the obligations that rest upon the Church of Christ in this hour of the world's need, are nothing short of tremendous. We face conditions unsettled, uncertain, and even chaotic. The evils of war were never more evident than they are now. The entire continent of Europe is staggering under a blow from the effects of which her ablest statesmen have as yet been entirely unable to deliver her. The awful shock of the greatest war in the history of mankind, has been felt throughout the entire world, even among those peoples who live remotest from the main currents of the life of civilized nations. There is lack of understanding and harmony among the nations of the earth. There are hatred and suspicion where there should be confidence and co-operation. The one hope of the world is in the gospel of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. If this war-torn and sin-cursed world is to be brought to Christ, all the forces of the Kingdom must be utilized and the full power of the Church of the Redeemer must be delivered for its salvation. We welcome, therefore, the response of our laymen to the call of the hour. We thank God for their consecration to the service of mankind. We rejoice in this renewed evidence of their devotion to Christ and his Church.

We desire, therefore, to assure the Board of Lay Activities of our full and cordial co-operation; and we commend it and the work it is undertaking to the entire membership of our Church.

We are your brethren and fellow-laborers in the work of the Kingdom.

Signed by:

Eugene R. Hendrix, Warren A. Candler, James Atkins, Collins Denny, William B. Murrah, Edwin D. Mouzon, John M. Moore, William F. McMurry, Urban V. W. Darlington, Horace M. DuBose, William N. Ainsworth, James Cannon, Jr., William B. Beauchamp, James E. Dickey, Sam R. Hay, Hoyt M. Dobbs, Hiram A. Boaz.

EASTER—ITS MESSAGE.

By Payton A. Sowell.

Read Luke xxiv:4-6.

Each morning, in a sense, is a resurrection morning—it lights a torch of hope. It sings a new song of life from the dead.

In sleep, we break the chain of life; we weld it on waking—no link is missing; we finish the word, the sentence, the story we left off the evening before.

The shadows and sorrows of Good Friday pass into the dawn of Easter. The Way of Sorrow emegres into the gladness of a Resurrection Morning.

We look for the best in life, not in death. The East holds the morning light, not the West.

In the lifetime of our friends, we do not go to the cemeteries to find them; but we know they are in the marts of trade, in the gardens, in the fields.

The living Christ—for He said: "I am alive forevermore"—is not in the tomb, but He is in the rhapsodies, the energies, the services, the faith of the church.

In the heart of humanity there has ever been a hunger for the better and the best. This has lived, notwithstanding the race has moved in its faith and service on low levels of life.

At the best, until the Easter Epoch came, the best that came to man was not a full day.

There were a few very beautiful stories, which were worthy of credence; stories girt about with the real, that many of the race who were so favored as to hear them were comforted by them. It was told that Samuel came back; Job wrote: "I know my Redeemer liveth * * * though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God."

The belief in the fact, and plan, that life would be, even after death, grew with the widening centuries, and grew more real and furnished comfort.

When Jesus came, men had already faith in the resurrection from death. Even religious women in their modesty of belief said: "We know he shall rise at the last day."

In the earthly day of Jesus, he gave the "belief of it" a new setting.

Men opened their eyes and saw the wonder, they saw the power of Jesus over physical death. They were present when the Widow's Son rose up from the bier and went home—rather than the tomb. They saw Lazarus come back from the tomb after three days.

Jesus submitted himself to these spectacular processes, and expected men to believe them.

Then there came a near day, when he challenged the belief of men in his own resurrection.

He expects—to the limits of the race—a faith with no less reach than the belief that "He rose from the dead." No faith below this is heroic.

He submits it on the ground of evidence. In this tremendous article of faith is put the power of God.

The greatest mind yet to have had a place in the Christian church says: "Why should it be thought a thing incredible, that God should raise the dead?"

Death is a disorganizer—it is an "unmooring" of the hopes of humanity, on a dark night and stormy sea.

Christ's resurrection is a "new anchor," holding to the faith of the race the hope of immortality.

THE PRESBYTERIAN HOSPITAL OF NEW ORLEANS

Conducts a TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES to which Christian Young Women are invited. Three-year Scientific Course under some of the South's leading Practitioners. Diploma upon completion of Course. Good salary from entrance upon said course. Splendid opportunity for noble life-work in training for nurses, salary, beginning at date of acceptance. Earn while you learn. For full particulars write REV. J. C. BARR, D.D., President, Presbyterian Hospital, 701-739 Carondelet Street, New Orleans, La.

"REFLECTIONS OF PARSONAGE LIFE"—A REPLY.

By Rev. J. Tillery Lewis.

Dear Advocate: I am taking this method to reply to the article, "Reflections of Parsonage Life," by a son, that appeared in the Nashville and New Orleans Advocates on March 1, 1923.

I am qualified to reply thereto because of the fact that I am also the son of a successful circuit rider who for fifty-two years served God as a pastor and preacher in the Mississippi Conference on humble circuits from which he received from $100 to about $900 per year, and on which he reared a family of nine children, five of whom are preaching the Gospel in Mississippi to-day. All that was said in that article about the neglect of the people to make adequate provision for the comfort of the preacher's family is true. I do not take issue with a single alleged fact in the good brother's Indictment of the people of those circuits who failed to give an adequate living to the preacher who served them as their spiritual leader. Every feeling of humiliation, suffering and pain described by that brother because of the neglect of the people, who had plenty and to spare, to provide for the needs of their pastor and family is well known to me. It is impossible for him and his brothers and sisters to have suffered more because of their being the children of a poor Methodist preacher than did myself and my brothers and sisters. I hereby commend that boy for the facts of his article. It is well for the stingy Methodists of Mississippi and other States to know just the harm they are doing to many of God's own little ones by their unchristian and unmanly attitude, financially speaking, toward those good men of God who are serving the highest interests of the people of the church and the world even to the neglect of their own temporal needs. For the sake of the circuit riders, I am glad to know that our good laymen of to-day are waking up to the consciousness of their financial duty to their pastors and families. The preachers on circuits of to-day are getting much better support and consideration, every way, than did my father get. Our good laymen are growing in grace, for which I thank God and take courage.

What I object to in that boy's article is the fact that because of hardships and injustice that he suffered as the son of a poor Methodist preacher he is refusing to be obedient to the heavenly vision. I read between the lines of that article the murmur and complaint of a soul to whom God is calling to make a complete surrender to Him in a life service as a minister in God's church. The sacrifice, humiliation and pain that he endured in his bringing up as the son of a poor preacher are yet clear and fresh in his memory. If God would guarantee unto him a "flowery bed of ease," well, he would then serve God as minister in his church. I am frank to say that I do not like that spirit. I fear the good brother is allowing the devil, through his lower nature, to cheat him out of the greatest blessing of life.

Do not misunderstand me, please. I altogether understand, appreciate and sympathize with the struggle of soul through which that dear boy is passing. I passed that way myself; therefore, I know, and therefore I sympathize with and pray for him. Ever since the days of my earliest consciousness I have felt the call to preach. One of the earliest distinct awakenings of my mind was God's call to me to preach. While I was yet young and tender in years I fell in with the glory of that call. That was before the years of hardships incident to the life of circuit riders became known to my mind. As the years passed and I suffered because of the humiliation incident to the fact that I was the son of a poor Methodist preacher, I began to attempt to ease my conscience with the purpose on my part to practice law or medicine as a Christian layman. Thus I postponed my decision as to my life work until my sophomore year in Millsaps College. I wanted to be a prominent and leading business man in the community in which I lived, and have a home with all the modern conveniences. But in my sophomore year I made a complete surrender unto God and began to plan to go into the ministry. Since going into the ministry, I have suffered untold agonies of soul because of worldly politics in the church; but with all that suffering heaped upon me because I would not become a partisan, I can honestly and truly stand upon the housetop and declare before the world that I am glad of the fact that I let God have the right of way in my life. First, the suffering, humiliation, etc., that have come to me as a preacher are as nothing compared with that heaped upon our blessed Savior for my redemption. Since he suffered so much for me, I would be an ingrate not to be willing to make sacrifices, endure hardships and suffer privations for him. Second, God has given to me some of the dearest friends among ministers and laymen that it was ever the good fortune of any man to have. Both temporally and spiritually I have been paid a thousand-fold for the sacrifices I made to go into the ministry. In heaven my returns will be multiplied beyond the power of human mind to estimate. There are precious souls in heaven and upon earth whom God helped me to lead to Jesus Christ. I have gone into hundreds of homes as God's representative in the hour of sorrow and trouble. God has helped me to comfort saddened and discouraged hearts. I am still a poor man. I will die a poor man. I mean I am poor looked at from a worldly viewpoint. Spiritually speaking, I am rich, yes, I am more than a millionaire; I am a multi-millionaire. Glory to God!

Two wrongs can never make a right. The fact that laymen sin against God and man because of their selfish, miserly souls is no excuse for a man to refuse to obey God's voice when God calls him to the sacred work of the ministry. He who refuses to obey God's call into the ministry because of the hardships that he must suffer through the meanness and littleness of stingy laymen is a bigger sinner than the stingy laymen. Both are doomed unless they repent and let God have the right of way in their lives. He who is not willing to trust God and follow where he leads is not fit for heaven. He is fit only for the scrapheap. Brother, give God the right of way in your life and he will care for you in time and in eternity. He may sift you as wheat is sifted, but it will do you good.

Sardis, Miss.

ARE YOU PLANNING FOR A REVIVAL?

If so, correspond with me and let me advise with you. I have been in this work five years. My services are available to those preachers in Louisiana and Mississippi who desire to have a real revival. Write me fully. References furnished.

P. W. WYMAN,
Wisner, La.

IN MEMORIAM—REV. W. D. DOMINICK.

Resolutions adopted in memory of Rev. W. D. Dominick, a member of the Sunday school of the First M. E. Church, South, of Gulfport, Miss.

Your committee beg leave to report that Rev. W. D. Dominick, who was seventy-six years of age, had been a minister of the M. E. Church, South, for fifty years, and that his life, so far as we have been able to ascertain, was a living monument of the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Brother Dominick had devoted his whole life to the service of his church in disseminating the spirit and power of the Holy Ghost among the people wherever he went. Intelligent, conscientious, and devoted in every respect, he spent a life of labor and love for his Savior and for a lost world.

We learn that Brother Dominick was first sent by the Conference held at McComb City, in December, 1901, to this church as preacher in charge; and that he served the church, not only faithfully but successfully, during the year 1902; that during his pastorate the membership of the church was increased more than one hundred per cent, and the church finances were increased several hundred per cent.

It was during his pastorate that Rev. J. B. Culpepper held a tent meeting with great success, as did also Rev. W. D. Bass.

Brother Dominick again was pastor of the Twenty-ninth Street Church, Gulfport, in 1908, the work including Handsboro and Mississippi City, when he did another wonderful year's work for the spiritual development of the people in Gulfport, Handsboro, and Mississippi City.

His connection with this Sunday school during the past three years, as well as with the church, has been a benediction to all who came under his influence, and we feel assured that Brother Dominick demonstrated in the conduct of his life the highest evidence of Christian character necessary for the assurance that "death to him was not a misfortune, but was only the crossing of the way to a more beautiful and delightful home."

Respectfully submitted,

Mrs. W. M. Sullivan, T. M. Evans, S. A. Tomlinson.

ON HERESY.

By Rev. Julian S. Duncan.

In the seventh chapter of Matthew, immediately following the verse which reads, "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them," our Lord gives utterance to these words: "Not every one that sayeth unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven: but he that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven."

There were those who had been loud in their profession of loyalty who had used the name Lord which the disciples used. Jesus warns them that merely calling "Lord, Lord," will not get them into the kingdom. Only those who have entered into the Master's spirit, whose life-motives are those which actuated the life of Christ, only those who shared the Master's passion for the doing of the Father's will, were fit for the kingdom. Not every man who sayeth, "Lord, Lord," but he who has the Master's love for men, he who has the Master's spirit of unselfish, self-sacrificing service shall enter into the kingdom of heaven. The heresy supreme is failure to do the Father's will.

The people called Methodist have a distinctive order of worship, which is prescribed for every church in the Discipline. They have a Hymnal, a collection of the best songs of all the churches, which is supposed to be used at every morning service. The ministry of the Methodist Church promises to keep its rules and to carry out its forms of worship.

Yet there are churches, many of them station churches, too, where only a pretense is made of carrying out the regular order of worship. There are churches which have provided themselves with a sufficient number of Hymnals to supply the needs of the congregation. Yet a subsequent pastor comes along and does not use the Hymnal, allowing the new books to gather dust in the corner of the church. There are churches where the Sacrament of the Lord's supper has not been celebrated for a period of two years and more.

The order of worship has no value in itself. The forms are simply means by which the hungry soul mounts upward to God. The modern study of religion has demonstrated the value of forms in helping the church-goer to worship. Our order of worship we believe to be a dignified, well-ordered one. It is worthy of the church which uses it. Literally millions of our membership will testify that through it they have mounted as on wings to a throne of grace.

Frances E. Clark has an article in the Yale Review for October, 1922, entitled, "The Menace of the Sermon." His contention is that there is in many churches a condition that amounts to sermon idolatry. When the sermon is made the absolute center of the service and there is a popular preacher in the pulpit, all is well. But when he does not cultivate in his people the spirit of worship, the people often find themselves in dire straits at his departure.

The desire to worship should be made a primary reason for church going. And when the people have been trained to find God through the order of worship, when that worship is conducted by a minister who has daily companionship with the Infinite Father of all spirits, then nothing can keep them from the house of God when the time for service comes. The desire to worship brought the people of Israel to the temple. A desire for worship which has been cultivated by a succession of consecrated ministers will unfailingly bring people to church to-day.

People who are well able to judge tell us that there is no better collection of hymns to be found anywhere than that contained in the Methodist Hymnal. It contains the best songs of all the church hymns written through the entire history of the Christian church. Our earliest recollection of the church, one which is surrounded by the memory of experiences deeply cherished, is of the spiritual uplift which comes from singing hymns like, "Rock of Ages," "Jesus, Savior, Pilot Me," "Abide With Me,'" "A Charge to Keep I Have," and others.

A preacher can render a congregation a great service in leading them to appreciate the greatest religious poetry. It is a great privilege to lead others into the experience of the man who wrote, "Oh Love That Will Not Let Me Go." New light can come through catching the spirit of the man who composed:

"Lead on, O King Eternal,
The day of march has come;
Henceforth in fields of conquest
Thy tents shall be our home.
Through days of preparation
Thy Grace has made us strong,
And now, O King Eternal,
We lift our battle song."

The average congregation knows from fifteen to twenty tunes. By reference to the name of the hymn tune and the metrical index, a great variety of hymns can be sung. May we not permit our people to neglect this means of grace.

We would not call heretics those who have thus failed to use the regular order of worship or who have not been using the Methodist Hymnal; we would not read out of the church those who have neglected these things; but we would insist that the preacher is missing a splendid opportunity to do some real educational work and to render a needed service to his people. Actual investigation will disclose a large number of people who sorely miss the Hymnal and the regular order of worship.

Brethren, as ministers of Jesus Christ in the communion of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, let us not fail to use every means to cultivate in our people the spirit of true worship.

Pickens, Miss.

SAFETY SIGNALS.

By Rev. S. J. Davies.

Amid the clash of dissonant opinions and the differences which obtain as to the right or wrong of pending questions, now and then one encounters factors in our social life that are born of gratitude and love. One of these is the loyalty and devotion of our people to the ministry. I am not writing of the flagrant exceptions, but of the general rule. A worthy preacher is loved and honored by a greater part of our people. And rightly so. On the part of these men, called of God to this sacred office, surely this is cause for humility and care. For, like some fragile crystal vase, the vessel bearing this holy vocation once shattered cannot be restored to its pristine form and beauty. It can only be recast in the furnace of repentance, yet from the earthly viewpoint, ever after retains the mark of the flames. In that immortal production of loftiest mysticism, which marks the high tide of genius during the Victorian age of literature, Tennyson speaks of a knight—Sir Galeahad, was it not?—who had the strength of ten because his heart was pure. Here is the source and secret of a worthy life and chracter, that can stem the sweep and face the storms of unjust and sometimes wicked criticism. I have known a few, very few comparatively, unworthy ministers in my day, but never have I known one to devote an entire lifetime to this calling unless he had the strength akin to that of a crusader battling for the sepulchre of his Lord. These unworthy ones may run well for a season, but the pitfalls are too numerous in the way for a long race. They are sure to stumble unless their feet are really shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace. God, Father of all, surely keeps and guards his messengers, and the people honor those who walk worthily.

* * *

American and English literature of the Victorian age is characterized by an idealism the source of which is found in a loyal devotion to the principles of righteousness. Under the influence of such poets as Browning, Tennyson, and Longfellow, such writers of prose as Carlyle—righteous though rugged—Emerson, Ruskin, and others, there was spread abroad throughout the world of letters an influence and power that made for truth and life of a nobler and higher standard.

The men may have been dreamers, but they were dreamers of a kingly race, envisioning ideals that were like unto Bethlehem's star leading to the altar-cradle of the Christ King. Imbedded in the very souls of these masters were the eternal doctrines of Christianity, even as a great rock sinks deep in the heart of a mountain. Their voices were expressions of this faith within, and they have left a legacy to succeeding generations which, if not neglected and lost under the overcropping of a growth of inferior library productions, is of incalculable worth. How puny and insignificant sound the shallow flings at revealed religion, after one has followed the thought of these men who wrought so well, so wonderfully, so beautifully for truth and righteousness! Idealism! Yes, let us have idealism, but also let it be of the nobler and higher sort.

A good part of this old world is sick and limp and weary to-day from following false and perverted ideals. Militarism is one, Bolshevism another, and a disregard for law and order perhaps the chief and worst. Like the dragon which sprang from the slime left by the flood, pictured in Ovid's myth of creation, these false ideals of life, law and order rage through a disordered world, devouring the race. Some have even called our Christ an idealist. Grant this if you wish, but never forget that his idealism reaches all the heights, sounds all the depths, sweeps all the range of human hope and ever leads to regions beyond the stars, or somewhere among them, where the soul finds its rest in God.

Reach on and out,
Oh, soul of mine,
To realm where doubt
Shall die,
And fatih sublime
In cloudless sky
Lives, mine and thine.

628 King's Highway,
Shreveport, La.

CENTENARY SET-UP MEETING OF THE VICKSBURG DISTRICT.

The Centenary Set-up Meeting of the Vicksburg District was held in the Methodist church, Fayette, March 9, at 9:30 o'clock. The devotional exercises were conducted by the presiding elder, J. R. Jones, after which he spoke of the purposo and plan of the meeting.

The general address of the morning was delivered by W. D. Hawkins, our wide-awake and efficient Missionary Centenary Secretary and Treasurer of this Conference.

In this address, he spoke of the urgent need of funds to carry on the great work which our church has undertaken, and closed his address with an earnest appeal to the pastors and laymen for their hearty co-operation.

At the close of this address, we adjourned, and immediately we were invited by the good ladies of Fayette into the Sunday school rooms, where they served in splendid style a most enjoyable lunch.

At 1 o'clock we met again in the auditorium, and, after a song and a prayer, began to discuss plans for the successful completion of the Centenary work.

Every pastor and most all the laymen who were present spoke encouragingly and pledged themselves to the greatest task of the church at this time, "the collecting of the Centenary funds."

Rev. J. R. Jones was appointed District Director, and the pastors were appointed Directors of their respective charges.

This meeting was well attended, and a splendid spirit prevailed, and we are confident that this meeting will bring forth fruit.

A resolution of thanks to the pastor and the good ladies of the Fayette church was offered and unanimously adopted, after which we were dismissed with a prayer and the benediction.

M. L. McCORMICK, Secretary.

TO THE PASTORS OF THE MISSISSPPI CONFERENCE.

Dear Brethren: Your attention is hereby called to the appointment of Rev. Charles Assaf, by Bishop Ainsworth, to do mission work among the Syrian people within the bounds of the Mississippi Conference. The General Board of Missions and the Conference Board of Missions jointly pay his salary, but do not pay his expenses. Your Conference Board of Missions earnestly urgo that each pastor into whose charge Brother Assaf may go, will assist him to get in touch with tho people of the charge, also with his own people, and that you also open the way for a free-will offering to be taken to defray his expenses.

Fraternally,

C. C. EVANS,
For the Board.

THE CENTENARY, BISHOP AINSWORTH, AND THE SARDIS DISTRICT.

According to pre-arranged program, Bishop Ainsworth, the presiding bishop of the North Mississippi Conference, B. P. Jaco, the Centenary Treasurer for the North Mississippi Conference, and humble I, "Ye Elder," made a flying trip through the Sardis District in behalf of the great Centenary cause. We visited Byhalla, Olive Branch, Batesville, Senatobia, Coldwater, and Hernando. We had representatives from every charge, except perhaps one, at one of the set-up meetings held in the District in behalf of the Centenary.

I am thankful to God both for the great work done by the Bishop and Brother Jaco, and for tho response that our good people made to the glorious vision held before them by these men of God. It is the consensus of opinion of those who heard the soul-stirring, Christly appeals of the Bishop, that God was speaking through him to his children. I believe that no child of God who heard the great message of Bishop Ainsworth will fail to pay every dollar of his Centenary pledge just as soon as possible. It was made as clear as the shining of the noonday's sun on a cloudless day, by the Bishop, that if Christianity fails to spend millions of dollars to help God redeem a lost world, there will be forcefully taken out of the pockets of Americans billions of dollars within the next fifty years in an effort to protect America from the most devastating war that has ever cursed our old world. After showing what would result by our neglect to do our duty as Christians, the Bishop turned and made his appeal upon the basis of the glory of following Christ in sacrifice and suffering. He made clear the fact that nothing has eternal value save that related with Jesus Christ in an effort to carry forward God's program for the redemption of a lost world.

I believe in the good laymen and in the faithful preachers of the Sardis District, and am therefore confidently looking for them to do their part in carrying forward the work of the church of God that looks toward world redemption.

In conclusion, I will say it is my belief that our whole church should unite in praying that God will long keep his servant, Bishop Ainsworth, in health and strength for the sake of the great spiritual work that he is doing for the Kingdom of God. My own heart has a greater longing after the things of God and doing the work of the Kingdom, after hearing the Bishop's message, than ever before. May the vision that stirs the heart of Bishop Ainsworth become the dominating vision of all who heard him, is my prayer.

J. TILLERY LEWIS.

ALEXANDRIA DISTRICT CONFERENCE.

The Alexandria District Conference will convene at Elizabeth on April 10, at 4 p. m. Rev. H. W. Bowman will preach at the evening service.

Elizabeth can be reached via Oakdale, where all trains are met by a bus. The morning Missouri Pacific reaches Oakdale in time for connections with the Santa Fe to reach Elizabeth in the morning. The roads are graveled and the bridges are all in good condition from Alexandria and Lake Charles to Elizabeth. Persons can use cars in coming.

All those who have special causes of any character to represent at the conference will please be present to represent these causes on April 12. All representatives of various causes of the church are invited to be present. If lay people expect to be present for but one day, let the preachers endeavor to have them come on the 12th.

Let each recording steward have his quarterly conference record present for examination.

W. L. DOSS, JR., P. E.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

Alexandria District Conference.

All the brethren who are coming to the Alexandria District Conference on the Missouri Pacific, by way of Oakdale, on the afternoon of April 10, are requested to let me know, so that we may have conveyances to meet you at Oakdale and take you out to Elizabeth in time for the opening session of the conference that afternoon. Otherwise, you will have to spend the night in Oakdale. Please let all the brethren write me.

Sincerely yours,

WALTER S. HENRY.

Elizabeth, La.

A PROGRAM OF PROGRESS IN THE MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCES.

We, the undersigned officers and appointed leaders in the Mississippi and the North Mississippi Conferences, hereby pledge ourselves to seek the following goals in the work of the church for 1923, and we would urge upon the pastors, officers, and members of every congregation to take counsel together and make definite plans for the attainment of theso ends in every local church.

1. We will seek a genuine revival of the work of God throughout the Conferences. Believing that all movements that get anywhere must start somewhere, we pledge ourselves to promote a comprehensive revival campaign in every church, preceded by a careful survey of all adjacent territory, to the end that nobody may be overlooked in the appeal of the church to accept Christ as Savior and enlist in His service.

2. We pledge ourselves further to enlist the pastors, evangelists, and laymen of every district to conduct campaigns of evangelism in all unoccupied territory within the districts, to the end that nobody in Mississippi may be left without the ministry of Methodism and its saving benefits during this year. The call of the church is for our ministers and laymen everywhere to follow the precedents of early Methodism and get beyond the organized channels by breaking some new ground in an aggressive program of evangelism.

3. Believing that every laborer in the vineyard of the Lord, whether at home or abroad, is worthy of a reasonable living for himself and his family, we pledge ourselves to seek tho payment in full of all salaries and benevolences in every church in the Mississippi Conferences this year. The assessments levied upon the charges are the minimum of the church's need, and we believe no church should be satisfied to report a deficit on these meager demands. Many churches should exceed the sums that are asked of them, and none should fall below these reasonable requests. The thorough indoctrination of our people in the Bible principles of Christian stewardship cannot fail to lead to this result, with a consequent spiritual enlargement in all our borders. We, therefore, set as our goal for the year level columns of finance from every church in the Conferences, and to this end we will seek to secure pledges to cover all obligations by May 15, with a surplus of 20% to insure their final payment in full.

God is asking a new thing at our hands. No former program is adequate to meet the needs of this day, and we would call upon our people everywhere to enlist in a general and concerted plan of prayer and faith and action to realize these worthy ends.

Bishop in Charge—William N. Ainsworth.

Brookhaven District—H. M. Ellis, Presiding Elder.

Hattiesburg District—W. W. Graves, Presiding Elder.

Jackson District, M. L. Burton, Presiding Elder.

Meridian District—P. D. Hardin, Presiding Elder.

Newton District—J. A. Moore, Presiding Elder.

Seashore District—W. M. Sullivan, Presiding Elder.

Vicksburg District—J. R. Jones, Presiding Elder.

Brookhaven District—J. E. Carruth, Lay Leader.
Hattiesburg District—K. T. Moore, Lay Leader.
Jackson District—O. H. Wingfield, Lay Leader.
Meridian District—S. M. Graham, Lay Leader.
Newton District—W. A. Davenport, Lay Leader.
Seashore District—W. E. Barnes, Lay Leader.
Vicksburg District— — —— ——; Lay Leader.

Lay Leader Mississippi Conference—J. M. Sullivan.

Lay Leader North Mississippi Conference—D. H. Hall.

Aberdeen District—T. H. Dorsey, Presiding Elder.

Columbus District—A. T. McIlwain, Presiding Elder.

Corinth District—J. B. Randolph, Presiding Elder.

Greenville District—J. H. Felts, Presiding Elder.

Greenwood District—S. L. Pope, Presiding Elder.

Grenada District—R. A. Tucker, Presiding Elder.

Sardis District—J. T. Lewis, Presiding Elder.
Aberdeen District—R. H. Furr, Lay Leader.
Columbus District— — —— ———, Lay Leader.
Corinth District—J. G. Houston, Lay Leader.
Greenville District—S. V. Wall, Lay Leader.
Greenwood District— —— ——, Lay Leader.
Grenada District—L. G. Fant, Lay Leader.
Sardis District—L. L. Minor, Lay Leader.

The Call of the Conference Claimants

EDITED BY LUTHER E. TODD, SECRETARY.

Board of Finance, M. E. Church, South.

510-513 Security Building, St. Louis, Mo.

THE CHURCH AND THE SUPERANNUATED PREACHER.

By Bishop W. F. McMurry.

The care of superannuated preachers and the widows and orphans of preachers has had a place in the thought and plans of the Church from the beginning. The Methodists in the United States held their thirteenth Conference in Baltimore on December 27, 1784. This was the first General Conference. Thomas Coke and Francis Asbury presided. Here Francis Asbury was ordained deacon, elder, and bishop. Here he was elected by his brethren to the office of general superintendent after he had been designated by John Wesley for that office.

Jesse Lee, in his "Short History of the Methodists," says concerning this Conference:

"At this Conference we formed ourselves into a regular church by the name of the Methodist Episcopal Church, making at the same time the episcopal office elective and the elected superintendent amenable to the body of ministers and preachers."

The business of the Conference was conducted under the form of questions and answers. These questions and answers are numerous. Question 72 reads as follows:

"How can we provide for superannuated preachers, and the widows and orphans of preachers?"

The answers to this question number eleven, and are as follows:

"1. Let every traveling preacher contribute two dollars yearly at the Conference.

"2. Let every one when first admitted as a traveling preacher pay two dollars and sixty-seven cents.

"3. Let this money be lodged in the hands of the treasurers.

"4. Let there be three treasurers, three clerks, each of whom shall keep a separate account, and three inspectors, who shall annually lay before the Conference an exact state of the fund.

"5. Let these nine form a committee for the management of the fund, three of whom shall be competent to proceed on any business, provided one be a treasurer, another an inspector, and a third a clerk.

"6. Out of this fund let provision be made first for the worn-out preachers and then for the widows and children of those that are dead.

"7. Every worn-out preacher shall receive, if he wants it, $64 a year.

"8. Every widow of a preacher shall receive yearly, if she wants it, $53.33.

"9. Every child of a preacher shall receive once for all, if he wants it, $53.33.

"10. But none shall be entitled to anything from this fund till he has paid $6.67.

"11. Nor any who neglects paying his subscription for three years together, unless he be sent by the Conference out of these United States, etc."

Mr. Lee says in this connection:

"This fund afforded relief to a good many of our preachers in the time of distress, and most part of the preachers were subscribers to it. The regulations were changed afterwards in some particulars, but the fund continued in operation until we established the chartered fund in 1796. Then all the stock of the preachers' fund was thrown into the chartered fund, which was incorporated in 1797 in Philadelphia. After that time there was some alteration made in the application of the money given annually by the preachers.

"The annual subscriptions of the traveling preachers to the preachers' fund were to be reserved for extraordinary cases which the chartered fund might not reach. Some time after that the subscriptions were dropped altogether and have never since been revived."

Thus in 1784, when the Methodists of America organized themselves into a "regular church" and when its name, "Methodist Episcopal Church," was adopted, the formal work in the interest of the worn-out preacher was begun. Any person neglecting to pay his subscription for three years, unless he was absent from the United States by the direction of the Church, was not entitled to any of this fund. The fund brought comfort and relief to a great number of the preachers and their families, and most of the preachers were subscribers to it. Changes were made in the regulations from time to time, and in 1796 the Chartered Fund was established.

Bishop McTyeire, in his "History of Methodism," speaking of the General Conference of 1796, said:

"The summing up of statistics for 1796 showed thirty preachers admitted on trial and forty lost out of the traveling ministry, twenty-eight by location and nine by death. The next year forty recruits joined the itinerant ranks and forty-three located. This tendency was alarming. The ranks of the ministry were weakened even more than these figures indicated, for ministers of experience and well-developed power were giving place to mere beginners. There was a limit to endurance even for single men, and for those with families to continue going became impossible in the present time, to say nothing of the lack of any provision in the future. They asked only to be supported, barely to subsist, while at work, not to lay up anything. Below the bare subsistence point in the itinerancy was location. Something must be done, and at this General Conference, the preachers' salaries being kept at the old mark ($64), a supplemental scheme was devised to help those who failed to get that and others whose necessities required more. This scheme was known as the Chartered Fund. It was domiciled in Philadelphia, and nine trustees chosen. The main provisions may be seen:

"Question. What further provision shall be made for the distressed traveling preachers, for the families of traveling preachers, and for superannuated and worn-out preachers, and the widows and orphans of preachers?

"Answer. There shall be a chartered fund to be supported by the voluntary contributions of our friends, the principal stock of which shall be funded under the direction of trustees and the interest applied under the direction of the General Conference, according to the following regulations, viz.:

"'1. That no sum exceeding sixty-four dollars shall in any one year be applied to the use of an itinerant, superannuated, or worn-out single preacher.

"'2. That no sum exceeding one hundred and twenty-eight dollars in any one year shall be applied to the use of any itinerant, superannuated, or worn-out married preacher.

"'3. That no sum exceeding sixty-four dollars in any one year shall be applied for the use of each widow of an itinerant, superannuated, or worn-out preacher.

"'4. That no sum exceeding sixteen dollars shall be applied in any one year for the use of each child or orphan of an itinerant, superannuated, or worn-out preacher.'

"The interest was annually divided among the Conferences, to be used under these provisions."

It was at this same Conference that "the produce of the sale of our books, after the book debts are paid and a sufficient capital is provided for carrying on the business, shall be regularly paid into the Chartered Fund." Here we find the beginning of the application of the net proceeds of the Publishing House to the support of worn-out preachers and the widows and orphans of deceased preachers. This provision continues to this good day.

It is a matter of record, therefore, that from the Conference of 1784—the organization of our Church—to the present time the interest of these dependent ones has been considered with more or less emphasis. Usually it has taken the form of an assessment or collections in the Annual Conferences to be distributed to the Conference claimants. Some of the Annual Conferences have accumulated endowments, the income from which supplements the annual contributions.

At the General Conference in Dallas, Tex., in 1902 the Church was awakened to a new sense of responsibility and set on foot machinery looking to the gathering of large funds. This effort was in a degree successful and resulted in the assembling of something more than $100,000 during the next four quadrenniums.

At the General Conference in Atlanta in 1918 the Board of Finance was created, and the interests of the superannuated preacher and the widows and orphans of preachers were committed to this Board and its auxiliaries.

The same General Conference insisted that a fund of ten million dollars was needed and should be raised as an endowment, but provided that no active campaign should be made for this fund until the Centenary and the Christian Education Movement shall have expired.

The General Conference of 1922 fixed the date of this special effort, and this cause, therefore, will be presented to the Annual Conferences next fall, and every congregation in our Church will be expected to contribute for superannuate endowment an amount equal to not less than the amount assessed by the congregation for the Conference year of 1922-23 for the support of its own pastor and presiding elder.

Careful preparation is being made by the Secretary of the Board of Finance for this Call of the Conference Claimants, and I doubt not the Church will welcome the call and make liberal response.

The Home Circle

IT'S A GAY OLD WORLD.

It's a gay old world when you're gay
And a glad old world when you're glad;
But whether you play
Or go toiling away,
It's a sad old world when you're sad.

It's a grand old world if you're great
And a mean old world if you're small;
It's a world full of hate
For the foolish who prate
Of the uselessness of it all.

It's a beautiful world to see,
Or it's dismal in every zone.
The thing it must be
In its gloom or its glee
Depends on yourself alone.

—Christian Work.

THE GREEDY HYENA.

An African Folk-Tale.

Once upon a time a Jackal, who lived near a town, saw some men driving in a wagon loaded with fish from the seashore.

"I must get some fish," he thought.

So he tried to get some from behind, but he could neither reach the fish nor jump into the wagon.

"This will not do," he thought. "I shall play I am dead and then men to get my beautiful skin will throw me in the wagon. Then I can help myself."

So he ran ahead of the wagon and lay down in the road as if he were dead. When the wagon came up, the leader saw the Jackal and said to the driver, "Here is a fine skin for your wife."

"Throw him into the wagon," said the driver, and the leader threw the Jackal in.

It was a moonlight night, quite light enough for the Jackal to see to throw out lots of fish. When he had thrown out all he wanted, he jumped out and began to eat the fish. But as he was eating his way back along the road, he came upon an old Hyena who had eaten more than half the fish.

The Jackal did not like this, so he said, "You can get all the fish you want [illegible] you will do as I did."

"How is that?" asked the Hyena.

"Lie in the road before a wagon as if you were dead, and keep quite still, no matter what happens. The leader will see you and say to the driver, 'Here is a fine skin for your wife,' and will throw you into the wagon. You will then be a fool if you do not help yourself."

"I shall try it," said the Hyena, licking her chops.

So the Hyena lay down before the next wagon that came along.

"Ugh, what an ugly brute," said the leader, kicking the poor Hyena.

He then took a stick and nearly beat her to death.

The foolish Hyena who had been told not to move no matter what happened lay still as long as she could, but at last the pain became so great that she sprang up and ran off howling to the Jackal to tell him all that had happened.

"It is too bad," said the Jackal.

"What a shame I have not a fine skin like yourself," said the Hyena.

"You should have thought of that before," said the Jackal, trotting away.—The Epworth Herald.

FAIRY HELPERS.

Nobody liked clearing up the nursery floor. It was covered with papers now, and to "tidy up" seemed hard work. Mother came in and turned the task into a game.

"I am the fairy queen," she said. "I'm powerful and I have many fairy helpers. When a whirlwind has turned any town topsy-turvy, then I sing:

"'Leave your dance, leave your song.
Come along, come along.
Come and clear it all away,
Willing work makes happy play.'

"And my fairy workers have such nice names."

"Oh, I want to be one!" cried Margaret.

"I do, too," said Katherine.

"And I," said John.

"Very well," said mother." "Margaret may be the 'Pick-up Prixie'; Katharine, 'Elf-Elf, tidy up the shelf,' and John may be 'Brownie, Brownie, bring a broom, Brownie.'"

How the fairies worked! John ran for the broom; Margaret swept and brushed up all the cut paper; Katharine tidied the shelves. In fifteen minutes you never would have known the nursery. Then mother said, "Now, dance in a ring and sing:

"'Happy when our work is done,
Being fairies is such fun!'

And I'll go down and send up the fairies' banquet."

After that, they always played fairies when cleaning-up time came.—Youth's Companion.

ON THE ART OF READING FOR CHILDREN.

"Don't stop (I say) to explain that Hebe was (for once) the legitimate daughter of Zeus and, as such, had the privilege to draw for the Gods. Don't take trouble to discourse on amber, otherwise ambergris; don't explain that 'gris' in this connection doesn't mean 'grease'; don't trace it through the Arabic into Noah's Ark; don't prove its electrical properties by tearing up paper into little bits and attracting them with the mouthpiece of your pipe rubbed on your sleeve. Don't insist philologically that when every shepherd 'tells his tale' he is not relating an anecdote but simply keeping 'tally' of the flock. Just go on reading, as well as you can, and be sure that when the children get the thrill of the story, for which you wait, they will be asking more questions, and pertinent ones, than you are able to answer."—By Sir Arthur Quiller Couch.

BORROWED RIDDLES.

What is the difference between a Dutch dude and a piece of stovepipe? One is a silly Hollander and the other is a hollow cylinder.

How many wives is a man allowed according to the prayer book? Sixteen—fo(u)r better, fo(u)r worse, fo(u)r richer, fo(u)r poorer.

What soap is the hardest? Cast steel (Castile).

What did Jack Frost say when he proposed to the violet? Wilt thou—and it wilted.

Why are sidewalks in winter like music? If you don't C sharp you will B flat.

What two letters express the most important people in the world? U and I.

How does the letter Y work an impossibility? It makes a lad into a lady.

Why is the letter R a profitable letter? Because it makes ice into rice.

Why is the letter T like Easter? Because it's the last of Lent.

When does a blacksmith make a row in alphabet? When he makes a poke-R and a shovel-L.

What seven letters did Mother Hubbard use when she looked into the cupboard? O, I, C, U, R, M, T.

Why did Noah object to the letter D? Because it makes the ark dark.

Why is the letter S like pert repartee? Because it begins and ends in sauciness.

What small animal is turned into a larger one by beheading it? Fox-ox.

When is a bar of iron like a bad note? When it is forged.

When are two kings like three miles? When they make a league.

Why are fowls the most profitable of live stock? Because for every grain they give a peck.—Selected.

"TIME OUT."

The Last Resort.

Little Jane was saying her prayers. "And, please," she begged, "make Rome the capital of Turkey."

"Oh, Jane," exclaimed her mother, "why did you say that?"

"Because I put it like that in my examination paper to-day."—Presbyterian Banner.

Generous.

"Those poor little boys next door have no mummy or daddy, or dear Aunt Jane," said a mother to her little son. "Now wouldn't you like to give them something—jest a little present?"

"Yes, rather," he replied with alacrity. "Let's give them Aunt Jane."—Epworth Herald.

SPECIAL OFFER

ONE 42 PIECE $12.00 DINNER SET

BLUE BIRD, FLORAL OR WHITE AND GOLD DESIGNS

For $4.98 f. o. b. New Orleans

Cut out this Advertisement and send to WM. B. REILY & CO., New Orleans, La., with Six Coupons from Luzianne Coffee and $4.98, and the Beautiful Set will be Expressed to You at Once.

All three sets consist of: 6 dinner plates, 6 cups, 6 saucers, 6 pie plates, 6 fruit dessert dishes, 6 oat meal dishes, 1 large meat platter, 1 round vegetable bowl, 1 oval vegetable bowl, 1 cream pitcher, 1 sugar bowl, 1 sugar bowl cover.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor.

CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

PUBLISHING COMMITTEE:

Louisiana Conference—Rev. J. F. Foster, Rev. S. J. Davies, Rev. C. C. Miller.

Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. T. Leggett, Rev. W. H. Saunders, Rev. E. K. Means.

North Mississippi Conference—Rev. J. H. Felts, Rev. T. H. Lipscomb, Rev. J. W. Dorman.

DIRECTIONS.

All checks and money orders should be made payable to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

Communications pertaining to subscriptions and other business matters should be addressed to the Manager, or to the New Orleans Christian Advocate.

The Printed Label on a paper shows the date to which a subscription is paid. It is as good as a written receipt. When renewal is made, if the date is not moved forward after three or four weeks, notify us, and we will make it right.

Communications intended for the Editor should be directed to him at 512 Camp Street. Correspondents will observe the following rules: 1. Write on only one side of the paper. 2. If you have a typewriter, by all means use it; otherwise use a good quality of black ink. 3. Leave a space of at least two inches at the top of the first page; leave a margin of at least one inch on the left-hand side of the page; do not crowd the words and the lines together. 4. Take special pains to write proper names correctly and legibly. 5. Use letter paper if you can get it—not note paper. No attention will be paid to rolled manuscripts.

Editorial.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE SCHEDULE.

Louisiana Conference.

Alexandria, at Elizabeth, April 10-12.
Shreveport, at Mansfield, April 17-19.
Lake Charles, at New Iberia, April 19-22.
Monroe, at Winnsboro, April 27-29.
Ruston, at Haynesville, May 4-6.
New Orleans, at St. Mark's, May 21-23.
Baton Rouge, at Kentwood, May 23-25.

Mississippi Conference.

Seashore, at Moss Point, April 3-5.
Brookhaven, at Tylertown, April 17-18.
Vicksburg, at Centreville, April 24.
Hattiesburg, at Riehton, April 25-27.
Meridian, at Poplar Springs, May 1-2.
Newton, at Hickory, May 8-10.
Jaekson, at —— —— —.

North Mississippi.

Columbus, at Ackerman, April 26-27.
Greenville, at Leland, May 7-12.
Grenada, at Piekens, May 8-10.
Corinth, at Ripley, May 15-17.
Sardis, at Senatobia, May 15-17.
Greenwood, at Inverness, May 23-25
Aberdeen, at Verona, June 19-21.

DR. CHAS. C. SELECMAN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY.

At the meeting of the Board of Trustees of Southern Methodist University, held in Dallas, Tex., on Wednesday, March 21, Dr. Charles C. Selecman, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Dallas, was elected President of Southern Methodist University, to fill the vacancy caused by the elevation of the former president, Dr. H. A. Boaz, to the episcopacy. We understand that Dr. Seleeman was elected on the first ballot, that he has accepted the position, and that he will assume the duties of the office on April 2. Dr. Seleeman is well known throughout the church, and the University is assured of vigorous and efficient leadership during his administration. This great institution now has the largest enrollment of students in its history.

PERSONAL AND OTHER NOTES.

Dr. Theodore Copeland writes that he is now engaged in a great meeting at Sayre, Okla.

Dr. W. L. Duren, pastor of the Rayne Memorial Methodist Church, this city, after an attack of 'flu" and other ailments, is again actively engaged in the work of his great church.

The mother of Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, died recently in North Carolina.

Rev. D. C. Bennett requests us to say that his address now is Hall Summit, La., instead of Coushatta, La., as formerly.

Rev. Henry T. Young, our pastor at De Ridder, La., has received 111 members into the church since Conference—among them, enough strong men to make a good board of stewards.

We learn from "Methodist Matters" that the contract has been signed for a new Methodist church at Duncan, Miss., the church to be a replica of the new church at Coahoma, Miss.

The sub-committe on Unification is meeting in St. Louis this week. Hon. H. H. White, one of the leading laymen of Louisiana, is a member of the committee, and he is in attendance upon its session.

Under Bonds to See It Through.

By Bishop W. N. Ainsworth.

Methodists must carry on. Think of what would happen to the world if they should quit—the church that gives twice over what any other in America does for the Christian programme and has all around the world enterprises upon which civilization depends! They are under bonds to God, to the church, and to the world to see this Centenary through. and its completion ought to make the deepest appeal to the pride, patriotism, and piety of every member in the ranks.

If there were valid reasons for the Centenary, as a movement for Christian reconstruction in the wake of the world war, those reasons are more compelling now than ever. It is increasingly apparent that statesmen are unequal to the task. The demons that distract the nations are amenable only to a higher power, and the leaders of men everywhere are turning baffled to the Christian church. The church is the only way out. Its healing gospel of a real brotherhood, which comes only through a realized sonship of the living God, is able to meet the situation. If the scales could fall from our eyes and we could see the course of world movement as it is, we would hasten to do our part, for providence is making plain this issue, i.e., the world must pay millions for Christian conquest or billions to defend civilization against the aggressions of selfishness. The Christian view of God and the world must be made to obtain in every realm of the world's life. or selfishness will destroy what God's kingdom has already claimed.

Our pledges must be redeemed for the church's sake, for humanity's sake, and for Christ's sake. I would, therefore. call upon all our people and churches in Mississippi to give themselves to the completion of this task with the conviction and consecration which its importance demands. Any failure will not be due to lack of money, but loss of vision in one of the crucial hours of the world's need. Failure will be fatal. Methodism must see it through!

Rev. V. C. Curtis, our popular and enterprising pastor at Greenwood, Miss., is pushing vigorously his Men's Bible Class. This class promises the "Big Brothers" a close race for the first honors in North Mississippi.

The Mississippi Woman's Missionary Conference is meeting this week in the First Methodist Church, Laurel, Miss. They are the recipients of a gracious hospitality at the hands of the pastor, Rev. O. S. Lewis, and his fine people.

Mrs. R. H. Wynn, of Shreveport, La., attended the meeting of the Inter-Racial Commission in New Orleans last week. She remained in the city over Sunday, and worshiped with the Felicity congregation at the 11 o'clock service.

Dr. W. Winans Drake, presiding elder of the New Orleans District, requests us to call attention to the change of date of the New Orleans District Conference. Instead of being held on April 23-25, it will be held on May 21-23.

The Louisiana Sunday School Conference held a great session at Alexandria last week. Mr. John H. Carter, superintendent of the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Sunday School, New Orleans, was elected president for the ensuing year.

Mrs. C. A. Northington, wife of our pastor at Lambert, Miss., underwent a serious operation at the Baptist Hospital, Memphis, on March 20. The operation seemed to be successful, and we earnestly pray that she may soon be restored to health.

Rev. F. B. Hill, our pastor at McDonoghville, La., is holding services every evening this week. All the topics for these services have to do with the last week of Christ's life. Brother Hill has distributed an attractive announcement of these services.

Mrs. J. D. Watkins, of Indianola, Miss., has been a subscriber to the Advocate for nearly forty years. As a result of a fall last September, she is practically an invalid, but her faith is strong, and she is deeply interested in all the work of the church. We appreciate her kindly words concerning the Advocate.

The meeting in the Algiers Methodist Church, in which Rev. C. C. Wier, the pastor, is being assisted by Rev. W. E. Thomas, is under splendid headway. There have already been a good many conversions and additions to the membership of the church. Brother Thomas is very efficient in his evangelistic work.

We record with sorrow the death of Mrs. William Butler, of this city. She passed away on Saturday, March 24, and was buried on the following day. She was the sister of Mrs. Charles O. Chalmers, wife of the business manager of the Advocate. We extend sincere sympathy to the sorrowing relatives and friends.

The union church at Glen Allan, Miss., which was the only church in town, was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The Methodists, under the leadership of Rev. A. R. Beasley, have purchased a lot on which to build a Methodist church. They already have about $8,000 in sight and expect to begin work on the building soon.

Rev. R. G. Lord gives a good account of the work at Abbeville, Miss. The interior of the parsonage has recently been repaired; and some work is being done on the interior of the church at Abbeville. Brother Lord is in his senior year at the State University. Upon graduation he will be able to give his full time to his charge.

At the recent meeting of the North Mississippi Woman's Missionary Conference, held at Greenwood, a resolution introduced by Mrs. R. P. Nehiett, of Durant, strongly endorsing and promising co-operation in the Evangelistic Campaign being promoted by Bishop Ainsworth and the leaders of Methodism in Mississippi, was unanimously adopted.

The League of Nations Non-Partisan Asosciation, of which former Justice John H. Clarke, of the United States Supreme Court, and former Attorney General George W. Wiekersham, are presiding officers, has organized a Committee of Churches, of which Dr. Charles F. Macfarland is chairman. Bishop James Cannon, Jr., is the representative of the Southern Methodist Church on the Committee.

Dr. W. W. Alexander, of Atlanta, Ga., Secretary of the Inter-Racial Commission, spent several days in New Orleans last week in the interest of his work. A State committee was organied which will function in promoting better relations between the races. Mrs. Luke Johnson, one of the most widely known women of our church, attended the meeting and made a telling address on the subject of better race relations.

We have learned with great sorrow of the death last week of Mrs. J. O. Bennett, wife of our pastor at Haughton, La. No details have come to us of her passing away. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to Brother Bennett in his great bereavement, and to the sorrowing family and friends.

Rev. E. R. Stanford, Superintendent of the Intermediate-Senior Work of the General Sunday School Board, has announced that he will resign his position at the approaching Board meeting in April, his desire being to re-enter the pastorate. Brother Stanford has been a very efficient worker in the Sunday school, and his department has made great progress during his administration.

Emory University has announced the inauguration of the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. Some of America's greatest specialists in psychology and education have been added to the faculty of the Emory Summer School. The summer session will open on June 10 under the direction of Dr. Ralph E. Wager, of the Department of Education.

Rev. Leon I. McCain, of Lafayette, La., has just closed a successful meeting with Rev. R. M. Brown, of Merryville, La. Forty-two members were received by vows and baptism on the last night of the meeting, and others will doubtless follow. About forty people pledged to tithe, eleven family altars were erected, and several new subscriptions to the Advocate were secured. In spite of much sickness in the community, the meeting was a great blessing.

We hear now and then of a few people who refuse to pay their Centenary pledges on the ground that the Centenary Commission pays exorbitant salaries to its officials. As a matter of fact, the salary of Dr. W. G. Cram, Director-Secretary of the Centenary, is only $4,800 a year, which certainly is reasonable enough for the tremendous amount of work he has to do and for the heavy responsibility he carries. None of the other officials of the Centenary receive as much.

Mrs. Mollie Davis Skiles died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Brannin, in Dallas, Tex., on Monday, March 19. She was the daughter of Rev. J. S. Davis, niece of Revs. H. O., T. B., and B. F. White, and sister of Rev. R. A. Davis and the late Rev. J. White Davis. Rev. R. A. Davis, who is an honored superannuate member of the Louisiana Conference, is the only surviving member of the family. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to the loved ones and friends of the deceased.

Mrs. Sam Jones has established in the Candler School of Theology, Emory University, an endowed lectureship on Evangelism, in memory of her husband, the famous evangelist. It has been thought appropriate by all parties concerned to have the first series delivered by Dr. George R. Stuart, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Birmingham, Ala., for several years the associate of Sam Jones in evangelistic work. The lectures are to be given daily in the chapel of the School of Theology during the week beginning April 23.

The Presbyterian Hospital of this city is rendering a fine service in its ministry to the sick and suffering. It has been especially considerate of the poor who need hospital accommodations. It was organized more than fifteen years ago with a gift of fifteen dollars and a prayer that it might become a great institution. Overcoming all obstacles, it has steadily grown until now it is one of the leading institutions of its kind in the city. It conducts the oldest training school for nurses in the city, with a complete course of study, a fine faculty, and an increasing student body.

The following good news comes from Rev. R. T. Hollingsworth, our pastor at Caledonia, Miss.: "We have just closed a ten days' revival which was held by our district evangelist, Rev. Walter M. Campbell. The success of our meeting was more than we expected. There was a fine attendance and every expression of interest was manifested. We believe the meeting was a blessing to the entire community. We had ten professions as a result of Brother Campbell's preaching and six were added to our church. We deeply appreciate the service Brother Campbell rendered us."

Dr. B. F. Jones, our pastor at Edwards, Miss., sends us the sad news of the death of Major C. N. Harris, a prominent citizen of Edwards, at his home there on March 14. Major Harris was the son of the late Rev. H. J. Harris, of the Mississippi Conference. He was mayor of the town of Edwards for a long time and for many years had been chairman of the board of stewards of the Methodist church. He was a cultured Christian gentleman and had the confidence and esteem of a large circle of friends. He will be greatly missed. The Advocate extends sincere sympathy to his loved ones and friends.

Rev. H. G. Hawkins, pastor at Woodville, Miss., writes us that thirty-two names have been added to the membership on his charge since the Conference year began, that he has baptized five children, performed four marriage ceremonies, officiated at five funerals, accepted invitations to eight dinings, attended the Home Mission Conference at Jackson, the Preachers' Institute at Vicksburg, and a Gipsy Smith, Jr., meeting at Centerville. He failed to attend the Centenary Set-Up meeting at Fayette, but expects to have the Conference Missionary Secretary at Woodville on the fifth Sunday of April.

Rev. F. B. Hill, our pastor at McDonoghville, La., held, on Sunday, March 18, a memorial service in honor of the late Rev. J. D. Harper, and the Rev. W. A. Mangum. Brother Harper, who was one of the "grand old men" of the Louisiana Conference, died just one year ago while pastor at McDonoghville, and Rev. W. A. Mangum, who preceded Brother Harper at McDonoghville, died about a year ago while pastor of the Queensboro Church, Shreveport, La. Both these brethren were held in the highest esteem in McDonoghville, and a beautiful tribute was paid their memory by the present pastor. It was a very impressive and helpful service.

THANKS TO OUR FRIENDS.

We desire to express our thanks to the following friends who have sent us two or more subscriptions recently: Rev. D. C. Bennett, Hall Summit, La., 2; Rev. R. E. Woodfin, Arkabutla, Miss., 26; Rev. E. P. Simpson, Oak Ridge, Miss., 4; Miss Ottilee Swan, Moss Point, Miss., 2; Rev. H. M. Young, Artesia, Miss., 2; Rev. J. S. Maxey, Winona, Miss., 2; Rev. C. H. Herring, Walnut Grove, Miss., 2; Rev. T. J. Hopper, Mashulaville, Miss., 5; Rev. J. R. Murff, Amory, Miss., 5; Rev. R. G. Lord, Abbeville, Miss., 5.

A CALL FOR BOOKS.

Rev. George F. Erwin, of the Siberia-Manchuria Mission, has been appointed by Bishop H. A. Boaz to take chrge of the theological department of the new Methodist school for Russians in Harbin, and in this connection Mr. Erwin writes:

"Most of the work of this school will be done in English. We have no library, and the need for one is indispensable. We shall be glad to receive either new or used books on the following subjects: Theology, Literature, Good Fiction, History, Cyclopedias, and any good book that would be useful in a school library.

"Wrap well (better to sew up in cloth), and address to Rev. George F. Erwin, Harbin, China, Box 16, and say in one corner PRINTED MATTER FOR MISSIONARY PURPOSES. Any book or books that you may send will be appreciated by me and also by your Mission."

Here is an opportunity for Southern Methodism at home to show its interest in the new mission abroad, and Russian young men preparing for the ministry.

In behalf of Mr. Erwin and the Mission we thank you for presenting the need to your constituency.

Cordially,
BUREAU OF SPECIALS,
C. R. Porter, Executive Secretary.

THE ESSENTIAL CONFERENCE ORGAN.

By Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

At the recent meeting of the Southern Methodist Press Association, held in Columbia, S. C., reference was made to the fact that the Bishops' address to the General Conference at Hot Springs did not contain any statement concerning the Annual Conference organs.

I do not understand how this omission occurred, because I know that all the bishops appreciate very greatly the work which is done by our Conference papers.

In the report which I presented to the General Conference, I made the following statement concerning the Alabama Christian Advocate, which statement I believe in substance is true of all our church papers:

"The Essential Conference Organ."

"One of the most outstanding, effective agencies of Alabama Methodism is the Alabama Christian Advocate, which has set the pace for the entire church in the matter of circulation and financial solidity. Its 22,000 copies going into every charge of Alabama Methodism is a weekly call to consecrated service. It is the right arm of power of every worthy cause of our church, the clearing-house for the activities of preachers and laymen, and is absolutely necessary for the development of the great resources of Alabama Methodism."

Washington, D. C.

HOME HILLS.

By Mrs. Lemuella Almond.

And may I sing of my own country-side?
How long my heart has ached with this desire;
And may my tongue forget its cunning should
I fail! Home hills where dogwood blossoms laugh,
White-lipped and cool at April's pausing feet,
And red-buds redden 'neath the Southern sun;
Where pussy-willows wave bloom-switches tall
And fuzzy-like, so gently, to the time
Of wind, that's redolent with breath of spring.

Home hills, where blue-flags come with Eastertide
To speak of God; and touch-me-nots, wild ones,
Come trooping down the spring-fed brooks to charm
The barefoot child; where happy bluebirds call
From out the leaf-robed trees, and whip-poor-wills
Sing plaintively on starry nights. To thee,
Fair hills of home, I give my meed of praise.

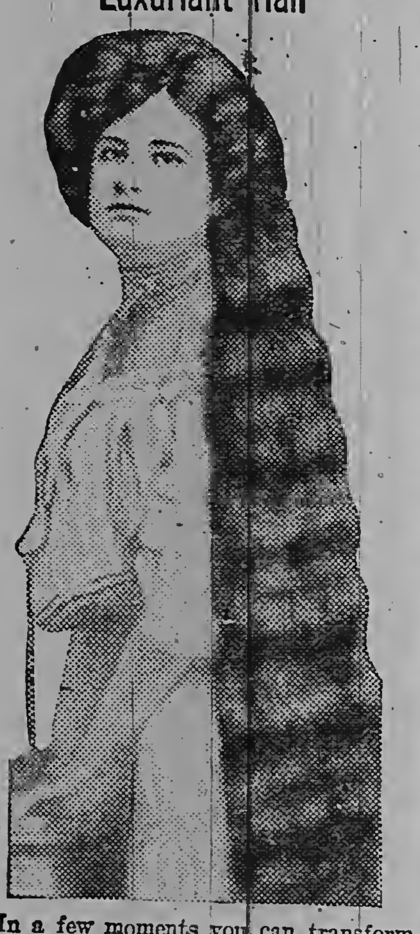
Dear hills, steep, vine-clad hills and valleys wide,
Where winding rivers by low, sweet fields
Of tasselling corn, laid by in June, and through
Deep meadows, twinkling white with clover blooms,
Forever I could sing of thee, and yet. .
Hearts-ease I ne'er shall find, for words I con
Do not express the pride I feel, the joy
I know, when bluebirds build about my house,
Where apple blossoms drift, and children play.

Let every man take heed how he buildeth.—I Cor. iii. 10.

W. W. CARRÉ CO.
LUMBER SASH, DOORS
AND OTHER BUILDING MATERIAL
Retail & Wholesale NEW ORLEANS

Girls! Beautify Hair at Once

Try This! A Gleamy Mass of Luxuriant Hair



In a few moments you can transform even plain, dull, flat hair. You can have it abundant, soft, glossy and full of life. Just get a 35 cent bottle of "Danderine" at any drugstore. Then moisten a soft cloth with the "Danderine" and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Instantly, yes, immediately, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will be a mass, so soft, lustrous and so easy to do up. All dust and excessive oil is removed.

Let "Danderine" put new life, vigor and brightness in your hair. This stimulating tonic will freshen your scalp, check dandruff and falling hair and help your hair to grow long, thick, strong and beautiful.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic
Destroys Malarial Germs in the Blood. 60c

WINTERSMITH'S CHILL TONIC
SOLD 50 YEARS
A FINE GENERAL TONIC

Comfort Baby's Skin With Cuticura Soap And Fragrant Talcum
For sample Cuticura Talcum, a fascinating fragrance. Address Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. V, Malden, Mass.

Obituaries

Obituaries not over 200 words in length will be published free of charge. All over 200 words must be paid for at the rate of 1 cent a word. Count the words and be sure to send the amount necessary with the obituary. That will save trouble all around. We cannot make discriminations. Memorial resolutions are subject to the same rule as obituaries.

MRS. S. H. ROBERTSON, wife of Mr. S. H. Robertson, passed away Feb. 16, 1923, at 2 o'clock. She was laid to rest in the cemetery at Pelican, La. Many flowers were given her by the Missionary Society, her Sunday school class, loved ones, and friends. She was a member of the Methodist Church here, and was teacher of the Bible class. What a splendid teacher she was! The beauty of it is that her life, her every day walk and talk fitted as sweetly and perfectly into her teachings as a rosebud into its calyx. How strengthened and enriched is the cause of Christ by such a life which leaves behind it a radiance of purity, goodness and peace, such as very few bequeath to those who survive them! That life, with its many achievements, has passed into history; its record is closed, the book is sealed, but its glory and influence shall live forever. She has gone to that home where no sorrow, pain, sickness, death and heartaches ever come, gone to await the trumpet's call on the glorious Resurrection morn.

MRS. H. H. HARVELL.
Pelican, La.

MRS. MILTON FERRILL.

An Appreciation.

When I was just a boy of 13 years of age, I came to know that princely and godly man among local preachers, Brother Milton Ferrill. I was with him in two meetings, hearing him preach the Word in earnestness and power, and beholding his Christly conduct from day to day. Through all the years I had a peculiar love for Brother Ferrill. In my early ministry, as a junior preacher on the Adams circuit, I came to know him better and appreciate him more. He was a great influence for good in my life.

I met his faithful companion at Auburn, and soon saw that she was in full sympathy with his work. Both had been converted and joined the Methodist Church years before under my father's ministry on the Adams circuit. This was another tie that drew us together.

The passing of Brother Ferrill from us was an occasion of sadness to me. The memory of his life is like ointment poured forth, and I shall always rejoice that his life touched mine.

When I was sent to Gibson Memorial Church in Vicksburg a little more than six years ago, I was peculiarly glad to find as one of my members, Sister Ferrill. She was a true mother in Israel. She loved her pastor and always rejoiced when he would visit her and have prayer in the home. We rejoiced together in whatever success attended our ministry in Vicksburg. She always sympathized in moments of depression and darkness. We recalled with delight the happy days of the past when her husband was in his prime and rendering faithful sedvice for the Lord. She greatly loved the Auburn community where she had lived so long, and every chance she had she would visit the church where her spirit so often communed with God, and with others of God's children she sang His praises.

In speaking of her former pastors, she had only words of praise. She had no fault to find with the ministry. In fact, she never found fault with anybody. She loved everybody. Her neigbbors loved her. Sickness alone kept her from her place of worship. She dearly loved the Lord and all the services of the church.

For a number of years she was in ill health and suffered much, but through it all she was patient. She suffered more than she would tell, always appearing cheerful and contented. She desired to live that she might minister to her children and be a blessing to others, but was ready at all times to meet her Lord.

In her last illness, as she realized the end was near, she looked into the face of her children with a sweet expression of peace and said, "'Tis so sweet to trust in Jesus." What a glorious testimony! How often she had proved it! Her dying testimony was but the echo of the living witness she demonstrated from day to day. Her life had proved the truth of that blessed statement.

I felt a deep sense of loss when I learned of her going. Another friend had passed over. God bless her memory, and may He be as sweet and precious to all her children as He was to her.

OSMOND S. LEWIS.

MRS. ADA BAILEY, wife of the late B. M. H. Bailey, of Big Creek, Miss., died at her home on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 31, 1923, about 4 o'clock, after a brief illness caused by paralysis.

Mrs. Bailey was 66 years old when she died and had spent most of her life here at this place. Five children survive her, Mary, Ruth, Carter, Stanley, and Wilbourn.

She was a member of the Methodist Church, and her life was pure, noble and sweet. She was known among her friends as a very kind-hearted Christian woman, with graces of mind and heart that bound her especially to her children at home, and to the others who were absent, by the ties of affection. She died as she had lived, in the affections of her people. When the Master called she quietly slipped over the border into that peaceful home reserved for God's faithful followers.

The death of this good woman takes away one of the oldest residents, and is marked with the deepest feeling of regret.

Of course, those who have not gone through with this sad hour can never realize how it is, but at least we can sympathize with those in sorrow, especially the heart-broken children.

Services were held on the 1st of February, at Chapel Hill Church by Rev. Mr. Bullard, and the remains were interred at that cemetery with a tribute of flowers.—Monitor-Herald.

For Troubled Nerves,
high blood pressure, dyspepsia, neuritis, investigate the new drugless methods now employed at DR. BIGGS' PRIVATE SANITARIUM, Asheville, North Carolina. A specialized treatment adapted to each individual. No tubercular cases accepted. Write for free booklet—interesting and instructive.

Dicks' Antiseptic
Kills Germs
For Cuts, Wounds and Burns. Especially fine for mouth diseases, pyorrhoea and sore throat.
25 CTS.

TEACHERS WANTED
Positions to offer in grades, High School subjects; Principals and Superintendents of High Schools; also in Colleges. Correspond with us at once. SOUTH ATLANTIC TEACHERS' AGENCY, 410 Wesley Memorial Bldg., Atlanta, Georgia.

Free Catalog
Estey Organs
Special Terms
FOR CHURCHES
Sunday Schools
AND SCHOOLS
Philip Werlein, Ltd.
"Largest Music House South"
New Orleans Baton Rouge

TETTERINE
Makes Low Necks and Short Sleeves Possible. It Clears the Skin.
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

Methodist Benevolent Association
Gives Southern Methodist Men and Women Safe
LIFE INSURANCE AT ACTUAL COST
J. H. SHUMKER, Sec'y
810 Broadway Nashville, Tenn.

DR. H. B. BARTLETT
National Dental Parlors
Canal and Bourbon Sts.
Over Worner's Drug Store
Entrance on Bourbon Street
Phone Main 2193.
NEW ORLEANS
Crown and Bridge Specialist
Vitalized Air for Painless Extraction
Most Modern and Best Equipped Dental Parlors South.

Epworth League Department

Editor, North Mississippi Conference........Rev. R. P. Neblett, Durant, Miss
Editor, Mississippi Conference,
J. H. Weems, 308 Second Avenue, Hattiesburg, Miss.
Editor, Louisiana Conference,
Miss Consuelo Martinez, 314 Broadway, New Orleans, La.

Material for this Department from the several Conferences should be sent to the editors named above. Copy must be in the Advocate office by Thursday preceding the week of publication.

NORTH MISSISSIPPI.

The dates for the Summer Conference have been set for June 4-6. The program will open with an afternoon session, following lunch in the college dining-room. Bishop H. M. DuBose, President of the General Board, will be with us for a sermon and two lectures, as well as to confer with the faculty and committees.

The last session will be held Wednesday morning, June 6. More definite plans will be announced later.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans City Union.

Is there any Epworth Leaguer in New Orleans that doesn't know where "Epworth" is? I think not, for we had the privilege of meeting there twice last week—once in the capacity of a Union League meeting, and again at a St. Patrick's Union League Social.

The Business Meeting.

The business meeting was very well attended, there being a fine representation from all the Leagues, and we were very delighted to learn that Felicity has also organized a League, and together with the pastor and his wife had a fine representation at this meeting. We are glad to welcome Felicity into the Union, and our earnest prayer is that they may become a real strong League. This completes the organization of Epworth Leagues in every Methodist church in New Orleans, eleven in all.

One of the important features of the meeting was the announcement that a survey of one of the suburbs of New Orleans was to be taken, looking forward to the establishment of Epworth Church No. 2, and the help of the Union in this survey was solicited. I am sure the Union will help both in the survey and in furnishing teachers, etc., should a church be established.

Another important feature was the election of officers. Those selected were as follows: Mr. Edgar Cayard, President; Mr. Albert Bluin, Vice-President; Mr. Louis Templeman, Secretary; Mr. John Morris, Treasurer, and Miss Edith Hibbard, Corresponding Secretary.

After the business meeting every one enjoyed the stunt put on by the Leaguers of the Epworth League entitled, "The Silent Church Service."

St. Patrick Social.

After such a delightful meeting, it was surely a treat to return again for the Union Social. Over 100 Leaguers were present, and quite a jolly crowd it was. Our very able Third Department Superintendent very capably kept them so busy playing for their side that every one just had a delightful time. The evening was a trip to Ireland, and the folks were divided into the Green and White sides. If the Whites won a game they were permitted to take a city, and if the Green won, they would take the next city, always heading toward Ireland. The Greens finally reached Ireland first.

Among the games played were Irish Addition, Patty and the Policeman, Irish Spelling Match, etc.

Epworth surely holds a soft spot for us Leaguers, and we are asking when we can come back again.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

On March 4, Wray Bowle, of the Vicksburg District, on invitation from Brother Schultz, went to Anguilla and installed the officers of a new Chapter there. Wray gives a glowing account of his trip, and, judging from his letter, he certainly must have been royally entertained by Brother Schultz and his good people.

Wray says, "The Lord was with us, and as those officers received the installation, I received inspiration, and we had a great service." Mrs. R. E. Selby was elected President, and they are expecting great things under her leadership. Already they are getting ready for the Epworth League "Birthday" on Anniversary Day.

Wray says, "The Anniversary Day program will be put on in full bloom throughout our District."

The Vicksburg District is looking forward to the Assembly, and we expect to hear a great deal of them in Brookhaven. They are building Leagues and giving strength to the old ones, and Wray says watch out for the Vicksburg District.

May we again call your attention to the Epworth League Anniversary Day program? Don't miss this chance of using this very beautiful pageant, the greatest Anniversary program our leaders have ever given us. Your pastor will be glad, we know, to give you one of his regular preaching hours for this program, and it is a chance of a lifetime to get the real work of the Epworth League before your people. If you do not have time to prepare the program by April 8, put it on at some later date. Where there is a church with young people and no League organization, we suggest that the pastor get the programs and have his young people put on the program. If you have read the program, we feel sure you will use it. Be sure an offering is taken and remit to Rev. L. F., Alford, Pascagoula, Miss., stating that it is your Anniversary Day offering.

In a letter received from the Conference Vice President he says: "Inasmuch as I am deeply interested in this phase of our work, it seems impossible for me to close this letter without a word in reference to our African Special Pledge. Is your pledge paid up to date? If not, won't you exert every effort to get it paid up by June 4, the date set for the opening of our Assembly at Brookhaven? Facing the reports of our Centenary, can we afford to do less than our best? No! Forever No! We must and will pay up. The honor of our Epworth League is at stake, and not only that, but if this is paid it will mean that the Centenary program can be carried on to completion; if not, much work will have to stop."

May we not add that not only the honor of the League and church is at stake, but the honor of each individual church member who has pledged to this cause. As a member of our great church and as Christian men and women, boys and girls, can we afford not to pay our pledge? May God have mercy on us if we fail to pay our vows unto him."

Remember the Assembly. Are you going? "You Ain't said you ain't; dat make you is."

J. H. WEEMS.

Easter Greetings

GUY R. MOLONY
Superintendent of Police
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Easter Greetings
ROSE McCAFFREY
311 Masonic Bldg.
NEW ORLEANS

GREETINGS
LOUISE J. ROSS, R. N.
SUPERIOR RED CROSS BRANCH
NO. 6

Dan B. Morris, Prop. Raynaud Tappins, Mgr.
MORRIS TAILOR
LADIES AND GENTS SUITS MADE TO ORDER.
Cleaning, Pressing and Dyeing
REPAIRING A SPECIALTY
Hats Cleaned and Blocked
2029 Dryades St. NEW ORLEANS, LA.
PHONE JACKSON 2681 or 1711

JOHN V. HARRIS
FURNITURE TRANSFER AND GENERAL DRAYAGE
Cut Glass and Bric-a-brac Packed with Extra Care. Furniture Packed, Shipped and Stored. Machinery and Safes Moved. Pianos Moved and Hoisted.
615 GIROD ST.
Phone Main 1228

The Christian Women's Exchange
Two dollars per year enables a consigner the right to exhibit and ten per cent on sales. A wonderful display of art, curio, and needlework always on hand. Visitors welcomed.
520 ROYAL STREET.

BOHNE & WILT, Booksellers, and Stationers, 1328 Dryades St., New Orleans, La. Baseball Goods, Religious Articles, Fishing Tackle, Periodicals, School Books.

CITY COMFORT IN YOUR COUNTRY HOME.
An Electric Light Plant, Electric Storage Battery that will burn 2-50W., 5-40W., 6-25W., 10-15W., and 5-10 Watt Lamps all at the same time.
See the Plant at
DRESDNER ELECTRICIANS
615 CAMP STREET
Near Main Postoffice
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Our Motto, "Service and Satisfaction"
NEW ORLEANS PAINT REMOVER AND MOTOR CLEANING COMPANY
Patented FLOZOFF Method
Motor and Chassis Thoroughly Cleaned. Cars Washed.
708-710 MAGAZINE STREET
Phone Main 3898
Night Phone Jackson 947
NEW ORLEANS, LOUISIANA

IDEAL MILLINERY,
INCORPORATED
ALICE LASSALLE-GIESEN, Pres.
Up-to-date Hand Made Hats
POPULAR PRICES
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE, At Canal St.
PHONE MAIN 3296
NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PETERSON-KELLY-PETERSON.
INCORPORATED
1808 DRYADES STREET
Phone: Jackson 909
Musical Instruments
ON TIME
Okeh Records
Phonographs

VISIT
THE Courtyard Corner
520 ROYAL ST.
GIFT SHOP
"GIFTS THAT ARE DIFFERENT"

Mutual Garment Cleaners & Dyers,
Uptown 4831

COUPON
Cut this Coupon out. Men's Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 75c. Palm Beach, Linen and Searsucker Suits Cleaned and Pressed for 40c. Suits Sponged and Pressed, 35c. Ladies' Garments at lowest prices.

PHONOGRAPHS OF ALL MAKES REPAIRED
COLUMBIA GRAFONOLAS
Records—Q. R. S. and U. S. Rolls. Musical Instruments
BARRE MUSIC SHOP
1509 DRYADES ST. Phone Jackson 2364

HEMSTITCHING
Embroidering. Buttons. Covered. Scalloping. etc.
MAIL ORDERS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO
HIGH GRADE EMBROIDERY WORKS
109 BOURBON ST. Elevator service. Main 734

STYLISH STOUT SHOP, INC.

Trade Mark Applied For

Everything to fit the Stout Figure. Evening Gowns. Semi-Evening. Street Dresses. Afternoon Dresses.

Wraps. Underwear. Hosiery. Corsets. Neckwear. and Accessories.

424-426 S. Rampart.

New Store:
Canal and Chartres

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Ditching Terracing
Made Easy—Bigger crops, better farms with
Martin Farm Ditcher Terracer & Road Grader
Cuts Ditch V-shaped to 4 feet—Grades Roads
10 day's trial—Money-back Guarantee
All Steel—Practical—Adjustable—Reversible—No wheels, levers, cogs to get out of fix. Also cleans ditches, cuts and works out dirt same time. Does work of big machines, saves work of 100 men, prevents crop failures, reclaims abandoned land. Needed on every farm. Soon pays for itself. Write for free booklet and introductory offer.
Owensboro Ditcher & Grader Co., Inc., Box 18 Owensboro, Ky.

NEW CHURCH DESIGNS
"HIGHEST EFFICIENCY YET ATTAINED"
INDORSED BY CHURCH AUTHORITIES
WRITE US YOUR NEEDS

R·H·HUNT CO·ARCHITECTS·
CHATTANOOGA TENN DALLAS TE

Sunday School

NOTES FROM THE NORTH MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE.

Rev. R. H. B. Gladney, Sardis, Miss.

Mrs. V. R. McDonald, Conference Superintendent of Elementary Work, is busy lining up her District Elementary Supernitendents to the end that we may soon have a number of departments in the "C" or "B" rank. Help her to put our Conference on a respectable basis.

So is Mrs. W. N. Duncan, of Drew, enthusiastically working to have every Intermediate, Senior, and Young People's class in the Conference organized and enrolled to the end that we may mass this great unused force of young life to spread the gospel story. We ought to have five hundred representatives attending our Bible Class Federation at Grenada, June 6-8.

Rev. J. E. Stephens, of Grenada, is planning to have at least four training classes taught in each district during the summer. He is preparing the teachers for this work. We propose to have these classes taught in the circuits where the teachers have not had the opportunity for training. It is not too early to organize these classes for training in leadership. Write to Brother Stephens that you want such a class taught. We have seven fine young women graduates and specially trained for this work. The pastors and superintendents should help make the way clear for this big task.

Be on the lookout for two excellent leaflets giving information as to what our Centenary money is doing. Our people only need the information, the full truth, to make them want to meet their obligations to the lost of our own country and to the world at large. It is light that drives the darkness away; it is truth that crushes error; the gospel is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth. The gospel, backed up by a life of prayer, much prayer, will bring about the change so much desired. Let us give it a fair trial.

It has been more than a month since the first notice went out asking either the pastor or superintendent to order Sunday School Day programs. Another notice will go out to the delinquents in a few days. What wait I for? The superintendents from the Aberdeen District are four in number who have ordered programs; seven from the Columbus District; fifteen from the Corinth; nine from the Grenada; two from the Greenwood; five from the Greenville; and fifteen from the Sardis.

MISSISSIPPI CONFERENCE SUNDAY SCHOOL NOTES.

Last Sunday, March 18, was spent with Brother Simms. We had a great crowd Sunday morning, and a mighty good service. Two Programs of Work, Type "C," were placed, one at Florence and the other at Richland. Our service at Richland was not large. It was raining and getting colder and colder.

The Richland school has been in fine shape, but the whooping cough and the measles have about closed it down, and the superintendent says that right now it is in worse shape than it has ever been.

Poplar Springs Sunday school, on the Harrisville charge, is the last school to report a Special this week. I trust that this live rural school will get a great blessing out of their Special.

Two appointments have been canceled so far this month. Weather and sickness and other things keep happening. Brother Hull has lost appointments, too, to his regret.

The Petal circuit is moving along. They are in good shape. Their school at Petal is growing. A Program of Work, Type "C," is there.

We are at work on the programs for the District Institutes. We are going to try and make them uniform, and hope that they will prove more successful than last year even.

Did you get your Sunday School Day programs? If not, please let us know.

Millsaps Memorial is moving up.

Each Sunday school on the Fannin circuit has a Program of Work "C." Pray for revivals. Pray for the workers.

Yours in Him,
JOHN C. CHAMBERS.

THE OLD AND THE NEW TESTAMENTS.

By Dr. Isaac L. Peebles.

It is not an infrequent thing to meet people who not only lightly esteem the Old Testament, but they flippantly declare that it is obsolete, although Paul wrote plainly that, "All Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness," 2 Tim. 3:16, and, too, the fact our Savior endorsed Abraham when he said: "If they hear not Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded, though one rose from the dead," Luke 16:31, and also declared, "These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the Psalms concerning me," Luke 24:44.

Christ also said: "Search the Scriptures," John 5:39, meaning the Old Testament, for at that time it was all the Bible the people had.

From the above we can safely and truthfully conclude that the Old Testament is all right and is from God, and therefore let us see about its religion.

That its religion was the same as that of the New Testament is clear from the following: Paul wrote of the Jews as to their religion in comparison with that of the Christians, and declared: "And did all eat the same spiritual food, and did all drink the same spiritual drink: for they drank of that spiritual rock that followed them, and that rock was Christ," I Cor. 10:3-4. Our Savior said: "Ye must be born again," John 3:7, that is, ye must have a clean heart; and David prayed: "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me," Psa. 51:10. What Christ called "born again," David denominated "a clean heart." The Old Testament religion was a clean heart and a clean life, just like that of the New Testament.

Let all study the Bible more intelligently and prayerfully and they will cease their skepticisms and ignorant

(Continued on Next Page.)

NEW ORLEANS GAS STOVE APPLIANCE AND REPAIR SHOP.
PHONE UPTOWN 3132
Old Stoves Taken in on Rebuilt Stoves
Light Welding a Specialty
3921 MAGAZINE ST.
W. F. HADDOCK, Prop. New Orleans, La.

PROGRESSIVE FURNITURE STORE
Substantial Furniture, Linoleums, Carpets, Rugs, for the home, office, and church. Convenient terms. Country trade taken care of. Prompt delivery. Service.
5515 MAGAZINE STREET.

Yours for Health

SCIENTIFIC SPINAL AND BODY MASSAGE
BERTHA L. BRUNSTITER
Room 303 Phone 7951
Macheca Bldg. NEW ORLEANS

Phone Jackson 126
THE ORIGINAL DOLL HOSPITAL
2320 MAGAZINE ST.

ELYOD ART NEEDLEWORK CO.,
1842 Dryades Street.
Stamped Articles, Floss, Yarn, Crochet Cotton, etc. Mail orders solicited. Send for beautiful illustrated circular of stamped articles.

PRYTANIA HEMSTITCHING PARLOR
1413 LYON ST., NEW ORLEANS
No delay. Out-of-town patronage solicited. Price List furnished on application. Charges prepaid.

THE TYPEWRITER STORE
If You Need CARBON PAPER, RIBBONS or REPAIRS, TYPEWRITERS, ADDING MACHINES of all kinds, come and see us. Save money. Quick Service.
J. A. WHERRY,
420 Camp St. Phone Main 1701

WALLACE
(The New Orleans News Man)
PAPERS FROM EVERY STATE AND AROUND THE WORLD
105 Royal St. 104 University Place

ADORABLE TOGS FOR BABY
And Up to Six!
Maison Rouff
216 Chartres St.
"Just Down from Godchaux's."

United Style Shop
Distinctive Creations in Ready-to-Wear Garments for Men and Women.
WE OUTFIT THE ENTIRE FAMILY.
Liberal credit terms to suit our patrons. No inconveniences. Courtesy extended to all.
SILK SHIRTS, SUITS, OVERCOATS, FANCY FROCKS, DRESSES, FURS AND WRAPS
in the new spring and sport styles arriving daily.
129 Bourbon Street
Phone Main 703.

ANGELL'S

COUGH and WHOOPING
Cough Syrup
Easy to Take
No Habit-Forming Drugs. Formula of
DR. RICHARD ANGELL
Prepared by
JAMES E. ANGELL,
New Orleans, La.
PRICE 35c AND 65c
AT ALL DRUGGISTS

HOLMES
81st BIRTHDAY SALE
WHICH BEGINS
MONDAY, APRIL 2nd
MEANS BIG SAVINGS FOR YOU.
D. H. HOLMES CO.,
LIMITED
For 81 Years the Best Place to Shop

Robertson-Smith
BEAUTY CULTURIST
Specializing in Scalp Treatment, Massage, Hair Dyeing, and Manicuring.
1031 HOWARD AVE.
Residential Work by Appointment.

Phone, Main 2838
Rose McCaffrey
SUPERIOR MULTIGRAPHING
311 MASONIC TEMPLE

As to What to Wear,
How It Fits or Becomes You, You Will Save Time, Money and Disappointment by Consulting
Milady's Creative Shop
Specializing in BRIDAL TROUSSEAUS, GOWNS AND NEGLIGEE.
If you desire, we will call, design and plan your outfit to your satisfaction.
221 Macheca Bldg. Phone, M. 5162,
830 CANAL STREET.

Stop Your Wash Day Worries
and
PHONE JACKSON 203,
SWISS LAUNDRY CO.,
2520 Magnolia St.
Everything washed clean and sent home dry. BED AND TABLE LINEN ironed in this service,
Six Cents per lb.

UNITY
DENTAL CO.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE.
Highest class work in the city.
15-YEAR GUARANTEE.
Nerve Blocking our Specialty.
Eliminates all Pain.
108 UNIVERSITY PLACE
Phone Main 6606

STOP ITCHING
Skins with Tetterine
60c at your Druggist's, or from The SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

666 quickly relieves Colds, Fever, LaGrippe, Constipation, Biliousness and Headaches.

THE OLD AND THE NEW TESTAMENT.

(Continued from Page 12.)

faultfindings and hence become more truly spiritual, and ready always for a home in heaven finally.

Let us not think that true science and the Bible conflict in the least. Falsehood and the Bible do, and have, and always will conflict, because the Bible does not harmonize with falsehood.

Materialistic evolution and the Bible conflict most decidedly, because the Bible teaches plainly that there are different cycles of life, and, too, that the life of each was created by Almighty God as a peculiar type of life, and hence so peculiarly a type of its own kind as to be different from all other types. The human cycle is so peculiarly a type of its own as to be wholly separate and above all animal and vegetable types. It is the dominating and God-like type. God made it so and it romains that way, and will always bo that way. One may desire kinship with monkeys, but he can have it only by profession, for he is not a monkey, although he may like kinship with monkeys even to the extent of his acting like them. Why has materialistic evolution failed to evolve men from monkeys during the whole history of our race? Why is it that evolution is observable only in each cycle of life, and, too, only of its own kind? Why is it that no cycle of life encroaches on another cycle in the sense of evolution? Why is it that no sons have evolved from the greatest of men even as great as their fathers, much less being superior to their fathers? The only intelligent and satisfactory answer to the above questions is, the Bible doctrino that God created different types of life and fixed each in its own peculiar cycle different from all the rest.

FROM WINNSBORO, LA.

Dear Dr. Carley: For the first time since coming to Winnsoboro, more than a year ago, I find myself sending in a "write-up" from this place. Wo are am[illegible] some of the choice people of Loui[illegible]ethodism. Many acts of kindn[illegible]d expressions of love come to us [illegible] various sources. The latest good thing to come our way was the gift of a new, up-to-date Ford touring car.

We began our work here with one of the greatest revivals I have ever had, during my pastorate, led by the Kelly brothers. Dan was at his best, and more than 120 members were added to the different churches. More than seventy of this number lined up with us, and we reported a little above one hundred new members at Conference. A few have come to us since,

In Brother Kleinschmidt's report from this charge, ho stated that the pastor's salary had been advanced $300 over that of last year; in view of the fact that Crowville has been placed with another charge—Sicily Island—I think this a good showing for real progress. The present assessment for the pastor is, in fact, $800 in advance of what it was before our incumbency. But all the former pastors wrought well and helped to lay the foundation for our present success.

As is my custom, I have taken in some "new ground." I believo in expansion! This charge now is composed of Winnsboro, Boeuf Prairie, and Magnolia. Our membership at all these churches is composed of people of the very highest class of substantial citizens. I find that they are responsive and appreciative.

We have one of the very best Missionary Societies in tho Conference. They recently doubled their membership. Wo are looking forward to the matter of building a new church, and expect to launch this enterprise in April. One week from to-day we begin a revival, assisted by J. V. Bennett, of Mississippi. He comes well recommended. We expect to report good things when the meeting is over.

We are to entertain the District Conference the last of April, and the Editor is cordially invited to be with us then.

Winnsboro is fast becoming a modern little city. A bond issue has been voted, and at the present time the constructive work of laying water and sewer pipe lines is being done.

Our Sunday school, under the leadership of Brother W. D. Harrison and some most excellent teachers, is equal to the best in any town of this size. We are hopeful, and expect greater and better things for the future.

Brother Kleinschmidt seems to be a "fit" for the presiding elder's office. He does not impress one as an "amateur." We all were delighted with his work, both as a preacher and officer in the important work to which he has been assigned.

Yours cordially,
J. M. ALFORD.

Bro. S. D. Lofton
A minister of the Gospel. He lives on the caprock of the great Plains of Texas overlooking Post City.

He says he has something as good for the body as the Bible is for the soul.

It's Pal-Pinto Crystals, produced in our great factory by steaming away the wonderful health water of Mineral Wells, Texas, leaving its crystals, a mineral product, in the vats.

It's God's prescription, Nature's own true laxative, nothing is added. It glistens like snow in sunshine.

It's a fountain of life, a balm to the infirm, good for the old, the young, the strong and the weak. No irritation, no griping. It's safe, sound and cheap.

No miracle is wrought, but an effect produced by a cause. Proper elimination by way of the liver; keeps you immune from most ailments, also promotes cures.

Good for Appendicitis, Rheumatism, Constipation, Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Bladder. Continued use creates no habit. Saves you about 3-4 of your doctor and drug bills, yet not a medicine. Pleasant to take. Effects pleasant, no layoff from work.

Use a 1-lb box and if you don't think you have gotten your dollar's value, write and you get your dollar.

Send $1 bill or P. O. Order in letter today for a pound to Brother S. D. Lofton, R. A., Box 211, Post, Texas.—Adv.

Rheumatic Pains Aches
are quickly relieved by CAPUDINE. It's liquid—agreeable to the stomach and produces satisfactory results. Standard for Headache and Grip also. 10c, 30, and 60c—TRY IT—LIKE IT

Taylor University
Represents a happy adjustment between standard education and old time religion. A good place to feed your faith and starve your doubts.
Its schools and departments offer about everything in academic and special courses that the average student needs
Address JOHN PAUL, President
UPLAND, INDIANA

MEETING AN EMERGENCY

THE RESPONSIBILITY.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has a definite missionary responsibility.

We have been assigned certain definite tasks in the Missionary enterprise.

We are responsible for the cultivation of important mission fields.
If we fail to cultivate them they will suffer.
Other churches have their own responsibilities and fields, and henco they cannot take care of ours.

THE PLEDGE.

When the Centenary Campaign was launched wo made pledges sufficient to meet our responsibilities.

These pledges were made in good faith.

They were accepted by two hundred and forty new missionaries, including the wives of missionaries, who have gone to represent us in China, Japan, Korea, Siberia, Brazil, Mexico, Cuba, Europe and Africa.

They wero accepted by native churches and church members in all our fields.

THE VICTORIES.

Four new missions have been opened and there has been great advance in all of the older missions.

Hundreds of new congregations have been organized.

Thousands have been added to the Church.

The way has been opened to still larger success.

THE EMERGENCY.

Our pledges have not been repudiated nor will they be, but our people are behind in their payments.
There is great danger that the work will suffer.
We must collect $1,000,000 on these pledges now, or the program will be halted.

THE COST.

It will not be easy to collect this amount of money now.
Many will have to make sacrifices to pay what they promised to pay.
It will cost—certainly it will cost to pay our pledges—but it will cost infinitely more to fail to pay them.

Southern Methodists must not falter in the hour of crisis

THE MISSIONARY CENTENARY

LAMBUTH BUILDING - - - - - NASHVILLE, TENN.

HYMN BOARDS

of the very best quality supplied at very reasonable cost by

LAMAR & BARTON
Nashville, Dallas, Richmond, San Francisco

Backaches! try Sloan's

Relieves soreness by warming and circulating blood

Stop those dull, insistent aches, by relieving the painful congestion. Sloan's does this. Without rubbing, it quickly penetrates the sore spot, stimulating the circulation to and through it. Congestion is reduced, soreness allayed, the pain relieved.

Sloans's relieves sore, aching muscles, banishes the pains of rheumatism and neuralgia. Breaks up colds in chest. Stops suffering — wherever congestion rouses pain.

At all drug stores

Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Relieved of Nervousness and Other Distressing Ailments by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Brooklyn, N. Y.—"I first took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound four years ago, and am taking it now for the Change of Life and other troubles and I receive great benefit from it. I am willing to let you use my letter as a testimonial because it is the truth. I found your booklet in my letter-box and read it carefully and that is how I came to take the Vegetable Compound myself. It has given me quiet nerves so that I sleep all night, and a better appetite. I have recommended it already to all my friends and relatives."—Mrs. ENGLEMANN, 2032 Palmetto St., Ridgewood, Brooklyn, N.Y.

For the woman suffering from nervous troubles causing sleeplessness, headache, hysteria, "the blues," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will be found a splendid medicine. For the woman of middle age who is passing through the trials of that period, it can be depended upon to relieve the troubles common at that time.

Remember, the Vegetable Compound has a record of nearly fifty years of service and thousands of women praise its merit, as does Mrs. Englemann.

You should give it a fair trial now.

Woman's Missionary Society

All communications for this Department should be sent to Mrs. J. G. Snelling, 1110 Louisiana Ave., New Orleans, La.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

The Meeting at Monroe.

By Mrs. George S. Brown, Conference Recording Secretary.

We wonder if any one felt the least bit superstitious when the call went out for the Thirteenth Annual Conference of the Louisiana Woman's Missionary Society which convened in Monroe March 6, 7, 8 and 9, 1923? If so, all doubts are now dispelled, for there has never been a better Conference.

Delegates came from all over the State, between 125 and 150, and every one with note book and pencil, intent on learning all there was to learn. One of the things that could but impress an onlooker was the real love of the work, the time and energy given with no thought of reward or even praise. Hours and hours, day after day, are required of the Treasurer and Corresponding Secretary, and the District Secretaries are busy all the year, and it is all done for the love of the Master.

Monroe excelled in hospitality, homes and cars being at the disposal of the delegates, and delightful lunches served every day at the church.

Miss Alethea Jones, Superintendent of Children's Work, was the Council guest, and brought many fine messages. Dr. French, of Shreveport, gave several splendid addresses, the Young People of Monroe presented a Missionary play at the High School, and the whole program teemed with good things. Quite a number of preachers were in attendance at the meetings, and at the opening session there were nearly 200 communicants.

Mrs. Cunningham's presentation of the Candle Lighting was a most inspiring sight. A lighted candle on the altar represented Jesus Christ, the Light of the World. From it the State officers and District Secretaries lighted their candles after reciting appropriate Scripture verses. These in turn lighted the candles of all having a Mission Study Class in their Auxiliaries, and they lighted those of the Auxiliaries having Bible Study. While the candles were held aloft, the choir sang "Send the Light," and one could but catch the vision of what it would mean if each one so let his light shine that others could see the good works and glorify the Father.

The Community Club at Monroe gave a program one afternoon, singing with that sweet, peculiar melody that colored people possess, and every heart was stirred. The Pledge was over a thousand dollars more than last year, and there is every hope that there will be an abundant harvest this year.

Stereopticon slides of the woman's work in seven foreign fields were shown by the Vice-President, Mrs. R. H. Harper. As the picture of our New Orleans missionary to Cuba, Miss Clara Chalmers, was thrown on the screen there was loud applause, and a cablegram was read from Miss Chalmers, saying that the work in Cuba was progressing.

(To Be Continued.)

FROM MANGHAM, LA.

Dear Mr. Editor: This is a fine charge. In fact, it is the best circuit in the Louisiana Conference. The Board of Stewards is made up of men —not that I object to women acting as stewards, for they make fine officials, but I do not like to see the work of the whole church done by ladies while men sit around and do nothing. There are some princely men here—C. M. Noble, Dr. D. R. Sartor, and several younger men who are real stewards in the Kingdom of God. In intellectuality these folks measure up, and they are not wanting in charity.

They were very thoughtful of our needs about Christmas pounded us mightily. They sent in five whole hogs and we have our lard put away for the summer; so is our meat already smoked and packed. Think of it—home-made middlings, shoulders, and hams!

My salary is not paid in full to date. But whose is? Yet they are less than one hundred dollars in arrears. There is plenty of work to do. To collect Centenary pledges is a man's job. Then the wind recently twisted our church building, so we are not safe in it. The Methodists are not as numerous here as the "Baptists in Mississippi," but we will do our best and come out all right.

Brother Kleinschmidt is taking well with the people, and bids fair to make a good elder.

Sincerely,
J. D. NESOM, Pastor.

A GOOD THING—DON'T MISS IT.
Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchial, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gassy pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

PILES Don't Be Cut Until You Try This Wonderful Treatment

My internal method of treatment is the correct one, and is sanctioned by the best informed physicians and surgeons. Ointments, salves and other local applications give only temporary relief.

If you have piles in any form write for a FREE sample of Page's Pile Tablets and you will bless the day that you read this. Write today.

E. R. PAGE 430J Page Bldg.,
Marshall, Mich.

Not a Laxative

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe.

When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication. Try it today.

Nujol
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
A LUBRICANT—NOT A LAXATIVE

IF SICK TODAY! TAKE NO CALOMEL

"Dodson's Liver Tone" Straightens You Up Better Than Salivating, Dangerous Calomel and Doesn't Upset You—Don't Lose a Day's Work—Read Guarantee

I discovered a vegetable compound that does the work of dangerous, sickening calomel and I want every reader of this paper to buy a bottle for a few cents and if it doesn't straighten you up better and quicker than salivating calomel just go back to the store and get your money back.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your thirty feet of bowels of the sour bile and constipation poison which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable.

I guarantee that one spoonful of this harmless liquid liver medicine will relieve the headache, biliousness, coated tongue, ague, malaria, sour stomach or any other distress caused by a torpid liver as quickly as a dose of vile, nauseating calomel, besides it will not make you sick or keep you from a day's work.

Calomel is poison—it's mercury—it attacks the bones, often causing rheumatism. Calomel is dangerous. It sickens—while my Dodson's Liver Tone is safe, pleasant and harmless. Eat anything afterwards, because it can not salivate. Give it to the children because it doesn't upset the stomach or shock the liver. Take a spoonful tonight and wake up feeling fine and ready for a full day's work.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
SOLD EVERYWHERE FOR
CONSTIPATION
BILIOUSNESS
Headache
INDIGESTION
Stomach Trouble

Public Service
HAS BECOME THE ACTIVE PRACTICAL IDEAL OF THE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY WITH ITS REORGANIZATION AS NEW ORLEANS PUBLIC SERVICE, INC. WE SOLICIT HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS AND WISH TO KEEP SERVICE ALWAYS
On the Job

MRS. C. C. OLDHAM

A Healthy Woman is Always Beautiful In The Eyes of Man

Lexington, Ky.—"During the time of middle life I used Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I cannot praise it too highly for the good it did me. I believe the Favorite Prescription is bound to become a favorite remedy with each woman who gives it a fair trial. I have also used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for stomach trouble and for colds, etc., and I believe it to be the best general tonic that can be had."—Mrs. C. C. Oldham, 553 Breckenridge Street.

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has made many women happy by making them healthy. Get it at once from your nearest druggist, in either liquid or tablet form. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free, confidential medical advice

FROM BRANDON, MISS.

Dear Brother Carley: We are starting the year well on the Brandon and Pelahatchie charge. We held our first quarterly conference on the 4th inst. Brother Burton was present, and preached a very excellent sermon to a large and appreciative audience. The attendance on the quarterly conference session was good, every church being represented. The pastor's salary was advanced 20% over last year. We have the budget system and it works well with us, every interest sharing proportionately. Our finances are very nearly in full to date on all claims.

Brother Chambers gave our Sunday school teachers at Pelahatchie a course in Sunday school organization and administration, which I believe will help us very much.

We have already done some repairing and are planning further repairs on both churches and parsonage.

Yurs truly,
W. J. DAWSON, P. C.

SOME QUESTIONS.

Dear Brother Carley: I have neglected to advise you as to my new home and work this year, but will take time and with pleasure sit for a few moments to say that the work of the itinerancy, for some reason or other, has been greatly neglected in this section. It is to be hoped, however, that by the time this year shall have passed away, I can stimulate conditions at least, and that the spirituality of our church may again feel the warmth of the blood of Christ, and the church's nature and its true purpose. It is to be hoped, too, that the true church of our Christ may, in some way, catch a vision of inspiration for God; they will then lend a hand in his service while it is yet time. Thus, when we have realized the importance of the church's mission, we shall all then want to do more for the accomplishment of its end. May God help us to realize this fact. But how shall they know him? or how shall they find him, unless they seek him? God grant that in some way our people may get a glimpse of his love!

It is indeed to be regretted that in many ways, although I am not pessimistic, but optimistic, it must be admitted that the people everywhere are gone very far, it seems to me, from the love of God. The spirit of Christ working in the souls of men and women as of old is not felt. I know that it is very true that at the beginning God's Spirit moved upon the hearts, and convicted men and women of their sins, and that in those days God was being borne to perverse and obstinate nations. And is it not true that God liveth now in the twentieth century? Can any one dare deny that God liveth now? Yea, he is the same now, yesterday, and forever. If it was necessary then for men and women to repent of their sins, it is as imperative that they should do so now? God will not make himself known in the churches of our day unless the spirit of worldliness has been dismissed. God and mammon will not strive together. Something is to be done, or the Spirit of the living God will take His flight, and never return again until we see him in the Judgment.

Thero are many questions one may ask, however, concerning the Spirit, and I want to ask a few just now: Is God here among us? And, if so, where is He? Is He among the so-called Christians, and members of the various churches? Or, is He in the Sunday schools, its pupils, its teachers? Where is He? If they say 'God is among these, I say it must be in Japan or in China or somewhere else; for in all of my experiences as a young preacher I have seen but few people with the spirit of God in them. Yet, great good is being accomplished everywhere in the kingdom through the instrumentality of cold and indifferent folks. How much more, then, could be accomplished if the Spirit moved upon souls, and stirred them to do half their duty? I am praying and hoping for better things for the kingdom of the living God. May God grant us an experience of this sort in our churches.

"Saved my baby"

Zolfor Springs, Fla.
March 5, 1920

Anglo-American Drug Co., 215 Fulton St., New York.
Dear Sirs:
I am using Mrs. Winslow's Syrup. It saved my baby from dying of colic, which she had for three months. Some one advised me to get Mrs. Winslow's Syrup and I did. Yours truly,
(Name on request)

Colic is quickly overcome by this pleasant, satisfactory remedy, which relieves diarrhoea, flatulency and constipation, keeping baby healthy and happy. Non-narcotic, non-alcoholic.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SYRUP
The Infants' and Children's Regulator
Formula on every label. Write for free booklet containing letters from mothers.
At All Druggists.
ANGLO-AMERICAN DRUG CO. 215-217 Fulton Street NEW YORK
General Selling Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Inc., New York, Toronto, London, Sydney

You can save money by getting our prices before you buy. Write our nearest factory today.
FULTON BAG & COTTON MILLS
[Manufacturers since 1870.]
Atlanta Brooklyn Dallas St. Louis and New Orleans

BOILS Old Sores, Cuts and Burns have been healed since 1820 with
Gray's Ointment
Sold by all druggists. Write for sample to W. F. Gray & Co., 707 Gray Bldg., Nashville, Tenn.

Don't let child stay bilious, constipated

MOTHER, MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH "CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP"

Even Cross, Feverish, Sick Children Love its Taste and it Never Fails to Empty Little Bowels

A teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup" now will quickly start liver and bowel action and in a few hours you have a well, playful child again. Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Fig Syrup" because it never fails to work the sour bile and constipation poison right out of the little stomach and bowels without cramping or overacting.

Tell your druggist you want only the genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother, you must say "California." Refuse any imitation.

WHEN YOU ENLIST
—by—
Margaret Slattery

THIS is one of the best-written and most attractive little inspirational books that have appeared in a long time. Most of the Lord's workers understand what the author means by the title. It is a book for those who want to or ought to enlist.

Bound in ornamental leatherette 75c

LAMAR & BARTON
Nashville Dallas Richmond San Francisco

WHEELER
Business College
BIRMINGHAM, ALA.
"WHEELER STUDENTS GET THE BEST POSITIONS"
Call or Write For Free Catalogue

CANCER HOSPITAL. Intra-venous treatment for cancer. Operation, Radium and X-Ray unnecessary. Booklet giving full information upon request. Box 2127, ATLANTA, GA.

666 Cures Malaria, Chills and Fever, Dengue or Bilious Fever.

GREAT BENEFIT FROM CARDUI

Georgia Lady Says She Has Avoided Much Suffering by Taking This Well-Known Tonic Medicine

Clyattville, Ga.—In a statement which she gave at her home on R. F. D. 1, here, Mrs. T. A. Copeland said:

"I have, I believe, avoided a good deal of suffering by the use of Cardui, and am thoroughly convinced that it has been of great benefit to me.

"Before the birth of two of my children, I grew so weak and nervous I could hardly go and suffered . . . I had a friend who told me of Cardui, so the next time when I grew so weak and run-down I began to use it. I used it three months. I grew stronger and less nervous. The baby was stronger and a better baby, and I really believe it was because I built up my strength with this splendid tonic."

Cardui has been in successful use for more than forty years. Thousands of women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

It is a mild, harmless, purely vegetable medicinal preparation—a product of practical experience, scientific investigation and pharmaceutical skill.

Take CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

RIGHTEOUSNESS.

By A. W. Bardin.

In schools and colleges, the number one hundred is used as the standard of perfection. In the kingdom of God, righteousness is the standard of perfection. No human beings, in and of themselves, in the sight of God, register one hundred per cent righteous. Jesus came to fulfill all righteousness, and it began when he was baptized and said to John, "Suffer it to be so to fulfill all righteousness" (Matthew 3:15), and ended when he expired on the Cross after saying, "It is finished." In Colossians 2:10, we read, "In him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily and ye are COMPLETE in him." In Ephesians 1:6 we read, "He hath made us accepted in the beloved." In Rom. 3:22, we read, "The righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all that believe: for there is no difference: For all have sinned and come short of the glory of God." In Galatians 3:21-22, it says: "If there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law. But the Scripture hath concluded ALL under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe." Paul says in Philippians 3:7-9: "But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ . . . that I may win Christ . . . and be found in him, not having my own righteousness which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is by God by faith." This puts all humanity on one common basis of salvation by faith. No one can boast of his own righteousness being sufficient without the righteousness of Christ. A national bank bill is not complete without the signature of the president of the bank on which it is issued. The paper may be perfect, the lithographing also; but the bill is not accepted for use until endorsed by the president. Human life may be honorable and upright, clean and honest, but that righteousness must be offered to God in the name and righteousness of Jesus Christ, our righteousness.

This is God's universal standard to all humanity alike—and no one ought to take exception to it, but gladly embrace it.

New Orleans, La.

There is a life not far beyond this: and there is reason to hope, there is reason to believe, that the silver cords which are broken here shall be brought together again there: that the golden bowl shall be restored never to be broken again; that the pitcher shall never more be broken at the fountain, nor the wheel at the cistern; and that there shall be joy in the presence of God over a noble community of men made perfect, and ransomed from the flesh. The experiences of this life are but so many lessons by which men learn of their nobler manhood and higher nature. Blessed things lie just before you.—Beecher.

WATCH THE ADDRESS LABEL ON YOUR PAPER AND RENEW YOUR SUBSCRIPTION WHEN IT FALLS DUE.

QUARTERLY CONFERENCES.

LOUISIANA CONFERENCE.

New Orleans Dist.—Second Round.

Second Church, Mar. 25, a.m.
McDonoghville, Mar. 25, p.m.
Franklin, Apr. 1.
Epworth, Apr. 8, a.m.
Carrollton, Apr. 8, p.m.
Louisiana Avenue, Apr. 15, a.m.
Felicity, Apr. 15, p.m.
Jeanerette, Apr. 22.
Joint Quarterly Conference for New Orleans churches, Apr. 26.
Ville Platte, at White Chapel, Apr. 29.
Parker Memorial, May 6.
Rayne Memorial, May 13, a.m.
Algiers, May 13, p.m.
Lydia, at Cypremont, May 16.
Morgan City, May 20.
District Conference, at St. Mark's Hall, May 21-23.
St. Martinville, May 27.
Lafourche, at Griffin, June 3, a.m.
Houma, June 3, p.m.
Bayou Blue, June 4.
St. Mark's, June 17, a.m.
First Church, June 17, p.m.

W. WINANS DRAKE, P. E.

Every Christian conquest has its beginning in some place of secret prayer.—Selected.

BUY A BOTTLE OF
BITTER CHILLIFUGE
FOR
COLDS AND LA GRIPPE
WILL GIVE QUICK RELIEF
25 cts. at Your Druggist.

ECZEMA
CAN BE CURED
Write me today and I will send you a free trial of my mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will prove it. Stops the itching and heals permanently. Send no money—just write me—that is all you have to do. Address
DR. CANNADAY, 1800 Park Square,
SEDALIA, MO.

TETTERINE
For the Complexion
60c at your Druggist's, or from The
SHUPTRINE CO., SAVANNAH, GA.

The Evangelistic Campaign Is On

¶This is the pastor's opportunity. Help him make good use of it.

¶These books were written to be placed in the hands of converts, new members, prospective members, study classes, etc.

¶A knowledge of them makes intelligent Methodists who can give a reason for the faith they profess.

What Every Methodist Should Know
By Dr. George R. Stuart
Paper binding .................... 35 cents
Cloth binding .................... 75 cents

The Church and Its Sacraments
By Dr. E. B. Chappell
Paper binding .................... 35 cents
Cloth binding .................... 60 cents

Studies in Methodist History
By Rev. J. M. Culbreth
Paper binding only ............. 35 cents

A Methodist Church and Its Work
By Tippy and Kern
85 cents

Choice of A Career
By Garfield Evans and Ina C. Brown
A beautifully written little book for the young boy or girl that points the way to the great field of religious service. An excellent book for the young convert.
Paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.

¶ORDER AS MANY BOOKS AS YOU NEED. ¶AN ORDER FOR A DOZEN OR MORE WILL CARRY A DISCOUNT OF 10 PER CENT

Publishing House M. E. Church, South
LAMAR & BARTON, Agents
NASHVILLE
DALLAS
RICHMOND
SAN FRANCISCO

NEW ORLEANS CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE

Vol. 70—No. 14. Official Organ of the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South. Whole No. 3504.

HENRY T. CARLEY, Editor. NEW ORLEANS, LA., THURSDAY, APRIL 5, 1923. CHAS. O. CHALMERS, Manager.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

SOME INTERESTING CHURCH STATISTICS.

According to carefully gathered statistics just made public by the Federal Council of Churches, the churches of the United States made the greatest gains in their history during the last statistical year, the increase in membership being 1,220,428. The present membership of all religious bodies in the country is 47,461,558. During the year there was a gain of 9,591 congregations and 15,252 ministers, a total of 214,583 ministers now serving 243,590 congregations. According to these figures, each day last year an average of 3,345 joined the various churches, 42 ministers were licensed or ordained, and 26 congregations were organized— a pretty good record in the face of the criticisms of the church and the attacks made upon it. Owing to the difference in methods of computing their membership, it is hard to make accurate comparisons between the Protestants and the Roman Catholics, the Roman Catholics counting all persons baptized in that communion, while the Protestant churches count only communicants. On this basis, the Roman Catholics claim 18,104,804, while the Protestants have 78,113,481. The Methodist churches have the largest constituency in the country, their figures being 23,253,854 persons; the Baptists are second, with a total of 22,869,098; the Roman Catholics are third, with 18,104,804; the Lutherans are fourth, with 7,043,854, and the Presbyterians are fifth, with 6,726,698. According to these figures, the total membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is 2,405,257, a gain of 59,190. The Methodist Episcopal Church has a membership of 4,279,586, a gain of 122,9675. This record may not be what it ought to be—but it certainly is not such as to bring discouragement to those who believe that the cause of righteousness is making steady progress.

NOT FAIR.

We maintain that it is not fair to the vast majority of decent, law-abiding citizens of the country for the secular newspapers to fill their pages day after day with more or less detailed accounts of heinous crimes, domestic scandals, flagrant violations of the law, and such like. Their excuse, of course, is that such things constitute news, and it is news the people want—they are simply meeting the demands of their readers. We do not believe their readers generally are interested in such things; we do not believe there is any widespread demand for their publication; we do not believe such happenings really constitute news. Even if we are wrong in these beliefs, we are firmly convinced that the newspapers have a higher mission than that of catering to the depraved taste of some of their readers by setting before them this salacious stuff. The daily press is an instrument of education, and all education should make people better rather than worse. The editors of these papers may salve their consciences by saying they are printing what the people want—but they will have to bear their share of the responsibility for the evil that grows out of their editorial policy.

INTELLECTUAL HOSPITALITY.

We sometimes hear it stated that the beautiful grace of hospitality is fast disappearing—that people are too busy, too selfish, too sophisticated to enjoy having their friends visit them in their homes. We are not prepared to say that such is the case; but, if it is, we do say that it is greatly to be regretted. The expression, "Southern hospitality," has meant much in the characterization of the people of our own beloved section of the United States, and we should regret very much to feel that we are no longer entitled to the distinction implied in those words. But we are thinking just now of another kind of hospitality—the hospitality that will give a new idea, or a new program, or a new method a chance to prove itself. Intellectual provincialism may not impair character—but it makes impossible the enjoyment of much that would be helpful and inspiring. We do not, of course, advocate the adoption of every new-fangled notion that comes along, but simply a willingness to keep the mind alive and growing. A petrified mind is mighty poor equipment with which to fight the battles of life in strenuous days like these.

SUPPOSE WE DID?

Suppose we should get rid of Christianity—what then? Once in awhile we read of some rationalist who contends that the world would be better off without any religion at all. Nobody that we know of takes such contention seriously, but it is interesting to think of the situation that would exist if it should come to pass. An English writer recently devoted a little attention to it. If it were not for religion, our vocabulary would be reduced about one-half; three-fourths of our books would have to be destroyed; science would become the mere handmaid of commercialism and militarism; art would largely be blotted out; most of the great humanitarian and benevolent movements would cease; architecture would deteriorate; music would lose much of its charm. These things have to do merely with the material expressions of the religious life—they do not take into account at all the change that would come over the spirit of the people everywhere. A world without religion would not be fit to live in.

TOO MANY TITUSES.

The following little story from the Type Metal Magazine carries its own moral: "Pa Titus believes that Sunday is a day of rest. He generally hangs around the house all day, smoking, sleeping, eating, and reading the Sunday paper. Ma generally gets up a little earlier than usual, so she can shine the children's shoes, iron out a dress for the baby, and brush up the clothes of the other children. Getting them all off to Sunday school, cooking breakfast and dinner, and washing the dishes usually keep her pretty busy until about three in the afternoon, at which time she sits down for one hour and a half.

"Last Sunday some of Pa's relatives came to visit the Tituses in their new car. They arrived about three and stayed for supper. At five o'clock they suggested that the Tituses go out with them for a little ride. Pa and the children went. Ma said she'd prefer not to go, but insisted that everybody else have a good time. 'I'll have supper ready for you when you come back,' she said.

"During the ride one of Pa's relatives remarked that it was too bad that Ma didn't go in more for enjoying life. 'Oh, she's never happy unless she's working,' said Pa.

"He didn't know that Ma was wiping the tears out of her eyes at that time."

AFTER OUR OWN HEART.

It seems that a Federal judge in Minnesota reached the conclusion that nominal fines had little effect in destroying the bootlegging industry—and he immediately began to impose prison sentences along with heavy fines. The effect was immediate and salutary—the bootleggers went out of business, and a most wholesome regard for the law of the land was instilled into the hearts of those who had been its persistent and flagrant violators. This judge is a man after our own heart—and we commend his example to some judges down this way.

THE "INVISIBLE EMPIRE."

In all the discussions now being had concerning the "Invisible Empire," it should not be forgot that the term may have more than one significance. It must be admitted, however, that to-day its usual application is to the organization known as "the Klan." We know nothing more of the Klan that can be learned from current discussion; but our reading of history leads us to believe that the organization of the Jesuits has a little better claim to the title than any other organization to which it may be applied. To those who are concerned with what the "Invisible Empire" has in mind, we commend a watchful attitude toward the organization just named.

New Orleans Christian Advocate

OFFICE, No. 512 CAMP STREET, NEW ORLEANS.

Published every Thursday by the Publishing Committee for the Louisiana, Mississippi, and North Mississippi Conferences, Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Entered at the Postoffice at New Orleans as Second-class Mail Matter. Accepted for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of Oct. 3, 1917, authorized Oct. 30, 1918.

TERMS:

Subscription Rates: One year, $2.00; six months, $1.
To superannuates and widows of preachers, $1.

TO CONTRIBUTORS.

All copy submitted for publication should be legibly written on one side of the paper with pen and ink, or typewritten. Matters written with a lead pencil and rolled manuscripts are unacceptable. No copy will be returned unless postage is enclosed for that purpose. In no case will responsibility be assumed for the loss or non-return of articles—the writers should keep copies of them. We do not purchase matter of any kind.

THE BUILDERS.

A builder builded a temple,
He wrought it with grace and skill;
Pillars and groins and arches
All fashioned to work his will.
And men said as they saw its beauty,
"It never shall know decay,
Great is thy skill O Builder!
Thy fame shall endure for aye."

A teacher builded a temple
With loving and infinite care,
Planning each arch with patience,
Laying each stone with prayer.
None praised the unceasing efforts,
None knew of the wondrous plan,
But the temple the teacher builded
Was unseen by the eye of man.

Gone is the builder's temple,
Crumpled into the dust;
Low lies each stately pillar,
Food for consuming rust,
But the temple the teacher builded
Will last while the ages roll;
For that beautiful, unseen temple,
Was a child's immortal soul.

—Selected.

WEEK-DAY RELIGIOUS EDUCATION.

(Substance of an address delivered by Hon. H. H. White before the recent Louisiana Sunday School Conference at Alexandria, and published by request of that body.)

It is admitted that there should be much more religious education of our youth than is now being given them.

It should be given, of course, first and most continuously in the homes; but it is true that in many homes but little religious instruction is afforded. It then devolves either on the State or on the church to supply the need.

The State in our country is founded on religious belief. The Declaration of Independence contains the following section: "Appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions," etc. The Constitution of the United States is attested "* * * in the year of our Lord." The preamble to the present Constitution of Louisiana reads: "We, the people of the State of Louisiana, grateful to Almighty God for the civil, political and religious liberties we enjoy, and desiring to secure the continuation of these blessings, do ordain and establish this Constitution."

The social compact is based on an oath on the Holy Bible.

The Supreme Courts of the United States and of this State are opened with the prayer, "God save the State and this honorable court."

However, the Constitution of the State provides as follows: "No money shall ever be taken from the public treasury, directly or indirectly, in aid of any church, sect or denomination of religion, or in aid of any priest, preacher, minister or teacher thereof," etc. (Art. IV, Sec. 8.) "No public funds shall be used for the support of any private or sectarian school." (Art. XII, Sec. 13.)

Construing these articles, or similar ones in the preceding Constitutions, the Supreme Court of Louisiana held: "The reading of the Bible, including the Old and New Testaments, in the public schools of the State, is a preference given to Christians, and a discrimination made against Jews." The court thereupon sustained an injunction forbidding the reading of the Bible in the public schools of Caddo Parish. (Herold et al. vs. Parish Board of School Directors of Caddo Parish, 136 L. B. 1034.)

Rather remarkably the Court said in the same case that "Courts take judicial notice of the contents of the Bible, of the sects into which the religious world is divided, and also of the general doctrines maintained by each sect." (id l. c., p. 1038.) Some of us did not know that our judges were so wise.

If, however, the judges are presumed to know the Bible and the doctrines of the various religious sects, citizens are presumed to have the same knowledge, for "ignorance of law excuses no man." The Court forbids the reading in its schools of the Bible which in the same breath its judges are declared to be presumed to know. We are not unkindly criticising the Court, because its decision had precedent, notably by the highest court of Pennsylvania, and has been followed notably by the Supreme Court of California.

The Court was simply affirming the law as it found it, viz, that "The State forbids the study of the Bible in its schools, and at the same time presumes a knowledge of the Bible on the part of its citizens."

Where, then, is this knowledge of the Bible to be obtained? The homes of the land are not adequately supplying it; therefore, the duty devolves upon the church.

The church has been trying for years to perform this duty through its Sunday schools, but modern thought is to the effect that this program must be greatly extended, and that the duty can best be fulfilled by the following activities:

1. The regular usual, well-conducted Sunday school.
2. Week-day religious instruction.
3. Vacation religious schools.

We are now discussing the second phase of work —Week-Day Religious Instruction.

Many plans have been attempted and the matter has probably not yet crystallized into its final best form. Among others may be mentioned the Cecil Rhodes plan, the Malden, Mass., plan, the Birmingham plan, the Dallas plan, and, finally, the Gary plan.

We have not time nor space to discuss these various plans, but briefly they all contemplate the release by the public schools of pupils for certain hours per week for religious instruction. In some plans, credits for the religious work are given, and in some not.

The consent of public school authorities is generally given whenever they are satisfied that pupils during the hours of religious instruction will be given equivalent culture by properly qualified teachers.

The present difficulties are threefold:

1. Lack of proper textbooks. (This we are told will soon be supplied.)

2. Lack of trained teachers. This need must be filled through teacher training classes, etc.

3. Lack of means. The teachers should be paid. It is hard to get the various denominations, even Protestants, to unite on textbooks, teachers, and financial support, and it is hard on small churches to finance the Week-day Religious Schools alone.

Reverting for a moment to the position taken by the State, we would say that very high religious school experts seem to agree that it is wise for the State not to attempt or allow religious instruction in the public schools; but that it is a privilege and a duty to be performed by the church.

Of course, the general teaching of religion comes in great part from sources not yet mentioned—the regular preaching of the Word, the general rich religious literature of our language, music, art, and science, permeated with religious thought and allusion.

The conclusions then are:

1. The public schools cannot, and possibly should not, attempt to give religious instruction.
2. Religious instruction must be given, and that abundantly.
3. This instruction must be given:
    - (a) In the home.
    - (b) In the public worship of the church.
    - (c) By reading Christian literature and study of its music, art, and science.
    - (d) By specific church schools:
        - (1) Sunday schools.
        - (2) Week-day religious schools.
        - (3) Vacation religious schools.

The plans may not yet have been fully thought out, and the day of full accomplishment may be not yet; but earnest men and women are working the matter through, and very soon we believe that the church will be doing its part in all the lines of endeavor above outlined.

Alexandria, La.

"CLEARING NEW GROUND."

Who is it that can forget Bishop Ainsworth's injunction to us pastors to "clear some new ground" this year? He spoke of a job I have really liked to try to do ever since the Lord called me to preach—clean out old fence corners, clear off the ditch banks, burn off the sedge patch and watch the rabbits run for shelter, clear off some new ground next to the old patch—but my, what an impetus the bood bishop did give me to do more of it than ever!

Such work is mostly what we've been doing at Pearl River Avenue, McComb, since December, 1921. The pastors before this (when this church was "hooked on" to other churches) did what they could, especially my predecessor, Brother W. A. Terry; but they had more than they could do, and this church was pretty much as a good Methodist of McComb said to me recently, "You got a church when you came here that had been thrown away." So the very best we could do last year was to get the stumps out of the ground that had already been cleared and make improvements on the already cleared up territory. About the only new ground we took in last year was the "Tithing Patch." But, my brethren, that was a GREAT PATCH! Some of this ground had already been cleared, but we undertook, under God, to cultivate it and improve it, and it set a pace in our church that was nothing short of wonderful in some respects.

